The union has indicated it may have ready an answer to Ford's revolutionary "company security" demand for a $5 per day assessment against the U.A.W.-C.I.O. for every ember participating in an unauthorized walkout.

(Continued on Page Two)

The U.A.W.-C.I.O., while admitting the value of some form of company security, has indicated it will not agree to a financial levy of the kind suggested.

Both sides have expressed an eagerness to clear the calendar of this issue and proceed to a discussion of wages.

Totally unconfirmed rumors persisted in Detroit over the weekend that Ford is ready to make proposals that will include a guaranteed annual wage.

Chrysler Conference Sought

Federal conciliators will meet with the U.A.W.-C.I.O. Monday to discuss the breakdown of negotiations with the Chrysler Corp. A meeting between the conciliators and the company is scheduled for later in the day.

Although the working contract has expired, the union has announced that there will be no walkout, at least as long as the General Motors strike continues.

President R. J. Thomas of the U.A.W.-C.I.O. told a press conference last week that the union has not forgotten the "baby" of the auto industry, newly-formed Kaiser-Fraser Corp. However, he did not indicate when the union will attempt to negotiate with the firm, not yet in production.

Another sidelight came from the Foremen's Association of America (independent) which has announced that it will request the Packard Motor Car Co. to open contract negotiations this week.

The National Labor Relations board has ordered the company to bargain with the foreman's union.

Surplus War Plants Worth Over $1,000,000,000 Sold

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—Expanding private industry has taken over about $1,000,000,000 worth of surplus war plants and paid the Government 70 cents on the dollar.

More than 300 Government factories have been sold, leased, or are in an "advanced stage of negotiations" with private operators who can provide peacetime jobs, it was learned today.

A report on November's upsurge of disposal activity, soon to be completed, is expected to show a definite break in the long log-jam which held sales to a driblet this summer and fall, a spokesman for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation said.

Campaign Continues

An intense sales and advertising campaign is continuing, he added, while preliminary negotiations are under way for sales of more than 250 additional plants.

RFC estimates that 1,300 plants ultimately will have fallen into its hands for disposal. They cost the Government about $8,000,000,000 under high-cost, emergency building conditions, and represent about one fourth the productive capacity of the country, a vast potential source of private employment.

The 70 per cent recovery was rated excellent by disposal officials, who figure that 30 per cent must be knocked off the original outlay as the difference between the wartime cost of building and the cost of reproducing the plants today.

November Biggest Month

However, this record cannot be sustained for the rest of the plants in RFC's catalogue, since those already sold are the most desirable and readily convertible to civilian goods manufacture.

November evidently was the biggest month to date. The tally is expected to show 40 complete sales and ten or a dozen tentative sales awaiting approval by the Surplus Property Administration and anti-trust division of the Justice Department, in addition to several leases.

"Interim," or test-period, leases are being arranged for companies which do not want to buy until they know how much a plant costs to operate. These leases run for 90 or 180 days, with negotiations to resume before they expire.

As another means of getting plants running and avoiding breaks in employment, RFC said it was willing to write leases on a sliding scale. The rental would start at a low figure, then rise from year to year to correspond with the manufacturer's expected expansion of production.

Although neither the Army nor Navy declared any idle plants surplus until after V-J day, RFC officials now speak warmly of the cooperation given in the disposal job by the armed services.

One result of the co-operation, it was learned, is an agreement under which the Army has relaxed its stranglehold on 55 plants which it set aside previously to be held for future ordnance work if necessary.

RFC has been granted permission to negotiate for the sale of any of these plants, some of which are described as highly desirable. If a sale appears likely, the Army will seek to move its equipment to some other surplus plant less adaptable to civilian use.

SOVIET HONORS 190 OF MURMANSK RUN

21 New Yorkers Are Included Among Naval Heroes Honored for Transport Work

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Russian Government has bestowed honors on 190 United States naval heroes, including twenty-one New Yorkers, for "outstanding military activities" in transporting war goods to Russia's northern port on the famed "Murmansk run."

The honors, totaling 120 medals and seventy orders of the Soviet Union, were displayed by Charge d'Affaires Nikolai Novikov in a ceremony at the Russian Embassy.

The gold and silver decorations were entrusted to Rear Admiral Thomas B. Inglis, representing the United States Navy Department, for the Navy and Coast Guard officers and men, many of whom are still on assignment in different parts of the world.

New York Recipients

Order of Fatherland War, First Class—Comdr. William A. Sessions, USNR, Little Neck Park; Lieut. Brian C. Welch, USNR, Hamburg; Lieut. Comdr. Robert Wilcox, USCG, Brooklyn.

Order of Fatherland War, Second Class—Lieut. Comdr. Marcel Desgalier Jr., USNR, Niagara Falls; Lieut. Comdr. Blake Hughes, USNR, Bronxville.

Order of Glory, Third Class—Lieut. Alex Brokas, USNR, Jamestown; Lieut. Comdr. Robert C. Millard, USN, Mamaroneck; Coxwain Herbert Lewis Schwartz, USNR, Huntington; Lieut. Bernard C. Sissler, USNR, Bay Terrace, S. I.; Lieut. Theodore Stanley Thueson, USN, Newburgh.

Order of the Red Star—Lieut. Gerald G. Hogan, USNR, Brooklyn; Lieut. Paul Bruce Kinney, USNR, New York City; Paul Neil Webb, gunner's mate 2/c, USN, Freeport.

Medal for Bravery—Renald Blake Jr., ex-gunner's mate 1/c, USN, Smithtown Branch; Charles Everett Dole, chief boatswain's mate, USN, Long Island City; Joseph O'Savage, ex-boatswain's mate 1/c, USNR, New York City; Coxwain Harry Parks Wilson, USN, Brooklyn.

Medal for Merit in Action—Bernard Aloysius Malloy, chief radioman, USN, Brooklyn; Edward C. Hoban, gunner's mate 3/c, now ensign, USNR, Brooklyn.

Medal of Nakhimov—Arthur Leslie Adler, ex-chief boatswain's mate, USNR, Jackson Heights, L. I.; Joseph Donald Leahy, ex-radioman 1/c, USNR, Rochester.

New Jersey Recipients

Order of Fatherland War, First Class—Lieut. Comdr. Willard Brown, USNR, Maplewood, Lieut. Charles M. Ulrich, USNR, Pitman.

Order of Glory, Third Class—Ex-Chief, mm, William J. Green, USNR, Jersey City; Mario James Pagnotta, machinist's mate 1/c, USNR, Weehawken; Lieut. Comdr. Thomas Kinaszcsuk, USNR, Elizabeth.

Order of the Red Star—Lieut. Comdr. Thomas E. Delate, USNR, Trenton; Lieut. Comdr. Robert B. Hopgood, USNR, Glen Ridge; Lieut. Kenneth W. Tipping, USNR, Maywood.

USE OF AIRFIELDS ON ISLANDS ASKED

U. S. Proposes Commercial Use at Bases Acquired in Destroyer Deal.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. — (AP) The United States has proposed commercial use of airfields leased to us by England in Newfoundland, Bermuda and the Caribbean for military purposes, a State department official said tonight.

A reply from London is expected shortly, said the official. It was understood this country looks for a favorable attitude.

The fields were involved in the 1940 swap of 50 over age American destroyers for 99-year leases on air and naval bases.

The United States suggested that the fields be opened to authorized airlines of this country and Great Britain and others approved by both under certain conditions.

Already, the official said, the 99-year bases in Newfoundland are in use on such a basis provisionally together with the Gander military base which was not involved in the destroyer deal. Others elsewhere are available for emergency use commercially.

BROWNELL PROMISES 'CONSTRUCTIVE' PLANS

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—(AP) The Republican party will offer a "constructive" 1946-48 election platform to replace its New Deal "carping," National Chairman Herbert Brownell said in a radio broadcast today.

He hailed the mid-term "platform" of G.O.P. principles just adopted here as a separate, distinct program to be offered by the party "instead of carping about the opposition policies."

Speaking with him were Clarence Buddington Kelland, Arizona National committeeman, and Arthur E. Summerfield, Michigan committeeman.

GENERALS BOOMED FOR PRESIDENCY ON G. O. P. TICKET

Senator Capper Proposes

30.24-32261

Eisenhower; Missourian Backs Doolittle.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—(AP) A proposal by Senator Arthur Capper (R-Kan) that the Republicans nominate Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for President brought a counter suggestion by a Missourian today that the G. O. P. pick Lt. Gen. James Doolittle as its standard-bearer.

Barak T. Mattingly, Missouri national committeeman, told a reporter the Republicans in his state are strong for Doolittle. The man who led the Tokyo raid claims St. Louis as his home town, Mattingly said. Pennsylvania Republicans recently talked of Gen. H. H. Arnold, Air Corps chief, as a possible candidate.

At Washington, Doolittle and Arnold declined comment. Eisenhower could not be reached.

Mention of military leaders as possible candidates was general in corridor conversation at the party's National committee meeting here, which ended yesterday. But several veteran Republicans thought Capper possibly was a little hasty in attempting to put Eisenhower, the new Army Chief of Staff, into the political field.

Capper announced in Washington that he was proposing Eisenhower, a Kansan, as a man who has demonstrated not only military ability but qualities as a diplomat and patriot as well.

"Too Early," Says Spangler

Harrison E. Spangler, general counsel for the National committee and formerly its chairman, said he thought it is too early "to begin talking about presidential candidates."

Lew Wentz of Oklahoma, another veteran member, agreed. Both said they felt Eisenhower had demonstrated military capabilities but added that few knew where he stood on national issues.

However, Sinclair Weeks of Massachusetts, said he had heard Eisenhower's name mentioned many times, adding that it is not beyond the bounds of possibilities that the Republicans will look to the military field for a nominee.

Most talk among the committee members who were discussing presidential candidates seemed to center around the names of Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and a former captain in the Navy, and John W. Bricker, former Ohio governor and 1944's vice presidential nominee.

Bricker has Backing

Dan Whetstone, Montana committeeman, said Bricker's "sporting" acceptance of second place in 1944 had not been forgotten by members.

Stassen's proposal Friday that President Truman call a bi-partisan conference on economic policies, with labor and management holding this dispute in abeyance for 60 days, attracted attention here but most committee members were reluctant to comment publicly.

Publication of the letters Gen. George C. Marshall, then chief of staff, wrote Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York during last year's presidential campaign, created little comment.

Marshall asked Dewey not to disclose that this country had broken the Japanese code, information which Dewey kept to himself during the campaign.

Atomic Use of Iron Held Possible With Supercyclotron, Ready in '46

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 9 (AP)—Cyclotron research will invade the superpower domain of the cosmic ray in a few months with crews of young physicists using the greatest of all atom-smashing machines to explore fields of energy potentially outpassing the atomic bomb.

They will seek to produce atomic fragments more effective in atom splitting than the slow but mighty neutron, which was the trigger element in the bombs that devastated Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

They expect eventually to split and possibly derive power from elements lighter than uranium. This would mean the atomic use of substances more plentiful than uranium—iron, for example.

This peacetime program of nuclear research was announced in a press conference today by Prof. Ernest O. Lawrence, cyclotron inventor and collaborator in atomic-bomb development, and his associates.

It is being built around the unfinished 4,000-ton cyclotron half-hidden in the hills on the University of California campus. The big machine, destined to be nearly ten times as powerful as the one which produced the first plutonium for the atomic bomb, was started before the war, but construction was stopped so that its huge magnet could be used to separate uranium 235 — the explosive kind — from ordinary uranium for bomb research.

Construction will be complete by late summer or early fall of 1946.

Professor Lawrence said that advances in design would make it possible to double the originally projected efficiency of the machine as an atom gun.

This will involve the use of frequency modulation to pace the atomic fragment as it whirls about in the cyclotron, gathering the necessary speed to make it a penetrating projectile.

The whirling job is the cyclotron's primary function. It does the work by giving the bullet repeated electrical charges, sending 200,000,000 electron volts and alpha particles of 400,000,000 electron votes. Deuterons are the nuclei of heavy-water atoms. Alpha particles are the cores of helium atoms. Both are used widely in atom smashing.

With these energies, the bullets should be able to duplicate some of the feats of cosmic rays, Professor Lawrence said. He predicted that the high-energy projectiles would produce mesotrons, which are parts of atoms shattered by cosmic rays from outer space. No man-made machine ever has cracked an atom so thoroughly as that. When the cyclotron reduces mesotrons it will have carried the research a big it round and round in an ever-widening circle. Each charge increases the projectile's speed and hence its atom-smashing power.

However, there is a limit to the number of electrical charges that can be applied effectively. According to Einstein's theory of relativity, an object gains in weight as its speed increases. At extreme speeds this added weight tends to slow the pace of the particle until it gets out of step with the evenly timed electrical impulses. Then it gets no more electrical boosts and gains no more speed.

Frequency modulation delays the electrical impulses just enough so that they continue to prod the bullet onward despite its relativistic slowdown.

With this new advantage, Dr. Lawrence said, the giant cyclotron eventually should produce deuterons with speeds equivalent to step beyond its present stage and point the way toward learning more about the elemental pieces which make up the atomic nuclei.

Among those returning to the University of California's research staff is Dr. Glenn Seaborg, one of the discoverers of plutonium.

Dr. Seaborg told the news conference that he expected the giant cyclotron to produce more elements heavier than uranium. He himself already has produced three of these elements with the smaller cyclotron at Berkeley.

trusteeship for the American people, waiting for word from them on what they want done with the tremendous scientific and industrial triumph we now have in our hands."

Atom Project Receives National Safety Award

Council Points to Low Accident Rate Despite Dangers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP).—The nation's highest war-time safety award was made today for an undertaking which could have produced history's most disastrous accident—the atom-bomb project.

The National Safety Council's award for distinguished service to safety was presented to the Manhattan District in recognition of the corps of engineers achievement in maintaining "oustandingly low" accident rates in facilities throughout the country.

Major General Leslie R. Groves, the Army's top man on the project, gave credit to all the universities and industrial organizations which "co-operated so magnificiently," in accepting the award on the National Broadcasting Company's "National Hour" program.

"The Army was given a job to do," he said. "It produced the atomic bomb. The question of atomic power reaches out to every person in the country. It is a national and international problem. The War Department is keeping what it has developed in

SAFETY DEVICES AIDED ATOMIC BOMB WORKERS

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 9—(AP) Elaborate precautions, including medical research as a scientific guide to the most effective use of safety devices, resulted in perfect protection against radiation for workers on the atomic bomb project, the University of Rochester said today.

A report on medical research conducted at the University under contract with the Manhattan Engineer district, in charge of atomic bomb development, declared that not a single person was injured by radiation while working on the project.

The report was approved by the office of Maj. Gen. Leslie R Groves who directed the district.

M'MAHON HAILS PLANS OF UNITED NATIONS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9—(AP) The United Nations Organization represents "the very least we can do to bring about a more decent and more peaceful world order," U. S. Senator Brien McMahon, (D-Conn) said in an address broadcast to Connecticut last night.

McMahon hailed the vote of the Senate in passing the U. N. O. enabling statute as proving that "public opinion will support the ideal of international cooperation with as much vigor as it ever did. There has been no retreat from San Francisco. The days of American isolation are ended."

The senator also commended the Senate for its passage of the deficiency UNRRA appropriation bill "without crippling amendments." Declaring that it is "imperative that Americans work to bring relief and assistance to the world," Senator McMahon said that "this kind of bread cast upon the waters will be returned one thousand fold in stability, peace and order."

JAP TO TESTIFY IN M'VAY TRIAL

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 9—(AP) Cmdr. Ike Hashimoto, captain of the Japanese submarine reported to have sunk the cruiser Indianapolis last July 30, arrived here today under guard after a fast flight by naval air transport plane from Tokyo.

Hashimoto, is due in Washington Monday morning. He will travel aboard a four-engined plane which will make the trip in 12 hours with only one stop at Olathe, Kas., Navy officials reported.

The Navy announced in Washington Saturday that Hashimoto had been summoned from Tokyo by the judge advocate in the trial of Capt. Charles B. McVay, commander of the Indianapolis, charged with negligence in the loss of the cruiser. The Indianapolis went down with a heavy loss of life while en route from Guam to Leyte. Survivors said two explosions wracked the vessel before it sank.

Hashimoto will be called as a witness to determine definitely whether the cruiser was torpedoed. The Japanese news agency Kyodo said Saturday it was Hashimoto's submarine, the I-58, which accounted for the Indianapolis.

McVay's court-martial proceedings have been recessed until Tuesday to assemble more witnesses.

Sugar Presented UNRRA By Czechs

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—Director General Herbert H. Lehman today announced a "most welcome" contribution to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration of 2,000 tons of Czechoslovak sugar.

"In spite of her own hardships," Lehman said, "she (Czechoslovakia) can still think of her unfortunate neighbors and make sacrifices to help them out."

Before the war Czechoslovakia was a large exporter of beet sugar, but is hampered now by lack of machinery and transportation.

The motorcade split up just before reaching Dallas, they said, with two cars coming by way of Memphis and the third heading for Chicago.

The drivers passing through Washington, who relieved each other at the wheel en route, were Louis Sogit, Daniel Musso, Juan Plini and Iago Martl. Manuel Sogit, brother of Louis, and Alberto Tollientes were in the third car.

After a brief rest at the Argentine Embassy, the motorists left for New York.

Light Cruiser Fargo Receives Her Colors

Philadelphia, Dec. 9 (AP)—The new 10,000-ton light cruiser U.S.S. Fargo, named in honor of the North Dakota city, receved her colors today in commissioning ceremonies at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Built at an estimated cost of $25,000,000, the ship is the forerunner of a new type cruiser, the Fargo class, first warship constructed with a single stack. Navy officials said the single stack provided room for additional anti-aircraft guns.

The Fargo was launched at the Camden (N.J.) yards of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation on February 25. She is 600 feet long, and carries a main battery of six-inch guns, supported by five-inch .38 caliber guns in addition to anti-aircraft weapons. She is designed to attain a cruising speed of more than 33 knots. Her personal complement consist of 105 officers and 850 enlisted men.

6 Argentine Motorists Nearing Hyde Park Goal

2 Cars, 49 Days on Road, Pass Through Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP).—Four Argentine motorists from Buenos Aires passed through Washington today en route to Hyde Park, N. Y., and the end of the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial Highway.

The drivers of the two cars, who said they had passed forty-nine days on the road, including nine days aboard ship from Colombia by a third car at Hyde Park.

Truman Cheered On Unemployment

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—President Truman, in a letter to the eleventh annual meeting of the United States Conference of Mayors, says "the unemployment situation has not been as serious or drastic as was originally anticipated."

The letter, to be read tomorrow at the conference, was addressed to Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, head of the mayors' group, and was released today by Paul V. Betters, executive director of the conference.

"Even with demobilization of our armed forces speeded up," the President said, "the current volume of unemployment has been been far from unsatisfactory. In any event, we must be ready with plans for meeting unemployment should it reach unduly high levels."

Housing Responsibility

The President declared that "in the reconversion period the great cities of the nation and the Federal Government must join hands in the formulation and development of many programs designed to provide a better American way of life.

"One of the major responsibilities which must be met," he said, "is that of housing—housing for veterans, public housing, assistance to home owners and elimination of slums and blighted areas."

Mr. Truman said he hoped there would be no controversy over the five-point national health program he recently submitted to Congress.

"There should not and need not be any controversy over legislation which seeks solely to improve the health of our people," he said.

Public Works Programs

"The Federal Government," the President said, "as you know, has taken certain specific steps looking toward insuring full employment. Separate public works programs, such as highways, have already been authorized. Others are now the subjects of congressional study.

"Over and above all of the functions of democratic government is that of assuring jobs for those who are able and willing to work."

He invited the conference to submit recommendations concerning mutual problems.

Rescue Report False, Hunt for Fliers Pushed

Tanker's Message of Finding Survivors Erroneous, Navy Discloses.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 9—(AP) Darkness blacked out any new clues to the fate of possible survivors among 27 missing naval airmen tonight, but after a day of feverish activity and exploded hopes the Navy announced that the vast air-sea search will continue.

Over 25,000 square miles of Atlantic wastes off the Florida east coast have already been "pin-pointed" fruitlessly in the four-day-old hunt, with hundreds of Army, Navy and Coast Guard planes and surface vessels scrutinizing that huge area almost literally yard by yard.

Navy Continues to Hope

"We haven't given up hope yet," a Navy spokesman said. "If those men are still alive, we'll do everything possible to find them."

By latest reports—and some of the reports were conflicting throughout a day of flurrying messages from the great search armada—not a single definite clue has been found.

The Navy said reports that two life rafts tied together, possibly with two survivors huddled in them but apparently no longer conscious, had "blown up." The supposed "rafts," the Navy said, were found to be nothing more than packing cases bobbing in the waters some 300 miles due east of Melbourne, Fla.

An intensive land hunt was also abandoned, at least temporarily, after search parties in "weasel" marsh buggies, "alligators" and jeeps failed to turn up a clue in the wild and desolate swamplands of north central Florida where a commercial airlines pilot reported that he saw flares and blinking "signal" lights at 2 a.m. Saturday.

Wide Search Continues

Tomorrow, the Navy announced, 193 naval planes from Jacksonville and 24 long-range patrol bombers from Pensacola, as well as scores of Army and Coast Guard planes and surface ships will carry on the quest.

The U. S. destroyer tender Shenandoah, the Coast Guard cutter Pandora and the baby flat top U.S.S. Solomons were racing to the area.

Reports that two survivors had been rescued at sea, flashed by the tanker Erwin Russell, were later found to have been erroneous.

The Navy said the tanker's original report stated, in effect:

"Lowering lifeboats to pick up survivors from liferaft."

Subsequently, the Navy said, the tanker radioed air-sea rescue headquarters in Miami stating that it had been mistaken and that instead of survivors or a liferaft it had found only a naval tow target used for gunnery fire.

As the sea hunt continued, Navy officials said the land search had ended without success in the dismal swamplands between Melbourne and Orlando where an Eastern Airlines pilot reported yesterday that he saw red flares burning and lights flashing in the middle of a swamp at 2 a.m.

A helicopter made a number of landings and sent out men to comb through the wild marsh region on foot without finding a single clue.

The five Avenger torpedo bombers, with 14 men aboard, disappeared during a tropical storm at sea shortly after dusk last Wednesday. Their last message was received at 5:25 p.m., saying that they had enough fuel left for 75 minutes of flying and indicating that they were being thrashed about by freak winds of near-hurricane velocity.

When the five Avengers became overdue, a big Martin Mariner bomber with a crew of 13 went out to search for them, and likewise vanished without a single definite clue.

Says Men Waved Frantically

The pilot of the Army B-24, a Lieutenant Falk, of Boca Raton, Fla., was quoted as having said he sighted the two men at 12.30 P.M. (E.S.T.) today.

"They waved at us frantically when we were still in the distance," Lieutenant Falk said, "but when we got closer we couldn't see them. Apparently they were near exhaustion and got tired from the exertion of waving and collapsed in the bottom of the life rafts.

"There was one man in each raft."

Lientenant Falk said he sighted the rafts about 290 miles out in the Atlantic.

CAME AS SPY, BAUER ADMITS

But Never Intended To Help Germany, Sergeant Asserts

Indianapolis, Dec. 9 (AP)—Sergt. Frederick E. Bauer, fighting for an honorable discharge from the Army, told a board of officers today that he came to the United States as a German espionage agent but that he had never helped the Germans nor ever intended to.

"I made no contact whatsoever with anybody," he testified.

"I had joined the Intelligence of the Third Reich because it was the only way I could get out of Germany into the United States and I wanted to do that more than anything in the world," the German-born sergeant said.

Two Courses Open To Board

The board of officers which conducted the hearing at Fort Benjamin Harrison can recommend only that the former Washington lawyer be given an honorable discharge or be discharged without honor, a discharge which carries benefits denied a serviceman given a dishonorable discharge.

Bauer has been in cutsody at the disciplinary barracks since September 4, the day he was to have been discharged. The War Department had announced that there was evidence Bauer was a German agent, but evidence insufficient to warrant filing of charges.

Today's public hearing was the first time Bauer had been permitted to state publicly his side of the case.

Came Over Before Pearl Harbor

Bauer told of his training after he was inducted in the army in Germany, after his return there in 1938.

He left Germany and came through Spain to the United States before Pearl Harbor. His principal assignment was to report information on aircraft in the United States, he said.

The sergeant at times banged on the table in putting over his points and once interrupted the hearing to shout that the record which shows "my service in the United States Army is not honest and faithful—is the worst libel I ever heard in my life."

Offers Rejected, He Says

Bauer said he had attempted to join the United States Intelligence and also the American Military Government staff so he could use his information to help the United States, but that his offers were rejected.

"And now I can't see why the United States is prosecuting me for deserting the German Army," he declared.

The Army announced at Washington on November 21 it had recommended to the Justice Department deportation of Bauer to Germany. The Justice Department said about a week ago it was investigating in connection with the recommendation.

The War Department statement at that time said Bauer came under suspicion of being any enemy agent after arrest in France of a German spy who said he had helped him reach this country via Spain. It added that "careful investigation shows no specific acts of espionage were committed."

BY HELEN CAMP (430)

LONDON, DEC. 9--(AP)--TO THE AVERAGE MAN AND WOMAN ON THE STREETS OF LONDON THE PROPOSED $4,400,000,000 U.S. LOAN TO BRITAIN MEANS SOME SILK STOCKINGS A LITTLE MORE MEAT AND DON'T AND TOBACCO, OR A NEW PAIR OF SHOES, BUT THERE ARE SOME BRITISH WHO DON'T LIKE IT.

"IT'S A SHOCKING THING," SAID ONE MAN IN THE LOBBY OF THE EXCLUSIVE DORCHESTER HOTEL, SHAKING HIS HEAD WOEFULLY.

"WE'LL NEVER BE ABLE TO EXPORT ENOUGH TO PAY FOR OUR IMPORTS. WE'LL LIVE ON THE FAT OF THE LAND FOR TWO YEARS AND THEN BE WORSE OFF THAN WE WERE BEFORE. BY THEN THERE'LL BE AMERICAN LORRIES (TRUCKS) IN AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND AND WE'LL HAVE LOST ANY FOREIGN MARKETS WE MIGHT HAVE HAD."

A BANKER FROM THE STAID "CITY," LONDON'S FINANCIAL DISTRICT, POINTED OUT THAT THE LOAN WAS MADE AT $4.03 TO THE POUND WHEN "IT SHOULD HAVE BEEN AT $3," AND DECLARED: "IT'S A CRAZY THING. IT TRYING TO KEEP A SET EXCHANGE RATE. IT NEVER WILL. IT NEVER HAS WORKED AND IT WILL."

"I SUPPOSE WE SHOULD BE GRATEFUL FOR A GIFT OF FOUR BILLION DOLLARS," HE SAID, "BECAUSE THAT'S WHAT IT WILL BE. WE HAVEN'T PAID THE LAST LOAN! HOW CAN WE PAY THIS ONE?

"WE HAD ALL THE MARKETS AND WE GET HER $4,000,000,000. TOO BAD. THERE ARE ONLY TWO CARDS IN OUR HAND, REALLY RIGHT. STATES--COTTON AND TOBACCO. THINGS WE, ALREADY THEY'VE GOT 20,000 BALES OF COTTON STORED IN THE SOUTH. WHAT DO YOU THINK WOULD HAVE HAPPENED IF THE U.S. GOVERNMENT HAD SAID 'YOU CAN'T EXPORT TO ENGLAND'?

THE SOUTH WOULD NEVER STOOD FOR IT. "AND SHE'S ACTING LIKE ANY OTHER BRITAIN IS RUINED. WE WENT ON BANKRUPT--BORROWING MONEY. WE WERE USED TO GETTING ALONG WITHOUT THINGS. WE SHOULD HAVE JUST TIGHTENED OUR BELTS AND GONE ON.

BUT WE HAVE BEEN LIVING IN TO THE MAN ON THE STREET WHO HAS COLD HOUSES, SCANTY RATIONS AND DOING WITHOUT EVERYTHING, THE RELIEF LOOKS EATING AND EVERYONE INTERPRETS IT IN TERMS OF WHAT, HE OR SHE WANTS GOOD. MOST.

30.27-32263

A7

FROM LONDON'S EAST END WORKING CLASS AREAS CAME SUCH COMMENTS AS:

"MAYBE WE'LL GET SOME SILK STOCKINGS NOW."

"HOPE IT MEANS MORE THAN ONE AND TUPENCE (23 CENTS) WORTH OF MEAT A WEEK. IT'S NOT ENOUGH FOR A WORKINGMAN."

"THE PAPERS SAY MORE FOOD AND CLOTHING. THAT'S GOOD ENOUGH FOR ME."

THERE IS NOT AS MUCH INTEREST IN THE LOAN, THOUGH, AS THERE WAS IN THE CESSATION OF LEND-LEASE, AND NOBODY THINKS BRITAIN GOT THE BETTER OF ANY BARGAIN.

TYPICAL COMMENTS:

"IT'S A TOUGH DEAL, BUT WE HAD TO HAVE IT."

"IT'S THE ONLY WAY WE COULD LIVE."

ONE THING THAT SEEMS TO BOTHER PEOPLE IS THAT "THERE WAS SO MUCH WRANGLING ABOUT IT."

"DURING THE WAR WE WERE USED TO ENGLAND AND AMERICA WORKING ALMOST AS ONE COUNTRY," A WAITER SAID, "AND THEN SUDDENLY THEY'RE HAGGLING OVER TWO PER CENT INTEREST. IT TAKES A BIT OF GETTING USED TO."

THE BANKER HAD ONE FINAL CAUSTIC COMMENT:

"THE TROUBLE WITH THIS COUNTRY IS THAT NOBODY KNOWS ANYTHING ABOUT FINANCE. AND MOST OF THE BANKERS NEVER STUDIED BANKING. THEY JUST INHERITED IT."

CB1228PES

A124 (130)

LONDON, DEC. 9-(AP)-DELEGATES TO THE UNITED NATIONS PREPARATORY COMMISSION SPECULATED TONIGHT THAT THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION COULD TAKE OVER THE PROBLEMS OF ATOMIC CONTROL BY THE END OF JANUARY PROVIDED THE BIG THREE FOREIGN MINISTERS REACH A PRELIMINARY AGREEMENT AT THEIR CONFERENCE IN MOSCOW DEC. 15.

ESTABLISHMENT OF AN INTERNATIONAL ATOMIC BOARD HAS BEEN SUGGESTED BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE. THE SUBJECT WILL BE DISCUSSED WHEN U. S. SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES, BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN AND SOVIET FOREIGN COMMISSAR V.M. MOLOTOV MEET.

ARGUMENT OVER A SITE FOR THE WORLD ORGANIZATION, MEANTIME, WILL BE REOPENED MONDAY BY THE PREPARATORY COMMISSION.

DUTCH, BRITISH AND BELGIAN DELEGATES HAVE SOUGHT TO ESTABLISH THE UNO HEADQUARTERS IN EUROPE, BUT THEY HAVE EXPRESSED PRIVATE CONVICTIONS THAT A SITE IN THE UNITED STATES WOULD BE CHOSEN.

WR905PES

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

LONDON, DEC. 9-(AP)-BRITAIN'S HOUSE OF COMMONS--PLUNGES INTO THE BATTLE OF BRETTON WOODS THIS WEEK RIGHT AFTER THE ACRIMONY OF WINSTON CHURCHILL'S DEFEATED MOTION OF CENSURE OF THE LABOR GOVERNMENT.

THREE DAYS WILL BE SET ASIDE FOR DISCUSSION OF THE BRETTON WOODS INTERNATIONAL STABILIZATION AGREEMENT AND THE PROPOSED RATIFICATION OF THE $4,400,000,000 AMERICAN LOAN TO BRITAIN.

OPPOSITION TO BOTH MEASURES SEEMS TO BE CROSSING PARTY LINES. CHURCHILL'S CONSERVATIVE "SHADOW CABINET" -- FORMER MEMBERS OF HIS GOVERNMENT WHO HAVE BEEN RETURNED TO PARLIAMENT--PLANS A PRIVATE MEETING MONDAY. SIMILAR GATHERINGS ARE TO BE CALLED BY THE LIBERAL PARTY AND OTHER GROUPS WHICH HAVE BEEN CRITICAL OF THE LOAN AND BRETTON WOODS PLAN.

PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE'S CABINET HAS DESIGNATED THREE GOVERNMENT SPOKESMEN TO LEAD THE FIGHT FOR THE LOAN'S RATIFICATION. HUGH DALTON CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER, FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN AND SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE, WILL ARGUE THAT THE LOAN AND ITS ACCOMPANYING OBLIGATIONS WILL BRING FOOD, COTTON AND OTHER ESSENTIALS VITAL TO BRITAIN'S LIVING STANDARD.

OPPONENTS WILL SAY THAT BRITAIN IS BUYING DOUBTFUL COMFORT FOR THE PRESENT AT THE COST OF A HARD FUTURE THAT MAY DISRUPT THE EMPIRE AND DAMAGE INDUSTRY.

LABORITE STRENGTH WAS DEMONSTRATED IN THE HOUSE WHEN CHURCHILL'S CENSURE MOTION WAS DEFEATED LAST WEEK, 381 TO 197. THE DIVISION ON BRETTON WOODS AND THE AMERICAN LOAN IS EXPECTED TO BE NARROWER, BUT REJECTION OF EITHER MEASURE APPEARS EXTREMELY UNLIKELY.

A96

NEVERTHELESS, DIVISION WITHIN THE PARTIES IS ILLUSTRATED BY THE FACT THAT SIR JOHN ANDERSON, FORMER CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER IN THE CHURCHILL GOVERNMENT, SUPPORTS THE LOAN WHILE BRENDAN BRACKEN, MINISTER OF INFORMATION AND FIRST LORD OF THE ADMIRALTY UNDER CHURCHILL, OPPOSES IT.

THE GOVERNMENT TIME TABLE CALLS FOR A MOTION WEDNESDAY TO ACCEPT THE AMERICAN LOAN WITH THE CONSENT OF THE SPEAKER BEING ASKED TO ALLOW THE DEBATE ALSO TO DEAL WITH THE BRETTON WOODS PLAN.

GOVERNMENT LEADERS HOPE TO GET THE MEASURE TO THE HOUSE OF LORDS FRIDAY, AND THAT THE LORDS WILL CONCLUDE DEBATE IN TIME FOR THE ROYAL ASSENT BEFORE PARLIAMENT RECESSES FOR CHRISTMAS DEC. 20.

WR731PES

PARIS, DEC. 9-(AP)-PARIS NEWSPAPERS TODAY THE OMISSION OF FRANCE FROM THE SCHEDULED MEETING IN MOSCOW OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS OF THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA.

GEN. DE GAULLE IS SCHEDULED TO DELIVER A NATIONWIDE RADIO ADDRESS TOMORROW ON FRENCH POLICY IN GERMANY AND IT WAS BELIEVED HE MAY ALSO MAKE SOME REFERENCE TO THE MOSCOW MEETING.

THE LEFT-WING RESISTANCE NEWSPAPER FRANC-TIREUR DECLARED "ONE MUST KNOW WHETHER PEACE WILL BE BUILT ON BARGAININGS BETWEEN THE THREE GREAT EMPIRES OR WHETHER IT WILL AT LAST BE THE WORK OF THE UNITED NATIONS."

THE RIGHTIST EPOQUE, RECALLING PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAD ANNOUNCED THAT PROBLEMS RELATING TO A GENERAL PEACE SETTLEMENT WOULD BE

REFERRED TO THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION, CHARGED THAT U. S. SECRETARY OF STATES BYRNES, WHO ANNOUNCED THE MOSCOW MEETING, "RESTORED THE DRAWING UP OF TREATIES TO THE SCOPE OF THE BIG THREE."

L'AUBE, ORGAN OF THE POPULAR REPUBLICAN MOVEMENT (MRP), VENTURED THE HOPE THAT THE MOSCOW MEETING WOULD BE "FRUITFUL," BUT "ONLY TO THE EXTENT IN WHICH IT WILL SERVE TO DISPEL RUSSIAN-ANGLO-SAXON UNEASINESS, AND IN WHICH IT WILL NOT OVERSTEP THESE BOUNDS TO CLAIM TO TACKLE QUESTIONS CONCERNING FRANCE."

WR1017PES

NUERNBERG, DEC. 9-(AP)-A RED ARMY PRIVATE WAS FATALLY WOUNDED IN A MYSTERIOUS STREET SHOOTING SATURDAY NIGHT AT THE REAR OF THE GRAND HOTEL, RESIDENCE OF LEADING ALLIED OFFICIALS OF THE NUERNBERG WAR CRIMES TRIAL.

IDENTIFIED AS DEL BUBENK OF THE SOVIET MILITARY STAFF, THE SOLDIER STUMBLED INTO THE LOBBY OF THE HOTEL SHORTLY BEFORE MIDNIGHT AND COLLAPSED AFTER TELLING MILITARY POLICE HE HAD BEEN SHOT BY "SOMEONE WEARING AN AMERICAN UNIFORM."

AMERICAN COUNTER-INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS INVESTIGATING THE CASE TODAY HAD FAILED TO FIND ANY CLUES TO THE IDENTITY OF THE SLAYER OR THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE SHOOTING.

MEDICAL EXAMINATION SHOWED THE SOLDIER WAS STRUCK IN THE CHEST BY A SMALL CALIBRE BULLET WHICH PASSED THROUGH HIS BODY.

CB226PES

MOSCOW, DEC. 9-(AP)-COMMENTATOR P.EFIMOV, WRITING IN MOSCOW BOLSHEVIK, SAID TODAY "THE VATICAN IS USING THE POWER OF ITS APPARATUS, WHICH IS SCATTERED ALL OVER THE WORLD, TO SAVE THE REMNANTS OF FASCISM."

"THE VATICAN IS ONE OF THE CENTERS OF POST-WAR REACTION, AND THE HOLY FATHER IS BUSY, NOT SO MUCH WITH PRAYER AS WITH BURNING INTERNATIONAL PROBLEMS," EFIMOV ASSERTED.

THE WRITER STATED THAT THE POPE APPEARED TO HIM TO BE CONCERNED ESPECIALLY WITH THE SITUATION IN SPAIN "AND AFRAID OF THE VICTORY OF DEMOCRACY IN THAT COUNTRY--THAT (GENERALISSIMO FRANCISCO) FRANCO, THE LAST HITLERITE PROTEGE, WILL BE FOUND IN THE DOCK, ON TRIAL."

EFIMOV SAID CHURCH LEADERS IN BELGIUM, ACTING JOINTLY WITH THE BELGIAN CATHOLIC PARTY, "ARE WAGING A FURIOUS CAMPAIGN FOR THE RETURN OF KING LEOPOLD AND THE REMOVAL OF COMMUNISTS FROM THE GOVERNMENT."

HE CHARGED THAT THE VATICAN WAS DEVOTING MUCH ATTENTION TO LATIN AMERICA, "WHERE IT IS HELPING TO PROTECT FASCISTS."

EFIMOV SAID THE CATHOLIC PRESS WAS ATTACKING THE SOVIET UNION MALICIOUSLY.

GH138PES

TEHRAN, DEC. 9-(AP)-MAJ. GEN. DONALD H. CONNOLLY, FORMERLY HEAD OF THE PERSIAN GULF COMMAND, ARRIVED TODAY IN CONNECTION WITH THE LIQUIDATION OF INSTALLATIONS OF THE U.S. ARMY.

(THE PERSIAN GOVERNMENT "HAS SET UP A SPECIAL COUNCIL OF SIX TO DIRECT IRANIAN AFFAIRS DURING THE PRESENT EMERGENCY," THE LONDON RADIO IN A BROADCAST RECORDED BY CBS SAID TODAY. THE REPORT SAID THE PRESENT PERSIAN PREMIER AND FOUR FORMER PREMIERS WERE MEMBERS OF THIS SPECIAL COUNCIL." IT DID NOT IDENTIFY THE SIXTH MEMBER.)

WR742PES

BY JOHN RODERICK

YENAN, DEC.8-(DELAYED)-(AP)-THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS "DEFINITELY OPPOSE" ANY NATION OBTAINING A SPHERE OF INFLUENCE IN CHINA, GEN.PENG TEH-HUEI, VICE COMMANDER OF THE COMMUNIST ARMIES, DECLARED TODAY.

"REGARD THE QUESTION OBJECTIVELY AND YOU WILL FIND THE SOVIET UNION DOES NOT WANT A SPHERE OF INFLUENCE IN MANCHURIA," HE ASSERTED. "THIS SHE (RUSSIA) STATED IN THE SINO-SOVIET PACT.

"HOWEVER," HE CONTINUED, "THERE IS A GROWING SUSPICION AMONG THE CHINESE PEOPLE THAT THE POLICY REPRESENTED BY (PATRICK) HURLEY (RE-CENTLY RESIGNED AMERICAN ENVOY TO CHINA) AND (LT.GEN.ALBERT C.) WEDEMEYER IN CHINA IS MISTAKENLY IMPERIALIST. WE HOPE THIS IS ONLY A SUSPICION, NOT A REALITY." (WEDEMEYER COMMANDS U.S.FORCES IN CHINA.)

PENG SAID HE "DEFINITELY EXPECTS" CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S FORCES TO MOUNT A FULL OFFENSIVE IN NORTH CHINA IN DECEMBER IF AMERICAN HELP AND TRANSPORTATION INCREASE, OR IN FEBRUARY OR MARCH IF AMERICAN AID DE-CREASES.

SAYING HE RECOGNIZED THERE WERE ELEMENTS AND INDIVIDUALS IN AMERICA--SUCH AS HURLEY, EX-PRESIDENT HERBERT HOOVER AND SEN.ARTHUR VANDENBERG--WHO FEARED THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS WOULD AFFILIATE WITH STALINIST RUSSIA, PENG ADDED THAT THEIR GROUNDS FOR SUCH AN ASSUMPTION "NEVER HAVE" BEEN MADE CLEAR.

"THE POSITION OF THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS REMAINS STILL FOR A FREE, INDEPENDENT AND DEMOCRATIC CHINA," HE AVERRED.

(LONG LINE: XXX C.) WEDEMEYER IN CHINA XXX)

BATAVIA, JAVA, DEC. 8-(DELAYED)-(AP)-AUNT MARGARET CAME BACK TO UNCLE BILLY AND HER BELOVED JAVA TODAY.

ONCE AGAIN SHE IS CLOSE TO THE DANGER WHICH SHE AND HER HUSBAND, UNITED STATES CONSUL WALTER A.FOOTE--UNCLE BILLY TO MOST OF BATAVIA--HAVE SHARED SO OFTEN THAT FOOTE CALLS HER THE WORLD'S MOST-BOMBED WOMAN.

MRS.FOOTE, A NATIVE OF CAMBRIDGE, ENGLAND, ARRIVED ON A DUTCH LINER FROM MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA.

KNOWN AS AUNT MARGARET TO ALMOST EVERYBODY HERE--PARTICULARLY

3024-32265

THE INDONESIANS--MRS.FOOTE HAD STAYED IN JAVA AFTER THE OUTBREAK OF WAR IN THE EAST UNTIL IT WAS ALMOST TOO LATE. HER HUSBAND REMAINED TWO DAYS AFTER THE JAPANESE HAD LANDED.

AUNT MARGARET WAS EXPERIENCING THE ZEPPELIN RAIDS ON LONDON WHEN HER TEXAS HUSBAND (HE IS A NATIVE OF GREENVILLE AND WAS RAISED NEAR ABILENE) WAS ATTACHED TO THE STAFF OF THE LATE REAR ADM.WILLIAM S. SIMS DURING THE FIRST WORLD WAR.

TOGETHER THEY WENT THROUCH THE POST-WAR BOLSHEVIST UPRISINGS IN NAPLES, ITALY, THE EGYPTIAN REVOLUTION IN 1921 AND 1922, THE COMMUNIST TROUBLES IN PRAGUE IN 1923, THE HAMBURG COMMUNIST UPRISINGS IN GERMANY FROM 1924 TO 1927.

FOOTE BECAME CONSUL GENERAL IN JAVA IN 1927 BEFORE RETURNING THERE AFTER THE JAPANESE SURRENDER, HE HAD [illegible] THE CONSULATE GENERAL AT CURACAO IN THE DUTCH WEST INDIES.

AT THE PRESENT TIME THE FOOTES ARE REESTABLISHED IN THEIR PRE-WAR APARTMENT IN THE HOTEL DES INDES, WITHIN EARSHOT OF OCCASIONAL SNIPER FIRE FROM INDONESIAN NATIONALISTS.

JS740PES

DEC 10 1945

AP8

BATAVIA, DEC 9-(AP)-THE BODIES OF A BRITISH BRIGADE MAJOR AND A WOMAN RED CROSS WORKER MISSING A WEEK FROM A PADANG, SUMATRA, SWIMMING BEACH, WERE FOUND BURIED AT A VILLAGE NEAR PADANG TODAY.

THE BRITISH ARMY ANNOUNCED THAT SEVERAL NATIVES WERE SHOT AND OTHERS ARRESTED FOR THE MURDER.

Z852AES

SAIGON, INDOCHINA, DEC 9-(AP)-AN OFFICIAL ANGLO-FRENCH STATEMENT SAID TODAY THAT MORE TOWNS HAD BEEN OCCUPIED IN SOUTHWEST COCHIN-CHINA AND THAT THE CIVIL ORGANIZATION WAS "PROGRESSING SATISFACTORILY."

TRA-VINH WAS REPORTED OCCUPIED DEC.7. THE STATEMENT SAID ONE HEADQUARTERS FITTED OUT WITH A RADIO INSTALLATION WAS SEIZED AND A FACTORY FOR MANUFACTURING HAND GRENADES AND MORTARS WAS DESTROYED. OMAN, WEST OF CANTHO, WAS REPORTED CAPTURED.

DN721AES

A FEW HOURS AFTER THE DIRECTIVE WAS ISSUED, 15 FARMER REPRESENTATIVES FROM AKITA PROVINCE IN NORTHEASTERN JAPAN DECLARED THAT MUDDLED GOVERNMENT POLICIES HAD PRODUCED SUCH A LACK OF CONFIDENCE IN THE COUNTRY THAT THE RICH TOHOKU DISTRICT CAN BE COUNTED ON FOR ONLY 60 PERCENT OF THE RICE THE GOVERNMENT HAS REQUESTED.

THE FARMERS SAID "MENTAL CONFUSION EXISTS AMONG AGRICULTURAL COMMUNITIES" AND THAT ONLY A VISIT OF THE EMPEROR WOULD ENABLE THE FARMERS TO REGAIN THEIR "CONFIDENCE AND STABILITY." IN THE DISTRICT. THEY REPORTED RICE RIOTS ALREADY ARE THREATENED.

WS01PPS NM

(HIROHITO ACTUALLY SIGNED THE WAR RESCRIPT ABOUT EIGHT HOURS AFTER THE ATTACK ON PEARL HARBOR).

MINPO, MEANING "PEOPLE'S CHOICE," TOOK THE BOLDEST COURSE OF ANY JAPANESE NEWSPAPER IN DISCUSSING THE FATE OF THE EMPEROR. OTHER PAPERS STILL RESTRICT THEIR REPORTING TO MATTERS AFFECTING THE EMPEROR, TO FORMAL JAPANESE OR AMERICAN HANDOUTS OR TO SPECHES. ALL REPORTED WITHOUT COMMENT THE RECENT DIET DISCUSSION IN WHICH PREMIER KIJURO SHIDEHARS ASSERTED THE EMPEROR HAD NO WAR RESPONSIBILITY

WS01PPS NM

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA, DEC. 9-(AP)-THE BODIES OF 432 PRISONERS OF WAR, BELIEVED TO BE BRITISH ARTILLERYMEN WHO WERE BROUGHT FROM SINGAPORE IN 1942, HAVE BEEN EXHUMED ON BALLALE ISLAND, A TINY CORAL STRAND IN THE SHORTLAND GROUP SOUTH OF BOUGAINVILLE, CORRESPONDENT CHARLES MADDEN REPORTED IN THE MELBOURNE SUN TODAY.

THE CORRESPONDENT SAID EVIDENCE SHOWED ONE OF THE WAR'S MOST APPALLING ATROCITY STORIES HAD BEEN UNCOVERED AT BALLALE. PROBABLY AN ENTIRE GROUP OF 500 MEN IED THROUGH DELIBERATE STARVATION AND ILL-TREATMENT BY THE JAPANESE. HE DECLARED.

HE QUOTED CHINESE INFORMANTS AS SAYING THE JAPANESE UNIT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE AREA WAS THE OSAKA NAVAL CONSTRUCTION GROUP NOW BELIEVED TO BE IN RABAUL. THE CHINESE WILL BE TAKEN TO RABAUL TO IDENTIFY THE GUILTY IN THE RANKS OF THE JAPANESE PRISONERS THERE, THE CORRESPONDENT REPORTED.

CB228PES

BUENOS AIRES, DEC. 9-(AP)-THE DEMOCRATIC UNION IN A STATEMENT TODAY LAID THE BLAME FOR THE DEATHS OF FOUR PERSONS IN RIOTS YESTERDAY ON THE "COWARDLY, TREACHEROUS AGGRESSION BY ELEMENTS IN SERVICE OF THE NAZI CANDIDACY" OF FORMER VICE PRESIDENT JUAN PERON.

THE UNION IS COMPOSED OF FOUR MAJOR POLITICAL PARTIES OPPOSED TO PERON. FORMER STRONG MAN IN THE ARGENTINE MILITARY GOVERNMENT.

THE CAPITAL WAS OUTWARDLY CALM TODAY AFTER THE RIOTS WHICH BROKE OUT WHEN 200,000 PERSONS GATHERED FOR A MAJOR DEMONSTRATION AGAINST PERON. AT LEAST 33 WERE INJURED.

THE INTERPARTY COMMISSION OF THE DEMOCRATIC UNION--COMPOSED OF RADICALS, LIBERALS, SOCIALISTS AND COMMUNISTS--SAID A FORMAL PROTEST WOULD BE MADE TO INTERIOR MINISTER FELIPE URDAPILLETA.

PROMINENT MORNING NEWSPAPERS WERE UNANIMOUS IN CHARGING THAT PERON SUPPORTERS PROVOKED THE DISORDERS, WITH POLICE COMPLIANCE.

THE POLICE, ON THE OTHER HAND, ACCUSED STUDENTS AND COMMUNISTS OF STARTING THE RIOTS, ASSERTING THAT STUDENTS ATTACKED TWO OFFICERS AND THAT SEVERAL STUDENTS MANNED A MACHINEGUN.

WR909PES

THE RUSSIANS ON THE OTHER HAND FLATLY DECLINED TO PARTICIPATE IN PRELIMINARY DRAFTING OF EUROPEAN PEACE TREATIES SO LONG AS FRANCE AND CHINA JOINED IN THE WORK. RUSSIA WANTED THE WHOLE THING ON A BIG THREE LEVEL. THIS PARTICULARLY ANNOYED THE FRENCH.

SINCE THE FAILURE AT LONDON IN SEPTEMBER THE THREE POWERS HAVE ARRIVED AT NO CONCLUSIONS ON ANY OF THESE VITAL ISSUES. THE NEAREST APPROACH WAS THE DECISION OF BYRNES TO PROPOSE THE MEETING AT MOSCOW ON THE BASIS OF AN AGREEMENT REACHED AT YALTA LAST FEBRUARY. THE RESULT IS THAT FRANCE AND CHINA ARE AUTOMATICALLY OUT OF THE PICTURE AND THE MAJOR POWERS MEET IN THE MANNER MOST SATISFACTORY TO RUSSIA.

ON THE VITAL ROMANIAN-BULGARIAN QUESTION, BYRNES WILL HAVE THE RESULT OF A FIRST-HAND INVESTIGATION BY MARK ETHRIDGE, LOUISVILLE PUBLISHER, ON CONDITIONS IN THOSE TWO COUNTRIES WHEN HE MEETS MOLOTOV THIS TIME. SO, IN FACT, WILL THE AMERICAN PUBLIC, FOR IT IS EXPECTED THAT ETHRIDGE'S REPORT, AT LEAST IN SUMMARY, WILL BE MADE PUBLIC EITHER TOMORROW OR TUESDAY. IN GENERAL IT IS UNDERSTOOD TO BEAR OUT THE AMERICAN POLICY OF REFUSING TO RECOGNIZE THOSE REGIMES AT PRESENT BUT IT OFFERS NO OBSTACLE TO POSSIBILITY OF WORKING OUT THE BASIS OF RECOGNITION IN THE EARLY FUTURE. THE U.S.OBJECTION HAS BEEN THAT THE BALKAN REGIMES ARE SOVIET-DOMINATED AND NOT DEMOCRATIC.

LH538PES

PITTSBURGH, DEC. 9-(AP)-HIGH SPEED RESEARCH WORK ON "CALUTRONS"--AN ATOM SORTER THAT ADVANCED FROM PAPER STAGE TO ACTUAL PRODUCTION IN SIX MONTHS--MADE POSSIBLE THE EFFECTIVE ISOLATION OF URANIUM 235, THE CHAIN-REACTION METAL USED IN ATOMIC BOMBS, THE WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORP. DISCLOSED TODAY.

THE COMPANY DESCRIBED THE CALUTRON AS AN ELECTRICAL SORTING MACHINE THAT HURLS ATOMS INTO A VACUUM CHAMBER AND TRAPS THE U-235 ATOMS IN A SPECIAL RECEIVER BOX.

WESTINGHOUSE SAID ITS ENGINEERS, WORKING IN CONJUNCTION WITH UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA SCIENTISTS, IRONED OUT THE TECHNICAL DETAILS AND "IN JUST SIX MONTHS THIS WORK WAS COMPLETED. PRODUCTION WAS UNDER WAY, AND THE ATOM SORTERS WERE BEING SHIPPED TO OAK RIDGE."

M1130PES NM

STRIKES AT A GLANCE (150)

BY THE AS

STRIKES AT A GLANCE (150)
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
(CX) APPROXIMATELY 400,000 CONTINUE IDLE IN NATION'S LABOR DISPUTES.
MAJOR DEVELOPMENTS:
AUTOMOBILES--CIO AUTO WORKERS' LEADERSHIP URGES REJECTION OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S PROPOSAL TO END GENERAL MOTORS STRIKE; DEADLOCKED NEGOTIATIONS TO BE RESUMED TODAY (MONDAY).
ELECTRICAL--NO WALKOUT IN 1945 AT THREE MAJOR ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT MANUFACTURING FIRMS REGARDLESS OF DEC 13 STRIKE VOTE OUTCOME, CIO UNIONISTS PROMISE.
COMMUNICATIONS--STRIKE OF 16,300 INDEPENDENT UNION EMPLOYES OF WESTERN ELECTRIC CO. CONSIDERED MAY HAVE SUPPORT OF NATION'S 220,000 TELEPHONE AND ELECTRIC WORKERS.
STEEL--CIO STEELWORKERS' WAGE POLICY COMMITTEE MEETS IN PITTSBURGH, MAY SET DATE FOR GENERAL STEEL STRIKE.
LUMBER--30,000 AFL LUMBER AND SAWMILL WORKERS STILL IDLE IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST AFTER OPERATIONS REJECT UNION COMPROMISE PLAN.
--DASH--

BROADCAST
NEW YORK, DEC 9--GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR HAS ORDERED THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT TO FREE ALL FARMERS FROM THE BONDAGE IMPOSED BY THE FEUDAL SYSTEM OF LAND OWNERS," THE BELGIAN RADIO SAID TONIGHT.
THE BROADCAST, RECORDED BY CBS, SAID THAT THIS LATEST MACARTHUR DIRECTIVE IS "IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE DECLARATIONS LAID DOWN AT POTSDAM FORECASTING THE DEVELOPMENT OF DEMOCRATIC TENDENCIES IN ALL DEFEATED NATIONS."
"HENCEFORTH JAPANESE FARMERS WILL BE ABLE TO BUY THEIR LAND AND WILL THUS BE PROTECTED FROM THE EXPLOITATION OF LAND OWNERS," THE BELGIAN RADIO SAID.
RQ638PES

DEC 10 1945

30.24—32267

Japan's Troop Shifts Gave War Warnings, Marshall Testifies

MOVEMENT SOUTH OCCURRED 10 DAYS BEFORE OAHU RAID

General Reveals Plan for Reconnaissance Flights Over Truk, Jaluit.

QUESTIONING LENGTHY

Ferguson Presses Quiz for Seven Hours, Still Unfinished.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 — (AP) Gen. George C. Marshall acknowledged today that the Army knew more than 10 days before Pearl Harbor that the enemy was on the move in a direction that might take him past the deadline where American military chiefs believed we should fight.

The move was the embarkation of about five divisions aboard 40 to 50 transports at Shanghai, headed south. It was reported by Army intelligence Nov. 25-26, 1941.

Questioned by Ferguson

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) questioned the retired chief of staff at the hearing of the Senate-House committee investigating Pearl Harbor. Ferguson recalled that Marshall and Admiral Harold R. Stark, then chief of naval operations, had recommended on Nov. 5 that no military action be taken against Japan unless she moved south of 10 degrees north latitude.

The senator asked if it were not a "fair statement" that the Army knew the Japanese move might take troops across that line.

"Yes sir," Marshall replied.

From the former chief of staff, the committee also received testimony that he approved proposed photographic reconnaissance flights over Japanese mandated islands in November, 1941. Marshall said that as he recalled the flights were never made and the planes which were to make them were caught by the attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

The general also related that Britain suggested before the war's outbreak that the United States base some of its fleet at Singapore, but the American high command demurred because, among other reasons, it feared the ships would come under Japanese air attack.

Not Yet Finished

Ferguson had personally questioned Marshall for more than seven hours and still had not completed his examination when the committee recessed until tomorrow. Some Democratic members were beginning to show irritation.

As Ferguson went over some ground previously covered, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) demanded to know "how long are we going to have to continue with this type of delay?"

The order for photographic Japanese-mandated Truk, Jaluit and Ponape was issued the day after a Nov. 25 White House meeting of the so-called War Council. Its members were Secretaries Hull, Knox and Stimson, and Marshall and Stark.

Ferguson wanted to know if it was discussed at that meeting.

"I don't recall, probably so," Marshall replied.

Ferguson recalled that Marshall had testified he did not telephone a warning to Hawaii Dec. 7, when a break with Japan was expected, because the Japanese might have listened in. He repeated a war warning as an overt act." His written message did not arrive until after the attack.

The senator asked that Marshall compare telephoning to Hawaii and photographic flights over Japanese islands as "overt acts."

Marshall said it was a question of judgment, that it had become "imperative" to learn what was going on in the islands.

"We thought that by flying at a high altitude we might get by with nothing more than a Jap objection," he added.

As for the telephoning, he said that aside from the matter of an overt act it was possible it might tip off the Japanese that their code had been broken.

In disclosing the British suggestion that some American warships be based at Singapore, Marshall remarked that "we had assumed that in Pearl Harbor we had a reasonably secure base for the fleet."

In his fourth day on the stand Marshall also testified:

Wanted More Time

1. He and Admiral Harold E Stark, chief of naval operations, had repeatedly urged that the United States "play for time" in its diplomatic negotiations with Japan. They wanted time to get defenses ready, he said.

2. In his opinion, it would have been "castrophic" for the United States to have simply stood by had Japan moved into the South China sea without directly attacking this country.

3. Arrangements were worked out before the war for landing strips to be constructed for American B-17 bombers at Rabaul, Port Moresby and Singapore (British-Australian territory.) It was felt, Marshall explained, that the B-17s operations would be greatly restricted if they had no landing places except in the Philippines.

4. The Army Intelligence Service correctly forecast Japan's strategic moves. "What we foresaw and what actually did happen was a general move south," he said, adding that the attack on Pearl Harbor was simply a raid to prevent the U. S. fleet from interfering with the movement south.

Ferguson questioned Marshall. The committee has an agreement whereby the members rotate rather than each firing queries at will

The senator pressed a line of questioning designed to develop that the high command must have recognized war was at hand on Dec. 6 when Ambassador John G. Winant advised from London of British reports that the Japanese sea-born forces were moving toward Thailand (Siam.)

In that connection, Ferguson reverted to a memorandum Marshall and Stark gave the late President Roosevelt on Nov. 5, 1941. This recommended that military action against Japan should be taken only in event of several contingencies, including invasion of Thailand.

In the light of that memorandum, Ferguson asked, did it not mean an Anglo-American war with Japan when the Japanese moved into the gulf of Siam.

"That meant war if the two governments decided it meant war," Marshall replied. It was then that he said it would have been "catastrophic" for the United States not to act.

Ferguson asked whether Marshall was anticipating war when he prepared the Nov. 5 memorandum.

Threat Was Heavy

"The threat of war was very heavy," Marshall replied.

"Your view was that if war came it would come to both countries (United States and Britain)?

"That was my impression at the time."

Ferguson brought up that on Dec. 2, 1941, Mr. Roosevelt ordered Admiral Thomas C. Hart, then commander of the Asiatic fleet, to charter three small vessels for "a defensive information patrol" to report Japanese movements in the West China sea.

Ferguson suggested the stations assigned to the patrol could hardly have meant that it was to watch for a threatened invasion of the Philippines. Marshall agreed it was improbable a force invading the Philippines would come over that route.

Ferguson noted that the Nov. 5 memorandum recommended that the United States issue no ultimatum to Japan. He asked why that recommendation was made.

"I assume there had been discussions of doing that," Marshall replied.

"That would indicate you had been consulted as to whether an ultimatum should be delivered?"

"That is correct, sir."

(Continued on Page Twelve)

BEVIN LEAVES FRIDAY FOR MOSCOW TALKS

LONDON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin is expected to fly to Moscow on Friday for the Big Three Foreign Ministers' meeting beginning on Saturday. He will be accompanied by Sir Alexander Cadogan, Permanent Under-Secretary, and Sir Ronald Ian Campbell, who served as Mr. Bevin's deputy in the Council of Foreign Ministers in London.

MINES BILL NEAR

LONDON, Dec. 10. — (AP) Emmanuel Shinwell, British minister of fuel and power, said tonight a bill to nationalize coal mines will be presented to the House of Commons "within the next few days" by the Labor government.

Laborites Seek Loan Rejection

London, Dec. 10 (AP)—Two proposals calling for rejection of the American $4,400,000,000 loan to Britain and British participation in the Bretton Woods monetary plan were offered tonight in Commons, signed by four Laborite members.

Other Laborite activity was revealed by Emmanuel Shinwell, British Minister of Fuel and Power, who said tonight a bill to nationalize coal mines will be presented to the House of Commons "within the next few days."

LORDS SEE HAW HAW

London, Dec. 10 (A. P.)—William Joyce, the Americ[illegible] Lord Haw Haw of the German radio, was today brought before the House of Lords which is hearing his appeal from a death sentence for treason. If he loses the appeal he will go to the gallows, probably before Christmas.

London, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—The United Nations Preparatory Commission was asked today to defer to the General Assembly meeting in January, the trusteeship issue involving United Nations control of mandated and war-acquired territories. This temporary solution of a problem affecting millions of defendent peoples, came from Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese delegate, immediately after the Russian delegate, Andrei Gromyko, had reiterated the Russian charge that the establishment of a proposed temporary trusteeship committee would be a violation of the United Nations Charter.

Koo proposed that a sub-committee be appointed to work out the details of his plan for presentation to the General Assembly. Underlying the issue, over which the Russian and American delegates have been opposed, are such questions as Russia's demand for a trusteeship over Tripolitania in North Africa, and America's insistence on exclusive control of strategic Pacific islands taken from Japan.

British Foreign Policy: 'Uplift Common Man'

LONDON, Dec. 10 (AP).—Hector McNeil, Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, said tonight the Labor government had made a "fundamental change" in British foreign policy.

"Our policy," he declared in a speech, "is now based upon a principle which no other country has ever . . . proclaimed as a basis of its foreign policy . . . to uplift the conditions of common men and women in every country with whom we retian friendly relations."

Britain Recognizing Albania

LONDON, Dec. 10 (AP).—Hector McNeil, British Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, told the House of Commons today that Albania had been informed that Britin was prepared to recognize General Enver Hoxha's administration as a provisional government and would proceed with the exchange of diplomatic representatives.

Szalasi Sentenced To Die in Hungary

London, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Ferenc Szalasi, Premier of German-dominated Hungary prior to that country's collapse and withdrawal from the war, has been sentenced to death by a Hungarian People's Court, according to the Berlin radio.

Sentenced for Nazi Talks

British Subjects Made Enemy Propaganda Broadcasts

LONDON, Dec. 10 (AP).—A British mother was sentenced today to one year in prison by a British court, and her twenty-two-year-old son was placed on probation for two years for conspiring to assist the Nazis. The defendants, Mrs. Frances D. Eckersley and James R. Clark, were charged with broadcasting propaganda from Berlin between Dec. 1, 1939, and Feb. 1, 1942.

Arthur Humphries, a British subject who broadcast Nazi propaganda under the name of "Father Donovan," was sentenced to five years' imprisonment after pleading guilty to acts likely to aid the enemy.

Austria and Albania Messages to Be Taken

Geneva, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—The International Committee of the Red Cross announced today that it would transmit twenty-five word messages to civilians living in Austria and Albania. It was explained that family and personal messages written on Red Cross forms were acceptable but original letters could not be forwarded.

Isle's Final Dike Gaps May Be Sealed Shortly

Amsterdam, Dec. 10 (AP)—Engineers and workmen who have been laboring night and day in order to plug gaps in the dikes on the Allied-flooded Dutch island of Walcheren hope to have the last of these holes sealed by Christmas.

This gap at Rammekens was almost sealed on December 2 but a heavy storm opened it again—just as the storm of September 25 also tore apart the work of laborers who had closed the first gap, near Flushing, three weeks earlier.

Of the island's 47,000 acres, about 40,000 at one time were under water after RAF bombardments.

The plugging of dikes has dried all but about 5,000 acres of that land.

Crisis For Italy Formally Ended

Rome, Dec. 10 (AP)—Italy's sixteen day Cabinet crisis ended formally today with the appointment of Premier Alcide de Gasperi and the ministers of his new, six-party coalition Government.

The Royal House communiqué listing the ministers was released shortly after Crown Prince Umberto, lieutenant general of the realm, accepted the resignation of former Premier Ferruccio Parri, whose government collapsed on November 24, when Liberals withdrew their support.

The new Government contains only three ministers who had not previously served with the Parri regime. The War, Navy and Aviation portfolios have been approved by the Allied commission, under the terms of the armistice.

Keeps Foreign Minister Post

The Premier, a Christian Democrat leader, retains for himself the post of Foreign Minister, and will serve as president of the Inter-Ministerial Committee on Reconstruction.

Newcomers to the Government are Manio Brosi, Liberal Minister of War; Epicarmio Corbino, Liberal Minister of the Treasury, and Ricardo Lombardi, Action party Minister of Transportation. Leoni Cattani, a Liberal, is Minister of Public Works. The Ministers of Navy and Aviation were given to Rafaelle de Courtin, Independent, and Mario Cevolotto, a Labor Democrat, respectively. They had held the same posts in the Parri Cabinet.

The new Cabinet was sworn in late today by the Crown Prince.

AUSTRIA MUST DISBAND ALL MILITARY GROUPS

VIENNA, Dec. 10—(AP) The Allied control council today directed the Austian government to disband immediately all military organizations in Austria.

This action was believed to have grown out of the reported formation of a club for glider enthusiasts—the method used by Germans after World War I to train future pilots for the German air force.

Says Nazis Ranked Eisenhower as War's Best

Lahousen States German Army Considered Him Superior to Own Generals.

By GEORGE TUCKER.
Copyright, 1945, by Associated Press.

Nuernberg, Dec. 10.—German Army intelligence officers regarded Gen. Eisenhower as a great military leader, above even German generals, because of his skillful military planning and his ability to "override feelings and objections on political grounds in the interest of achieving the one thing that was important—the successful accomplishment of military operations."

The author of that statement is Major-Gen. Erwin Lahousen, star prosecution witness and German Army Intelligence chief, who evaluated the fighting qualities of various Allied armies from the German point of view in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press.

Gen. George S. Patton Jr. was looked upon as the best and most feared of the American field commanders Lahousen said.

The German Army underestimated the American Army at the start of the war, looking upon American soldiers as "well-fed football players," Lahousen said, but soon learned its error. He said that at the end of the war there was little difference between the American, British or Russian armies, but early in the war the Russians were better at exploiting breakthroughs and more daring in leadership as compared with the Anglo-American combination.

Where Patton Shone.

"In a tactical or dashing sense in military operations, Patton was no doubt the outstanding American general," Lahousen continued. "In order to be perfectly clear, I mean that Patton was outstanding as a leader of troops in the field. He had the necessary military and tactical ability to carry out operations that had been planned and prepared by Eisenhower, who was the great planner and who had the necessary political insight to carry out those plans, in contrast to the German generals who were experts on the battlefield but who would have been as helpless as children had they faced a similar situation."

Lahousen, who said he was in Tunisia during the Allied drive in 1942, declared that Eisenhower made the best of the political situation there to drive his troops forward, while the German generals "just sat on the sidelines and let the Arabs and Italians wrangle."

"That is what I meant when I said we considered Eisenhower a great military leader," he continued.

Lahousen said his mission in North Africa was to "use the nationalistic elements among the Arabs to cause difficulties and disturbances for the ordinary movement of supplies behind the front lines."

Previous War's Impression.

He declared that if the Allies had been a bit more daring in Tunisia they would have wiped out the German forces before they could have been reinforced, but he added: "It was our impression, too, that because this was the first military operation they wished to be extremely careful and conservative in order to prevent any unfavorable reaction in politics. By way of self-criticizm now, take in comparison the Americans at Avaranches in France, when they were very sure of themselves and military operations took a rapid course."

In evaluating the merits of the various armies, Lahousen, who handled or saw all German Intelligence records, had this to say: "Before the war, the opinion among the German army staff was that America was an extremely rich country, which had at its disposal all the resources needed to wage war, but that they would not be able to give war the leadership necessary to make proper use of all these resources.

"This opinion was based more than anything else on the impression that we had received about the American Army during the last war. And it was inaccurate. When we did get in contact with the American Army we found that there was a great difference from what we had expected and that we had underestimated the quality of military, tactical and operational leadership.

100 Per Cent Effective.

"When I speak of Russian leadership the same thing applies again—that it had undergone a complete change since the last world war. In this war the exploitation of opportunity for success was marked. The Allies learned this exploitation of favorable opportunities toward the final phase of the war. The Russians had it right along. The Russians did not give us a chance to take a breather.

"In a purely military sense, toward the end of the war all the Allied armies became very equal."

Turning to the efficiency of the various counter-intelligence services, Lahousen rated the British first, the Americans and Russians about equal, and the Germans a poor last.

He said it was extremely difficult to get agents into Russia because of counter-intelligence measures, and into America because of the Atlantic Ocean.

Lahousen said in conclusion that as far as preventing sabotage, which was his own sphere of operation, American countermeasures had been "100 per cent

HELD WAR'S BEST BY GERMAN STAFF

NUERNBERG, Dec. 10—(AP) Gen. Eisenhower was regarded by German staff officers as the greatest general of the war because of his able planning, daring and the extent of his authority.

The opinion of general staff officers who served on all fronts was disclosed by Maj. Gen LaHousen, star prosecution witness in the war crimes trial and chief of sabotage in the German intelligence service, in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press.

LaHousen said that Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov of the Red army, Britain's Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery and German Field Marshal Fritz Erich von Manstein ranked close behind "General Ike" in ability in the evaluation of the German commanders. He said they also believed that Gen. Maxime Weygand of France might have shown equal mettle if the French had not surrendered so early.

"Eisenhower had the broader view," said LaHousen, "and was the greatest planner of the war.

"He had what all great commanders must have if they are to realize their potentialities—full authority to make any decision he chose. He never was hampered by political considerations. He took great gambles, as in Africa and later on the French beaches, but he won and that justified his daring.

"I think he had actually more authority than any other single commander of the war. I know he had ten times the authority of any of the German generals and it paid off. Manstein more than any other German general was permitted to think for himself."

The German general termed Zhukov "head and shoulders in my opinion above the other Russian generals."

Ranking Montgomery over Field Marshal Viscount Archibald P. Wavell and Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, LaHousen said "Monty" was the "best the English had. He was the most dynamic and he was the nearest thing to Rommell (Field Marshal Erwin Rommell) the Allies had. Both were endowed with a sense of daring that the other commanders lacked."

The critically injured Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., was considered the best and most feared of the American field commanders, LaHousen said.

General Partly Paralyzed by Fractured Vertebra in His Neck.

WIFE ON WAY TO GERMANY

Specialists Are Conferring on Injuries Suffered in Auto Accident.

Mannheim, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—The condition of Gen. George S. Patton Jr., partly paralyzed from a fractured vertebra in the neck, was officially described as critical today by Army medical officers.

30.24-32269

An official bulletin released at Frankfurt, recording Patton's condition as of 3:30 P. M. (9:30 A. M. Eastern standard time), used the word "critical" for the first time. The general's condition previously had been termed serious.

Patton, commander of the United States Fifteenth Army, is a patient at a Heidelberg hospital as a result of injuries suffered yesterday in an automobile accident near here.

A previous bulletin said Patton was completely paralyzed below the fractured third cervical vertebra in the neck and was suffering from a dislocation of the fourth cervical. The latest bulletin said: "Dislocation of vertebra is responding satisfactorily to extension. Neurological signs are unchanged. His condition remains critical."

Specialists Confer.

The official announcement indicated that Patton still was conscious. Brig. Hugh Carnes, neuro surgical consultant to the British Army, arrived here and was in consultation with Lieut.-Col. Gilbert Phillips, commanding the surgical division treating head injuries at British military hospitals.

The earlier bulletin said the dislocation of the fourth cervical was being closely observed, because of the very serious nature of the injury, although an X-ray showed that the dislocated cervical had been pushed back into place. Patton was described as rational and was said to have spent a comfortable night.

Mrs. Patton and a neuro-surgery specialist, Col. R. G. Spurling of Louisville, Ky., were hurrying to the General's side by trans-Atlantic plane.

Mrs. Patton was expected to arrive in Paris tomorrow morning and go from there to Heidelberg either by rail or air.

Sedan and Truck Crash.

The accident occurred when an Army truck reportedly turned off a side road into the Autobahn (superhighway) and crashed into Patton's sedan. Patton and his Chief of Staff, Maj.-Gen. Hobart R. Gay, had left United States Fifteenth Army Headquarters at Bad Nauheim yesterday morning to go pheasant hunting near Mannheim. Gay and the driver, Pfc. Horace Woodring, were unhurt.

A combat engineering unit commanded by Major Charles Tucker of New Hamburg, N. Y., was summoned by an unidentified Red Cross girl and found Patton slumped in the rear seat of his sedan. An eyewitness said Patton's face was covered with blood from cuts suffered when he was thrown forward by the impact of the crash. Patton was reported to have said that though his neck hurt he felt no other injury.

Continued on Page 16.

Rushed to Hospital.

Capt. Ned Snyder of Texas treated Patton at the scene of the accident, after which the engineering unit's ambulance rushed him twenty miles to the hospital in twenty-five minutes.

The fiery Patton, who reached his sixtieth birthday last month,

Slept Five Hours

The first bulletin issued at the hospital. said:

"General Patton's condition as of 5 P.M., December 9: A simple fracture of the third cervical vertebra with posterior dislocation of the fourth cervical, completely paralyzed below the level of the third cervical; prognosis guarded.

"General Patton's condition at 9 A.M., December 10: A restful night. Slept five hours. Quite comfortable. Completely rational. General condition satisfactory. Neurologically unchanged. X-ray December 10 showed almost complete reduction of dislocation; prognosis guarded.

Wife's Plans

"Mrs. Patton is flying by army plane to be at the General's bedside. She will arrive in Paris at 6 A.M. Tuesday. From there she will travel by air or rail immediately to Heidelberg. At Mrs. Patton's request, Hugh Carnes, professor of neuro-surgery at Oxford, will be in attendance. He was flown from England this morning, arriving at Frankfurt at 8.45 A.M. and he was driven immediately to Heidelberg

"Mrs. Patton will be accompanied on the flight from the United States by Col. Roy Glenwood Spurling, of the Medical Corps, and Lieut. Col. Kerwen, of the War Department operations division.

"Two bulletins will be issued daily on General Patton's condition."

The Accident

Patton fought through two world wars without serious injury. The accident in which he was hurt occured when an army truck reportedly turned off a side road into a superhighway and crashed into Patton's sedan. Patton and his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Hobart R. Gay, had left United States 15th Army headquarters at Bad Nauheim yesterday morning to go pheasant hunting near Mannheim. Gay and the driver, Pfc. Horace Woodring, were unhurt.

PATTON PHYSIQUE AIDS LIFE BATTLE

Still Critical With Fractured Neck, Partial Paralysis

Heidelberg, Germany, Dec. 10 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., was in critical condition today, but his rugged physique has sustained him in resisting the initial shock of a broken neck and partial paralysis, army doctors said.

Today's final bulletin from the United States 130th Station Hospital in Heidelberg said:

"General condition maintained. Reacted well with initial shock. Dislocation of vertebrae is responding satisfactorily to extension. Condition remains critical."

"Critical" Used First Time

It was the first time the word "critical" was used in describing the condition of the United States 15th Army commander, who was injured yesterday when an army truck crashed into the sedan in which Patton was returning from a pheasant hunting trip. Previous bulletins said his condition was "serious."

Patton was described as being paralyzed completely below the fractured third cervical vertebra in the neck, and as suffering from a dislocation of the fourth cervical. The dislocation, however, had been almost completely reduced, a bulletin said.

General Still Conscious

The latest bulletin clearly indicated that Patton still was conscious. Earlier the doctors had reported that the former 3d Army commander had spent a restful night during which he had slept five hours.

Mrs. Patton, flying to his bedside, was expected to arrive in Paris at 6 A.M. (midnight, E.S.T.) tomorrow, and will travel immediately by rail to Heidelberg. With her is Medical Corps. Col. Roy Glen Spurling, of Louisville, a neuro-surgery specialist.

At Mrs. Patton's request, Brigadier Hugh Carnes, neuro-surgical consultant to the British Army, has come to Heidelberg and is in consultation with Lieut. Col. Gilbert Phillips, commanding the surgical division treating head injuries at British military hospitals.

Two bulletins are being issued daily on Patton's progress.

GI's To Pray For Patton

Camp Myles Standish, Mass., Dec. 10 (AP)—Soldiers of all faiths and of all ranks about to be shipped overseas tonight signed a register pledging themselves to pray privately for the recovery of General Patton, seriously injured in an automobile accident in Germany.

The movement, unofficial but sanctioned by ranking officers, was begun by Private Eugene S. Tylka, of Mount Pleasant, Pa., who said he felt as if "something should be done."

Among the signers was Tylka's commanding officer in an airbase squadron, Major Roy Morgan.

The unit is composed of 1,739 officers and men, many of whom had signed the register tonight.

DEC 1 1945

Goering Had Visions in 1938 Of Nazi Air Raid on New York

NUERNBERG, Dec. 10 — (AP) Nazi Air Chief Hermann Goering asked the German aircraft industry in 1938 to produce planes capable of carrying a five-ton bomb load to New York to "stop somewhat the mouths of the arrogant people over there," U. S. Assistant Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman told the international military tribunal today. WES GALLAGHER

As the American prosecution closed the case against the 21 Nazi defendants on the first count—conspiracy to wage aggressive war—documentary evidence piled up showing:

1. That Hitler planed in 1940 to seize Atlantic bases for future attacks upon the United States, but that six months later the Germans apparently lost taste for the project, and instead strove desperately to avoid embroilment with America while pushing Japan steadily into the war.

2. That German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka had low opinions of the U. S. Navy, which the Japanese foreign minister was certain his navy would be able to smash "without trouble."

3. That the Nazis made plans months in advance of the attack on Russia to strip the Russians of all foods, necessities of life and raw materials.

4. That Ribbentrop, another defendant, and other top Nazis tried desperately, with glowing accounts of the advantages thereof, to push Japan into the war against the Russians, but that the Japanese warily sidestepped such an attack.

5. That the Germans never envisioned an attack on Pearl Harbor as the first blow of the Japanese in the war, having told the Japanese the line of logical attack was at Singapore, but nevertheless when the Pearl Harbor attack came, Hitler and the top Nazis were pleased and heartily congratulated the Japanese.

The Nazi plotting with the Japanese which resulted eventually in the Pearl Harbor attack involved grandiose and often fantastic promises by Nazi Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop, Alderman said.

As Alderman piled up documents involving Ribbentrop, the uncomfortable former champagne salesman was jibed repeatedly Goering and former Grand Adm. Erich Raeder. A few seats aw sat former Nazi security Chi Ernst Kaltenbruner, just out of the hospital.

Detested even by his fellow defendants, Kaltenbrunner was ignored when he attempted to shake hands with them.

The smile left Goering's face when the prosecution produced the secret speech he made to chiefs of the aircraft industry in 1938 with this assertion:

"I am still missing entirely the bomber which flies with five tons of explosives to New York and back. I would be extremely happy to have such a bomber, so that I would at least be able to stop somewhat the mouths of the arrogant people over there."

That German plans for war against the United tSates went forward in 1940 was disclosed in a secret letter written by a general at Hitler's headquarters. Dated Oct. 30, 1940, the letter introduced by Alderman said:

"The fuehrer is at present occupied with the question of occupation of Atlantic islands, with a view to prosecution of war against America at a later date. The deliberations on this subject are being embarked upon here. The essential conditions are, at present:

"(A) No other operational commitment; (B) Portuguese neutrality; (C) support of France and Spain."

The prosecution also introduced a top secret directive from the Nazi high command, dated arch 5, 1941 in which Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Hitler's chief of staff, and others specified that the common aim of Italy, Japan and Germany should be "forcing England to the ground quickly, and thereby keeping the United States out of the war."

Alderman also submitted a diary of the late Count Galeazzo Ciano, then Italian foreign minister, which said on Dec. 3 that the Japanese had reached a "dead end" with the United States, and had asked Italy to declare war on America as soon as the first Japanese blow was struck. Ciano reported that Mussolini was pleased.

Ribbentrop and his fellow Nazis made constant efforts to get Japan into the war against Russia, Alderman said. In February, 1943, after the German defeat of Stalingrad and the American landings in North Africa, Ribbentrop and Oshima conferred again, and at this time the wily Japanese said his government felt it should not go to war against Russia at the time. Ribbentrop was bitter about it.

By March 2, 1941, the Russian invasion time table was set, the documents showed. On April 30, 1941, Hitler decreed that the date for the attack would be June 22, 1941. Eleven days before that date the time-table was complete, even to detailed plans for economic plunder which would leave conquered Russian territories stripped of bare necessities.

U. S. Chief Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson's staff now have finished presenting the aggressive warfare count against the defendants. The case tomorrow goes into new phases of the indictment, beginning with the sordid history of forced labor.

Plane Told

GALLAGHER

Nuernberg, Dec. 10 (AP) — The first intimation of a German hope to attack the United States that has been found in captured German records was in 1938, Assistant United States Prosecutor Sydney S. Alderman told the International Military Tribunal today.

Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering in a secret speech to chiefs of the German aircraft industry in that year urged them to develop experimental planes and made the following statement, Alderman said:

"I am still missing entirely the bomber which flies with five tons of explosives to New York and back. I would be extremely happy to have such a bomber so that I would at last be able to stop somewhat the mouths of arrogant people over there."

Unaware Of Jap Plan

German military leaders were urging Japan to get into the war in the Spring of 1941, but had no idea the Japanese might strike an opening blow at Pearl Harbor, according to a hitherto secret German command order disclosed today at the trial.

American prosecutors laid before the four-power tribunal a directive signed March 5, 1941, by Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command, proposing a Japanese attack on Singapore as a means of forcing England to the ground quickly and thereby keeping the United States out of the war."

That Keitel was reluctant at that time to fight America was seen in his warning that Japanese attacks be extended to bases "of American naval power only if entry of the United States into the war cannot be prevented."

Kaltenbrunner Pleads

In a court session marked by the plea of innocence by Ernest Kaltenbrunner, once-dreaded No. 2 man in the Gestapo, American prosecutors turned to evidence of collaboration between Japan and Germany in spreading aggression throughout the world.

Records of conferences between German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka in Berlin on March 29, 1941, and April 5, 1941, showed that Ribbentrop disparaged the Japanese fear that American submarines based in the Philippines would endanger any Japanese move against Singapore.

DEC 1 1945

Nazi Hope In '38 For N.Y. Bomb

Keitel's Argument

In his directive in which he urged a Japanese attack on Singapore, Field Marshal Keitel wrote:

"The common aim of the conduct of the war is to be stressed as forcing England to the ground quickly and thereby keeping the United States out of the war. Beyond this Germany has no political, military or economic interests in the Far East which would give occasion for any reservations with regard to Japanese intentions."

"Seizure of Singapore as the key British position in the Far East would mean a decisive success for the entire conduct of the war of the three powers.

"In addition, attacks on other systems of bases of British naval power — extending to those of American naval power only if entry of the United States into the war cannot be prevented—will result in weakening the enemy's system of power in that region and also, just like the attack on sea communications, in tying down substantial forces of all kinds (from Australia)."

Promises On Russia

The Ribbentrop-Matsuoka conference records disclosed that Germany promised to attack Russia in case she interfered with Japanese expansion in the Orient—but Germany took care that her ally in the tri-partite pact was not let in on the secret that an attack on Russia in June was already planned.

[Continued On Page 4, Column 2

In a letter to army commanders, Keitel instructed that "no allusion to plan 'Barbarossa' (Russian invasion) may be made to the Japanese."

After Germany attacked Russia, real urgency crept into pleas for Japanese entry into the war. A secret cable from Ribbentrop to the German Ambassador in Tokyo on July 10, 1941, directed that pressure be brought to bear to persuade Japan to attack Russia.

"The natural objective still remains that we and Japan join hands on the Trans-Siberian railroad before winter starts," Ribbentrop's cable said. He added:

"After the collapse of Russia the position of the three-power states in the world will be so gigantic that the question of England's collapse or total destruction of the English islands, respectively, will be only a matter of time. An America totally isolated from the rest of the world would then be faced with our taking possession of the remaining positions of the British Empire."

Records of the Ribbentrop-Matsuoka conferences revealed that the German Foreign Minister sought to ease Matsuoka's fear of United States submarines by saying that Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, German naval commander, had described United States submarine "as so bad that Japan need no bother about them at all."

Jap Fears Of Long War

Matsuoka said that Japanese naval chiefs had "considerable worry" over the possibility that "Americans would not take up battle with their fleet and thus the conflict with the United States might perhaps be dragged out to five years" once it got started.

Kaltenbrunner, recovering from a cranial hemorrhage, which sent him to the hospital just before the historic trial opened three weeks ago, was brought before the four power tribunal and declared: "I do not believe that I have made myself guilty."

The tall, scar-faced Gestapo man joined his codefendants as the Hitlerite leaders heard themselves accused in their own words of launching the invasion of Soviet Russia in 1941 with the coldly calculated determination to starve the Russian people so that the Germans themselves might eat.

Wearing a second-hand, double-breasted blue suit and wetting his lips nervously, Kaltenbrunner made a solo entrance at noon and was seated in the front row of the dock between Rosenberg and Field Marshal Keitel.

Arthur Seyss-Inquart, a defendant and, like Kaltenbrunner, a renegade Austrian who helped deliver his country to Hitler, smiled at the uncomfortable newcomer.

American Army physicians said they would decide tomorrow whether Kaltenbrunner was strong enough to spend full days in court.

Major Douglas Kelley, chief jail psychiatrist, said Kaltenbrunner had been examined and found mentally sound after his recovery from the effects of the hemorrhage.

Goering and Alfred Rosenberg, official Nazi philosopher and head of the party's Foreign Affairs Bureau, bore the brunt of the American prosecution's attack at the opening of the fourth week of the trial.

Disclosing the detailed German plans to strip captured Russian territory of food, industries and raw materials, prosecutors introduced as evidence a speech made by Rosenberg just two days before the invasion in which the Nazi leader declared, "We see absolutely no reason for any obligation on our part to feed also the Russian people with products of that surplus territory."

Economic Plunder Policy

Goering, according to official documents, was the director of the ruthless economic policy which called for "seizing raw materials and taking over all important con-erns"—a policy described by Assistant United States Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman as "economic plunder."

Papers from Rosenberg's files disclosed that the Nazis were confident that the Red armies would collapse "very soon" after the initial German onslaught with 125 divisions and three full air fleets. The June 22, 1941, date for the jump-off was set by Hitler on April 30, 1941, it was disclosed.

"It is very probable that military action on our part will very soon be followed by military collapse of the USSR," one document from Rosenberg's captured files stated.

Commenting on detailed plans placed before the court, Prosecutor Alderman declared that "the invasion of Russia was one of the most cold-blooded, premeditated aggressions in the history of war."

The role of the Gestapo was made plain in an order dated March 13, 1940—more than a year before the invasion—in which Hitler delegated to Heinrich Himmler, secret police chief, "the special tasks for preparation of political administration—tasks which result from the struggle which has to be carried out between two opposing political systems."

Hitler, it was disclosed, issued his proposed time table for the Russian campaign on June 11, 1941—eleven days before the attack—in which he warned that "the Russians will fight, on the appointed day, up to the last breath."

Planned To Take Gibraltar

High command records introduced as evidence disclosed that Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, chief of staff for the army, reported on February 3, 1941, that plans for the capture of Gibraltar would have to be abandoned because the necessary artillery had already been sent to the Russian-border area.

Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding, announced that each of the twenty Nazi defendants would be permitted to make one speech in his own defense when all the evidence had been submitted.

Captured German army orders disclosed that Hitler used approximately 125 divisions and three full air fleets in his initial attack. The initial objective was to crush most of the Red Army in a swift smash to the Archangel-Volga line.

Under plans worked out by Rosenburg and filed as evidence, the Ukraine was to become an independent state allied with Germany while the rest of Russia was to be "divided into Reich commissariats."

HUNT KILLER OF RED

Nuernberg, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—American counter-intelligence agents were today continuing their investigation of the killing on Saturday night of a Russian Army private in front of the hotel housing the War Crimes trial staff. The agents were checking varied reports that persons fled from the scene of the shooting in military vehicles.

The Russian soldier was reported to have said before he died that some one in an American uniform shot him. The United States Army authorities, who are responsible for the security of Allied officials here, tightened all their precautions.

Allies Warn on Hair-Cutting

NUERNBERG, Dec. 10 (AP).—Cutting the hair of German girls who have dates with Allied personnel will not be tolerated, a military government court said today. The warning was issued when Heinrich Hirschmann, twenty-two, was sentenced to six months imprisonment for trying to cut off the locks of a fraulein who had been seen leaving a restaurant with two Poles.

Nazi Is Hanged For Killing Flyers

Landsberg, Germany, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Franz Strasser, 45-year-old former Nazi district leader in Czecho-Slovakia, was hanged at Landsberg prison today for the killing of two Allied airmen last December. He showed no emotion as he was led to the gallows near the jail where Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf."

REICH FACTORIES DIVIDED BY ALLIES

Russia Gets 47.8% In Value; 28 Factories Involved

Berlin, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Allied Control Council today announced allocation for reparations of industrial equipment valued at about $93,000,000 in the first batch of factories in western Germany to be turned over to the Allies.

In monetary value, approximately 47.8 per cent of the first allocation was given to Russia—including Poland's share. The remaining 52.2 per cent was allocated for division among seventeen western nations, including the United States, Britain and France.

Movable Equipment Involved

Russia was allocated all or part of seven plants and the western nations all or part of 21. Only movable equipment and not buildings are involved.

The basis of valuation was the replacement value at 1938 reichsmark prices with allowances for war damage and depreciation. On this scale, the provisional value of plants allocated was placed at approximately 232,000,000 reichsmarks. With the mark valued at its 1938 rate of about 40 cents, this put the total at about $92,800,000. The mark is now valued at 10 cents on the dollar.

Russia Not Represented

The list included several big names in German industry, including one Krupp plant, Blohm and Voss, and Kugel Fischer.

Division of the allocations among the so-called western nations will be decided by the Inter-Allied Reparations Agency — on which Russia is not represented—which will meet at Brussels.

These seventeen nations include the United States, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Egypt, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, India, Denmark and Norway.

4 PARTY FRONT SPLITS IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Dec. 10 — (AP) The first public split in Berlin's four-party "united front" sponsored by the Russians was disclosed today in a Communist announcement.

The announcement said the Christian Democratic union declined to join the Communists, Social Democrats and Liberal Democrats in an appeal for rehabilitation of new farmers because it did not "approve of the method of executing the land reform program" whereby 7,000 large Junker estates in eastern Germany were divided among 281,155 small holders.

The CDU signed the original "land reform" petition, and was represented as still supporting its principles.

The Communists did not disclose details of the disagreement, but it was reported reliably that the Christian Democratic Union protested that the rights of private property were infringed by the manner in which the estate owners were dispossessed and that the new farmers were too subservient to state control and support.

The "United Front," through which Communists have been able to dominate political affairs of Berlin, had been opposed by Gen. Eisenhower as an undemocratic bloc "alien to American concepts of political freedom."

Frankfurt, Dec. 10 (AP)—United States Army officials said today that some GI's, fresh from the United States, had gained furloughs at home almost immediately on reaching Germany by simple enlisting in the regular Army, but they said this loophole has been plugged.

While accepting with a grin the fac that some GI's had outsmarted them, an army spokesman said that in the future furloughs in the United States will be granted only to soldiers who spend at least three months in the European theater.

"It was all perfectly legal," a spokesman said, "but we just had to plug the loophole to give first priority to men who have been here the longest."

Under the old regulations any draftees with six to eighteen months service who signed up for the regular Army was entitled to 30 days furlough at home.

He said they had no idea how many men succeeded in getting furloughs without even serving in Europe but conceded some men tried to return on the same ship which brought them over.

Banquet No Dilemma For McNarney

Hospitality at Soviet Dinners Usually Floors Foreigners, but He Has Host 'Try Some,' Too.

Berlin, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Many a non-Russian has walked away from a Soviet banquet table stuffed and a bit tipsy for inability to keep pace with his hosts' expansive hospitality, but Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander of the United States occupation forces, seems to have found the answer to the problem.

"When your host says 'Now, you must try some of this', explains McNarney, "You just say 'I'll take some if you will.'"

McNarney said that he had evolved this procedure at his first meeting with Marshal Georgi Zhukov at a luncheon given by the latter following a meeting of the Allied Control Council. The Russians outdid themselves in lavishness on this occasion because at the time they were celebrating the anniversary of the Red revolution.

"I sat next to Marshal Zhukov, and he's a jolly fellow," McNarney related. "Everytime a dish came along—and there was a long succession of them—he'd say, 'Now, you must try some of this. It's fine.'

"I tried it several times, but I noticed he passed up some dishes, so I tried a different tack.

"I just said, 'I'll take some if you do.' He took some, but when he didn't eat it, I didn't either. We just went along that way, and I came out O. K."

5 Years for False Hitler Tip

ISERLOHN, Germany, Dec. 10 (AP).—Helmut Stembach, twenty-two-year-old butcher's son who insisted that he knew where Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun were hiding, was sentenced today by a military government court to five years' imprisonment for making false statements to Allied authorities.

S. S. General Pleads Not Guilty

AURICH, Germany, Dec. 10 (AP).—Major General Kurt Meyer, former commander of the 25th S. S. Panzer Division, pleaded innocent at his trial today to charges that he was responsible for the shooting of forty-eight Canadian prisoners of war in the Caen beachhead area in 1944. The first prosecution witness, a soldier in Meyer's outfit, testified that the defendant had issued orders that his company was not to take prisoners.

Smart Yanks Fool Army—For A While

30.24-32271

The chief prosecutor, Lieutenant Colonel Bruce MacDonald, of Windsor, Ont., said in his opening statement that Meyer was "directly and indirectly" responsible for the killings at Caen. Major General Harry W. Foster, of Picton, Ont., and Halifax, is president of the court trying Meyer.

TOP NAZIS AT DACHAU

Dachau, Germany, Dec. 10 (A. P.),—Five of the top Nazi leaders now on trial at Neurnberg visited the Dachau concentration camp between 1941 and 1944 while the inmates were being starved and tortured, a witness at the Dachau war crimes trial testified today. The trial is expected to end tomorrow.

Dr. Franz Blaha, a former Dachau inmate from Prague, told the court he saw Wilhelm Frick, Dr. Walther Funk, Fritz Sauckel, Alfred Rosenberg and Ernst Kaltenbrunner in the camp. "I don't know whether they made an inspection or whether they visited Dachau for pleasure," he added.

Lieut.-Col. William S. Denson, prosecutor, said that Blaha's evidence will be used at the Nuernberg trial.

British Get Bremen Enclave

U. S. Retains Rule of City and Dock Areas of Bremerhaven

BREMEN, Dec. 10 (AP).—Supervision of the Bremen enclave was turned over to the British today, but the American military government retained authority over the city of Bremen and the dock areas of Bremerhaven, including Wesermunde.

An American spokesman explained that the transfer was made to unify control of the area, but emphasized that the United States intended to hold Bremen as it will eventually be the only port used to supply American occupation forces.

GREEKS TO RELEASE POLITICAL PRISONERS

ATHENS, Dec. 10—(AP) The Greek cabinet said tonight that all political prisoners, except those charged with murder, would be released. Interior Minister Constantine Retis said 17,981 such prisoners were being held in Greek prisons. The amnesty decision does not affect cases of offenses against ordinary law.

Polish Oil Purchases Shown

WARSAW, Dec. 10 (AP).—The Polish Press Agency said today that Poland had imported 38,000 tons of petroleum products and 9,000 tons of gasoline from Russia since July.

Natives Massing About Batavia

Batavia, Dec. 10 (AP) — Several thousand armed Indonesians were reported mobilizing in villages around Batavia today, possibly for an attack on the city, while British planes blasted the mountain village of Tjibadak, 50 miles south of the capital.

Large concentrations of natives were reported in Batavia's suburbs, and British troops were on the alert. However, reports of any new advance on the city itself were indefinite. One rumor said a new uprising was scheduled for December 14.

Earlier it had been reported that the Indonesians had attempted to filter into the Pandjong Priok dock area and had also attempted to set fire to an RAF barracks in the suburbs of Kramat.

Heaviest Raid Yet

A British spokesman said the RAF strike against Tjibadak was the heaviest of the Javanese hostilities and that the village had been left smashed and burning.

Beaufighters, which preceded the raiding planes, dropped 1,000 warning leaflets. Then four rocket-firing Mosquitos came in to attack, followed by six Thunderbolts which dropped 500-pound bombs.

Two other villages near Tjibadak, Kampa and Tjimahi, were also targets for raiding RAF planes.

British Casualties

One British officer, one British enlisted man and fourteen Indian enlisted men were reported killed Sunday night in an Indonesian attack upon the convoy route from Batavia to Bandoeng. In Bandoeng itself the situation was reported quit, with Gurkha troops continuing to clear away street barricades erected by the Indonesians in the northwest part of the city.

An official British casualty list for the period of October, November and up to December 5 gave a total of 145 killed, 604 wounded and 167 missing.

Authoritative sources here today said Lieut. Gov. Gen. Hubertus van Mook may fly to Holland Thursday to report on Indonesian political developments to his Government. The trip was considered routine, probably necessitated by inadequate communication facilities.

BRITISH VEIL JAVA MOVES

Secrecy Termed Prelude To All-Out Attack

Batavia, Java, Dec. 10 (AP)—The British command clamped wartime secrecy on troop movements and communications in Java today as a prelude to full-scale military operations against Indonesian nationalist forces.

Tension mounted amid reports that large concentrations of natives were massing in the suburbs of Batavia for a march upon the Javanese [illegible]. British troops were alerted as rumors persisted that the insurgents planned a new uprising on a large scale by the week's end.

Government Move Urged

The Dutch news agency Aneta said the Jogjakarta division of the Indonesian republican movement's central national committee has urged President Soekarno and Premier Sutan Sjahrir of the unrecognized republic to remove the central Indonesian Government immediately from Batavia to the interior.

An official announcement put British casualties in Java for the period from October 1 through December 5 at 916, including 145 killed, 604 wounded and 167 missing.

Thirteen Royal Air Force Mosquito bombers and Thunderbolts assaulted the mountain village of Tjibadak, 50 miles south of Batavia, in what was described as the heaviest air strike of the nationalist rebellion. The village was reported smashed and burning after an hour-long attack.

1,000 Leaflets Give Warning

The Mosquitos had dropped 1,000 warning leaflets telling the population the village would be destroyed and urging the people to flee immediately.

Two other villages near Tjibadak—Kampa and Tjimahi—were also blasted by RAF planes.

The air assaults followed a pitched battle between Indonesian and British troops escorting a convoy bringing relief supplies for the summer capital at Bandoeng.

In the sharp fight one British officer, one British enlisted man and about fourteen Indian enlisted men were killed, and 30 Indian troops were wounded. Most of the convoy got through, however.

Fights In Suburbs Reported

Aneta said a British regiment in Batavia fired 1,000 rounds into an area east of the Kemajoran airfield. Fighting was reported in progress northeast of Kramjat, another troublesome district, during the day.

Allied headquarters offered Indonesians in Java an opportunity to co-operate in putting down the nationalist insurgents. A company of Indonesian Peace Preservation Corps troops from Poerwakarta was called up by the British command.

Dutch military sources said one well-trained and equipped battalion of former prisoners of war was garrisoned in Batavia at the Royal Military Academy, ready to help in any new contingency.

The Netherlands home government said the Dutch commander in chief in Indonesia was subject to orders from acting Governor General Hubertus J. Van Mook, who, in turn, would be responsible to the Allied supreme command.

Van Mobu was reported preparing to fly to the Netherlands Thursday to report on the situation and on political developments in Java.

Allied headquarters offered Indonesians in Java an opportunity to cooperate in putting down the Nationalist insurgents. A company of Indonesian peace preservation corps troops from Poerwakarta was called up by the British command.

Dutch military sources said one well-trained and equipped battalion of former prisoners of war was garrisoned in Batavia at the Royal Military academy, ready to help in any new contingency.

View Mutilated Bodies

At Palembang, Sumatra, the British forced Indonesian leaders to view the exhumed mutilated bodies of a British brigade major and a women Red Cross worker who were killed there last week.

The situation was quiet for the time being at Bandoeng, despite the heavy fighting in the other west Java areas. At Semarang, at the north center of the island, Indonesians were reported shelling British airfield installations, while British naval units replied with shellfire. Air reconnaissance along the north coastal highways out of Semarang disclosed an increasing number of Indonesian roadblocks.

Within the past two days 1,350 Dutch women and children have been evacuated from the battle-torn village of Ambarawa, and 400 Chinese were to be removed.

Christian ministers at Bandoeng have signed an appeal for help, asserting that a "holy war" of Moslems against the Christians already was under way in the area. The Japanese had fostered the feeling during the occupation, the statement said, reporting the killing of five Roman Catholic priests at Magelang and the burning of a Christian settlement at Depok, in west Java.

A Christian minister was reported mistreated by Indonesians at Ambarawa, and the statement said a Roman Catholic church at Buitenzor, was desecrated.

"Holy War" Is Charged

BATAVIA, Dec. 10 (AP)—Christian church minister at Bandung have signed an appeal for help, asserting that a "holy war" of Moslems against the Christians already was under way in the area. The Japanese had fostered the feeling during the occupation, the statement said, reporting the killing of five Roman Catholic priests at Magelang and the burning of a Christian settlement at Depok, in West Java.

IRAN ASKS TROOPS BE REMOVED NOW

Tehran, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Premier Mahmed Hakimi called today for the immediate evacuation of foreign troops from Iran and said he still was hopeful that direct discussions with the Soviet Government would "produce the desired results" in establishing Iran's security.

"The Iran Government is ready to take any steps necessary to reassure the Soviet Government and nations generally of its sincere desire to strengthen good relations with the Soviet," he said at a press conference.

He declared that any suggestions made by the United Nations Organization in regard to Iran would be "gladly welcomed," and that Iran was "confident the three great Powers will honor the Tri-partite Treaty and Tehran Declaration and remove troops as soon as possible."

A special six-man council has been established to direct Iranian affairs during the present emergency.

Asks Foreign Troops to Leave

TEHRAN, Iran, Dec. 10 (AP).—Amid reports of further violence in the hilly northwestern provinces, Premier Ibrahim Hakimi called today for immediate evacuation of all foreign troops in Iran and for recognition of the domestic sovereignty of his government.

Hakimi told reporters that he sees no further need for "friendly Allied nations" to maintian garrisons in Iran, and said his government wishes freedom of action to carry out reforms and insure its security.

Referring to the recent Russian refusal to remove Soviet troops from the occupied Azerbaijan Province area, which adjoins the Soviet Union, Hakimi said the Iran government "is ready to take any steps necessary to reassure the Soviet government and nations generally of its sincere desire to strengthen good relations with the Soviet government."

The Russians, who last week said they would stick to the scheduled evacuation date of March 1, 1946, have accused Iranian troops of provoking disorders.

Kurdish tribesmen, described as bandits, were reported by the newspaper "Journal de Tehran" to have attacked government policemen in a northwestern village, killing one and wounding two others. Three Kurds were killed.

Japs Used Gas In Few Cases, Yank Finds

Tokyo, Dec. 10 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Charles E. Loucks declared today that the Japanese had used poison gas against American troops "in a few isolated instances," notably in New Guinea late in the war.

The chemical warfare officer on General MacArthur's staff said the most recent instance was March 5, 1945, when a Japanese patrol set off vomiting gas candles in a signal corps area at Biak, New Guinea.

Loucks said several Americans were made severely ill but none killed.

Jap Officials Not Informed

Japanese officials he has talked to, he added, denied knowledge of this or other reported isolated use of gas but they conceded they were unable to say whether individual field commanders had used it.

Loucks asserted that the Japanese also had tossed gas grenades at American concentrations at Biak and had used gas against the Chinese in China.

The officer said the Japanese had a modern, well-equipped gas chemical warfare school at Narashino but abandoned the manufacture of poison gas in 1943 because, as questioned Japanese officials told him "we believed the Allied statement that gas would be used only in retaliation."

U.S. Equipment Better

"Our training and equipment

DEC 11 1945

were decidedly superior to Japan's," Loucks said. "Despite Japanese denials that they contemplated use of gas against United States troops, it is apparent that our extensive preparations were the biggest single factor in preventing gas warfare."

The Japanese were unable to develop any significant new poison gases although they had the elaborate gas warfare school and extensive research, the officer said.

"The Japs stated that their chemical experts had studied more than 1,000 compounds for poison-gas possibilities," Loucks continued, "but they had found no agents as effective as standard World War I gases."

"More Humane Than Bomb"

Loucks, who is going to Washington soon to become assistant chief of the chemical warfare service for research and development, declared that poison gas was more humane than the atomic bomb or "a bayonet in the abdomen."

"If we had used gas at places like Tarawa and Iwo (two of the most bloody Marine campaigns) we would have saved a lot of lives," Loucks said.

He emphasized, however, that it was national policy to refrain from using gas unless the enemy first employed it.

Loucks said he expected no decline in research into chemical warfare, now that the war is over, but on the contrary predicted that there would be "considerably larger" facilities for research and development.

Japanese Use Of Gas In New Guinea Noted

Tokyo, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Japanese used gas against American forces in New Guinea, Brig. Gen. Charles E. Louck said today.

The officer, in charge of chemical warfare on General MacArthur's staff, did not specify poison gas, and did not report any American troops had been killed by gas.

In March, 1945, he said, Japanese ignited vomiting gas candles in an American Signal Corps area at Biak, New Guinea. Several Americans were made ill. The Japanese also threw gas grenades at Americans at Biak, and used gas in China against the Chinese, Louck asserted.

Allied statements that gas would be used only in retaliation prompted Japanese to stop making poison gas in 1943, Louck said he had been told by Nipponese officials.

Jap Farmers Fear Riots For Rice

Tokyo, Dec. 10 (AP)—A warning from influential farmers that rice riots are inevitable without stronger Government agarian policies coincided today with General MacArthur's second demand that Japan's feudal land system be altered immediately.

Fifteen farmer representatives from Akita province in northeastern Japan declared muddled government policies have produced such lack of confidence that the rich Tohoku district may sell only 60 per cent of its rice crop to the Government.

60 Ordered Arrested

Meanwhile, continuing his roundup of war criminal suspects, MacArthur directed the arrest of 57 Japanese accused of committing atrocities against United Nations nationals held in the ill-famed Cubanatuan prison camp in the Philippines, in prisons, camps and hospitals in Japan proper, and on the prisoner-of-war ship Oryoku Maru during the vessel's nightmarish voyage from the Philippines to Japan.

Also ordered arrested were three Japanese naval officers, including a repatriate from Wake Island. Two of the trio are being court-martialed by the Japanese.

Considered "Small Fry"

The newest war-criminal suspects were considered "small fry" in comparison with some of the Japanese arrested recently, but to American and Allied prisoners of war they ranked highest.

Three Japanese named on previous war-criminal suspect lists surrendered today at Sugamo prison. They were Gen. Jinzaburo Mazaki, once inspector general on military education; Nagakage Okabe, who was Education Minister in the Cabinet of ex-Premier Hideki Tojo, and Koichiro Ishigara, business man.

MacArthur's newest land directive abolishes absentee land ownership and provides that millions of farmers may buy land on long-term, low rates.

New Crisis Looms

The measure threatens a new crisis for Premier Kiujuro Shidehara's Cabinet, which is on the verge of collapse. MacArthur's first demand last month for agrarian reform resulted in a lukewarm Government measure now before a hesitant Diet. Today's directive cracks the whip for prompt action on a reform which the landowners are opposing strongly.

The farmers' warning of rice riots followed their meeting with Prince Higashi-Kuni, former Premier, in which they asked that the Emperor be invited to visit Tohoku prefecture to "dispel the mental confusion now existing among agricultural communities."

COMMUNISTS CLAIM JAPS

Admit Party Is Weak But Cite Subsidiary Groups

Tokyo, Tuesday, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Communist party, although acknowledging that its political organization is weak, claimed today that 100,000 workers and tens of thousands of farmers have joined subsidiary organizations which it sponsors.

The party released through Kyodo news agency a progress report made to a recent party congress by Secretary Kyuichi Tokuda. It announced plans for more vigorous organizational activities throughout the nation.

Party officials said their recently proclaimed list of 1,300 asserted war criminals, including most of the imperial household, would be submitted to both Allied headquarters and the Japanese Government.

The Japanese Government came under new fire from its own people today with an unprecedented public questioning of the Emperor's divinity and a warning that present policies were leading inevitably to imminent food riots.

Jap Children Bayonet Victims

Tokyo, Tuesday, Dec. 11 (AP)—Tokyo newspapers today published a report that Japanese soldiers bayoneted 20 Japanese children to death in the Philippines because they impeded the retreat of Nipponese troops.

Mrs. Haru Tomohana, 29, who lost four children, recounted that on the morning of April 16, 1945, a Captain Aoki summoned civilian women who were fleeing with soldier into the mountains of Cebu and told them:

"Children under 10 years old shall be disposed of tonight."

Kyodo news agency said Aoki is in a prisoner-of-war camp on Mindanao, in the Philippines.

At midnight the sleeping youngsters were awakened by soldiers.

"Then we mothers were all forced out of the tent at the point of bayonets," Mrs. Tomahana continued. "There were cries of 'mama,' mingled with horrible screams."

Saved Eldest Son

Twelve children died that night, three of them Mrs. Tomohana's. She managed to save her eldest son.

In early June, Aoki ordered eight remaining children killed because of the food shortage. The women decided to flee, but were caught.

"Right in front of our eyes our children were mercilessly bayoneted to death," Mrs. Tomohana said. "The bodies were thrown into a hole and covered with mud.

"I tore myself away from the arms of the soldiers and rushed to the hole. I dug and dug with my hands with all my might.

"When I finally succeeded in finding the bodies of eight children, I—I——"

Mrs. Tomohana broke down.

Repatriated Japs Complain About Food, Filth

By Duane Hennessy

Uraga, Japan, Dec. 10 (AP)—In the stench-ridden halls of the filthy barracks in which Japanese civilians returning from the United States are housed, one of those who renounced his American citizenship hurried over and said:

"This place is terrible! Why can't the American army disinfect these buildings? Why didn't they do it before we arrived?"

Not Run By Army

"It's tough, brother, but the American army has nothing to do with this place. You are under the Japanese Government now," I told him. "They are running this place. These are the buildings they picked for you."

He said his name was Robert Tsuida, that he was born in Hawaii, had been a cook in Chicago and had worked in Santa Ana, Cal.

"We never thought we were coming back to anything as bad as this," he complained. "This is terrible!"

A Poor Welcome

The "welcome" in Japan for these repatriates who asked to be relieved of their American citizenship is indeed a harsh revelation. Once they leave their American ship, they are completely under the care of the Japanese Government. Uraga Camp, at the mouth of Tokyo Bay, is even off limits for Allied military personnel.

Civilians trudged for a mile up a muddy, rutted road to reach the camp—a half dozen weatherbeaten, unpainted barracks. Windows were broken, letting a chill wind whip through the barren rooms.

Buildings Filthy

Rotting and untended since the Japanese Army moved out, the buildings had not been cleaned for months. Halls were littered with old tin cans, ashes dumped from charcoal burners and cardboard boxes of refuse and junk.

There were no beds, just worn, woven straw sleeping mats. Each man was issued four dirty blankets, presumably salvaged from the Japanese Army.

"At least they could have cleaned the blankets," Tsuida said. "They even smell bad. Living here is miserable!"

Not Like Camps In U.S.

"Not like Japanese relocation centers in the states?" he was asked.

"There is no comparison. I sure wish I had an American meal right now, but I guess it will be a long time before I get that kind of food again."

He was told the American army

[Continued On Page 3, Column 4]

is not feeding the Japanese people, and that henceforth he would be on the standard Japanese ration, as set by the Government.

Rice And An Apricot

At least 500 of the repatriates were waiting in the mess hall, a place of unmopped floors, with pools of water here and there on the uneven cement. Each person was served one saucer of rice—a plate the size of an American coffee saucer—and one apricot, shriveled to the size of a walnut.

Then they all returned to their quarters, shivering. There was no heat anywhere in the camp.

That's what they came back to, from America.

JAP LAWMAKER ASKS IF MIKADO HAS DIVINITY

Education Minister Says Emperor Is Both God and Human.

PAPER ATTACKS HIROHITO

Shidehara Criticized for Failing to Obtain Reprieve for Prince Nashimoto

Tokyo, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—A member of the House of Representatives questioned today the tradition that the Emperor is a divinity and was told by Education Minister Tamon Maeda that the ruler "is both a god and a human being."

Bumpei Hamaji did something no other Japanese legislator ever did before when he posed the question. He said he thought that in the "present realities" the Emperor was a human being, and he was asking the question "not in the sense of a lack of respect" but because the Japanese themselves were confused.

Maeda replied that the Emperor's status "differs according to one's conception, but he is a god and also a human being." He said he thought the confusion might arise from the difference in the concepts of the Japanese "kami" or gods and the Christian God.

Paper Scores Emperor.

Meanwhile, Minpo, Tokyo's newest newspaper, was creating a sensation by editorially declaring that the Emperor was responsible for the war and advocating his removal from politics through abdication. The newspaper did not advocate elimination of the Emperor system.

"It is a clear fact that hostilities were started by the Imperial rescript declaring war," and therefore "his Majesty cannot evade responsibility for bringing about the situation wherein Japan finds itself today," Minpo said (Hirohito signed the war rescript about eight hours after the attack on Pearl Harbor.)

Criticizes Shidehara.

In the House of Representatives Hamaji previously had assailed Premier Kijuro Shidehara's "weak-kneed diplomacy" in demanding stronger efforts to obtain a reprieve for Prince Nashimoto, who was named as a suspected war criminal. Allied Headquarters has denied one Japanese request to suspend the apprehension order.

Shidehara apologized for his inability to prevent the inclusion of a member of the Imperial Household among the suspects and added that "I am directing efforts on this question but I think it would be better not to say what sort of efforts."

During questioning by the election law revision committee, Shidehara denied the Diet's legislative powers were being bound by Allied occupation policies but said "it must be understood that it would be extremely difficult to realize policies opposed to those decided upon by the Allies."

Earlier a warning from influential farmers that rice riots are inevitable without stronger government agrarian policies coincided with Gen. MacArthur's second blunt demand that Japan's feudal land system be altered immediately.

Fifteen farmer representatives from Akita province in northeastern Japan declared that muddled government policies have produced such lack of confidence that the rich Tohoku district may sell only 60 per cent of its rice crop to the Government.

Meanwhile, continuing his roundup of war criminal suspects, MacArthur directed the arrest of fifty-seven Japanese accused of committing atrocities against United Nations nationals held in the ill-famed Cabanatuan prison camp in the Philippines, in prisons, camps and hospitals in Japan proper, and on the prisoner of war ship Oryoku Maru during the vessel's nightmarish voyage from the Philippines to Japan. Also ordered arrested were three Japanese naval officers, including a repatriate from Wake Island. Two of the trio are being court-martialed by the Japanese.

30.24-32273

Three Japanese named on previous war criminal suspect lists surrendered today at Sugamo Prison. They were Gen. Jinzaburo Mazaki, once Inspector-General in Military Edcuation; Nagakage Okabe, who was Education Minister in the Cabinet of ex-Premier Hideki Tojo and Koichiro Ishigara, a business man.

MacArthur's newest land directive abolishes absentee land ownership and provides that millions of farmers may buy land on long term at low rates. The measure threatens a new crisis for Shidehara's Cabinet.

named as a suspected war criminal. Allied headquarters has denied one Japanese request to suspend the apprehension order.

Shidehara Apologizes

Shidehara apologized for his inability to prevent the inclusion of a member of the imperial household among the suspects and added that "I am directing efforts on this question but I think it would be better not to say what sort of efforts."

Hamaji also wanted to know what would be the Government policy if Prince Konoye, three times Premier whose arrest also has been ordered, and others held responsible for war were "acquitted by the Allies."

Might Create Problem

"It would be a natural," the Premier replied, "if the Japanese people would not be able to keep quiet. But it will be difficult to decide what to do with them.

"Legal punishment will be especially difficult. I think it will be more serious for those concerned to be punished by public opinion."

Shidehara challenged Hamaji's statement that Japan invaded China because she could not eat without conquests on the continent.

"Could Solve Food Problem"

"I cannot agree to the idea that Japan cannot eat because of the smallness of her territory," Shidehara said. "I have long believed that Japan's food problem could be solved by a peaceful advance through trade."

During questioning by the election law revision committee Shidehara denied the Diet's legislative powers were being bound by Allied occupation policies, but said "it must be understood that it would be extremely difficult to realize policies opposed to those decided upon by the Allies."

Diet Member Questions Divinity Of Emperor

Tokyo, Dec. 10 (AP)—A member of the House of Representatives questioned today the tradition that the Emperor is a divinity and was told by Education Minister Tamon Maeda that the ruler "is both a god and a human being."

Representative Bumpei Hamaji did something no other Japanese legislator ever did before when he posed the question.

He said he thought that in the "present realities" the Emperor was a human being, and he was asking the question "not in the sense of a lack of respect" but because the Japanese themselves were confused.

"A God And A Human Being"

Maeda replied that the Emperor's status "differs according to one's conception, but he is a god and also a human being." He said he thought the confusion might arise from the difference in the concepts of the Japanese kami or gods and the Christian God.

Hamaji previously had assailed Premier Kijuro Shidehara's "weak-kneed diplomacy" in demanding stronger efforts to obtain a reprieve for Prince Nashimoto, who was Possible Key Tojo Witness Imprisoned

Tokyo, Dec. 10 (AP)—American fears of an assassination attempt against Gen. Jinzaburo Mazaki—a possible key witness against wartime Premier Hideki Tojo—ended today when the aged officer entered Sugamo prison.

Mazaki, who also faces a war-crimes trial, has indicated through a brother that among other testimony at his trial he will charge that Tojo and his cohorts plunged Japan into the Pacific conflict primarily to avoid the peoples' wrath for failure in the China war.

With Mazaki's incarceration, it can be revealed reliably that American authorities feared Japanese extremists might try to silence the 69-year-old general. It was considered likely that impetus for such a plot might come from recently demobilized colonels and majors who originally supported Tojo and who actually ran the Japanese War Ministry after Tojo's Cabinet fell.

Changed Their Mind

Tokyo, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Japanese military leaders in Malaya planned to continue fighting despite Emperor Hirohito's August 15 surrender offer but changed their minds when an imperial envoy arrived with orders to lay down their arms, it was learned today.

500,000 RETURNED FROM PACIFIC AREA

Tokyo, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Gen. MacArthur reported today that approximately 500,000 service men have returned to the United States from the Pacific since Japan's surrender. He commended all echelons of his command "for the efficient and expeditious manner in which the readjustment program has been carried on within the theater."

His statement asserted that "despite many obstacles incident to the rolling up of far flung bases in the Pacific and to the redeployment of shipping" the Pacific Theater increased numbers returning to the United States from a "feeble 6,000 during June to a figure of 341,104" in November.

MacArthur requested units under his command to continue to "exert all efforts" to insure return of eligible service men "with the least possible delay and upon the most equitable basis."

Marine Flees In Hail Of Bullets After Chinese Wound Him

Tientsin, Dec. 9 [AP—Delayed].—An unarmed United States Marine sergeant was shot from a horse on the outskirts of Tientsin late yesterday and wounded in the face, Marine headquarters said today.

The announcement said the Marine encountered three Chinese civilians at a narrow bridge spanning an irrigation ditch.

The Marine smiled and greeted the Chinese, who also smiled and at the same time drew pistols and began firing, headquarters said.

Trailed, Shot At Along Canal

One bullet struck the Marine in the face and he jumped into the icy waters of the canal. He reported that two of the Chinese followed him along the bank, firing at point-blank range, while the third held his horse.

The Marine said the two Chinese emptied their pistols, reloaded and began firing again until at last he made his way out of the canal to a village of mud huts.

Here, the Marine continued, villagers told him they were afraid to help him, but he obtained a bicycle from one of them and started back to Tientsin.

Aided By Russian Woman

Finally, he met a Russian woman who took him to her home, where her husband removed his frozen clothing and called the Marines. The Marines brought a truck and took him to a hospital.

[Continued On Page 3, Column 4]

The sergeant, whose name was not announced, had spent 32 months overseas and joined the 1st Marine Division in North China last November 12.

The incident followed by four days the slaying of one Marine and the wounding of a second by Chinese gunmen near a village northeast of here. After the previous shooting the Marines fired 24 mortar shells into a village where the gunman took refuge.

Naval Board Investigating

There was no indication here that the two shootings were connected.

A naval board of inquiry is investigating the first attack in an effort to learn if any Marine or naval officer was blameworthy. The board's findings probably will be sent to the Secretary of the Navy and it is unlikely that any announcement will be made here.

HONOR GEN. SHEPHERD

Tientsin, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Major-Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., commander of the Sixth Marine Division now stationed at Tsingtao, has been decorated with the Gold Star for his leadership in the Okinawa campaign.

Major-Gen. Keller E. Rockey, commanding the Marine Third Amphibious Corps, presented the award yesterday at a ceremony attended by Major-Gen. Dewitt Peck, commander of the First Marine Division; Major-Gen. Louis E. Woods, commander of the First Marine Air Wing, and Brig.-Gen. William A. Worton, Rocky's chief of staff.

Vodka Proves Good Anti-Freeze Substitute

Tientsin, Dec. 10 (AP)—Anti-freeze fluid for automobiles was scarce when a hard freeze hit here Saturday, but two United States Information Service officials, James L. Stewart, of Los Angeles, and Richard W. Beckman, of Ames, Iowa, solved the problem.

They emptied three bottles of the potent, cheap and almost undrinkable vodka sold here into their auto radiator. It worked.

6 U. S. Planes Missing On North China Flight

PEIPING, Dec. 10—(AP) A show of force by American Marine air power over strife-torn areas of North China may have cost the United States at least 12 lives.

Six dive bombers are unreported and have been overdue 48 hours, it was learned today.

The planes, each a late version of the Curtiss Helldiver and each carrying at least two men, left their base at Tsingtao Saturday. They were scheduled to rendezvous over Taku, river mouth port for Tientsin, then sweep in formation up the river, and return.

Marine fliers said they had been told these shows of force were to wave the American big stick before the noses of Chinese Communists and central government forces and that most flights were scheduled over areas where local clashes were most prevalent.

FIRE HITS BUILDINGS AT PEIPING AIRFIELD

PEIPING, Dec. 10—(AP)—Two fires of undetermined origin last night destroyed the operations and control tower building at Peiping's west airfield, where scores of United States and Chinese-piloted planes are based, and razed the plant where the Kuomintang (government) party's North China daily newspaper is published.

No Americans were injured, according to first reports. Army airways communications personnel on duty escaped shortly before the roof of the two-story structure collapsed.

Army and marine corps radio and radar equipment valued at over $1,000,000 and pilots' records were destroyed.

The blaze in the Hua Pei Jih Pao newspaper plant occurred at almost the same hour. The plant, presses and paper stock were consumed.

Military and municipal authorities were investigating.

STRATEGIC TOWN IS UNDER ATTACK BY CHINESE REDS

CHUNGKING, Dec. 10—(AP) An attack by 120,000 Chinese Communists on the strategic railway town of Lincheng in southern Shantung province was reported today in a Central government dispatch which said the outnumbered defenders were "fighting bravely" and still holding on.

Lincheng is on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad about 50 miles north of Hsuchow. The dispatch asserted hostilities had been in progress there for 13 days.

Another dispatch alleged the Communists in Central China were planning a "large scale offensive" and had established a Central China command to coordinate and direct their forces in that area.

Breaks Favor Chiang

Elsewhere the complexities of China's undeclared civil war seemed to be unraveling in favor of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

The China Times reported the government was considering terms offered by General Chang Hsueh-Shih for the surrender of his forces in Manchuria, and that a final decision would be made after the return to Manchuria of General Tu Li-Ming, commander of Central government forces there. Tu was scheduled to leave Chungking today.

At the same time a Chinese dispatch said that irregular forces inside Manchuria's key industrial city of Mukden had withdrawn on Communist orders as Central government forces stood in the outskirts ready to enter.

Although troops of General Chang Hsueh-Shih previously had been reported moving into Mukden to welcome the Chungking forces, this dispatch alleged they still were linked to the Chinese Communists. It said the orders to withdraw were issued by Gen. Chu Teh, the Communist commander, in order to "conserve the strength of Communist forces."

Ordered to Evacuate

Another government dispatch asserted that Communist troops near the Changchun railroad—the most important north-south artery in Manchuria—had been "ordered to evacuate," but failed to say whether the orders came from Russian occupation forces or from Yenan, the Communist headquarters.

Meanwhile, in Yenan, Gen. Peng Teh-Huei, vice commander-in-chief of the Chinese Communist forces, said the Communist Eighth route army never had opposed and was not now opposing the Central government's advance into Manchuria.

General Peng emphasized that the Chinese Communists "definitely oppose" any country obtaining a sphere of influence in any part of China, and said he was convinced the Soviet Union "does not want" a sphere of influence in Manchuria.

In line with the rapid advance of Central government forces into Manchuria, an official dispatch reported the establishment at Chiahsien of the first postwar provincial administration in that rich area formerly dominated by Japan.

Press reports from Inner Mongolia said government troops had cleared suburbs of Kweisui, capital of Suiyuan province, of Communist forces which had besieged the city for 40 days. They added the Communists had been driven back 15 miles but were mustering forces for renewed attacks from the west and north.

all the way from the city of Harbin some 550 miles southward to the free port of Darien had been open since November 25, indicating the Communists did not control any part of it.

This account said a board of auditors for the railroad had been set up in Harbin under the Chinese-Russian agreement.

British Unit in China to Disband

CHUNGKING, Dec. 10 (AP).—The British aid group in China, a smaller edition of the Sino-American organization which prepared landing operations and gathered military intelligence in Japanese-held territory during the war, is awaiting orders to disband. Its headquarters have been transferred to Hong Kong.

Chinese Reds Desire No Outside Influences

Irregular Forces In Mukden Withdraw On Reds' Orders

Chungking, Dec. 10 (AP)—A Chinese dispatch said today that irregular forces inside the Manchurian city of Mukden had withdrawn on Communist orders as Central Government troops stood outside the city.

Although troops of Gen. Chang Hsueh-Shih previously had been reported moving into the city to welcome the Chungking forces, this dispatch alleged they still were linked with Chinese Communists.

The dispatch said the orders to withdraw were issued by Gen. Chu Teh, Communist commander in chief, in order to "conserve the strength of Communist forces."

Other Reports

Communist headquarters at Yenan previously had denied that Chang was taking orders from the Communists, and he has been reported variously as negotiating with Chungking to join the Government cause and as already joining it.

Another government dispatch asserted tha Communist troops ranging near the Changchun railroad, which is the most important North-South artery in Manchuria, had been "ordered to evacuate."

The dispatch said the railroad

Yenan, Dec. 8 [AP—Delayed]—Gen. Peng Teh-huei, vice commander in chief of the Chinese Communist armies, declared today that the Communists "definitely oppose" any country obtaining a sphere of influence in any part of China.

Peng said he recognized there were elements and individuals in America—such as Patrick Hurley (recently resigned Ambassador to China), former President Herbert Hoover and Senator Arthur Vandenberg—who feared the Chinese Communists would affiliate with Stalinist Russia, but asserted that their grounds for such an assumption "never have been made clear."

Still For Free China

"The position of the Chinese Communists remains still for a free, independent and democratic China," he said.

"Regard the question objectively and you will find that the Soviet Union does not want a sphere of influence in Manchuria. This she stated in the Sino-Soviet pact. However, there is a growing suspicion among the Chinese people that the policy represented by Hurley and Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer in China is mistakenly imperialist. We hope this is only a suspicion, not a reality."

Called Partisan

[Wedemeyer, commanding American forces in China, has been accused by the Communists of being partisan to the Central Government.]

Peng said the Communists anxiously awaited the arrival of Gen. George C. Marshall, recently named to succeed Hurley. They want to learn his policy regarding disarming of Japanese and to mark time until "peace talks" get under way in Chungking before making any belligerent moves against Peiping and Tatung where, they assert, many Japanese remain under arms.

"Wherever Japanese and puppets remain armed in China, we are determined to annihilate them," he stated.

Expect North China Drive

Peng said he "definitely expected" Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's forces to mount a full offensive in North China this month if American help in transportation increased, or in February or March if American aid decreased.

Of Manchuria, Peng said that the Communist 8th Route Army never had opposed and was not now opposing the Central Government's advance.

Attitude Toward America

Speaking of the Communist attitude toward America, Peng asked:

"Is it a fact that we have a special liking for the Soviet Union and a perjudice toward the United States? The answer is no.

"In the past, American policy under Roosevelt was a good one. The initiator of its present mistaken policy was Hurley. We differentiate between him and the American people. His policy and that of Wedemeyer are suspected."

Peng, 47, is a member of the Political Bureau, and consequently one of the ten more important men in this part of China.

Japanese Official Surrenders

SHANGHAI, Dec. 10 (AP).—Masayuki Tani, former Japanese Ambassador to the Chinese puppet regime in Nanking, who was named by General Douglas MacArthur as a suspected war criminal, surrendered today to the Japanese self-governing council. He was instructed to return to his home pending recepit of orders from Allied headquarters.

Major Foreign Banks In Shanghai Reopened

Shanghai, Dec. 10 (AP)—All of the major foreign banks in Shanghai, closed since Pearl Harbor, reopened for business today under a special go-ahead from the Chinese Ministry of Finance pending acceptance of regulations forthcoming later.

Only local deposits in Chinese national currency will be accepted for the time being until the foreign exchange rate is stabilized.

Bankers foresaw a greatly expanded foreign trade in the near future and generally were optimistic on the future of foreign business.

Ten Filipinos Arrested

Shanghai, Dec. 10 (AP)—Arrest of ten suspected Filipino collaborationists in Shanghai was announced today by the army war-crimes branch, which said they were members of the Japanese-sponsored Filipino association active in anti-

Chinese Legislature Moves

Nanking, Dec. 10 (AP)—Four transport planes today brought 158 members of the Chinese Executive Yuan [legislature] and subordinate organizations from Chungking to re-establish themselves in this former peacetime capital.

Roving Japs Still Menace To Filipinos

Manila, Dec. 10 (AP)—Armed Japanese soldiers are still menacing civilians in northern Luzon and Mindanao.

Military police reported today that the ragged remnants of Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's command even challenged Filipino guerrillas to a fight recently. The hungry Japanese fugitives are said to have received aid from renegade Filipinos afraid to face their vengeful countrymen.

The Japanese are in desperate need of food, clothing and medicine but are afraid to surrender despite repeated appeals by pamphlets and loud speakers. Some are believed to be gendarmerie wanted as war criminals.

Manila, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—More than 100,000 Navy personnel have left the Philippines for the United States in the last three months, Vice-Admiral James L. Kauffman said today, with 97 per cent of them going to separation centers for discharge.

The Philippines Sea Frontier Commander said high point men are remaining in staging areas at Cavite, Subic Bay and Samar Island an average of one week with a maximum of ten days. A rotation plan resumed in Kauffman's command December 7 permitted officers and men with eighteen months' continuous overseas service, but insufficient discharge points, to return home for leave and reassignment. Under this plan last week 4,000 departed.

THREE MARINES KILLED ON GUAM BY JAPANESE

HONOLULU, Dec. 10 (AP)—Japanese who knew their country had surrendered killed three marines and wounded another in an ambush on Guam Saturday, Marine Corps Headquarters said today. The four marines were not identified, pending notification of the next of kin.

The men were on a patrol investigating gunfire and reported disturbances by sulking Japanese soldiers remaining in the Guam jungles.

"The marine who escaped death crawled to a native village from where he was taken to a hospital," the dispatch said. "Small searching parties were sent out to look for bodies of other members of the patrol.

"Although working until after dark, they were unable to locate the bodies. At daybreak yesterday, four 25-man patrols were sent out with native guides. They found the victims lying side by side in a gully, robbed of weapons and partially stripped of clothing."

Special reconnaissance patrols searched for the Japanese. Part of the Third Marine Division still based on Guam, and the Ninth Marine Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion will be used to sweep the area and clean out the Japanese that remain.

The dispatch quoted Col. Howard N. Stent of the Guam Island Command Staff, as saying the Japanese knew that Japan had surrendered.

Army Camera Man Slugged

HONOLULU, Dec. 10 (AP).—Technician Fifth Grade Robert Evert, of Milwaukee, a photographer for the Army newspaper, "Stars and Stripes," was slugged and his camera knocked out of his grasp while taking pictures yesterday of a brawl between thirty service men and civilians at a restaurant in the Waikiki district. His injuries were not serious.

Canada and U. S. Move Toward Pact on Credit

OTTAWA, Dec. 10 (CP).—First steps toward conclusion of a long-term credit agreement between Canada and the United Kingdom were taken here during the week end.

The actual agreement probably will not be signed before next year. It will be presented to Parliament at the coming session, but meantime, as Finance Minister Ilsey told the Commons recently, the government has sufficient means to finance the movement of Canadian exports to Britain in whatever volume the British are prepared to accept.

A group of senior British finance and trade experts conferred with Canadian officials following their participation in the trotracted negotiation of a credit deal with the United States at Washington. Headed by Sir Edward Bridges, Secretary of the Treasury, they are moving on to London at once. Some left today, and the rest are leaving Monday.

Argentine Court Upholds Cortesi Case Dismissal

'Times' Correspondent Accused of 'Contempt' of Peron

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 10 (AP).—The Argentine Federal Court of Appeals today upheld Judge Horacio Fox, who had dismissed an action brought by the government against Arnaldo Cortesi, Buenos Aires correspondent of "The New York Times," charging him with "contempt of the Vice-President of the Republic Juan Domingo Peron and other officials of the government."

Cortesi expressed surprise at the decision, stating it was the first knowledge he had that he ever had been charged with any offense against Argentine government officials.

The Appeals Court said the action had been brought by Public Prosecutor Saturnino Fernando Funes, who charged that Cortesi had sent cables to his newspaper "insulting to the aforementioned authorities, with the intention of bringing them into disrepute." But, the court ruled, "the facts complained of do not constitute a crime."

4 Argentines Wounded In Fight At Cemetery

Buenos Aires, Dec. 10 (AP)—Four persons were wounded today in a gunfight after a funeral procession, bearing the bodies of three killed during a political demonstration Saturday night, arrived at the cemetery.

The shooting began in the street outside during burial ceremonies at the graves and increased in intensity.

At least 33 were wounded during Saturday's political demonstration against former Vice President Juan Perón—who is campaigning for President. A series of gun battles broke out when a crowd of about 200,000 persons was fired upon by unidentified assailants.

GEN. RAWSON JAILED

Buenos Aires, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Gen. Arturo Rawson, who overthrew the Castillo government and became President of Argentina for two days in 1943, has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment and ousted from the army for leading the unsuccessful revolt of the Corduba Garrison last September.

The Supreme Council of the War and Navy ministeries, which convicted Rawson, also sentenced Gen. Osvaldo Martin to four months' imprisonment and ousted him from the army for his part in the abortive uprising.

Honduras Ratifies Charter

Tegucigalpa, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Honduran Congress today unanimously ratified the United Nations Charter.

30-24-32275

AMERICAN TROOPS TO ABANDON IRAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—(AP) An expedition of 2,000 fresh American troops recently sent into Iran as replacements for high point men will be withdrawn this month along with all other United States forces there totalling under 4,000.

This was learned at the State department today in response to inquiries. The department also furnished as background information the fact that an estimated 75,000 Russian troops are now in northern Iran and upwards of 5,000 British combat soldiers are in southwestern Iran.

The Russians thus have five times as many combat troops as the British in the troubled Middle Eastern country, according to the reports reaching the State department from Tehran.

Removal of the less than 6,000 United States non-combat troops—the only ones left in Iran—may disrupt operation of the Army's Air Transport Command route from the United States to India by way of Europe or Africa.

To avoid a shutdown, officials here disclosed, the Iranian government has started negotiations with Transcontinental and Western Airlines of the United States to operate the big ATC field at Abadan temporarily.

This operation, according to State department information, would last only until next spring, under the proposed agreement with TWA, and at that time the way-stop on the route to India would be shifted to a new Army Air Transport Command field now being constructed at Dahran, Saudi Arabia.

HURLEY DESCRIBES LEND-LEASE LEAK

Says He Sought to Stop British Sale of U. S. Goods at Profit.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—(AP) Gen. Patrick J. Hurley said today that he had sought to stop a profit-making British corporation from selling Lend-Lease supplies in Iran and 17 other countries.

The late President Roosevelt endorsed Hurley's suggestion "that the distribution of Lend-Lease supplies throughout the Middle East should be taken over by our own people," testimony showed.

And it was this policy, Hurley charged, that was wrecked by Dean Acheson, then an assistant secretary of state and now undersecretary.

Acheson, following Hurley to the stand before the Senate Foreign Relations committee, asserted that "there is no policy I have blocked or destroyed" but acknowledged that he disagreed with some of Hurley's recommendations.

(Continued on Page Twelve)

Hurley declared that Acheson "disregarded" his plan "in favor of monopoly and imperialism." Acheson replied that this statement was "utterly fantastic."

"The basic thing in Secretary Acheson's opposition," Hurley testified, "was that I contended that the United Kingdom Commercial Corporation, a profit-making organization owned by Great Britain, should not be allowed to sell Lend-Lease supplies in Iran and 17 other countries for the purpose of building up a trade monopoly and excluding United States trade from those territories.

"I contended also that instead of creating imperialistic monopolies among weaker nations, we should furnish those nations with advisors, paid by them, in order to assist them to develop their own resources and not to enrich some imperialistic monopoly of foreign interests."

Hurley then read this letter from Mr. Roosevelt dated March 25, 1944:

"Dear Pat:

"Your letter of Dec. 21, 1943 concerning Iran contains suggestions of very great interest. I am thrilled with the idea of using our efforts in Iran as an example of what can be done by an unselfish American policy. If we can get the right kind of American experts who will remain loyal to their ideals I feel certain that our policy of aiding Iran will succeed.

"You are right, that the distribution of Lend-Lease supplies throughout the Middle East should be taken over by our own people and I have let the Secretary of State know my views in this regard.

"Very sincerely yours,

"Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Acheson related that he had criticized Hurley's suggestions vigorously because he thought they would entail some undesirable commitments for the U. S. But he conceded that Mr. Roosevelt's letter "constitutes an overruling of my view."

Acheson explained that a small portion of Lend-Lease in Iran was handled by the British corporation because it would have been impractical to recruit and transport an American staff to do the job. He added that all proceeds of civilian Lend-Lease paid for by the Iranian government through the British Corporation have been turned over to the U. S.

Reported to Roosevelt

Hurley said that Acheson's view had prevailed until September, 1944. Then, Hurley continued, he made a report to Mr. Roosevelt containing charges against individuals who in Hurley's view were defeating the President's policies. As a result, Hurley added, two diplomats were withdrawn from Iran "for not making American policy effective." He named them as LeLand Morris and Lewis Dreyfus.

Acheson traced his differences with Hurley to a near fist-fight which he said had developed over "a young assistant" of Acheson who was not named. Acheson recalled that Hurley "asked why my young assistant was not in uniform, fighting with the Army." Acheson told the general, he said, that the man had been in the Army and had been "discharged with a serious back ailment."

"Temperatures cooled a bit," Acheson continued, "and everyone got seated and withdrew appeals for trial by combat."

Acheson told the committee there had been "some confusion" over the nature of the disagreement on Middle East policy. He said the Lend-Lease complaints were a matter for the Foreign Economic administration. He added that only small amounts of goods were involved, consisting of civilian consumer goods.

The undersecretary asserted further that there was no real difference in principle between the recommendations made by Hurley and the policy he pursued. He said the differences involved practical problems of administration.

After recounting his version of the heated conference with Hurley at the State department, Acheson said that within a few months all shipments of consumer goods to Iran were "returned to private trade sources."

Hurley went to the Middle East in 1944 on a special mission for

Fire Great Killer in Raids On Large German Cities

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. — (AP) The doctors submitted today a postmortem report on Germany; they estimated a half million city dwellers died in Allied air raids and said fire was the great killer.

The report was made by the medical branch of the United States strategic bombing survey, a civilian-military group appointed to analyze the results of the air war against the Axis. The medical experts followed the invasion forces of the United States, Britain and France into Germany to make on-the-spot investigations and interview the enemy population.

Cold, Analytical Study

Theirs is a coldly analytical study of the fundamental objective of war—the killing of people, what caused their deaths, why more didn't die.

One of the findings had a sardonic touch: "By strategy bombing, the conqueror created one of his greatest post-hostilities problem." The Allied air raids on German cities brought the health of the civilians to the brink of pestilence and famine. But these apocalyptic phases did not quite develop during the war; they waited to threaten the postwar occupation authorities.

In the report and in a news conference with Maj Cortez F. Enloe, Jr., of Manhasset, N. Y., who worked on the survey and edited the report, there were these salient facts:

The exact number killed by Allied bombs could not be determined and, because of the loss of German records and the confusion attendant upon defeat, "it is unlikely it will ever be known." But the known dead plus an estimated 77,750 missing in the last two years produced an approximate total of 599,750 German civilians. This figure could be wrong by 100,000 either way.

There was no evidence of deliberate Allied effort to break the health of the German people. "Nevertheless, the bombing razed hospitals to the ground and created conditions which interfered with the maintenance of good health."

Hospitals Not Spared

In total war, hospitals are not spared. "Many large hospitals have been completely obliterated and their patients with them." Every building of the Krupp hospital at Essen, one of the most modern in Europe, was razed in a single raid. Many other hospitals in bombed countries have suffered a similar fate, "as is simply demonstrated by the Warwickshire in Coventry, Guy's hospital in London" and others. "The opinion has been expressed that in total war the Red Cross on the brilliant white background is no longer a shield of safety on the roof of a hospital but a pinpoint for orienting pilots over a blackened city on a moonlit night."

The "fire blizzards" set by incendiary bombs caused deaths akin to those from the atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and for the same reasons — intense heat. The victims died from inhaling air super-heated to as high as 1,400 degrees, from carbon monoxide, from direct mechanical destruction by flames, from tetanus infection resulting from burns.

The great fire raid on Hamburg in July, 1[illegible] was an example. Fires set off by the incendiary attacks burned uncontrolled for six weeks. Temperatures went up to 1,472 degrees Farenheit. The mounting flames created drafts of 90 miles per hour wind velocity which sucked people down streets and into the inferno. People ran from shelters into streets "and were seen to collapse very slowly like people utterly exhausted," their lungs seared, the bodies suddenly dehydrated by the super-heated air. "Most of these people were not burnt to ashes when recovered, but dry and shrunken, resembling mummies."

Die in Shelters, Cellars

Carbon monoxide caused shelter and cellar deaths. It was generated by incomplete combustion from the flames outside or by bomb bursts, the gases from which contained as high as 70 per cent carbon monoxide. The people in the shelters died gently. They found them sitting neatly at rest, untouched by bomb or blaze — just dead.

Being bombed does not drive people crazy. There was an estimated decrease of from 32 to 54 per cent annually in the number of cases in mental institutions. People have so many other worries about their families, property and friends that they forget about themselves.

There were no epidemics in Germany during the war. The American doctors aren't quite sure why. The German doctors said it was luck. The survey experts thought the Germans' devotion to personal hygiene and their penchant for keeping their home spotlessly clean—and for obeying the orders of the well-organized health service—might have been factors. Although there were no epidemics, there were increases in certain diseases which became important problems in some areas.

Bodies in the rubble of destroyed cities (an estimated 75,000 to 80,000 still remain in the ruins) did not present a disease-breeding problem. The German explanation was: The body is not a carrier of disease since putrefaction destroys any disease-supporting agent; the corpse was not a breeding place for flies because few flies existed in the bombed and burned areas; the disease-bearing rat population did not increase because decay of the body "is usually in such an advanced state that the rats prefer other foods which are plentiful as a consequence of destruction."

Food Plants Wrecked

Bombing destroyed food processing plants, storage facilities and, most important of all, the transportation needed for food distribution. It is not possible now to state exactly in what measure the curtailment of the national diet contributed to the ultimate defeat of Germany but it was "an important factor." In any event, it was a major element contributing to the postwar food shortage in the Reich.

"If this many people were killed in air attacks largely precision in nature, what is going to happen when they start throwing gadgets they can't direct?" (The reference here was to long-range bombardment by rocket-carried atomic bombs.)

What was learned in the study of the German cities? Those responsible for the protection of the American people should give attention to the construction of hospitals (towering, windowless air-raid hospitals with walls of reinforced concrete nine feet thick and underground institutions were refuges for the Germans); their location (they should be on the periphery of cities); and the placement and protection of food supplies (for use when the transportation net is destroyed.)

DEC 11 1945

DEC 11 1945

President Roosevelt. Acheson at that time was assistant secretary of state for economic affairs.

Hurley said some of the recommendations he made for Iran were carried out. He mentioned the invitation to Iran to declare war on the Axis as an example. But he added that other measures he proposed were "defeated under the leadership of Dean Acheson."

Asked by Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) how policies approved by the President and secretary of state could be defeated by underlings, the former ambassador replied:

"That's beyond me. I was 13,000 miles away from here most of the time these events were taking place."

After Hurley and Acheson were excused from the stand, discussion turned to China where Hurley has asserted his policies as ambassador were defeated by State department "career men." Hurley made that complaint in resigning the ambassadorship, naming John S. Service and George Atcheson.

Theodore White, who served as a war correspondent in China for Times magazine, testified that he and other reporters with whom he was acquainted "knew of no attempt to sabotage General Hurley's policy in China by any career diplomats." He asserted that to the best of his knowledge Service and Atcheson were "loyally" serving this country in China before they were transferred.

Board Named On Palestine Immigration

U.S. Judge Hutcheson, of Texas, Co-Chairman of Anglo-American Study

Report in 120 Days Is Urged by Truman

Phillips, Dr. Aydelotte, Max Gardner, Buxton,

McDonald Also Named

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—President Truman named today Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson, of Texas, the United States chairman of a twelve-member Anglo-American committee to make recommendations for handling Jewish immigration into Palestine.

Mr. Hutcheson, judge of the 5th Circuit Court at Houston, was appointed to serve with Sir John E. Singleton, judge of the King's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice, London, British chairman, under a rotating arrangement.

The other American members are: Frank Aydelotte, former president of Swarthmore College and now director of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton; Frank W. Buxton, editor of "The Boston Herald"; O. Max Gardner, former North Carolina Governor; James G. McDonald, a former member of the editorial staff of "The New York Times," and William Phillips, former Under Secretary of State, Ambassador to Italy and personal representative of the President at New Delhi, India.

Wants Report in 120 Days

Mr. McDonald said he now is chairman of the President's advisory committee on political refugees, honorary chairman of the Foreign Policy Association and former League of Nations High Commissioner for German Refugees.

In a brief statement, issued simultaneously with a similar announcement in London, President Truman urged the committee to make its report within 120 days after it begins its inquiry.

Its principal job is to examine political, economic and social conditions in Palestine "as they bear upon the problem of Jewish immigration and settlement therein and the well-being of the peoples now living therein."

President's Statement

The text of President Truman's statement announcing the creation of the committee follows:

"The composition of the Anglo-American Committee on Inquiry which was announced in Washington and London on Nov. 13 and which will operate under a rotative chairmanship will be as follows:

"Joseph C. Hutcheson, judge of the 5th Circuit Court at Houston, Tex. (American chairman),

"Sir John E. Singleton, judge of the King's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice, London (British chairman).

"Frank Aydelotte, formerly president of Swarthmore College, now director of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton and American secretary of the Rhodes Trust.

"Frank W. Buxton, editor of "The Boston Herald."

"Wilfred P. Crick, economic adviser to the Midland Bank, London, formerly with the Ministry of Food.

"Richard H. S. Crossman, Member of Parliament (Labor), formerly tutor of New College, Oxford, assistant editor of "New Statesman and Nation," and deputy director of psychological warfare, A. F. H. Q., Algiers.

"O. Max Gardner, former Governor of North Carolina, now practicing law in Washington.

"Sir Frederick Leggett, until recently Deputy Secretary of the Ministry of Labor and National Services.

"Major Reginald E. Manningham-Buller, Member of Parliament (Conservative), a barrister.

"James G. McDonald, formerly chairman of the board, Foreign Policy Association, high commissioner for refugees and member of the editorial staff of "The New York Times."

(Continued on page 6, column 3)

"Lord Morrison (Robert Creigmyle, Baron Morrison), Member of Parliament (Labor).

"William Phillips, formerly Under Secretary of State, Ambassador to Italy, personal representative of the President with the rank of ambassador at New Delhi, and delegate to the London Naval Conference, 1935.

"As announced by the two governments on Nov. 13, 1945, the terms of reference of the committee will be as follows:

"1. To examine political, economic and social conditions in Palestine as they bear upon the problem of Jewish immigration and settlement therein and the well-being of the peoples now living therein.

"2. To examine the position of the Jews in those countries in Europe where they have been the victims of Nazi and Fascist persecution, and the practical measures taken or contemplated to be taken in those countries to enable them to live free from discrimination and oppression and to make estimates of those who wish or will be impelled by their conditions to migrate to Palestine or other countries outside Europe.

"3. To hear the views of competent witnesses and to consult representative Arabs and Jews on the problems of Palestine as such problems are affected by conditions subject to examination under Paragraphs 1 and 2 above and by other relevant facts and circumstances, and to make recommendations to His Majesty's Government and the government of the United States for an interim handling of these problems as well as for their permanent solution.

"4. To make such other recommendations to His Majesty's Government and the government of the United States as may be necessary to meet the immediate needs arising from conditions subject to examination under Paragraph 2 above, by remedial action in the European countries in question or by the provision of facilities for immigration to and settlement in countries outside Europe.

"The governments of the United States and Great Britain urge on the committee the need for the utmost expedition in dealing on the subjects committed to it for investigation, and request that they may be furnished with its report within 120 days of the inception of the inquiry.

"The procedure of the committee will be determined by the committee itself and it will be open to it, if it thinks fit, to deal simultaneously through the medium of subcommittees with its various terms of reference."

U.S. TO TEST ATOMIC BOMB ON WARSHIPS

Experiment Will Be Joint Army-Navy Affair, Two Services Announce

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP) — The vulnerability of fleets to atomic-bomb attack will be given a joint test by the Army and Navy.

The two services, currently at loggerheads over the unification question, announced tonight that plans are under way for the test.

The joint statement read:

The Army and Navy contemplate joint tests of atomic bombs against naval vessels, Secretary of War Robert Patterson and Secretary of the Navy Forrestal announced today.

Planning is already under way which will involve large problems of logistics, including the assembly of many naval vessels, extensive instrumentation for measuring results, and assembly of necessary personnel.

The announcement failed to disclose what vessels would be used as targets.

Captured Jap Ships

There has been some speculation that captured Japanese vessels would be used, but navy officials have said they would not provide a fully satisfactory test since they are not comparable to United States ships in such factors as compartmentation. Hence, obsolete American vessels may be chosen.

The Navy had expressed informally its desire to investigate the results of atomic explosion against warships, but the effect of tonight's announcement was to commit it formally to a joint test with the Army, presumably, with the Army Air Forces.

Not since the historic occasion when Brig. Gen. Billy Mitchell of the old Army Air Corps clamored for and finally won a test of airplane bombing of battleships in the early twenties has a projected experiment contained more far-reaching potentialities.

Area Patrol Expected

The reference in the announcement to the assembly of many naval vessels, etc., was taken to refer to the use of ships and instruments at the periphery of the anticipated blast area as well as inside to record such things as pressures, heat, radioactivity and other aspects of atomic blast on the surface as well as beneath and above the sea.

Because of the expected wide lateral range of atomic blast at sea, together with other still unknown aspects of nuclear explosion, it was presumed a number of ships would be needed to patrol the outskirts of any test area.

The theoretical effect on the crew since no human beings would be on the vessel to be tested, would be through various instruments designed to check the degree of radioactivity, blast pressure and similar factors. In event the ship survived the bombing, these instruments would be checked to see whether human beings could have survived under the indicated conditions.

Could Have Had Bomb D-Day, Scientist Says

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—A scientist testified today, in effect, that the atomic bomb could have been available at the time of the Normandy invasion but for what he termed "unnecessary" security precautions imposed by the Army.

Dr. Leo Szilard, Chicago University physicist, told the Senate Atomic Energy Committee that secrecy safeguards which he considered unwarranted had delayed the advent of the bomb at least eighteen months.

Compartmentalization Assailed

He said it could have been produced "about the spring of 1944, according to my best guess." In that spring, Allied troops in Italy were trying to crack the fortress of Casino. The landings in France started on June 6.

Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) observed that Germans would have been "astonished if an atomic bomb had been dropped on Berlin in the spring of 1944."

"If any escaped, they would have been astounded," the careful scientist agreed.

Dr. Szilard held that the "system of compartmentalization," by which the Army asked scientists working on certain phases of the project not to discuss results with those working on other parts, was "unnecessary" and productive of delay.

Several senators on the committee defended the army's system. Chairman McMahon (D., Conn.) suggested that if a single atomic scientist had been kidnapped and tortured he could not have given away all the secrets.

British Plutonium Work

But Szilard remained critical of the system. Moreover, he said it "annoyed our British friends because it compelled them to duplicate our work, which they thought was an unnecessary waste of their time."

A result of this, he continued, was that the British "worked out a method for separating plutonium which is superior to the one we are using. It is much simpler and more complete."

DEC 1 1945

Supreme Court Defers Rule On Yamashita

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP) — The Supreme Court today deferred any action on a request by Japanese Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita that it intervene in the war-criminal case which brought his conviction and the death sentence.

Yamashita airmailed to the Supreme Court requests that it grant a writ of habeas corpus and also a writ of prohibition, prohibiting continuation of his trial before a military commission in Manila.

After arrival of the petition the General was convicted in Manila and sentenced to be hanged.

Further Request

Yamashita then cabled to the 30.24-32277

high tribunal a request that it stay his execution pending final action on his case by the court. But the court also failed to act on this request today.

Among actions today, the court:

Agreed to review a decision that an alien may not be admitted to citizenship if he is unwilling to bear arms in defense of the United States. James Louis Girouard, of Stoneham, Mass., who was born in Canada and is a member of the Seventh Day Adventists, asked the review. Girouard said he was willing to serve in the armed forces in a noncombat capacity.

Mine Company Suit

Upheld 8-0 a lower court's dismissal of a suit brought by the Mine Safety Appliances Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., seeking to prevent Government recovery of about $1,000,000 under the Renegotiation Act.

Agreed to review a decision canceling the citizenship certificate granted Paul Knauer in 1937 by the District Court of Milwaukee county, Wisconsin. The certificate was canceled in 1944 on complaint of the United States attorney for eastern Wisconsin on grounds it was obtained fraudulently.

Ruling On Estates

Ruled valid a requirement that, for Federal tax purposes, all "community property" of a married couple must be included in the estate of the spouse who dies first.

The decision was given on Justice Department appeals from two United States District Court decisions in cases in the "community property" states of Louisiana and Texas. The district courts held the requirement — contained in the 1942 Federal Revenue Act—violates the due process clause of the Constitution.

Truman Returns From Short Cruise

Washington, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—President Truman returned to the White House this morning after a week-end Potomac cruise aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg.

The President tarried on board the ship for breakfast after she had docked, and then drove to the White House through drizzling rain.

FLYING ADMIRAL FEARS MERGER

De Florez Says It Might Slow Scientific Progress.

Washington, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—A flying admiral said today that a merger of the Army and Navy might slow this country's scientific development. The assertion came from Rear Admiral Luis De Florez in testimony prepared for the Senate Military Committee. Assistant chief of the Navy's office of research and inventions, De Florez said that he considered competition between the services the single factor that did most to bring forth radar, the atomic bomb and other wartime discoveries.

Over the week end, Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King kept alive the Navy's vigorous opposition to the Army-supported merger proposal by asserting in his final report as Chief of Naval Operations that the war produced no man capable o fcommanding all of this country's armed forces.

De Florez, in charge of the Navy's program for synthetic training of naval aviators, cited the greater emphasis he said the Navy attached to that type of training as against the Army's preference for putting men into the air.

Value Has Been Proven.

He added without elaboration in his statement: "Now that the war is over and results of training can be viewed. There is no disagreement over the value of synthetics or training by the reproduction of flight conditions in machines on the ground, or its role in reducing hazards and casualties in training and in battle."

Contending that "competition of independent services, particularly in peacetime, is needed to keep alive the spark of originality and enterprise," De Florez continued: "We have too many instances, in the past, of developments which would never have seen the light of day had there not been honest differences of opinion between the Army and Navy. It is a surprise to me that the Army does not welcome such competition."

Propose Separate Air Force.

Meanwhile, creation of an independent air force was proposed in legislation introduced in the House by the chairmen of the Military and Naval Committees. In an explanation of their measure, introduced jointly, Chairmen Vinson (D.-Ga.) of the Naval and May (D.-Ky.) of the Military Committees said: "This is our answer to the unification proposals. We believe that unification of the Army and the Navy is not the answer to the problem of national defense under modern methods of warfare," they added.

Their legislation went into the hopper as House leaders intimated privately that President Truman would not send a message to Congress this week advocating merger of the Army and Navy, as had been expected.

The legislation would not affect the air arm of the Navy.

Bills Are Identical

The two chairmen offered identical files which called for:

1. Creation of a new department of the air forces, headed by a secretary who would be a cabinet member.

2. Establishment of an aviation academy which would be a counterpoint of West Point and Annapolis and would train air officers.

3. Establishment of the joint chiefs of staff—Army, Navy and Air forces—in the executive office of the President.

4. Abolition of the Army Air corps and the Army Air forces, and transfer of their property and equipment to the new department, as soon as the President proclaims the new air arm sufficiently organized to operate "as an efficient force."

May and Vinson told reporters the legislation was their own idea and did not necessarily reflect the views of the Army or the Navy.

The bills were introduced as Capitol Hill heard unofficially that President Truman was not ready to send to Congress this week his message dealing with unification of the armed forces, and as the Senate Military committee continued hearings on merged proposals.

Admiral Luis De Florez, assistant chief of the Navy's office of research and inventions, testified before the Senate committee to-day that unification of the Army and Navy might impede scientific development.

Competition Is Favored

He said he considered competition between the services the factor most responsible for the development of radar, the atomic bomb and other discoveries. He contended that "competition of independent services, particularly in peacetime, is needed to keep alive the spark of originality and enterprise."

May and Vinson, in proposing their plan for three departments, said that "since naval aviation presents an entirely different problem of national defense," the legislation would not in any way affect the air arm of the Navy.

"With the dropping of the atomic bomb on Hiroshima and Nagasaki," they declared, "the air force took on a new role. No longer will air power be limited in its use to supporting operations for the ground forces and the sea forces. Even now it has the potentiality of conducting effective warfare independently of those forces. To develop that potentiality to its fullest extent requires that the air force be, in fact, independent."

Separate Army Air Force Is Proposed in Two Bills

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 — (AP) The chairmen of the House Military and Naval committees introduced bills today to make a separate department of the Army Air forces.

"This is our answer to the unification proposals," Representatives May (D.-Ky.) and Vinson (D.-Ga.) said in a joint statement.

"We believe that unification of the Army and the Navy is not the answer to the problem of national defense under modern methods of warfare. In our opinion the answer is to be found in the creation of a separate and independent air force."

Food Controls Kept by Britain, U.S. and Canada

3 Nations Decide to Retain Joint Board and Agencies for Scarce Commodities

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP).—The United States, Great Britain and Canada agreed today to continues their combined food board to retain control over allocations of scarce foodstuffs.

At the same time, the three governments announced that the combined production and resources board and the combined raw materials board will go out of business Dec. 31.

In a statement by President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain and Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada, it also was agreed:

That the committees under the outgoing boards which are concerned with cotton textiles, tin, rubber, hides and leather will be continued as long as a shortage of supply remains, and

That the coal committees in Washington and London now under the boards continue, although there exists in the case of coal, a European organization.

The three leaders said they anticipate dissolution of the combined food board itself on June 30, 1946, "or sooner if conditions permit."

"However," the joint statement said, "a few of the commodity committees may have to be retained beyond that date to recommend allocations of products which continue to be in serious short supply. Arrangements were made last summer to associate other maor exporing and importing countries with the work of the commodity committees. These committees will continue to operate on this principle."

Continued shortages of sugar, food fats and oils and meats undoubtedly prompted the three powers to continue the food board.

The board was established early in the war to help co-ordinate food production and distribution policies and programs of the three nations. Under the board, purchasing operations of the three nations were united so as to eliminate competition which might have forced prices much higher.

The text of a joint Anglo-American-Canadian announcement follows:

"The President of the United States and the Prime Ministers of Great Britain and Canada issue the following statement:

"We announced on Aug. 29 that the combined production and resources board, the combined raw materials board and the combined food board would continue to operate on their existing basis for the time being. As then proposed, however, the situation has been further examined with a view to the earliest possible removal of all war-time controls of international trade.

We take this opportunity of paying tribute to the outstanding achievements of the boards in the full and equitable utilization of resources for the effective prosecution of the war. This novel experiment in economic collaboration unquestionably hastened the moment of victory.

It is, however, our view that the work of the C. P. R. B. and C. R. M. B. on its existing basis should come to an end. It has accordingly been agreed that these two boards terminate on Dec. 31, 1945.

"There remain, however, a few commodities which call for continued attention in as much as they are in global short supply in relation to the needs in consuming countries. For cotton textiles, tin, rubber and hides and leather it is proposed that the committees set up under the boards which are concerned with these supplies should be continued during such period as the shortage of supply in relation to needs renders necessary. It is also proposed that in all cases representation on the committees should be on an appropriate international basis, having regard to their independent status following the dissolution of the boards. In most cases committee membership already includes countries having a major interest in the problems involved.

"In the case of coal, there exists an organization in respect of Europe, but special considerations make it desirable that, for the time being, the coal committees in Washington and London now under the boards continue in their present form. As regards some additional commodities in uncertain supply, the boards may make suitable distribution arrangements before the end of the year to extend into 1946.

It has been concluded that conditions do not yet permit the dissolution of the combined food board. Because many foodstuffs are still in world short supply and because of their close inter-relationship, it is believed desirable to retain the board as a supervisory and co-ordinating mechanism. The commodity committees of the board will be abandoned as soon as the foodstuffs with which they deal cease to require allocation.

"It is anticipated that the combined food board itself will be dissolved on June 30, 1946, or sooner if conditions permit. However, a few of the commodity committees may have to be retained beyond that date to recommend allocations of products which continue to be in serious short supply. Arrangements were made last summer to associate with major exporting and importing countries with the work of the commodity committees. These committees will continue to operate on this principle."

DEC 11 1945

LANGER TO OPPOSE CREDIT TO BRITAIN

Washington, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Senator Langer (R.-N. D.) told the Senate today that he would vote against the proposed $4,400,000,000 credit for Great Britain because it is "not a loan but an outright gift."

Noting that no interest is to be charged for the first five years, Langer said this country will "probably play Uncle Sucker again" and forgive the entire amount.

The Senator said that under "reverse lend-lease" England had charged rent for airfields and buildings used by our forces to help her win the war.

Some people say Germany might have won the war except for England, Langer asserted, but, "I say except for England there would have been no war."

He said the British "wrote the Treaty of Versailles" and then supported Hitler until unable to control him.

Congress should specify that funds for the proposed $4,400,000,000 loan to Britain be raised by a separate bond issue, Representative Schwabe (R.-Mo.) said today.

He said in a statement that he plans to offer the proposal as an amendment in the House—with the specific provision that only individual citizens and not banks could subscribe for the bonds.

"If this is done, and the administration can give satisfactory assurance that the people's own currency will remain sound, I would then favor the loan," Schwabe said.

Convicted G. I.s Returning

About 5,000 Imprisoned Overseas To Be Confined in United States

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP).—The approximately 5,000 soldiers convicted by general court martial in the European and Mediterranean theaters and imprisoned overseas will be returned to the United States for confinement.

Kenneth C. Royall, Under Secretary of War, announcing this today, said the order is expected to speed demobilization of men used as guards.

The first group will arrive about the middle of this month. Upon reaching the United States the prisoners will be sent to disciplinary barracks or penitentiaries according to the type and seriousness of their offenses. Each prisoner's case will be given a clemency review by the War Department board set up for that purpose.

SOLDIER SEIZED AS GERMAN SPY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. — (AP) Attorney General Tom C. Clark today ordered the internment of Sgt. Frederick Emil Bauer, describing him as "a full-fledged German spy who came to the United States on an espionage mission" for Hitler.

Clark announced that the Justice department arrested Bauer at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, today just as an officer board of the Fifth Service Command issued him a discharge without honor.

He will be held as an alien enemy pending a hearing on his repatriation to Germany.

The order for his arrest termed Bauer dangerous to the peace and safety of the United States, Clark's announcement said.

Clark said "voluminous data, including Bauer's own confession," exposed the former German army lieutenant "as a full-fledged German spy who came to the United States on an espionage mission for the Fuehrer and was equipped with invisible inks and other paraphernalia for his work."

Clark added that "no overt acts, implementing his training and equipment are reported."

The attorney general emphasized that "Bauer is to have a full and fair hearing on the question of his repatriation and will be permitted to be represented by counsel of his own choosing and to introduce on his behalf any and all relevant evidence."

JAP SKIPPER HERE FOR M'VAY COURT

Washington, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Commander Ike Hashimoto, captain of the Japanese submarine I-58, reported to have sunk the Indianapolis last July 30, arrived today to testify at the court-martial of Capt. Charles B. McVay 3d, commanding officer of the heavy cruiser, on charges of negligence and inefficiency.

Hashimoto, in custody of Lieut. (j. g.) Allan Smith of West Haven, Conn., arrived by Naval Air Transport. The pair left Japan December 7, Japanese time.

Smith said Hashimoto could speak little English. Short, stocky and swarthy, Hashimoto was dressed in wrinkled civilian clothing and wore a slouch feit hat. He posed without animation for photographers as he stepped from the plane.

Hashimoto is expected to appear tomorrow before the court-martial in an effort by the Navy to establish definitely whether the Indianapolis was sunk by torpedoes.

ARTEMUS GATES QUITS

Washington, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—President Truman accepted today the resignation of Artemus L. Gates as Under-Secretary of the Navy, effective December 31.

The White House said Gates first offered his resignation last September but that President Truman persuaded him to remain on the job until the end of the year.

Gates became Under-Secretary last July 3 after service since 1941 as Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Air. He recently reported to President Truman on conditions in China, where he made a tour.

Gates was a flyer during the first world war and came to the Navy from the presidency of the New York Trust Company.

Most prominently mentioned as possible successor to Gates are John L. Sullivan, now assistant secretary for air, who succeeded Gates in that office when the latter was elevated recently to under-secretary; and Ed Pauley, United States member of the Reparations Commission.

HOUSE INVITES UNO TO SETTLE IN U. S.

Washington, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—The House of Representatives today formally invited the United Nations Organization to establish its permanent seat in the United States. Senate action is required on the resolution, which was adopted in the House by a voice vote.

The measure was introduced by Representative Case (R.-S. D.).

SUPREME COURT FINDS COMPANY ERRED BY RAISE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—(AP) The Supreme Court ruled 5 to 3 today that it was unfair labor practice for an employer to ask authority to raise wages of employes without dealing through the certified union which he had not recognize.

The ruling was against the Famous-Barr Company, a St. Louis department store with 4,500 employes. It applied to the War Labor board to raise nearly all its workers $2 a week. This included 40 bushelmen, members of a C.I.O. union.

Agreement Ends

The court said unanimously that the company should have recognized the union as bargaining agent. But there agreement ended. The majority ran into stiff argument in holding that the wage application without negotiating with the union was unfair labor practice under the Wagner act.

The majority opinion by Justice Reed held that the company's action "interferes with the right of self-organization by emphasizing to the employes that there is no necessity for the collective bargaining agent." He was joined by Justices Burton, Black, Douglas and Murphy.

Justice Rutledge, dissenting, declared the wage action amounted to nothing more "than the exercise of legal rights secured to the employer by the Wagner act, the stabilization act and the first amendment." His position was supported by Chief Justice Stone and Justice Frankfurter.

The company's action, said the majority opinion, "minimizes the influence of collective bargaining. x x x If successful in securing approval for the proposed increase, it might well x x x block the bargaining representatives in securing further wage adjustments."

The majority cited the National Labor Relations board's conclusion "that the manner of presenting and publicizing the application had the effect of coercing the employes."

The Rutledge minority opinion asserted that the Wagner act does not require "an employer to maintain prestige or to give it credit for originating all proposals which may have some future effect upon his relations with his employes.

Law is Explained

"(The law) forbids interference, coercion and restraint upon employes in the exercise of their rights, not the mere failure of the employer to magnify the union's influence."

The court directed modification of the board's order against the company but the effect of it was not clear to the minority whose opinion said, "It is difficult to understand."

The court upheld constitutionality of a 1942 Federal law which levies an estate tax on all the community property of a couple when husband or wife dies—rather than on only half of it as the lower courts had decided.

Several states which recognize that husband and wife are co-owners of their property for tax purposes attacked the Federal statute.

The court withheld ruling on a plea by Japanese General Yamashita that it take charge of his case. He has been sentenced to death following a military trial in Manila. He was held responsible for atrocities.

U.A.W. Leader Criticizes Company, Charges Evasion of Wage Issue.

DETROIT, Dec. 10—(AP) The Ford Motor Co. and the C.I.O. United Auto Workers cleared their negotiating agenda today for a discussion of the 30 per cent wage increase demand, the same issue which has idled 213,000 General Motors Corp., employes and led that company to cancel its contract with the union.

Richard T. Leonard of the Auto Union's Ford department, said the U.A.W.-C.I.O. has offered an unprecedented "company security" plan which he believes will be acceptable to Ford. The firm has promised to discuss wages at the next conference Wednesday, he added.

Leonard said also that the union will not demand "30 per cent or else" of Ford. Wage demands will be scaled down, he explained, if the company offers other contract benefits to the union.

But while the Ford picture brightened at least momentarily, the peace meetings between the union and GM were further jeopardized by the contract cancellation.

President C. E. Wilson of G.M., announced termination of a contract that dates back to the sit-down days of 1937.

He did so a few hours ahead of a mass demonstration that brought from 6,000 to 8,000 paraders to the C.I.O. is counting the first returns on rank and file balloting over President Truman's fact-finding proposal. The local unions have been asked to uphold the action of their leaders in opposing such legislation as the President suggests.

In its proposal to Ford, the U.A.W.-C.I.O. also offered a specific counter-clause to the company's proposal that wildcat strikers be fined. The union proposed that each violator be fined $3 a day for his first offense and $5 for his second.

In informing the union of termination of their contract, General Motors said it was acting under a contract provision which gives the corporation "the option of cancelling the agreement at any time between the tenth day after the strike occurs and the day of its settlement."

President R. J. Thomas of the U.A.W.-C.I.O. took issue with the corporation's interpretation and accused General Motors of "another high-handed effort to evade the central issue in dispute—a 30 per cent wage increase."

"At the very moment General Motors was preparing its notice of cancellation we were meeting with the corporation and discussing steps to be taken to permit the continued functioning of the GM office and supervisory personnel," Thomas said in a statement.

Thomas' reference was to discussions in negotiations today over the company's charge of "illegal picketing" by strikers.

"The result of General Motors' arrogant action," Thomas said, "will be to stiffen even further the determination of General Motors

(Continued on Page Twelve)

CIO Gives Ford Pledge Against Wildcat Strikes

Union Proposes Fines for Each Day of Unauthorized Walkout.

G-M CANCELS PACT

workers that the strike shall be won."

An unmpire mutually agreed upon between the parties would act as "judge" in the "company security" proposal to Ford. He would determine the guilt or innocence of the accused party, against whom the charge would be brought by a company "grievance committee."

Fines against strikers would be deducted from their earnings and donated to the President's infantile paralysis fund.

The union asked Ford, in return, to promise there would be no lockouts and that management would not engage in "provocations leading to unauthorized strikes."

"Financial penalties" — the amounts were not stated—would be imposed on persons engaging in such provocation. The company would impose these fines and the 10-story GM headquarters here in what the union termed the greatest mass picket line in its history.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, in Detroit for a speaking engagement, urged an early settlement of the GM strike in the interest of America's "economic life."

The labor secretary's plea came at a moment when the U.A.W.-

30.24-32279

moneys would be turned over to the local union.

John S. Bugas, Ford director of industrial relations, said there would be no comment from the company until Ford officials had opportunity to study the proposal. He said, however, the company was "encouraged to see the union has given some consideration to the company's insistency upon company security."

"Our position is very clear," Bugas said. "For four years we have given union security through the union shop and a checkoff. Continuation of this union security depends upon the union in turn tangibly guaranteeing company security."

Schwellenbach, while insisting he would make no direct effort himself to intervene in the 20-day-old wage fight keeping General Motors 213,000 workers off the job, told a press conference it was "extremely important" that the strike be ended in view of the auto industry's influence on the nation's economics.

Secretary Schwellenbach replied with a vigorous "no sir" when asked if the government would seize General Motors plants in event negotiations failed.

He told questioners the government had the seizure power under still existing wartime emergency laws "but it won't be exercised." He said the power should be used "most sparingly."

The secretary of labor came to Detroit to make a speech tonight before a civic group and, although consenting to talk with a delegation from the striking C.I.O.'s United Auto Workers, said he would not intervene formally.

"For a new individual to interject himself in the negotiations now would not add to the possibility of settlement of the strike," Schwellenbach said, adding federal conciliators already were participating and "I don't feel I could be of assistance in one day."

Schwellenbach's statements which included a defense of President Truman's C.I.O.-assailed proposals for legislation to help labor peace, came as the auto union continued its negotiations with both General Motors and the Ford Motor company.

QUICK G. M. PEACE IS URGENT PLEA OF SCHWELLENBACH

Says U. S. Won't Exercise Right to Seize Plants, but Strike Must End.

Detroit, Dec. 10 (A. P.).—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, declaring that the Government has the power to seize the struck plants of General Motors Corporation but would not exercise it, called on both sides today to settle their dispute as soon as possible.

Schwellenbach told a press conference that it was extremely important to the economic life of the nation that an early settlement be achieved in the walkout.

Meanwhile General Motors terminated its contract with the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers, whose twenty-day-old strike has made 213,000 G. M. workers idle and stopped the corporation's production.

Mentions Truman's Friendship.

Asserting that there was no desire on the part of the President to destroy labor unions, the Secretary of Labor defended his chief against the attack on Mr. Truman by Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O. He pointed to Mr. Truman's "long record of friendship for labor." He said he would testify in Congress in support of the President's proposal for the naming of fact-finding bodies to act in major labor disputes.

The President held up his appointment of a fact-finding group for the General Motors strike because the corporation and the automobile workers returned to negotiation, Schwellenbach said.

"The philosophy behind the President's proposal," Schwellenbach said, "is that the fact-finding boards be used only after collective bargaining has broken down.

"Because collective bargaining has been resumed between the union and General Motors, the President feels that it should be allowed to function. If the two sides fail to reach an agreement, the President will proceed with the appointment of a fact-finding commission.

"It is extremely important that some settlement be reached in the General Motors strike. Strikes always end, and it is important that this one end as soon as possible, because the automotive industry is one of the most important in our economic life.

"Both parties must realize that the sooner this one ends the better off every one will be."

The General Motors-U. A. W. conference was recessed at noon to resume tomorrow. Thomas said there was no change in the situation with respect to the wage dispute. He said picketing was discussed and would be considered again tomorrow. The General Motors Corporation has charged the strikers with "illegal picketing."

Continued on Page 17.

TWO WITNESSES FIGHT LABOR BILL

Lewis Asks Defeat of Truman Proposal, Eric Johnston Favors Revision.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP) John L. Lewis today assailed the Truman plan for curbing major strikes as a "foul-smelling mess," and Eric Johnston cautioned Congress against acting in "haste."

Lewis, leader of the United Mine Workers, appeared before the House Labor committee considering the proposal to set up fact-finding boards to inquire into big labor disputes. While the boards were functioning strikes would be barred.

"This legislation," said Lewis "would be the first drastic thrust with the knives of absolutism in the heart of America." He called it also a measure "to appease and protect a few millionaires."

Johnston Counsels Caution

Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, followed Lewis to the witness chair to recommend several changes in the legislation. He said Congress "should not act in haste—before the Christmas holiday for instance."

He said he favored fact-finding procedure but urged that legislation be carefully drawn, so it is regarded as an aid to voluntary arbitration and not a substitute. All action should be "as voluntary as possible" to insure good labor-management relations, he asserted.

Federal boards should not be given the right, as they are in the pending bill, to subpoena information, he said, because "public opinion will react to the detriment of either side which refuses to submit the facts."

Furthermore, he expressed the opinion that labor should not be denied the right to strike except in cases where public health or safety are involved.

Lewis described the administration plan as a first step "toward a corporate or absolute state which in the end would regulate the activities of all citizens."

(Continued on Page Twelve)

"If you take away my liberty I fight you," he told the House Labor committee. "I say that for myself and I say that for labor."

Under the administration plan, big strikes would be barred while fact-finding boards inquired into labor.

Lewis caustically assailed the present application of price controls, which he proposed be ended immediately. He said there was nothing Congress could legitimately do as far as stopping strikes is concerned.

He tongue-lashed, in passing, everybody concerned in the General Motors strike: the company for what he called "dishonesty"; the leadership of the C.I.O.-Auto Workers as demonstrating "stupidity" in the time they picked for the strike; and the government for failure to allow the company a price boost, which he said would bring a quick end to the dispute.

Lewis declared that "the blundering leaders" of the U.A.W. showed "stupidity" in picking this time to strike because the company "makes more money now by not producing than it would be turning out cars." He attributed that situation to the tax laws, referring to the end of the excess profits tax the first of next year and to the provision for carryback of losses against previous taxes.

The government, he asserted "could settle the strike in 10 days if it would allow the manufacturers a price which would give them a fair profit." He added:

"The dishonesty on one side by the company is equaled only by the stupidity on the other side by the labor organization.

"I only hope Congress won't equal that stupidity by enacting this proposed legislation for fact-finding boards."

Urging that price controls be lifted, Lewis said "we ought to forget the bugaboo of inflation when actually income is being deflated." He added that "I resent price control being changed to profit limitation as it now is."

Lewis criticized the entire fact-finding proposal as "an evil, foul-smelling mess x x x full of dozens of loopholes that would make it unworkable."

He said it was designed only "to appease and protect a few millionaires who find themselves frightened by the growing strength of labor."

When a committee member interposed that Mr. Truman had asked for the legislation, Lewis replied:

"I don't think the President has given too much study to it. It was recommended to him by someone. He's not an expert and doesn't claim to be one. He can be imposed on. I hope he will reconsider."

Lewis said a principal result of setting up fact-finding boards would be to "relieve the economic destitution of college professors." He discussed the $100 a day pay proposed for board members, asserted there really would be few facts for them to find that are not already known, but predicted they would "sit all summer" anyway, declared that Congress "has no juricdiction, no area where it can legislate as far as stopping strikes is concerned."

Lewis warned that Congress should not forget what he called its own "miserable fiasco" in the Smith-Connally (War Labor disputes) act, which was designed to prevent strikes. He declared it was "born of malice" and didn't work out the way Congress hoped. He added that "that's how this will turn out if Congress dares to impose more regulation."

Germ Warfare Predicted As Rival of Atomic Bomb

Dr. Urey Sees Further Moral Degeneracy in Future War

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10 (AP).—Bacteriological warfare may rank with the atomic bomb as a weapon of universal horror and destruction in another world conflict, Dr. Harold C. Urey, University of Chicago scientist who helped develop the atom bomb, said today at Founders Day exercises at the Drexel Institute of Technology.

"The potential ruthless use of bombs leads to the twin threat of bacteriological warfare by the loosing of such germs as typhoid and anthrax," Dr. Urey, 1934 Nobel Prize winner, declared. "The morals of the human race have degenerated in an unbelievable way in the last five years. It is not to be expected that they would not further degenerate in a future war.."

He predicted it will be years before atomic energy competes importantly with coal, but that ultimately there would result "an industrial revolution even greater than the old one."

Dr. Urey's address followed ceremonies in which Dr. James Creese was inducted as the sixth president of the Drexel Institute. Dr. Creese in his inaugural speech urged the adoption of four months of compulsory military training.

Navy's Special Search For 27 Flyers Abandoned

Vast Sea and Air Fleet Off Florida Withdrawn

MIAMI, Dec. 10 (AP).—The Navy today called off its mammoth special search for twenty-seven Navy airmen who disappeared in six planes last Wednesday.

"Planes and surface craft which traveled [illegible] airmen are believed to have disappeared will remain on the alert indefinitely," the Navy reported, "but the special search is being ended as of today."

The Navy announcement came a few minutes after a Coast Guard cutter had raced seaward when one of the planes engaged in the hunt had reported that it had sighted "something which might be a parachute," 180 miles east of Melbourne.

Later the cutter, the Vigilante, radioed that it had scoured the particular area without locating anything that might be a clew.

Sixty-six planes resumed the search at dawn today.

Five of the six planes to disappear left the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., naval air station on a navigational flight early Wednesday with fourteen aboard. A sixth plane, a Martin bomber, carrying a crew of thirteen, was lost when it went in search of the other aircraft.

The hunt covered thousands of square miles of land and sea.

Tyrone Power Out of Marines

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10 (AP).—Marine First Lieutenant Tyrone Power, thirty-one-year-old motion picture star who has been a marine since August, 1942, received his terminal leave papers here today. Lieutenant Power said he and his wife, Annabella, would leave for their home at Brentwood, Calif., tomorrow and soon go on to New York to "do the town—see shows and the rest of it."

LORRAINE CROSS DIVISION IS HOME

NEW YORK, Dec. 10—(AP) The famous 79th (Lorraine Cross) division returned from Europe on the transport John Ericcson today after a stormy 12-day voyage from Marseilles.

When the ship docked the division found awaiting it four illuminated Christmas trees and the division's commander, Brig. Gen. Allen F. Kingman, who had arrived several days earlier by plane.

Returning units of the division included the 313th, 314th and 315th infantry regiments, the 904th, 310th, 311th and 312th field artillery battalions, the 304th field force engineer battalion, and the 304th medical battalion, with nursing detachments from the 51st, 91st, 95th and 116th evacuation hospitals.

The military passenger list totaled 5,235.

The Ericsson was among 27 troopships arriving today at East and West coast ports with more than 20,000 veterans.

Ships arriving in New York included Usahs Algonquin, with 451 men aboard; the Andrew Furuseth, with 570; George F. McClellan, 609; Asa Gray, 570; Robert Randall, 22, and Lynn Boyd, 23.

20,500 Troops Coming In At

DEC 11 1945

B L A N K

DEC 11 1945

30.24-32281

U.S. Ports

[By the Associated Press]

Upward of 13,500 service men are scheduled to arrive at three East Coast ports today on fifteen ships and 7,000 are expected at West Coast ports on twelve vessels. Ships and units arriving:

At New York—John Ericksson, from Marseille: 5,234 troops, including nurse detachments of the 51st, 91st, 95th, 116th Evacuation hospitals; Headquarters and Headquarters Company and Headquarters special troops, 79th Infantry Division; 315th Infantry Regiment, 304th Engineer Combat Battalion, 312th Field Artillery Battalion, 79th Cavalry Reconnaissance Troop.

U.S.A.H.S. Algonquin, from Leghorn: 451 patients.

Andrew Furuseth, from Antwerp: 570.

George B. McClellan, from Marseille: 609.

Asa Gray, from Marseille: 570.

Robert Randall, from Marseille: 22.

Lynn Boyd, from Antwerp: 23.

Newport News List

At Newport News—Exchange, from Marseille: 2,039 troops, including 190th, 252d and 932d Field Artillery battalions; 27th Evacuation Hospital.

Woodbridge Victory, from Marseille: 1,494 troops, including Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 33d Field Artillery Brigade; 832d Engineer Battalion Aviation, 412th Port Company, Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 210th Quartermaster Battalion.

Marshall Victory, from Le Havre: 1,517 troops, including 481st Anti-Aircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons; 455th Bomb Squadron, 41st Engineer Dump Truck Company, 713th Military Police Battalion Detachment, 170th General Hospital.

Jonathan Trumbull, from Marseilles: 530 troops, including 241st Field Artillery Battalion elements.

Lawrence Brengle, from Marseille: 12 members 481st Anti-Aircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion.

George Ade, from Leghorn: 29 miscellaneous.

Boston And Frisco

At Boston—Zebulon Pike, from Le Havre, originally due yesterday: 570 troops, including 130th Field Artillery Battalion.

Henry Lindsley, from Barry, Wales: 22 miscellaneous.

At San Francisco—U.S.S. Gen. William C. Langfitt, from Leyte: 3,117 troops, including elements of the 100th Bombardment Squadron, Companies A and B 475th Signal Air Warning Battalion.

U.S.A.H.S. Chateau Thierry, from Manila: 458 army, including 10 nurses and 4 WACs; also 15 civilian patients.

John S. Bassett, from Nagoya: 14 army.

Rice Victory, from Yokohama: 20 army.

Samalness, from Leyte: 19 army.

U.S.S. Edgar P. Nye, from Shanghai: 16 army.

Fremont: 1 army.

Other Pacific Ports

At Seattle — U.S.S. Torrence, from Korea: 193 army.

George Ross, from Honolulu: 201 army and merchant marine.

At Tacoma — U.S.S. General Hahn, from Nagoya: 3,052 army personnel.

At Portland—LST 851, originally due yesterday from Hawaii: 11 navy.

Oconto: 1,975 navy.

Moscow Restores Censorship

Henry Shapiro, United Press correspondent at Moscow, reported yesterday in New York that strict Soviet censorship of outgoing news dispatches had been restored. He added that the Russian censors "bluepenciled in its entirety" a dispatch in which he sought to report the new censorship practice.

Moscow correspondents reported a month ago that Soviet censorship had been materially relaxed and many dispatches which previously would have been stopped or cut by censors were allowed to be sent. It appeared possible that the resumption of tight censorship was ordered because of the impending meeting of the Big Three Foreign Ministers in Moscow.

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

LONDON, DEC. 10 -- (AP) -- THE "RAMPANT NATIONALISM" OF YOUTHFUL JEWS IN PALESTINE WAS DECRIED IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS TODAY, AS VISCOUNT SAMUEL, FIRST HIGH COMMISSIONER OF PALESTINE, DECLARED THAT THE FUTURE STATUS OF THE COUNTRY MUST EVENTUALLY BE TURNED OVER TO THE UNITED NATIONS.

INITIATING A DEBATE ON PALESTINIAN QUESTIONS, CONSERVATIVE LORD ALTRINCHAM ASSERTED THAT THE YOUNG JEWS IN PALESTINE ARE CONVINCED THAT NO RIGHT BUT THEIR OWN RIGHT IS WORTHY OF THE SUPPORT OF THE CIVILIZED WORLD."

HE ASSAILED THE YOUTHFUL ZIONISTS FOR "RAMPANT NATIONALISM ;" IMPORTED FROM THE WEST," AND SAID THE COUNTRY'S PROGRESS MUST DEPEND UPON COOPERATION OF THE JEWS WITH NEIGHBORING ARAB STATES.

HE URGED THAT PARLIAMENT DECLARE ITS "MORAL SUPPORT" OF BRITISH FORCES IN PALESTINE, AND COMMENDED THE BRITISH-AMERICAN INQUIRY TOWARD A SOLUTION OF THE PROBLEM.

LORD SAMUEL SAID THAT THE BALFOUR DECLARATION, ABROGATED BY THE BRITISH WHITE PAPER OF 1939, PLANNED A MAXIMUM IMMIGRATION OF JEWS. HE ADMITTED THAT IF IT HAD NOT BEEN FOR THE WHITE PAPER, HUNDREDS OF

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

LONDON, DEC. 10-(AP)-VISCOUNT SAMUEL, WHO WAS FIRST HIGH COMMISSIONER OF PALESTINE, [redacted] SUGGESTED TODAY IN A HOUSE OF LORDS SPEECH THAT A CENTRAL COUNCIL BE CREATED FOR THE ADMINISTRATION OF PALESTINE, UNDER A BRITISH PRESIDENT, WITH [redacted] OF ALL COMMUNITIES REPRESENTED.

DENYING THE FEASIBILITY OF GEOGRAPHICAL PARTITION OF PALESTINE BETWEEN ARABS AND JEWS, HE CALLED FOR AN ADMINISTRATION WHICH WOULD PRESERVE THE CULTURAL AND RELIGIOUS HERITAGES OF ALL THREE COMMUNITIES -- CHRISTIAN, MOSLEM AND JEWISH.

HE SAID THE EUROPEAN SYSTEM OF DEMOCRACY WOULD NOT BE APPLICABLE, AND PALESTINE SHOULD NOT BE GIVEN ANY CONSTITUTION PLACING EITHER ARABS

DEC 11 1945

THOUSANDS OF JEWS PROBABLY WOULD HAVE BEEN SAVED "OUT OF A VAST RESERVOIR OF MISERY AND MURDER.

HE SAID IT WAS UNTRUE THAT PALESTINE HAD BEEN DEVELOPED AT THE EXPENSE OF THE ARABS. BUT ADDED THAT SOME PART OF THE JEWISH POPULATION HAD FORGOTTEN THAT JEWISH DEVELOPMENT HAD BEEN MADE POSSIBLE BY BRITISH ACTION. HE SAID HE BELIEVED THE COUNTRY COULD [redacted] A DOUBLED OR PERHAPS TREBLED POPULATION.

HOWEVER, HE SAID IT MUST REMAIN FOR SOME YEARS UNDER A TRUSTEESHIP; THAT COMPLETE INDEPENDENCE WOULD MEAN ANARCHY AT THE PRESENT TIME. HE SAID PALESTINE SHOULD NOT BE GIVEN ANY CONSTITUTION WHICH WOULD PUT EITHER THE JEWS OR THE ARABS AS A MINORITY UNDER THE DOMINANCE OF THE OTHER.

30.24-32283

OR JEWS AS A MINORITY UNDER THE RULE OF THE OTHER GROUPS THUS, HE SAID, THE THREE RELIGIOUS COMMUNITIES SHOULD BE HANDLED SEPARATELY, REGARDLESS OF THEIR POPULATION SIZES, WITH REPRESENTATION ON THE PROPOSED CENTRAL COUNCIL.

[redacted] HE SAID IT WAS UNTRUE THAT THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE JEWISH COMMUNITY IN PALESTINE WAS MADE POSSIBLE [redacted] AT THE EXPENSE OF THE ARABS AND THAT THE COUNTRY WAS OVERPOPULATED, ADDING THAT IN HIS OPINION THE POPULATION COULD BE DOUBLED OR TREBLED.

DEC 11 1945

HE SAID THAT BUT FOR THE BRITISH WHITE PAPER OF 1939 ABROGATING THE BALFOUR DECLARATION PERMITTING IMMIGRATION, HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF JEWS MIGHT HAVE BEEN [redacted] SAVED "OUT OF A VAST RESERVOIR OF MISERY AND MURDER" IN EUROPE DURING THE WAR.

II

BY FLORA LEWIS

LONDON, DEC. 10-(AP)-AMERICAN HOPES TO BECOME THE PERMANENT HOME OF THE UNITED ORGANIZATION FADED CONSIDERABLY TODAY AT THE CLOSE OF THE THIRD DAY OF DEBATE ON THE PROPOSITION.

HOST DELEGATES TO THE UNITED NATIONS PREPARATORY COMMISSION SITTING HERE EXPRESSED BELIEF THE UNITED [redacted] STATES WOULD FAIL TO RALLY THE NECESSARY TWO-THIRDS VOTE UNLESS A LARGE NUMBER OF DELEGATES ABSTAINED FROM VOTING.

DEC 11 1945

[redacted] INTERVIEWS WITH CHIEFS OF DELEGATIONS SHOWED AN ABSOLUTE MINIMUM OF 24 VOTES FOR [redacted] THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATION THAT THE WORLD PEACE AGENCY'S HOME BE PLACED IN THE UNITED STATES. THERE WAS AN ABSOLUTE MINIMUM OF TEN VOTES FOR EUROPE WITH [redacted] MORE LIKELY,

DEPENDING UPON THE ATTITUDE OF THE DELEGATIONS FROM THE SEVEN ARAB STATES.

IRAN'S DELEGATE SAID HE WOULD ABSTAIN FROM VOTING ON THE MATTER, BUT THE OTHER SIX ARAB STATES LEAN HEAVILY TOWARD EUROPE AS A CHOICE.

FIFTY-ONE NATIONS ARE ENTITLED TO VOTE. AMERICAN HOPES THUS LIE IN A LARGE NUMBER OF ABSTENTIONS.

ARGUING AGAINST SELECTION OF THE UNITED STATES, DELEGATE HEATON NICHOLLS OF SOUTH AFRICA TOLD THE COMMISSION JAPAN'S ASSAULT ON MANCHURIA WAS "THE FAULT OF UNITED STATES ABSTENTION FROM THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS." HE MAINTAINED THAT "EUROPE IS AND WILL CONTINUE TO BE THE FOCAL POINT OF ALL SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC ADVANCEMENT IN THE WORLD."

OTHER IMPORTANT MATTERS TEMPORARILY WERE IN THE BACKGROUND DURING THE DEBATE. EARLIER, HOWEVER, CHINESE DELEGATE V.K. WELLINGTON KOO URGED THE DELEGATES TO REFER THE HIGHLY EXPLOSIVE TRUSTEESHIP ISSUE TO THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY WHEN IT MEETS IN JANUARY,

DEC 11 1945

AS A TEMPORARY SOLUTION TO AN ISSUE INVOLVING MILLIONS OF DEPENDENT PEOPLES AND MILLIONS OF SQUARE MILES OF TERRITORY.

HE PROPOSED A SUBCOMMITTEE TO WORK OUT DETAILS FOR PLACING THE MATTER BEFORE THE ASSEMBLY, AFTER RUSSIAN DELEGATE ANDREI GROMYKO HAD ASSERTED THAT ESTABLISHMENT OF A TEMPORARY TRUSTEESHIP COMMITTEE WOULD VIOLATE THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER.

DEC 11 1945

WR LEWIS 31590 PARIS 11

1953 APR 0455

30.24-32285

533

LONDON, DEC 10-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS PREPARATORY COMMISSION RE-OPENS DEBATE TODAY ON THE CONTROVERSIAL SUBJECT OF A PERMANENT HOME FOR THE ORGANIZATION WITH THE PROSPECTS OF A VOTE WEDNESDAY OR THURSDAY ON A MOTION TO ESTABLISH THE WORLD CAPITAL IN THE UNITED STATES.

STOYAN GAVRILOVIC, YUGOSLAV UNDER-SECRETARY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS, WHO HAS BEEN A STRONG SUPPORTER OF THE MOVEMENT TO LOCATE THE HEADQUARTERS IN THE UNITED STATES, WAS EXPECTED TO MAKE THE PRINCIPAL SPEECH SUMMING UP THE ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF THE MOTION.

DURING THE TWO-DAY DEBATE WHICH ALREADY HAS TAKEN PLACE ON THE SITE ISSUE, NINE COUNTRIES HAVE BEEN HEARD FROM. PLEADING THE NEW WORLD CASE WERE AUSTRALIA, CUBA, CHILE AND THE PHILIPPINES, WITH CANADA, POLAND, GREECE THE NETHERLANDS AND BELGIUM TAKING THE OPPOSITE SIDE.

DEC 11 1945

WT856AES

PARIS, DEC 10-(AP)--PRESIDENT DE GAULLE REITERATED TONIGHT THAT FRANCE'S INTERNATIONAL ROLE WAS ONE OF "EQUILIBRIUM BETWEEN THE WORLD'S TWO GREAT POWERS--THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA."

"WE INTEND, BY CONSEQUENCE," HE SAID IN AN ADDRESS TO THE NATION, "TO PRACTICE FRIENDSHIP WITHIN THE MEASURE THAT DEPENDS UPON US, TOWARDS THE EAST AND TOWARDS THE WEST, OUR EYES OPEN, OUR HANDS FREE."

ME812PES

PARIS, DEC. 10-(AP)-THE FIRST ELEMENTS OF THE 90TH DIVISION TODAY WERE HOMEWARD BOUND FROM MARSEILLE.

THE 100TH DIVISION, ALERTED FOR REDEPLOYMENT, HAS SCHEDULED TO MOVE INTO THE STAGING AREA NEAR MARSEILLE DEC. 17.

STAGGERING OF OTHER UNITS:

79TH DIVISION -- ON HIGH SEAS.

12TH INFANTRY DIVISION -- ON HIGH SEAS.

26TH DIVISION -- ON HIGH SEAS.

FIRST ELEMENTS OF 90TH DIVISION ON HIGH SEAS. REMAINDER SHUTTLING TO SOUTHAMPTON.

82ND AIRBORNE DIVISION, DUE TO ARRIVE AT LEHAVRE BETWEEN DEC. 11 AND 19, WITH ADVANCE ELEMENTS SAILING DIRECT TO THE UNITED STATES AND OTHERS SHUTTLING TO THE UNITED KINGDOM.

DEC 11 1945

30TH DIVISION, FIRST ELEMENTS ON HIGH SEAS, THE REMAINDER AT MARSEILLE STAGING AREA.

ROME, MONDAY, DEC. 10-(AP)- PREMIER-DESIGNATE ALCIDE DE GASPERI ANNOUNCED EARLY TODAY FORMATION OF A NEW ITALIAN ~~BBK~~ CABINET---THE FOURTH SINCE THE ITALIAN ARMISTICE---AND SENT A LIST OF MINISTERS TO CROWN PRINCE UMBERTO FOR APPROVAL.

ALTHOUGH THE ALLIED COMMISSION---WHICH UNDER ARMISTICE TERMS PASSES ON THE MINISTERS OF WAR, NAVY AND AVIATION---MUST ALSO APPROVE THE LIST, ~~XXXXXXXXXX~~ IT WAS CONSIDERED THAT THE 16-DAY GOVERNMENT CRISIS WAS VIRTUALLY AT AN END. THE NEW MINISTERS OF NAVY AND AVIATION HAD PREVIOUSLY BEEN APPROVED BY THE COMMISSION WHEN THEY SERVED IN THE CABINET OF FERRUCCIO PARRI, WHOSE RESIGNATION PRECIPITATED THE CRISIS.

THE NEW MINISTER OF WAR, MANLIO BROSIO OF THE LIBERAL PARTY WOULD SUCCEED STEFANO JACINI, A CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT. THE LIST CONTAINED ONLY 16TH CORPS, NOW AT LEHAVE STAGING AREA, ALERTED FOR HOME SHIPMENT; ALSO 29TH, 84TH, 90TH AND 94TH INFANTRY DIVISIONS, SECOND ARMOR D DIVISION, 22ND CORPS HEADQUARTERS.

HE70;PES

Commander Dept. Gold to Land,

FARM EXPERTS ESTIMATE IT WILL BE SIX YEARS BEFORE THE ORCHARDS AND FARMLANDS OF WHAT WAS ONCE CALLED "THE GARDEN OF THE NETHERLANDS" AGAIN WILL BE FERTILE. IN ADDITION, THE COMBINATION OF MILITARY OPERATIONS AND FLOODING HAVE DESTROYED 2,100 HOUSES, DAMAGED 4,200 SEVERELY AND MODERATELY DAMAGED 6,200.

THERE IS A LAYER OF SILT OVER ALL OF WALCHEREN AND IN THE CELLARS AND FIRST FLOORS OF HOUSES THE MUD OFTEN IS TWO FEET DEEP. HUSSELS HAVE FASTENED THEMSELVES TO THE TRUNKS OF TREES AND TO WALLS. SHRIMPS SCURRY ABOUT THE FLOORS. TWO MIDDLEBURG CANALS HAVE BEEN LEFT FULL OF FISH AS WATERS ELSEWHERE RECEDED.

WHILE PART OF RECONSTRUCTION TEAMS ARE ALREADY BUSY CLEARING AND REBUILDING ROADS IN THE DRIED AREAS, OTHERS CONTINUE IN THE LAST STAGES OF SEALING THE FINAL GAP IN THE DIKES.

GAPS VARIED IN SIZE FROM 115 FEET WIDE FOR ONE NEAR FLUSHING TO 3,000 FEET WIDE FOR ONE AT VEERE, WHILE THE DEPT OF THE SEA AT BLASTED POINTS RANGED FROM ABOUT 40 TO 70 FEET.

RECONSTRUCTED PORTIONS OF THE DIKES ALREADY HAVE BORNE THE BRUNT OF HEAVY STORMS SUCCESSFULLY SO FAR.

DY1220 PES

30.24-32287

THREE MINISTERS WHO HAD NOT SERVED IN THE PARRI COALITION CABINET---- THOSE FOR WAR, TREASURY AND TRANSPORTATION.

THE MINISTRY OF PUBLIC WORKS, SLATED TO GO TO A MEMBER OF THE LIBERAL PARTY, WAS STILL UNFILLED.

IN THE NEW CABINET THE SIX MAJOR ITALIAN POLITICAL PARTIES WOULD HAVE AN EQUAL WEIGHT.

DE GASPERI, A CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT PARTY LEADER, HAD BEEN CONFERRING WITH PARTY LEADERS ~~KBR~~ THROUGHOUT THE CRISIS IN ATTEMPTS TO REACH A COMPROMISE SOLUTION. AFTER PARRI WAS FORCED OUT BY WITHDRAWAL OF THE LIBERAL PARTY AND THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS FROM HIS CABINET AS A RESULT OF FEUDS OVER CONTROL OF ELECTION MACHINERY AND FASCIST PURGE MEASURES.

DEC 11 1945

OVER THE RADIO

THE NEW CABINET LIST, AS READ BY PIETRO NENNI, SOCIALIST, WAS AS FOLLOWS:

PREMIER AND FOREIGN MINISTER: DE GASPERI

VICE PRESIDENT AND MINISTER OF THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY: NENNI;

MINISTER WITHOUT PORTFOLIO. ~~KXXXXX~~ LUSSU (ACTION PARTY);

INTERIOR, GUISEPPE ROMITA (SOCIALIST); WAR, MANLIO BROSI (LIBERAL); JUSTICE, PALMIRO TOGLIATTI (SOCIALIST); NAVY, RAFAELLE DE COURTEN (INDEPENDENT); AVIATION, MARIO CEVOLOTTO (LABOR DEMOCRAT); INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE, GIOVANNI GRONCHI (CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT); EDUCATION, ENRICO MOLE (LABOR DEMOCRAT)

DEC 11 1945

POSTAL AND TELEGRAPH, MARIO SCELBA (CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT); AGRICULTURE, FAUSTO GULLO (COMMUNIST); LABOR, GAETANO BARBARESCHI (SOCIALIST); FINANCE, MAURO SCOCCIMARRO (COMMUNIST); TREASURY, EPICARMIO CORBINO (LIBERAL); RECONSTRUCTION, UGO LA MALFA (ACTION PARTY); TRANSPORTATION, RICARDO LOMBARDI (ACTION PARTY).

(NO PICKUP)

BY LOUIS LOCHNER

NUERNBERG, DEC. 10-(AP)-PAUL SCHMIDT, PUDGY, INSOLENT PUBLIC RELATIONS MAN OF THE NAZI FOREIGN MINISTRY, ~~XXXXXX~~ NOISILY LECTURED A GROUP OF FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS IN THE VENERABLE BISMARCKIAN FOREIGN OFFICE.

HE STORMED THAT IRRESPONSIBLE REPORTS HAD BEEN SENT OUT OF GERMANY CONCERNING THE DISCUSSIONS BETWEEN ~~XX~~ JAPANESE FOREIGN MINISTER ~~XXXXXX~~ YOSUKE MATSUOKA AND NAZI FOREIGN MINISTER JOACHIM VON RIBBENTROP.

~~XXXXX~~ THIS WAS ON MARCH 30, 1941. I HAD COMMITTED THE INDISCRETION OF ~~XXX~~ CLAIMING, ON THE BASIS OF ~~XXXXXXXX~~ TRUSTWORTHY INFORMATION, THAT MATSUOKA HAD BEEN PUT UNDER PRESSURE BY THE NAZI GOVERNMENT TO PERSUADE HIS GOVERNMENT OF THE DESIREABILITY OF SEIZING SINGAPORE.

THAT STORY CAME OUT TODAY BEFORE THE INTERNATIONAL ~~XXXXXX~~ MILITARY TRIBUNAL TRYING RIBBENTROP AND 20 OTHER LEADING NAZIS FOR WAR CRIMES.

READ INTO THE RECORD, ALONG WITH PILES OF OTHER DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE, WAS A REPORT ON THE CONVERSATION BETWEEN RIBBENTROP AND MATSUOKA IN ~~XXX~~ BERLIN ON MARCH 29, 1941.

SOME EXCERPTS:

"THE REICH FOREIGN MINISTER (SAID) X X X THAT GERMANY WOULD STRIKE IMMEDIATELY SHOULD RUSSIA EVER ATTACK JAPAN. HE SAID HE WAS READY TO GIVE MATSUOKA THIS POLITIVE ASSURANCE SO THAT JAPAN COULD PUSH FORWARD TO THE SOUTH ON SINGAPORE WITHOUT FEAR OF POSSIBLE COMPLICATIONS WITH RUSSIA."

"THE REICH FOREIGN MINISTER X X X BELIEVED THAT RUSSIA WOULD TRY TO AVOID THE VERDICT LEADING TO WAR. SHOULD GERMANY, HOWEVER, ENTER INTO A CONFLICT WITH RUSSIA, THE U.S.S.R. WOULD BE FINISHED OFF WITHIN A FEW MONTHS, IN WHICH CASE JAPAN HAD OF COURSE EVEN LESS REASON TO BE AFRAID THAN EVER IF IT WANTS TO ADVANCE ON SINGAPORE."

BUT BACK ON MARCH 30, 1941, WHEN THIS CORRESPONDENT CABLED HIS STORY CONCERNING GERMAN-JAPANESE DESIGNS ON SINGAPORE, SCHMIDT CALLED CORRESPONDENTS TOGETHER, AND UNCTIOUSLY READ THIS SPEECH:

"AN AMERICAN CORRESPONDENT WHO HAS BEEN IN THIS COUNTRY A LONG TIME AND HENCE KNOWS OUR POLITICS WELL HAS IMPUGNED TO OUR REICH GOVERNMENT MOTIVES REGARDING OUR RELATIONS WITH JAPAN WHICH ARE CALCULATED TO POISON THE WELLS OF INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING. HE MADE THE WHOLLY UNJUSTIFIED ASSERTION THAT THE SEIZURE OF SINGAPORE BY JAPAN WAS DISCUSSED DURING MATSUOKA'S VISIT.

DEC 11 1943

AURICH Gdd kent mayer xx mayer

"IF A REPETITION OF SUCH IRRESPONSIBLE REPORTING OCCURS, NOT ONLY WILL 'THIS CORRESPONDENT BE EJECTED FROM GERMANY AND THE NEWS BUREAU WHICH HE REPRESENTS BE CLOSED, BUT DIRE CONSEQUENCES ARE LIKELY TO RESULT FOR OTHER CORRESPONDENTS."

WR LOCHNER SECOND 1630APR DELUCES · 01600VOICECAST

DEC 11

THE 12TH S.S. HITLER YOUTH DIVISION, INCITED AND COUNSELLED HIS TROOPS TO DENY QUARTER TO ALLIED SOLDIERS, MACDONALD SAID. THE MEYER, COMMANDER OF THE 25TH S.S. PANZER GRENADIER REGIMENT OF

BY LYNN HEINZERLING

VIENNA, DEC. 10-(AP)-THE ALLIED COUNCIL URGENTLY CALLED UPON UNRRA TODAY TO SEND FOOD AND VITAL NECESSITIES TO PREVENT POSSIBLE STARVATION IN SOME SECTIONS OF AUSTRIA, AND DIRECTOR GENERAL HERBERT H. LEHMAN ANNOUNCED HIS ORGANIZATION WOULD GO INTO ACTION AS SOON AS FUNDS ARE MADE AVAILABLE.

AT THE SAME TIME THE COUNCIL INSTRUCTED THE AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT "TO TAKE CERTAIN MEASURES TO UTILIZE TO THE FULLEST EXTENT THE INTERNAL FOOD RESOURCES OF AUSTRIA IN EACH PROVINCE," TO MEET THE GRAVE FOOD SITUATION.

THE ALLIED OFFICIALS IN AUSTRIA FOR WEEKS HAVE BEEN CONCERNED

PROSECUTOR ADDED THAT HE WOULD CALL AS WITNESSES THREE MEMBERS OF ONE OF MEYER'S COMPANIES, WHO WOULD TESTIFY THAT THE GERMAN GENERAL SAID ON MORE THAN ONE OCCASION: "MY UNIT TAKES NO PRISONERS" AND "I DON'T CARE WHAT OTHER UNITS DO; MY COMPANY HERE HAS TAKEN NO PRISONERS."

MANY OF THE CANADIANS WERE KILLED FAR BEHIND THE FRONT LINES, POSSIBLY BECAUSE THEY REFUSED TO ANSWER QUESTIONS ABOUT THE SIZE OF THE INVASION FORCES, THE PROSECUTOR CHARGED.

FBG99AES/ CD A156 AND 157

FRANKFURT, DEC. 10-(AP)- LT. COL. MERVYN F. BURKE, OF 1950 HOPKINS STREET, BERKELEY, CALIF., HAS BEEN APPOINTED RECRUITING OFFICER FOR THE UNITED STATES FORCES IN EUROPE, THE ARMY ANNOUNCED TODAY.

HE WILL SUCCEED COL. T. J. MORIANE, OF 1346 E. 15TH ST. TULSA, OKLA., WHO HAS BEEN NAMED DEPUTY ADJUTANT GENERAL IN EUROPE.

30.24-32291

ABOUT CONDITIONS IN THE RUSSIAN-OCCUPIED ZONES OF LOWER AUSTRIA, BUT EVEN IN THE AMERICAN, BRITISH AND FRENCH ZONES, WHERE CONDITIONS ARE SOMEWHAT BETTER, AUSTRIANS ARE EATING JUST ABOVE THE STARVATION LEVEL, OSKAR GRAF, ORGANIZATION DIRECTOR OF THE PEOPLE'S PARTY, WAS QUOTED AS SAYING IN THE COMMUNIST NEWSPAPER [redacted], VOLKSSTIMME.

THE UNRRA SUPPLY TEAM ALREADY IS AT WORK SURVEYING THE SITUATION IN AUSTRIA, BUT UNRRA OFFICIALS HERE SAID IT MIGHT BE TWO MONTHS BEFORE THE FLOW OF SUPPLIES COULD BE STARTED, UNLESS STOCKS WERE DIVERTED FROM SOME OTHER PLACES ON THE CONTINENT.

DEC 11 1945

LEHMAN'S PROMISE OF ACTION WAS IN RESPONSE TO U.S. GENERAL MARK W. CLARK, AMERICAN COMMANDER IN AUSTRIA, WHO HAD [redacted] SENT A MESSAGE TO LEHMAN SEVERAL DAYS AGO ON HIS OWN RESPONSIBILITY.

AUSTRIAN COMMUNISTS HAVE CHARGED THAT THEIR POLITICAL OPPONENTS WERE PLOTTING STARVATION IN THE RUSSIAN-OCCUPIED AREA IN AN EFFORT TO DISCREDIT THE RED ARMY.

MR HEINZERLINGS SECOND 1800 RCA 0527

BELGRADE, DEC. 10 -- (AP) - LESTER HUTCHINSON, LABOR MEMBER OF THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT, SAID TODAY THAT GREEK DEMANDS FOR NORTHERN EPIRUS, A LARGE TERRITORY IN SOUTHERN ALBANIA, WERE "DANGERS TO WORLD PEACE."

DEC 11 1945

HUTCHINSON, WHO IS TOURING YUGOSLAVIA AND ALBANIA, CALLED FOR DEFINITE STATEMENTS BY THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN GOVERNMENTS AS TO GREEK CLAIMS FOR NORTHERN EPIRUS IN ORDER TO "DESTROY THE ILLUSION OF GREEK MILITARY ADVENTURERS" THAT THEY WILL HAVE THE SUPPORT OF THE TWO POWERS FOR THEIR CLAIMS.

"I BELIEVE," HUTCHINSON SAID, "THAT GREEK PROVOCATIONS ON ALBANIAN AND MACEDONIAN FRONTIERS AND FANTASTIC GREEK DEMANDS FOR NORTHERN EPIRUS ARE DANGERS TO WORLD PEACE."

THE LABORITE SAID ALSO HE WOULD ASK FOR AN INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION TO SUPERVISE THE RESETTLEMENT OF ALBANIAN REFUGEES. HE SAID HIS OWN INVESTIGATION SHOWED THAT 2,500 ALBANIANS HAD BEEN KILLED AND 25,000 DRIVEN FROM THEIR HOMES IN THE PAST TWO YEARS BY GREEK ELEMENTS.

#

MOSCOW, DEC. 10-(AP)-DIPLOMATIC OBSERVERS NOTED STRONG INDICATIONS TODAY THAT THE FORTHCOMING FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE HERE IS EXPECTED TO CONTINUE THROUGH CHRISTMAS AND PERHAPS INTO THE NEW YEAR.

DEC 11 1945

THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN EMBASSIES ARE KNOWN TO BE MAKING DEFINITE PREPARATIONS TO ENTERTAIN FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN AND SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES DURING THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS. CHRISTMAS TREES ALREADY HAVE BEEN ORDERED AND COMMISSARIES AT BOTH EMBASSIES ARE ON THE LOOKOUT FOR TURKEYS.

ALTHOUGH IT IS RELIABLY REPORTED THAT THE PRESENT INTENTION OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS IS TO HOLD A COMPARATIVELY SHORT MEETING, IT IS A FACT THAT IN THE PAST SUCH SESSIONS HAVE BEEN PROLONGED BEYOND ANTICIPATIONS.

THE WEATHER ALSO MAY BE A FACTOR, INASMUCH AS BOTH BEVIN AND BYRNES ARE PLANNING TO TRAVEL BY PLANE. EASTERN EUROPE AT THIS TIME OF YEAR EXPERIENCES MANY FOGS AND ICING CONDITIONS OFTEN ARE PREVALENT, AND IT IS POSSIBLE THAT THE VISITORS MIGHT BE DELAYED IN REACHING MOSCOW OR IN LEAVING IT.

#

BY ROBERT UHLES

MOSCOW, DEC. 9-(AP)-COMMENTATOR P. EFIMOV, WRITING IN MOSCOW BOLSHEVIK, SAID TODAY "THE VATICAN IS USING THE POWER OF ITS APPARATUS WHICH IS SCATTERED ALL OVER THE WORLD TO SAVE THE REMNANTS OF FASCISM."

30.24-32293

"THE VATICAN IS ONE OF THE CENTERS OF PRESENT POST WAR REACTION, AND THE HOLY FATHER IS BUSY, NOT SO MUCH WITH PRAYER AS WITH BURNING INTERNATIONAL PROBLEMS," EFIMOV ASSERTED.

"THE VATICAN IS NOT STRONG BY THE SIZE OF ITS TERRITORY OR POPULATION OR [redacted] THE STRENGTH OF ITS ARMY. IT IS STRONG BY ITS RELIGIOUS AND POLITICAL INFLUENCE IN BOURGEOIS COUNTRIES."

DEC 11 1945

THE WRITER [redacted] STATED THAT THE POPE APPEARED TO HIM TO BE CONCERNED ESPECIALLY WITH THE SITUATION IN SPAIN "AND AFRAID OF THE VICTORY OF DEMOCRACY IN THAT COUNTRY -- THAT [redacted] (GENERALISSIMO FRANCISCO) FRANCO, THE LAST HITLERITE PROTEGE, WILL BE FOUND IN THE DOCK, ON TRIAL."

EFIMOV SAID CHURCH LEADERS IN BELGIUM, ACTING JOINTLY WITH THE BELGIAN CATHOLIC PARTY, "ARE WAGING A FURIOUS CAMPAIGN FOR THE RETURN OF KING LEOPOLD AND THE REMOVAL OF COMMUNISTS FROM THE GOVERNMENT."

HE CHARGED FURTHER THAT THE VATICAN WAS DEVOTING MUCH ATTENTION TO LATIN AMERICA, "WHERE IT IS HELPING TO PROTECT FASCISTS."

[redacted] EFIMOV SAID THE CATHOLIC PRESS WAS ATTACKING THE SOVIET UNION MALICIOUSLY.

DEC 1 1945

"CATHOLIC NEWSPAPERS OF AMERICA AND ENGLAND, USING THE SUPPORT OF THE MOST [redacted] REACTIONARY IMPERIALIST CIRCLES, CONTINUE WITH A RATE WORTHY OF GOEBBELS TO SLOBBER LYING, HITLERITE SLOGANS WHICH LONG AGO WERE DISCREDITED AND REPUDIATED, TO THE WHOLE WORLD," THE ARTICLE SAID.

"MALICIOUS SLANDERS ON THE SOVIET UNION FROM THE SIDE OF THE REACTIONARY CATHOLIC PRESS WILL BECOME FULLY CLEAR IF ONE KEEPS IN VIEW THAT FROM THESE REACTIONARY NEWSPAPERS LEADS ~~NEX~~ AN UNSEEN BUT STOUT THREAD INTO THE CATHOLIC STATE IN ROME — THE VATICAN."

WR JAMES THIRD 1252PREWI 01035

VATICAN CITY, DEC. 10-(AP)-L'OSSERVATORE ROMANO SAID TODAY THAT CHARGES BY COMMENTATOR P. EFIMOV IN THE MOSCOW BOLSHEVIK WERE "PERVERSE ATTACKS X X X AGAINST THE CATHOLIC PRESS AND THE VATICAN."

EFIMOV SAID YESTERDAY THAT THE VATICAN WAS TRYING TO "SAVE THE REMNANTS OF FASCISM" AND WAS "ONE OF THE CENTERS OF POST-WAR REACTION."

"IT IS NOT NECESSARY AUTOMATICALLY TO BECOME REACTIONARY IN ORDER TO BE ANTI-SOVIET," L'OSSERVATORE REPLIED IN AN EDITORIAL. "NOT TO WANT ONLY ONE PARTY, TO WANT FREEDOM OF THE PRESS AND RESPECT FOR RELIGION IS NOT REACTIONARY."

COMMENTING ON EFIMOV'S CHARGE THAT THE POPE WAS "AFRAID OF THE VICTORY OF DEMOCRACY" IN SPAIN, L'OSSERVATORE DECLARED "THE POPE INTERESTS HIMSELF EXCLUSIVELY IN RELIGION IN SPAIN. HE KNOWS THAT REAL DEMOCRACY X X X CAN NEVER PLACE THE CHURCH ON THE DEFENDENTS' BENCH, IN SPAIN OR ELSEWHERE."

BJ1125PES

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA, DEC. 10-(AP)-THE LENGTHY OFFICIAL INQUIRY INTO CIRCUMSTANCES SURROUNDING THE ESCAPE OF LT. GEN. HENRY GORDON BENNETT DESPITE AN ORDER FOR THE UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER OF ALL BRITISH AND AUSTRALIAN FORCES AT SINGAPORE NEARED AN END TODAY.

AFTER HEARING TERMS OF SURRENDER FROM THE JAPANESE, THE INQUIRY COMMISSION INDICATED THAT THE HEARING FOR BENNETT, COMMANDER OF AUSTRALIAN TROOPS IN MALAYA, MAY END WEDNESDAY. A STATEMENT FROM LT. GEN. ARTHUR E. PERCIVAL, BRITISH COMMANDER AT SINGAPORE, SAID THAT TERMS OF THE SURRENDER CALLED FOR ALL FORCES IN MALAYA TO REMAIN AT THEIR POSTS PENDING FURTHER ORDERS TO CARRY OUT THE UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER.

DEC 11 1945

CALCUTTA, DEC. 10-(AP)-AN APPEAL TO INDIAN LEADERS FOR MODERATION AND COOPERATION WAS COUPLED TODAY BY VICEROY LORD WAVELL WITH A WARNING THAT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT "WILL NOT ABANDON ITS RESPONSIBILITIES" FOR BRINGING ABOUT A REASONABLE SETTLEMENT OF MANILA, TUESDAY, DEC. 11-(AP)-A KOREAN-AMERICAN'S TWO-MOVEMENT "SYMPHONY RENAISSANCE" DEDICATED TO GENERAL MACARTHUR AND HIS MEN WILL BE PRESENTED HERE FOR THE FIRST TIME TONIGHT BEFORE AN ALL-G.I. AUDIENCE.

CPL. DAI KEONG LEE COMPOSED THE OPUS. IT WILL BE PLAYED BY AN ORCHESTRA COMPOSED OF EX-GUERRILLAS, ALLIED SOLDIERS AND EUROPEAN REFUGEES.

PFC. PAUL PARMLEE, CHICAGO, ALSO WILL BE FEATURED, IN GERSHWIN'S "RHAPSODY IN BLUE."

GUEST CONDUCTORS LT. ANTONIO BEUNAVENTURA, PHILIPPINE ARMY BAND DIRECTOR, AND T/4 ROBERT WEISKOPF, CLEVELAND, OHIO, ARE LEADING THE ORCHESTRA IN THE 12TH CONCERT SERIES OF THE YEAR.

FJ1142PCS

30.24-3229

INDIA'S POLITICAL PROBLEMS.

IN HIS ANNUAL ADDRESS TO THE ASSOCIATED CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE, DELIVERED AGAINST A BACKGROUND OF GROWING TENSION WITHIN INDIA, WAVELL RECOGNIZED THE POSSIBILITY THAT SETTLEMENT OF THE INDIAN PROBLEM MIGHT COME THROUGH A POLITICAL DIVISION OF THE COUNTRY AS DEMANDED BY THE MOSLEM LEAGUE. HE PLEADED, HOWEVER, FOR AN ATTEMPT "TO LIVE TOGETHER IN THIS GREAT LAND."

MK941AES

God Wavell ×× land.

"I CAN ASSURE YOU UNRESERVEDLY," HE SAID, "THAT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT AND THE BRITISH PEOPLE HONESTLY AND SINCERELY WISH THE INDIAN PEOPLE TO HAVE THEIR POLITICAL FREEDOM AND XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX A GOVERNMENT, OR GOVERNMENTS, OF THEIR OWN."

DEC 11 1945

THE VICEROY MADE NO MENTION OF THE FORTHCOMING TOUR OF A PARLIMENTARY MISSION TO INDIA AS PROMISED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

APL PRESGROVERS THRU 21045 / GKM 0240

TOKYO, DEC.10-(AP)-A NEW YEAR'S "TOKYO BOWL" FOOTBALL GAME TO DECIDE THE CHAMPIONSHIP OF JAPAN, WITH GI'S PROVIDING THE TALENT, WAS SCHEDULED TODAY BY U.S. ARMY ATHLETIC AUTHORITIES.

EIGHT ARMY TEAMS WILL START ELIMINATION CONTESTS NEXT SUNDAY TO DETERMINE THE FINALISTS, WHO WILL MEET IN THE MEIJI STADIUM. ORIGINALLY, THE STADIUM WAS ALLOTTED TO PROSPECTIVE BARNSTORMING ALL-STAR PROFESSIONALS FROM THE UNITED STATES BUT THE GAME WAS CANCELLED BECAUSE THEY FAILED TO OBTAIN ENOUGH VOLUNTEERS FOR THE TRIP.

THE 98TH DIVISION TEAM PUT IN A BID FOR TOP HONORS SUNDAY BY DEFEATING THE 33RD DIVISION ELEVEN 19 TO 6 AT OSAKA. IT WAS THE FIRST FOOTBALL GAME TO BE PLAYED [illegible] OCCUPIED JAPAN AND DREW 30,000 FANS. MAJ.GEN.R.B.WOODRUFF, COMMANDING THE III CORPS, KICKED OFF THE FIRST BALL WITH THE LEFT-FOOTED BOOTING HE UTILIZED AT WEST POINT IN 1913.

DEC 11 1945

ELIMINATION GAMES SCHEDULED FOR DEC.16 ARE: FIRST ROUND--98TH DIVISION VS 11TH AIRBORNE AT SENDAI; FIRST CAVALRY VS. 33RD DIVISION AT TOKYO; SECOND ROUND-41ST DIVISION VS. NAGOYA BASE AT OSAKA; SUPPLY FORCE VS. 24TH CORPS AT YOKOHAMA. WINNERS OF THE FIRST ROUND GAMES WILL PLAY CHRISTMAS DAY AT TOKYO WHILE WINNERS OF THE SECOND BATTLE AT OSAKA.

THE NEW YEAR'S DAY VICTOR WILL MEET TOP ELEVENS FROM THE HAWAIIAN, MARIANAS AND PHILIPPINE AREAS IN TOKYO IN JANUARY IN

THE MAIN EVENT OF THE FORTHCOMING GI OLYMPICS. THE CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE PACIFIC WILL BE DECIDED AT A GAME SCHEDULED FOR JANUARY 26.

NN517PCS

SAIGON, DEC 10-(AP)-BRITISH FORCES WERE REPORTED TODAY TO BE PREPARING TO WITHDRAW FROM INDOCHINA AND TURN OVER TO THE FRENCH THE JOB OF RESTORING ORDER THERE AS SOON AS ALL JAPANESE TROOPS HAVE BEEN DISARMED AND MARCHED TO CAP ST.JACQUES TO EMBARK FOR JAPAN

WAR CRIMINAL (110)

TOKYO, TUESDAY, DEC.11-(AP)-THE CENTRAL LIAISON OFFICE REPORTED TODAY THAT FIVE MORE WAR CRIMINALS SURRENDERED TODAY AT SUGAMO PRISON, IN COMPLIANCE WITH A DEC. 2 ORDER OF GENERAL MACARTHUR.

THEY WERE LT.GEN.KISABURO ANDO, RETIRED, FORMER HOME MINISTER IN HIDEKI TOJO'S CABINET; LT.GEN.RENYA MUTAGUCHI, RETIRED, FORMER BURMA COMMANDER; KUNISHIKO OKURA, INDUSTRIALIST; HIROSHI SHIMOMURA, NEWSPAPER EXECUTIVE AND FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE CABINET BOARD OF INFORMATION, AND KAZUMO SHINDO, PRESIDENT OF TH BLACK OCEAN SECRET PATRIOTIC SOCIETY.

KYODO NEWS AGENCY SAID THREE OTHERS REQUESTED POSTPONEMENT OF THEIR SURRENDER--THE DEADLINE IS TOMORROW--BECAUSE OF ILLNESS. THEY ARE GINJIRO FUJIWARA, AGED TOPFLIGHT INDUSTRIALIST; CHIKUHEI NAJAJIMA, AIRCRAFT KING; AND KYOGORO SAKURAI, POLITICIAN.

(EDS: MAY BE INSERTED IN SECOND NIGHT LEAD JAPANESE IF DESIRED.)

JQ1051PCS NM

TOKYO, TUESDAY, DEC.11-(AP)-LT.GEN.C.P.HALL, ACTING COMMANDER OF THE EIGHTH ARMY, TODAY ANNOUNCED ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE FIRST WAR CRIMES TRIALS IN JAPAN, SCHEDULED TO OPEN IN YOKOHAMA NEXT TUESDAY.

SOME 300 DEFENDANTS WILL BE TRIED BEFORE MILITARY COMMISSIONS OF FIVE TO EIGHT MEMBERS EACH--HIGH RANKING ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS AND CIVILIANS APPOINTED BY HALL. ONE LAW MEMBER IS SPECIFIED FOR EACH COMMISSION.

A SPECIAL UNIT OF THE JUDGE ADVOCATE'S DEPARTMENT, KNOWN AS THE WAR CRIMES DEFENSE SECTION, WILL DEFEND THE SUSPECTS, CHARGED MAINLY WITH MISTREATMENT OF ALLIED PRISONERS OF WAR. CHIEFS OF DEFENSE COUNSEL ARE LT.COL.JAMES DICKINSON, JACKSONVILLE,FLA., AND MAJ.HAROLD H.EMMONS,JR., DETROIT. TEN ASSISTANTS WILL WORK WITH THEM.

THREE COURTROOMS NOW ARE AVAILABLE IN YOKOHAMA AND TWO MORE WILL BE AFTER JAN. 1. SEVERAL TRIALS ARE EXPECTED TO BE CONDUCTED CONCURRENTLY.

DS1011PPS NM

TOKYO,DEC.10-(AP)-THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL HAS BEEN AWARDED COL.ALURENCE E.BUNKER, (46 CHESTNUT STREET) WELLESLEY HILLS,MASS., ASSISTANT CHIEF OF STAFF FOR AIR FORCES PACIFIC.

THE CITATION PRAISED HIS SKILL IN CONDUCTING NEGOTIATIONNS WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF AUSTRALIA, THE NETHERLANDS AND OTHER ALLIED GOVERNMENTS.

FJ559ACS

AT THE SAME TIME ALLIED HEADQUARTERS ADDED TO ITS LIST OF WANTED MEN 60 SMALL-FRY ACCUSED OF ABUSING WAR PRISONERS. THREE BIG-TIME WAR CRIMINAL SUSPECTS PREVIOUSLY NAMED WERE LOCKED IN JAIL.

A COMMITTEE OF 15 INFLUENTIAL JAPANESE FARMERS FROM AKITA PROVINCE IN NORTHEASTERN JAPAN EXPRESSED THE FOOD RIOT THREAT, ASKING FORMER PREMIER PRINCE NARUHIKO HIGASHI-KUNI TO INTERCEDE WITH EMPEROR HIROHITO TO IMPROVE POLICIES WHICH THEY SAID HAD PRODUCED A GENERAL LACK OF CONFIDENCE.

THE FARMERS' APPEAL WAS ALMOST SIMULTANEOUS WITH A STERN NEW ORDER FROM GENERAL MACARTHUR FORBIDDING DISTRIBUTION OF LAND. A MACARTHUR DIRECTIVE A MONTH AGO RESULTED IN A MILD LAND MEASURE BEING PRESENTED TO THE DIET, WHICH HAS NOT ACTED UPON IT.

DEC 11 1945

30.24-32291

THE NEW TABLOID PAPER MINPO DECLARED EDITORIALLY THAT THE EMPEROR WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE WAR AND URGED HIS ABDICATION.

ALSO, FOR THE FIRST TIME, A MEMBER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, BUMPEI NAMAJI, ASKED WHETHER THE EMPEROR WAS CONSIDERED A GOD, SAYING THE PEOPLE WERE CONFUSED BUT HE HIMSELF REGARDED THE EMPEROR AS "A HUMAN BEING."

EDUCATION MINISTER TAMON MAEDA REPLIED THAT HIROHITO WAS "BOTH A GOD AND A HUMAN BEING."

THREE PROMINENT SUSPECTS WHO SURRENDERED TODAY WERE GEN. JINZABURO MAZAKI, FORMER CHIEF OF MILITARY EDUCATION; NAGAKAGE OKABE, FORMER EDUCATION MINISTER, AND KOICHIRO ISHIARA, PROMINENT IN EXPLOITING CONQUERED TERRITORY.

DE 11345

Je915PCs

NIGHT LEAD REPATRIATES

BY DUANE HENNESSY

URAGA, JAPAN, DEC.10-(AP)-AMERICAN-BORN JAPANESE WHO HAVE JUST RETURNED TO JAPAN AFTER RENOUNCING THEIR UNITED STATES CITIZENSHIP LOOKED SADLY TODAY AT A LONG COLUMN OF BEATEN JAPANESE TROOPS MARCHING DOWN A MUDDY ROAD NEAR THE REPATRIATES' CAMP HERE.

-CONTINUED-JUST ANOTHER PART OF THE DISILLUSIONING JAPA

THE NISEI (AMERICAN-BORN JAPANESE) WHO COMPLAINED AT THE SCANTY RICE GIVEN THEM, INSTEAD OF THE HEARTY AMERICAN MEALS THEY WERE ACCUSTOMED TO, AND DEMANDED IN VAIN THAT THE AMERICAN ARMY DO SOMETHING TO CLEAN UP THE FILTHY CIVILIAN BARRACKS PROVIDED BY THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT.

FROM AMONG THE HUNDREDS IN THE URAGA CAMP, I CHOSE SAKAI OISHI AND SATOSHI YOSHIYAMA FOR A JEEP RIDE ON WHICH TO GET THEIR REACTIONS. A MILE FROM THE SHABBY, UNPAINTED CAMP, WE CAME UPON THE COLUMN OF JAPANESE SOLDIERS. YOSHIYAMA WANTED TO KNOW WHERE THEY WERE FROM, SO WE STOPPED AND LET HIM ASK. HE SELECTED A SULLEN-LOOKING NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICER AND SPAT OUT RAPID QUESTIONS IN JAPANESE. THE SOLDIER REPLIED BRIEFLY AND TURNED AWAY OBVIOUSLY NOT INTERESTED. YOSHIYAMA WALKED SLOWLY BACK TO THE JEEP, HIS FACE STIFF.

"THEY ARE FROM OKINAWA," HE SAID. "THEY DON'T SEEM MAD AT AMERICA BUT AT THE JAPANESE LEADERS."

DEC 1 1945

"THERE SURE MUST BE A CHANGE IN THIS COUNTRY," REPLIED OISHI. "I TALKED TO SOME JAPANESE WORKING AROUND OUR CAMP AND THEY SAID THEY BELIEVED WAR CRIMINALS SHOULD PAY AND THAT THEY WANTED DEMOCRACY."

HE WENT ON TO YOKOSUKA, WHERE THE TWO NISEI INSPECTED ONE OF THE DARK, DAMP CAVES IN WHICH THE PEOPLE HID DURING AIR RAIDS. BOTH SHOOK THEIR HEADS SADLY AND SAID IT MUST HAVE BEEN TERRIBLE AND THEY WERE SURE THE PEOPLE MUST FEEL PRETTY STRONGLY AGAINST THE AMERICANS WHO BOMBED THEM.

TO SUPPORT THIS NOTION, THEY STOPPED TO TALK TO TWO MEN AND TWO WOMEN, ONE WITH A BABY IN HER ARMS, WHO WERE DIGGING IN A GARDEN OUTSIDE THE CAVE.

AGAIN YOSHIYAMA RETURNED TO THE JEEP WITH AN ODD EXPRESSION, SAYING, "THAT'S FUNNY. THEY DON'T HATE AMERICANS; THEY SAY THEY'RE GLAD YOURE HERE."

JessePCs

CHUNGKING copy Hongkong.

MAJ.GEN.ERIC L.HAYES, MILITARY ATTACHE TO THE BRITISH EMBASSY IN CHINA AND COMMANDER OF BRITISH TROOPS IN CHINA, IS DEPARTING SHORTLY FOR ENGLAND. HIS TITLE OF COMMANDER OF BRITISH TROOPS IN CHINA WILL BE ABOLISHED.

BRIG.GEN.L.F.FIELD IS DUE IN CHUNGKING SOON TO TAKE OVER AS MILITARY ATTACHE. COL.A.C.CLARK, ASSISTANT ATTACHE UNDER HAYES, WILL REMAIN.

THE SINO-BRITISH CULTURAL ASSOCIATION TONIGHT GAVE A FAREWELL DANCE AT VICTORY HOUSE FOR THE HANDFUL OF BRITISH SOLDIERS STILL IN [illegible]

DV10WACSNM

DEC 11 1945

NEW YORK, DEC.10-(AP)-THREE MEMBERS OF A FEDERAL COUNCIL DEPUTATION WHICH RECENTLY RETURNED FROM GERMANY WHERE THEY STUDIED RELIGIOUS PROBLEMS SAID TODAY IN A REPORT THAT "THE PROTESTANT CHURCHES IN GERMANY HAVE EXPERIENCES A VIGOROUS UPSURGE OF LIFE AND ACTIVITY SINCE THE END OF THE WAR."

THE OVERWHELMING MAJORITY OF CHURCHES HAVE "BANDED THEMSELVES TOGETHER IN A NEW NATION-WIDE FEDERATION, THE EVANGELICAL CHURCH IN GERMANY, WHICH HOLDS A PARTICULARLY HOPEFUL PROMISE FOR THE FUTURE," THE REPORT SAID, ADDING:

"AT ITS CORE IS THE GALLANT FELLOWSHIP OF SINCERE PASTORS WHO DEFIED NATIONAL SOCIALISM FEARLESSLY, IN MANY CASES AT THE COST OF BEING IMPRISONED IN CONCENTRATION CAMPS."

"THE CHURCH IS IN PROCESS OF SOLVING MANY DIFFICULT AND COMPLEX PROBLEMS, SUCH AS ITS COMPLETE DE-NAZIFICATION, ITS RELATION TO THE STATE, THE CREATION OF RELIGIOUS LITERATURE, AND ITS FELLOWSHIP WITH THE CHURCHES OF OTHER LANDS."

THE REPORT WAS SIGNED BY BISHOP G.BROMLEY OXNAM, CHAIRMAN OF THE DEPUTATION AND BISHOP OF THE METHODIST CHURCH OF NEW YORK; BISHOP HENRY KNOX SHERRILL OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN MASSACHUSETTS, AND DR.FRANKLIN CLARK FRY, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED LUTHERAN CHURCH IN AMERICA.

BJ1220AES

DEC 11 1945

30.24 - 32299

BLAMES UNO POLITICS

London, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—The selection of a permanent home for the United Nations Organization has become a "political issue," the Czech Foreign Minister, Jan Masaryk, declared as he prepared to go before the UNO Preparatory Commission today to speak in support of the United States.

"It is evident from the amount of lobbying going on among certain delegations supporting Europe that pressure is being put on," Masaryk said.

Most delegates to the Preparatory Commission meeting expressed doubt, meanwhile, that the required two-thirds vote could be obtained to pass a resolution designating the United States as the headquarters site. Debate on the issue is now in its fourth day.

LORD HAW HAW'S APPEAL IS ARGUED

London, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Counsel for William Joyce (Lord Haw Haw), the American-born Berlin radio announcer convicted of treason to the British Crown, argued today that international law would be violated if Britain were to hang the prisoner. The case was presented before four Lords of Appeal in the House of Lords, Britain's court of last resort.

G. O. Slade, for the defense, said that Joyce never was a British citizen, although he went to Germany on a British passport in 1939. A British subject ceased allegiance to the crown upon becoming a naturalized American, Slade continued, but the decision in Joyce's case meant that, "despite the fact that he has ceased to be a British subject, he owes allegiance to the crown for the unexpired period of the passport," and, the attorney added, "in my respectful submission, that cannot be the law."

Lord MacMillan asked: "If a gun is fired from Calais and murders people in Dover, where is the offense committed?"

Slade replied that it would "be an act of murder in this country."

"And suppose a verbal weapon is discharged in Germany intended to have an impact on the minds of people here?" asked MacMillan.

Slade answered that it had never been finally settled whether reading from a script constituted publication of a slander or libel.

Upon completion of the defense counsel's argument, it was announced that the prosecution will present its case tomorrow.

Army Surplus To Poland

London, Dec. 11 (AP)—The principal United States Army motor repair plant in the United Kingdom, along with 13,348 used army trucks and trailers, will be shipped to Poland before January 10 by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, it was announced tonight. The vehicles and plant were purchased from surplus United States Arm ystocks.

Trade-Board Red Tape Is Assailed By Tory

London, Dec. 11 (AP)—A Conservative member of Parliament told Commons today it was no secret why America could convert from war to peace production more rapidly than Great Britain.

"The unfortunate industralist in this country," declared Col. O. F. G. Stanley, of Bristol, during a tax debate, "is unable to blow his nose without asking permission of the president of the Board of Trade.

"And before the president gives permission, he has to consider whether the handkerchief is not wanted for export."

London to Streamline Taxicabs

LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP).—London's taxicabs — unchanged for forty years—are at last to be modernized. After negotiations with the taxi Fleet Operators Federation, representatives of the Commissioner of Police decided to change antiquated regulations governing construction of cabs, to allow a more streamlined appearance. The new cabs will have all-metal bodies, lower roofs and wider seats.

Autos' Standardization In Britain Is Proposed

London, Dec. 11 (AP)—A Board of Trade spokesman tonight urged standardization of Great Britain's motor-car industry to put it on a competitive basis with American manufacturers.

In an address to the annual dinner of the Association of Drop Forgers, Ellis Smith, parliamentary secretary for the board, declared that "standardization of a few types is urgently required, working toward reduced costs."

"It is rather ironical," he said, "to find that in the United States wages were double those paid in the British motor-car industry, and yet in Britain the cost was 1 shilling, 4 pence (about 28 cents) a pound weight, while in America it was only 9 pence (about 18 cents) —on 1938 prices."

Newfoundland To Act On Future Government

London, Dec. 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee said in Commons tonight that Newfoundland would be asked to elect a national convention next spring to recommend the island's future form of government.

Newfoundland relinquished its dominion status voluntarily in 1934.

Newfoundland now is governed by a six-man commission, of which three members are British civil servants and three are Newfoundland residents nominated by the Royal Governor.

Britons Return To Peace Jobs

London, Dec. 11 (AP)—A total of 2,270,000 men and women will have left war industry jobs and entered peacetime pursuits during the six months ending December 31, the Ministry of Labor estimated today.

Canadian Flattop Ceremony

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Dec. 11 (AP)—The 14,000-ton aircraft carrier Warrior, the first flattop ever built for the Royal Canadian Navy, will be commissioned next month at the Belfast Navy Yard.

Medals For Europe's Underground Agents

Paris, Dec. 11 (AP)—The United States and Britain will award medals to the army of European underground agents who spirited some 5,000 fallen Allied airmen to safety during the war, it was announced today.

In France alone, a United States Army spokesman disclosed, 40,000 men and women, rich and poor alike, voluntarily collaborated in the dangerous "underground railway" job of spiriting Americans and Britons along the two main routes to the Spanish frontier.

"We figure that about 3,000 Americans escaped," the spokesman said, "and that another 3,000 to 4,000 were aided by the French, but fell into German hands."

5000 Flyers Escaped in Europe

U. S. Army Reveals Some of Activities of Underground During War.

Paris, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Some of the activities of the underground railway which during the war carried some 5,000 fallen Allied airmen to freedom, many to fly and fight again, were revealed today for the first time by the United States Army.

Although much concerning this secret war organization was not disclosed, the doors were opened sufficiently for the two chief beneficiaries, the United States and Great Britain, to express their gratitude through thousands of awards and decorations to be presented.

The underground route was operated by Europeans across various German-occupied countries. A spokesman for the Army's "Bureau of Research in Bringing Back Allied Aviators" estimated that in France alone an underground army of princes and paupers, peasants and landowners totaling 40,000 voluntarily collaborated in the dangerous job. American and British soldiers were spirited along two main routes to the Spanish Pyrenees and freedom.

Before the invasion of France, the bureau had the names of 8,000 French men and women in its files who had assisted American aviators in escaping to England. Since that time the file has grown to 28,000.

"We figure that about 3,000 Americans escaped," a bureau spokesman said, "and that another 3,000 to 4,000 were aided by the French but fell into German hands.

"One thing is certain: That for every aviator that reached England safely, at least one Frenchman, Belgian, Dutchman or Czech was shot somewhere along the line by the Germans for helping him."

Wac Capt. Dorothy A. Smith of Prospect avenue, Staten Island, N. Y., one of the bureau's interrogators, said the underground railway out of Brittany "grew up by necessity" among French families.

"If they passed the boy along and he got out of their neighborhood safely, they would do the same thing next time," she said. "There is an old countess there who sheltered and passed along a number of American boys. She lost two sons in the other war."

French Report U.S. Plane Crash

PARIS, Dec. 11 (AP).—The news agency France Presse said a four-engined American plane flying from Paris to Marseille crashed today near Lyon, killing three passengers and injuring three others, but officers of the European Transport Service, at Villicoublay Field, and the Army Transport Command, at suburban Orly Field, said none of their planes was known to be overdue or missing.

AMG Withdraws First Berlin Unit

Berlin, Dec. 11 (AP)—A five-man United States military government detachment was withdrawn from the borough of Kreuzberg today in the first move to transfer to the Germans the local administration of the American sector of Berlin.

Kreuzberg is the second largest of the six boroughs in the American sector of the city. It has a population of 182,464.

Only one United States officer will remain stationed in the office of the Kreuzberg burgomeister, and his job will be limited to supervision and liaison.

The action is in accordance with the American policy of withdrawing the lower level of military government detachments in sections where German civil servants have proved able to take over administrative duties.

Col. Frank Howley, director of the United States Office of Military Government in Berlin, praised the work of the United States Military Government team, which, he said, had done "fine work training a largely green administrative staff to take hold."

26 GERMAN PLANTS SEIZED BY ALLIES

Berlin, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Industrial equipment from twenty-six factories in western Germany, valued at approximately $93,000,000, has been allocated to the Allied Powers as an initial reparations payment. The allocation, announced yesterday by the Allied Control Council, gives Russia and Poland 47.8 per cent of the equipment, measured in monetary value, and provides that the remaining 52.2 per cent be divided among seventeen western nations, including the United States.

The nations which will get a share of the machinery, in addition to the United States, are Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Yugoslavia, Czecho-Slovakia, Greece, Egypt, South Africa, India, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Denmark and Norway.

An inter-Allied reparations agency—on which Russia is not represented—will meet in Brussels to determine the shares of the so-called western nations.

as slaves for our Kultur. x x x We must be honest, decent, loyal and comradely to members of our own blood and to nobody else. What happens to the Russian and the Czech does not interest me in the slightest."

Polish men, women and children were snatched away with the deliberate aim of destroying the Polish people and the immediate purpose of strengthening German manpower, the documents showed.

Ten-year-old Russian children were kidnaped for slavery in war factories, the Nazi documents disclosed. An order from Himmler to SS leaders called for abduction of children of "good blood" to bolster Germany's war-depleted population.

This phase of the case was opened after the 21 defendants squirmed through hours of a film history of Nazism.

The documentary movie, punctuated by the harsh rhythm of the Nazi's Horst Wessel song covered the rise and decline of Nazism all the way from Munich to the Hitler bomb-plot trials in 1944.

The sight of Rudolf Hess in knee pants provided a comic prelude to the grim sequence which followed—the brutal treatment of Jews, the torchlighted congresses of the party, the grinning Hitler strutting before his hysterical followers, the parades of the labor front under flabby, Dr. Robert Ley.

Hess Watches Closely

Nazi Slave Labor Policy Described at Nuernberg

NUERNBERG, Dec. 11—(AP) Men, women and children in vast, uncounted numbers were torn from their homes and shipped to slave labor camps in Germany in a calculated Nazi "program of extermination by work," the international military tribunal was told today.

Taking up the forced labor case against the 21 Nazi leaders on trial, Assistant U. S. Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd said the Labor deportations were carried out through "terror, fraud and arson," with an utter disregard for the dignity of mankind.

Himmler Document Shown

He produced a document signed by Heinrich Himmler, which contained phrases such as these:

"Whether nations live in prosperity or starve to death interests me only insofar as we need them

Time and again the faces of the 21 now on trial appeared on the screen. Of all of the defendants, Hess seemed most attentive. He stared enraptured as he was shown swearing 52,000 young fanatics to loyalty to Hitler. He tapped his feet to Horst Wessel, clapped his hands at Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering's reading of Hitler laws to the Reichstag.

Baldur von Schirach, shown telling his Hitler youth that their life mission was "Mein Kampf," complained afterward that the film's editors, Commanders James B. Donovan and E. Ray Kellogg, had retained only the worst.

At times the defendants laughed nervously — particularly at the scenes of Munich, with Goering gleeful at the plight of Britain's Neville Chamberlain and France's Edouard Daladier.

Dodd went immediately into the forced labor case. He produced a document detailing a program approved by Nazi philosopher Alfred Rosenberg, a defendant, for seizing 40,000 to 50,000 Polish youths from 10 to 14 years of age and sending them to Germany as apprentices. The plan was approved June 12, 1944, when the German army was reeling back from Russian blows.

The document noted that the action was aimed not only at preventing reinforcement of the enemy's military strength, but also at reduction of his potentialities.

Labor Policy Explained

The Nazi doctrine for treatment of foreign labor was summarized by Gauleiter Erich Koch in the Ukraine in March, 1943, when he told a Nazi meeting at Kiev:

"We are a master race which must remember that the lowliest German worker is racially and biologically a thousand times more valuable than the population here. Some people are getting excited that the population may not get enough to eat. The population cannot demand that."

Fritz Sauckel, German manpower commissioner, and Albert Speer, chief of the Todt organization which used slave labor, were accused by Dodd of bearing "responsibility for the estimate of the number of foreign slaves needed by the German war machine."

But Goering, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Netherlands Commissioner Arthur Seyss-Inquart and Polish Governor Hans Frank all were named as deeply implicated in the labor crimes.

A letter dated Jan. 25, 1940, from Frank to Goering was produced, asking transportation for "at least 1,500,000 male and female agricultural and industrial workers to the Reich, among them at least 750,000 agricultural workers, of which at least 50 per cent must be women."

Nazi methods of seizing Poles for slave labor were outlined in a 1943 report to Himmler from his lieutenants which mentioned kidnap squads operating among church and theater crowds. But as a result of the reaction to these methods, Goering issued orders against such seizures because they would "bring about nervousness."

"Generally speaking, he (Goering) had no objection at all if rubbish capable of work be snatched from the streets," said an entry in Frank's diary.

Enslavement Of Russian Children By Nazis Told

DE LUCE

Nuernberg, Dec. 11 (AP)—Ten-year-old Russian children were kidnapped for slavery in German war factories as part of the Nazi campaign of "extermination through work," according to evidence submitted today at the war-crimes trial of 21 of Hitler's top leaders.

Producing the Germans' own records of mass enslavement of conquered peoples to keep the Nazi war machine running, United States Assistant Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd said the kidnapping policy was approved by Alfred Rosenberg, the party's official philosopher and fifth-column expert.

Not only were children kidnapped for slave labor but the abduction also of children of "good blood" was favored by the Gestapo to build up Germany's war-depleted population, other Nazi records disclosed.

Nazi-Era Film Shown

The Nazi leaders on trial before the International Military Tribunal earlier in the day's session watched with mixed emotions a documentary film of themselves in the decade in which Hitler grabbed power and set Germany on the road to aggression and ruin.

Dodd described defendant Fritz Sauckel, former SS general and high commissioner of labor, as the kingpin of Germany's slave labor.

He read from Heinrich Himmler's speech of October 4, 1943, in which the Gestapo chief told SS leaders:

"Our basic principle must be absolute rule for SS men. We must be honest, decent, loyal and comradely to members of our own blood and to nobody else. What happens to the Russian and to the Czech does not interest me in the slightest. What nations can offer in the way of good blood of our type we will take, if necessary, by kidnapping their children and raising them for us."

Planned Policy Of Slavery

The planned policy of enslaving captive peoples for work in German factories and on German farms was "a program of extermination through work," Dodd declared.

Naming others on trial, the prosecutor said that the former Munitions Minister, Albert Speer, "bears responsibility for the estimate of the number of foreign slaves needed by the German war machine."

Others implicated by Dodd in the forced labor program were Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, the Austrian Nazi who opened the frontier of his country to Hitler, and Hans Frank, the governor of conquered Poland.

Order For Kidnapping

Entered as evidence was Rosenberg's letter revealing that the army group center in Russia was ordered "to apprehend 40,000 to 50,000 youths of ages 10 to 14" for slave labor in the Reich.

Excerpts from Frank's diary named Goering in the Nazi program to drag off thousands of Poles and Russians to German factories and farms.

"Generally speaking, he (Goering) had no objections at all if rubbish capable of work be snatched from the streets," Frank had written, of Goering's order to arrest "at least one million male and female agricultural and industrial workers." Frank cautioned that "the arrest of young Poles when leaving church service or the cinema would bring about nervousness."

Racial Theory

The Nazi attitude was shown in another letter from Erich Koch, Reich commissioner for the occupied Ukraine, who wrote to the German army command after the defeat at Stalingrad that "the lowliest German worker is racially and biologically a thousand times more valuable than the population here."

"We are the master race and must govern hard but just," he added. "I will draw the very last out of this country."

Sauckel's attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, protested to the tribunal that the documents entered as evidence against his client had not previously been made available to him.

The once-powerful Nazi chieftains watched the old familiar scenes from German films flash across the movie screen—Hitler ranting to enthralled brown-shirted followers, the bonfires of forbidden books, the army goose-stepping down the streets of conquered neighbors.

The documentary film of Nazi aggression was assembled in Berlin by two naval officers from confiscated German movies.

Nazis Watch Intently

Sometimes discomfited and self-conscious as their faces flashed on the screen, the defendants watched intently.

Once or twice they laughed, particularly at a shot of Goering—looking far younger and harder than he does in the prisoners' box—rubbing his hands gleefully at the humiliation of Britain's Neville Chamberlain and France's Edouard Daladier at Munich, when they signed away the Czech Sudetenland to Hitler.

As the boots of soldiers pounded out the rhythm of "Horst Wessel" Field Marshal Keitel nodded his head in time to the march.

Rudolf Hess stared as if hypnotized at the image of himself swearing 52,000 young Nazis to loyalty to Hitler. A picture of the Führer fatuously smiling at his massed devotees stirred the Allied spectators to laughter.

Titled "The Nazi Plan," the film portrayed the rise of National Socialism from political street fighters, led by a frenzied ex-corporal, to a terror that swept over Europe. Its closing scenes showed the trial of Germans who attempted to kill Hitler with a bomb on July 20, 1944.

From German Cameras

All the footage came from German cameras, including excerpts from an official Nazi party film directed by exotic Leni Riffenstahl and titled "Triumph of the Will." This film depicted the Nazi congress held in Nuernberg in September, 1934.

Commanders James B. Donovan and E. Ray Kellogg, who edited the celluloid saga of Nazidom, gave the "starring roles" to five of the defendants—Goering, Hess, Joachim von Ribbentrop, Baldur von Schirach and Rosenberg.

But there were also shots of Julius Streicher, Konstantin von Neurath and Franz von Papen making statements. Virtually all of the accused could pick themselves out from party and governmental bigwigs assembled on historic occasions.

Hitler dominated "The Nazi Plan," in the film as well as in life. Joseph Goebbels clumped through the lie factory of his propaganda ministry and through anti-Semitic outrages. Mussolini, Laval, Daladier and Chamberlain had their own mixed moments with the Führer.

Patton Talks with Wife As His Condition Improves

DEC 12 1945

J. KING

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 11—(AP) Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., paralyzed by a broken neck, was improved tonight after a half an hour talk with his wife and his condition was described officially as "very satisfactory."

The colorful U. S. Army general was fully conscious, rational and taking nourishment.

RIGHT

Nurses attending the former Third Army commander described him as "one of their best patients" and said Patton was accepting his condition like a "true soldier."

A further neurological examination of the injured commander showed "normally active" tendon reflexes.

Three army nurses—Lieutenants Margery Rundell, Ashland, Wis.; Bertha Hohle, Grygla, Minn., and Ann Maertz, St. Paul, Minn.—rotate eight-hour watches at Patton's bedside.

Lt. Hohle, the night nurse, said Patton's "sleeping was confused but he is rational when awake."

"He doesn't swear like I have heard he does," she said. "He tells me not to worry about him and go away, but I have to be there because he never wants to eat or drink. He says he will not unless he gets a shot of whisky."

The medical bulletin issued at 6 p.m. omitted the phrase "prognosis guarded" for the first time since the general arrived at the 130th station hospital at Heidelberg on Sunday, after an auto crash near Mannheim. (A prognosis is a prediction or conclusion in regard to the course and termination of a disease.)

Mrs. Patton arrived at her 60-year-old husband's bedside, confident that his fighting heart would carry him through. She appealed to Maj. Gen. Albert W. Kenner, who has been with the general since the accident, to "tell me all about it," and added:

"I have seen George in these scrapes before, and he always comes out all right."

She arrived at 3:30 p.m., after her plane, previously forced to land at Marseilles instead of Paris, again had difficulty in landing. It was to have come down at Frankfurt, but due to weather finally landed at a small airport near Mannheim.

Messages expressing concern and hope for the general's speedy recovery flooded in from all over Europe today. Among them was one from Queen Mother Elizabeth and Prince Regent Charles of Belgium.

The text of the 6 p.m. bulletin:

"General condition remained satisfactory. Temperature, 100; pulse, 70; respiration, 22. Resting comfortably. Taking nourishment. Fully conscious. Rational.

"X-ray of vertebral column shows further improvement in position of vertebrae. Neurological status slightly improved. Tendon reflexes normally active and superficial reflexes present."

Corp. Salvatora Di Bernardo, of Oak street, Port Chester, New York, a dental technician at the hospital, said he gave blood for a transfusion for the general shortly after Patton arrived Sunday. Patton suffered severe face cuts in the accident.

Army officials still were investigating the accident, which occurred Sunday when Patton's automobile driven by Pfc. Horace Woodring, 19, of Sturgis, Ky., and an Army truck driven by T/5 Robert Thompson of Camden, N. J., collided.

Neither of the drivers was injured, and no statement has been issued by the Army assessing the blame.

Under Care Of Doctor

Camden, N.J., Dec. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Frank Thompson, of Camden, was under a doctor's care today for nervousness she said was induced by fear her son, Robert I. Thompson, was the driver of the truck which collided with the staff car in which Gen. George S. Patton was injured Sunday in Germany.

Told her son had been identified as the truck driver she said: "I had a feeling when I first heard the news of the accident. I knew Bobby was stationed near Mannheim."

Frank Thompson, the soldier's father, said he is convinced the accident was not the youth's fault. "Bobby's always been a careful driver," he said.

Patton Rallying, Wife Reaches Bedside

DEC 12 1945

Heidelberg, Germany, Dec. 11 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., was reported rallying tonight, with some improvement from the paralysis resulting from the fracture of his neck.

His wife, flown from the United States, reached his bedside today.

Mrs. Patton expressed confidence that her husband's fighting heart would carry him through to recovery.

"General condition remains satisfactory," said a hospital bulletin issued at 6 P.M. "Temperature, 100; pulse, 70; respiration, 22. Resting comfortably, taking nourishment, fully conscious and rational.

Condition Of Reflexes

"X-ray of the vertebrae column shows further improvement in the position of vertebrae. Neurological status slightly improved. Tendon reflexes normally active and superficial reflexes present."

"You can tell me all about it," Mrs. Patton said to Maj. Gen. Julius Kenner, army theater surgeon, "but I have seen Georgie in these scrapes before and he always comes out all right."

Mrs. Patton arrived here following a flight from the United States in an army plane, and went immediately to the 130th Station Hospital.

Went To Frankfurt

[An American Broadcasting Company report from Germany said that Mrs. Patton visited at the bedside of the General twenty minutes and then went to Frankfurt. Of her arrival at Heidelberg, the broadcast said a snowstorm had closed all airfields in the area and the pilots of the C-47 transport made a tricky landing in a meadow behind United States 7th Army headquarters.]

Corporal Salvatore di Bernado, of Port Chester, N.Y., dental technician at the 130th Station Hospital, disclosed he gave blood for the transfusion Sunday, shortly after the General was brought here.

Accompanied By Specialist

30:24 - 32301

Mrs. Patton was accompanied by Col. R. Glenn Spurling, neurosurgery specialist, an officer of the Army's Operations Division. An American transport plane carrying the two took off for Heidelberg from Marseille at 10.22 A.M. G.M.T. (5.22 A.M. E.S.T.). The C-54 plane which had flown them from the United States was scheduled to land at Paris, but was diverted to Marseille because of fog and rain at the French capital.

Patton was injured when his sedan collided with an army truck near Mannheim. He suffered a fracture of the third cervical vertebra of the neck and dislocation of the fourth cervical. His condition was described late yesterday as critical, but he was said to have reacted well to the initial shock.

In Service Since 1943.

Corporal Salvatore di Bernardo is a resident of 136 Smith street, Port Chester. He entered the service in October, 1943, and has served in Europe as a member of the Medical Corps since July of last year.

He is 33 years old and was a foreman of a ship supply manufacturing concern in New Jersey prior to his entry into service. Di Bernardo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo di Bernardo and a graduate of the Port Chester schools.

He is married and he has a brother, Lieut. Andrew di Bernardo, serving with the Army in Leyte.

SS PANZER GENERAL ACCUSED AT TRIAL

Aurich, Germany, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Major-Gen. Kurt Meyer declared at his war crimes trial here today that he ordered his Twenty-fifth Panzer Grenadier Regiment, Twelfth SS Division, to strike through the Canadian Third Division positions northwest of Caen without regard for losses the day after the Normandy landings.

Meyer is accused of direct responsibility for the shooting of forty-eight Canadian prisoners of war far behind his lines during the bloody fighting which raged around the Caen area.

The prosecution's second witness, a former corporal in Meyer's command, said that his platoon received a pep talk on its way into battle, and was told, in effect: "We shall take no prisoners." The witness said he assumed that his immediate commanding officer thus referred to similar orders given by Meyer in the previous winter, but that when the troops got into battle "we did not think about it." He added that he saw some prisoners taken.

PROMISE TO AUSTRIA

Vienna, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Urgent appeals for food and other vital necessities to prevent possible starvation in some Austrian areas have brought from UNRRA Director General Herbert H. Lehman a promise that his organization will go into action as soon as funds are made available. The pleas were forwarded to the UNRRA by Gen. Mark W. Clark, American Commander in Austria, and by the Allied Council.

The Austrian situation already is being surveyed by the UNRRA supply team, but UNRRA officials here said flow of supplies probably could not be started for two months unless diverted from some other area.

The Allied Council has instructed the Austrian Government to "take certain measures to utilize to the fullest extent the internal food resources of Austria in each province."

FINN DISCLOSES OFFER OF AID AGAINST SOVIET

HELSINKI, Dec. 11. — (AP) Former President Risto Ryti testified today in the Finnish war crimes trial that "western powers" offered Finland armed aid against the Russians in the final stages of the winter war of 1939 and 1940.

Ryti, principal defendant in the trial, did not identify the powers.

"We had then an historic decision in our hands," Ryti said. "To accept would have carried the western powers into war with Russia and furthermore would have made Russia and Germany allies in a world war.

"Careful judgment by us however brought us to the conclusion the proferred help would not have saved us, but rather would have made our country a battlefield."

In Right Direction, Moscow Says

Moscow, Dec. 11 (AP)—Diplomatic observers said tonight the idea for the forthcoming conference of foreign ministers of the United States, Russia and Great Britain was unquestionably a move in the right direction.

But, they added, the Russians are not so politically or diplomatically immature that they would accept a suggestion for a conference as an absolute proof of sincere intentions.

Informed sources said that if the United States and Britain come to the conference with acceptable proposals on the atomic bomb, then more than 50 per cent of the difficulties confronting the Big Three will have been solved. They said that such other problems as the position of the United States in China and Germany then will fall into their natural positions.

During the conference Byrnes and his close associates will stay at Spasso House, residence of Ambassador W. Averill Harriman. Bevin will stay at the British Embassy, which is across the frozen Moscow River from the red-walled Kremlin.

Pope Greets New Chief Rabbi

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 11 (AP).—Pope Pius XII received today Dr. David Prato, newly elected chief rabbi of Rome's Jewish community, who thanked the Pope for helping the Jews during the Nazi-Fascist persecutions.

CADIZ, Spain, Dec. 11 (AP)—Two women and thirty-seven men went on trial today before a military court, charged with inciting a rebellion against the Franco Government. The prosecution asked the death penalty for five of the defendants and prison sentences ranging from six to thirty years for the remainder.

E.A.M. Again Withdraws Support From Sophoulis

Declares Government Betrays Its Republican Mission

ATHENS, Dec. 11 (AP).—The central committee of the left wing E. A. M. (National Liberation Front) said tonight it could no longer support the government of Premier Themistokles Sophoulis because the government "has betrayed its republican mission."

A rift between the left wing and Sophoulis, Liberal party leader, developed last night when the government, at the demand of the left wing, adopted an amnesty measure, but the E. A. M. group said the amnesty did not satisfy its demands. A week ago the E. A. M. withdrew its support from the new government, formed Nov. 20 after a long political crisis, but it reconsidered the move.

Palestine Arabs Object To U.S. Support Of Jews

Cairo, Dec. 11 (AP)—A committee representing Arab parties in Palestine today declared the United States had no right to interfere in the Palestine question, and charged that America had shown "partiality in support of the Jews in their demand for a national homeland."

A joint British-American committee of inquiry on the Palestine question already has been set up by the United States and Britain and will report to the two governments within 120 days of the inception of the investigation.

"Arabs in Palestine are not ready to accept any decision which does not give them full independence," said the statement issued by Emile Bey El Ghory, a member of the committee, at a Pan-Arab League meeting.

Declaring that the immigration of Jews to Palestine is an "offense to Arabs," the statement asserted that the Arabs opposed "interference by the United States" to solve a problem which the Arabs consider a question between Great Britain and Palestine alone.

ARAB GROUP WARNS U. S. ON PALESTINE

Cairo, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—A committee representing all the Arab parties in Palestine declared today the United States had no right to interfere in the Palestine question, which was essentially, it said, a matter for Britain and Palestine alone.

The statement was released by a member of the committee at a meeting of the Pan Arab League, at which Palestinians for the first time had a right to vote. Because Palestine, as a British mandate, is not officially a member of the league, Palestinians had previously had only observer rights aet league meetings.

"Arabs in Palestine," the statement said, "are not ready to accept any decision that does not give them full independence."

Describing continued Jewish immigration as an offense to the Arabs, the statement declared that the Arabs reject President Truman's proposal that 100,000 Jews be admitted to Palestine, and it charged that the United States had shown partiality "in support of the Jews in their demand for a national homeland."

Briton Would Open Palestine To Jews

London, Dec. 11 (AP)—Viscount Samuel, first High Commissioner of Palestine, was on record today as favoring the reopening of Palestine to Jewish immigration.

Speaking in the House of Lords yesterday, he denied that Palestine was overpopulated and said it was untrue that the development of the Jewish community there was made at the expense of the Arabs. He said that in his opinion the population could be doubled or trebled.

Assails Youthful Zionists

Lord Samuel assailed the youthful Zionists for "rampant nationalism . . . imported from the West" and said the country's progress must depend upon co-operation of the Jews with neighboring Arab states.

Questioning the feasibility of geographical partition of Palestine between Arabs and Jews, he called for an administration which would preserve the cultural and religious heritages of all three communities —Christian, Moslem and Jewish.

This administration, he suggested, should be in the form of a central council, under a British president, with all communities represented.

Hits British White Paper

He opposed any plan to give Palestine a constitution which would place either Arabs or Jews, as a minority, under the rule of the other group.

But for the British White Paper of 1939 restricting immigration, he said, hundreds of thousands of Jews might have been saved "out of a vast reservoir of misery and murder" in Europe during the war.

IRAN LEADER FEARS LOSS OF PROVINCE

TEHERAN, Dec. 11 — (AP) Insurgent forces have completely encircled Tabriz, the largest city in Azerbaijan province, and the entire province "seems definitely lost" to Iran, a prominent deputy in the Iranian parliament said today.

The deputy, who declined to be quoted by name, said the Iranian government garrison at Tabriz "cannot resist more than a fortnight."

He said Governor Bayatt, the government-appointed administrator of the province, "has lost all hope of settling the crisis" and has asked for authorization to return to Teheran.

The deputy asserted that insurgents in Azerbaijan, which borders the Soviet Union and is garrisoned by Soviet troops, now consider Bayatt as an ambassador to an independent state rather than a provincial governor.

Meanwhile, former Premier Said Zia Eddin—attacked last week by pro-Soviet elements of the Iranian press which charged he was an "agent of a foreign power" — disclaimed any intention of withdrawing from parliament and said there had been a determined campaign to oust him since the Iranian government's refusal to grant oil concessions to the Soviet Union.

Iranian Sees Azerbaijan As 'Lost'

Tehran, Dec. 11 (AP)—A prominent deputy in the Iranian Majlis (Parliament) said today that troubled Azerbaijan province "seems definitely lost" to Iran.

The deputy, who would not permit the use of his name, said that rebelling forces in the Soviet-occupied province now consider Governor Bayatt as the Iranian Ambassador to the independent Azerbaijan Republic, rather than the governor appointed by the Iranian Government.

"Bayatt has lost all hope of settling the crisis," the deputy said, "and has sent a special emissary with a letter to the Iranian Government asking for authorization to return to Tehran."

Tabriz Encircled

Tabriz, the largest city in Azerbaijan, is now "completely encircled by the rebels and the garrison cannot resist more than a fortnight," the deputy added.

Earlier today, former Premier Said Zia Eddin disclaimed any intention of withdrawing from Iranian politics, saying his retirement from Parliament would enable the Russians to "realize their anti-Persian aims quicker."

Expulsion of Zia Eddin from Parliament was demanded by pro-Russian elements of the Iranian press last week. They charged that he was the "agent of a foreign power," which they did not name.

The former Premier declared in an interview that the charge was "calumny and lies." He said there had been a determined campaign to oust him since the Iranian Government's refusal to grant oil concessions to the Soviet Union.

Russia Allowing Chiang Forces In 3 Cities

Chungking, Dec. 11 (AP)—Russia agreed today to permit Chinese Government troops to fly into Manchuria and take over its more strategic cities, Central News Agency reported.

After weeks of tense negotiations, during which Chinese Communists had sought to take over ports and cities, the agency said, the Chungking Government has won permission to plant its soldiers firmly in this territory held vital for the recovery of war-ravaged China.

It reported that Central Government troops would be permitted by the Russians to fly into Changchun, the Manchurian capital; Mukden, largest city in the territory, and Harbin, most important in northern Manchuria.

Communist Positions

Chinese Communists previously had been reported concentrating about Changchun and Harbin and ready to take over Mukden if Central Government troops on the outskirts tried to move in.

A Chinese dispatch yesterday said Communist headquarters at

Yenan had ordered their troops to clear out of Mukden, "to conserve the strength of Communist forces."

The reported agreement embraces the most important cities in all Manchuria with the exception of the southern port of Dairen.

Mukden First

Mukden is the first objective of Central Government troops, who recently broke into Manchuria across the southern border after outflanking the frontier fortress of Shanhaikwan.

It lies between the free port of Dairen, at the southern tip of Manchuria, and Changchung, about 400 miles to the north. The northern industrial city of Harbin is 150 miles north of Changchung.

Previously it had been reported that the Russians also agreed to permit Chungking troops to enter Dairen, which under the Sino-Russian agreement will be occupied by both powers.

Moving Armies Named

A Chinese press dispatch said the Government's 94th Army would be flown from North China to Changchung.

The 92d Army, it added, would be flown to Chinhsien, advanced Central Government Army headquarters, 110 miles northeast of Shanhai-kwan.

The announcement also said that agreement also had been reached on the procedure for Chungking to take over local administrations throughout the vast territory.

Protection Promised

The agency also reported that Russian military authorities had agreed to give protection to Central Government troops whenever they land in Manchuria and had assured that the taking over of administration in the provinces would have smooth sailing.

The agency quoted observers in Changchun as estimating that it would take from one week to ten days to fly a division of Central Government troops into that city.

It added that the personnel of various provincial municipal governments assigned to Manchuria now are stopping in near-by Peiping.

They will proceed to Changchun, the dispatch added, and the work of taking over in Changchun, Harbin and Mukden would be the first on the schedule.

Chiang Kai-shek's northward supply lines today as Russia agreed to permit [illegible] reinforcement of central government troops in Manchuria.

The Russo-Chinese agreement facilitating Chiang's operations in Manchuria, reached after weeks of tense negotiations, was announced by the official Central News agency. It said the Chungking government had won permission to plant itself firmly in the vast northern territory deemed vital for the recovery of war-ravaged China.

Chiang's troops will be permitted to fly into Changchun, the Manchurian capital; into Mukden, largest city and vital industrial center of the territory, and into Harbin, the key to northern Manchuria.

Still unclarified was the status of the southern Manchurian port of Dairen, slated for joint Russo-Chinese operation as a free port, but as yet occupied only by Russian troops.

A Chinese press dispatch said the government's 94th army would be flown from North China to Changchun and that the 92d army would be air transported to Chinhsien, advance headquarters of Chiang's ground forces moving into Manchuria.

The Central News agency announcement said agreement also had been reached on the procedure for Chungking to take over local administrations through Manchuria.

Chinese Communists meanwhile reported that their troops were closing in on two towns on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad north of Tsinan, provincial capital of Shantung. The towns were identified as Yucheng and Pingyuan.

South of Tsinan, on the same railway line, a force of 120,000 Communists was reported to be attacking the town of Lincheng. A central government dispatch yesterday said the defenders of Lincheng were "fighting bravely" and still holding on.

Communist sources here also reported clashes on both sides of the Peiping-Hankow railroad, north of Hankow. They admitted, however, the loss of 11 townships in this area between Nov. 19 and Nov. 30.

Raids by Chinese Red Units Cut Chiang's Supply Lines

CHUNGKING, Dec. 11 — (AP) Chinese Communists intensified their raids on Generalissimo

The Communists alleged the Central Government forces used fully armed Japanese troops in these engagements—an accusation frequently made by both sides in the course of the current undeclared civil war.

"School For Mata Haris"

Something new was included, however, in today's batch of Chungking accusations against the Communists. It was the charge that the Communists had opened a "school for Mata Haris" near Kweisui, capital of the Inner Mongolian province of Suiyuan. The students were alleged to be more than 400 attractive young women abducted from various districts in northwestern Shansi province for "rigorous training in espionage and propaganda."

The Communists also were charged with resorting to a "scorched earth" policy in Suiyuan, destroying tracks and installations along the Peiping-Suiyuan railroad between Kweisui and Paotow.

Say They Repaired Line

Communist dispatches, on the other hand, claimed the Communists have been repairing the railroad and that traffic has been restored on some sections.

Dispatches from Yenan, the Communist capital, said a war-crimes commission had been set up there and that the arrest of two Inner Mongolian leaders—Price Teh and Gen. Li Shou-hsin — had been ordered.

The dispatches described Li Shou-hsin as commander in chief of puppet forces in Inner Mongolia, but did not say whether the Communists had any means of implementing the order for his or Prince Teh's arrest.

Chiang Troops To Begin Flying Into Manchuria

Russian Approval to Speed Air-Borne Transport to Changchun, Other Cities

CHUNGKING, Dec. 11 (AP).—Air-borne transportation of Chinese Nationalist troops to the Manchurian capital, Changchun, will begin immediately, it was reported today, and other Nationalist troops will soon follow to occupy Mukden, Harbin and the free port of Dairen.

Immediate transportation of Nationalist troops into Manchuria by air has been approved by the Russians, according to a Central News Agency dispatch quoting Chiang Ching-kuo, son of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and secretary of the Nationalist Political Affairs Commission for Manchuria.

Chiang said the negotiations were concluded on the basis of "the spirit of the Sino-Soviet treaty of friendly alliance." He estimated that it would take a week to ten days to move one division of troops. General Tu Li-ming, Chinese Nationalist commander in Manchuria, arrived in Peiping yesterday on a return trip to his field headquarters at Chinchow. Tu indicated that the 92d Army in the Peiping-Tientsin area would be the first troops sent into Manchuria. He issued instructions to units of the 92d on their future duties there.

Tu also announced that Chinese legal tender will be useless in Manchuria and will be replaced by newly printed notes. He said "profiteering business men" will be banned from the country.

[Twelve American airmen are missing in flights over North China, a Peiping dispatch broadcast by the Melbourne radio said yesterday. The Australian broadcast, heard by The United Press in San Francisco, said the airmen went out in six dive-bombers and were more than forty-eight hours overdue.]

Chiang Ousts Gen. Kwang

Chungking, Dec. 11 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today relieved Gen. Kwang Li-cheng as commander of the garrison at Kunming for alleged mishandling of a strike by 6,000 students against the civil strife in China.

Chiang apparently was especially displeased by a grenade-throwing December 1, which killed four student demonstrators.

Gen. Ho Kwei-chang, deputy inspector general of China's youth army, was appointed acting garrison commander at Kunming. The order also directed that Kwang should be "appropriately punished."

Chinese Reds Are Pleased

YENAN, China, Dec. 9 (Delayed) (AP)—Official Communist circles received with satisfaction today Secretary of State Byrnes' statement of American policy supporting a broadening of the Chinese Government to include groups not now represented.

These sources also voiced pleasure over Mr. Byrnes' expression of an American desire for a free, independent, democratic and prosperous China. Some quarters asserted that the job of General Marshall had been made easier by this clear-cut expression.

Chou En-lai, the party's "Number Two" man, told a mass meeting that Mr. Byrnes' views were welcome but that deeds must follow words. Mr. Chou declared that the only way to achieve a free China was through democratic processes and not armed force.

Two Big Fires in Peiping.

Peiping, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Two fires of undetermined origin last night destroyed the operations and control tower building at Peiping's west airfield, where scores of United States and Chinese-piloted planes are based, and razed the plant where the Kuomintang (Government) party's North China Daily newspaper is published.

No Americans were injured, according to first reports. Army airways communications personnel on duty escaped shortly before the roof of the two-story structure collapsed. Army and Marine Corps radio and radar equipment valued at over $1,000,000 and pilots' records were destroyed.

JAVA NATIONALISTS SEEK RECOGNITION OF THEIR REPUBLIC

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 11.—(AP) Defiant Indonesian nationalist leaders called upon 70,000,000 Javanese today to resist with arms and even poison any attempt to reinstate Dutch sovereignty, and demanded international recognition of their republic as a prerequisite of peace negotiations.

Prime Minister Sutan Sjahrir of the unrecognized republic declared Indonesians would fight further landings of British troops, and a nationalist leader broadcasting from a radio station near Soerabaja threatened mass poisoning for Dutch troops.

"The Dutch are boasting they soon will bring in thousands of soldiers," said this leader, Soetomo. "What of it? We are determined to annihilate them, even if we have to poison them to death.

"We have 70,000,000 behind us. It is an easy task for us to get rid of 100,000 or 200,000 enemies by poison."

Sjahrir, referring to British offers of discussion of the dispute after elimination of "extremists elements," declared:

"There can hardly be such a thing as a war against extremists alone. We never have understood who were termed extremists.

"We tell the whole world we have won independence and ask recognition," Sjahrir told a news conference. "After international recognition we are ready to negotiate a fair settlement of all outstanding problems. If, however, our independence is attacked, we are compelled to resist."

Lt. Gen Sir Miles C. Dempsey, commander-in-chief of land forces of the southeast Asia command, arrived from Singapore for a conference with Lt. Gen. Sir Philip Christison, commander of Allied forces in the Netherlands East Indies, on measures for the restoration of peace in Java.

Christison apparently had been empowered at an Allied conference in Singapore last week to take all steps necessary to end fighting in Java and to requisition all reinforcements the southeast Asia command could provide. The British already have clamped wartime secrecy on Allied troop movements and alerted troops against a possible Indonesian move on Batavia.

Escort Sent For Supplies

An official British statement at noon said an escort had left for Bandoeng to get supplies from a convoy which was held up at Soekaboemi Sunday by Indonesian resistance. The British cut the railroad east of Bandoeng in a move to prevent further loss of rolling stock, while the evacuation of Indonesians from the northern part of the summer capital continued.

An Indian field regiment moving from Bandoeng to Batavia was delayed by road blocks which were demolished.

Elsewhere, Allied headquarters said, the situation was generally quiet except for scattered sniping in the area of Buitenzorg and continued looting, laid to former Dutch prisoners of war, in Bandoeng.

Semarang was reported quiet, although Indonesians who infiltrated there were reported attempting to isolate the airfield and docks.

Java Chief Hurls Poison Threat At Allies

Batavia, Dec. 11 (AP)—Indonesian leaders threatened today to use both poison and arms to resist military restoration of Dutch sovereignty in strife-torn Java.

Premier Sutan Sjahrir of the unrecognized Indonesian Republic said Indonesian forces would fight if the British attempted to land more troops to back up the rule of the Netherlands.

Poisoning Campaign

From a radio station near Soerabaja, the native leader Soetomo spoke of a campaign of poisoning against the Dutch, saying:

"The Dutch are boasting that they soon will bring in thousands of soldiers. What of it? We are determined to annihilate them, even if we have to poison them to death.

"We have 70,000,000 behind us. It is an easy task for us to get rid of 100,000 or 200,000 enemies by poison."

Van Mook Set To Leave

Simultaneously, the Netherlands East Indies Government announced that Acting Gov. Gen. H. J. Van Mook would leave by plane Thursday for The Hague. N. S. Blom, director of the Department of Justice will act in his stead during his absence.

The Dutch news agency Aneta said that British Lieut. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey, commander of ground forces under the Southeast Asia Command, arrived here today.

Premier Sjahrir again asked world recognition of his regime.

His statement came as the British command clamped wartime secrecy on troop movements and communications as a prelude to full-scale operations against armed Indonesians who were reported planning a major uprising by the week's end.

30.24 - 32303

Recognition Asked

"We tell the whole world we have won independence and ask recognition," the youthful Premier told a press conference.

Referring to a reported British offer to discuss the dispute after the elimination of so-called extremist elements, Sjahrir said the Indonesians would be ready to negotiate "after international recognition."

"If, however, our independence is attacked," he added, "we are compelled to resist. There can hardly be such a thing as war against extremists alone. We never have understood who were termed extremists."

Precedes British Declaration

Sjahrir's statement was made without waiting for a formal declaration which he had asked Lieut. Gen. Sir Philip Christison, Allied commander in the East Indies, to make on published reports that Christison had been given sweeping-powers in Singapore last Thursday to bring in reinforcements to restore order and guarantee Dutch rule.

"If the British bring in more forces and start large-scale action," the Indonesian leader said, "all Indonesians will, consequently, resist."

Navy Armed Dutch In Java, House Told

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Representative Patterson (D., Cal.) charged in the House today that "our Navy Department helped arm, train and equip the Dutch troops who are now fighting the Indonesian peoples in the Netherlands East Indies."

He called for an investigation by the House Naval Committee and the Chief of Naval Operations to determine the individuals responsible.

Refused By FEA

Patterson said the Netherlands Government applied to the Navy for supplies for a "detachment of Royal Netherlands Marine Corps men" after being refused by the Foreign Economic Administration.

"The Navy accepted the bid on a cash reimbursement lend-lease basis," Patterson told the House. "The Navy requisitions for these supplies, dated October 9, 1945, amounted to around $16,000,000. Aside from this defiance of United States foreign policy by the Navy Department in this instance, I do not have any evidence showing that we were ever paid the $16,000,000 by the Dutch."

Trained In U.S. Camps

Patterson said that some of the requisitions showed that "supplies were to be delivered to the quartermaster of the Royal Netherlands Marine Corps at our United States Marine base, Camp Davis, N.C. These 5,000 men used our materials and were trained in American camps.

"Our expressed policy is to foster democracy and to encourage nations to have the right of their own self-determination. Such irresponsible acts as I have outlined here will not help us obtain the friendship and co-operation of our world neighbors," Patterson asserted.

U. S. SAILORS WILL UNLOAD JAVA CARGO

Batavia, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—United States Navy seamen, impatient over Batavia dock delays and eager to get home for discharge, today volunteered to unload their own ship, which carried 3,500 tons of foodstuffs, purchased by the Dutch from the former American submarine base at Fremantle, Australia.

Even with the volunteers, the Navy cargo ship Prentiss, skippered by Commander C. P. Walker of North Oraton Parkway, East Orange, N. J., will be able to unload only fifty tons a day.

Annamite Band Wiped Out

Saigon, Indo-China, Dec. 11 (AP)—A British-French statement said today French troops had encircled and wiped out a band of 30 natives who were "endeavoring to evacuate Annamite hostages" from a southwestern area of Indo-China.

SIX JAPS WILL DIE FOR MILI ATROCITY

Marshall Island Officers Are Convicted of Decapitating Five U.S. Fliers in 1944.

KWAJALEIN, Marshall Islands, Dec. 11—(AP) A United States military commission today found six Japanese officers guilty of the decapitation of five American airmen on the island of Mili in February, 1944, and sentenced them to be hanged.

Two defendants were sentenced to life imprisonment for their part in the atrocity and two others given sentences of 20 years each in prison.

The time and place of the executions were not set as the cases first must be reviewed by a higher authority.

The Japanese showed no emotion as Commodore Ben H. Wyatt, commander of Kwajalein and president of the commission, read the verdict.

The Japanese were charged with rounding up the five airmen, whose bomber had crashed on Mili atoll, and beheading them in separate executions. The defense pleaded that the officers were carrying out orders from higher authority.

Among those sentenced to die are 54-year-old Col. Chisato Oishi, senior officer on Mili, who admitted he ordered the beheading of three of the fliers; Maj. Otokimi Nakao, 49, commander of an artillery battalion, who killed one of the youths on Oishi's orders; Maj. Choijro Takarada, infantry battalion commander and killer of another of the Americans; Navy Lt. Kyoshi Fueta who ordered the slaying of one of two airmen turned over to the Japanese navy for execution; Army Lt. Yahuo Moori who was one of the swordsmen at one of the slayings, and Navy Warrant Officer Tatanichi Manako, another executioner.

The names of the executed airmen never were made public.

Prince of Japan Surrenders as War Criminal

Marshal Nashimoto Gives Self Up 15 Hours Before MacArthur's Deadline

SPENCER

TOKYO, Dec. 12 (Wednesday). (AP).—Imperial Prince Morimasa Nashimoto surrendered at Sugamo prison today. He is the first person of court rank to be imprisoned as a war criminal suspect.

Two hours previously Lieutenant General Masaharu Homma was started for Manila for trial on charges of condoning the Bataan "death march."

With fifteen hours to go until the midnight deadline General Douglas MacArthur had set for his surrender, Nashimoto, veteran of the Russo-Japanese War, checked in at grim Sugamo on the outskirts of Tokyo. He was dressed in a Japanese Army overcoat and cap, and was accompanied by a representative of the Japanese central liaison office.

Attempts by the imperial household to gain a reprieve for the prince failed. MacArthur ruled that he must be treated the same as other war criminal suspects.

Nashimoto—who recently told The Associated Press, "I don't know why I am wanted . . . I am a field marshal without a command, without influence"—rose through various important posts in the army to become a full general in 1923. He became a field marshal in 1932. He had been a supreme war councilor and lord custodian of national shrines for many years.

Surrender At Intervals

Others among the 59 top-ranking men in various fields associated withwith war and militarism who came under the midnight deadline surrendered at intervals.

The included:

Admiral Soemu Toyoda, former commander in chief of the combined fleet and wartime naval strategist.

Retired Admiral Seizo Kobayashi, commander in chief of the fleet from 1931 to 1933, one-time governor of Formosa and wartime president of the Imperial Rule Assistance Association.

Inosuke Furno, English-speaking president of the defunct Domei news agency.

Kiyoshi Goko, president of the Mitsubishi heavy industries and Cabinet adviser.

Shingo Tsuda Mitsui industrialist and adviser to the Finance Ministry.

Iwakusu Ida member of the House of Representatives and director of the Imperial Rule Assistance Association.

Retired Colonel Junichiko Kobayashi, also director of I.R.R.A.

Retired Lieutenant General Takeo Kikuchi, one-time active nationalist educator.

Homma departed by plane for Manila where his successor in the Philippines command, Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, is under sentence of hanging for condoning atrocities by Japanese troops.

Homma was accompanied by Col. Akira Nagahama, commander in chief of the Kempeitai (thought police) in Manila from late 1942 until 1945, and Col. Saichi Ohta, commander of the Kempeitai in the Philippines in 1942. Both Nagahama and Ohta als oare accused of permitting their men to commit atrocities.

Homma's departure followed by a few hours an American annoucement that trial of 300 Japanese accused of mistreating prisoners of war will begin in Yokohama next Tuesday. Several hearings will be conducted concurrently under a speed-up schedule.

Discussed By Princes

These defendants will not include Japan's top war criminals, such as Hideki Tojo, the Premier who ordered the attack on Pearl Harbor. Dates for their trials have not been set.

Kyodo reported it learned from sources close to the imperial household ministry that Hirohito's status "in connection with the issue of war responsibility" is being discussed at length by imperial princes, the household ministry and the peers.

Even the question of the emperor system has come up for argument among peers. The news agency suggested there "may be some new developments in connection with all these important questions involving the Emperor and the imperial family" when the Cabinet submits its draft for a revised constitution, probably by the end of January.

The Japanese Diet has been so slow acting on reforms ordered by occupation authorities that Premier Baron Kijuro Shidehara began taking steps to extend the current extraordinary session.

Primary consideration was need for action on sweeping agrarian reforms, ordered by General MacArthur to eliminate Japan's feudal land-holding system.

A previously prepared land reform bill has been ignored by the House of Representatives. So has a new labor law, although two newborn unions have gone ahead and negotiated collective bargaining agreements. They involve the motion-picture industry and Japan's largest newspaper, Yomiuri Hochi.

In compliance with General MacArthur's orders the House of Representatives adopted an election law enfranchising JJapanese citizens and giving the vote to women. The House of Peers has yet to act.

Jap Atrocity Trials Will Begin Next Week

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—The first of 300 small-time Japanese charged with atrocities against Allied war prisoners will go on trial December 18 under a speeded-up schedule, it was announced today.

The announcement left undetermined, however, the date when wartime Premier Hideki Tojo—No. 1 on the Allied list of suspected war criminals—will face the Allied tribunal.

Lieut. Gen. C. P. Hall, acting United States 8th Army commander, said trials of Japanese accused of maltreating Allied war prisoners might be held concurrently after the first begins next Tuesday in Yokohama. Three courtrooms are available there and two more will be after January 1.

12 Defense Counsels

Defendants will be tried by military commissions of five to eight members, drawn from army and navy officers and civilians, each of which will include one lawyer member.

The suspects will be defended by twelve counsels, headed by Lieut. Col. James Dickinson, Jacksonville, Fla., and Major Harold H. Emmons, Jr., Detroit.

In the Diet today, Premier Baron Kijuro Shidehara told the House of Representatives the Government is taking steps to extend the current extraordinary session a General MacArthur's agrarian directive speeded consideration of the previously ignored land bill.

Length Not Specified

The Premier did not specify the length of the anticipated extension, but said he intended to insure time for enactment of a labor-union law which also had seemed foredoomed.

A House committee toiled all last night on the Government land reform measure to insure its early discussion in the plenary session. Diet members made no attempt to hide the fact that MacArthur's agrarian directive prompted their labors.

Jap Soldiers Criticized

Old-line political party members today scanned without comment a Communist party claim that 100,000 workers and thousands of farmers have joined organizations it sponsors. The Communists have been wooing the Socialist Democrats, who, Kyodo news agency said today, are wrangling on retention of the Emperor system. The Communists recently named most of the imperial household as war criminals.

Demobilized Japanese soldiers drew sharp looks today as Tokyo newspapers printed a story that some of their number bayoneted twenty Japanese children to death in the Philippines because they hampered an army retreat.

The papers said 29-year-old Mrs. Haru Tomohana, who lost four children, named a Captain Aoki as ordering the bayonet slaying of the youngsters who were accompanying their mothers, fleeing with soldiers into the mountains of Cebu in April and June of this year. Koyodo said Aoki is a prisoner in Mindanao, in the Philippines.

Five more war-criminal suspects surrendered today at Sugamo Prison. Included were two militarists, a propagandist, an industrialist and the head of the "Black Ocean," secret patriotic society. Three others asked postponement of their surrender—because of illness. The deadline is tomorrow.

Allied headquarters also acted today to limit the activities of 326 Japanese companies affiliated with the eighteen zaibatsu concerns (family owned fortunes) and other large holding companies pending the transfer of their holdings.

JAP BANZAI "DEAD" RETURNING ALIVE

DEC 12 1945

41,000 Listed As Victims Of Charges Astonish Families

HENNESSY

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—More than 41,000 Japanese soldiers whose names are enshrined among Nippon's heroic war dead are coming home to astonished families.

They were supposed to have given their lives gloriously for the Emperor in banzai charges. Their deaths had been officially announced by imperial headquarters.

Among them was a unit of 500 men that imperial headquarters "confirmed" gave their lives for the Emperor on Iwo Jima. The entire 500 returned alive.

Brother Had Taken Place

A soldier reported killed on Guam came home to find his name crossed off the official family record. His brother had assumed the title of head of the family and married the soldier's "widow."

The Japanese demobilization ministry is busy restoring these men to legal life. Members of the Diet are demanding a full explanation of how they were erroneously reported dead.

Newspapers bluntly blame imperial headquarters for its system of reporting every member of a unit scheduled for a final banzai death charge as dead in action. It was effective wartime propaganda.

Later reports from the Allies that some of the men had been taken prisoner were ignored. To announce them would have destroyed the propaganda value of the mass death charges.

Substitutes For "Ashes"

In cases where men were missing, the Japanese sense of honor caused their units to report them killed in action. Locks of hair or other items kept in readiness for just such a purpose were sent home as a substitute for the "dead hero's" ashes.

1945 -

The Nipponese sense of shame over being taken prisoner caused many soldiers to use assumed names when captured. These men, also listed as dead, are beginning to reappear, too.

Allied supreme headquarters said 41,000 prisoners whom the Japanese people consider dead are being well treated as prisoners in various Pacific areas. Others already have come home. The total does not include supposedly "heroic dead" who were taken prisoner after the nation surrendered.

American general headquarters reported the "dead" known to be prisoners include 19,806 in the South Pacific, 17,472 in the Central Pacific, 3,097 in India and Burma, 1,059 in China and 30 in the Aleutians.

Japan's Best Carrier Sunk By Yanks In First Fight

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—Japan's largest and newest aircraft carrier was torpedoed and sunk by a United States submarine in the Philippine Sea in 1944 in its first engagement.

The 40,000-ton Taisho, launched as Japan's answer to ever-increasing American air supremacy, exploded and sank six hours after it was punctured by a single torpedo on June 18, its senior staff officer disclosed today.

Another Carrier Also

Another carrier, the 30,000-ton Chokaku, also was sunk by an American submarine on the first day of that engagement.

Capt. Toshikazu Ohmae, the staff officer aboard the Taisho, told the story of its end in describing the first battle of the Philippine Sea—which Japanese officers consider one of the most decisive engagements in Pacific naval warfare.

The Taisho was flagship of the attacking force under Admiral Jisaburo Ozawa. The group was attempting to save Japanese surface ships after their air power was smashed off Saipan.

Fire Put Out

After it was hit, one of the carrier's compartments burst into flame but the fire was extinguished. The ship steamed northward beyond the range of American planes.

Suddenly, the Taisho exploded violently and disintegrated into flaming wreckage. It sank in a matter of seconds, and only a few of the crew survived. Ohmae said gasoline fumes loosed by the torpedo explosion had ignited.

The staff officer said that both he and Ozawa had been aboard but transferred to another vessel fifteen minutes before the explosion.

In Second Battle

Ozawa later appeared as commander of the task force which engaged Admiral Halsey's 3d Fleet at the northern end of the triangular second battle of the Philippine Sea. In that battle, the Japanese Navy was erased as an effective combat force.

Ohmae said, however, that the first battle of the Philippine Sea was the most decisive naval battle of the war.

"Japan lost its sea power in the Pacific after that and was unable to protect the homeland," he said.

Saipan Defense Revealed

The Japanese sent a powerful fleet, with air support, to blunt the American thrust at Saipan—a vital member of the Marianas group because its conquest would provide the United States its first mid-Pacific base within bombing range of the Japanese home islands.

Ohmae said the attacking force included six battleships, nine carriers, thirteen cruisers and about 30 destroyers plus auxiliaries.

Early on June 18 the carriers launched about 45 Zeros. It was planned for these to co-ordinate with between 200 and 300 land-based planes from adjacent islands.

Weather A Hindrance

Bad weather was one factor in preventing the teamwork by which the Japanese expected to cripple Admiral Raymond A. Spruance's 5th Fleet with an aerial attack and then bring heavy surface forces in for the "kill," Ohmae said.

But American planes smashed the air attack, downing about 35 Zeros. With his aerial spearhead broken, Ozawa ordered his distant surface ships to withdraw.

Japanese Workers Win Union Bargaining

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Japanese Motion Picture Producers Association signed Japan's first industry-wide collective bargaining agreement today and employés of Tokyo's leading newspaper likewise won a contract, with Allied help.

Employés of the film industry were reported organizing a trade union and were expected to demand a wage increase later.

A two-and-a-half-month dispute between Yomiuri Hochi, Tokyo's largest daily, and its employés ended an agreement worked out by an Allied-sponsored arbritration committee. American authorities said the newspaper union was the first labor organization to fight for and win the right to bargain collectively since the Allied occupation began.

SAYS MIKADO'S MEN SLEW JAP CHILDREN

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Demobilized Japanese soldiers drew sharp looks today as Tokyo newspapers printed a story that some of the number bayoneted twenty Japanese children to death in the Philippines because they hampered an Army retreat.

The papers said that 29-year-old Mrs. Haru Tomohana, who lost four children, named a Capt. Aoki as ordering the slaughter of the youngsters, who were accompanying their mothers, fleeing with the soldiers into the mountains of Cebu in April and June of this year. Kyodo said Aoki is a prisoner in Mindanao, in the Philippines.

Mrs. Tomohana declared that on the morning of April 16, 1945, Aoki summoned civilian women and told them: "Children under ten years old shall be disposed of tonight."

At midnight the sleeping youngsters were awakened by soldiers. "Then we mothers were all forced out of the tent at the point of bayonets," Mrs. Tomahana continued. "There were cries of 'Mama,' mingled with horrible screams."

Twelve children died that night, three of them Mrs. Tomohana's. She managed to save her eldest son.

In early June, Aoki ordered eight remaining children killed because of the food shortage. The women decided to flee but were caught.

"Right in front of our eyes, our children were mercilessly bayoneted to death. The bodies were thrown into a hole and covered with mud," she added.

6th Army Sends 11,500 Home In Week

Kyoto, Japan, Dec. 11 (AP)—The United States 6th Army has sent home more than 11,500 troops in the week ending yesterday and more are on the way, headquarters said today.

All enlisted personnel with 59 points have been ordered released and to report to the 11th Replacement Depot December 14. About 2,000 men are involved. Sixty and 61 pointers left for the depot today.

U.S. Will Support Filipino Claims

Manila, Dec. 11 (AP)—The United States will claim reparations from Japan in behalf of the Philippines.

Paul V. McNutt, United States High Commissioner to the islands, made that statement today after conferences with Edwin W. Pauley, American member of the Allied Reparations Commission; President Sergio Osmena and local American and Filipino business men.

"The Philippines need almost everything," Pauley told a news conference also attended by McNutt.

Approval Needed

He said the entire reparations program must be approved by President Truman and nations constituting the Far Eastern Advisory Commission and "possibly some others."

Pauley, who is surveying war damage, will leave for the United States by plane tonight. Other members of the mission will return to Japan to continue a study of that nation's war economy and industries. Pauley said most of the members planned to visit Manchuria, but thus far they have lacked Russian permission to enter the territory.

Level Desired

Pauley emphasized that the American reparations plan contemplated leaving in Japan "those things essential for a minimum peacetime economy" on a level no higher than that of any victim of Japanese aggression.

The best method of measuring the living standard in the Far East, Pauley said, is by a calorie count. He made it clear that the Japanese would not eat any better than a Korean, Filipino or Chinese, but that the United States hoped to aid all oriental countries.

OPPOSITION ADMITS DUTRA'S ELECTION

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 11—(AP) Opposition newspapers tonight tacitly conceded the election of Gen. Eurico Gaspar Dutra as president of Brazil.

With more than half of the unofficial returns in, Dutra, backed by former President Getulio Vargas, had polled more than 50 per cent. Dutra had 2,100,116 votes compared with 1,299,336 for Gen. Eduardo Gomez, National Democratic Union candidate; 440,783 for the Communist-supported Yedo Fiuza, and 5,508 for Mario Rollin Teiles, Agrarian candidate.

Political speculation centered on what move Dutra might make to establish a working majority in Congress — through a formal alliance with the Vargas-counselled Brazilian Labor party, or possibly through the larger anti-Vargas National Democratic Union.

Dutra's Social Democrat party appears headed for a sizeable majority in the federal senate, but indications are that it will fall far short of a majority in the chamber of deputies. This shortage might leave the Social Democrats without a majority when the two houses combine early in 1946 to draft a new constitution.

Col. Peron Disavows Political Street Fights

Buenos Aires, Dec. 11 (AP)—Presidential Candidate Col. Juan Perón tonight disavowed political street fighting which he said had been going on in his name.

Four persons were killed and 33 wounded last Saturday during a political rally of the anti-Perón Democratic Union. Leaders of the union, which is a coalition of Argentine political parties opposed to Perón have charged that followers of the former Vice President and Minister of War caused the disturbances.

Perón said in a statement that "for some time irresponsible persons shouting 'Death to the Jews, viva Perón!' have been spreading alarm and confusion in various civic activities which were being held normally."

"Those doing so," he stated, "are outside all Democratic standards and cannot be regular members of any Argentine political force."

4 SHOT IN ARGENTINA

Buenos Aires, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Four persons were wounded by gunfire yesterday outside a cemetery here during the burial of three victims of a shooting fray which broke out Saturday at a political demonstration. No incidents occurred while the fourth victim of Saturday's shootings was being buried in a Jewish cemetery.

Thirty-three other persons were wounded in addition to the four killed during the Saturday demonstration against former Vice-President Juan Peron, now campaigning for President. A crowd of approximately 200,000 persons was fired upon by unidentified assailants in a series of gun battles.

14 Air Victims to Be Cremated

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 11 (AP)—The bodies of the fourteen persons who were killed last week in the crash of a United States Army C-47 transport en route to Montevideo will be cremated at the scene of the accident in Corrientes Province in Argentina, it was announced tonight. A search party reported that it was impossible to bring out the bodies, which were badly burned. A gasoline drum was dropped by parachute for use in the cremation.

NEW YORKER ONLY GI TO ESCAPE AIR CRASH

HONOLULU, Dec. 11 (AP)—Sgt. C. E. Menzinger of Richmond Hill, Long Island, N. Y., was the lone survivor of a Liberator bomber which crashed into a reef off Oahu Island Thursday night, the Army disclosed today. His seven companions were killed.

Sergeant Menzinger, the plane's radio operator, is in an Army hospital in Honolulu recovering from injuries, shock and exhaustion.

The Army disclosed those killed in the crash were:

Capt. William V. Laslett Jr., pilot, of St. Joseph, Mo.; Second Lieut. Don E. Ussery, co-pilot, of Cardiff-by-the-Sea, Calif.; First Lieut. Robert Forbery, navigator, of Nokomis, Minn.; Sgt. Lawrence S. Council of Crawfordville, Fla.; M/Sgt. Harold D. Weede of Shawano, Wis.; Pfc. C. L. Corn of Hiawassee, Ga., and S/Sgt. Leon F. Larson of Alton, Ill.

Sergeant Menzinger was found lying exhausted on Keehi Beach early Friday morning. Apparently he had been thrown clear of the crash and managed to swim almost a mile to shore.

Sgt. Charles F. Menzinger, 24 years old, enlisted in the Army on Aug. 14, 1942, and on last Jan. 7 was married to Miss Shirley Smogrow, daughter of Frederick and Mrs. Frieda Smogrow of 94-23 107th Street, Richmond Hill, Queens. On April 1 he was sent to Guam.

The sergeant is a son of Samuel Menzinger of 33-20 201st Street, Bayside, Queens. He was graduated from the Bayside High School in 1939, and before entering the Army Air Force was employed by the Western Electric Company.

Cuba Cancels Order For Railway Seizure

Havana, Dec. 11 (AP)—Orders for Government seizure of the British-owned United Railways of Havana were canceled today after the management agreed to pay retroactive wage increases to 8,000 employés.

Seizure of Cuba's second largest passenger and freight line had been pending since November 17, when company officials declined to pay Government-decreed wage increases to 10 and 15 per cent retroactive to September 1.

Airliner Search Futile

Ponta Del Gada, Azores, Dec. 11 (AP)—A sea and air search based on a report that a large airliner had crashed into the sea off the Azores, near San Miguel, proved fruitless today. Pan American Airways officials said that none of their clippers was missing.

Intervention Proposal Decried

Mexico City, Dec. 11 (AP)—Mexico tonight disagreed with the Uruguayan Government's proposal for joint Latin-American intervention when the internal affairs of a country endangered others.

This view was expressed in a formal note sent by Foreign Secretary Francisco Castillo Najera to Uruguay's foreign minister, Eduardo Rodriguez Larreta.

Castillo Najera concluded that "the principle of nonintervention, which is one of the most precious achievements of inter-American cooperation, should not be weakened in any way."

30.24-32305

37th Division Returns

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11 (AP).—Major General Robert S. Beightler, the only National Guard general officer to command a division throughout its training and combat operations in World War II, led several thousand of his veteran 37th Division fighters home from the Philippines today aboard the transport William Mitchell.

The famed division, originally an Ohio National Guard outfit but now largely filled by replacements from all parts of the country, climaxed its gallant combat in the Pacific by taking 70,000 Japanese, including the notorious General Yamashita, in the northern Luzon clean-up.

"It was significant that not one American, Filipino or other Allied prisoner of war held by the Japanese was recovered from these captured Japanese," General Beightler commented. "They had disposed of them all. We know they had Allied prisoners, but they just murdered them. There is no question about it."

Yule Mail Sinks

Seattle, Dec. 11 (AP)—Barges carrying Christmas mail for 4,000 American troops on Shenya Island in the Aleutians sank in a storm November 10 and all but 83 of the 560 bags of mail were lost, the Seattle port of embarkation has been notified. The bags recovered were too badly damaged to be salvaged.

The port postal officer, Major S. A. MacLennan, has announced that new Christmas packages addressed to Shenya or to APO 729 will be accepted until December 23 and an effort will be made to fly them north to provide the men a happy Christmas.

GIV...OBERS

Code ...ication Said Jap... Fight U.S. ...ritain.

DOCUMENTS MISSING

Witness in First Inquiry Said Army Did Not Receive Copy of Message.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — (AP) A naval commander told the Army's Pearl Harbor inquiry that three days before the attack the Navy caught the coded Tokyo message: "War with England, war with America, peace with Russia."

Two copies of this, the controversial "winds execute" message, were sent to the War department, the naval officer related. But Army officers testified that there was no record of the War department's ever receiving them.

Goes in Record Today

This and other startling testimony in the Army inquiry board's report has hitherto been classified as "top secret." But the report is to be placed in the record of the congressional Pearl Harbor investigation tomorrow and Chairman Barkley (D.-Ky.) authorized its publication tonight.

more than sabotage." Short added that "when I reported action taken and there was no comment that my action was too little or too much, I was 100 per cent convinced they (the department) agreed with it."

That as late as Nov. 28, 1941, Short discounted the probability of an air attack on Pearl Harbor but conceded to the Army board that in this respect he "was wrong."

That the final warning General George C. Marshall sent on Dec. 7, which arrived after the Japanese struck, "was given to a boy for delivery on a bicycle. The boy was caught in the bombing and did not deliver the message until after the attack." The reason for this, Judge Advocate General Myron C. Cramer testified, was that army radio was not working, the Signal corps sent the message to San Francisco by Western Union and from there to Hawaii by RCA, and the teletype at Honolulu was not working.

Message Causes Controversy

The existence of the "winds execute" message has been a subject of considerable controversy. William D. Mitchell, counsel for the congressional investigating committee, was one who said he did not believe there was such a message.

Previous testimony had developed that Japan had hit on various weather conditions as code for its future action and advised its outposts to watch for the tipoff.

A Commander Safford, head of the Navy Communications Security division, testified before the Army inquiry that on Dec. 4, the "activating winds" message came in—intercepted by U. S. code crackers. It was deciphered "War with England, war with America, peace with gence said there is no record of the War department's ever receiving that message.

Neither the original nor copies "can now be found in the files of either the War or Navy department," Cramer observed in the report.

"The proof that it got to the White House seems to be that this was routine distribution," Cramer noted. "The same is true as to its getting to the Secretary of State."

Army File Missing

Other officers testified that File 7001 was missing from the War department but couldn't pin down whether the winds message was in that file.

Cramer concluded:

"There is no clear showing in the record as to what higher officers in the War department got either the original 'winds' message or the activating message, or got the brief message of Nov. 19 as to the single code word to be inserted in the intelligence broadcasts when diplomatic relations became dangerous."

DEC 12 1945

In a memorandum for Secretary Stimson dated Sept. 14, 1945, Cramer advised that he had looked over the affidavits and additional information collected by Lt. Col. Henry C. Clausen and found no reason to modify conclusions he had reported a year earlier.

"Colonel Clausen's subsequent investigation," he said, "fails to disclose any testimony that an activating or implementing 'winds' message, indicating breach of Japanese relations with either Great Britain, Russia or the United States was ever received by the War department."

Cramer said Col. Otis K. Sadtler, Signal corps, stated that he got word from Admiral Noyes on Dec. 5, 1941, that "the message is in" but did nothing to ascertain its wording.

Short told the three-general board, it was disclosed, that he ordered what he called a No. 1 alert—against sabotage only— because he didn't think an assault from the air likely.

Acted on Marshall Warning

He put that order into effect Nov. 28, the day after he received from Marshall a warning that "hostile actions" may come at any moment. Specifically he messaged:

"Department alerted to prevent sabotage. Liaison with Navy."

Neither the War department nor the chief of staff ever replied to that between Nov. 28 and Dec. 7. And Short testified to the Army board:

"Everything indicated to me that the War department did not believe there was going to be anything more than sabotage; and as I have explained, we had a very serious training proposition with the Air corps particularly, that if we went into alert No. 2 or 3 instead of No. 1 at the time, that we couldn't meet the requirements on the Philippines ferrying business.

"Also the fact that they told me to report the action taken unquestionably had an influence because when I reported action taken and there was no comment that my action was too little or too much I was a hundred per cent convinced that they agreed with it."

Navy Had Responsibility

Short testified that long range air reconnaissance wasn't his responsibility. A "definite agreement" for the Navy to handle that "was approved by the Navy as well as our chief of staff," he declared.

He said he was in close touch with the Navy, then commanded at Hawaii by Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, who also was deposed after the disaster.

Noting that Marshall ordered such reconnaissance by air as the commander deemed necessary, Short said:

"Whoever wrote that message was not familiar with the fact that the Navy had assumed the full responsibility for that long-distance reconnaissance."

Short insisted that "everything indicated to me that the War department did not believe that there was going to be anything more than sabotage." He said he was confirmed in this conclusion by the action of the War department in sending a flight of Flying Fortresses to Hawaii "without ammunition for defense. The planes arrived in this condition during the attack."

From all the messages he got from Washington, Short said, he did not think the situation demanded vigorous action on his part —"very definitely not, from the information I had."

The Army board accused the War department of failing to inform Short properly. Cramer, in an attached memorandum to Stimson, disagreed with this. Cramer contended Short had enough information and command directives to make it plain that war was imminent and his garrison might be a target.

Said Cramer:

"The War department possessed no confirmation definitely pointing to an attack on Pearl Harbor and no advance information as to the date of an attack anywhere. There was no substantial information in the War department which was not transmitted to Short.

"Short had enough information to indicate to any responsible commander that there was an outside threat against which he should make preparations."

Dispute Among Probers

An angry row broke out at the inquiry as Democrats protested that a former Republican party worker was suggesting questions to Republicans on the joint Senate-House investigating committee.

The man in question was sitting beside Senator Ferguson (R-Mich at the committee table. He became the center of sharp exchanges after Senator Lucas (D-Ill) angrily accused him of "prompting" the Republican Senator and of "chuckling" at Democratic Senators.

Ferguson identified him as Percy L. Graves, Jr., in the employ of Senator Brewster (R-Maine) who was absent.

Asked by Lucas if he had not been connected with the Republican National committee, Greaves said he was its research director last year.

Both Lucas and Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) wanted to know who was compensating Greaves but that question went unanswered.

Asked about that point by reporters later, Greaves said any statement would have to come from Brewster. The latter has been attending the funeral of his father in Maine.

(William Murphy, publicity director for the Republican committee, said Greaves left its employ last February.)

The flare-up came near the close of a session in which:

Gen. George C. Marshall, former chief of staff, volunteered a denial of rumors he said had come to his attention that he ordered destruction of a Japanese "winds" message signaling a break in relations with the United States in 1941. He declared he knew nothing of it.

Marshall and the 1941 chief of the army's intelligence division differed as to whether Marshall saw Dec. 6, 1941—the day before Pearl Harbor—an intercepted Japanese message which Ferguson contended made clear that Tokyo was setting a "zero" hour.

Marshall testified that to the best of his knowledge he did not see it that day. But Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, the intelligence chief, said he had "every reason to believe that General Marshall did receive the locked pouch on the afternoon of the 6th."

Carried in Locked Pouch

Intercepted and decoded Japanese messages were taken to top officers of the War department in a locked pouch. Those entitled to receive the messages had a key to the pouch and, under usual procedure, read the messages and returned them to the pouch which was then taken on to some one else.

Miles disputed, however, Ferguson's view that the message in question had major significance. From Tokyo to Japan's ambassadors here, it advised that a reply was being sent to the United States' note of Nov. 26, 1941, and that the ambassadors would be advised later of what time it should be delivered.

Next day, instructions came for delivery of the note at 1 p. m. which was simultaneous with the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Miles argued that the Dec. 6 "pilot message" could not be interpreted as meaning "a zero time" was being set for military action.

"Of itself, it did not mean that other action would be coordinated with it," he asserted.

Marshall, who was in his fifth day in the witness chair, was excused in mid-afternoon so that he could go to the White House for a conference with President Truman. The former chief of staff has accepted an assignment as a special presidential envoy to China.

He had volunteered the statement about the "winds" message.

"I had no knowledge of it whatsoever," Marshall told the investigating committee.

In bringing up the subject himself, the former chief of staff pulled into the open one of the rumored mysteries growing out of the disaster.

There have been whispered reports that a "winds" code message was intercepted before the Dec. 7, 1941 attack and that thus Washington knew a break was coming, but that the records of the interception had since disappeared from the files.

Heard Rumors

Marshall said Admiral H. K. Hewitt had told him about the rumors, including the version that he (Marshall) had the records destroyed.

Then he entered an emphatic denial of the story.

Whether or not there was such a Tokyo broadcast is one of the questions to which the committee has been seeking an answer. William D. Mitchell, committee counsel, said information from Tokyo is that there was not.

It is known from decoded Japanese messages that Tokyo advised its diplomatic officers on Nov. 19, 1941, that if United States-Japanese relations became endangered

Japanese War Order Picked Up by Navy 3 Days Before Raid

TOP SECRET DATA ON DEC. 7 ATTACK

The Army board also received testimony:

That Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, the Army commander at Pearl Harbor, interpreted warnings from Washington as indicating "that the War department did not believe there was going to be anything Russia," and given immediately to Admiral Noyes, chief of communications.

Two copies were sent to the War department, Safford said, and others to the State department and the White House.

Col. Gibson of military intelli-

it would broadcast the signal, "East winds, raining."

The question is whether such a broadcast ever was made. Marshall also told the committee:

The late President Roosevelt directed that warning messages sent to overseas commanders Nov. 27, 1941, should include the admonition that if hostilities could not be avoided Japan should be permitted the "first overt act." This in effect was an order not to shoot until the other fellow shot and Marshall said he was a little worried about how to transmit those instructions without "too rigidly restraining" defense action.

Information that the United States had broken Japan's codes before Pearl Harbor was kept from an Army Pearl Harbor investigating board on instructions from Marshall's deputy chief of staff and without his knowledge.

session explained "magic." It did not become part of the record, however.

Never Heard About "Winds"

Mashall said that about that time he heard a rumor he had ordered destroyed a magic message—the elusive "winds" message which Tokyo reportedly used to tip off its diplomats on the arrival of the state of war.

The general said: "It was found that there was no basis for that rumor" and moreover, he never heard of the "winds" message.

In earlier testimony, Marshall informed the committee that at the personal direction of President Roosevelt all War Department warnings sent to American commanders before Pearl Harbor contained instructions to wait for an overt act by Japan.

Marshall Says Aide Withheld Data

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall testified today that one of his subordinates, without his knowledge, ordered Japanese code-cracking secrets withheld from the Army Board that investigated the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Marshall told the joint congressional Pearl Harbor committee that the decision to do this was made by his deputy, Lieut. Gen. Joseph McNarney, now successor to Dwight D. Eisenhower as European commander.

This testimony was elicited by Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.).

Passed Word To Witnesses

McNarney, Marshall said, specifically told two staff officers, Brig. Gen. Russell A. Osmun and Col. Carter Clarke, to pass the word to witness that they were not to discuss the code-cracking, known as "magic."

Meanwhile, Marshall told the committee he subsequently learned that the Navy board of inquiry was introducing the "magic" messages, because "Secretary Knox had assured Admiral Kimmel (Pearl Harbor commander December 7, 1941) that they would be introduced."

At that point, Marshall went to the Army board and in a secret

"Dim Recollection"

Marshall said the President's directions were being followed when Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short was told "the United States desires that Japan commit the first overt act." Short was the army commander in Hawaii at the time of Pearl Harbor.

The former army chief of staff said he had a "dim recollection" that Mr. Roosevelt personally gave him those instructions. He said he was worried about how to transmit them without too rigidly restraining defense actions.

Ferguson earlier questioned Marshall about an alert the general had ordered in Hawaii on June 17, 1940.

At that time the Hawaii garrison was ordered on a full alert, with the request that Lieut. Gen. C. D. Herron, then commander there, acknowledge to Washington that the order had been carried out.

Ferguson noted that Marshall's November 27 (1941) message to Short, who succeeded Herron, told Short to take measures he deemed necessary and report what those measures were.

Queried On Procedure

"Isn't it the procedure that if a commander is told to take measures he deems necessary and report back and you are not satisfied with the measures he has taken, that you would advise him differently?" the Michigan Senator asked

"I would assume so," Marshall replied quietly.

"That's the correct army procedure?"

"Yes, sir; that's right," the General said.

Short has contended that when he reported he had placed into effect only an anti-sabotage alert and Washington gave him no further instructions he felt the measures he had taken were satisfactory.

Alert Orders Compared

Ferguson and another Republican committee member, Representative Keefe (Wis.), both have evinced interest in why the 1940 orders for a Hawaii alert were, they said, more specific than the November 27 (1941) "war warning" that went from Washington to Honolulu.

Ferguson took Marshall through a long list of intercepted Tokyo messages to Ambassador Nomura and Envoy Kurusu in Washington. He was striving to ascertain at what point the high command here thought war inevitable.

Marshall said he couldn't recall a specific point, but that "tension grew by the hour" as each message got more specific about the destruction of Japanese codes in the embassy here and elsewhere.

"Didn't that indicate that it meant war, not merely breaking off diplomatic relations?" Ferguson asked.

"In general, yes," Marshall said.

November 25 "Deadline"

The General was unable to specify the significance of one Japanese message fixing November 25 as the "deadline" for concluding the diplomatic negotiations which Nomura and Kurusu were carrying on with the United States.

He said that at that time the only thing that could be imagined was that this was the date of expiration of the anti-Comintern pact which Japan had with Germany and Italy, "but we didn't see anything significant in that."

"We did not determine the true significance," Marshall said tersely.

Marshall said in responses to a long series of Ferguson's questions that he was available throughout the night of December 6, 1941, if War Department officials charged with delivering intercepted Japanese messages had sought to reach him.

Vital Message December 7

The first thirteen parts of the fourteen-part reply which Japanese "peace" ambassadors presented to former Secretary of State Hull coincident with the attack on Pearl Harbor were intercepted in transmission on December 6.

The vital fourteenth part, plus a message telling the ambassadors to deliver the entire reply at 1 P.M., Washington time, plus another message telling Japanese consuls to destroy their codes, came in Sunday, December 7.

It was the fourteenth section which contained the definite information that Japan was breaking off negotiations with the State Department.

Marshall said he had not been informed of the interception of any of the Jap messages until Sunday morning, when he was told that Col. R. S. Bratton, charged with delivering the intercepts, had an important communication for him. Seventeen minutes later, Marshall said, he was in his War Department office reading all three messages.

"Pilot" Note

The former staff chief said he had not seen previously an intercepted message, translated December 6, in which Tokyo told its ambassadors that they would instruct them when to deliver the Japanese reply at the State Department.

Ferguson said this "pilot" message indicated that unusual steps were being taken by Tokyo to set a "zero time" for delivery of the reply. Marshall agreed.

Ferguson later reverted to all the Japanese intercepts of December 6 and Marshall's failure to get them the same day.

"Is there any way you can account for the fact that the message (file) was not delivered to your quarters?" Ferguson asked.

Marshall said there was not. He explained he was not out on the evening in question, and furthermore an orderly always was on hand to answer the phone and get in touch with him when he was away from home.

BYRNES TO LEAVE FOR RUSSIA TODAY

Will Seek Soviet Aid in Organizing Atomic Energy Commission.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — (AP) The United States will seek Russian support in organizing a special United Nations commission to handle atomic problems, Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed tonight on the eve of his departure for Moscow.

Byrnes also revealed at a news conference that he would renew his plan for writing the peace of Europe in a general peace conference for which preparations would be made through revived sessions of the inactive foreign ministers council at London.

Starts Trip Today

Byrnes will leave for Moscow tomorrow at 9 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, taking along six advisers and aides. His conferences with Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov and British Foreign Minister Bevin are scheduled to start Saturday.

Byrnes also told reporters that:

Britain is proposing to Russia coordinated withdrawal of their armies from Iran as soon as possible. The British reported this in a note saying that they would not try to get out by January 1, as Washington proposed, since Russia had declined to do so.

Byrnes has changed his mind about releasing the report of publisher Mark Ethridge of Louisville, Ky., on political conditions in Romania and Bulgaria. He is taking this report to Moscow and may use it with Molotov and Bevin.

Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard university who has worked with Byrnes on atomic energy problems, will be the secretary's adviser in Moscow on that subject.

On the atomic bomb problem, as he described it, Byrnes said the initial American purpose is to inform the Soviet government about the United Nations commission agreed upon by President Truman and Prime Ministers Attlee of Britain and Mackenzie King of Canada, and to learn the Russian view.

It is not planned at this time, Byrnes said, to go into scientific questions.

U. S. DRAFTS PLAN TO AID GERMANY IN RECOVERY TASK

Proposed Economic Policy Includes Financial Assistance by Allied Nations.

TWO-YEAR GOAL SET

Standard of Living to Be Controlled, Industry to Be Restricted.

DEC 12 1945

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. — (AP) The State department today announced a broad-scale economic policy for Germany which calls on the United States and other Allied powers to finance a program of German imports over the next two years.

Such aid will be necessary to "prevent disease and unrest" in the shattered nation, the department said. There was no estimate of the amount of money involved in the proposed financial aid, but it was believed the American share might run into hundreds of millions.

The policy statement forecasts great hardship in Germany this winter, but calls for starting a slow recovery in the spring. It is aimed at getting Germany back on its own feet economically and industrially in 1948.

Will Delay Reconstruction

This means what officials here called a "delayed process of reconstruction" in the Reich to give a head start on postwar recovery to the European neighbors that Germany once overran.

Under the American plan, the German standard of living in 1948 would not be allowed to exceed that of its European neighbors. But neither would the ex-enemy country be reduced, officials emphasized, "to a nation of foresters and goatherds." German industry would be sharply restricted to minimum peacetime needs at the outset.

Secretary of State Byrnes in an accompanying announcement said the policy declaration had been forwarded to United States occupation authorities in the American zone of western Germany and also to the governments of Russia, Britain and France, the other occupying powers. The four nations are supposed to work out by Feb. 2, 1946, their final program for the removal of industrial equipment from Germany as reparations.

The State department declaration is the first formal interpretation by any of the powers of the broad principles of German control agreed upon at the Potsdam conference last August. The announced objective was and is to disarm Germany industrially and leave her at least as weak as neighboring countries.

The immediate cause of the declaration was described at the State department as a list of six questions submitted by the War department for guidance on how these objectives were to be achieved and how much industrial and economic resources were to be left to the German people.

DEC 12 1945

Covers Three Years

The State department statement actually covered a three-year period—the two years of reparations or removals beginning next Feb. 2 and the succeeding 12 months, beginning Feb. 2, 1948. The latter period is supposed to mark the emergence of Germany as a weakened but self-sufficient European nation, able to begin balancing needed imports against exports and to work toward repayment of the financial assistance required from the Allied powers during the two-year reparations period.

The statement did not say whether the proposed financial aid would involve a report to Congress for funds. The U. S. Army has been using some of its funds to finance shipments of wheat into Germany, but after the control of Germany is placed in civilian hands the money presumably would have to come from some other agency.

The Byrnes statement said that this winter liberated Europe "must enjoy a higher priority than Germany" on food and supply shipments.

Byrnes set forth four American aims for Germany at this time:

1. To increase "to the greatest possible extent the export of coal from Germany" to liberated areas of Europe.

2. To organize this winter the machinery necessary to carry out the reparations and disarmament program laid down by the United States, Britain, and Russia at the Potsdam Big Three conference last summer.

3. To set up national German administrative agencies for finance, transport, communications, foreign trade and industry. (Creation of these agencies to date has been blocked by the French.)

4. To prevent "mass starvation in Germany" this winter and during the two-year period of reparations and disarmament but not to give the Germans a higher priority on supplies than the rest of Europe.

Refuses to Increase Diet

Byrnes declared that the basic German diet of 1,550 calories per day should prevent mass starva-

30.24-32307

Texts of Byrnes Statement and U. S. Policy on Reparations and Aid to Germany

DEC 12 1945

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The texts of a statement made today by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and of a State Department declaration on German reparations and peacetime economy:

The Department of State has formulated a statement of its economic policy toward Germany for the guidance of the United States occupying authorities and has transmitted that statement to the War Department and to the Governments of the other occupying powers. The fundamental policy was, of course, laid down at Potsdam. The purpose of this statement is to make clear the American conception of the meaning of the Potsdam Declaration as it

Three Stages Set Out

The Potsdam Declaration involves three stages in the return of Germany to normal economic conditions. The first covers the German economy from the surrender of the armed forces, last May, to at least the end of the present winter. In this interval our broad purposes are to ensure that our policy in Germany makes the maximum possible contribution to recovery in areas recently liberated from Germany and, positively, to set up a structure that will provide for the future recovery of Germany in conformity with the principles agreed at Potsdam.

Within these broad objectives four principal immediate aims are these:

First, to increase to the greatest possible extent the export of coal from Germany to liberated areas. The rate of economic recovery in Europe depends upon the coal supplies available over this winter; and it is our intention to maintain the policy of hastening the recovery of liberated areas, even at the cost of delaying recovery in Germany.

Second, to use the months before spring to set up and to set into motion, in conjunction with our allies, the machinery necessary to execute the reparations and disarmament programs laid down and agreed at Potsdam. A considerable part of the statement just issued is directed to making clear the technical basis on which we believe the reparations calculation should be made. This calculation, which requires definition of the initial post-war German economy, must be completed before Feb. 2, 1946.

Third, to set up German administrative agencies which would operate under close policy control of the occupying authorities in the fields of finance, transport, communications, foreign trade and industry. Such agencies, explicitly required by the terms of the Potsdam agreement, must operate if Germany is to be treated as an economic unit and if we are to move forward to German recovery and to the eventual termination of military occupation.

Fourth, to prevent mass starvation in Germany. Throughout Europe there are many areas where the level of diet is at or close to starvation. In terms of world supply and of food shipments from the United States, liberated areas must enjoy a higher priority than Germany throughout this first post-war winter. The United States policy, in collaboration with its allies, is to see that sufficient food is available in Germany to avoid mass starvation. At the moment the calory level for the normal German consumer has been established at 1,550 per day. This requires substantial imports of foodstuffs into Germany, especially of wheat; and for its own zones of Germany and Berlin the United States is now importing wheat to achieve this level. A large percentage of the German population has been eating more than 1,550 calories daily, either because they can supplement the ration from foodstuffs available in the countryside, or because their work justifies a ration level higher than that of the normal consumer, as in the case of coal miners. In the major cities, and especially Berlin, however, a food problem exists and is particularly severe during the winter months. Fifteen hundred and fifty calories is not sufficient to sustain in health a population over a long period of time, but as a basic level for the normal consumer it should prevent mass starvation in Germany this winter. If a higher level for the normal consumer is judged to be required and if it is justified by food standards in liberated areas, the ration level in Germany may be raised by agreement among the four occupying powers.

In short, this will be an exceedingly hard winter for Germany, although only slightly more difficult than for certain of the liberated areas. A softening of American policy toward the feeding of German civilians and toward the allocation of coal exports from Germany, while it would ease the difficult task of the four occupying authorities, could largely be at the expense of the liberated areas. We are, however, constructively preparing for the second stage in German economic policy, which should begin some time next spring.

Recovery Is Foreseen

In this second stage, it is envisaged that Germany will gradually recover. Simultaneously with the removal of plants under reparation, plants will be earmarked for retention; and as fuel and raw materials become available, German industry which is permitted to remain will be gradually reactivated and the broken transport system revived. Although coal exports from Germany will continue, the probable expansion in coal output should permit larger allocations in coal to the German economy, after the end of the winter. German industrial production will then increase and German exports should begin to approach a level where they can finance necessary imports, and gradually to repay the occupying forces for their outlays in the present emergency period.

The third stage of economic development will follow after the period of reparation removals, which under the terms of the Potsdam Declaration must be completed by Feb. 2, 1948. The resources left to Germany at that time will be available to promote improvement of the German standard of living to a level equal to that of the rest of Continental Europe other than the Soviet Union and the United Kingdom. Housing and transport will recover more rapidly than in the previous stages of economic development. In general, the German people will during this period recover control over their economy subject to such residual limitations as the occupying powers decide to impose. These limitations, which will be determined by agreement among the occupying powers, should, in the opinion of this Government, be designed primarily to prevent German rearmament and not to restrict or reduce the German standard of living.

In all these stages it must be borne in mind that the present occupying powers, as well as many other nations, have suffered severely from German aggression, have played a large role in the German defeat and have an enduring interest in the post-war settlement of Germany. The settlement agreed at Potsdam requires the shifting of boundaries in the East and the movement of several million Germans from other countries. That settlement also requires, in the interests of European rehabilitation and security, the removal from Germany of a large part of the industrial war-making capacity which never served the German civilian, but which, from 1933 on, served to prepare for war and to make war. In the words of the Potsdam Declaration:

"It is not the intention of the Allies to destroy or enslave the German people. It is the intention of the Allies that the German people be given the opportunity to prepare for the eventual reconstruction of their life on a democratic and peaceful basis. If their own efforts are steadily directed to this end, it will be possible for them in due course to take their place among the free and peaceful peoples of the world."

State Department Statement on Reparations Settlement and Peacetime Economy of Germany

(1) The determination of the amount and character of industrial capital equipment unnecessary for the German peacetime economy which is to be made by the Allied Control Council prior to Feb. 2, 1946, has the limited purposes of eliminating the existing German war potential and deciding the volume of available reparation from the three western zones of occupation.

(a) The task of the Allied Control Council is to eliminate German industrial capacity to produce finished arms, ammunition, implements of war, aircraft and sea-going ships, either by removing such capacity as reparation or by destroying it, and to effectuate a drastic reduction in the capacities of the metallurgical, machinery and chemical* industries. The present determination, however, is not designed to impose permanent limitations on the Germany economy. The volume of permitted industrial production of a peacetime character will be subject to constant review after Feb. 2, 1946; and final Allied decisions regarding restrictions to be maintained on German industrial capacity and production will not be made until the framing of the peace settlement with Germany

(b) While reparation removals will undoubtedly retard Germany's economic recovery, the United States intends, ultimately, in cooperation with its allies, to permit the German people under a peaceful democratic government of its own choice to develop their own resources and to work toward a higher standard of living subject only to such restrictions designed to prevent production of armaments as may be laid down in the peace settlement.

tion this winter, and rejected for the time being proposals for increasing it. Byron Price, special investigator for President Truman, reported recently that this is a starvation diet which should be raised to 2,000 calories.

Both the Byrnes statement and the declaration of American economic policy toward Germany declared frankly that the German people are now moving into an extremely hard winter.

But, Byrnes said, it will be in Germany "only slightly more difficult than for certain of the liberated areas" of Europe.

Byrnes divided German control by the Allies into three stages: (1) From the surrender last May to the present winter during which the four principal aims are to be carried out as fully as possible; (2) The period of reparations removal running in the main between the end of the winter and February, 1948, and (3) The final period of German rebuilding and recovery beginning in February, 1948, when the main Allied concern will be to see that Germany develops peacefully and without rearming.

It is during the two years of reparations removal, the statement on German economy said, "the United States and other occupying powers must finance minimum essential imports into Germany to the extent that (German) exports" do not cover the cost of such imports.

The economic statement declared that the need for Allied financing is not due to the reparations program but to the state of disorganization in which the German people find themselves, and to the declared policy of preventing disease and unrest.

General Standards Provided

For the first time, the economic statement laid down general standards by which American authorities in Germany may be guided in determining what industrial plants they may remove for reparations purposes or destroy. The statement came out against any plan "wantonly to destroy German structures and installations which can readily be used for permitted peacetime industrial activities or for temporary shelter."

It also declared that the United States does not seek "punitive destruction of capital equipment of value to the German peacetime economy."

Furthermore the United States does not want to "eliminate or weaken German industries of a peaceful character, in which Germany has produced effctively for world markets, for the purpose of protecting American markets from German goods, aiding American exports, or for any other selfish advantage."

Also, the statement declares, the United States is opposed to any other country—meaning Britain, Russia and France—taking "selfish" commercial advantage of Germany's predicament.

Within these definitions, the United States believes, according to the State Department declaration, that it will be necessary to destroy first, specialized armament, shipbuilding, aircraft and certain chemical installations which can not be removed as reparations.

Reparations Emphasized

Second, factories closely linked to the armament and other industries named may have to be destroyed when they might be subject to diversion to war purposes in the future.

In general the statement sets forth the principle that the Allies do not intend during the third German postwar stage to force a reduction in Germany's living standard except as that is required to meet her reparations payments.

The statement then refers to the Potsdam agreement that reparations withdrawals be related to a standard of living for Germany, and says the standard of living in 1948 should be made to equal theoretically the average standard for Europe in the eight years prior to the war—1930-38.

No Buffer State Planned Against Russia, War Department Aide Tells Senate Group

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Maj. Gen. John H. Hilldring, director of the Civil Affairs Division of the War Department, asserted emphatically today the Western nations had no thought of setting up a "buffer state" in Europe against Russia.

He made this reply to a question from Sen. Harley M. Kilgore of West Virginia, chairman of the military subcommittee investigating plans for demolishing Germany's war potential.

The "finest understanding" exists between the American and Russian occupation forces in Germany and a "great amount of accomplishment" has been marked up, General Hilldring declared. He asserted this was the best proof against any buffer state.

Mr. Kilgore's question was whether "Western nations" were planning such a buffer state. The reply mentioned only relations between the United States military government and Russia, but the general said to newsmen after he had left the stand that he meant to include the other Western powers.

The position of Germany in the present world picture must be looked at broadly against the whole background of recent history. For six years Germany has ruthlessly imposed war and destruction on Europe and the world. The Nazis who ruled there for more than a decade are now defeated, discredited and have been or are being rooted from positions of power. The final stages of war caused vast movements of Germans within their own country; and peace has permitted the return to their homes of millions of foreign laborers who had been enslaved in German mines and factories. The insistence of the Nazis on continuing the war to the bitter end caused enormous destruction to German cities, transport facilities and other capital of the country. These are the basic reasons for the present position of Germany, a position for which the Germans themselves are primarily responsible. German industrial production will for some time be low and her people ill fed even if there were no occupation and no reparations program.

DEC 12 1945

(2) It is in the interest of the United States to abide strictly by the terms of the Berlin Declaration which imposes a severe reparation obligation on Germany in order to:

(a) Weaken effectively the economic base from which war industry could be derived until a peaceful democratic Government is firmly established in Germany;

(b) Provide material assistance to United Nations countries which have suffered from Nazi aggression and which now face tasks of rehabilitation and reconstuction from the damage of war;

(c) Ensure that in the recovery from economic chaos left by war in Europe, the aggressor nation, Germany, shall not reconstitute a peacetime standard of living at an earlier date than the countries ravaged by German arms.

*"The phrases "machine industry" and "machine manufacturing industry" in the Berlin Declaration should be interpreted broadly. The parallel language from J.C.S. 1,067 covers machine-tool, automotive and radio and electrical industries. It is suggested that the phrases should be interpreted to cover "metal-working industry," or, in British terminology, heavy and light engineering. The words "chemical industry" should be interpreted to include particularly that part of the industry which is devoted, or can be readily converted, to war production, and to exclude to potash and salt industries which should be included with extractive industries.

Wanton Action Disavowed

(3) The security interest of the United States and its Allies requires the destruction in Germany of such industrial capital equipment as cannot be removed as reparation and as can only be used for the production of armaments or metallurgical, machinery or chemical products in excess of the peacetime needs of the German economy. It is not, however, the intention of the United States wantonly to destroy German structures and installations which can readily be used for permitted peacetime industrial activities or for temporary shelter. It will evidently be necessary to destroy specialized installations and structures used in shipbuilding, aircraft, armaments, explosives and certain chemicals which cannot be removed as reparation. Non-specialized installations and structures in the same fields may have to be destroyed in substantial part, if not desired as reparation, in cases of integrated industrial complexes the layout of which is such as substantially to facilitate reconversion from peacetime to war purposes at some later date. Finally, in removing equipment from plants declared available for reparation, no consideration should be given to withholding portions of the equipment desired by a reparation recipient in order to retain remaining installations and structures in more effective condition for peacetime uses. Within these limits, however, the reparation and security policies of the United States are not designed to result in punitive destruction of capital equipment of value to the German peacetime economy.

(4) For the purpose of determining the industrial capacity of the peacetime German economy, thus eliminating its war potential—the real basis on which the amount and character of reparation removals are to be calculated—it should be assumed that the geographical limits of Germany are those in conformity with provisions of the Berlin Declaration, i. e., those of the Altreich less the territory east of the Oder-Neisse line.

Guide to Removals Given

(5) The Berlin Declaration furnishes as a guide to removals of industrial equipment as reparation the concept of a balanced peacetime German economy capable of providing the German people with a standard of living not in excess of the European average (excluding the United Kingdom and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics). In the view of the Department of State, the Berlin Declaration is not intended to force a reduction in German living standards except as such reduction is required to enable Germany to meet her reparation payments. In effect, the Berlin Declaration merely provides that Germany's obligation to make reparation for the war damage which her aggression caused to other countries should not be reduced in order to enable Germany to maintain a standard of living above the European average. The Department of State further interprets the standard-of-living criterion to refer to the year immediately following the two-year period of reparation removals. For the purpose of meeting this requirement, German industrial capacity after reparation removals should be physically capable of producing a standard of living equivalent to the European average in, say, 1948. Given the difficult problems of administration and economic organization which the German peacetime economy will still face in 1948, it may be doubted that industrial equipment remaining in Germany at that time will in fact produce at full capacity, so that the standard of living realized in Germany is likely for some time to fall short of the European average.

Adjustment Provided For

(6) It may be assumed that the European standard of living in 1948 would approximate the average standard of living over the period 1930-38. If this assumption be adopted, the German standard of living chosen as a basis for estimating industrial capital equipment to remain in Germany could be arrived at by use of German consumption data in a year in which the German standard of living, as measured by national income indices, most closely approximated the 1930-38 average in Europe. The German consumption standard in the year selected should be subject to adjustments upward or downward to compensate for any over-all difference between the German standard in the year selected and the European average. Past consumption records defined as suggested above are meant only as a general guide. They would require the following further adjustments:

(a) Provision for change in population between year selected and 1948.

(b) Adjustment to allow for notable deviations in pattern of German consumption in selected year from normal pattern.

(c) Allowance to enable the German people to make good, at reasonable rates of reconstruction, the widespread damage to buildings in Germany and to the transport system as scaled down to meet the requirements of the German peacetime economy. It is suggested that sufficient additional resources beyond those required to provide the adjusted output of the selected year should be left to overcome the building shortage in twenty years to effect repairs to structures on rail and road transport systems over five years.

Outside Aid Discouraged

(d) Sufficient resources should be left to Germany to enable that country, after completion of industrial removals and reactivation of remaining resources, to exist without external assistance. This topic is more fully treated below.

(7) In planning the peacetime German economy, the interests of the United States are confined to the industrial disarmament of Germany and to the provision of a balanced economic position at the standard of living indicated. The United States does not seek to eliminate or weaken German industries of a peaceful character, in which Germany has produced effectively for world markets, for the purpose of protecting American markets from German goods, aiding American exports or for any other selfish advantage. Similarly the United States is opposed to the attempt of any other country to use the industrial disarmament plan of the Berlin Declaration to its own commercial ends at the expense of a peacetime German economy. It is our desire to see Germany's economy geared to a world system and not an autarchical system.

(8) In determining the volume of removals for reparation purposes, the United States should not approve removals on such a scale that Germany would be unable, owing to a shortage of capital equipment, to export goods in sufficient quantities to pay for essential imports. Thus capacity should be left to enable Germany to produce for export goods which yield enough foreign exchange to pay for the imports required for a standard of living equal to the average in Europe, excluding the United Kingdom and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. In this connection, the following points should be stressed:

(a) In determining the amount of capital equipment to be retained in Germany, provision need be made for capacity to produce exports sufficient to pay for estimated current imports. No allowance should be made in German export industry to provide capacity to pay for externally incurred occupation costs, including imports of goods consumed by forces of occupation, and troop pay not expended in Germany.

Clause Is Explained

(b) The provision in the Berlin Declaration which stipulates that in organizing the German economy "primary emphasis shall be given to the development of agricultural and peaceful domestic industries" requires that the maximum possible provision be made for exports from sources other than the metal, machinery and chemical industries.

(c) It is implicitly recognized in the Berlin Declaration that the policy of industrial capital equipment removals and the restriction of exports in the fields of metals, machinery and chemicals will require countries which have previously depended on Germany as a source of these products to obtain them elsewhere. Since capacity in the metal, machinery and chemical industries in excess of German peacetime needs is to be transferred to countries entitled to receive reparation from Germany, it is expected that the industrial capacity lost in Germany will after an interval be recovered in large part elsewhere in the world, and for the most part in Europe. But it should be borne in mind that the industry removed from Germany will in the main replace industry destroyed by the Germans and will not be sufficient to meet the pre-war demand. It should be emphasized, however, that any effort toward industrial recovery in Germany must not be permitted to retard reconstruction in European countries which have suffered from German aggression.

(d) In determining the amount of capacity required to strike an export-import balance, the United States and other occupying powers cannot in fact guarantee that the export-import balance will be achieved. Their responsibility is only to provide reasonable opportunity for the attainment of balance at the agreed minimum level of standard of living. In fixing the amount of industrial capacity necessary for export, the provision of margins of safety is unnecessary if Germany's export potential is estimated on a reasonable basis. It should be noted that if resources are left to enable Germany to make good her war damage and depreciation in housing and transport over certain numbers of years as suggested in Paragraph 5 (d), extension of the period in which such deficits are liquidated would in case of need make some additional capacity available for production of export goods.

Trade Need for Imports

(9) The necessity which devolves upon the United States and other occupying powers to finance imports into Germany and possibly to pay for such imports in the next few years does not arise in the first instance from the policy of reparation removals agreed upon at Potsdam. The German economy was brought virtually to a standstill by Germany's defeat, which produced an almost complete breakdown of transport, economic organization, administration and direction. If no removals of industrial capital equipment were attempted, Germany would still require United Nations' aid in financing and possibly in paying for minimum imports necessary to prevent disease and unrest. Even after substantial capital removals have been completed, it is doubtful that the German economy can operate for some time up to the limits of remaining industrial capacity, due to the limited availability of fuel, food, raw materials and the slow progress which can be made in filling the gap left by the Nazis in the economic and political organization of Germany. It is possible, and even likely, that the physical transport of reparation removals will limit transport capacity available for recovery of the German economy and for the expansion of exports. It is in this respect only, however, that the reparation policy laid down in the Berlin Declaration may require the United Nations to finance German imports for a longer period, or to pay for them in greater degree, than if no provision for reparation from Germany had been made.

(10) During the next two years the United States and other occupying powers must finance minimum essential imports into Germany to the extent that exports from stocks and current production do not suffice to cover the cost of such imports. Since the Berlin Declaration makes no provision with respect to the German standard of living in the period of occupation, the occupying powers are not obliged to provide imports sufficient for the attainment in Germany of a standard of living equal to the European average. The present standard of supply in Germany, so far as the United States is concerned, is still governed by the "disease and unrest" formula. Under the conditions set forth in Paragraph 9, it will prove desirable to extend the type and volume of imports into Germany not only because of our interest in avoiding disease and unrest endangering our occupying forces but also because of our interest in reactivating selected German export industries which would yield a volume of foreign exchange and as far as possible to repay the past outlays of the occupying powers on imports. If, when the time comes for the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany, there remains a backlog of unpaid imports, the occupying powers will have to decide whether or not to impose on Germany an obligation to pay off the accumulated deficit.

(11) For the immediate future, and certainly until next spring, military government authorities should concentrate on the repair of transport, emergency repair of housing and essential utilities and the maximization of coal and agricultural production. Some coal will of course be required in Germany to effect the minimum repairs of transport, housing and utilities called for in existing directives. As long as coal and raw materials remain in short supply in Europe, however, it is United States policy to make them available in maximum quantities for the revival of industrial output in liberated areas.

Activity Will Be Limited

The maximization of coal exports in accordance with existing directives will make it impossible to allocate within Germany coal sufficient to attain a significant volume of industrial production and over the coming winter it will limit activity even in fields directly related to repair of transport, housing and utilities and to agriculture.

If and when the coal crisis in Europe is surmounted—perhaps by next spring—it will be possible to review the situation and ascertain whether larger amounts of German coal can be allocated for essential industrial production in Germany, and in particular for the selective reactivation of German export industries. The possibilities in this direction will depend not only on the satisfaction of coal requirements in liberated areas, but also on the success of military government authorities in raising German coal output and restoring the German transport system.

Meanwhile, military government authorities should survey the fuel and raw material requirements of German industries capable of supplying essential civilian goods and of manufacturing for export so that as soon as coal and raw materials can be made available a program for selective reactivation of remaining industrial capacity in Germany can get under way. In formulating this program, attempt must be made to give priority to industries which in relation to expenditures of fuel and raw materials will contibute most toward striking an ultimate export-import balance in Germany, as well as to the satisfaction of the most pressing internal requirements of the German economy.

(12) The role of the occupying authorities in the process of German revival should, in general, be that of providing and setting the conditions within which the Germans themselves assume responsibility for the performance of the German economy. To this end, the occupying authorities should devote primary attention in planning revival to the development of German administrative machinery; not only in the fields of intrazonal production and trade but in interzonal and international trade and in the application of common policies in transport, agriculture, banking, currency, taxation etc.

As one aspect of this process, denazification should be satisfactorily completed during the present period. For the rest, great importance attaches to the conclusion within the Allied Control Council of agreements governing policies to be followed in various aspects of the German economy enumerated and devising interzonal German machinery for their application.

DEC 12 1945

30.24 - 32309

Nazi Tests Of Deadliest Gas On Camp Inmates Told

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Senators heard from a military government official today that Germany "developed the deadliest poison gas in the world" by testing it on concentration camp inmates.

The testimony came from Col. Bernard Bernstein, director of the Division of Cartels and External Assets, United States Military Government in Germany. He submitted a statement to a Senate Military subcommittee headed by Senator Kilgore (D., W.Va.).

How Secret Was Uncovered

Bernstein also offered what he said was a German denial of a Standard Oil Company of New Jersey contention that the United States benefited, rather than suffered, through Standard's prewar relations with the big German dye trust I. G. Farbenindustrie.

On the poison-gas matter, he said that many plants and all stocks of poison gas were destroyed by order of the German Government before occupation by the Russians. Bernstein continued:

"But at least one of the terrible secrets which the Germans hoped to save for the next war was uncovered.

"Our investigation has disclosed that an I. G. Farben official at Wuppertal-Elberfeld developed the deadliest poison gas in the world. This gas, unknown to the military authorities of the Allied nations, could have penetrated any gas mask in existence.

"I. G. Farben originally carried out its poison-gas experiments on monkeys; later on human beings. These gases were not only used on helpless people during the stages of experimentation, but were later used with full knowledge and acquiescence on the part of Farben to exterminate whole groups in concentration camps, such as Auschwitz."

Probe Of Cartels

The Senate hearing is directed at the question of cartels, or international agreements among companies as to the division of world markets and the exchange of technical information. In this connection, Bernstein said:

"In addition to its numerous foreign subsidiaries, I. G.'s world-wide affiliations included hundreds of separate non-German concerns and ranged over a score of industries.

"Its cartel agreements numbered over 2,000 and included agreements with such major industrial concerns as Standard Oil (New Jersey), the Aluminum Company of America, E. I. du Pont de Nemours, Ethyl Export Corporation, Imperial Chemical Industries (Great Britain), the Dow Chemical Company, Rohm and Haas, Etablissements Kuhlmann (France) and the Mitsui interests of Japan.

Standard Oil Defense

"In an article that appeared in the Petroleum Times for December 25, 143, Mr. R. T. Haslam, of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, defended Standard Oil's relationships with I. G. Farben.

"He stated that the 'secrets brought to America from Germany fifteen years ago by American scientists have been turned into mighty weapons against Germany.'"

Bernstein then cited a reply he said was prepared by "three of Farben's leading scientists" to the effect that Farben "gained technical information from America far more important to Germany's war effort than Standard Oil was able to obtain for the American war effort from Germany."

"Many Contributions"

Farben's reply, Bernstein said, described "many valuable contributions" which were received "as a consequence of our contracts with the Americans above and beyond the agreement which just now in the war are useful to us."

Specified were "iso-octane, toluol, oppanol, buna, tetraethyl lead, polymerization, dewaxing and deasphaltization of lubricating oils, and paraflow; and finally assistance in purchasing a large reserve stock of aviation gasoline and aviation lubricating oil, which I.G. obtained 'on the basis of its frendly relations with Standard Oil,' but acting in fact as 'trustee to the German Government.'"

SENATORS FINISH PROBE OF CHARGES MADE BY HURLEY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — (AP) The Senate Foreign Relations committee virtually ended its investigation of the Patrick J. Hurley case today.

Theoretically, the inquiry into charges by the fiery Oklahoman, former ambassador to China, still remains open. No vote was taken in the closed committee session.

Practically, members let it be known, there won't be any more hearings and there is little or no chance of action on a resolution by Senator Wherry (R.-Neb.) for a full investigation of the State department.

Hurley resigned two weeks ago today with a declaration that career diplomats, here and in Chungking, had tried to sabotage the policies he was instructed to carry out. These included bolstering the Chinese Nationalist government and effecting a rapprochement between Chiang Kai-shek and the Communists in northern China.

Hurley repeated his charges in an open hearing, naming John S. Service and George Atcheson, Jr. as two of the career men who attempted to undercut his policies.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Undersecretary Dean Acheson disputed Hurley's statements. The ex-ambassador said they cuold be substantiated by secret documents in the State department.

The department sent the documents up today so members could inspect them. They included a report from Service in October, 1944, and a telegram from Atcheson last February.

One committee member, who would not permit use of his name, said they didn't bring out anything new.

Senator Bridges (R.-N. H.) told reporters, however, he thought the documents "substantiated, in a general way" Hurley's charges.

On the other hand, Bridges said there was no disposition by any members of the committee to take any action which might embarrass Byrnes as he leaves for a conference with Russian and British foreign ministers in Moscow.

G-M OFFICIALS END PACT WITH LOCALS

New Break in Negotiations Comes as Union Authorizes Strike Fund.

DETROIT, Dec. 11.—(AP) The United Auto Workers (C.I.O.) announced tonight that General Motors corporation has "abrogated" all local agreements reached for admission of supervisory and non-production workers to strike-bound GM plants.

GM officials declined comment on the latest breach in negotiations between the U.A.W. and GM on issues that led to a walkout of 175,000 GM production workers 21 days ago.

DEC 12 1945

No Conference Today

George F. Addes, U.A.W. secretary-treasurer, revealed GM had set Thursday for the next negotiating session, but he said the company gave no reason for foregoing a Wednesday meeting.

Harry W. Anderson, GM vice president, asserted that today's negotiating session "in effect was devoted only to a discussion of picketing."

"We want to get this point cleared up before we begin discussions of the new contract," Anderson added. GM has maintained that the union has engaged in some "illegal picketing" since the strike hit GM plants in 20 states.

At one time, the company insisted the picketing issue would have to be settled before taking up the union's demands for a 30 per cent wage rate increase but subsequently it resumed discussions of the wage issue.

"We stand firm on our position that the economic demands for which GM workers have been forced to strike must be settled and cleared out of the way before other contractual matters are taken up," Addes asserted.

Two Leaders Ill

Addes, who led the union negotiators today in the absence of U. A.W. President R. J. Thomas and Vice President Walter Reuther, both of whom are ill, told newsmen:

"My first experience in the current bargaining negotiations confirmed in every respect the charges of Thomas and Reuther that GM is not negotiating in good faith and that it is arrogant and contemptuous of the public interest."

Addes disclosed that today "there was discussion of wages, the company's cancellation of the contract and the question of having office and supervisory personnel continue at work."

A union spokesman said GM's decision to call off the local agreements would affect three locals, which already had reached agreement with the company on admission of certain classifications of workers to the strike-bound plants.

Union officials indicated unofficially that they took a "serious view" of today's events, coming as they did after GM's Monday announcement that it was immediately terminating the union contract which was due to expire in April, 1946.

The U.A.W. earlier today called on its members to contribute at least $1 weekly to a special international strike fund, the drive to open Saturday.

"It is apparent from the 'take it or leave it' attitude of G.M. that the strike will be of lengthy duration," the union said, in announcing the fund-raising campaign.

In its last official report, issued before the present strike of 175,000 of its members, the UAW-CIO international placed the dues-paying membership at 975,000.

Peak Was 1,300,000

At one time during the war's peak employment the membership was listed at nearly 1,300,000.

The union, whose G.M. strike actually has made a total of 213,000 persons idle in corporation plants, made its appeal for funds as it resumed negotiations with General Motors and awaited a reply to its "company security" counteroffer to the Ford Motor Company.

Industry circles speculated whether an ultimate agreement with Ford over "company security" might be made a model for other company-union understandings. The Ford reply to the union proposal is expected tomorrow.

Penalties Suggested

Both the company and union proposed a financial penalty against wildcat strikes. The company suggested $5 a day for each strike participant, the money to come from the union. The union proposed a $3 to $5 fine as a wage deduction from each offender.

An unconfirmed report said Ford was prepared to eliminate the checkoff and closed-shop provisions of its present contract with the UAW-CIO if a satisfactory "company security" agreement were not reached.

The UAW-CIO's funds appeal to the membership went out through a letter to locals from George F. Addes, secretary-treasurer. The start of the drive was set for Saturday, named in Addes's letter as "I gave to win day."

Lengthy Strike Foreseen

"It is apparent from the 'take-it-or-leave-it' attitude taken by General Motors that the strike will be of lengthy duration," Addes's letter said. "We must take adequate measures to see that those in the front lines have the necessities of life."

Before the strike began Addes said that union would have $4,000,000 to support the walkout. This would be comprised of $2,000,000 in the international's treasury and $2,000,000 from locals' treasuries, he said.

No estimate was placed on the total expected from the new drive, union officials said, since contributions will be voluntary and sources other than locals may donate.

Frank Winn, UAW public-relations man, said the staff of the union's G.M. department, including Vice President Walter P. Reuther and seventeen others, would donate their "take-home" pay (salaries after deductions) to the drive. Winn estimated this to total $1,500 every two weeks.

Ford Reacting Favorably To Union Security Offer

Way Is Paved to Begin the Conference Tomorrow on Wage Question— G. M. Cancels Contract.

DEC 12 1945

Detroit, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—A union plan for curbing wildcat strikes and slow-downs paved the way today for wage talks with the Ford Motor Company, only member of the automotive Big Three still under union contract.

DEC 12 1945

The Ford company's favorable reaction to the proposal also raised the possibility that some similar method might be used in solving other car industry labor deadlocks, such as the strike idling 213,000 General Motors employees.

Countering a management demand for company security, the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers offered to subject instigators of unauthorized work stoppages in Ford plants to discharge and participants in such action to fines.

An authorized interruption of work was described as one resulting from a dispute which could be settled by the impartial umpire or, if not in this category, as issue not approved by the international union.

Would Fine Workers.

Any employee ordered discharged by the umpire could demand an investigation by the local union and, on proving his innocence, could have a grievance processed. If a settlement then could not be reached the dispute would go back to the umpire for decision.

The fines—$3 a day for the first offense and $5 for the second—would be deducted from the worker's pay and donated to the President's Infantile Paralysis Fund.

The company would agree not to permit any lockouts and could impose "appropriate financial penalties" upon any of its representatives it finds guilty of provoking a strike, such money going to the union's welfare fund. The umpire, at the union's request, also would have the right to review such penalties and revise them or discharge the company representatives.

John S. Bugas, director of Ford industrial relations, said he was "encouraged to see that the union has given some consideration" to the company's demand for security.

Bugas repeated that the Ford plan to assess the union $5 a day for each member taking part in an unauthorized work interruption would accomplish our objective and withheld comment on the union proposal "until we have had opportunity to study it."

The Detroit News quoted "a Ford official" as saying that the company would eliminate the check-off and closed shop from the pending contract unless it was satisfied with the union's company-security proposal.

"The union will just have to collect its own dues unless company negotiators become convinced that the union plan will cut down production losses," the official was quoted as saying.

Earlier Dugas had said "our position is clear. Continuation of this union security depends upon the union in turn tangibly guaranteeing company security."

Will Discuss Wages.

Richard T. Leonard, U. A. W.-C. I. O. Ford director, said the company had agreed to discuss the union's 30 per cent wage increase demand at the next negotiating session tomorrow. The wage issue previously had not been brought up pending settlement of the company security dispute.

As the Ford-U. A. W. relations apparently improved, General Motors announced termination of its contract with the union more than four months in advance of its April 28, 1946, expiration date.

But in a vein similar to the Ford demand, C. E. Wilson, G. M. president, said that in any new agreement which may be worked out the corporation will insist on provisions requiring union responsibility and assurance of uninterrupted production.

Wilson said that the canceled agreement, which dated back to the sit-down strike days of 1937, obviously had failed to achieve its purposes.

Observers pointed out that the action would have little effect on settlement of the twenty-one-day-old G. M. strike.

R. J. Thomas, U. A. W.-C. I. O. president, called the cancellation "another high-handed effort by management to evade the central issue in dispute—a 30 per cent wage increase." The result, Thomas said, "will be to stiffen even further the determination of G. M. workers that their strike shall be won."

He also took issue with a corporation interpretation that the contract could be terminated any time between the tenth day after a strike occurs and the day of its settlement.

A change in national wage stabilization policy last August 19, Thomas said, permitted the union to reopen wage negotiations without abrogating the rest of the contract.

The action came as first returns indicated local G. M. unions would turn down President Truman's appeal for an immediate resumption of work.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach told the Detroit Lawyers Guild last night that prolonged industrial strife would "dangerously imperil our reconversion to peacetime production." He pleaded for "more of the family spirit within industry" and reaffirmed his belief that only through collective bargaining can such a spirit be attained.

700,000 CIO WORKERS READY TO QUIT UNLESS ACTION IS FORESTALLED

Slated Walkout Would Be Largest In U.S. History

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11 (AP) — The CIO-United Steelworkers, rejecting President Truman's appeal to continue at work, today set January 14 for the beginning of a general strike in the nation's steel mills.

Unless it is forestalled, the strike will be the largest in the history of American industry, affecting an estimated 700,000 workers at basic steel mills and in the allied aluminum and iron-ore industries.

At issue is the steelworkers' demand for a $2-a-day pay increase; which was turned down by the steel companies on the ground that wages could not be raised without commensurate increases in the price of steel products.

Follows Strike Poll

The action, by the union's 175-man policy committee, follows upon a strike poll conducted by the National Labor Relations Board under the terms of the Smith-Connally War Disputes Act. The vote showed more than 400,000 favoring a strike and 83,000 against.

In the resolution calling the strike, the union declared:

"It has been 90 days since the union initiated collective bargaining with the steel corporations on this wage issue. The steelworkers have exercised meticulous patience. They have experienced a thorough cooling-off period. They are now confronted with the industry's challenge to the very existence of the union and the right of the steelworkers to earn a wage which will assure a decent standard of living.

"Sought To Avoid Strike"

"The membership of the United Steelworkers of America have bent every effort to avoid taking strike action. They have endeavored at all costs to accomplish a peaceful settlement of this all-important issue.

"The steel industry, because of its determined arrogance and adamant refusal to meet its public obligation, must stand condemned as being solely responsible for the present impasse.

"Over 400,000 workers throughout the nation, in a secret ballot, have given their mandate — to strike in self-protection.

"This is the solemn judgment—after careful consideration—of the steelworkers, aluminum workers, and iron-ore miners, under the jurisdiction of this union.

January 14 Set

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, That in accordance with the mandate of these workers, the strike shall commence on January 14, 1946, at 12.01 A.M."

In another resolution, the policy committee said it condemned President Truman's proposed labor legislation for ending strikes. It said:

"We condemn President Truman's proposed legislation as viciously anti-labor and an attack upon our basic democratic liberties. . . ."

The resolution added that a fact-finding board, as proposed by the President, was "unnecessary" because "the clear-cut facts" in the dispute "are in the possession of the Government."

Calls It False Trial

This proposal, said the union, was "a false trail of fruitless delays which can only serve to undermine labor."

Referring to Mr. Truman's plan to make a strike illegal during a 30-day fact-finding period, the resolution said:

"The United Steelworkers of America is firmly and unalterably opposed to any legislation which makes strikes unlawful even though for a limited time and penalizes strikers through criminal prosecution. Compulsion to work—regardless for how brief a period—is but the first step toward industrial serfdom."

Other Votes To Come

While the union claims a membership of nearly 1,000,000, only about 650,000 at some 700-odd mills and plants were affected by the strike vote taken on November 28. Approximately 50,000 more at scattered plants are to vote before December 21. Nearly 200,000 other members were claimed to be in the armed service in the union's last audit report issued in June.

Steel companies made no comment on the union's action.

One major steel-producing company unaffected by the strike call is the Weirton Steel Company, operated by E. T. Weir's National Steel Corporation. An independent union functions at Weirton plants, employing about 12,000.

In the resolution calling a strike, the policy committee charged that the industry is "embarked upon a campaign to renew the 'union wrecking plan' of the 1920's which effectively destroyed the newly developed labor union organizations of that era."

Refusal Cited

The steelworkers asserted:

"The Inland Steel Company, in connection with its iron ore mines, has disclosed the real design of the steel industry. That company now refuses to comply with a collective-bargaining agreement negotiated and consummated for the iron ore mines. . . .

"The reason given is that the War Labor Board is going out of existence and there is no need for the corporation to comply with its solemn contractual obligations. Many other steel companies have already threatened the union that if the steelworkers exercise their legal right and strike—the collective bargaining agreements will be canceled. . . ."

In the resolution dealing with Mr. Truman's labor legislation, the committee said:

"Wage Freeze" Assailed

"The industry . . . has revealed its true present design to destroy the union and thereby freeze the wages of the steelworkers for ever-increasing extortionate profits.

"The Government instead of seeking the imposition of restraints to be imposed upon the steelworkers should address itself to the steel industry. It is the steel industry which has openly and flagrantly ignored its responsibility to the workers and to the public.

"It is the steel industry which has ignored President Truman's public statement that there is a national need for general wage increases to avoid deflation.

Terms Arrogant

"It is the steel industry which has arrogantly refused the requests of the Secretary of Labor to resume collective bargaining with the union."

Official figures in the steelworkers strike vote were announced by the NLRB at Washington tonight as 411,401 for a strike and 83,859 opposed. Total ballots cast were 500,434.

In New York, a spokesman for the United States Steel Corporation declined comment.

20,000 Steel Workers Will Go Out On Call

Twenty thousand steel workers in the Baltimore area "will undoubtedly" go out on strike if the CIO-United Steel Workers' national policy committee calls a work stoppage, CIO officials here declared last night.

Yesterday in Pittsburgh the CIO wage-policy committee adopted a resolution calling for a steel strike January 14 at 12.01 A.M.

The spokesmen declined to be identified since Albert Atallah, official spokesman for Region 8, which includes Baltimore, Maryland and parts of West Virginia and Virginia, is attending a CIO meeting in Pittsburgh.

TRUMAN LABOR BILL CONDEMNED BY UNION

DEC 12 1945

Fact-finding Board Is Called Unnecessary—Resolution Charges Steel Industry's War Profits Are Fantastic.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—The C. I. O.-United Steel Workers, claiming a membership of nearly 1,000,000 workers, today set January 14 at 12:01 A. M. as the time for the beginning of a general strike in the nation's steel mills.

The action was taken by the union's 175-man wage policy committee representing locals throughout the country at a closed session presided over by C. I. O. President Philip Murray, who is also head of the steel union.

The resolution adopted by the policy committee said:

"Over 400,000 workers throughout the nation, in a secret ballot, have given their mandate—to strike in self protection.

"This is the solemn judgment—after careful consideration—of the steel workers, aluminum workers and iron ore miners, under the jurisdiction of this union."

In a separate resolution, the committee said:

"We condemn President Truman's proposel legislation as viciously anti-labor and an attack on our basic democratic liberties.

"A fact-finding board for the steel industry is unnecessary. Any such proposal is but a false trail of fruitless delays which can only serve to undermine labor."

A union spokesman said that was the union's reply to the request of President Truman for continuance of work pending his appointment of a fact-finding board to settle the dispute.

Text of Wage Resolution.

The text of the statement of policy adopted by the wage policy committee follows:

"On September 11, 1945, this international wage policy committee formulated its demand for a wage increase of $2 per day and the union immediately requested collective bargaining conferences with the steel companies. This demand represented but a partial restoration of the wage cut the steel workers have received as a result of loss in working time and downgrading.

"The sharp slashing of the pay of American wage earners spells economic disaster for the American nation. We seek a wage increase to assure adequate earnings with which to provide for our families, to raise our purchasing power and that of the rest of the country—so that the national economy will have enough consuming power to keep the wheels of industry going.

"Failure to accomplish this objective will inevitably bring the tragic human despair and misery which followed the economic debacle of 1929.

"The request of the United minutes—practically no counter-presented to the many steel corporations, was met with an abrupt 'No.' Collective bargaining was not engaged in. The answer of the corporations was uniformly given within a few minutes—practically no counter offer has ever been made—simply an arrogant and provocative 'No.'

"The Secretary of Labor, on November 3, addressed communications to the union and to the United States Steel Corporation to resume collective bargaining with the assistance of a mediator to be appointed by the Government. The union accepted. The corporation repeated its adamant 'No.'

"The Secretary of Labor, on November 9, renewed his request to the United States Steel Corporation. The answer was the same cold 'No.'

Fantastic Profits Alleged.

"The sheer arrogance of the steel corporations is best revealed by the record of fantastic profits extracted during the war. The financial ability of the industry to meet this wage increase has been completely demonstrated. The following facts have not been refuted:

"(A) The profits of the steel industry, before taxes and during the five war years, 1940-1944, rose 276 per cent over the peacetime level of 1935-1939—from $933 million to over $3½ billion.

"(B) Profits, after taxes, rose 113 per cent—during the war period—from $576 million to $1,000,225,000.

30.24 - 32311

"(C) Open profits acknowledged in 1944 were $190,366,000. Concealed profits in 1944 were $271,165,000. This is a total profit in 1944 of $407,421,000 after the payment of all taxes. The peacetime average for the industry was $115 million.

"(d) Tax refunds from the United States Treasury, amounting to $149 million, or 29 per cent more than peacetime profits, can be collected by the steel industry in 1946—if it breaks even.

"(e) The steel industry can thus meet the union's request for a $2 a day wage increase and in 1946 still earn over $400 million in net profits after taxes—or three and a half times its peacetime average.

"The Inland Steel Company, in connection with its iron ore mines, has disclosed the real design of the steel industry. That company now refuses to comply with a collective bargaining agreement negotiated and consummated for the iron ore mines and which included maintenance of membership and checkoff. The reason given is that the War Labor Board is going out of existence and there is no need for the corporation to comply with its solemn contractual obligations. Many other steel companies have already threatened the union that if the steel workers exercise their legal right and strike—the collective bargaining agreements will be canceled.

Sees Plan to Wreck Union.

"The steel industry is thus embarked upon a campaign to renew the 'union wrecking plan' of the 1920's which effectively destroyed the newly developed labor union organizations of that era.

"It has been ninety days since the union initiated collective bargaining with the steel corporations on this wage issue. The steel workers have exercised meticulous patience. They have experienced a thorough cooling off period. They are now confronted with the industry's challenge to the very existence of the union and the right of the steel workers to earn a wage which will assure a decent standard of living.

"The membership of the United Steelworkers of America have bent every effort to avoid taking strike action. They have endeavored at all costs to accomplish a peaceful settlement of this all-important issue.

"The steel industry, because of its determined arrogance and adamant refusal to meet its public obligation, must stand condemned as being solely responsible for the present impasse.

"Over 400,000 workers throughout the nation, in a secret ballot, have given their mandate—to strike in self-protection. This is the solemn judgment—after careful consideration—of the steel workers, aluminum workers and iron ore miners under the jurisdiction of this union.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that in accordance with the mandate of these workers, the strike shall commence on January 14, 1946, at 12:01 A. M."

Truman Policy Called Serfdom.

In its separate resolution on Mr. Truman's legislative proposals, the wage policy committee said:

"The United Steelworkers of America is firmly and unalterably opposed to any legislation which makes strikes unlawful, even though for a limited time, and penalizes strikers through criminal prosecution. Compulsion to work—regardless for how brief a period—is but the first step toward industrial serfdom.

"We therefore condemn President Truman's proposed legislation as viciously anti-labor and an attack upon our basic democratic liberties.

"The Government instead of seeking the imposition of restraints to be imposed upon the steel workers should address itself to the steel industry. It is the steel industry which has openly and flagrantly ignored its responsibility to the workers and to the public. It is the steel industry which has ignored President Truman's public statement that there is a national need for general wage increases to avoid deflation. It is the steel industry which has arogantly refused the requests of the Secretary of Labor to resume collective bargaining with the union.

"The Government, therefore, has a clear-cut obligation—make public the facts which it already has and consistent with its public pronouncements—address itself to the steel corporations rather tha nseek measures to repress labor."

Data On Strike

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11 (AP)—Facts about the threatened steel strike:

The Issue—A $2-a-day increase in pay for an eight-hour work day.

Present Wages—For common labor, the base pay is $6.24 a day. For the average steelworker it is estimated at $8.96 a day.

Workers—Union estimates place the number of members in the steel, aluminum and iron ore industries who would be made idle above 700,000.

Plants—766 companies from coast to coast.

Number of States with Producing steel plants—27, including Maryland.

Steel Union's Policy Views

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11 (AP)—The text of the statement of policy adopted by the International Wage Policy Committee of the CIO-United Steel Workers today was as follows:

On Sept. 11, 1945, this international wage policy committee formulated its demand for a wage increase of $2 per day and the union immediately requested collective bargaining conferences with the steel companies. This demand represented but a partial restoration of the wage cut the steelworkers have received as a result of loss in working time and downgrading.

The sharp slashing of the pay of American wage-earners spells economic disaster for the American nation. We seek a wage increase to assure adequate earnings with which to provide for our families, to raise our purchasing power and that of the rest of the country—so that the national economy will have enough consuming power to keep the wheels of industry going.

Failure to accomplish this objective will inevitably bring the tragic despair and misery which followed the economic débâcle of 1929.

The request of the United Steelworkers of America, when presented to the many steel corporations, was met with an abrupt "No." Collective bargaining was not engaged in. The answer of the corporations was uniformly given within a few minutes—practically no counter offer has ever been made—simply an arrogant and provocative "No."

Stand on Mediation

The Secretary of Labor, on Nov. 3, addressed communications to the union and to the United States Steel Corporation to resume collective bargaining with the assistance of a mediator to be appointed by the Government. The union accepted. The corporation repeated its adamant "No."

The Secretary of Labor, on Nov. 9, renewed his request to the United States Steel Corporation. The answer was the same cold "No."

The sheer arrogance of the steel corporations is best revealed by the record of fantastic profits extracted during the war.

The financial ability of the industry to meet this wage increase has been completely demonstrated. The following facts have not been refuted:

(A) The profits of the steel industry, before taxes and during the five war years, 1940-1944, rose 276 per cent over the peacetime level of 1935-1939—from $933,000,000 to over $3,500,000,000.

(B) Profits, after taxes, rose 113 per cent—during the war period—from $576,000,000 to $1,000,225,000.

(C) Open profits acknowledged in 1944 were $190,366,000. Concealed profits in 1944 were $271,165,000. This is a total profit in 1944 of $407,531,000 after the payment of all taxes. The peacetime average for the industry was $115,000,000.

(D) Tax refunds from the United States Treasury, amounting to $149,000,000, or 29 per cent more than peacetime profits, can be collected by the steel industry in 1946—if it breaks even.

(E) The steel industry can thus meet the union's request for a $2 a day wage increase and in 1946 still earn over $400,000,000 in net profits after taxes—or 3½ times its peacetime average.

The Inland Steel Company, in connection with its iron ore mines, has disclosed the real design of the steel industry. That company now refuses to comply with a collective bargaining agreement negotiated and consummated for the iron ore mines and which included maintenance of membership and check-off. The reason given is that the War Labor Board is going out of existence and there is no need for the corporation to comply with its solemn contractual obligations. Many other steel companies have already threatened the union that if the steel workers exercise their legal right and strike—the collective bargaining agreements will be canceled.

Fight in 1920's Recalled

The steel industry is thus embarked upon a campaign to renew the "union-wrecking plan" of the Nineteen Twenties which effectively destroyed the newly developed labor union organizations of that era.

It has been ninety days since the union initiated collective bargaining with the steel corporations on this wage iss.. The steel workers have exercised meticulous patience. They have experienced a thorough cooling off period. They are now confronted with the industry's challenge to the very existence of the union and the right of the steel workers to earn a wage which will assure a decent standard of living.

The membership of the United Steel Workers of America have bent every effort to avoid taking strike action. They have endeavored at all costs to accomplish a peaceful settlement of this all-important issue.

The steel industry, because of its determined arrogance and adamant refusal to meet its public obligation, must stand condemned as being solely responsible for the present impasse.

Over 400,000 workers throughout the nation, in a secret ballot, have given their mandate—to strike in self-protection.

This is the solemn judgment—after careful consideration—of the steel workers, aluminum workers and iron ore miners, under the jurisdiction of this union.

Now, therefore, be it resolved, that in accordance with the mandate of these workers, the strike shall commence on Jan. 14, 1946, at 12:01 A. M.

Effort To Speed Truman Labor Bill Beaten

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP) — The House Military Committee refused today to approve the Administration's strike-prevention bill as an amendment to pending legislation repealing the War Labor Disputes Act.

The action was taken in executive session by a vote members reported as 10 to 8.

The Administration bill would set up fact-finding boards to handle major labor disputes and provide for prohibiting strikes during a 30-day period while the boards work.

Bill Must Take Normal Course

Unless the Military Committee reverses itself the Administration-supported bill, now the subject of hearings by the House Labor Committee, will continue in that normal course. Special procedure approved by the Rules Committee prohibits consideration of any amendments not offered by the military group.

A test vote on the pending legislation was shaping up in the House today.

May Upset Rule

Several lawmakers said the outcome would show what is in store for other pending measures designed to curb industrial strife.

The bill before the House is one by the Military Committee to restrict the political activities of unions and penalize them for violating no-strike contracts.

House leaders announced, however, that today's vote would concern only the rules that shall prevail during consideration of the measure. Chief among these is one that would ban any amendment unless it had been approved by the Military Committee.

Labor Backers' Hope

Labor supporters said they would try to defeat this resolution, thus preventing consideration of the bill itself until it has gone back to the Rules Committee for further action.

If they have the strength to kill the resolution, these members said, they will be able to steer the course of other labor legislation from now on.

Backers of the resolution expressed the belief, however, that they could pass it and then could call up the bill itself "when we desire."

The Timing

Chairman May said this timing "depends on how fast the Labor Committee moves." The latter group is considering President Truman's request for legislation to set up fact-finding boards to help settle major industrial disputes, and to provide for a 30-day strike ban while the boards function.

Informed that the Labor Committee had no hearing scheduled today, May said he might call his group together to discuss adding the President's proposal as an amendment to the union-regulation measure.

Acting Chairman Ramspeck (D., Ga.) of the Labor Committee said he was anxious to speed hearings but some members "want to filibuster." He announced that William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, and Ira Mosher, head of the National Manufacturers Association, would testify tomorrow.

House to Act on Union Rackets Bill

Proposed Law Would Prevent Intimidation in Labor Activities.

DEC 12 1945

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP) The House gave right of way today to legislation outlawing asserted racketeering practices by labor after sidetracking another measure aimed at contract-violating strikes.

By a vote of 259 to 108, the House agreed to consider a bill levying heavy penalties on anyone interfering with the interstate movement of goods "by robbery or extortion." The measure itself is scheduled to be voted on tomorrow.

Earlier, the House defeated by a vote of 200 to 182 a move to bring up legislation to penalize unions violating no-strike contract provisions. Even some proponents of the measure favored delay to give more time for study of labor legislation asked by President Truman.

The anti-racketeering measure was introduced by Rep. Hobbs (D-Ala) as an outgrowth of a 1942 Supreme court decision which held that the present anti-racketeering statute does not apply to labor unions. The case arose from efforts of A.F.L. teamsters in New York city to collect fees from drivers of trucks bringing in produce from New Jersey. The unionists were alleged to have used "strong-arm" methods of intimidation.

Chairman Sabath (D-Ill) of the Rules committee led opposition to consideration of the bill.

"I do not condone or encourage racketeering," Sabath said, "but this bill goes altogether too far. It imposes a penalty of 10 years imprisonment or a $10,000 fine, which is altogether out of line with the offense. I know that the unions do not condone racketeering, have done everything possible to eliminate it, and have succeeded."

The bill which the House voted not to consider, by rejecting a "rule" for it, was sponsored originally by the Military committee. It would provide that unions striking in violation of contracts be denied collective bargaining rights for a year and be subject to civil damage suits. It also would strengthen the ban on political contributions by labor unions, repeal the Smith-Connally wartime labor disputes act and abolish the War Labor board.

Five from Connecticut Vote Against Proposal

In the vote by which the House yesterday refused to consider legislation repealing the Smith-Connally War Labor Disputes act and imposing new restrictions on union activities, Congresseman Talbot of the Fifth district voted with Republicans favoring the move while Congressmen Luce of the Fourth, Geelan of the Third, Kopplemann of the First, Woodhouse of the Second, and Ryter, at-large, voted against the proposal. It was defeated, 200 to 182.

ARMY DISCLOSES FIRST PLANS FOR TRAINING PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP) The War department said today that local civilian agencies similar to draft boards would select young men to undergo a year's compulsory military training if a law for that purpose is passed.

The department emphasized that the trainees would not be considered as being a part of the Army and would not be subject to actual duty without special authorization of Congress.

They would wear special insignia. They would be paid about $30 a month, whereas an Army private gets $50.

The Army's plans were outlined by four major generals to the House Military committee as it neared the end of hearings on a compulsory peacetime training bill and amplified in a 42-page illustrated brochure issued by the War department.

"The chaplain holds a service in God's great out-of-doors," was the caption for one picture. Another showed a white-haired "mom" dancing with "her boy" at a dance at a training post after having met the commanding officer" and "sampled the cook's hot biscuits." Still another showed a model barracks and promised that "there will be clean sheets and blankets." Beside a picture of boys playing football was the statement that "men who have spent hours each day on the playing fields are not apt to become regimented or militarized."

The major generals who testified were George J. Richards, budget officer; Ray E. Porter, director of the special planning division; Willard S. Paul, assistant chief of staff for personnel, and I. H. Edwards, assistant chief of staff for training.

They proposed that the Army train 700,000 annually and the Navy 260,000. They estimated 140,000 to 240,000 would be rejected yearly although physical standards would be lower than they have been for draftees.

Men 18 through 20 would be subject to training. The year of training normally would begin at 18 unless a boy had not then finished high school, in which case he could wait until he graduated. A boy of 17 who had finished high school could start training then if his parents consented.

Training Plans Outlined By Army Men

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Army detailed to Congress today how it would handle universal military training if President Truman's request for such a law is granted.

Four major generals explained the "here's how" to the House Military Committee.

They were George J. Richards, War Department budget officer; Ray E. Porter, director of the special planning division; Willard S. Paul, assistant chief of staff for personnel, and I. H. Edwards, assistant chief of staff for training.

The Army earlier had presented, through Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and others, its arguments for one year of continuous training for all able-bodied youths in peacetime.

How It Would Work

The universal training program, today's witnesses said, would operate thus:

Who would be trained? Young men in the age group 18 through 20; the training normally would begin when a youth is 18, unless he hadn't finished high school, in which case he could wait until he was graduated. A youth who had finished high school at the age of 17 could start training then, with his parents' consent.

How many would be trained? After allowing for rejections for physical and other disabilities, the Army would train 700,000 and the Navy about 260,000 annually, leaving between 140,000 and 240,000 who would be rejected each year.

Method Of Selection

How would they be selected? By local civilian agencies similar to local draft boards. Each youth would register by mail when he becomes 18. His local board would tell him when his training would start, and there would be several different entry dates annually, with the individual's convenience to be considered as much as possible. Appeals from local board rulings would be handled by special civilian appeal boards.

When would a youth's first actual contact with the military occur? At a receiving station to which he would be ordered by his local board to report. There he would be given a special oath and examinations and offered a choice of services. He would be assigned to the service requested, if possible. The physical standards for acceptance would be lower than those that prevailed during the war.

Kind Of Training

What kind of training would a youth receive? An initial recruit training period of about eight weeks to teach him the fundamentals of life as a soldier. This would be followed by a period of technical training, the length of which would vary, depending on the assignment. Then would come unit training, and finally combined training to teach the recruits how to act as an integral part of an army. The combined training, under combat conditions, would last about eight weeks.

Who would do the training? A selected training organization composed of National Guard officers, reserve officers and enlisted men on temporary active duty.

Would the one year be devoted entirely to military training? Generally, yes, but there would be holiday furloughs and short vacation periods; there would be educational and recreational facilities, but the emphasis would be on training men to go to war in a hurry, if necessary.

About $30 A Month

Would the trainees be paid? Yes, at the rate of about $30 a month (army regulars get $50 monthly but are subject to military duty, while a universal trainee could be assigned to actual army duty only by special act of Congress). The trainees would also have dependency benefits and would receive army clothing, equipment and rations and distinctive insignia. The cost of the universal-training program is estimated at $1,720,000,000 annually. Provision would be made for disability compensation and hospitalization.

What would happen to a youth when his year of training ended? He would go into a reserve for six years, unless he had displayed leadership ability and desired to follow a military career, in which case he could become an officer. While in reserve status he could not be called to active duty except by act of Congress and then, normally, through the regular draft procedure.

Underlying the entire program, General Porter told the committee, is this basic idea:

"Strength in being! Immediate availability?"

CONGRESS DRAFTS COMPROMISE BILL ON U. S. AGENCIES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(AP)—Legislation giving President Truman power to reorganize and combine many Federal agencies moved ahead today in Congress, with early passage predicted.

A Senate-House conference committee approved a compromise version of the measure, which Mr. Truman listed as a "must" bill early this fall.

The compromise did not give the President all the authority he wanted, but the legislators said it granted him more power than Congress has previously given any chief executive in the matter.

"I am informed he is very pleased with the result," Chairman Manasco (D-Ala) of the House conferees told a reporter. "Comptroller General Lindsay Warren, who carried the ball for the President on the bill, told us it was the best reorganization bill Congress had ever drafted."

Mansco said he would call the compromise up on the floor for a vote tomorrow or Thursday. He added "It ought to go right on through to the White House without much trouble."

Mr. Truman had asked that Congress give him the authority without naming exceptions, but the legislators insisted on giving 11 agencies whole or partial exemption. This was a compromise between eight originally named by the House and 14 by the Senate.

The President scored a victory in the section dealing with Congressional veto powers, however. The compromise provided that any recommendations the President makes become law within 60 days unless both the Senate and House disagree.

The bill does not allow reshuffling of departments, such as War, Navy and State.

It specifies that civil functions of the Army Engineers corps are wholly exempted from reorganization. Six other agencies are fully exempted, except that functions can be transferred to them. They are the Interstate Commerce commission, Federal Trade commission, Securties and Exchange commission, National Mediation board, National Railroad Adjustment board and Railroad Retirement board.

In the case of four other agencies the President would be required to submit individual reshuffling plans. They are the Federal Communications commission, Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, United State Tariff commission and Veterans Administration.

The powers are limited to the current Presidential term.

Forces-Merger Message Is Promised

DEC 12 1945

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—President Truman is working on a message to Congress outlining his views on proposals to merge the Army and Navy into a single department.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters today that he thought the message would go to Capitol Hill before the Christmas recess.

He said he did not know whether the message would be discussed when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower pays his first official call at the White House as War Department chief of staff during the day.

Asked about the merger message, Ross replied:

"It's in the works. I don't know when it will be ready, but it is being worked on."

Merger Idea Gets Setback

Disclosure that Mr. Truman's message might be ready before Christmas came after leaders of the powerful House Military and Naval committees had aligned themselves firmly in opposition to any merger of the armed forces.

Proposing, instead, that an independent Air Force be created, Chairmen Andrew J. May (D., Ky.) of the Military and Carl Vinson (D., Ga.) of the Naval committees declared "unification of the Army and the Navy is not the answer to th problem of national defense under modern methods of warfare."

Plan Of Split Detected

Some congressional quarters interpreted the May-Vinson action as a move to split the Army in its support of merger plans by lining up the Army Air Forces behind the new proposal.

Sources close to both May's and Vinson's committees said the measures could be regarded as "the Navy's answer to demands for unification." Both May and Vinson, however, said the identical bills they introduced were the product of their joint efforts.

Difficult Future Foreseen

At any rate, it becames obvious that legislation to bring about unification would face a most difficult future in the House.

The bills May and Vinson offered would set up the Air Forces as an independent department headed by a Cabinet officer and with its own school—similar to West Point and Annapolis—for developing officers. Eventually the new department would take over the Army Air Corps and the Army Air Forces, although it would not have jurisdiction over the Navy's air arm.

Joint Staff Chiefs Urged

The department of the Air Forces would have representation, along with the Army and the Navy, on a permanent joint chiefs of staff which the legislation would create.

While both May and Vinson said they expected the bills to be sent to May's committee, Speaker Rayburn delayed referring them. May claimed jurisdiction primarily because the bills would deal with national defense.

But several similar bills, although lacking the Air Forces provision, have been sent to the Expenditures Committee, which has shown no inclination to act on them.

MACNIDER CASE UP IN CONGRESS

DEC 12 1945

Vandegrift Letter Regrets Marine's Discharge.

Washington, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Gen. A. A. Vandegrift, commandant of the Marine Corps, has written a member of the House that henceforth "not the slightest deviation" from the corps point discharge system "may be expected by any one."

Representative Biemiller (D.-Wis.), protested the discharge of Marine Pfc. Jack MacNider, at the request of his father, Brig.-Gen. Hanford MacNider, quoted Vandegrift's letter in a House speech today. Biemiller said he received the letter this morning. Pvt. MacNider was reported to have only 36 points when he was discharged.

"You will note Gen. Vandegrift states frankly that the discharge took place 'in deference to a request by Gen. MacArthur and in consideration of the outstanding record of Gen. MacNider in two world wars,'" Biemiller said.

"I repeat my previous charge

30.24-32-313

that this discharge smacks of rank favoritism and should never have taken place," he added.

Vandergrift wrote:

"My approval of the return home and discharge of Pfc. MacNider was in deference to a request by Gen. MacArthur and in consideration of the outstanding record of Gen. MacNider in two world wars. It was not an act of friendship, for I barely know Gen. MacNider, and I can assure you that the case bore no political significance whatsoever.

"In so far as I know, the MacNider case is the first and only deviation made from the Marine Corps' established policy governing discharge. Had I realized the possible result of my acquiesence in this particular request, you can rest assured such decision by me would never have been made."

The elder MacNider, an Army officer, is a former national commander of the American Legion.

Denmark Gets Interest Cut on 20 Million Loan

Export-Import Bank Gives New Terms Averaging 3%; Finns Seek Cotton Credits

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP).—Terms for a $20,000,000 loan for Denmark from the United States Export-Import Bank have been revised to provide an average interest rate of 3 per cent instead of the flat 3½ per cent originally stipulated, an official of the bank said today.

The revision gives Denmark the advantage of a later decision of the bank to apply the lower interest rate on all reconstruction loans to foreign countries.

Originally Denmark's loan carried a flat interest rate of 3½ per cent with repayment to be made by equal semi-annual amounts over a period of fifteen years, beginning in 1951.

The amended terms provide for a five-year series of repayments beginning in 1946—with an interest rate of 2½ per cent during the first five years, 3 per cent for the next period and 3½ during the last. The amount of repayment during each period is not fixed.

A bank official said these terms are considered only adequate to cover the actual cost to the United States of making the loans.

Finland is negotiating with the bank for a separate loan of $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 for the purchase of cotton in the United States, which would be independent of larger reconstruction credits under negotiation between the bank and the Finnish trade delegation in the United States.

The loan would come from a $100,000,000 credit recently established by the bank to enable European countries to buy cotton in the United States. Under the provisions of the established cotton credit, approval by the bank's board is not necessary to arrange the cotton loan to Finland, unlike the larger credits sought.

The Finns are known to be desirous of obtaining $100,000,000 for reconstruction purposes. An initial credit of part of this sum will probably be arranged, with the remainder left for future decision.

Forrestal Remark Leads To Rumors of Resignation

'It Won't Be Long Now,' He Tells Photographers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP).—A jocular remark by James Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy, aboard the Presidential yacht Williamsburg increased speculation today that he plans to resign soon.

Photographers had difficulty persuading Mr. Forrestal to get in close for a picture with other Cabinet members invited to lunch with the President aboard his new ship.

"After all," a photographer said, "this is a boat, and you should be seen since you are the Secretary of the Navy."

"It won't be long now," the photographers said Mr. Forrestal commented.

The White House declined comment on a published report that Edwin W. Pauley had been picked to succeed Mr. Forrestal as Navy Secretary, and Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, added: "Mr. Forrestal is still a member of the Cabinet."

Mr. Pauley, United States representative on the Allied Reparations Commission, also has been mentioned as a possible successor to Under Secretary of the Navy Artemus L. Gates, who has resigned, effective Dec. 31.

ASK MORE RELIEF FOR ITALY'S NEEDY

Washington, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—A delegation of the Italian Relief Committee delivered a petition bearing signatures of 125,000 Italian-Americans at the State Department today, asking President Truman to increase assistance for the ill and needy of Italy.

The delegation was composed of Samuel Mancuso and John Milano, New York business men. They said the Italian Relief Committee was a part of the federation of the Italian-American Democratic organizations.

The petition was delivered to Under-Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Mancuso told newsmen that Acheson promised to bring it to the attention of the Prsident, btu advised them additional aid for Italy depended upon the appropriation by Congress of an additional $1,350,000,000 for UNRRA.

The petition declared that its signers felt the United States "must, for humanitarian reasons, do the impossible this winter so that the Italians as a race do not perish."

It said the delegates were in Washington to make a special appeal for Italy "because we feel that there is a great deal of sentiment in this country which is opposed to the giving of relief to the Italians."

Unless help reaches Italy soon, the casualties by the end of winter "will be far greater than those caused by the atom bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki," the petition said.

JAPANESE OFFICER MAY NOT TESTIFY AT M'VAY'S TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. — (AP) The prospect arose today that Ike Hashimoto, Japanese submarine skipper, might not testify after all at the court martial of Captain Charles B. McVay III, commander of the cruiser Indianapolis.

Captain Thomas J. Ryan, Jr., judge advocate, told reporters he had spent four hours with Hashimoto, who was flown here from Tokyo, trying to establish his "credibility and competence" as a witness but had not been able to determine it to his satisfaction.

Even if the prosecution actually seeks to call him, the defense is expected to object on a number of grounds. Hashimoto's submarine is alleged to have sunk the Indianapolis shortly after midnight July 30 as the cruiser was en route from Guam to Leyte.

McVay is accused of negligence in allegedly failing to keep the ship on a zigzag course through waters where submarines might be encountered, and inefficiency in allegedly failing to issue timely orders to abandon ship, resulting in the loss of many lives.

Highlighting testimony from prosecution witness today was a statement by John M. Anunti, metalsmith, second class, of Duluth, Minn., that about an hour before the ship was blasted by two explosions. He discovreed an open, lighted porthole in the course of his darken-ship patrol. He said he discovered the lighted port in quarters occupied by the ship's aviators, order to closed immediately, and notified his superiors.

Vincent J. Allard, quartermaster, third class, of Omak, Wash., who stood the 8 p. m. to midnight watch on the bridge, expressed the opinion that under existing conditions of visibility, a zigzag course was not necessary.

The defense presented, out of order, testimony from Commander Glenn F. DeGrave, former chief engineer of the Indianapolis who was detached from the ship only a few weeks before she was lost. He said he frequently stood watches as supervisor of the watch, and that standing orders called for maintaining a zigzag course in dangerous waters at night when visibility was good, and for notifying the captain at any hour when there was a change in visibility.

Army's Atom Chief Discounts Idea Of 'Push-Button War'

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves, the Army's atom-bomb chief, said tonight that any atomic war of the future "will not be a push-button war."

Groves told a conference on atomic energy at Georgetown University, sponsored by the Army Industrial College and the American Military Institute:

"It (any next war) might start as a push-button war, but what it takes to win a war is the will to win . . . the will to win would overcome the losses we might suffer by some of our industrial potential being overcome.

"Could Fight On"

"I think we could fight on," he said, "even if some of our industrial potentiality were destroyed.

"I have never held that the loss of any one city in the United States would mean the United States would have to quit. We have no Paris in the United States so far as I know."

Difficulties Described

While Groves described the atom bomb as "bestest" of all weapons he declared "it cannot win a war without assistance" and that coordination of air, ground and naval forces is needed.

Describing difficulties in producing the atomic bomb, Groves said:

"It is important to counteract the impression that it will be only a few months before a bomb is dropped on Washington (by some other country)."

"I read stories," he said, "that various nations have the atomic bomb right around the corner. But I can say that the people in this room need have no fear of such a thing. It will be a problem to be solved by my children and my grandchildren and I'm not worrying about it very much."

MACARTHUR QUESTIONED ON JAPANESE CYCLOTRON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — (AP) The War department apparently has requested General MacArthur's headquarters for a report on the destruction of a Japanese atom-smashing cyclotron by American occupation troops.

In answer to inquiries from reporters, spokesmen at the department said that demolition of the cyclotron "is presently a matter of discussion" between the department and MacArthur's headquarters.

Senate Adopts U. N. O. Site Bid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP).—The Senate today adopted a concurrent resolution suggesting the seat of the United Nations Organization be located in this country. The House approved the proposal yesterday.

PLANE READY TO TAKE MARSHALL TO CHINA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — (AP) Secretary of State Byrnes said late today he thought that General George C. Marshall would be able to leave on his special mission as President Truman's ambassador to China in about two days, depending on Marshall's schedule before the Pearl Harbor committee.

A plane stands ready to start out with the general the instant he is able to get away, Byrnes said at a news conference following a White House meeting he had with the President and Marshall.

Senator Byrd Wins Delay On Federal-Pay Raise

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Senator Byrd (D., Va.) won a delay today in Senate consideration of a flat twenty per cent pay raise for classified Federal employés until he can prepare an amendment for a graduated scale of increases.

Byrd wants to give larger increases to those in the lower pay brackets and smaller raises to higher paid workers.

The pay question was put off until Thursday after a hot floor exchange between Byrd and Chairman Downey (D., Cal.), author of the measure.

UNRRA FUND VOTED BY BOTH HOUSES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. — (AP) Congressional action was completed today on an additional appropriation of $550,000,000 for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration.

Both Senate and House approved a conference committee report and sent the measure to President Truman.

In its final form, the bill carries an amendment requesting the President to seek permission for American news and radio reporters to go into UNRRA-aided countries and gather news about UNRRA activities.

Senate Unit For Year More Of War Powers

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—A one-year extension of the broad war powers of the President was recommended today by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The House previously had approved a six-month extension, until June 30, 1945, but Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) said the Senate committee approved December 31, 1946, after receiving assurance no additional time would be requested.

The bill, known as the "Second War Powers Act," includes authority for rationing and numerous other wartime controls.

O'Mahoney said the Senate committee was told that priority powers of rationing and allocation would be exercised only with respect to commodities which are in short supply, and for the protection of American industry and foreign commitments of the Government.

O'Connor Renamed Head Of Red Cross

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—President Truman today reappointed Basil O'Connor, of New York, as national chairman of the American Red Cross.

In addition to the reappointment of O'Connor for a one-year term, Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, said the President made the following other appointments to the Red Cross central committee:

William L. Clayton, Assistant Secretary of State; Treasury Secretary Fred M. Vinson; Surgeon General Norman T. Kirk; Attorney General Tom Clark, and Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, surgeon general of the Navy.

Vinson's appointment was a new one, the others reappointments. Vinson replaces Daniel Bell, retiring Under Secretary of the Treasury.

Gen. Bradley Woul Protect Veterans

New York, Dec. 11 (AP) — Gen. Omar Bradley, director of the Veterans' Administration, told the United States Conference of Mayors today that legislation should be passed to prevent veterans from being "high-pressured into buying houses they cannot pay for."

General Bradley's appeal came as the mayors stepped into the national housing shortage situation with a resolution urging congressional appropriation of $190,000,000 for 100,000 temporary family units. The conference asked that the completed units be turned over to cities for operation.

Pittsburgh Problem

Discussing housing problems, Anne X. Alpern, Pittsburgh city solicitor, said: "We have $2,000,000 to spend, but we can't get materials, we can't find out where to buy them. We have acquired only surplus correspondence."

Stuart Symington, war surplus administrator, meanwhile told the mayors that cities now were obtaining 25 per cent of all surplus goods. He also predicted that airports which cost the Federal Government $1,635,000,000 would be declared surplus and sold for about $19,000,000.

Says Chicago Is Stymied

Mayor Edward J. Kelly, of Chicago, complained that his city was "stymied because of labor and material," while Mayor Earl J. Glade, of Salt Lake City, urged that Government installations not now needed by military forces be made available to cities immediately.

Discussing the traffic problems, Representative William Robinson (D., Utah), chairman of the House Committee on Roads, said traffic would double the prewar level by 1960 and a new type of highway system was necessary for cities.

The eleventh annual conference of the mayors will close tomorrow.

Gen. Romula Urges Strong Unified China

Buffalo, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—"A unified, democratic China is a requisite for lasting peace and economic stability in the Orient," says Gen. Carlos P. Romula, Resident Commissioner of the Philippines.

"The Chinese people cannot take their place as a strong world Power until all factions are united behind the established government, and this can only come about with the support of the United States," he declared yesterday in an interview.

Doolittle, Flyers Meet At Final Shangri-La

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 11 (AP)—Miami Beach is to be the reunion Shangri-La for Maj. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle and 48 of his Tokyo attackers Friday.

The General and his famous crew will gather at the Macfadden-Deauville Hotel for probably their last reunion before their leader on that grim flight over Japan on April 18, 1942, retires from military service.

Warren Freeman, hotel manager and recently an army major, made the announcement of the plans today. General Doolittle will hold a stag party for the group on Saturday. On Sunday there will be a water show and banquet in their honor.

SHERIFF HOLDS MAN ACCUSED AS A SPY

Indianapolis, Dec. 11 (A. P.).—Marion County Sheriff Otto Petit refused today to grant custody of Sgt. Frederick Emil Bauer, alleged German espionage agent, to the immigration and detention section of the United States Department of Justice.

Petit said that he had been ordered by Judge Ralph Hamill of Superior Court to bring Bauer to court today for a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus. He said he would not turn the prisoner over until after the hearing.

George Tellelsem, chief of the Detroit bureau of the section, was ready to leave with Bauer for Detroit when Hamill's order arrived. Tellelsem was acting under orders from Tom Clark, United States Attorney-General, to intern Bauer as a full-fledged German spy. Bauer was discharged "without honor" from the United States Army yesterday.

S MUCH RIGHT TO FIGHT FOR THEIR LIBERTY AS AMERICANS HAD IN THE WAR OF INDEPENDENCE."
DRIBERG, STATING THAT BRITISH COMMANDERS ON THE SPOT COULD HAVE SETTLED THE CRISIS WITHOUT BLOODSHED IF THEY COULD HAVE USED THEIR OWN DISCRETION, CHARGED THAT "THEY HAVE BEEN HANDICAPPED THROUGHOUT BY UNWISE POLITICAL DIRECTIVES EMANATING FROM PARIS AND THE HAGUE."
PRACTICALLY ALL JAPANESE TROOPS IN INDOCHINA HAVE BEEN DISARMED, NOEL-BAKER SAID, EXPRESSING HOPE THAT DISARMAMENT WOULD BE COMPLETED TO ALLOW REMOVAL OF BRITISH TROOPS BY THE END OF THE YEAR.

SN812PES

LONDON, DEC. 11 — (AP) — EMMANUEL SHINWELL, BRITISH MINISTER OF FUEL AND POWER, PREDICTED TODAY THE NATIONALIZATION OF COAL MININ IN EVERY COAL PRODUCING COUNTRY IN THE WORLD. DEC 12 1945

THE LABORITE MINISTER SAID THE "TIME WILL COME RAPIDLY," WHEN THESE COUNTRIES "WILL DISCOVER THAT IF THEY ARE TO ESCAPE FROM THE PROBLEMS THAT BESET THE MINING INDUSTRY, THEY CAN DO SO ONLY BY PLACING THE RESPONSIBILITY SQUARELY ON THE SHOULDERS OF THE STATE."

A71 (270)
LONDON, DEC. 11-(AP)-PHILIP J.NOEL-BAKER, BRITISH MINISTER OF STATE, TONIGHT DEMANDED THAT "DUTCH AND INDONESIANS SHALL SIT DOWN TOGETHER AND WORK OUT THEIR DIFFERENCES ON THE BASIS OF CONCRETE PROPOSALS ON BOTH SIDES WITHOUT ANY FURTHER DELAY."
HIS STATEMENT CLIMAXED A DEBATE IN COMMONS DURING WHICH INDEPENDENT TOM DRIBERG CHARGED THAT "UNWISE" FRENCH AND DUTCH "POLITICAL DICTATES HAD PREVENTED BRITISH FIELD COMMANDERS FROM SETTLING INDONESIAN AND INDOCHINA DISTURBANCES WITHOUT BLOODSHED.
(EARLIER TODAY IN BATAVIA, PRIME MINISTER SUTAN SJAHRIR OF THE UNRECOGNIZED INDONESIAN REPUBLIC ASSERTED INDONESIANS WOULD FIGHT FURTHER LANDINGS OF BRITISH TROOPS IN ANY ATTEMPTS TO REINSTATE DUTCH SOVEREIGNTY IN JAVA. SJAHRIR SPOKE AFTER REPORTS THAT THE BRITISH HAD DECIDED LAST WEEK AT A SINGAPORE CONFERENCE TO TAKE ALL STEPS NECESSARY TO END THE FIGHTING IN JAVA, EVEN TO BRINGING IN DUTCH TROOPS AS REINFORCEMENTS.)
DRIBERG SAID BRITAIN'S ONLY ALTERNATIVES IN INDONESIA WERE TO RECOGNIZE THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT, OR CONDUCT FULL SCALE WAR FOR THE REPRESSION OF INDONESIAN INDEPENDENCE.
J.PLATTSMILLS, LABORITE, CHARGED THAT BRITISH TROOPS WERE IN INDONESIA AS "HIRELINGS OF THE DUTCH", AND FIGHTING AS "MERCENARIES".
WILLIAM GALLACHER, COMMUNIST, ASSERTED THAT "INDONESIANS HAVE

A
C

SHINWELL SPOKE BEFORE THE COAL MINING COMMITTEE OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION.
APR1405 JOK0940

DEC 12 1945

LABORITE RICHARD R. STOKES CHARGED TODAY
LONDON, DEC. 11 -- (AP) -- ASSERTING THAT "THOUSANDS OF YOUNG MEN LOST THEIR LIVES" BECAUSE OF BRITISH WAR-TIME INEFFICIENCY IN TANK PRODUCTION, LABORITE RICHARD R. STOKES AND ASKED

30.24 - 32 315

WAR MINISTRY TO GIVE A FULL REPORT TO COMMONS ON "THE WHOLE QUESTION OF TANKS."

IN REPLY TO WAR MINISTER JOHN J. LAWSON'S STATEMENT THAT HE COULD SEE NO ADVANTAGE IN SUCH AN INQUIRY, STOKES ASKED WHETHER THE WAR MINISTRY KNEW OF TWO REPORTS ON TANKS, "SO BAD" THAT THEY HAVE NOT BEEN REVEALED TO COMMONS.

IS THE WAR MINISTER AWARE, HE ASKED, "THAT AS A RESULT OF THE GROSS INEFFICIENCY THAT WENT ON, THOUSANDS OF YOUNG MEN LOST THEIR LIVES, AND LITERALLY HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS OF MONEY WERE WASTED?"

STOKES DECLARED THAT HE WOULD RAISE THE MATTER AGAIN -- "IN PUBLIC."

LONDON, DEC. 11 - (AP) - AN EMERGENCY MEETING OF ALL THE CONSERVATIVE MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT TO DISCUSS THE PARTY'S ATTITUDE TOWARD THE AMERICAN LOAN AND THE BRETTON WOODS MONETARY PROJECT HAS BEEN CALLED FOR TOMORROW, IT WAS ANNOUNCED TONIGHT.

DEBATE ON THE LOAN AND THE BRETTON WOODS PROJECT BEGINS TOMORROW IN PARLIAMENT.

#

NIGHT LEAD UNO

DEC 12 1945

BY FLORA LEWIS

LONDON, DEC. 11-(AP)-SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI GROMYKO TOLD THE UNITED NATIONS PREPARATORY COMMISSION TODAY THAT ESTABLISHMENT OF THE WORLD PEACE AGENCY'S PERMANENT HOME ANYWHERE EXCEPT IN THE UNITED STATES WOULD TRANSFORM IT INTO A EUROPEAN REGIONAL ORGANIZATION.

THE PREPARATORY COMMISSION'S STEERING COMMITTEE TONIGHT SET JAN. 10 AS THE OPENING DATE OF THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY.

DEBATE ON THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE'S RECOMMENDATION FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF THE PERMANENT SITE IN THE UNITED STATES WAS EXPECTED TO END THURSDAY, AFTER MORE THAN A WEEK OF HEATED ARGUMENT, BUT IT WAS UNLIKELY THAT THE DELEGATES WOULD BE ABLE TO VOTE BEFORE THE END OF THE WEEK.

WHILE THE SOVIET UNION SUPPORTED THE UNITED STATES AS THE SITE FOR THE PEACE AGENCY'S HOME, FRENCH DELEGATE RENE MASSIGLI ARGUED THAT THE HOME SHOULD BE IN A SMALL COUNTRY, BECAUSE LARGER NATIONS ALREADY HAD THE ADVANTAGE IN THE CHARTER PROVISION FOR VETO POWERS.

"IF ONE COUNTRY HAS BOTH THE SITE AND THE VETO," MASSIGLI ASSERTED, "IT WOULD BE AN ALTOGETHER EXORBITANT PRIVILEGE."

CZECHOSLOVAK FOREIGN MINISTER JAN MASARYK, SUPPORTING THE UNITED STATES, SAID SELECTION OF A SITE HAD BECOME A POLITICAL ISSUE.

GROMKYO CRITICIZED THE ARGUMENT THAT THE SITE SHOULD BE ON THE CONTINENT WHERE TROUBLE IS MOST LIKELY.

"OF ALL THE ARGUMENTS SUPPORTING THE PROPOSAL THAT THE SITE SHOULD BE IN EUROPE, THE MAIN ONE IS THAT EUROPE DESERVES MORE ATTENTION THAN ANY OTHER PART OF THE WORLD," HE SAID. "IF THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION IS CONCERNED ONLY WITH EUROPEAN PROBLEMS IT MEANS THAT THE ORGANIZATION WILL BE MAINLY A REGIONAL ORGANIZATION -- AND THAT WOULD BE WRONG."

WHEN THE GENERAL DEBATE ON THE QUESTION IS ENDED, THE DELEGATES MUST ARGUE OVER VOTING PROCEDURE, VOTING FIRST ON A CANADIAN PROPOSAL FOR A SECRET BALLOT ON THE PRECISE LOCATION. IF THE PROPOSAL IS REJECTED, THE COMMITTEE OF THE 51 NATIONS WILL VOTE FORTHWITH ON THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATION THAT THE AGENCY MOVE PERMANENTLY TO THE UNITED STATES.

DEC 12 1945

A88 ADD PARIS - UNDERGROUND XXX OTHER WAR

THE BUREAU STILL WILL NOT REVEAL NAMES OF EITHER THE RESCUERS OR RESCUED, AND CODE NAMES OF THE TWO PRINCIPAL ROUTES TO FREEDOM ARE STILL SECRETS. BUT DUE TO TRAIN SCHEDULES, A GREAT MAJORITY OF THOSE ESCAPING WERE FORCED TO PASS THROUGH THE MOST DANGEROUS PART OF FRANCE: PARIS.

"WE HAVE NEVER FOUND A CASE WHERE A FLIER WAS BETRAYED BY ANYONE IN THE RESISTANCE MOVEMENT, ALTHOUGH SOMETIMES FRENCH PEOPLE WOULD TURN MEN IN TO THE GERMANS WHEN THEY WERE BADLY IN NEED OF MEDICAL CARE," CAPT. SMITH SAID.

M747AES

DEC 12 1945

(150)

PARIS, DEC 11-(AP)-GEN. DE GAULLE VOICED HOPE LAST NIGHT THAT FRANCE'S IMPORTANCE AS A NATURAL LINK BETWEEN "THE TWO GREAT POWERS OF THE WORLD" -- THE UNITED STATES AND SOVIET RUSSIA -- EVENTUALLY WILL WIN GENERAL RECOGNITION.

"IN THE WORLD AS IT IS TODAY, TWO GREAT POWERS EXIST AND WE ARE BETWEEN THEM," THE PROVISIONAL PRESIDENT TOLD HIS NATION IN A BROADCAST ADDRESS EMPHASIZING THAT BECAUSE OF HER GEOGRAPHICAL POSITION FRANCE'S ROLE IN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS SHOULD BE THAT OF MAINTAINING AN EQUILIBRIUM BETWEEN EAST AND WEST.

"WE INTEND," HE ADDED, "TO PRACTICE FRIENDSHIP WITHIN THE MEASURE THAT DEPENDS UPON US, TOWARD THE EAST AND TOWARD THE WEST -- OUR EYES OPEN AND OUR HANDS FREE."

DE GAULLE MADE NO REFERENCE TO THE IMPENDING MOSCOW CONFERENCE OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS OF RUSSIA, THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN, WHICH HAS DRAWN SOME CRITICISM FROM THE FRENCH PRESS BECAUSE OF FRANCE'S EXCLUSION.

HE ALSO REFRAINED FROM REFERRING TO THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN FRANCE AND THE OTHER THREE OCCUPYING POWERS OVER PROPOSALS FOR A CENTRALIZED ADMINISTRATION IN GERMANY.

MK421AES

PARIS, DEC. 11-(AP)-FINANCE MINISTER RENE PLEVEN SAID TODAY THAT THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT, WHICH IS TRYING TO AVERT A THREATENED STRIKE OF PUBLIC SERVICE WORKERS, WAS WILLING TO GRANT WAGE INCREASES OF $20 A MONTH TO SOME EMPLOYES.

30.24 - 37317

HE TOLD THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY THAT TOBACCO AND CIGARETTE PRICES WOULD BE BOOSTED TO REIMBURSE THE TREASURY. IT WAS INDICATED THAT THE SALARY RAISES WOULD BE GRANTED TO PERSONS EARNING LESS THAN $1,200 A YEAR.

MORE THAN 1,000,000 WORKERS HAVE THREATENED A TWO-HOUR STRIKE TOMORROW AFTERNOON UNLESS THEY RECEIVE INCREASES RETRO-ACTIVE TO AUGUST AND UNLESS THE PENSION SYSTEM IS REVAMPED.

THE GOVERNMENT WAS REPORTED EARLIER TO HAVE ADOPTED A POSITION THAT IT COULD NOT TAKE ANY ACTION UNDER THE THREAT OF A STRIKE.

FBG225PES/ WILSONS THRU 2183D/ APR

PARIS, DEC. 11-(AP)-THE 16TH CORPS EMBARKED TODAY FOR HOME WHILE THE FIRST ELEMENTS OF THE 79TH INFANTRY DIVISION WERE ARRIVING IN AMERICA, ACCORDING TO REDEPLOYMENT AUTHORITIES.

THE MAJOR PORTIONS OF THE VETERAN 36TH INFANTRY DIVISION, WHICH ENTERED THE MEDITERRANEAN THEATER IN 1942, PRIMARILY A TEXAS OUTFIT, WAS ALSO ON THE HIGH SEAS EN ROUTE HOME. FINAL ELEMENTS OF THIS DIVISION WERE AWAITING SHIPMENT FROM THE CALAS STAGING AREA NEAR MARSEILLE.

THE FIRST ELEMENT OF THE 89TH AND 90TH INFANTRY DIVISIONS WAS ALSO AT SEA EN ROUTE TO UNITED STATES. THE 12TH AND 26TH INFANTRY DIVISIONS WERE REPORTED COMPLETELY EMBARKED AND ON THE HIGH SEAS.

THE STATUS OF OTHER UNITS ON THE REDEPLOYMENT SCHEDULE FOLLOWS:

82ND AIRBORNE DIVISION--MOVING TO THE LE HAVRE STAGING AREA.

100TH INFANTRY DIVISION--WILL MOVE TO THE CALAS STAGING AREA DEC. 17.

ALERTED FOR SHIPMENT HOME BUT NOT YET MOVED TO STAGING AREAS--29TH, 84TH, 80TH AND 94TH INFANTRY AND SECOND ARMORED DIVISIONS, AND 22ND CORPS HEADQUARTERS.

DEC 12 1945

FBG340PES/ DVANS SECOND 1745 APR

ADD NUERNBERG-DAY-TRIAL XXX FUEHRER

FUEHRER.

MOST PERSONS, WITH A LONG MEMORY, WOULD RECALL HAVING SEEN MANY SCENES FROM "THE NAZI PLAN" BEFORE IN NEWSREEL FLASHES OR IN LONGER FEATURES SUCH AS POLAND'S "BAPTISM OF FIRE" AND "VICTORY IN THE WEST." BUT PIECED TOGETHER IN A MONUMENTAL DOCUMENTARY, IT WAS OFFERED BY THE AMERICAN PROSECUTION AS VISUAL PROOF OF CONSPIRACY.

SCENES OF A BERLIN PEOPLES' COURT ADMINISTERING NAZI JUSTICE TO THOSE WHO SOUGHT HITLER'S LIFE LAST YEAR WERE EXHIBITED ONLY PRIVATELY TO HIGH PARTY MEMBERS IN GERMANY AND REPORTEDLY HAVE NOT BEEN SHOWN TO THE PUBLIC ABROAD EVEN YET.

A12

DEC 12 1945

A RAVING BALD-HEADED NAZI JUDGE NAMED FREISLER WAS FILMED UPBRAIDING COUNT SCHWERIN VON SCHWANEFELD, ONE OF THE MEN ACCUSED OF PLOTTING HITLER'S DEATH, IN THIS LANGUAGE:

"BUT YOU ARE A FILTHY RASCAL. DO YOU COLLAPSE UNDER THE STRESS OF THIS VULGARITY? YES OR NO?"

"NO," ANSWERED THE COUNT.

"NO," SCREAMED FREISLER. "YOU COULD NOT EVEN BREAK DOWN BECAUSE YOU ARE BUT A MEASLY LITTLE PILE OF FILTH WHICH HAS LOST ALL SELF-RESPECT."

M305AES

WITH NUERNBERG TRIAL

NUERNBERG, DEC. 11-(AP)-HERMANN GOERING, LOOKING AT VOODOO-LIKE TORCHLIGHT RALLIES OF NATIONAL SOCIALISM PICTURED ON THE MOVIE SCREEN AT THE WAR CRIMES TRIAL TODAY, REMARKED THAT IF THEY HAD BEEN SHOWN IN THEIR ENTIRETY "JUSTICE (ROBERT H.) JACKSON WOULD CERTAINLY JOIN THE PARTY."

FOREIGN MINISTER JOACHIM VON RIBBENTROP'S EYES FILLED WITH TEARS AT A SCENE OF THE FUEHRER SPEAKING AND HE EXCLAIMED: "DON'T YOU FEEL HITLER'S TREMENDOUS PERSONALITY? FOR US IT IS THE MOST FEARFULLY STIMULATING THING THAT HAS HAPPENED."

BUT DARK, FROWNING HANS FRANK, THE "BUTCHER OF WARSAW", WAS BITTER. HIS COMMENT: "THAT IS THE MAN THE GERMANS MADE A TIN GOD OF."

AMERICAN OBSERVERS POSTED AROUND THE PRISONERS' BOX DURING THE COURTROOM SHOWING OF THE FILM DOCUMENTING HITLER'S RISE TO POWER NOTED THESE AND OTHER REACTIONS. THEY AGREED THAT MOST OF THE ACCUSED HITLER LEADERS REACTED "LIKE A GROUP OF SCHOOL CHILDREN" RE-LIVING THEIR MOST GLAMOROUS ADVENTURES.

FD1206PES

DACHAU, GERMANY, DEC. 11-(AP)-PROSECUTORS ASKED A U.S. MILITARY COURT TODAY TO CONVICT EVERY ONE OF THE 40 DEFENDANTS IN THE DACHAU ATROCITY TRIAL FOR A PART IN "THE COMMON DESIGN" TO STARVE, TORTURE AND KILL THE INMATES OF THIS NOTORIOUS NAZI CONCENTRATION CAMP.

LT. COL. WILLIAM D. DENSON, CHIEF PROSECUTOR, SAID EVERY ONE OF THE ATTENDANTS, OFFICERS AND GUARDS ON TRIAL "HAS FORFEITED THE RIGHT TO MINGLE IN DECENT SOCIETY."

DENSON INSISTED THAT PROOF OF PERSONAL ACTS OF CRUELTY AGAINST EACH DEFENDANT WAS NOT NECESSARY IF IT WAS PROVED THAT THE DEFENDANT PARTICIPATED IN THE OPERATION OF THE CAMP.

THE VERDICT IS EXPECTED SOON AFTER COMPLETION OF CLOSING ARGUMENTS TOMORROW.

FOREIGN BRIEFS

MOSCOW, DEC. 11--(AP)--RUSSIAN INFANTRY WILL GO ON AN 8-HOUR FOR BATTLE TRAINING JAN. 1, THE ARMY NEWSPAPER RED STAR SAID TODAY.

ONE DAY A WEEK--THE DAY BEFORE REST DAY--THE TRAINING PERIOD BE LIMITED TO SIX HOURS.

MOSCOW, DEC. 11-(AP)--TASS declared TODAY THAT ISTANBUL AUTHORITIES KNEW IN ADVANCE ABOUT LAST TUESDAY'S ANTI-COMMUNIST DEMONSTRATIONS which backfired against their last Tuesday and asserted WITHOUT TRYING TO HALT THEM AND THAT ANKARA SANCTIONED that Ankara had sanctioned the THEIR ORGANIZATION.

DEC 12 1945

A TASS DISPATCH FROM SOFIA SAID THE DISORDERS WERE NOT RESTRICTED TO "FASCIST DEMONSTRATIONS IN INSTANBUL" BUT THAT ON THE SAME DAY SIMILAR DEMONSTRATIONS TOOK PLACE IN SMYRNA AND BURSA.

THE DISPATCH FURTHER SAID IT HAS added that BEEN POINTED OUT IN TURKISH CIRCLES THAT IT IS NOT TO TURKEY'S ADVANTAGE TO PROVOKE A "SHARPENING" OF TURKISH-SOVIET RELATIONS.

DEC 12 1945

RUSSIA CANCELED HER TREATY OF FRIENDSHIP AND NON-AGGRESSION WITH TURKEY A MONTH AGO. to expire without renewal

TASS SAID IT IS NOT SURPRISING THAT THE TURKS SEEK TO DENY THE DEMONSTRATIONS WERE FASCIST OR ANTI-SOVIET, ADDING:

"PARTICIPANTS IN THIS FASCIST DEMONSTRATION DEC. 4 SHOUTED PROVOCATIVE REMARKS TO RUSSIANS, AND STREETCARS AND BUSSES WERE COVERED WITH ANTI-SOVIET PLACARDS, AND A STORE WHEREIN SOVIET LITERATURE WAS SOLD WAS DESTROYED."

30.24 - 32319

THE SOFIA DISPATCH SAID THAT TURKISH POLITICAL CIRCLES WERE "SLIGHTLY EMBARRASSED AND TRY TO MINIMIZE THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE FASCIST DEMONSTRATIONS." IT WAS POINTED OUT THAT THE OFFICIAL TURKISH NEWS AGENCY [redacted] FIRST REPORTED THAT 20,000 TOOK PART BUT [redacted] CHANGED THIS FIGURE TO 2,000 THE SECOND DAY.

A CARTOON IN PRAVDA TODAY CARICATURED THE ISTANBUL POLICE CHIEF DESCRIBING THE DISORDERS AS "AN EXPRESSION OF DEMOCRACY AND PATRIOTISM"

PW10 GILMORES ONE THROUGH FOUR [redacted] RCH 735A

BY EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, DEC. 11 (AP)—WHILE THE AMERICAN AND BRITISH EMBASSIES WERE BUSY TODAY PREPARING FOR THE BIG THREE FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE SCHEDULED TO OPEN SATURDAY MOSCOW NEWSPAPERS PRINTED NOTHING ABOUT THE PENDING MEETING.

IN FACT, BEYOND THE STAID OFFICIAL WORDS ANNOUNCING THE MEETING THERE HAS BEEN NOTHING MORE ABOUT IT PRINTED.

THE SOVIET PRESS, HOWEVER, NEVER WAXES ENTHUSIATIC OR GOES IN FOR A GREAT AMOUNT OF SPECULATION BEFORE INTERNATIONAL MEETINGS.

DEC 12 1945

WHILE THE PRESS OF THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN HAVE BEEN COMMENTING IN LIVELY FASHION UPON THE CONFERENCE, RUSSIAN PAPERS SAID NOTHING YESTERDAY OR TODAY. IN FACT, BEYOND THE STAID OFFICIAL WORDS ANNOUNCING THE MEETING NOTHING MORE HAS BEEN PRINTED.

DEC 12 1945

THE SOVIET PRESS NEVER WAXES ENTHUSIASTIC OR GOES IN FOR A GREAT AMOUNT OF SPECULATION BEFORE INTERNATIONAL MEETINGS.

IF THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN COME TO THE CONFERENCE WITH ACCEPTABLE PROPOSITIONS ON THE ATOMIC BOMB WHICH THE SOVIETS WILL NOT INTERPRET AS BEING AIMED PARTICULARLY AT THEM, PERSONS IN INFORMED DIPLOMATIC QUARTERS BELIEVE THAT MORE THAN 50 PER CENT OF THE DIFFICULATIES CONFRONTING THE BIG THREE WILL HAVE BEEN SOLVED.

SUCH OTHER PROBLEMS AS THE UNITED STATES' POSITION IN CHINA AND GERMANY WILL FALL INTO THEIR NATURAL POSITIONS.

DESPITE ASSURANCES FROM ABROAD SUCH AS THE WASHINGTON

ATOMIC DECLARATION AND THE IMPLIED EAGERNESS OF AMERICANS AND BRITISH ON THIS MAJOR QUESTION, VETERAN OBSERVERS OF RUSSIAN ANGLO-AMERICAN RELATIONS, IN THE LIGHT OF RECENT TRENDS, HESITATED TODAY TO PREDICT A HOWLING SUCCESS FOR THE MEETING.

MOSCOW, DEC. 11 - (AP) - ON MORE THAN ONE OCCASION RECENTLY SOVIET SPOKESMEN HAVE DECLARED THAT THE USSR IS READY TO PROVE "WITH ACTION, NOT WORDS" HER DESIRE TO PARTICIPATE IN BUILDING PEACE. THE INFERENCE WAS, OF COURSE, THAT SOME OTHER NATIONS HAVE BEEN DEALING MORE IN WORDS THAN ACTIONS.

THE IDEA FOR A CONFERENCE, WHICH WAS AMERICAN-INSPIRE UNQUESTIONABLY IS A MOVE IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION, OBSERVERS SAID, BUT THE RUSSIANS ARE NOT SO POLITICALLY OR DIPLOMATICALLY IMMATURE THAT THEY WOULD ACCEPT A SUGGESTION FOR A CONFERENCE AS AN ABSOLUTE PROOF O SINCERE INTENTIONS.

THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN EMBASSIES WERE DEEP IN PREPARATIONS TODAY FOR THE ARRIVAL, PERHAPS FRIDAY, OF THEIR FOREIGN MINISTERS AND STAFFS.

FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN AND HIS IMMEDIATE ADVISERS WILL BE HOUSED AT "SOFISKAYA," THE BRITISH EMBASSY HOME AND OFFICE OF AMBASSADOR SIR ARCHIBOLD CLARK KERR, WHICH IS LOCATED ACROSS THE FROZEN MOSCOW RIVER FROM THE RED-WALLED KREMLIN AND ITS GOLDEN-TURRETTED CLUSTER OF CHURCHES.

DEC 12 1945

SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES AND HIS CLOSEST SENIOR ASSOCIATES WILL STAY AT "SPASSO HOUSE," THE LUSH MARBLE RESIDENCE OF AMERICAN AMBASSADOR W. AVERILL HARRIMAN.

THE EMBASSIES ARE LEAVING THE ENTERTAINMENT TO THE RUSSIANS, WELL AWARE THAT SPECIAL THEATER PARTIES, LUNCHEONS, BREAKFASTS AND DINNERS WILL BE PUT ON, SOVIET HOSPITALITY BEING WHAT IT IS.

A BALLET AND OPERA WILL MOST CERTAINLY BE STAGED ~~EXXX~~ OFFICIALLY. BEVIN, BYRNES WILL ~~ALSO PROBABLY~~ BE TAKEN TO HEAR THE GREAT RED ARMY ENSEMBLE AND ONE OR TWO OTHER SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS, FOR NEITHER HAVE BEEN IN MOSCOW BEFORE AND THE RUSSIANS ARE PROUD OF ~~SHOWING OFF THEIR REVOLUTIONARY WONDERS.~~

#

30.24 - 32321

MOSCOW, DEC. 11 - (AP) - A BUMPER RUSSIAN SUGAR CROP SENT THE PRICES OF SWEETMEATS AND PASTRY DELICACIES TUMBLING IN THE COMMERCIAL STORES TODAY, AS THE PRICE OF BREAD AND FLOUR ALSO DROPPED.

THE PRICE OF GRANULATED SUGAR WAS DOWN 28 PER CENT, HARD CANDIES 27 PER CENT, RYE BREAD 20 PER CENT, WHITE BREAD AND WHOTI FLOUR 14 PER CENT AND CHOCOLATE BARS AND HONEY CAKES 12 PER CENT.

IT WAS THE FIRST SIGNIFICANT PRICE DROP IN THE COMMERCIAL STORES, WHICH SELL UNRATIONED GOODS AT OFFICIALLY HIGHER PRICES THAN THE BUYER PAYS FOR RATIONED PRODUCTS, SINCE LAST AUGUST AND RUSSIANS HAVE BEEN EXPECTING IT BECAUSE OF THE LARGE SUGAR YIELD FROM TASHKENT AND THE UKRAINE AND A BIG INCREASE IN CONFECTIONARY PRODUCTION.

ADD ATHENS-EAM xxx THE MOVE

THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE ANNOUNCEMENT CLAIMED THE GOVERNMENT HAD NOT "FULFILLED THE POLITICAL REPUBLICAN CONDITIONS NOR TAKEN ANY MEASURE TO IMPOSE ECONOMIC BURDENS ON THE REICH," AND THAT IT WAS PURSUING A POLICY WHICH "LED GREECE TO INTERNAL ANARCHY, ECONOMI DISLOCATION AND EXTERNAL ISOLATION."

DEC 12 1945

GOVERNMENT HAS ABUSED THE CONFIDENCE AND SUPPORT OF EAM AND BETRAYED ITS REPUBLICAN PROMISES AND SUPREME NATIONAL INTERESTS AND THE FORMATION OF A REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT WITH FULL PARTICIPATION OF THE NATIONAL RESISTANCE MOVEMENT," THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID.

THE CABINET PASSED THE AMNESTY MEASURE IN AN EMERGENCY SESSION LAST NIGHT, AND THE GOVERNMENT ESTIMATED THAT 80 PER CENT OF EAM DETAINEES WOULD BE RELEASED UNDER THE NEW LAW. BUT THE EAM DEMANDED THAT THE AMNESTY APPLY TO ALL POLITICAL PRISONERS EXCEPT CERTAIN ONES CHARGED WITH MURDER DURING THE DECEMBER, 1944, REBELLION. IT CLAIMED ONLY ABOUT 50 PER CENT OF ITS MEMBERS WOULD BE RELEASED UNDER THE NEW MEASURE.

RUMORS PERSISTED THAT THE AMNESTY MEASURE WAS PROTESTED BY AT LEAST FIVE CABINET MINISTERS, INCLUDING FOREIGN MINISTER JOHN SOPHIANOPOULIS

GOVERNMENT SOURCES SAID THE LAW SPECIFIES THAT THOSE STILL DETAINED MUST BE RELEASED IF NOT TRIED WITHIN 100 AYS.

CHOU ADDED THAT THE POLICY OF AMERICAN "MILITARY INTERVENTION" IN CHINA PURSUED BY MAJ. GEN. PATRICK J. HURLEY, MARSHALL'S PREDECESSOR, MUST BE DISCONTINUED. ADD YENAN (RODGRICK) XXX FORCE

"IF HURLEY'S POLICY IS NOT ABANDONED, THEN CHINA CANNOT ENJOY THE PEACE WHICH HAS COME TO THE REST OF THE WORD," HE TOLD THE CHEERING CROWD.

CHOU LATER TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS THAT THE COMMUNIST DELEGATION TO THE FORTHCOMING PEACE TALKS AT CHUNGKING WOULD LEAVE DEC. 14 OR 15.

THE DELEGATION'S DEPARTURE HAS BEEN DELAYED BY DISCUSSIONS BY PARTY LEADERS OF PROBLEMS TO BE CONSIDERED AND THE BASIS OF THE NEW CONSTITUTION PROPOSED BY THE COMMUNISTS.

CHOU SAID THAT MAO TZE-TUNG, THE COMMUNIST LEADER, HAD PARTICIPATED IN TALKS TWO MONTHS AGO WITH GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK AND HAD PROPOSED IN VAIN THE IMMEDIATE ESTABLISHMENT OF A PROVISIONAL DEMOCRATIC COALITION GOVERNMENT TO HOLD OFFICE UNTIL THE NATION COULD HAVE A GENERAL ELECTION.

CHOU SAID CHIANG ALSO REFUSED MAO'S DEMAND FOR UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE IN CHINA WITH FREE ELECTIONS FOR CHOOSING A NATIONAL ASSEMBLY. (AN ASSEMBLY WHICH CHIANG HAS CALLED FOR MAY 5, 1946 IS PACKED, COMMUNISTS ALLEGE, WITH KYOMINTANG DELEGATES ELECTED 10 YEARS AGO).

CHOU SAID THAT WHEN THESE PROPOSALS WERE REJECTED, MAO ASKED FOR LOCAL DEMOCRATIC COALITIONS TO BE APPLIED TO THE LIBERATED AREA NOW HELD BY THE COMMUNISTS. CHIANG APPROVED ORALLY, BUT COMPLAINED THESE GOVERNMENTS WOULD NOT BE REPRESENTATIVE, CHOUS ADDED.

TO THAT OBJECTION, MAO SUGGESTED THAT ELECTIONS BE CONDUCTED UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF A PEOPLES CONSULTIVE COUNCIL. BUT CHIANG DEMURRED, CHOU SAID. WITHOUT SUCH A CONCESSION, DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT CANNOT BE REALIZED, HE TOLD THE CROWD.

WW713APS NM

SHANGHAI, DEC 11-(AP)-LT.GEN.ALBERT C.WEDEMEYER SAID TODAY THAT HIS CONVERSATIONS WITH GENERAL MACARTHUR AND OTHER TOP UNITED STATES COMMANDERS IN TOKYO LAST WEEK-END CONCERNED PRIMARILY THE REPATRIATION OF UP TO 6,000,000 JAPANESE OUTSIDE THEIR HOMELAND.

RETURNING TO SHANGHAI, THE COMMANDER OF UNITED STATES FORCES IN CHINA DECLARED:

"OUR BIGGEST PROBLEM IS TO GET SHIPPING ALLOCATED EQUITABLY TO THE VARIOUS AREAS TO INSURE A STEADY AND MAXIMUM FLOW OF JAPANESE TO NIPPON."

WEDEMEYER ESTIMATED THAT 70 PER CENT OF THE JAPANESE TROOPS IN CHINA, NORTHERN FRENCH INDOCHINA AND FORMOSA HAD BEEN DISARMED.

AS TO AMERICAN PERSONNEL UNDER HIS COMMAND, THE GENERAL SAID ABOUT 16,000 REMAINED BUT BY THE FIRST OF THE YEAR THIS NUMBER WOULD BE REDUCED TO 6,000. THIS IS EXCLUSIVE OF ~~5,300~~ 53,000 MARINES IN NORTH CHINA.

//

CALCUTTA, DEC. 11, -- (AP) -- THE ALL-INDIA CONGRESS PARTY, IN ONE OF THREE RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED TONIGHT, NOTED "WITH REGRET THAT THE UNITED STATES HAVE BY THEIR PASSIVE ATTITUDE ENCOURAGED IMPERIALISTIC AGGRESSION IN INDONESIA AND INDOCHINA".

THE RESOLUTION, CRITICISING THE AMERICAN POLICY IN INDONESIA AND INDOCHINA, PROFESSED RESENTMENT TOWARD "ANY SUPPORT FROM ANY QUARTER TO IMPERIALISTIC DESIGNS IN THESE OR OTHER COUNTRIES, AND TERMED SUCH SUPPORT AS A "CULPABLE VIOLATION OF THE PROFESSED AIMS OF THE UNITED NATIONS AND THE UNDENIABLE RIGHTS OF THE ASIAN NATIONALS"

DEC 12 1945

THE CONGRESS EXPRESSED ITS "ADMIRATION AND SYMPATHY FOR THE VALIANT STRUGGLE IN THE DEFENSE OF THEIR NEWLY WON REPUBLIC AND INDEPENDENCE WHICH THE PEOPLE OF INDONESIA HAVE BEEN CARRYING ON WITH STEADFAST COURAGE AND DETERMINATION AGAINST DUTCH AND BRITISH FORCES."

ANOTHER RESOLUTION REITERATED THE PARTY'S NON-VIOLENCE CREED, AND A THIRD DEMANDED AN "OPEN IMPARTIAL JUDICIAL INQUIRY BY THE BENGAL GOVERNMENT" INTO RECENT RIOTS IN CALCUTTA. THE RESOLUTIONS WERE ADOPTED AFTER A FIVE-DAY DELIBERATION.

SAIGON, INDOCHINA, DEC 11-(AP)-QUESTIONING OF 8,818 PERSONS FORMERLY HELD AS PRISONERS OF WAR BY THE JAPANESE HAS RESULTED IN A COMPILATION OF 2,000 WAR CRIMES CHARGES AGAINST JAPANESE IN SOUTHERN INDOCHINA.

30.24 - 32323

THE FORMER PRISONERS ARE AMERICANS, BRITISH, AUSTRALIANS, DUTCH, FRENCH AND INDIANS.

TWENTY JAPANESE HAVE BEEN ACCUSED AS MAJOR WAR CRIMINALS AS A RESULT OF THE CHARGES AND 380 OTHERS HAVE BEEN BLACKLISTED. OF THE TOTAL, APPROXIMATELY 150 HAVE BEEN ARRESTED SO FAR.

JJ1017AES

ADD KWAJALEIN - ATROCITY  PUBLIC

ARMY CAPT.MASAKI ABE AND ENSIGN YUTAKA TANAKA WERE GIVEN LIFE SENTENCES AND LT.YASUYOSHI KADOTA AND ENSIGN HARUSHI MOTOMURA RECEIVED 20 YEARS FOR THEIR ROLES IN THE SLAYINGS. #

TOKYO--~~FIRST ADD SECOND NIGHT LEAD~~ JAPANESE INSERT (1) (SPENCER)
X X X COMMIT ATROCITIES.

HOMMA, ONCE COMMANDER OF JAPANESE FORCES IN THE PHILIPPINES, WAS THE MOST CHEERFUL OF THE TRIO AS THEY EMERGED FROM THE PRISON IN THE COLD, EARLY MORNING AIR FOR A FLIGHT TO MANILA. HE IS DUE THERE TONIGHT. EACH CARRIED A LITTLE BUNDLE OF BELONGINGS. OHTA WAS FROWNING. NAGAHAMA ATTEMPTED TO HIDE HIS FACE AS ASSOCIATED PRESS PHOTOGRAPHER CHARLES GORRY SNAPPED A PICTURE OF THEIR DEPARTURE.

THE OFFICERS WERE IN CUSTODY OF LT.RAYMOND ARMSTRONG OF NEW YORK AND LT.ROBERT WOOD OF CHICAGO.

FOLO WASHINGTON PEARL HARBOR (220)

TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 12-(AP)-AN "ERROR IN PROCEDURE" PREVENTED JAPAN'S WAR DECLARATION FROM REACHING THE STATE DEPARTMENT AT WASHINGTON BEFORE THE ATTACK ON PEARL HARBOR, PREMIER SHIDEHARA TOLD THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES YESTERDAY.

HE ALSO SAID THAT FORMER FOREIGN MINISTER SHIGENORI TOGO DELIVERED PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S PERSONAL TELEGRAM OF DEC. 6 TO THE EMPEROR 55 MINUTES BEFORE THE ATTACK BEGAN.

SHIDEHARA'S REPLIES WERE MADE TO QUESTIONS BY RYO KOYAMA, AN INDEPENDENT REPRESENTATIVE, AT A PLENARY SESSION OF THE HOUSE BUDGET COMMITTEE.

SHIDEHARA DID NOT ELABORATE ON THE "ERROR IN PROCEDURE." SABURO KURUSU, SPECIAL ENVOY TO WASHINGTON, PREVIOUSLY HAD TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS THAT A VITAL TELEGRAM ARRIVED TOO GARBLED FOR DELIVERY WITHIN THE TIME LIMIT. SHIDEHARA SAID PRIOR ARRANGEMENTS WERE FOR THE TELEGRAM OF "NOTIFICATION ENDING AMERICAN-JAPANESE NEGOTIATIONS" TO BE DELIVERED A HALF HOUR BEFORE THE ATTACK.

SHIDEHARA SAID THAT PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S PERSONAL APPEAL TO THE EMPEROR TO AVOID WAR WAS RECEIVED FROM THEIR AMBASSADOR JOSEPH C. GREW AT ABOUT 12:30 A.M. ON DEC. 8 (TOKYO TIME) AND TOGO PROCEEDED TO THE IMPERIAL PALACE TWO HOURS LATER WHERE HE REPORTED "THE MATTER TO THE THRONE." THAT WOULD BE 2:30 A.M. THE PEARL HARBOR ATTACK BEGAN AT 3:25 A.M. DEC. 8, 1941 (TOKYO TIME) WHICH WAS 7:55 A.M. DEC. 7 HONOLULU TIME.

THE PREMIER OFFERED NO EXPLANATION FOR THE TWO HOUR DELAY IN DELIVERY OF THE MESSAGE.

JQ1119PCS

A144PA

(130)

TOKYO,TUESDAY,DEC.11-(AP)-LT.GEN.C.P.HALL, ACTING COMMANDER OF THE EIGHTH ARMY, TODAY ANNOUNCED ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE FIRST WAR CRIMES TRIALS IN JAPAN, SCHEDULED TO OPEN IN YOKOHAMA NEXT TUESDAY.

SOME 300 DEFENDANTS WILL BE TRIED BEFORE MILITARY COMMISSIONS OF FIVE TO EIGHT MEMBERS EACH--HIGH RANKING ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS AND CIVILIANS APPOINTED BY HALL. ONE LAW MEMBER IS SPECIFIED FOR EACH COMMISSION.

A SPECIAL UNIT OF THE JUDGE ADVOCATE'S DEPARTMENT, KNOWN AS THE WAR CRIMES DEFENSE SECTION, WILL DEFEND THE SUSPECTS, CHARGED MAINLY WITH MISTREATMENT OF ALLIED PRISONERS OF WAR. CHIEFS OF DEFENSE COUNSEL ARE LT.COL.JAMES DICKINSON, JACKSONVILLE,FLA., AND MAJ.HAROLD H.EMMONS,JR., DETROIT. TEN ASSISTANTS WILL WORK WITH THEM.

THREE COURTROOMS NOW ARE AVAILABLE IN YOKOHAMA AND TWO MORE WILL BE AFTER JAN. 1. SEVERAL TRIALS ARE EXPECTED TO BE CONDUCTED CONCURRENTLY.

DS1011PPS NM

TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, DEC.12-(AP)-A PETITION REQUESTING THAT LT. GEN.TOMOYUKI YAMASHITA BE SPARED THE DEATH PENALTY WAS CIRCULATED IN DOWNTOWN TOKYO TODAY.

YAMASHITA WAS CONVICTED A FEW DAYS AGO OF CONDONING MASS OUTRAGES BY HIS PHILIPPINES TROOPS AND WAS SENTENCED TO BE HANGED. ONE OF HIS THREE APPEALS FROM THE VERDICT SOON IS EXPECTED TO REACH GENERAL MACARTHUR HERE.

DEC 12 1945

MEN, WOMEN AND SCHOOL CHILDREN WERE SIGNING THE PETITION, CIRCULATED BY TOICHIRO ARAKI, CHIEF OF THE ARAKI EFFICIENCY RESEARCH STATION.

ARAKI SAID THAT AS SOON AS HE OBTAINED 100,000 SIGNATURES HE WOULD PRESENT THE PLEA TO MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS.

JQ1123PCS

TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, DEC.12-(AP)-A RETURNING JAPANESE INFANTRYMAN TODAY TOLD KYODO NEWS AGENCY THAT STARVING JAPANESE TROOPS ON LEYTE KILLED AND ATE THEIR FELLOW SOLDIERS.

OFFICERS, HOWEVER, NOT ONLY HAD PLENTY OF FOOD BUT ALSO HAD FILIPINO WOMEN UNTIL THE SURRENDER, ADDED THE INFANTRYMEN, SUPERIOR PVT.SHIGEO AOKI.

HE SAID HIS DIVISION, THE TAMA, WAS TWO-THIRDS ANNIHILATED WITHIN THREE HOURS AFTER IT BEGAN RESISTING AMERICAN FORCES NEAR TACLOBAN LAST FALL.

THE FOOD SITUATION WAS SO SEVERE THAT "JAPANESE BEGAN TO EAT THE FLESH OF THOSE WHO HAD DIED OR BEEN KILLED," AOKI SAID. "THEN THEY BEGAN TO AMBUSH AND KILL EACH OTHER AND ONE SOLDIER WOULD BOAST 'I ATE SEVERAL FELLOWS TODAY.'

"ON THE NEXT DAY, HE, HE WOULD BE EATEN BY HIS COMRADES."

THE SOLDIER SAID THE LEYTE GARRISON, AT THE TIME IT LEARNED OF THE JAPANESE SURRENDER ON SEPT.18--FIVE WEEKS AFTER THE EMPEROR CAPITULATED--HAD BEEN REDUCED TO 400 FROM AN ORIGINAL CRACK FORCE OF 120,000.

JQ1131PCS NM

MELBOURNE, DEC 11-(AP)-MAJ.GORDON WALKER, LT.GEN.HENRY GORDON BENNETT'S AIDE AT SINGAPORE, TOLD A MILITARY COMMISSION INQUIRING INTO HIS COMMANDER'S ESCAPE FROM THE NAVAL BASE FOLLOWING ITS CONQUEST BY THE JAPANESE THAT "WE ALL FELT HE HAD SOMETHING OF UNTOLD VALOR TO TELL AUSTRALIA IF WE COULD GET HIM BACK."

WALKER, WHO HAD FLOWN FROM ENGLAND TO AUSTRALIA TO GIVE EVIDENCE AT THE INQUIRY, DENIED THAT THE MAIN OBJECT IN GETTING BENNETT BACK TO AUSTRALIA WAS TO ASSURE HIS PERSONAL SAFETY.

HE DECLARED THAT BENNETT HAD DEVELOPED METHODS AND TACTICS WHICH HAD PROVED SUCCESSFUL AGAINST THE JAPANESE AND SAID THAT THE "TYPE OF TRAINING GOING ON IN AUSTRALIA WAS NOT SUITABLE FOR THE TYPE OF WARFARE IN MALAYA."

"IN MY OPINION," WALKER ADDED, "IT WAS IMPORTANT THAT BENNETT SHOULD GET BACK IF HE COULD."

THE GENERAL IDEA OF THE ESCAPE HAD BEEN DISCUSSED IN GENERAL TERMS WITH A NUMBER OF STAFF OFFICERS AT HEADQUARTERS, FOUR OR FIVE DAYS BEFORE THE SURRENDER OF SINGAPORE ON FEB.15, 1942, WALKER SAID.

WALKER WAS THE LAST WITNESS AT THE INQUIRY, ADDRESSES BY COUNSEL WILL BE GIVEN TOMORROW.

JJ837AES

BROADCAST
NEW YORK, DEC. 11--THE HUNGARIAN GOVERNMENT HAS "DECIDED TO DISSOLVE THE HUNGARIAN-RUSSIAN TRADE COMPANY," AN ORGANIZATION SET UP IN THE RECENT RUSSO-HUNGARIAN TRADE TREATY TO CO-ORDINATE COMMERCIAL RELATIONS BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES, BBC SAID TONIGHT.
BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES HAVE PROTESTED THE SIGNING OF THE HUNGARIAN TRADE TREATY WITH RUSSIA.
THE BROADCAST WAS REPORTED BY NBC.

EJ1140PES

NEW YORK, DEC. 11-(AP)-THE HERALD TRIBUNE SAYS THAT 1,500 GERMAN SCIENTISTS AND TECHNICIANS OF OUTSTANDING REPUTATION HAVE BEEN ENTERIN THE UNITED STATES FOR THE LAST FIVE MONTHS TO AID AMERICAN INDUSTRY IN UTILIZING PROCESSES, INVENTIONS AND MANUFACTURING SECRETS DISCOVERED BY ALLIED AGENTS AFTER GERMANY'S SURRENDER.

THE HERALD TRIBUNE CONTINUES: "WHILE THEIR COMING AT FIRST WAS UNDERSTOOD TO BE AT THE EXPRESS INVITATION OF THE WAR DEPARTMENT OT ACQUAINT THE ARMY AND NAVY WITH GERMAN DEVELOPMENTS AND IDEAS IN WAR WEAPONS, SEVERAL OTHER GOVERNMENT AGENCIES HAVE SINCE FOUND REASON TO SEEK THEM OUT AND ENLIST THEIR SERVICES IN VARIOUS INDUSTRIAL LINES."

SUCH AGENCIES, THE NEWSPAPER SAYS, INCLUDE THE FOREIGN ECONOMIC ADMINISTRATION, THE DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR AND THE WAR PRODUCTION BOARD.

DEC 12 1945

THE STORY STATES THAT ALL OF THE BIG THREE POWERS SHORTLY AFTER V-E DAY BEGAN TO SEARCH GERMAN SCIENTIFIC RESOURCES TO LEARN HOW MUCH THE GERMANS KNEW ABOUT ATOMIC ENERGY, RADAR, ROCKETS AND OTHER MILITARY DEVICES, BUT ADDS THAT THE UNITED STATES WAS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL IN ROUNDING UP GERMAN TECHNOLOGICAL MAN-POWER.

THE SCIENTISTS HAVE BEEN BROUGHT HERE SECRETLY IN GROUPS UP TO 88, UNDER DIRECT SUPERVISION OF ARMY INTELLIGENCE, THE HERALD TRIBUNE REPORTS. NO PUBLIC IDENTIFICATION OF THOSE ARRIVING IS PERMITTED. THE TECHNOLOGISTS CAME HERE VOLUNTARILY, WITHOUT THEIR FAMILIES, THE NEWSPAPER SAYS, AND ARE PAID ACCORDING TO THEIR ABILITIES.

THEY ARE HERE TEMPORARILY, THE HERALD TRIBUNE STATES, BUT ADDS "IT IS BELIEVED THAT MANY WILL SEEK TO REMAIN HERE AFTER THEIR WORK IS FINISHED."

BJ&Z1212AES

B27 EGO

DEC 12 1945

NEW YORK, DEC 11-(AP)-THREE JOURNALISTS OF BRAZIL, VENEZUELA AND THE UNITED STATES TODAY WILL RECEIVE MARIA MOORS CABOT GOLD MEDALS, AWARDED ANNUALLY BY THE TRUSTEES OF COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY FOR CONTRIBUTIONS TO INTERNATIONAL FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN THE AMERICAS.

DEAN CARL W.ACKERMAN OF COLUMBIA'S GRADUATE SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM SAID THE WINNERS WERE TOM WALLACE OF THE LOUISVILLE TIMES, FRANCISCO DE ASSIS CHATEAUBRIAND OF "DIARIOS ASSOCIADOS" OF RIO DE JANEIRO, AND LUIS TEOFILO NUNEZ OF EL UNIVERSAL OF CARACAS.

THE MEDALS WILL BE PRESENTED BY ACTING PRESIDENT FRANK D.FACKENTHAL OF COLUTBIA AT THE SEVENTH ANNUAL MARIA MOORS CABOT CONVOCATION. THE THREE NEWSPAPERS WILL BE AWARDED SILVER PLAQUES MOUNTED ON EBONY.

WALLACE, EDITOR OF THE LOUISVILLE TIMES SINCE 1930, DIRECTOR AND FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF NEWSPAPER EDITORS, "HAS AN INTERNATIONAL REPUTATION AS A VIGOROUS CHAMPION OF AMERICAN JOURNALISTIC IDEALS," THE COLUMBIA ANNOUNCEMENT SAID.

"BECAUSE HE HAS MAINTAINED AN ALERT INTEREST IN INTER-AMERICAN

30.24— 32325

missing —

30.24-32327

COMMONS URGED TO APPROVE LOAN

WILLIANS

LONDON, Dec. 12 — (AP) Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton told Commons tonight that rejection of the 4,400,000,000 Anglo-American loan agreement would plunge Britain into hunger, and result in "disaster to the whole future of international cooperation."

In an appeal which gained passive support from the Conservative side, Dalton asked the House to approve the entire financial agreement, which includes final settlement of Lend-Lease, proposals for an international trade organization, and ratification of the Bretton Woods plan.

"We should have to undergo greater privations and hardship in the terms of our economic life than even during the war," Dalton said, "and all those bright hopes of better times in the hour of victory would be dissipated in despair and grave disillusion."

Sir John Anderson, independent, said, "though there is much to be said in criticism of these arrangements, I, for my part, do not doubt that the government have secured the best terms that were open to them in existing circumstances."

Taking a course reportedly recommended by Winston Churchill at a Conservative party meeting this morning, Anderson said he and his friends "have concluded that we should not oppose the motion which is before the House . . . on the other hand, we will not vote for it, and we advise our supporters similarly to abstain."

Anderson's attitude was not shared by Robert Boothby, Scottish Conservative, who said he would call for a vote against the government tomorrow night. Boothby asserted the Labor government never had been given "a mandate to sell the British empire for a packet of cigarettes."

Initiating parliamentary debate on the loan and on proposed approval of the Bretton Woods monetary plan, Dalton said that Great Britain originally asked for a grant, or an interest-free loan.

"This agreement—let us be frank—is the result of three months not merely of very intricate discussion, but of some very hard bargaining," he said. "And I frankly tell the House that more than once we have been very near to breaking down in these discussions. But in spite of all this I ask the House to approve this agreement as giving us on balance, substantial and indispensable advantages."

For Bretton Woods Plan.

Without accepting the loan, Great Britain does not have the financial strength to undertake the obligations of international monetary stabilization planned by the Bretton Woods proposal, Dalton said.

Dalton urged approval of the Bretton Woods plan and said the stabilization fund would prevent a recurrence of pre-war monetary devaluation by which the country "was constantly being knocked right or left without warning or sufficient reason by foreigners depreciating their currency."

Declaring the Bretton Woods plan would promote more stable exchange rates, the Chancellor added: "But this is not a return to the gold standard."

What Alternative?

To critics of the loan terms, Dalton said: "I would put one blunt question; what is your alternative?"

Rejection of the agreement, he asserted, "would mean dissipation of all hope of Anglo-American co-operation in this most dangerous new world into which we are moving."

"If these agreements were not accepted," said Dalton, "we would have less food of every kind except bread and potatoes; very much less cotton and tobacco, which would have an almost deleterious effect on the morale of our people."

Also Sees Hard Bargain.

Sir John Anderson, Conservative former Chancellor of the Exchequer, followed Dalton and urged an affirmative vote on both the loan and the Bretton Woods plan.

"Though there is much to be said in criticism of these arrangements," said the one-time financial executive, "I, for my part, do not doubt that the Government have secured the best terms that were open to them in existing circumstances."

Observing that Britain must accept "a very hard bargain," Sir John added, wryly: "There is no support here for the theory, in fact entirely baseless, but widely held on the other side, that when an American and a Briton get together in a deal, the American is always outsmarted."

Sir John said he and his friends had decided to neither oppose the motion nor vote for it, and we advise our supporters similarly to abstain."

The appeal was rejected, however, by Robert Boothby, Scottish Conservative, who announced he would seek a vote tomorrow night and called fo ra vote against the Government.

Sees Congress Opposition

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP).—Ratification of the proposed $4,400,000,000 loan to Great Britain "will have hard sledding in Congress," Representative Emanuel Celler, Democrat, of New York, said today.

"The loan agreement," he added in a statement, "is so full of escape clauses, weasel words and abracadabra as to permit Great Britain to do anything she pleases after she receives the money.

"The promises to pay are loaded with ambiguities. The qualifications practically nullify the apparent pledges. The double talk is bound to lead to misunderstandings, charges of bad faith, and, as they were the last time, Anglo-American relations will be poisoned again."

Dalton for Accepting U. S. Loan

Urges Commons to Ratify Agreement Saying It Was Result of Very Hard Bargaining.

London, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton, urging Commons to ratify the $4,400,000,000 United States loan to Britain, said today that the agreement was the result "of some very hard bargaining."

U. S. DELEGATE OPPOSES RULES FOR UNO COUNCIL

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(AP) The United States delegation to the preparatory commission declared today against tampering with the 11-member security council which it termed "the teeth of the United Nations."

Donald Blaisdell, U. S. delegate, opposing a Syrian attempt to establish rules of procedure for the council, said "If we agreed to this the security council might assume we do not have confidence in its competence."

The Syrian delegation had suggested that relations with the military staff committee, peaceful settlement of disputes and questions of strategic areas in trusteeship territories should be among the first subjects the security council should consider when it was established.

PLAN TO CURB UNO IS OPPOSED BY U. S.

London, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Donald Blaisdell, United States delegate to the United Nations Preparatory Commission, opposed today a Syrian attempt to establish rules of procedure for the world organization's security council. He said that the security council should be left free to develop its own rules of procedure "in the interest of handling the issues that will come up."

Syria had suggested that a specific program be presented for consideration by the security council as soon as that body was established. Blaisdell contended that "if we agree to this the security council might assume we do not have confidence in its competence."

Meanwhile debate on a proposal to establish the permanent home of the United Nations Organization in the United States entered its fifth day with Soviet Russia lined up on the side of those members favoring the move.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko told the preparatory commission last night that establishment of the world peace agency's headquarters in Europe would make it merely a regional organization.

The steering committee last night set January 10 as the opening date of the United Nations assembly.

Ex-Governor Gets Dutch Envoy Post

Rotterdam, Dec. 12 (AP)—The newspaper Nationale Rotterdamsche Courant reported today that former governor-general of the Dutch East Indies, Tjarda van Starkenborgh Stachouwer, would be appointed by Queen Wilhelmina as the new Dutch Ambassador to France.

At one time he was commander of Dutch troops in the Far East and was held by the Japanese in the same Manchurian prison camp with Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright. He was last reported to be in Baltimore, where he was reunited with his American-born wife, the former Christine Marburg.

The former governor-general arrived in Baltimore early last month to rejoin his wife, visiting relatives here.

Swiss Expand Atom Study

Bern, Switzerland, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Swiss Government has decided to co-ordinate and expand its research work on atomic energy. Prof. P. Scherrer was named chairman of a commission to study civilian and military uses of atomic energy and to co-operate with private industry in possible civilian uses.

Dutch Sentence Mussert To Die as Collaborator

By The Associated Press.

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands, Dec. 12—A special court today decreed death for Anton Mussert, leader of the Nazi party in the Netherlands, convicted of having collaborated with the Germans.

The 51-year-old Mussert, who founded and led the Netherlands National Socialist party, was tried before a special tribunal in a court room that was once the ballroom of Princess Juliana's palace.

Appointed in December, 1942, by Hitler as "leader of the Netherlands people," Mussert, who was arrested last May, testified at his trial that he still had unwavering faith in Hitler and that he had once proposed to the Chancellor that the Netherlands become part of a "League of Germanic Peoples."

Some Berlin Civilians To Receive More Food

Berlin, Dec. 12 (AP)—One-third of Berlin's civilian population will receive increased food rations this winter because of the fuel shortage.

The Allied Control Authority's co-ordinating committee today authorized an increase in the rations of the city's lowest civilian category from 1,248 to 1,500 calories daily.

The category includes 1,000,000 persons, mostly housewives and other adults not employed in outside work.

4 U.S. Correspondents Invited To Russ Zone

Berlin, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Russians will open their occupation zone of Germany next week to four American correspondents in the first of a series of invitational tours on which "complete freedom of movement and observation" has been promised.

Selected by the Russians from a list of twenty applicants for the first trip were Richard Kasischke, of the Associated Press; Charles Arnot, of the United Press; Gladwin Hill, of the New York Times; and Russell Hill, of the New York Herald-Tribune. These correspondents were invited by the Russians to select an itinerary and a starting time and to state how long they wished to remain.

The tour is the result of an agreement between General Eisenhower and Marshal Georgi Zhukov that there should be exchanges of correspondents between the Russian and American zones.

Nazi Orders on Slave Labor Read at War Crimes Trial

DE LUCE

NUERNBERG, Dec. 12. — (AP) Six leading Nazis were accused today by their own documents of engineering the brutal, sub-human enslavement of more than 6,500,000 foreign workers through ruthless manhunts, arson and murder.

So revolting was the testimony that even their fellow defendants among the 21 leaders facing the international military tribunal edged away from them as silver-haired assistant U. S. Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd produced document after damning document.

Fritz Sauckel, responsible only to Hitler as Reich plenipotentiary for labor allocation, was portrayed as the chief architect of the labor enslavement program which so disgusted even Nazi underlings that they dared complain of inhuman treatment.

Prisoners Died of Hunger

The documents told of prisoners dying like flies from hunger; of whole villages burned to force laborers into the Reich; "limitless abuse of Slavic humanity" which had its "origin in the blackest periods of the slave trade."

They told of humans being hunted down in wild manhunts by the SS, without consideration for health or age, gathering humans into their net "like dog catchers catch dogs." They told of captive women being beaten until they no longer could march; of babies born on slave trains being thrown out of train windows.

Presiding Lord Justice Geoffrey Lawrence called special attention of the court to a line in an order to SS kidnappers from the security police in March, 1943, concerning the recruitment of workers from Poland and Russia.

"As a rule, no more children will be shot," the order said.

Drawn into the net of evidence with Nazi labor czar Sauckel were Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, who in one cynical order directed that Russian slave workers provide their own food such as "cats and horses, etc.;" Munitions Minister Albert Speer, who with Goering, bid for the slave workers for his program; Nazi philosopher Alfred Rosenberg, who protested some of the more revolting of Sauckel's methods but never their objective.

Built Fortifications

Also implicated were Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, who initialled a Hitler order for use of slave labor on Atlantic wall fortifications and Hans Frank, governor general for Poland, who provided hordes of hapless humans for the Nazi slave program.

A tabulation drafted from Nazi and Allied files for the prosecution showed that 6,691,000 foreign workers were put to work in the Reich up to January, 1945.

Dodd read the text of an agreement between Heinrich Himmler and the Nazi Ministry of Justice which decreed that "anti-social elements" should be delivered to Himmler's SS divisions "to be worked to death."

These "anti-social elements," the decree said, should include "Jews, Gypsies, Russians, Ukrainians, Poles with more than three-year sentences and Czechs and Germans with eight-year sentences."

A Sauckel speech to a March 1, 1944, Nazi meeting said that "of the more than 5,000,000 (foreign) laborers in Germany, not more than 200,000 came voluntarily."

The Germans burned whole Russian villages in the ceaseless hunt for slave labor in the Ukraine, a Rosenberg ministry document said. In France, Holland and other occupied countries, the search went on relentlessly.

Protest Revealed

One Nazi underling protested in October, 1942: "Since male and female workers often are not given any time to pack luggage, many arrive without clothing or drinking utensils. x x x In some cases the women were beaten until they could no longer march."

From the files of the Krupp munitions works, Dodd read this document"During the last few days we have established that food for the Russians employed here is so miserable that the people are getting weaker every day."

The document disclosed that French prisoners of war were kept in dog kennels and urinals when raids destroyed the barracks, and Dodd said the conditions were typical of other factories.

Other documents told of the suffering of children—cases of undernourished eight-year-olds put at forced labor and perishing from the treatment.

"Special treatment" was ordered by Himmler in February, 1942, for unruly or fugitive workers. "Special treatment," the order added, was hanging. Hanging also was decreed for male Russians involved sexually with German women.

On April 4, 1942, concentration camp commanders were ordered to provide "exhaustive employment for inmates" and to give "no limit to working hours." Slack laborers were to be thrown into these camps.

Nazi Slave-Labor Man Hunt Described

GALLAGHER

Nuernberg, Dec. 12 (AP)—More than 4,000,000 conquered laborers were forced into virtual slavery in Germany by murder, starvation, arson and kidnapping, American prosecutors disclosed today at the war-crimes trial of 21 Nazi war leaders.

The carefully planned slave system to provide workers for German war plants and farms was described as a "wild and ruthless man hunt carried on everywhere," in a Nazi labor commissioner's own words presented as evidence before the International Military Tribunal.

Pressing the charges of "crimes against humanity" against Adolf Hitler's top aides, Assistant United States Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd disclosed by the German's own records that more than 4,000,000 men, women and children of fourteen different nationalities had been shipped to the Reich like cattle to bolster the Nazi war machine by January, 1945.

Unofficial Tabulation Higher

Although Prosecutor Dodd limited his estimate of slave laborers to "more than 4,000,000," an unofficial tabulation drafted from Nazi and Allied court records placed the total of foreign workers at 6,691,000 by January, 1945.

As details of the Nazi slave-labor system were unfolded before the court, even the accused Hitlerites stirred uneasily and some pulled away in their seats from the trio named by Dodd as chiefly responsible—bull-necked Fritz Sauckel, SS General and Reich labor commissioner; suave Alfred Rosenberg, official Nazi philosopher and administrator of the occupied Ukraine, and Albert Speer, Reich Amunitions Minister.

One report taken from Rosenberg's files revealed that babies born on slave-labor trains were thrown from the windows.

Speer's Face In Hands

Speer sat with his face in his hands as Prosecutor Dodd declared that "force and brutality as a method of production found a ready adherent in the defendant Speer."

Hitler ordered forced labor for 2,000,000 Russians and Poles in October, 1942, and an additional 1,000,000 in March, 1943, the evidence disclosed.

Writing to Rosenberg on March 18, 1943, Sauckel ordered the shipment of captive laborers to be speeded up to 10,000 a day.

Sauckel's own representative in the Ukraine warned that "the wild and ruthless man hunt carried on everywhere—in towns and country, in streets, squares, stations, even in churches and at night in houses—has badly shaken the feeling of security everywhere." The comment, sent to Hans Frank, Nazi governor of Poland, was filed with the court.

Sauckel Listened

Pudgy, bull-necked Sauckel, who had seldom listened to evidence previously presented in the trial, followed the reading of the documents closely by listening to the German translation through his earphones.

Dodd produced a letter from one of Rosenberg's agents in which he protested that "prisoners of war have died of hunger like flies" and said the mass deportation methods "probably have their origin only in the blackest periods of the slave trade."

"A regular man hunt was inaugurated," declared the letter, written by Consul General Dr. B. Braeutigam, a member of Rosenberg's Ministry. "Without consideration of health or age, the people were shipped to Germany, where it turned out immediately that far more than 100,000 had to be sent back because of serious illnesses or other incapabilities for work."

Fear Of Retaliation

Rosenberg apparently foresaw the day when he might be called to account for the inhumane treatment of the forced laborers. In a letter to Sauckel on December 21, 1942, he protested against the "unusual and hard measures" and expressed the fear that responsibility "will some day be held against me and my collaborators."

"Arson was used in the Ukraine to enforce conscription," Dodd said. He produced a letter to Rosenberg from a field commissioner telling of burning houses to force their occupants to go to the Reich to work.

"I decided to take the measure to show the increasingly rebellious Ukranian youth that our orders have to be followed," the agent wrote.

"Like Dogcatchers"

One Russian described the Nazis as "catching humans like dogcatchers catch dogs." The comment was in a confiscated letter that Rosenberg sent to Sauckel.

Security police were ordered to kidnap children, Dodd charged in disclosing an order of March 19, 1943, during the use of force and adding that "as a rule no more children will be shot."

Sauckel, another document revealed, had ordered the Army to seize all able-bodied youths of 15 and 16 years old in the occupied territories. Other records previously presented to the court disclosed that Rosenberg had dropped the age limit to 10 years for slave laborers.

PATTON'S CONDITION REPORTED AS GOOD

J. KING

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 12. — (AP) A medical bulletin tonight said the condition of Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., "remains good," and Mrs. Patton, after seeing her husband again today, declared herself "not the least worried."

Further optimism over the condition of the general, paralyzed after his neck was broken in an auto crash near Mannheim on Sunday, was evoked by the departure of three of his consulting surgeons.

The night bulletin saying Patton's condition "remains good," added that there had been "no significant changes since morning." The morning bulletin had described his condition as "grave," although it reported he had spent a good night.

Mrs. Patton released a statement through 7th Army headquarters saying:

"I am very happy to be here with my husband. Now that I have seen and talked with him I am not the least worried. He looks very well. His care here at the 7th Army hospital has been of the finest, and I thank everybody from the bottom of my heart."

The noontime bulletin, in which the general's condition was given as of 10 a. m., said he had "been cheered by the arrival of Mrs. Patton," and added that there had been "no improvement in paralysis."

ARMY REPORTS GEN. PATTON'S CONDITION GOOD

Wife Says She Is Not Worried After Visit to Hospital.

SOME OPTIMISM IS NOTED

3 Leading Surgical Consultants Leave Heidelberg—Warrior Called Fine Patient.

J. KING

Heidelberg, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—The condition of Gen. George S. Patton Jr. "remains good," an official bulletin said tonight. Mrs. Patton, after seeing her husband again today, said she was "not the least worried." The general's neck was broken in an automobile accident Sunday.

An optimistic indication came with the departure from Heidelberg of three top-flight surgical consultants.

Mrs. Patton released this statement through United States Seventh Army Headquarters:

"I am very happy to be here with my husband. Now that I have seen and talked with him, I am not the least worried. He looks very well. His care here at Seventh Army Hospital has been of the finest, and I thank everybody from the bottom of my heart."

The latest medical bulletin was the first to use the word "good" in describing Patton's condition. A previous bulletin said he had spent a "good night," but that his condition "remains grave."

The latest bulletin said:

"Temperature 100. Pulse 66. Respiration 24. General condition remains good. No significant changes since morning."

Feeling of Optimism.

A feeling of optimism was detected among all those well acquainted with the case, though strict regulations required all information to pass through United States Army Headquarters in Frankfurt.

The consultants who left today were Brig. Hugh Carns and Lieut.-Col. Gilbert E. Phillips, both British, and Major-Gen. A. W. Kenner, Chief United States Army Surgeon in Europe.

An earlier announcement said the colorful United States general was fully conscious, rational and taking nourishment, and that he showed "normally active" tendon reflexes.

Nurses attending Patton described him as one of their best patients and said he was accepting his paralyzed condition like a "true soldier." One of the nurses, Lieut. Bertha Hohle of Grygla, Minn., said his "sleeping was confused but he is rational when awake."

"He doesn't swear like I have heard he does," she said. "He tells me not to worry about him and go away, but I have to be there because he never wants to eat or drink. He says he will not unless he gets a shot of whisky."

Paralysis Unchanged

Doctors reported, however, that there were no signs of improvement in the paralytic condition today.

The text of the noon bulletin:

"Temperature 100. Pulse 60-64. Respiration 16-22.

"Spent a good night, slept well and is comfortable, taking nourishment. Has been cheered by the arrival of Mrs. Patton.

"There is no improvement in paralysis. Condition remains grave."

A "no visitors" sign was hung on Patton's door yesterday after his day nurse, Margery Rundell, of Ashland, Wis., protested that the room was "like the Grand Central Station."

The Army truck which collided with Patton's automobile was driven by T/5 Robert Thompson of 3095 Highland avenue, Camden, N. J.

Driver's Mother Worried.

Camden, N. J., Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Mrs. Frank Thompson when told her son had been identified as the truck driver, said, "I had a feeling when I first heard the news of the accident. I knew Bobby was stationed near Mannheim." She was under a doctor's care for nervousness, fearing her son might have been involved.

The soldier's father, Frank Thompson, said he does not believe the accident was his son's fault. He said "Bobby's always been a careful driver."

Brig. Gen. John Lentz presided over the eight-man military court.

At another trial in Dachau, Richard Drauz, Nazi Kreisleiter of Heilbronn, was sentenced today by a military court to be hanged for killing a captured American flyer by shooting him in the back of the head while the latter was handcuffed.

DACHAU NAZIS ALL CONVICTED OF ATROCITIES

40 Defendants Will Hear Sentences Tomorrow for Camp Tortures.

DEATH DECREE MEANS NOOSE

Guilty Verdict Reached by U. S. Court in 90 Minutes—SS Men Asked Mercy.

DOANE

Dachau, Germany, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—A United States Military Government court today convicted Commandant Martin Weiss and thirty-nine fellow defendants on a charge of committing atrocities at the Dachau concentration camp.

They will be sentenced tomorrow. Hanging is the penalty prescribed by United States Army headquarters for any sentenced to death for the regime of starvation, torture and murder at the Nazi horror center overrun on April 30.

The eight-officer court, headed by Brig.-Gen. John M. Lentz, received the case at noon, and deliberated only ninety minutes before reaching the verdict.

The defense wound up the twenty-four-day trial with pleas for mercy for several defendants, most of whom were SS guards, although five were camp doctors and three were prisoners used in official capacities.

DEC 13 1945

30.24—32329

40 Dachau Guards Convicted of Horrors; U. S. Military Court to Sentence Them Today

D. DOANE

DACHAU, Germany, Dec. 12 (AP)—Forty officials and guards of the notorious Dachau concentration camp were convicted today by a United States Military Court on charges of murder, torture and cruelty, the prosecution maintained that all had been guilty of participating in the "common design of extermination" by their mere place on the camp staff, regardless of the individual role they had played in the tortures described.

General Lentz first announced that the 40 would be sentenced later. Then the court decided that the sentences would be passed tomorrow morning.

The defendants received the verdict stoically. There was no visible reaction from German civilians and others in the audience of more than 300.

Malaria Experiments

Of the five doctors on trial, 74-year-old Dr. Klaus Schilling was in charge of medical experiments at the camp and was accused of killing hundreds of inmates in malaria experiments. He had begged on the witness stand to be allowed to go on with the paper work on the results, saying he needed only a desk and a chair.

Two of the other camp physicians, Fritz Hintermeier and Paul Walter, were charged with conducting "pressure" experiments on prisoners for the benefit of the German Air Force.

Troops of the United States 42d and 45th Divisions freed 32,000 tortured and emaciated men and 350 women when they overran Dachau in the April advances. It has been estimated that at least 5,000 Jews were killed in the Landsberg section of the camp alone.

Captured In April

Weiss, an SS officer, and scores of his men were taken into custody as the Americans swept into the camp with tank and bulldozer support.

Decapitation had been regarded as the probable fate of any of the Dachau war criminals sentenced to death, but United States Army instructions have reinstated hanging, as in the case of common criminals. It was explained that the Germans consider hanging "a more ignominious death" than beheading.

Defense chief Lieut. Col. Douglas Bates, of Centerville, Tenn., declared that if the defendants were guilty "of a common design of extermination" so was every German "who contributed to waging total war."

starvation. They will be sentenced tomorrow.

The court, after having deliberated ninety minutes, found the camp commandant, Martin Weiss, and all the other defendants guilty of a regime of horror at the camp, which was overrun by American troops last April 30. Dachau then housed 32,000 men and 350 women.

The defendants sentenced to die will be hanged, which Germans consider an ignominious death. The trial lasted twenty-four days.

The accused took the verdict stoically, although a few flushed when their names were read. Nor was there any demonstration by the audience of nearly 300 German civilians who filled the courtroom in the camp itself.

The convicted included five camp doctors and three prisoners who had collaborated with the Storm Troopers.

One physician, 74-year-old Dr. Klaus Schilling, was accused of having killed hundreds of inmates in malaria experiments. He had begged on the witness stand to be allowed to finish the paper work on the results, which he claimed indicated an anti-malaria vaccine.

Two others, Fritz Hintermeier and Paul Walter, were charged with conducting "pressure experiments" on prisoners for the benefit of the German Air Force.

Dachau was one of the most odious and feared of the concentration camps set up by the Hitler regime for political prisoners. Witnesses at the trial said that 5,000 Jews had been killed in one camp at Dachau; that inmates had been brutally beaten; that naked men had been immersed in ice water in experiments; that some prisoners had been sent to the crematory while still alive, and that the Nazis had bleached human heads for souvenirs.

Although most of the defendants were individually accused by prisoner witnesses of personal acts of

Canadian's Murder Described

AURICH, Germany, Dec. 12 (AP).—A former sergeant of the North Nova Scotia Highlanders, Stan Dudka, told a Canadian military court today that a German guard shot down an unresisting captured Canadian and later emptied a machine gun into him, although the prisoner made no attempt to escape.

Testifying at the trial of S. S. Major General Kurt Meyer, accused of direct responsibility in the shooting of forty-eight Canadian prisoners, Dudka, now a civilian, said that Private J. Metcalfe, himself and others were captured, searched and lined up with their faces to a wall.

"I heard a commotion," Dudka testified, "and as I turned around I saw a German guard pulling on Metcalfe's pocket. He then let go of the pocket and Metcalfe stumbled forward, and the guard fired approximately four shots at him."

"Metcalfe dropped ten feet away from the guard," Dudka continued. "He had been hit twice in the right side. The guard let him lie there for twenty minutes and then went over to him. Metcalfe moved. The guard then emptied the remainder of the magazine of his machine gun—about fifteen rounds—into Metcalfe."

Russians Pleased By Parley

Moscow, Dec. 12 (AP)—The people of the Soviet Union seem "sincerely pleased" with the forthcoming conference of foreign ministers here, an informed source said today, as preparations were made for the arrival of James F. Byrnes, United States Secretary of State.

Byrnes and his party were expected to arrive tomorrow for the British - American - Russian discussions opening Saturday, but a heavy snow was falling in Moscow and northwest Russia tonight, and it was likely that if such weather continued the group might not arrive until week's end.

Iranian Premier Going To Moscow For Talks

Tehran, Dec. 12 (AP)—Iranian Premier Ibrahim Hakimi told Parliament tonight that he intended to visit Moscow with his minister of foreign affairs "in order to have direct conversations with the Soviet Union" concerning the Azerbaijan province dispute.

The announcement came as British and American foreign secretaries were headed for Moscow for a conference scheduled to open Saturday. The Iran question was believed high on the agenda for the meeting.

As Hakimi announced his intention of carrying his problem direct to Moscow, the Azerbaijan Democratic party, demanding autonomy within the Iranian state, was reported by diplomatic sources to be recruiting troops to augment an armed force in the northwest Persian province already estimated at more than 4,000.

Iran Issue High As Parley Topic

London, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Iranian question, involving Russian and British spheres of influence in the Middle East, will be high on the agenda at the forthcoming Moscow meeting of "Big Three" Foreign Ministers, a British Foreign Office spokesman said today.

The Foreign Office said Sir Reader Bullard, British Ambassador to Iran, had been instructed to leave Tehran to attend the conference which opens December 15.

Among the Iranian issues in which the three powers are interested are the presence of Russian, British and American troops on Iranian soil, disorders among political factions in the northern province of Azerbaijan and the internal political struggle at Tehran.

Dispatches from Istanbul said the future status of the Dardanelles might also be a subject for discussion. Diplomatic sources were quoted as saying this was agreeable to Turkey since she preferred to keep the straits question on an "international basis."

Reports Iran On Agenda

London, Dec. 12 (AP) — Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, soon to leave for the foreign ministers' conference, told Commons today he hoped the talks would "help toward a friendly solution of the many urgent problems outstanding." A British Foreign Office spokesman said the question of Iran would be high on the conference agenda.

French to Meet Molotov

MOSCOW, Dec. 12 (AP).—A French delegation was ready today to present to the Soviet government the French view that Germany's Ruhr and Rhineland steel and coal facilities should be internationalized.

An informed source said that members of the delegation, who have been in Moscow for the last two weeks, were expected to meet either later today or tomorrow with Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov or representatives of his office.

It was stressed that the French are not seeking to bind the Russians to any agreement in these conferences, but merely accepting an opportunity to present the views of President Charles de Gaulle's government on the subject.

It has been the French contention that a large proportion of Germany's total war-making strength has been derived from the coal mines, steel plants and other resources in the highly industrialized Ruhr and Rhineland areas.

Warsaw Presses Roll

Warsaw, Dec. 12 (AP)—Despite a rigid Government censorship, Warsaw's press is having a mushroom growth. In the past six months, five dailies, fifteen weeklies and twenty monthlies have appeared. Eighteen others appear irregularly.

ITALY TO RULE ADDED AREAS

Nearly All Of North Part Will Be Affected About Dec. 31

Rome, Thursday, Dec. 13 (AP)—All of northern Italy except Venezia Giulia and Udine provinces will return to Italian Government administration about December 31, Rear Admiral Ellery W. Stone, chief Allied commissioner, said today.

The islands of Pantelleria, Lampedusa and Linosa also will revert to Italian jurisdiction, Stone's announcement said.

LaGuardia Accuses Britain

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia said today "other governments — and specifically Great Britain"—were preventing the redemption of promises made to Italy in the name of the United States.

"We must be frank about it," the Mayor declared in an interview. "The treatment given Italy so far is not in keeping with our traditions and the promises we made to Italy.

"The promises I made, the hopes I held out to Italy, in the broadcasts I made were not personal promises. Everyone of them had the approval of the American Government."

The Mayor had broadcast to Italy during the period before that country's capitulation. Citing his one talk on the subject "the King must go," LaGuardia declared that the text had been approved by the late President Roosevelt.

Food Called Italy's Great Need

He added that a few days later former Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the British House of Commons "we cannot let down the House of Savoy," indicating an opposite viewpoint.

"There is no use fooling ourselves," the Mayor said. "There is a conflict in policy between the United States and Great Britain over Italy. I only hope that Italy can stand it while Great Britain has the upper hand."

He termed food Italy's great need now.

Mentioned as possible Ambassador to Italy after his retirement as Mayor January 1, LaGuardia said he would not consider the post "under any circumstances." He added that he wanted to do "all I can to help Italy, but I could not do any good as Ambassador."

No British Comment On Charge

London, Dec. 12 (AP)—Government sources declined tonight to comment on a charge by Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York that the British are obstructing the fulfillment of promises given to Italy during the war.

The unofficial reaction appeared to be one of surprise. A person who has been in a position to observe Anglo-American procedure said, "I honestly don't know what LaGuardia could be talking about."

Another unofficial informant expressed doubt whether there were any major differences between the United States and Britain over Italy.

The informant said, "It is my understanding that the whole matter is still under discussion. Apparently the Mayor is annoyed at the delay but these things take time—sometimes a good deal of time."

Plastiras Out Of Danger

Athens, Dec. 12 (AP)—Gen. Nicholas Plastiras, former Premier of Greece, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident yesterday, was reported out of danger today.

Zionist Leader Leaves Palestine

Jerusalem, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, member of the Jewish Agency Executive Committee and president of the Zionist Organization of America, left here today for New York.

Chiang Forces Unopposed in Mukden Entry

Second Unit Is Landing by Plane at Manchurian Capital of Changchun

CLEMENTS

TIENTSIN, Dec. 12 (AP).—Chinese military sources said Central government troops entered Mukden today while other forces began landing by plane at the Manchurian capital of Changchun. These sources said Lieutenant General Tu Li-ming's northeastern forces entered Mukden without opposition.

The 5th Division of the 94th Central Government Army was reported landing at Changchun Airports.

Both moves were said to be in line with a new agreement with Russia under which Chungking's troops will occupy these two important cities.

A Chinese civil mission has been in Changchun for several weeks, and with a joint Russian mission has been operating the railway between Changchun and Harbin and between Changchun and Dairen.

General Tu's troops of the 13th and 52d Armies have been on the outskirts of Mukden for several days. Officials of the 94th Army said some of Tu's forces had fanned out to Hsingmin, thirty-four miles northwest of Mukden.

Unofficial reports reaching here today from Shantung Peninsula said the bodies of six American marine flyers who bailed out of Hellcat dive-bombers during a storm Dec. 7 had been found.

Rescue planes have been searching for six dive-bombers carrying two men each, last seen over Tientsin after a rendezvous with ten other dive-bombers on Pearl Harbor Day maneuvers.

There has been no further news of the six Marine Corps flyers who went down on a routine flight between Peiping and Tientsin Nov. 10. They were last reported in a Communist-held village, and plans were made to drop them winter clothing and supplies. Efforts to obtain their release from the village have so far been unsuccessful.

[Mayor Mao Chao-chun of Nanking confirmed that the National Assembly, which will consider a new constitution for China, would meet there beginning May 5, according to a Chungking dispatch.]

CHIANG'S TROOPS TAKE CONTROL OF MANCHURIA CITIES

CHUNGKING, Dec. 12. — (AP) Central government troops moved by road into Mukden and by air into Changchun today in two giant strides toward restoring China's sovereignty over Manchuria, a Tientsin dispatch said.

Associated Press correspondent Olen Clements, quoting Chinese military sources in Tientsin, said Lt. Gen. Tu Li Ming's forces entered Mukden without incident after a 240-mile march across southern Manchuria that began last month.

Tientsin sources reported the moves were made in an agreement with Russia under which Chungking forces will occupy most strategic areas in the vast and partly industrialized territory seized by Japan when she began her fateful era of Asiatic conquest in 1931.

These sources declared Russian troops had cleared the way for the entry of Chungking' divisions whose possession of Manchuria has been contested by Chinese Communist forces.

While Tu's overland units entered Mukden, Manchuria's largest city, the Fifth division of Chungking's 94th army began landing by plane at Changchun, the capital 170 miles to the northeast, Clements reported.

Lt. Gen. Yao Keh-Min, chief of staff of the division, was quoted as saying on his return from Changchun to Peiping that Russian troops were guarding the airfield and soon would turn it over to his forces.

AP correspondent Spencer Davis in Peiping said Yao found Chinese Communists had disappeared from the vicinity of Changchun.

A Chinese civil mission was reported operating jointly with the Russians the railway between Changchun and the northern Manchurian city of Harbin and between Changchun and the southern free port of Dairen.

Clements reported that some of Tu's troops pushed on to Sinmin, on the Tientsin-Mukden railway 34 miles northwest of Mukden near where it bends southeastward toward the city.

More Chinese army units were concentrating in Peiping, ready to begin the air movement to Changchun, Davis added.

The Chinese Central Daily news asserted the Russians had agreed to assume responsibility for clearing non-national troops out of Manchuria, but the report was received with skepticism here because that would entail a virtual Soviet campaign against the Communists.

Tu said in Peiping, however, that he would ask the Russians to remove any Chinese Communist forces encountered in Manchurian territory guarded by Soviet troops.

Other press dispatches reported fighting was rising in intensity to the westward, where Communists are trying to block Chungking's drive into Chahar province of Inner Mongolia.

Charge Border Rule Set Up

A message from Nanking also charged that Communists had formed a "Kiangsi-Anhwei border government" in those two provinces lying east and south of Nanking.

The Nanking report alleged the Communists had set up their border rule along the lines of that centering around Yenan, the North China headquarters of the Communists.

K. C. Wu, Minister of Information, meanwhile, denied a report emanating from Communist quarters that there were negotiations for establishing United States naval bases in China. He ascribed the "groundless rumor" to "certain quarters" which wanted to "create international misunderstanding."

Assembly To Meet In Nanking

Mayor Mao Chao-chun of Nanking confirmed that the national assembly, which will consider a new constitution for China, would meet there beginning May 5.

P. H. Chang, Cabinet spokesman, told correspondents today that with the inclusion of Manchuria's nine provinces, there now were 34 provinces in the Republic of China.

The others, he said, were 22 in China proper and three in Inner Mongolia—Jehol, Chahar and Suiyuan. (China considered Jehol part of Inner Mongolia but Japan seized it in 1933 and added it to Manchuria).

Report On Russia Doubted

Chungking, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Chinese Central Daily News reported from Peiping today that Russians have agreed to assume responsibility for clearing non-National troops out of Manchuria. The report was received here with some skepticism, however.

If true, it would entail a virtual Russian campaign against Chinese Communist troops in Manchuria. Most observers here considered such an eventuality most unlikely.

U.S. Bases Report Denied

The Chinese Government Minister of Information, meanwhile, denied reports that negotiations have been or are in progress for establishment of United States naval bases in China.

A projected United States military commission to China, he said, would be purely an advisory body to help China reorganize and modernize her army.

American reports from Shanghai said the United States Army today abandoned Shanghai's Lunghwa airfield to the Chinese, for commercial use by the Chinese National Aviation Corporation — of which Pan American is a heavy stockholder.

Will Protect Fields

Confirming that Russia has agreed to facilitate entry of Chinese National troops into Manchuria semi-official Chinese dispatches today said Soviet military authorities promised to protect all airfields at which the Chinese would land.

Russia also granted permission for nationals to establish radio stations in recovered areas of Manchuria, and said Soviet liaison officers would facilitate the national forces' entry into such cities as Mukden, Harbin "and other points" where Red troops are stationed, the dispatches added. There was no mention of Dairen, important Manchurian seaport.

French Request Denied

Chungking, Dec. 12 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman today denied Chinese press reports that France had requested delay in the withdrawal of Chinese forces from northern Indo-China. A substantial part of the Chinese occupation units in the area has already been withdrawn.

Chinese Government Official Shot Fatally

Peiping, China, Dec. 12 (AP)—Wang Hsuan-chin, secretary of the Kuomintang (National Government) party in Tientsin, was shot and killed in his residence Monday night by seven men who had demanded to see his party credentials, the North China Daily News reported today.

When Wang produced his certificate of party membership, the paper said, one of the men, wearing a mask, fired. The News did not give the source of its story. The secretary died immediately. Money, rings and furs were stolen, police reported.

Lack Of Terms Delays Rubber Exports

Singapore, Dec. 12 (AP)—Members of the Singapore advisory council declared today that Malayan estates were ready to supply rubber to the United States and the rest of the world as soon as a decision can be made on setting up foreign exchange facilities.

Stressing the urgency of the situation and advocating "pressure on London," the council members declared, "we are still tied to Whitehall's apron strings, which are tighter than ever."

One large estate owner, Lee Kong Chian, complained that rubber control was one-sided, with prices fixed on the 1941 basis but out of line with other conditions.

Tapping of rubber in Malaya, he said, was being done only by small holders with no other means of livelihood and "not because the current Malayan official rubber price is attractive."

AIRFIELDS EVACUATED

CALCUTTA, Dec. 12. — (AP) Evacuation of some 10,000 American Army Air Force troops from 34 airfields in Burma is nearing completion, Maj. Gen. T. J. Hanley, Jr., AAF commander in India and Burma, said only a few custodial detachments were left at the remaining bases.

BRITISH TROOPS READY TO LAND AT JAVA HARBOR

HAUGLAND

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 12.—(AP) Fighting flared again at scattered points throughout Java today and tension mounted with the arrival in Tandjong Prick harbor here of British reinforcements despite a Nationalist warning that any attempts to land more troops would be met with all-out resistance.

A convoy of British Indian troops called for tank support after being attacked by Indonesians near Buitenzorg, 30 miles south of the capital and largest town on the 110-mile supply road to Bandoeng. Another supply convoy en route to Bandoeng was halted by a roadblock, which was strafed by supporting British planes. British patrols took eight prisoners and captured three Japanese armed with machineguns.

A supply train escorted by picked Indonesian peace preservation corps police, however, reached Bandoeng safely, going through the same area where earlier this week another convoy had suffered 85 casualties.

The new British reinforcements arrived aboard the troopship Salween. Premier Sutan Sjahrir of the unrecognized Indonesian republic said yesterday any attempt to land reinforcements or reestablish Dutch sovereignty by force would be met with armed resistance.

(Maj. Gen. Yamamoto, chief of staff of the Japanese 16th army, has admitted he was mainly responsible for fostering the Indonesian independence movement, southeast Asia command headquarters said in Singapore. Yamamoto was in command of Japanese forces in Java. He was arrested and jailed last month, and is awaiting trial in Singapore).

Fighting Flares In Java Areas

Batavia, Dec. 12 (AP)—Fighting flared at several points in central and western Java today as British authorities brought fresh reinforcements into the strife-torn island despite an Indonesian threat that such action would be answered with a general uprising.

The British took over all main railway stations at Tandjong Priok and Batavia to facilitate local movement of supplies.

To Resist Landings

These developments came less than 24 hours after Premier Sutan Sjahrir of the unrecognized Indonesian republic said the Indonesians would resist with arms any further landings of British troops.

Dr. Hubertus J. van Mook, acting governor general of the Dutch East Indies, postponed his intended departure for Holland for a possible renewal of peace talks with Indonesian leaders.

The most serious outbreak of fighting was near Buitenzorg, where British Indian troops called for tank support to repel Indonesians attacking a convoy. In central Java, six British Thunderbolts bombed and strafed two small bridges southeast of Semarang and hammered Indonesian gun positions. New fires were reported at nearby Ambarawa, indicating that trouble had flared there again.

British Criticism Answered

London, Dec. 12 (AP)—Minister of State Philip J. Noel-Baker, answering critics of British military operations against the Indonesians, declared last night that British forces in Java "must continue to do what is necessary to insure the safety of Allied prisoners of war" and internees.

He demanded that the "Dutch and Indonesians shall sit down together and work out their differences on the basis of concrete proposals on both sides without any further delay."

Noel-Baker spoke in Commons, where Independent Tom Driberg declared that "unwise" French and Dutch "political dictates" had prevented British field commanders from settling disturbances in Indonesia and Indo-China without bloodshed.

Japs Surrender As Deadline Approaches

Tokyo, Dec. 12 (AP)—Grim Sugamo prison opened its gates today to a steady procession of Japanese war-criminal suspects headed by aged, handlebar-mustachioed Prince Morimasa Nashimoto of the imperial family.

Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida meanwhile told the Diet that Japan already has broached to Allied headquarters the question of resuming diplomatic relations with the rest of the world.

A critical questioner in the Diet retorted that Allied suspension of Japan's world diplomacy showed "lack of confidence in the Cabinet."

"Is Japan Independent"

"Is Japan not being recognized as an independent state?" the questioner, Representative Mansanosuke Ideka, demanded.

"Japan at present lacks complete sovereignty," Yoshida conceded.

Fifty-nine top-ranking Japanese had been given until midnight to surrender as war-crime suspects, and, laden with baggage and bedding, they were checking in at Sugamo at five-minute intervals through the day.

Diet members criticized the Government sharply for permitting the arrest of Prince Nashimoto, first member of the imperial house to be ordered apprehended. He was the first to reach the prison today.

Two hours earlier, Lieut. Gen. Masaharu Homma and two other Japanese officers were removed from Sugamo for a flight to Manila to face trial on charges growing out of the infamous Bataan March of Death and other atrocities.

Yamashita Appealing

Only last week, Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita was convicted in Manila by a United States military commission of having condoned wholesale outrages by troops of his Philippines command and was sentenced to be hanged. He has begun a series of appeals which will reach MacArthur and the United States Supreme Court in Washington.

In Tokyo today men, women and school children were signing an appeal to be submitted to MacArthur to spare Yamashita's life. The petition was circulated by Toichiro Araki, chief of the Araki Efficiency Research Station, who said it would be delivered to MacArthur's headquarters when it bears 100,000 names.

Homma In Pleasant Mood

Homma, one of Yamashita's predecessors as Japanese commander of the Philippines, smiled and waved as he was taken to Atsugi airfield. Taken with him were Col. Akira Nagahama, commander of Manila Kempetai (Thought Police) from late 1942 until this year, and Lieut. Col. Saichi Ohta, his predecessor there in 1942.

DEC 13 1945

30.24-32331

War crimes were uppermost in the minds of Japanese. Kyodo news agency reported at least 30 members of the House of Peers designated as suspects by MacArthur have reached a secret agreement to retain their seats.

59 Must Give Up Now

The 59 suspects, whose surrender deadline is midnight, were named on MacArthur's December 2 list. Fifty-seven others, including Prince Fumimaro Konoye, former three-time premier, and Marquis Koichi Kido, one of the Emperor's closest advisers, have until midnight Sunday. They were on the December 6 list.

The first of 300 Japanese war-crimes suspects are scheduled to go on trial at Yokohama next Tuesday. They are accused mainly of atrocities against prisoners of war.

The Diet lackadaisically plugged along with MacArthur-demanded reform bills. An election law reform bill granting women's suffrage and extending the vote to millions of young men went to the peers after passing the House of Representatives with minor amendments. The peers were expected to pass the measure with little delay, giving the Diet its first major accomplishment of a long-winded special session.

The bill lowers the male voting age from 25 to 20 as well as enfranchising women and revises electoral apportionment.

The dominant Progressive party succeeded in attaching several amendments to the bill before it passed the House. One prohibits "any excessive demonstration or instigatory action in electioneering." This presumably was intended to stifle potential Communist fireworks and possibly to protect some wartime elected representatives who fear physical violence if they face constituents.

A Japanese magazine, Yoron, said today all the Japanese Army and most of the navy high command strongly opposed surrender on terms permitting occupation, until Emperor Hirohito broke the deadlock at a momentous imperial conference August 9.

The magazine said that most militarists had suppported War Minister Gen. Korekichi Anami in proposing:

Retention of the Emperor system.

That no enemy troops be allowed to enter the Japanese mainland.

That no one should face judgment for war responsibility.

That Japanese forces abroad be withdrawn by Japan, instead of being disarmed by the Allies.

Yank Is Bringing Hirohito's Horse to U. S.

dennessy

White Frost Turned Over to Army Lieutenant Who Gets Permission to Bring It Home.

Tokyo, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—The most controversial horse in Japan—White Frost, described by the Army as Emperor Hirohito's own mount—is going to the United States as the property of an American lieutenant.

The Japanese Racing Association today ceremoniously turned over the much publicized white Arabian to Lieut. Dick Ryan, who discovered him five weeks ago in isolated but elaborate stables.

A change in Army regulations announced today will make it possible for the lieutenant to take White Frost to the States—where he plans to exhibit the horse at veterans' hospitals, civic and charitable events. Under the new rules, G. I.'s may take home as pets dogs, goats, horses, sheep, camels, oxen, antelope, giraffes and deer. Still banned are monkeys, honeybears, parrots, lovebirds and cockatoos.

To Be Shipped Home.

If nothing goes amiss, Frost will go aboard an American Liberty ship at Yokohama within a few days when Ryan starts home for discharge. Frost will be carried on deck and will not occupy any space in which a soldier might be transported, Ryan said.

Some Japanese deny that White Frost is the horse on which Hirohito was seen astride in so many pre-war pictures. Others say he was too high strung to be ridden by the Emperor in review, was given to another member of the royal family and finally placed in the association stables. But most persons agree he did come from the royal stables—ridden or unridden by Hirohito.

Some 70,000 United States soldiers and sailors turned out to see White Frost at an Armistice Day service rodeo in huge Reiji Stadium in Tokyo. It was the appeal of "Hirohito's Horse" announced by the service newspaper, Stars and Stripes, that attracted G. I. spectators from miles around.

Ryan said he had known for

Jap Rail Workers Organize

Tokyo, Dec. 12 (AP)—Organization of a labor union for 600,000 state railway employés is under way, Kyodo news agency said today; adding that more than 4,000 workers have joined a "preparatory committee."

Jap Inflation Skyrockets.

Tokyo, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—The note issue of the Bank of Japan—barometer of this nation's inflation—is climbing so rapidly that the news agency Kyodo reported today the prospective year-end total would reach 56,000,000,000 yen. Kyodo said a major factor was extensive withdrawals to meet zooming black market prices.

Sutherland Quits MacArthur's Staff

Tokyo, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Gen. Richard K. Sutherland, Gen. MacArthur's chief of staff in Manila, Corregidor, Australia, New Guinea and all the way to Tokyo, is returning to the United States at his own request. Supreme headquarters announced today that the veteran of more than eight years of continuous service in the Pacific theater would be succeeded by Major-Gen. R. J. Marshall, also of MacArthur's command.

Soviet to Clear Manchuria.

Chungking, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—The Chinese Central Daily News reported from Peiping today that Russians have agreed to assume

FOUR JAPS GUILTY IN ATROCITY DEATH

KWAJALEIN, Dec. 12. — (AP) Four Japanese officers were convicted of murder today for the execution of three U. S. fliers on Jaluit atoll in the Marshalls in 1944 and will learn their fate tomorrow.

The military commission which convicted them will announce at that time whether they will share the fate of six of their countrymen who yesterday were condemned to be hanged for similar crimes.

The four defendants bowed when Commodore Ben H. Wyatt read the commission's findings. The highest ranking among them was a navy lieutenant.

The prosecution in its summation declared it was hypocrisy to pretend that the defendants "did not know murder was a crime against society" when "after blindfolding and tying the hands of a defenseless prisoner of war," they shot and stabbed him to death.

This Is The Army

With U.S. 6th Army, Shikoku, Japan, Dec. 12 (AP)—Pfc. Donald E. Drew, Dixon, Ill., signed here for three more years of army life—and received a medical report that said: "Not qualified for overseas duty."

"I wonder what I'm doing over here?" said the amazed veteran of 23 months of service in Alaskan, central Pacific and Japanese sectors.

Homma and 2 Aides Back In Manila for War Trial

Face Charges of Bataan Death March and Atrocities

MANILA, Dec. 12 (AP).—Lieutenant General Masaharu Homma, conqueror of the Philippines, and two other officers associated with him in the Japanese rule of the islands returned to Manila tonight to face charges growing out of the Bataan death march and other atrocities.

The trio left Sugamo prison in Tokyo at dawn today for the flight here. They stepped from their plane during a drizzle of rain, stood nervously awaiting orders from American Army officers and were taken in a staff car to prison.

With Homma were Colonel Akira Nagahama, commander of the dreaded Kempei-tai, or thought police, in Manila from late 1942 to 1945, and Lieutenant Colonel Saichi Ohta, who commanded the Kempei-tai in the Philippines in 1942.

Special Philippine Session

Manila, Dec. 12 (AP)—President Sergio Osmena today called a new seven-day special session of the Philippine Congress Thursday to deal with banking rehabilitation, although the present session is still debating election procedure.

NAVY UNIVERSITY OPENS AT HAWAII BASE JAN. 3

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 12—(AP) The Navy University of the Pacific, to be known as "NAVPACU," will open for classes Jan. 3. WAVES, enlisted men and officers will be eligible.

Courses will be completed in four weeks, with classes being held two hours daily, five days a week. Registration of at least 1,000 is expected.

Enrollment, it was explained, will not hold up demobilization for any student eligible for discharge. There are no student fees and text books are furnished.

RUSSIA HELD REAL VICTOR

Argentina's Peron Discusses Areas Occupied By Soviet

Buenos Aires, Dec. 12 (AP)—Juan Perón, now an avowed candidate for the Argentine presidency, said today that Russia was the real victor of World War II.

"The Russian revolution has just written its great epic on the battlefield," the former Vice President told 3,000 delegates of what he called "our new party." "The Allied powers may have contributed to victory, but the outstanding fact of the times is that Russia today occupies all Europe and part of Asia."

Perón cautioned the delegates: "Let us not make the mistake of believing that the great forces the war has loosed upon the world will leave Argentina unruffled. Here as elsewhere in the world powerful changes are in the making in the economic, political and social cast of our life."

Peron Pledges Reforms

Perón, campaigning for the election next ebruary 24, outlined what he said would be the platform for the "new party," including further development of a "five-year plan" he said he originated at the urging of President Edelmiro arrell.

He said the plan, "being carried out already in part," contemplated "great reforms in agriculture, industry and society."

He pledged reforms through newly created government agencies—the Agrarian Council to restore land to those who work it even if it means taking it from those who regard themselves as the owners, and the Postwar Council, which is reorganizing Argentine industries.

Arms Found In House Owned By Batista Aide

Pinar Del Rio, Cuba, Dec. 12 (AP). Col. Elias Horta, of the 8th Infantry Regiment, said here he had uncovered a cache of arms, ammunition and "other war implements" stored in a farmhouse owned by Lieut. Col. Eugenio Menendez, former military aide to President Fulgencio Batista.

Horta said three employés of the farm, 70 miles west of Havana, were arrested and that an order was issued for the detention of Menendez.

Horta said he raided the farmhouse after he received information military equipment was being landed from ships along the hilly north coast of Cuba. He added other arrests were expected momentarily.

NAVY, FBI HAD ROW ON WIRE TAPPING

Check on Jap Phones in Hawaii Halted Before December 7.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP) Pearl Harbor investigators were told today that the Navy, after a row with the FBI, stopped listening in on Japanese telephone conversations in Hawaii five days before the Dec. 7, 1941 attack.

The FBI continued tapping one Japanese consulate line up to the moment of the assault, and in this way learned that the consul in Honolulu was destroying his codes. The tapped line led to the cook's quarters in the consulate.

This evidence, placed before the joint congressional investigating committee, was included in a report by Lt. Col. Henry C. Clausen, assigned by Secretary of War Stimson to make an independent inquiry in 1942.

Canal Sabotage Planned

The committee also was informed of another long-time secret — the Navy had reports in June, 1940, that the Japanese would try to sabotage the Panama canal if the fleet moved from its Hawaii base toward the Atlantic. The fleet feinted an approach to the canal, but the sabotage didn't occur.

This testimony was developed by Rep. Keefe (R-Wis) from a message sent by Admiral Harold R. Stark, then chief of naval operations, to Admiral J. O. Richardson, commander of the Pacific fleet.

Both disclosures came as Gen. George C. Marshall, former chief of staff, proceeded through his sixth day as a witness.

The wire tapping incident centered around affidavits obtained by Colonel Clausen, principally from Lt. Donald Woodrum, naval intelligence officer at Pearl Harbor when the attack came.

Woodrum told this story:

The FBI set up a telephone tap about Nov. 1, 1941, on a line leading to a suspect who occupied quarters in the same building that housed the FBI. Telephone company employes discovered it and reported it to naval intelligence.

DEC 13 1945

DEC 13 1945

Navy Stopped Tapping Jap Phones In Honolulu Five Days Before Raid

Intelligence Chief Issued Order After Clash With FBI on Operations.

KNOX TIPPED ABOUT ATTACK

Navy Captain Kramer Interpreted a Coded Tokyo Message as Meaning Dawn Blow.

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Congressional investigators learned today that the Navy stopped tapping Japanese consulate telephones in Honolulu five days before war began, partly because an officer was "incensed" with FBI actions.

This disclosure was made in a report by Lieut.-Col. Henry C. Clausen, special investigator for former Secretary of War Stimson. It was given to members of a Senate-House committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941.

Clausen was shown to have obtained on April 22, 1945, an affidavit from Lieut. Donald Woodrum, who served in the naval intelligence division at Pearl Harbor at the time of the Japanese attack. Woodrum said in his statement that Rear Admiral (then captain) Mayfield, naval district intelligence officer, had ordered surveillance of the Japanese consul's telephones stopped on December 2, 1941, and that this order was effective until after the attack.

FBI Learned of Papers.

Testimony has shown that the FBI had one line tapped and through this line learned before the attack that consulate officials were burning all their papers.

Robert L. Shivers, then FBI head in Honolulu, said in a separate affidavit that he never knew the Navy had discontinued its tapping of lines until informed by Clausen.

Woodrum said that about November 1, 1941, the FBI set up a telephone tap in its own building. The tap was discovered accidentally by telephone company employees and the information was passed along to the naval intelligence office.

Woodrum said that a naval officer informed an FBI man about the discovery of their tap and that the FBI official protested vigorously to telephone executives that they were permitting secret information to get out.

"When Capt. Mayfield, then District Intelligence Officer, learned of the FBI protest at the telephone company," Woodrum said, "he was not only incensed at their failure to consult with him before taking such action, but he considered the action to be a serious breech of security.

Feared Explosive Results.

"Cognizant of his instructions from the Chief of Naval Operations to avoid any possibility of international complications and thoroughly aware of the explosive potentialities of the surveillances being conducted, Capt. Mayfield ordered the immediate discontinuance of all telephone surveillances."

Woodrum's story of this affair apparently went unchallenged in Clausen's investigation, except for a general affidavit made by Theodore Emanuel, Chief Ship's Clerk, who was engaged in receiving and recording the telephone conversations from the consulate.

Emanuel said that this work was carried out on five or six telephone lines in a period beginning in January, 1941, "to and including December 7, 1941." There was no mention in his affidavit of Mayfield's order.

Marshall Resumes Stand.

Earlier Gen. George C. Marshall testified that he was convinced as early as August, 1941, that a Pacific war was inevitable and knew that the United States was not ready for it.

The former Chief of Staff began his sixth day of testimony after the committee learned of a Navy officer's purported prediction to Secretary Knox in December 7, 1941, that an intercepted Tokyo message meant "a surprise attack on Pearl Harbor today and possibly a midnight attack on Manila."

A hitherto "top secret" report of an Army Inquiry Board said that another Naval officer quoted Capt. Alwin D. Kramer, attached to Naval Intelligence, as having said in 1943 that he sent a notation to this effect to Knox. It went with the Tokyo message instructing Japanese "peace" envoys here to deliver their diplomatic reply at 1 P. M. (Washington time) December 7. There was no indication in the report when Knox received this notation, if he received it at all.

Tension Grew in Summer.

Marshall was questioned by Representative Keefe (R.-Wis.), who traced the events of the summer of 1941. Keefe said that war tension was growing then and Marshall agreed.

"You were convinced as early as August that if the current events continued we would inevitably be drawn into a war with Japan, weren't you?" Keefe asked.

"Yes, sir."

"You knew at that time that we weren't prepared for a war in the Pacific?"

Marshall replied that was true, adding that he was being pushed from all sides for additional men and equipment, but was concentrating on attempts to build up Philippines defenses as a possible deterrent to a Japanese move to the south.

Keefe asked the witness if the Army and Navy hadn't been called on to "implement diplomatic representations" made to the Japanese.

"I don't believe I'd put it that way," the five-star general replied. "I would say that we were notified about diplomatic developments and it was left to us how we were to back them up."

Keefe pressed Marshall repeatedly as to his memory of events in the last days before war began. Finally, Marshall said quietly: "You gentlemen are asking me about things rubbed out by four years of global war."

Keefe brought up a proposed stopgap agreement or modus vivendi with Japan, discussed but never sent. Had it been sent, it would have been attached to the United States counter proposals of November 26, 1941, which the Japanese later called an ultimatum.

Marshall told Keefe that from a military standpoint "it was important to the war in Europe that we reach a modus vivendi with Japan."

Doubted Acceptance by Japan.

But, he added that he regarded the terms of the November 26 note as so strict that the Japanese would not have accepted it, even with the proposed temporary agreement.

Keefe also questioned Marshall about a 1940 Army alert in Hawaii and asked what prompted it. Marshall replied that the War Department is now searching its files to complete data on that.

However, Keefe referred to a draft of a letter on September 27, 1940 to Lieut.-Gen. Charles D. Herron, then commander in Hawaii. This letter, never sent, said:

"Briefly, the combination of information from a number of sources led to the deduction that recent Japanese-Russian agreement to compose their differences in the Far East was arrived at and so timed as to permit Japan to undertake a trans-Pacific raid against Oahu, following the departure of the United States Fleet from Hawaii."

Other Points Brought Out.

The account of Capt. Kramer's purported warning to Knox on December 7, 1941, was given briefly in the previously secret Army report which also brought out:

1. A conclusion by Major-Gen. Myron C. Cramer, Army Judge Advocate General, on September 14, 1945, that the War Department never had received any notice that the Japanese had broadcast a "winds" message warning their consuls of a break in American relations.

2. Gen. Cramer's further notation that Navy witnesses appearing before Rear Admiral H. Kent Hewitt "denied the receipt of any authentic 'winds' message."

Note Had Been Kept Secret.

The purported note of Capt. Kramer to the late Secretary Knox was mentioned in a portion of the Army Board's report which had been withheld previously because it discussed information obtained by the interception of Japanese messages. Until the congressional committee began its investigation there was no official statement that this country had

---

The FBI complained to the company about that.

Angered By FBI Action

A Captain Mayfield, district intelligence officer, was "incensed" because the FBI had not consulted with him before protesting to the telephone company. He considered the FBI action "a serious breach of security."

Woodrum's affidavit continued:

"Cognizant of his instructions from the chief of naval operations to avoid any possibility of international complications and thoroughly aware of the explosive potentialities of the surveillances being conducted, Captain Mayfield ordered the immediate discontinuance of all telephone surveillances.

"This was on Dec. 2, 1941. Surveillances were not resumed until the morning of Dec. 7, following the Japanese attack."

Robert L. Shivers, FBI head in Honolulu, said in an affidavit he never knew the Navy had stopped its line-tapping. The Navy had been listening in on five or six suspected circuits.

The committee heard from General Marshall a pointed description of how concerned the high command grew in Washington as the Pacific situation reached a crisis.

Marshall gave his personal opinion that war with Japan was "inevitable" from August, 1941, on but he hoped to avert it by making a show of force in the Philippines.

All Signs Pointed To War

The wartime chief of staff said everything pointed to eventual war in the Pacific from the summer of that fateful year onward.

He told the high level officials of the government the army needed until Dec. 5 to make adequate preparations, and that Admiral Harold R. Stark needed until February of 1942 to guarantee the Navy's readiness.

"I had thought we could build up the Philippines by December 5 and if we could, it might discourage the Japanese," Marshall testified.

If the Philippines were reinforced with heavy bombers and other equipment in strength by that time, Marshall said he believed it might be enough of a deterrent to prevent open warfare.

"They would have continued to grab what they could get free, by infiltration," the general said. But that might not have carried them "over the line" which the U. S.-British-Dutch alliance considered an act of war.

Considered Hawaii Strong

Marshall conceded that he thought that the Hawaiian defenses at that time "would deter them from an attack there."

The witness said that at the time he considered the presence of the fleet at Pearl Harbor—where it was smashed Dec. 7—a "deterrent" to Japanese aggressive moves.

Rep. Keefe (R.-Wis.) developed that the fleet was taken out of Pearl Harbor and put on a mobile basis during an "alert" in June, 1940. He tried to learn why this wasn't done again during the tense days preceding the opening Japanese attack but Marshall, as an Army man, was unable to supply the answer.

Keefe traced events from that 1940 alert through the year and a half leading up to the outbreak of war in the Pacific and questioned Marshall specifically:

"You were convinced as early as August that if the current events continued we would inevitably be drawn into a war with Japan, weren't you?"

"Yes, sir," Marshall replied.

"You knew at that time we weren't prepared for a war in the Pacific?"

"That's correct."

Marshall said he urged "stalling" all through that period to get his defenses in shape. He added that he was "deeply concerned" over Secretary of State Hull's reply to the Japanese note of Nov. 20, asserting:

"I said then that the terms (of the Hull proposal) were too stiff and they wouldn't accept them."

Marshall said this was his opinion even when the original draft contained a "modus vivendi"—a series of ameliorating steps.

"Even with the modus vivendi in there it was too stiff?" Keefe asked.

"Yes, sir," Marshall said.

Hull sent the note without the modus vivendi and Marshall said he hadn't known it was deleted before the action was taken. That is the note the Japanese called an "ultimatum."

Marshall was asked by Keefe to express his opinion, as chief of staff, of the conditions as of Nov. 28, 1941, when Marshall said he signed the warning message sent to Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short in Hawaii.

"I was personally of the opinion that Japanese hostile action might break out at any time in the Pacific," Marshall replied.

"That would mean war?" Keefe asked.

"That would mean war," the witness replied.

Was it Marshall's intent, Keefe asked, to put Hawaii on a full alert with the warning message.

"That was my intention," Marshall replied.

At one point, the general flushed at Keefe's persistent demands on his memory and said quietly but edgily:

"I am not a bookkeeping machine."

Keefe asked Marshall whether, in the light of all the information that has come out, it is fair to conclude that "you fix the responsibility" for the disaster on General Short, the Pearl Harbor Army commander.

"I never made that statement," Marshall replied. "I felt that he was given command instructions to be on alert for an attack from without and the command was not so alerted."

"Well, do you assume any responsibility?" Keefe asked.

"I assume the responsibility in connection with Short's acknowledgement (placing the garrison on a sabotage alert) in not detecting that he did not put in a full alert," Marshall replied.

Keefe had not completed his cross-examination when the committee adjourned for the day and Gen. Marshall was instructed to return tomorrow.

DEC 13 1945

30.24-32333

broken the Japanese code long before the Pearl Harbor attack.

In a memorandum to the Secretary of war on Nov. 25, 1944, Gen. Cramer said that Capt. L. F. Safford, then in the Navy Communications Security Division, had testified that Capt. (then commander) Kramer "told him in 1943 that when he (Kramer) submitted S. I. S. 25850, the message to the Jap Ambassadors to present the Japanese reply at 1 P. M., to Secretary Knox, he sent a note along with it saying in effect, 'this means a sunrise attack on Pearl Harbor today and possibly a midnight attack on Manila.'"

Interviewed in Hospital.

Kramer was described recently by Representatives Keefe and Gearhart (R.-Cal.) as an "important witness" in the congressional investigation. The two Congressmen visited Kramer at Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital and interviewed him at length there. Kramer has been scheduled as a future witness. In commenting on Safford's statement of what Capt. Kramer told him in 1943, Gen. Cramer said: "Action upon this information, if believed credible, was a Navy responsibility. There is no testimony it was communicated to the War Department."

Gen. Cramer's Conclusions.

Gen. Cramer's conclusions on September 14, 1945, about the so-called "winds" message were based on additional information he said had been turned up by Clausen, assistant recorder for the Army Pearl Harbor Board, who later gathered affidaivts from witnesses at the direction of former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

Cramer said it was his conclusion "that the most diligent search fails to reveal that any activating or execute 'winds' message was ever received by the War Department."

Gen. Cramer said at another point in his memorandum he had "been informed that Admiral Boyes and other witnesses appearing before Admiral Hewitt in the Navy inquiry into the Pearl Harbor matter, denied the receipt of an authentic execute 'winds' message."

The Army and Navy both had been looking for a signal from the Tokyo radio to its consuls that there was danger of a break in diplomatic relations with the United States, Great Britain and Russia.

The code the Japanese had set up was to broadcast "East wind rain" if Japanese-American relations were in danger, "North wind cloudy" on Russian relations and "West wind clear" on British relations.

The Army board report said: "The Navy received during the evening of December 3, 1941, this message which when translated said, 'War with the United States, war with Britain, including the Nei (Netherlands East Indies), except peace with Russia.'"

The board's report went on to say that this "winds execute" message had disappeared from Navy files, adding "it was last seen by Commander Safford about December 14, 1941, when he collected the papers together with Commander Kramer and turned them over to the director of naval communication for use as evidence before the Roberts commission."

Use of Cannon.

Cannon came into use in warfare in the sixteenth century.

Union Supporters Carry Fight Unsuccessfully to Floor of House.

LAW GOES TO SENATE

Upper House Failed to Act on Similar Measure in Last Session.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 — (AP) Over the bitter opposition of organized labor, the House today passed legislation to make unions subject to the 1934 anti-racketeering act.

By a thunderous voice vote it sent the measure, written by Rep. Hobbs (D.-Ala.), to the Senate which failed to act on a similar bill at its last session.

Stems from Court Decision

The bill, opposed by union spokesmen during hearings before the House Judiciary committee and fought on the House floor by union supporters, was drafted to set aside a 1942 Supreme court decision involving prosecution of a union for alleged violation of the 1934 law.

against interfering with interstate commerce by violence, threats, intimidation or coercion.

But the Supreme court ruled that the 1934 law did not apply to the teamsters.

Changes in Wording

In addition to broadening the existing law by prohibiting "robbery" and "extortion," the bill passed by the House eliminates from the law the clauses:

A stipulation that money, property or valuable considerations "shall not be deemed to include wages paid by a bona fide employer to a bona fide employe."

A provision that "no court of the United States shall construe or apply any of the provisions of this act in such a manner as to impair, diminish, or in any manner affect the rights of bona fide labor organizations in lawfully carrying out" their legitimate objectives.

The existence of those clauses in the law, backers of the bill argued, led to the Supreme court ruling.

Penalties Stiffened

The bill also increases from ten to twenty years the maximum prison sentence for violations, but does not change the maximum fine of $10,000.

Asserting that there was no intention to interfere with legal union practices, Hobbs told the House the bill was aimed at "goons at

Truman Sees Quick Labor Law

Expects Action by Christmas Despite Gloomy Outlook in Congress.

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—President Truman expressed confidence today that Congress will meet his request for a strike-prevention law before the Christmas holidays.

Although some congressional leaders have said privately that they have little hope of reaching that goal, Mr. Truman told his news conference that he was informed the legislation would be passed by then.

The President has asked for a law staying strikes while fact-finding boards are probing labor disputes. Labor has opposed it.

Mr. Truman paid little attention to questions with reference to criticism by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers' chief, and Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O. He said that he thought the fact-finding program was a fair way to find out the situation in each case and that he thought it certainly was no device to obstruct labor.

Hopes for Co-operation.

Asked whether the fact-finding boards would have authority to examine management books, he said that in his opinion there would be co-operating from both sides.

A reporter said there had been an understanding that the period of fact-finding could be extended if the board thought it justified. The President had proposed twenty days for the fact-finding, with strikes banned five days prior to and after the inquiry.

The President said the fact-finding could be extended only if absolutely necessary and he did not believe that the authority would be used as a device for prolonging the inquiry.

The pessimism of congressional leaders over prospects for the fact-finding legislation sprang from the House's refusal yesterday to take up an anti-strike bill which backers of the President's proposals hoped to use as a club over the House Labor Committee."

Schwellenbach Urges Action.

While Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach was urging approval of the strike-prevention bill before the Senate Labor Committee, the labor group in the house heard William Green, president of the A. F. of L., condemn it.

Schwellenbach told the Senators that fact-finding procedure is critically needed and the situation calls for legislative action. But he conceded that Congress may not act before Christmas.

Senator Ellender (D.-La), who introduced the measure, informed Schwellenbach that Senator Murray (D.-Mont.), had a list of 100 witnesses and asked his opinion on prospects of early approval.

"You are not going to pass it if you hear 100 witnesses," Schwellenbach said.

Green Opposes Bill.

Green protested that the proposed legislatioin clearly imposes involuntary servitude on workers. This would result, he said, from the provision banning organized strikes while the fact-finding boards are at work.

A provision that individuals, acting independently, may quit work, was described by Green as "window dressing." He asserted that it was inserted to help save the constitutionality of the bill.

In a statement read to the committee, Green also said:

"1. It invades the right to strike, which right labor must possess in order to procure economic justice.

"2. The proposal will serve as a signal to the States to pass similar laws applicable to intrastate disputes of every nature.

"3. The constitutional rights of freedom of speech, freedom of assemblage and freedom of the press are destroyed.

"4. Government by injunction is reestablished, subjecting violators to criminal contempt charges and to imprisonment.

"5. Civil damage suits are authorized and encouraged, and such suits may be brought against the union, the officers thereof as individuals, and the individual members."

Green advocated as a better plan the A. F. of L.'s program calling for collective bargaining, mediation and voluntary arbitration. He took issue with a statement by C. I. O. president William Murray that the President's proposals are a step toward the destruction of unions.

"I am confident that there is no intention on the part of the President even to weaken unions," Green said. "I think he is sincere and honest and that something should be done. I do not think the present proposal is workable."

The committee recessed without calling Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, who had been expected to testify today.

Anti-Rackets Bill Is Voted by House As Curb on Unions

DEC 13 1945

LABOR DEFEATED IN BITTER EFFORT TO BLOCK PASSAGE

The court, whose decision was sharply criticized during debate, upheld a Circuit Court of Appeals judgment reversing the conviction of a New York local teamsters union and 26 individuals on charges of conspiracy to violate the anti-racketeering act.

The defendants were accused of forcing non-member produce truckers entering New York markets to pay them fees. They were alleged to have violated the 1934 law's ban the end of the Holland tunnel" in New York and was drafted to counter a Supreme court decision that said "Rob all you please; go ahead."

"It's a strike-breaking bill," countered Rep. Celler (D.-N. Y.). "It's a booby trap aimed at labor."

Opposing the measure, Rep. Gallagher (D.-Minn.) told his colleagues "there is more racketeering at the heels and on the coattails of members of Congress in Washington than there is in the whole union movement."

DEC 13 1945

Names Fact-Finding Board Headed By Judge Stacy

DEC 13 1945

Detroit, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Ford Motor Company informed the CIO United Auto Workers today that it did not believe this was "the time" for settling their general wage problem."

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—President Truman today stepped into the General Motors labor dispute by appointing a fact-finding board headed by Judge Walter P. Stacy.

Stacy, chairman of the recent labor-management conference, will serve with Lloyd K. Garrison, chairman of the War Labor Board, and Milton Eisenhower, president of Kansas State College.

At the same time Mr. Truman said he would soon appoint a similar board for the steel industry. The CIO United Steel Workers, rejecting his appeal to continue to work, has set January 14 for a general strike in the steel mills.

In Detroit, the CIO United Auto Workers promised co-operation with the board. General Motors indicated that it would issue a statement.

Scouts Union Claims

Under questioning at his news conference, Mr. Truman indicated that he did not take seriously some claims by organized labor that the fact-finding procedure might result in long delays on union pleas for increases.

He said it was specifically stated in his recent proposals to end strikes that the period of fact-finding itself would be limited to twenty days. From five days before the board's inquiry until five days after its conclusion strikes would be prohibited under legislation the President has asked Congress to enact.

Board To Meet December 19

Garrison later announced that the board members had arranged to meet here December 19 and 20 to organize the board and plan its work.

"We understand from the President that the appointment of our board is not intended to interfere in any way with the parties' collective bargaining which is now in process, and that it is greatly to be hoped that the parties will settle their differences by agreement," Garrison added.

Union Chiefs' Pledge

Detroit, Dec. 12 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers promptly pledged co-operation today with the fact-finding board appointed by President Truman to act in the General Motors strike.

In a joint statement, President R. J. Thomas and Vice President Walter P. Reuther of the union said:

"The President's fact-finding committee may be assured of the union's co-operation in getting all the facts in the dispute. We will place before the committee all of the facts and figures in our possession relating to the corporation's ability to pay a 30 per cent wage increase.

G.M. Indicates Statement

"We know that the arithmetic of the situation . . . will clearly demonstrate the soundness and practicability of our 30 per cent wage-increase demand."

General Motors reserved comment. It was indicated, however, that a statement would be forthcoming later.

President Truman, in naming the fact-finding group, intervened a second time in the 22-day-old walkout. He had previously asked the strikers to return to work, but the union's G.M. council recommended rejection of the request and returns from locals' votes have indicated that that will be its fate.

Ford Wage Talks Start

Interest was focused, meanwhile, on the Ford Motor Company today as it discussed postwar wages with the auto union for the first time and prepared its reply to a union plan for curbing wildcat strikes. It was considered possible that any agreement reached on either issue would set an industry wide pattern.

The Ford-UAW negotiations have been in progress since November 21—the day the General Motors strike started—but wage talks have been delayed by Ford's demand for security against unauthorized strikes and slowdowns.

Compromise Possibility

While still withholding comment on the union's proposal to discharge wildcat strike instigators and fine their followers, company officials agreed to consider the union's 30 per cent wage increase demand at today's session.

A hint by union officials that the 100,000 Ford workers might be willing to settle for something less than 30 per cent added to the optimism as the conference began.

G.M. Talks Suspended

The union's relations with General Motors meanwhile dipped to a new low. George F. Addes, union secretary-treasurer, said G.M. informed him yesterday that local agreements permitting office workers to enter some of its strike-bound plants were being abrogated.

G.M.'s request for a two-day adjournment of negotiations, however, raised the possibility that it was awaiting the outcome of the Ford parleys. In announcing the corporation's termination of its contract with the union Monday, President C. E. Wilson said G.M. would "insist" on assurance against work stoppages before working out a new one.

Funds For Strikers

Financial support for the 175,000 G.M. strikers meanwhile appeared forthcoming from at least three sources. In Pittsburgh the United Steel Workers (CIO) voted a $100,000 contribution. The executive committee of the United Rubber Workers (CIO) called on its members to assist "morally and financially." And the UAW-CIO appealed to its 975,000 members to give at least $1 a week.

Detroit's City Welfare Department reported twelve striker families on relief and 136 applications on file.

G-M FACT FINDERS GIVEN PROMISE OF HELP FROM C. I. O.

Carolina Jurist Is Appointed Chairman of Group to Study Strike Issue.

FIRST MEETING DEC. 19

Auto Workers Pledge Full Cooperation Despite Early Opposition to Plan.

DETROIT, Dec. 12.—(AP) President Truman named a fact-finding board to look into the General Motors strike today and the C. I. O. United Auto Workers promised to cooperate with the group.

When Mr. Truman announced his plan December 3, there was criticism from union circles on grounds that for a board to start inquiries with negotiations in progress might impede or delay a settlement.

C. I. O. Will Cooperate

Shortly after the President named the members of the board today, however, the U. A. W.-C. I. O. announced its intention to cooperate.

C. I. O. heads have assailed the President's proposed legislative program to halt a wave of strikes. In this program he included the appointment of fact-finders during whose inquiries strikes and lockouts would be barred.

Mr. Truman's action today in the 22-day-old GM walkout idling 213,000 workers over the union's 30 per cent wage increase demand brought the government directly into the dispute for the first time. The fact-finders scheduled their first meeting for Dec. 19-20.

General Motors indicated a comment would be made later.

"The President's fact - finding committee," said a union statement from President R. J. Thoma. and Vice President Walter P. Reuther, "may be assured of the union's co-operation in getting all the facts in the dispute.

We Provide Full Data

"We will place before the committee all the facts and figures in our possession relating to the corporation's ability to pay a 30 per cent wage increase."

Named by Mr. Truman to the fact-finding body were Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy of the North Carolina Supreme court, Chairman Lloyd K. Garrison of the War Labor board, and President Milton Eisenhower of Kansas State college, brother of the Army's Chief of Staff Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Justice Stacy was named chairman. The group will hold its first meeting in Washington.

G-M Conference Today

Negotiations between General Motors and the union will resume tomorrow. The corporation has indicated a desire to reach an agreement over picketing practices at struck plants before going ahead to a solution on the wage issue.

The action of President Truman marked his second intervention in the strike. Previously he had requested the strikers to return to work, but the union's General Motors council recommended against this, a stand so far supported in votes by U.A.W. locals.

An unofficial survey, by The Detroit News, brought forth evidence today that the automobile industry has produced only one-tenth of the 500,000 passenger cars which it had intended to turn out this year.

The News said "every company" gave curtailment of the flow of essential parts as the reason for its inability to achieve volume production. The December figure had been set at 250,000 cars but the industry "will be lucky to attain 20,000" the paper said.

WAGE BOOST PLEA REJECTED BY FORD

Company Tells Union It Is Unable to Grant Pay Demands.

DETROIT, Dec. 12 — (AP) The Ford Motor company today reiterated its inability to grant a general 30 per cent wage rate increase requested by the C.I.O. United Auto Workers but a union official said the firm "indicated it might be willing to talk to a lesser amount."

Ford told the union the company had expected to produce 80,000 automobiles by this time, but that actually it had made only about 20,000.

The Ford company announced that it was giving "sincere and careful study" to a union proposal on company security. Richard T. Leonard, U.A.W.'s Ford director, commented that he believed the proposal "will guarantee increased productivity."

Hinges on Other Points

"The company security proposal is contingent on other points in the contract," Leonard asserted. He added, "Actually the maintenance of production is the sole responsibility of management but we will be willing to cooperate."

Leonard said he was "not happy" with all details of the proposals outlined in the company's letter today.

The company, in a statement issued this afternoon after the negotiating sessions were adjourned until Friday, declared it was "willing to discuss the wage issue with you (the U.A.W.) as long as is necessary to reach a reasonable conclusion."

"We can't understand why the whole U.A.W. strategy has been to come forward now when things are critical and when we really are not in production and demand more wages," Ford said in its statement signed by John Bugas, director of its industrial relations division.

Steel Strike Is Threat

"Conditions at the Ford Motor company will not improve in the next 60 or 90 days. They probably will get worse if there is a steel strike," Bugas added.

"We would like to offer you (the U.A.W.) a wage increase and in those months past we thought by now we would be able to come here with a more pliable attitude on the wage question but circumstances over which we have no control have changed that picture. We don't feel that it is reasonable for you to press your demands now just because such a move subscribes to over-all union policy," he concluded.

Bugas, in the letter sent to the U.A.W. earlier today, said the company was "paying the highest wages in the automotive industry."

Without wage increases and if maximum production is reached with a 16 per cent boost in individual productivity during 1946, the company, at present OPA prices, will lose about $27.00 on every motor car and truck we make—or a total of about $35,000,000," Bugas said.

Wage Increases Cited

He declared that wage increases between January, 1941, and July, 1945, totaled 36.65 per cent, not including "increases" in the form of vacation pay and shift premiums.

"We are today paying on the average wages seven per cent higher than the average wage of the next highest among our major competitors," Bugas said.

Bugas quoted from the letter by Lindquist, declaring that "we do not believe that this is the time to attempt to settle on general wage increases", and that a general increase "would amount to a very heavy mortgage on the future of all of us."

"Today our materials are costing us more than they ever have before. More important, our work productivity per man is at the lowest mark ever," Lindquist wrote.

Security Proposals Differ

Bugas pointed out that the company and union proposals on company security varied in that Ford proposed the union assume financial responsibility for unauthorized work stoppages and the UAW would penalize the individual worker.

Ford asked a $5-a-day penalty from the union for every worker who engages in an unauthorized walkout. The union proposed that leaders and instigators be discharged and participants be fined $3 a day for their first offense and $5 a day for their second violation.

Bugas said there was some doubt as to the legal right to penalize the individual worker.

CONTRACT GRANTS RIGHT TO STRIKE, SAYS STEEL UNION

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 12 — (AP) The C.I.O. United Steelworkers, who have called a nation-wide strike for Jan. 14, denied tonight a claim by the American Iron and Steel Institute that the walkout would violate the union's no-strike pledge in its contract with steel companies.

The union, in a resolution adopted by its 175-man wage policy committee, declared:

"Under the terms of its contract, the union may now exercise all of the rights and remedies which would be available to it in bargaining for a new contract with respect to a general wage increase. These rights and remedies include the right to strike.

DEC 13 1945

30.24-32335

"The major steel companies in this country have banded together in a strong and well - financed propaganda campaign to deceive the American public into the view that a strike by the United Steelworkers of America would be a violation of its contracts x x x."

The Iron and Steel Institute, in newspaper advertisements, had asserted today:

"Every contract which the union has signed this year with the various steel companies has a clause wherein the union agrees not to strike during the life of the contract."

The contracts expire in October, 1946.

The union contended that the clause permits it to "reopen the contract for a general wage increase upon a change in national wage policy."

It added that "a change in national wage policy has been announced and the War Labor board, in a unanimous resolution, has expressly recognized that the union is free to bargain with respect to a general wage increase."

The union is seeking a $2-a-day pay raise. Its strike would be the largest in the nation's history, involving 700,000 steel, aluminum and iron ore workers.

The Iron and Steel Institute said the general effect of a steel strike would be this:

"Over 40 per cent of all the factory workers in the country earn their living by making steel into useful products for American life.

"A shutdown of the steel industry would be a disastrous blow to reconversion and would cause a serious loss in both wages and industrial production at a time when they were most needed."

86 Companies Involved

Philip Murray, president of the union, said at a press conference tonight he did not care to comment on how President Truman's fact-finding labor-disputes proposal would affect the strike if the law is enacted before January 14.

Murray remarked the plan might require separate fact-finding boards and hearings for all 86 steels companies involved.

work day.

Present Wages—For common labor, the base pay is $6.24 a day; for the average steel worker it is estimated at $8.96 a day.

Workers—The union estimates the number of members in the steel, aluminum and iron ore industries who would be made idle at above 700,000.

Plants—766 companies from coast to coast.

Number of States with Producing Steel Plants—Twenty-seven, as follows: Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, New York, Maryland, Alabama, Michigan, West Virginia, California, Utah, Colorado, Kentucky, Minnesota, Texas, New Jersey, Delaware, Missouri, Washington, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Georgia, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, Tennessee and Virginia.

Higgins in Santa Claus Role, Presents Business to Employes

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 12.—(AP) Andrew Jackson Higgins, Sr., played Santa Claus without a beard today, presenting a $100,000 electric appliance business to three employes.

One of the trio, J. O. Crary, said they were "completely overwhelmed."

Higgins, whose boat building properties here are in liquidation after labor difficulties, said he had turned over the electric appliances division of his Higgins Industries, Inc., to the division's three present operating heads "to show that management appreciates loyalty and efficiency."

The new owners are Crary, former division manager and president of the new company, L. V. Busenlener and W. H. Bramblett.

The new company, to be known as Industries Sales Corp., will distribute to retailers a variety of electric appliances manufactured by 38 firms, Crary said, and will employ about 30 men.

last January 1, originally would have applied to 4,300 employés represented by 33 craft unions affiliated with the New Orleans Metal Trades Council.

Two Yards Strikebound

However, Higgins is operating only one of its three New Orleans yards at present due to a strike in a dispute over the contract. The previous contract expired last December 31, but was ordered extended by the WLB in a previous directive.

The AFL unions' right to represent the Higgins employés is challenged by the CIO Marine and Shipyard Workers before the National Labor Relations Board, which held a hearing here Monday. The vacation plan was one of five issues before the board.

The vacation plan provides for five days' vacation with pay for employés who, prior to June 1, had been continuously employed for at least one year and who had worked not less than 1,500 straight-time hours, and ten days' vacation with pay for employés who had been employed five years and who, during each of the three years preceding June 1, had worked 1,500 straight-time hours.

Vacations Ordered

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—The War Labor Board today directed Higgins Industries, Inc., of New Orleans, to pay employés with one year or more of service for five days of vacation.

The board's order, retroactive to

Price Controls Called 'Lid On Powder Keg'

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Price control is the lid on a "'keg of economic dynamite," Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small told a Senate committee today.

He urged not onl ythat it be continued beyond next June but that Congress vote on it now and not wait until the act is about to expire.

Otherwise, he told the Senate Small Business Committee, manufacturers and retailers next spring will hold products off the marke "on a tremendous scale" in the hopes price control will expire.

Won't Name Names

Asked by Senator Wherry (R., Neb.) to name names and prove a statement that some concerns are apparently now holding products off the market to wait for the end of the excess profits tax in January, Small said "I cant' answer that here . . . in any open hearing."

On the House side, the committee on Postwar Economic Policy heard a plea for retention of price controls for "a limited period."

Banker Wants Ceilings Kept

Ralph E. Flanders, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, told the group controls must be continued because of "strong inflationary tendencies now apparent." He added:

"Continuance of price control for a time, while difficult, is necessary if we are to prevent the present excessive demand for goods from working itself off in a sharp rise in prices.

June 30 Too Early

"On the basis of facts now available . . . it is not clear that all items can safely be removed from price control by next June 30.

"The areas in which some limited further extension of control may be necessary include a few raw materials, such as tin and sugar; some durable goods, such as automobiles and washing machines, and especially rents and some building materials.

War Rubbed Out Earlier Events

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, who has been under questioning six days in the congressional Pearl Harbor inquiry, finally got a bit angry today.

As Representative Keefe (R., Wis.) queried him persistently concerning his memory of events before the Japanese attack, Marshall flushed and said:

"I am not a bookkeeping machine."

At another point, Marshall said: "You gentlemen are asking me about things rubbed out by four years of global war."

orities for Materials.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 — (AP) President Truman, acting to avert "further sky-rocketing of home prices," today called for legislation to fix price ceilings on houses.

In a companion move aimed to relieve what he termed an acute housing shortage, the President announced at his news conference that building materials will be back under a priority system in a few days.

Under the system, about 50 per cent of all construction supplies will be earmarked for single or multiple dwellings costing $10,000 or less a unit.

Priorities For Veterans

The priorities program also will set up preferences for veterans in the purchase or rental of such housing.

A third step in the new overall housing program calls for immediate release to states and local governments of any surplus Federal property suitable for housing. Included under this plan, already put in operation by the Surplus Property administration, are Army and Navy barracks and dormitories.

To search out and attempt to crack all bottlenecks affecting home construction, Mr. Truman appointed Wilson Wyatt, former Mayor of Louisville, to be housing expeditor in the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

A bill is pending in Congress to put price ceilings on new and old houses. The President gave it his blessing by endorsing a statement by Reconversion boss John W. Snyder that "such authority is essential if we are to avert further sky-rocketing of home prices."

Appointment of a housing expediter and reinstitution of priorities were promptly hailed in real estate circles, but the price ceiling proposal was roundly denounced.

Opposes Ceiling Plan

President Van Holt Garrett of the National Association of Real Estate Boards told reporters during a visit to Omaha that the housing shortage "would soon iron out if they only would take all controls off and let us produce." Imposition of ceilings, he said, would be a "very dangerous step."

Snyder, whose statement was released by Mr. Truman, said "the price control features of the pending legislation appear workable and satisfactory."

A spokesman for Snyder said the administration is counting on passage of the Patman bill, now before the House Banking committee, for authority to fix ceilings.

The bill provides that ceilings on new houses would be determined on the basis of actual construction costs, plus the fair market value of the land and the generally prevailing contractors' margin for comparable units in 1941.

On an existing home, the ceiling would be the price at which it is first sold after enactment of the bill.

Price control would be limited to those areas where a Federal housing director found it necessary.

As during the war, the priorities program will be operated under the Second War Powers act. Snyder said that to make the plan fully effective, the act should be extended for one year beyond Dec. 31, instead of six months as provided in a House extension bill.

As for surplus building materials held by the government, Snyder said their release "will be expedited by special teams which will locate surpluses and sell them on the spot."

Arrangements are being made, he added, to see that at least 70 per cent of these materials goes into housing, with preference for veterans.

Snyder's statement emphasized that all steps being taken "are designed to cope with the current emergency."

"Solution of the long-range problem of providing the people with an adequate supply of moderately priced housing is being studied by the Congress" the Reconversion chief said, "and I am looking forward to constructive action through legislation."

Nothing less than peak production for several years will really solve the housing problem, Snyder asserted. He estimated that more than 1,000,000 families are living "doubled up" with other families because of the housing shortage.

ASKS CEILING PRICES ON OLD AND NEW HOMES

Directs Reinstatement of Priorities System on Building Materials.

WITH VETERANS PREFERRED

President Names ex-Mayor Wyatt of Louisville as Special Housing Expediter.

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—President Truman today asked that dwellings be placed under price control and directed reinstatement of the priority system of building materials. His actions contemplated special preference to veterans in need of housing.

At the same time, Mr. Truman announced appointment of Wilson W. Wyatt, former Mayor of Louisville, to be special housing expediter under the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

When the housing matter came up at his weekly news conference, Mr. Truman said in response to questions that the administration planned to invoke price ceilings on old and new housing under the still operative war powers act, pending enactment of specific legislation on the subject.

White House Clarifies Point.

After the conference, however, the White House issued a statement asserting that the President's explanation was made under a misapprehension. Legislation is necessary to fix price ceil-

Facts About Steel Strike Threat

Pittsburgh, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Facts about the threatened steel strike set by the C. I. O.-United Steel Workers to begin January 14:

The Issue—A $2-a-day increase in pay for an eight-hour

Price Ceiling on Homes Favored by Truman

President Names Construction Expediter, Plans Pri-

DEC 13 1945

White House Statement on Housing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP).—The statement released by the White House today in connection with President Truman's housing program follows:

Dec. 12, 1945.

The President has received the attached memorandum on housing from John W. Snyder, Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

He has approved the same, and in conformity with Mr. Snyder's recommendation the President has announced the appointment in the O. W. M. R. of Mr. Wilson Wyatt, former Mayor of Louisville, as housing expediter as per the attached letter.

REPORT ON HOUSING

Memorandum for the President

This is a report on the housing problem of the nation.

The Problem and the Causes

More than a million families are living "doubled up" with other families because of the acute housing shortage. Many more will have to double up next year. Hundreds of thousands of these will be veterans, married during or after the war, who have never had a chance to set up homes for themselves. Immediate demand for new housing is far in excess of our capacity to produce next year. As a result, the threat of inflation is greater in this field than in any other. It is very serious.

The housing shortage we have today has been building up over a period of years. The country entered the war with a housing deficit. During the war, because we needed all available materials and man power to supply our fighting men, we were able to build only for workers who migrated to war plants. At the same time marriages increased at far more than the normal rate. With the return of millions of veterans and the additional marriages which will follow, we are now feeling the full force of this shortage.

Nothing less than several years of peak production will really solve the housing problem. It will take some time to get the construction industry into full operation, and we will do well if more than 500,000 housing units are built in 1946. The government is applying its powers to the stimulation of housing production and to meeting the emergency situations of the months ahead. But the Federal government cannot solve the problem alone. States and local communities must also stimulate production and help the returning veterans find homes for their families or, if necessary, find emergency shelter. Of course veterans receive preference now for vacancies in all Federal housing units.

The best efforts of the construction industry also are needed, and it is the definite responsibility of the industry—management and labor—to co-operate in every way possible to increase production of reasonably priced homes.

What Is Being Done

The Administration is using all its powers to stimulate production of materials and housing. The Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion has taken energetic action under its six-point program. The six objectives of that program are:

(1) To increase the supply of building materials;

(2) To strengthen inventory controls to prevent hoarding;

(3) To strengthen price controls over building materials;

(4) To discourage unsound lending practices and speculation;

(5) To enlist industry support in increasing production and fighting inflation;

(6) To provide information and advisory service on home values to the public.

Under this program the executive agencies have combined their powers to meet emergency situations. Price increases, special man-power recruiting by the United States Employment Service, priorities and allocations of machinery and materials have been employed in cases where more production was needed, such as cast-iron pipe, bricks and gypsum lath. As a result, production of critically short cast-iron soil pipe and fittings increased from 12,000 tons in June to 22,000 tons in November; bricks increased from 131,000,000 in February, to 265,000,000 in November; gypsum lath is expected to increase more than 28 per cent in the next sixty days. Lumber production has been low for a variety of reasons, including strikes and other shut-downs. A price increase has been granted; the strikes are being settled.

All these will help, but some materials still will remain scarce for months to come. Communities can help by amending obsolete building codes to permit reasonable use of substitute material.

Watching Inventories

Inventories are being watched closely to prevent hoarding and thus assure the prompt distribution of scarce materials and supplies. Widening of these controls is being studied.

A sharp increase in residential building already has occurred. Running contrary to seasonal trends, home-building activity rose from $56,000,000 in June—normally a peak month—to an estimated $116,000,000 in November and $125,000,000 in December. But the level is still extremely low in relation to our needs.

The number of on-site workers in residential building construction, private and public, increased from 144,000 in June to 216,000 in October. We will need more than double this number of workers if we are to reach 500,000 units of housing in 1946.

The first of a series of meetings with industry and community groups under the six-point program of the O. W. M. R. will be held in Washington Dec. 17 and 18. Representatives of labor and management organizations have been invited to the first meeting, and will discuss with the Administration methods of stimulating home construction at reasonable prices. Further meetings of representatives of home-financing institutions, and of public-interest and consumer groups, are also on the list. The National Housing Administrator has requested the Mayors of all communities which have a severe problem to set up emergency housing committees.

In addition to the foregoing program, which was laid down three months ago, the following three additional steps are being undertaken or recommended at this time.

1. The first step is a program for speeding up release of surplus housing units and building materials held by the government. It is ready to operate.

Surplus Made Available

This program makes immediately available to the states and local communities surplus government property suitable for housing, including Army and Navy barracks and dormitories. Wherever possible these facilities, many of which are near crowded cities, will be utilized on their present sites to house veterans and their families. In other instances it will be necessary to move them to new sites and remodel them. The Federal government will lend these housing units to the communities for the duration of the housing emergency.

Some temporary housing built for war workers and vacated as it is no longer needed on the present sites can be readily dismantled and moved where it is needed. Removal of a few thousand units of this kind already has been undertaken by some colleges and communities to provide for veterans. It is estimated that 100,000 units will become available in the next few months.

Appropriations have been asked of the Congress to finance removals of this kind, and it is important that such legislation be passed as soon as possible in order that this shelter be available this winter.

Release of building materials will be expedited by special teams which will locate surpluses and sell them on the spot. Arrangements are being made to see that at least 70 per cent goes into housing, with preference for veterans.

The Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion has requested the War and Navy Departments to suspend all construction that is not immediately necessary, so as to eliminate this drain on supplies.

2. The second step is a regulation which is now being prepared and which should be released before the middle of the month, establishing priorities on building materials.

50 Per Cent to Low-Cost Units

In general terms, this regulation will establish such priorities for single or multiple dwelling housing units costing $10,000 or less per unit. This will mean that about 50 per cent of all building materials will be channeled into this type of building. The balance will be available for commercial, industrial, higher-priced dwelling and all other construction—public and private. The regulation will also provide preferences for veterans in the purchase or rental of such housing, so that they can buy or rent them before any one else.

The regulation will be issued under the second war powers act. This is one reason that it is nec-ings, the White House statement said.

---

"Legislation is not necessary for the establishment of priorities on building materials," it added, "and these priorities are being set up under the War Powers act without legislation."

The President had been asked whether legislation would be necessary on price ceilings. He replied no, because this is under the War Powers act.

"The President in answering the question was under the impression that the question referred to priorities rather than price ceilings," the White House stated.

During the war the National Housing Agency issued building material priorities to its field offices. An NHA spokesman said that while there has been no decision as yet, the agency expects to be assigned to handle the job again.

The President's action was taken in approving a recommendation by Reconversion Director John W. Snyder.

The program calls for ceiling prices "on old and new housing." Mr. Truman said the Office of Price Administration "is now placing local dollar-and-cents ceilings on the construction materials themselves and many services."

President's Three-Point Program.

The Three-point program calls for:

1. Speedy release of Government-owned surplus housing units and building materials for use in housing veterans and their families.

2. A regulation, now being prepared for release before the middle of the month, establishing priorities on building materials. The President said this regulation would establish priorities for single or multiple dwelling housing units costing $10,000 or less per unit. He said this would mean "about 50 per cent of all building materials will be channeled into this type of building," with the balance available for commercial, industrial, higherpriced dwelling and for other construction, public or private. He said he was acting under the Second War Powers act.

3. Ceiling prices on old and new housing, a field in which he said sharp price rises had brought a threat of inflation which has been the most menacing in our economy.

"We are using all the powers that have been granted the Administration to combat it," he added.

The President, adopting Snyder's recommendations as those of the Administration, quoted Snyder as saying that credit agencies of the Government "are working out ways to curb unsound lending practices."

The program would involve varying ceilings in different parts of the country depending on local conditions.

Situation Portrayed as Grave.

The President indorsed legislation now before the House Banking and Currency Committee providing authority for ceiling prices on the sale of old and new housing. He said such authority is essential "if we are to avert further sky-rocketing of home prices."

Snyder, in his report which was indorsed by the President had this to say under the heading, "The Problem and Its Causes:"

"More than a million families are living 'doubled up' with other families because of the acute housing shortage. Many more will have to double up next year. Hundreds of thousands of these will be veterans, married during or after the war, who have never had a chance to set up homes for themselves. Immediate demand for new housing is far in excess of our capacity to produce next year. As a result, the threat of inflation is greater in this field than in any other. It is very serious.

"The housing shortage we have today has been building up over a period of years. The country entered the war with a housing deficit. During the war, because we needed all available materials and man power to supply our fighting men, we were able to build only for workers who migrated to war plants. At the same time, marriages increased at far more than the normal rate. With the return of millions of veterans, and the additional marriages which will follow, we are now feeling the full force of this shortage.

"Nothing less than several years of peak production will really solve the housing problem. It will take some time to get the construction industry into full operation and we will do well if more than 500,000 housing units are built in 1946. The Government is applying its powers to the stimulation of housing production and to meeting the emergency situations of the months ahead. But the Federal Government cannot solve the problem alone. States and local communities must also stimulate production and help the returning veterans find homes for their families or, if necessary, find emergency shelter. Of course veterans receive preference now for vacancies in all Federal housing units.

"The best efforts of the construction industry also are needed and it is the definite responsibility of the industry—management and labor—to co-operate in every way possible to increase production of reasonably priced homes."

Mr. Truman said in a letter to former Mayor Wyatt:

"I am asking you to assume the role of housing expediter in the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. I am asking you to search out all bottlenecks at whatever level of industry or of Government—local, State or national—you may find them; to try to break those bottlenecks; and to make the machinery of housing production run as smoothly and speedily as possible, so that we may be able to make the peace production of homes equal to the task of housing our veterans and other civilians."

DEC 13 1945

30.21-32-337

essary to extend this act for a full year after Dec. 31, 1945. Six months' extension, as provided in the House bill, is too short a time to meet this emergency need.

Diversion of materials from less urgent commercial and industrial construction and from high-cost housing through such a priority system is one of the few ways in which we can immediately increase the supply of home-building materials.

3. The third step relates to ceiling prices on old and new housing. Sharp increases in the price of housing already have occurred. The threat of inflation in this field is the most menacing in our economy, and we are using all the powers that have been granted the Administration to combat it.

Credit agencies of the government are working out ways to curb unsound lending practices.

The Office of Price Administration is now placing local dollar-and-cents ceilings on the construction materials themselves and many services. This ceiling varies in different parts of the country, depending on local conditions.

Rent controls have been very successful, and their coverage of some 14,000,000 family units constitutes one of our strongest safeguards against housing inflation.

We are making progress in our efforts to cope with the housing problem, but it is a difficult one requiring full cooperation of communities, local and Federal governments and of all sections of the industry. As I said earlier, nothing less than several years of peak production will really solve the housing problem.

JOHN W. SNYDER,
Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion.
Dec. 8, 1945.

Truman Names Wyatt

The President has addressed the following letter to the Hon. Wilson Wyatt:

Dec. 12, 1945.

Dear Mr. Wyatt:

This country is faced by an acute shortage of housing. Veterans are returning to homeless communities. Former war workers have come back to their home towns and have found no place in which to live.

Legislation Pending

Legislation has been introduced and is now pending before the House Banking and Currency Committee which would provide ceiling prices on the sale of old and new housing. Such authority is essential if we are to avert further skyrocketing of home prices, and the price-control features of the pending legislation appear workable and satisfactory.

The foregoing program is not an easy one. It involves many industries, many agencies of the government and countless communities; and it must be modified from time to time to meet changed conditions. I strongly urge that a housing expediter be appointed who shall have responsibility for co-ordinating and expediting the housing program, and for recommending new steps that may be needed to meet new problems.

All the steps I have outlined are designed to cope with the current emergency. Solution of the long-range problem of providing the people with an adequate supply of moderately priced housing is being studied by the Congress and I am looking forward to constructive action through legislation.

It is urgent that every available temporary living quarter be used in overcrowded communities that the production of building materials be expedited, that the production of homes be hurried, that the cost of housing be protected from further inflation.

I am asking you to assume the role of housing expediter in the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. I am asking you to search out all bottlenecks at whatever level of industry or of government—local, state or national—you may find them; to try to break those bottlenecks; and to make the machinery of housing production run as smoothly and speedily as possible, so that we may be able to mae the peace production of homes equal to the task of housing our veterans and other civilians.

Very sincerely,
HARRY S. TRUMAN.

White House Crowding

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP) — President Truman asked Congress today for $1,650,000 to enlarge and improve the White House.

His budget request explained that demands on the President growing out of the war have made it necessary to have the staff conveniently located. Some now have outside offices.

Proposed construction would include an addition to the West Wing, completion of the East Wing, enlarged early in the war, and "other improvements to the Executive Mansion and grounds.

Accommodations for the press also are inadequate, Mr. Truman said.

Marines to Stay in China Until Japs Are Evacuated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP) United States Marines are ordained to be held in North China for many months yet unless Gen. George C. Marshall, under special orders from President Truman, is able to work out an early agreement between Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek and the Chinese Communists.

President Truman made this clear at a news conference today at which he also spoke of the approaching meeting of Secretary of State Byrnes with Foreign Commissar Molotov and Foreign Minister Bevin in Moscow as a rather routine affair.

Byrnes left by plane for Moscow this morning taking with him as an advisor on atomic energy problems Dr. James B. Conant, Harvard university president, and a panel of experts on European and Asiatic problems.

Next Session in Washington

Asked for comment on the tripartite session opening Saturday, Mr. Truman said it was planned a long time ago as part of the program of meetings among the Big Power foreign ministers which was laid down at the Yalta Big Three conference last winter. He added that he expected the next meeting to be held in Washington in March or April.

The President thus emphasized the same attitude toward the conference that Byrnes has publicly preached—that people should not expect too much in the way of specific agreements, that the important thing is for the foreign ministers to talk over matters face to face.

The question of the Marines in China came up when Mr. Truman was asked the direct question: When will they be taken out?

He said that would be done when our surrender terms with Japanhave been carried out. Then he volunteered the information that at a later date he will announce a completed policy on China for the guidance of Marshall, his special envoy there succeeding Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley.

Marshall to Leave Soon

Marshall is expected to leave within a day or so and the policy will be announced by the President then.

From diplomatic informants it was learned that the earliest possible time at which the Marines could be withdrawn is four or five months away and they may actually be in China long after that.

The Japanese surrender terms of which the President spoke presumably are those under which the United States government considers itself committed to help the Chinese rid their country of defeated Japs and help the Japanese get back home.

Thus the Marines would be in China until the last Japs are out. In the disputed North China area, roughly, the territory between the Yellow river and the Great Wall, there are 325,000 Japanese. In all of China and Formosa there are about 1,300,000.

The 325,000 are scattered along strategic railways in the contested territory. Pending their removal, according to American diplomats, both Chinese factions have been seeking to use them to advantage. One problem of the Marines, it is explained, is to serve as a stabilizing force to keep the Chinese as calm as possible and prevent either the government or the Communists from placing the Japanese in permanent positions of power in a strategic area of China.

The diplomatic officials say there is only one possible solution for the situation and that is an agreement between Chiang and the Communists.

Thus, the diplomats say, Marshall's main assignment must be the same assignment which Hurley had and which Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell tried to achieve before that—to unify China. However, for Marshall this may be broken down into two parts.

First, he may be instructed to seek a specific agreement between Chiang and the Communists for the removal of Japanese forces from China. If this could be arranged it might reduce the time Marines have to remain there.

Second, Marshall would have the long-range problem of a permanent political settlement under which the Chinese Communists would become a part of and controlled by the Chinese Central government.

Marines to Finish Job in China

Truman Says They Will Stay Until Japs Are Gone—Chiang's Troops Enter Mukden.

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—President Truman said today that United States Marines will remain in China until surrender terms with the Japanese have been carried out.

Presumably this means that as long as there are any important forces of defeated Japanese left in China the Marines will stay there, since Secretary of State Byrnes recently declared that under the surrender terms the United States is committed to help get the surrendered Japanese units home.

To Reveal Policy on China.

The question of the Marines came up when Mr. Truman was asked at a press conference specifically when they would be taken out of China. He replied that the Marines will be taken out of China when our surrender terms with Japan have been carried out.

At a later date, the President added he will announce the complete American policy on China for the guidance of Gen. George C. Marshall, his new special Ambassador to Chungking. The announcement will be made at a news conference, the President said, when Gen. Marshall leaves. That might be late this week, for Byrnes said yesterday he expected Marshall would be able to leave in about two days, after completing his current testimony before the Pearl Harbor investigating committee.

NAVY PRESENTS OWN PLAN FOR U. S. SECURITY

Admiral Robbins Asserts Its Superiority Over Merger Proposal.

SENATE BODY TO STUDY IT

Officer Says It Would Save Dollars Where Army Idea Would Save Pennies.

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—The Navy Department argued today that the Army plan for merging the armed forces under a single civilian Cabinet member is inferior to the Navy's alternative "plan for national security."

The Navy plan was submitted to the Senate Military Committee in an elaborate brochure, which summarized Army proposals on comparable points. The committee, which was not in session today, will consider the document when next it meets.

Rear Admiral Thomas H. Robbins Jr. declared that the broad reorganization of national defense under this security plan—with Army and Navy still separate—"could save dollars where, comparatively, the Army plan might save pennies."

Compares Two Plans.

The former commander of the carrier Lexington, in a statement which accompanied the Navy brochure, made these comments:

1. The Army would reduce the number of Cabinet members by one and provide no new assistance for the President.

The Navy would provide him with a National Security Council, to deal with foreign and military policies, and a National Security Resources Board, to handle domestic and economic matters.

2. The Army would weaken civilian control of the military establishments by reducing the number of civilian executives.

The Navy would strengthen civilian control by creating new policy-making agencies.

3. The Army would provide no plan for integrating foreign and military policies.

The Navy would accomplish this through the National Security Council composed of the President, Secretary of State and secretaries of the military departments.

4. The Army has no proposal to integrate a military program and civilian economy.

The Navy's National Security Resources Board would do so by bringing together such functions as those of the War Production Board, War Manpower Commission and Office of Defense Transportation.

5. The Army would leave coordination of procurement and supply to an assistant Secretary for Procurement and Industrial Mobilization, and a military officer—the Dictator of Common Supply and Hospitalization.

The Navy would create a Military Munitions Board, consisting of a high civilian and representatives of each military department, which would coordinate plans of the joint Chiefs of Staff and policies of the National Security Resources Board.

6. The Army plan offers no means of coordinating intelligence.

The Navy would set up a central intelligence agency to serve all Government departments.

Proposals in the Navy's Program for a System of National Security

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—Following is the text of the introduction and conclusion of the Navy Plan for National Security:

Introduction

World War II has been fought and won. The performance of our military forces was magnificent. The home front support provided by labor, industry, agriculture—in fact, by every important element of our civilian life—was a glowing testimony to the vitality of democracy.

Now we are engaged in considering the measures necessary to insure our future national security. We wish never again to become involved in a great war. Should we be compelled to fight another war, we must enter that war well prepared.

If we are to plan wisely for our future security, we must measure all proposals against two standards:

What weaknesses revealed by World War II should be corrected?

What new dangers must we anticipate and guard against?

It is no reflection upon the character or the ability of the men who directed the prosecution of the recent war to acknowledge that mistakes were made. Rather, it is evidence of their integrity that they should promptly call attention to those errors and propose corrective measures.

World War II Defects

Defects in our security structure revealed by World War II were:

Our foreign policy and military policy were not always closely integrated.

There was, when the war started, no adequate machinery for the mobilization of our material resources, productive capacity and manpower. There also was no adequate machinery for the adjustment of our civilian economic life to the requirements of total war.

There were at times gaps in the translation of strategic plans into plans for matériel and personnel.

There were weaknesses in the planning of matériel requirements and duplications in procurement both within and between the military departments.

The coordination of military and other war budgets was not as thorough and detailed as would have been desirable.

The first test of any plan for future national security is the extent to which it applies these lessons of the past. Any plan which neglects this requirement is misconceived. Any plan which fails to meet this requirement must be judged inadequate.

Everyone who is familiar with the development of atomic explosives, self-propelled and guided missiles, proximity fuses, and radar, must be aware that the future holds threats far surpassing anything we yet have faced.

Time for preparation after attack has reached the vanishing point. In the future the capacity to prepare quickly will not serve. Only preparedness in being can afford protection from attack and foster peace.

Requirements Outlined

The national security requirements imposed by these new considerations are:

The continuous, aggressive, and coordinated collection and interpretation of intelligence.

The constant pursuit of scientific knowledge and the rapid development of its military applications.

The development and maintenance in being of the organizational machinery for total war should we again be compelled to take up arms.

The contrasting character of the European and Pacific phases of World War II clearly establishes another requirement for our future security. The European war was predominantly a land war. It was fought on large land masses with ground forces, and with air forces operating primarily from land bases and over land areas. It required great naval support to clear and protect the shipping lanes and to put the troops and supplies ashore.

The war in the Pacific was fought over vast areas of water for the possession of small areas of land. The fighting on land was essential and it was bitter, but the bulk of the conflict was naval and naval air conflict.

"Must Be Adequately Prepared"

In each of these two totally different wars, each branch of our military services played its part. The difference in the burdens which in each case fell upon various branches of the armed services makes entirely clear another requirement fo our future security:

We must, in the future, develop to the fullest extent the capacity of each branch of our military services because we must be adequately prepared to fight a war of whatever character the future may bring.

If we combine the necessity of correcting past defects and that of meeting new dangers, we have a list of eight requirements against which to measure any plan for national security.

Eight Points Emphasized

To be acceptable, such a plan must establish:

(1.) Organized means for the integration of foreign and military policy.

(2.) Organizations in being for directing industrial mobilization and for reconciling industrial mobilization with national resources.

(3.) A more efficient organization for the translation of strategic requirements for matériel and personnel.

(4.) Provision for the coordination of military and other war budgets.

(5.) Adequate means for the elimination of waste and duplication in and between the military departments.

(6.) An efficient coordinated intelligence organization serving all government departments and agencies.

(7.) An organizational means for fostering scientific research and development within the military departments and among civilian organizations.

(8.) Full opportunity of each branch of the military services to develop for its specialized task.

Each of these requirements is met by the Navy Plan. The diagram shows, by number, how the Navy Plan meets each of the requirements numbered above.

There is also under consideration at the present time a military reorganization proposal advanced by the Army.

Conclusion

We have said, and we repeat, that any plan which neglects these requirements of the future is misconceived, and that any plan which fails fully to meet these requirements must be judged inadequate.

Though only a part of the broad problem, the question of the specific organizational form of our military departments is an important part of this whole subject.

The Navy Plan proposes the continuation of separate military departments. The Navy sponsors this proposal for two reasons: first, as the above comparison has demonstrated, unification of the military services is neither necessary nor helpful to the solution of the major problems facing us; second, unification of the military departments would be detrimental to the accomplishment of several important objectives.

One of the most cherished principles of our democracy is that civilian authority shall control military authority. The continuance of separate departments as proposed by the Navy maintains civilian control, by providing each service with a civilian head of Cabinet rank, and by coordinating over-all policy-making through new civilian organizations. Our democratic Government is built upon a system of checks and balances. The balance of national security must not be jeopardized by the elimination of a Cabinet officer.

A cardinal element in our future security is the full development of each branch of our military service. The Navy Plan provides for separate departments of War and of the Navy, and recommends autonomy for a strategic air force. The existence of separate departments insures that every vital element of our national security will be given the consideration which is required for the security of our country, and it encourages the energetic and imaginative development of the potentialities of each branch of our military service.

Navy Plan Held Economical

The sponsors of the Army Plan have urged that the merger of the military departments will eliminate waste and duplication and thereby effect economy.

War is wasteful. The greatest economy is in preventing war. The best insurance against war is national preparedness and an effective coordination of our foreign and our military policy. The Navy Plan provides for this coordination—and, therefore, for the greatest potential economy. The Army Plan does not.

The assertion that waste and duplication are derived from the existence of two military departments and would be eliminated by a merger of those departments also ignores the primary cause of the waste. It is necessary only to recall the frantic effort with which the military departments were obliged to calculate their requirements when this war began, and to recall the rapid succession of temporary agencies devised for hasty mobilization of our industrial resources, to realize that waste in the war was primarily attributable to lack of advance planning and to hasty calculations. Waste, to a much lesser degree, resulted from duplications in purchasing.

To correct the first and greater of these two defects we must provide a permanent and continuing means for coordination of (a) strategic policy, (b) essential civilian needs and (c) our material resources. Hastily improvised organizations unable to provide this three-way coordination effectively will produce continual disruptions of the national economy, waste of critical resources, loss of man-hours—in short, large expenditures without commensurate accomplishments.

The Navy Plan provides for this necessary coordination through the creation of the National Security Resources Board, which would correlate military requirements, civilian needs and material resources. Links of coordination between the civilian economy and the military are also provided in the Navy Plan through the joint Chiefs of Staff and the Military Munitions Board. The Army Plan offers no means for this over-all coordination—and, therefore, no way to plug up this great source of waste.

No Real Saving Seen

Probably the smallest source of waste in war is actual duplication in procurement. The Army says that unification of the two departments will automatically prevent this waste. All able administrators know that problems of coordination and of administrative control increase rapidly with the expansion of organizational size. It is vain and wishful to assume that by merging two great departments into one still larger department we will achieve more effective and more economic administration.

Both Army and Navy experience during the war shows the need for decentralizing—not conglomerating — procurement. The Army was a "single command" in this war, yet duplicating procurement occurred within the Army, showing that "single command" is no solution per se. The Army Air Forces found it necessary to split their procurement off from the Army Services Forces. The Navy had to distribute among its several bureaus procurement authority formerly centralized.

Certainly, "single command" should not be swallowed as the cure-all for duplications in procurement. Under the Navy Plan the Military Munitions Board is given full authority under the direction of a civilian chairman to unify where advisable procurement of the military services and to eliminate duplications in this field. This can be accomplished without the creation of an additional purchasing organization as proposed by the Army.

The Navy Plan for national security could save dollars where, comparatively, the Army Plan might save pennies.

Medal of Merit Given Davies, Morgenthau

Truman Presents First of Civilian Awards, Calls Them Equal of D. S. M.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP).—President Truman pinned today the first Civilian Medals of Merit on Henry Morgenthau jr. and Ralph K. Davies.

Mr. Morgenthau was honored for his war-time contribution to American victory as Secretary of the Treasury and director of the country's war-bond campaigns.

Mr. Davies, deputy Petroleum Administrator, was commended for his part in achieving government-industry co-operation that assured petroleum for every military and essential civilian need.

The ceremony took place in the President's office in the White House. When it was over, the President turned to reporters to remark on the importance he attached to the new medal.

"These are the first two medals awarded under the new set-up of the Civilian Medal of Merit," said the President. "This decoration, in my opinion, is just as important—for those civilians who contributed to the welfare of the country, and will in the future contribute to the welfare of the country—as the Distinguished Service Medal is to the military who contribute behind the field of battle to the winning of a war.

"These are the first two medals that have been awarded under the Roberts Board, as set up by the President. They are direct awards of the President of the United States to citizens for exceptionally helpful conduct in the war effort or in any other civilian capacity which is for the welfare of the government of the United States."

The citation for Mr. Morgenthau commended his accomplishment in the field of international monetary stabilization, which "bore fruit in the Bretton Woods agreement for an international monetary fund and bank."

"In the days prior to our entrance into the war," it stated, "before and after the enactment of the lend-lease legislation, he was in the forefront in facilitating and urging aid to our allies."

Mr. Davies, the latter's citation said, played a leading part in negotiating the Anglo-American oil agreement and acclaimed him for "profound oil knowledge and incisive intellect, rare vision, the quiet power of a gifted organizer and executive, the courageous devotion of a man characterized by unflinching determination, and a deep sense of public service."

DEC 13 1945

DEC 13 1945

30.24-32339

CHANGES URGED IN U. S. SURPLUS SALES TO VETS

Agency Head Would Offer Goods Through Host of Wholesale Dealers.

WOULD COST 10 P. C. MORE

Greater Priority and Purchase for Personal Use Also Are Recommended.

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—W. Stuart Symington, Surplus Property Administrator, proposed to Congress today that surplus goods be made available to veterans through thousands of wholesale dealers.

He told a Senate military subcommittee that the present system of releasing such goods through thirty-one regional offices of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has not been successful.

Symington also recommended:

1. That veterans be granted a priority over all purchasers except Federal agencies. They now rank behind State and local governments, as well as Federal agencies.

2. That veterans be permitted to buy surplus property for personal use; at present they may make purchases only for business purposes.

Incorporated in Bill.

Both of these provisions, Symington said, are a part of a bill that has been introduced by Representative Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.).

In proposing the release of goods to veterans through wholesalers, Symington also urged that the Veterans Administration be named to screen purchase applications, replacing the Smaller War Plants Corporation.

Symington, reporting that "by and large, veterans are not getting the property they want," said that the lack of sufficient distribution outlets is the principal reason.

Under his plan for distribution through wholesalers, all veterans qualified to buy surplus goods would be classified as large dealers. This would give them the right to purchase at as low a price as any one trading with a wholesaler.

Veterans would buy with coupons provided by the Veterans Administration. Those who are employees, but who need certain tools or equipment, could buy $1,000 of merchandise. Those in business or who plan to start one could purchase, in general, $20,000 of goods.

Would Pay 10 P. C. More.

Veterans who preferred could continue to purchase direct from Government disposal agencies.

Symington acknowledged that veterans buying from wholesalers would pay perhaps 10 per cent more, but added: "This, however, seems to us to be outweighed by the fact that under the plan veterans will have thousands of outlets through which they can buy instead of thirty-one."

Besides lack of outlets, Symington listed four other reasons why "disposals to veterans have not been satisactory."

1. Thus far there has not been "enough to go around" of the kinds of property veterans want. He added there never will be enough of such property as small trucks, jeeps, passenger cars and station wagons.

2. Substantial amounts of property are declared surplus in such condition it is unfit for use until repaired.

3. Property is declared surplus at locations which make it difficult for veterans to exercise their preference.

4. Poor administration.

On the latter point, Symington said that "to be candid, we must admit that in some instances difficulties have been increased by bad judgment, by untrained and overburdened personnel, and by all other failings that we can describe under the heading of poor administration."

He added that SPA is "trying to correct these conditions," even though "primary responsibility for day-to-day administration rests with the disposal agencies and not with SPA."

TRUMAN DEFIED ON PALESTINE

Senate Unit Backs Resolution For Free Entry Of Jews

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Over the opposition of President Truman, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted, 17 to 1, today for a resolution in favor of opening Palestine to free entry of Jews "to the maximum of its agricultural and economic potentiality."

Chairman Connally (D., Texas), who cast the only opposition vote, said the President made it clear to him and to the committee that passage of any resolution on Palestine at this time would "greatly embarrass him in his international conferences seeking a solution."

The President and Prime Minister Attlee of Britain have set up a commission to study the Palestine situation and report within 120 days.

Three Separate Resolutions

The resolution as approved was a combination and revision of three separate ones offered by Senators Myers (D., Pa.) and Tobey (R., (N.H.), Wagner (D., N.Y.), Taft (R., Ohio) and Walsh (D., Mass.) and Guffey (D., Pa.).

It is a concurrent resolution and, if adopted by the Senate and House, does not require presidential approval.

The President recently told reporters that he favored a similar resolution while he was Vice President, but that he was not for it now because conditions have changed.

Connally Statement

Connally said in a statement that he voted for a Palestine Jewish homeland resolution in 1922 and this has never been repealed. But he said the resolution approved today "would injure the cause of the Jewish people" and make it difficult for the President to help solve the question with Britain.

Senator Wagner, in reporting the resolution to the Senate, said: There is great need "for a Jewish homeland wherein those Jews who escaped Hitler's persecution can live and breathe as free men and women, where they can establish a free and democratic commonwealth."

Interest Shown By President

The resolution says "that the interest shown by the President in the solution of this problem is hereby commended, and that the United States shall use its good offices with the mandatory power (Britain) to the end that Palestine shall be opened for free entry of Jews into that country to the maximum of its agricultural and economic potentialities."

It adds that "there shall be full opportunities for colonization and development, so that they may freely proceed with the upbuilding of Palestine as the Jewish national home, and, in association with all elements of the population, establish Palestine as a democratic commonwealth in which all men, regardless of race or creed, shall have equal rights."

Charges Farben Plotted War

Col. Bernstein Tells Senators Plans Called for Economic Blitz of U. S.

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Senators received testimony today that I. G. Farben, the German dye trust, knew of Nazi plans for war as early as June, 1938, and helped promote them.

The assertion came from Col. Bernard Bernstein, director of the American Military Government's division of investigation of cartels and external assets. He told a military sub-committee that if Germany is to be kept from waging war again "Farben must be destroyed."

In prepared testimony entitled "Farben's Dream of World Conquest," Bernstein declared the evidence is conclusive that:

"1. Without I. G.'s immense productive facilities, its intensive research and vast international affiliations, Germany's prosecution of the war would have been unthinkable and impossible.

"2. Farben not only directed its energies toward arming Germany but concentrated on weakening her intended victims.

"3. This double-barreled attempt to expand the German industrial potential for war and to restrict that of the rest of the world was not conceived and executed in the normal course of business.

"For proof is overwhelming that I. G. Farben officials had full prior knowledge of Germany's plan for world conquest, promoted those plans, planned their own operations accordingly, and anticipated expanding their empire on the plunder acquired."

Bernstein dealt at length with a document entitled "Neuordnung" (new order), which he said Farben submitted to the German Ministry of Economics in June, 1940, when France's downfall was imminent. It showed, he said, that Farben, as well as Hitler, had dreams of world empire.

For one thing, he added, the Farben plans called for "economic blitzkrieg" of the United States. In this connection Bernstein quoted a Dr. von Schnitzler as saying Farben wanted to keep Germany "as strong as possible militaristically in relation to the United States by limiting the production of armaments in Latin America."

"We did not want," von Schnitzler said, "in the event of a conflict with the United States, to permit Latin America to supply the U. S. A. with war materials."

LOUIS MAYER TOPS ALL EXECUTIVES IN 1943 SALARIES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP)

The Treasury issued a report on big incomes tonight and the name of Louis B. Mayer, led all the rest. The movie magnate got $908,070 from Loew's Inc., for personal services in one year.

Mayer's top ranking was disclosed in a supplement to an earlier partial listing of individuals' income from corporations. The report as a whole covers returns for the calendar year of 1943 and fiscal years ending in 1943 and 1944.

Ranking immediately after Mayer, who was in front by nearly $450,000, were Charles E. Wilson, of General Motors, and Thomas J. Watson, of International Business Machines. Fred MacMurray, in fourth place, and Deanna Durbin, in tenth place were the only actors to make the first ten as individuals. The income of comedians Bud Abbott and Lou Costello was reported as a single salary—$242,320.

Following is the list of the 20 individuals who, according to the Treasury statements, received the greatest income from corporations for personal services in one year:

Louis B. Mayer, $908,070; Charles E. Wilson, $459,041; Thomas J. Watson, $425,548; Fred MacMurray, $419,928; John B. Hawley, Jr., president of Northern Ordnance Inc., $400,000; Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's, $391,860; Ormond E. Hunt, General Motors, $359,519; Albert Bradley, General Motors, $350,432; Deanna Durbin, from Universal Pictures, $326,491; Barbara Stanwyck, from Paramount and Warner Bros., $323,333; E. H. Bobst, of Hoffman La Roche, Inc., $308,175; John Thomas Smith, General Motors, $306,310; Donaldson Brown, General Motors, $306,160; Charles F. Kettering, General Motors, $306,117; Elmer J. Mannix, Loew's, $300,726; Sam Katz, Loew's, $298,125; Harry L. (Bing) Crosby, $294,444; William Powell, $292,500, and David Bernstein, Loew's, 285,906.

Income taxes took a big bite out of these payments, however. The rates generally ranged from 50 per cent or more on income of $200,000 to about 90 per cent on income approaching $1,000,000.

COUNT OF JOBLESS FALLS FAR BELOW PREDICTED LEVEL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. — (AP) The National job outlook brightened today with indications there may be 3,000,000 fewer unemployed by spring than the government had figured.

Government experts, acknowledging that they over-estimated the bearish impact of reconversion on employment, now believe that not more than 5,000,000 will be seeking work by March, instead of the 8,000,000 officially forecast in October.

The 5,000,000 level may be sustained until mid-1946; then joblessness may decline as civilian production hits full stride—but officials now are wary of forecasting beyond the middle of next year.

One official described current unemployment as "amazingly small," probably ranging between 2,500,000 and 3,500,000. The War Manpower commission had estimated that 6,000,000 would be unemployed by the year's end.

The new estimates include discharged veterans and others who are "resting" now, and thus not technically unemployed, but who will be in the labor market later.

Federal economists and statisticians are declining to be quoted at this stage—in fact, an informal ban on employment forecasts exists because of the error in earlier calculations—but it is known the revised conclusions are accepted by officials of the Office of Reconversion, the census bureau and other informed agencies.

Census estimates for November—which cover only actual job-hunters, not discharged veterans and others voluntarily idle for a time—support the trend. The newly issued census report indicates November unemployment was 1,580,000 over the nation, or an increase of only 40,000 from October.

The reasons given are numerous. They include heavy withdrawals of women from the labor market, and an unsuspected demand for workers among small, non-war business which apparently had been getting along with inadequate help.

Two other factors now loom as unexpectedly important: First the lightness of layoffs in reconverting industries, and second, the high, sustained level of consumer purchasing.

Big companies—those in the excess profits tax brackets — have found they can keep workers on the payrolls at small cost as long as that tax is in effect. It expires January 1.

One thousand dollars worth of labor can be retained for about $150; in other words, if a company kept the $1,000 instead of paying it out in wages, the government would take $850 of it anyway in taxes.

Plants therefore have been holding on to their help, in expectation of rising production when the assembly lines really start rolling. They will continue to employ ahead of actual need, experts now believe, because the increase in output will continue for many months in most cases.

The other surprise element, consumer buying, has been well above estimates. The Federal Reserve index of department store sales has been running 10 to 13 percent above 1944 consistently, making 1945 an all-time record year.

JAP SUB SKIPPER WILL BE WITNESS AS TRIAL RESUMES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 — (AP) Iko Hashimoto, Japanese submarine skipper, will be offered as a witness for the prosecution tomorrow in the court martial of Capt. Charles B. McVay, III, commander of the lost cruiser Indianapolis.

There was every indication, however, that the unusual move would meet vigorous opposition from the defense. McVay's attorneys are expected to challenge credibility of the witness and legality of admitting testimony from an enemy alien not subject to the courts' jurisdiction for punishment of perjury.

The seven-man court, headed by Rear Admiral Wilder D. Baker, has final discretion on admitting his testimony.

Hashimoto was commanding officer of the Submarine I-58, purported to be the ship which sank the Indianapolis shortly after midnight on July 30, as she was enroute from Guam to Leyte.

Capt. McVay is being tried on charges of negligence and inefficiency. He is accused of failing to zigzag and to issue "timely" orders to abandon ship. A total of 880 lost their lives in the sinking.

The primary purpose of offering the Japanese as a witness is to establish that the Indianapolis was sunk by an enemy submarine.

The only witness before the court today was Clarence U. Benton, Los Angeles, chief fire control man aboard the Indianapolis. He said he was in his quarters preparing to retire when the ship was blasted. He immediately ordered all men in his vicinity to go on deck.

When he reached the deck, he said, the ship had taken only a slight list of not more than five degrees, and from 10 to 12 minutes passed after the explosion before it took a sudden, heavy list. Even then, he said he did not believe the ship would sink until it failed to return from that heavy list.

HURLEY INQUIRY ASKED IN HOUSE

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Representative Edith Nourse Rogers (R.-Mass.), told the House today she thought there should be a further investigation of the resignation of Major-Gen. Patrick J. Hurley as Ambassador to China.

She said that she considered such an inquiry "needed in order to see if our foreign policy is being sabotaged, as Gen. Hurley charged."

A Senate Foreign Relations Committee inquiry into the Hurley case closed without action yesterday, and committee members said they did not plan to look any further into Hurley's charges that career diplomats had undermined American foreign policy in China and other countries.

Representative Rogers made her comments on the Hurley case after the House had received a statement from Secretary of State Byrnes that he had "no information relative to the sabotaging of our foreign policy in China." The Byrnes statement was in response to a resolution by the congresswoman asking for such information.

Adms. Hepburn And Richardson Retired Again

Former Fleet Commanders Had Been Recalled to Active Duty During War

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP).—The Navy relieved today from active duty two former fleet commanders who were called out of retirement during the war.

They are Admirals James O. Richardson, sixty-seven, a recent witness at Congressional hearing on Pearl Harbor, and Arthur J. Hepburn, sixty-eight.

Admiral Richardson, a native of Paris, Tex., testified in the Pearl Harbor investigation that he understood he was removed from command of the United States Fleet in February, 1941, because he had hurt President Roosevelt's feelings by disagreeing with him on disposition of the Pacific Fleet.

He has recently been special assistant to the Secretary of the Navy on the Joint Chiefs of Staffs.

Admiral Hepburn, a native of Carlisle, Pa., was commander of the fleet from June 24, 1936, to Jan. 29, 1938. His last assignment was chairman of the Navy's General Board.

The Navy also relieved from active duty Rear Admiral Lamar R. Leahy, who had been called back to service after retirement. He has been serving as president of the general court martial of the 3d Naval District at New York. He is a native of New York.

These new assignments were announced: Rear Admiral Calvin H. Cobb as commandant of the United States Naval Bases in Philadelphia; Rear Admiral William G. Tomlinson, a native of Leavenworth, Kan., as commander of Fleet Air Wing 2, now in Hawaii; and Rear Admiral Charles A. Dunn, native of Warrensburg, Mo., as naval material inspector for the New York District.

British Tax On Gift Packages Of U.S. Food Assailed

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—The charging of duty by England on gift food packages sent there is "unjustifiable" and should be stopped, says Representative Judd (R., Minn.).

Mrs. A. G. Young, of Minneapolis, wrote Judd that during the war she had been sending five-pound parcels of groceries and gifts to her elderly brother and his family in England and added:

"I understood Britain was glad for us to do all we could to help our relatives out during such a critical period. I did not learn until the first of October that for every parcel sent they have had to pay duty on them."

"No Objections," British Quoted

Judd, placing her letter and his reply in the Congressional Record, said he hoped this would help bring a change of policy by the British custom officials.

Judd said the British Embassy replied to his inquiry that the duty on food is "so low that the people have not been objecting to paying it."

Duties, Judd said, included 10 per cent of the value on meats, dry fruits and raisins, 13 cents on a pound of tea, 4 cents on a pound of sugar, 2 cents on a pound of butter, and up to 40 per cent on new clothing made of wool and cotton.

Judd's Comment

"It seems to me unjustifiable to charge duty on gift packages from the needy recipients to them," Judd asserted.

"Incidentally, inquiry from the French Embassy reveals that the French Government levies no duty on such gifts to its citizens, except cigarettes or fur and silk garments."

Best Atom Shelter: Under The Sea

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Davy Jones's locker was recommended to senators today as the safest refuge in the event of an atomic war.

"The safest place on this tortured planet, should an atomic war break out, will be deep below the surface of the ocean," Dr. Alvin M. Weinberg told members of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee.

Weinberg, chief of the theoretical physics section of the Clinton laboratories at Ork Ridge, Tenn., also explored for the senators some of the good which may come out of controlled use of atomic energy.

Benefits Predicted

Some of the benefits he foresaw:

Treatment of 100 persons at a time with neutron rays which have beneficial therapeutic effects on certain types of cancer.

Possibility of duplicating in the laboratory the photosynthesis process by which nature makes foods out of carbon dioxide, water and sunlight.

Arctic Settlement

Settlement of the Arctic, and possibly space-ship travel, as the result of the extreme concentration of nuclear energy.

Industrial development, using the new power, of vast regions not endowed with water power. (Weinberg suggested "atomic authorities" comparable to TVA.)

Father Divine And Atoms

Philadelphia, Dec. 12 (AP)—"I did it, I harnessed atomic energy," says Father Divine, Negro evangelist, in explaining "what I am doing on earth in heaven today."

"I am the author and the finisher of the atomic of the atomic energy," Father Divine wrote in his newspaper, the New Day.

"I have harnessed it! I am bringing all of the atomic energy into subjection and by it I am bringing out many inventions!"

Radar-guided Bat Blasted Jap Targets

Navy Discloses Twelve-foot Weapon That Steered Itself From Mother Plane.

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—The Navy disclosed today that it used a deadly self-guided missile called The Bat against Japanese ships and land targets during the late stages of the Pacific war.

The Bat, launched from a mother aircraft, steered itself to the target by means of radar. If the target dodged, The Bat changed course right along with it.

Rear Admiral George F. Hussey Jr., chief of the Navy Bureau of Ordnance, said it was the first fully automatic guided missile ever used successfully in combat. Already, he added, developments have made it obsolete.

It is 12 feet long, has a 10 foot wing span and carries a heavy explosive charge. It travels at airplane speed and its range is great enough so that the mother craft can launch it while comfortably out of anti-aircraft gunnery range. Navy Privateer patral bombers were equipped to carry one Bat under each wing.

Hussey said the plane crew would identify the target visually, head the missile in the right direction and push a release button. The Bat would fly to its quarry, even if it were a specific ship in a convoy. The missile destroyed many tons of Japanese shipping during the last year of the war, Hussey said.

No attempt was made by the House committee to require congressional consent before the President could use this country's quota of troops to back UNO decisions. A move to limit the power to use troops caused a heated Senate fight before it was defeated.

Meanwhile, the United States bid for the United Nations Organization capital is now formally before the UNO Preparatory Commission in London.

Congress whipped through the invitation in near-record time—due principally to the prodding of Senator Gurney and Representative Case, South Dakota Republicans.

The House approved it Monday, the Senate Tuesday. Presidential approval is not required.

To Make It Formal

Case, who introduced the concurrent resolution asking that the UNO seat be located in this country, said that he had been informed some commission delegates had mentioned that no formal invitation had come from this country.

Case went into action, contacted House Majority Leader McCormack (D., Mass.) and Speaker Rayburn (D., Texas) Monday morning, obtained their approval and headed for the House Foreign Relations committee. Chairman Bloom (D., N.Y.) had just adjourned his committee. When Case told him his mission, Bloom recalled the members and the resolution was speedily approved.

Shortly after the House convened, Case asked for unaimous consent to bring it up for consideration and the House quickly passed it.

Tuesday morning, Senator Gurney brought the resolution before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which approved it. Two minutes after the Senate met, Gurney had the Senate's unanimous approval of the resolution. Gurney then cabled the invitation to the United States delegate at London.

House Committee Okays UNO Bill

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee today approved Senate-passed legislation vesting power in the President to guide the United States policy in the United Nations Organization, and defining his duties in that regard.

The committee's action, in closed session, was reported as unanimous. It sends the bill to the Rules Committee, which will decide when and under what procedure the House may consider it.

Written by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the legislation is intended to make United States participation in UNO effective.

No Attempt On Limit

Senate Rejects Bill On Ship Chartering

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—The Senate refused today to approve the peacetime chartering of approximately 660 war-built, Government-owned merchant ships to Russia, England and other Allies. An amendment to a ship sales bill, permitting the Maritime Commission to charter the vessels, was rejected on a 36 to 28 roll call vote.

Senator Radcliff (D.-Md.), sponsor of the amendment, said that Secretary of State Byrnes had asked for the charter provision. He said the Allies now have the vessels under a lend-lease charter agreement and that this should be continued.

DEC 13 1945

DEC 13 1945

30.24-32341

PRISONERS OF WAR TO BE SENT HOME

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—The War Department reiterated today its intention to withdraw all prisoners of war from all employment here within the next few months.

Secretary Patterson said there has been "considerable pressure for the retention of prisoners of war in this country as a source of labor," but that the Army will adhere to its plans to end the program by next March and have all prisoners homeward bound by the end of April. He gave three reasons:

1. There are approximately 1,800,000 persons drawing unemployment insurance at this time and this figure is expected to increase by late spring. The retention of prisoners to work in the United States would aggravate the unemployment problem.

2. Shipping is and will be available so that prisoners can be moved most efficiently in this period without imposing a burden on other important activities.

3—The United States must adhere to the terms of the Geneva Convention, which states that "Repatriation of prisoners of war shall be effected with the last possible delay after the conclusion of peace." The fact that Germany surrendered unconditionally and no treaty of peace has yet been signed "does not relieve the United States of the moral obligation" expressed in the convention, he said.

ICKES AID IS MADE RECLAMATION HEAD

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—President Truman appointed Michael W. Straus today as United States Commissioner of Reclamation. Mr. Truman said Straus is resigning as First Assistant Secretary of Interior to take his new post. He succeeds Harry W. Bashore, who is retiring.

A reporter at the President's news conference remarked that Straus was a close associate of Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes. He asked if Straus's resignation from his Interior Department post was related in any way to Mr. Ickes's future.

No, the President didn't think so. He said that Straus was a very capable man and had been strongly recommended to him.

Truman Names Straus

Appoints Ickes's Aid Commissioner of Reclamation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP).—President Truman today appointed Michael W. Straus as United States Commissioner of Reclamation.

Mr. Truman said Mr. Straus is resigning as first assistant Secretary of the Interior to take his new post. He succeeds Harry W. Bashore, who is retiring.

AGE LIMITS BOOSTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. — (AP) Legislation extending maximum age limits for eligibility to enter West Point or Annapolis was signed today by President Truman.

Applicable only to World War II veterans with one year of service, it boosts the maximum admission age for West Point from 22 to 24 years and for Annapolis from 21 to 23 years.

JEWS ARE ILL TREATED, ARMY CHAPLAIN CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. — (AP) Capt. Robert S. Marcus, Jewish chaplain in the U. S. Army, said today that British troops in Germany "club Jews in the concentration camps for displaced persons because the British want them to get disgusted, change their minds about going to Palestine and return to Poland."

Marcus told a news conference sponsored by the World Jewish Congress that he had investigated conditions under which Jews are living in displaced persons camps in the American and British zones of Germany. He declared the conditions "continue gruesome despite President Truman's directive and Gen. Eisenhower's orders to improve them."

"These orders," said Marcus, "have been ignored."

Mrs. Roosevelt Pension Approved By House Unit

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Legislation to provide an annual pension of $5,000 to Mrs. Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of the late President, was approved today by the House Pensions Committee.

Subject to approval by both the Senate and the House, the legislation follows established precedent of pensioning the widows of former Presidents and granting them free mailing privileges.

MARINE DEMOBILIZATION IS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—Gen. A. A. Vandegrift, Marine corps commandant, reported today the demobilization of Marines is six weeks ahead of schedule with 151,146 already discharged.

The corps was 484,631 strong on V-J day. Eventually, 376,631 will be released.

Vandegrift's statement also disclosed that Marine replacements are being sent overseas in inreasing numbers. On Dec. 7, 5,000 left Norfolk, Va., to replace high point men in China; an additional 2,100 are now en route to the Pacific, and 6,000 more will leave shortly.

CREWS TO CHECK ALL ARMY PLANES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP) Experienced flight test crews have been ordered to inspect approximately 20,500 Army planes in the U. S. to check a rising accident rate, the Army Air Forces announced today.

The accident rate in the U. S rose from 33 to 100,000 flying hours in the last quarter of 1944 to 47 per 100,000 hours in August, September and October of this year.

Announcement also was made that all United States air units in the Pacific have been combined into a new "Pacific air command" under General George C. Kenny, who was General Douglas MacArthur's top air commander.

Kenny was chief of the wartime Far Eastern Air Forces which included the Fifth, Seventh and 13th Air Forces. Under the new setup, he will have this former command plus the 20th and 8th Air forces which operated B-29s.

An official spokesman at the same time disclosed details of the Army Air Forces' idea for a permanent strength of 8,200 planes and 400,000 men, with a supplemental National Guard air force of about 6,000 planes.

The spokesman, who would not permit his name to be used, emphasized to a news conference that the pattern is only a planning measure and must be coordinated with overall plans of the War department and chiefs of staff before action can be sought.

As outlined by the spokesman, the airforce would take over all functions of land-based aviation, apparently leaving the Navy and Marine corps with only carrier-based activities.

The 400,000 figure was a downward revision from the 500,000 men mentioned by Gen. Henry H. Arnold before a congressional committee. The 400,000 would include 50,000 officers and warrant officers.

King's Medal Presented To American Red Cross

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Lord Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, today presented to the American Red Cross the King's Medal for service in the cause of freedom.

The award was presented in "gratitude for the generous and unremitting services" to the people of the United Kingdom during the war.

It was accepted by Red Cross Chairman Basil O'Connor, who suggested that "some way should be found to bring the influence of the Red Cross ideal to bear upon the problem of maintaining peace."

ARMY TO REDUCE OCCUPATION UNITS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. — (AP) Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has directed Pacific and European theater commanders to reduce their occupation forces "to the bone," it was disclosed today.

Maj. Gen. W. S. Paul, assistant chief of staff for personnel, told the Senate War Investigating committee that the new army chief of staff has "written a very strict letter to reduce their requirements."

The disclosure came during testimony on Army and Navy shipping plans. Witnesses said that a total of 1,063,500 men will be returned home from the European and Pacific theaters this month. They said 1,042,918 were returned during November.

At the same time Rear Admiral W. M. Callaghan, chief of the naval transportation service, disclosed that with the beginning of the new year the Navy is retiring battleships, cruisers and aircraft carriers from emergency troop transport assignments.

Callaghan explained that sufficient merchant type vessels are in sight now to move all troops scheduled to come home.

General Paul said that as of the first of the year, the Army's total occupation force in Europe will be 635,000 and in the Pacific 1,000,000.

Truman Unworried By Stock Market

Washington, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—President Truman was asked at his news conference today if he is looking into possible inflationary effects of the currently active stock market. The President replied in the negative.

He said that he had had so many things to worry with that he hadn't looked into the stock market, and that he never was active in the market himself.

Trumans Going Home For Yuletide

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—President Truman today announced he will fly to Independence, Mo., on Christmas Day to have dinner with the home folks.

He told a news conference he would follow his usual course of eating three Christmas dinners—with his mother, with his mother-in-law and with his elderly aunt.

He said Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, will go by train to Independence December 18.

AMG Officer Seeks German Industry Curb

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—An American Military Government officer said Germany "will be a war menace in a few years" unless her industry is curbed effectively.

Disagreeing with Byron Price's report that there is no evidence she could revive industries for war purposes for some time to come, Col. Bernard Bernstein, director of the AMG's division of investigation of cartels and external assets, said:

"You don't deindustrialize Germany by issuing decrees. You do it by taking effective action against plants. Leave Germany alone and you will have a war menace a few years."

London Asked To Ease Its Proposals To Siam

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—The United States has asked London to modify Britain's proposals to Siam because they are considered too severe, Government officials said tonight.

The State Department declined comment except to say the United States desires an "economically and politically free and independent Siamese Government."

Britain renewed [illegible] with the Siamese Cnt officials in Singapore day, it was said, seeking agreement that would formally terminate hostilities between the two countries.

Byrnes Off For Russia With Critical Problems

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes left by plane today for Moscow, where he plans to tackle half a dozen critical issues on which Big Three co-operation has been stalled.

Among these issues are the control of atomic energy and an eventual European peace conference.

Byrnes's plane left Washington airport at 9.20 A.M. (E.S.T.). Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, army chief of staff, surprised the Secretary by showing up unexpectedly to bid him farewell.

To Wish Him Luck

"I just thought I'd come out to say good-by to the Secretary and wish him luck," Eisenhower said.

Byrnes told Eisenhower that he would remember him to Generalissimo Stalin.

The pilot of the big four-motored transport was Capt. Cletus Keating, Jr., of Locust Valley, Long Island, who has piloted Byrnes on other trips.

The flight schedule calls for getting Byrnes to the Russian capital in time for his first meeting Saturday with Soviet Foreigr Commissar Molotov and British Foreign Secretary Bevin.

Byrnes's top aim at the Foreign Ministers' meeting will be to advise Molotov fully of Anglo-American-Canadian plans for turning over atomic energy problems to the United Nations in January. He intends to seek Molotov's reaction to this project.

Seen As Chief Problem

A Moscow dispatch last night quoted informed sources as saying that if the United States and Britain arrive at the conference with acceptable propositions on the atomic bomb, more than 50 per cent of the difficulties confronting the Big Three will have been solved.

Byrnes made it clear yesterday that the subjects to be discussed at Moscow will not be agreed upon formally until Molotov, Bevin and he get together. But from his own comments and from the list of his advisers, this preview of the Moscow agenda emerged:

1. ATOMIC ENERGY—Dr. James B. Conant, Harvard University president and adviser on atomic problems, is accompanying Byrnes. In the Secretary's view, the need for a Big Three understanding on this whole subject has top priority.

2. PEACE CONFERENCE — Byrnes intends to revive his compromise proposal, first offered at the London Foreign Ministers Council in September. This plan called for preliminary Big Three study of peace treaties for Europe, to be followed by a general peace conference.

3. JAPAN—Some diplomatic authorities regard the prolonged Soviet-American differences over Allied controls for Japan as one of the sorest points. Byrnes is taking along his top State Department adviser on Far Eastern affairs, John Carter Vincent, chief of the Far Eastern Division in the State Department.

Ethridge Report

DEC 13 1945

4. BALKANS—A report from Publisher Mark Ethridge on the extent of Soviet domination of the governments of Romania and Bulgaria is being taken to Moscow. Byrnes said he had decided not to publish the report. His adviser on this problem will be H. Freeman Matthews, State Department European chief, who is already in Europe.

5. IRAN—Byrnes has ordered to Moscow from the American Embassy at Tehran the second secretary, John D. Jernegan, to advise him on the current Iranian situation. Presumably the Secretary will go along with a British proposal for co-ordinated withdrawal of Russian and British troops from Iran as soon as possible.

Unity In China

6. CHINA—Vincent will serve as the adviser on Eastern Asia problems as well as those of Japan. The main problem appears to be for the powers to come to an understanding that they will all strive for unity in China.

Without explaining whom he had in mind, Byrnes said some persons insist that a meeting of the kind projected for Moscow should not be held until the problems had been solved and agreements actually reached for formal announcement at the meeting.

There have been some intimations from diplomatic officials that the British felt that way about the Moscow session, but Byrnes said emphatically that the important thing is for the foreign secretaries to meet. Solutions, he went on, should not be expected for all the problems discussed.

CRAFT ON WAY TO TROOPSHIP IN DISTRESS

Transport, Tug En Route To Joseph Hooker, 270 Miles Off Nantucket

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Air-Sea Rescue Office, Eastern Sea Frontier, said tonight that the navy transport Lejeune and an ocean-going fleet tug were en route to aid the troopship Joseph Hooker, which had sent out a distress call from a position 270 miles east-southeast of Nantucket lightship.

The Hooker, carrying 526 army personnel, sent out the following message, the Air-Sea Rescue Office said:

"Taking water in No. 3 hold. Request vessels stand by in case cannot keep pumps going."

Hull Reported Fractured

The Lejeune, which left New York yesterday for Bremerhaven, Germany, with 4,400 soldier replacements for European veterans, radioed that she was 68 miles north of the Hooker and speeding toward her at eighteen knots.

The ocean-going tug Papago, the Air-Sea Rescue Office said, had left Newport, R.I., and was steaming toward the Hooker at ten to twelve knots.

Earlier reports had said the ship was 475 miles due east of Delaware Bay and that her hull was fractured.

The New York port of embarkation said the Hooker originally was due to arrive at New York at 8 P.M. tomorrow. She left Marseille, France, November 28.

Corvette Aground Off Nantucket

Nantucket, Mass., Dec. 12 (AP)—With at least one injured crewman aboard, the rudderless Yugoslavian corvette Independencia went aground in subfreezing weather tonight, 4 miles off this island.

Soon after she flashed a call for aid, two patrol bombers flew over the distressed craft and some time after that a Coast Guard motor lifeboat reached the area.

First reports from the planes and the lifeboat were that the craft was in no immediate danger of breaking up and that abandonment was not necessary.

The weather was cold but seas were described as not abnormal and wind velocity was reported as "about twenty miles an hour."

Ship Taking Water

The planes, a PBY from the Quonset (R.I.) naval air base, and a PBM from the Coast Guard base at Salem, Mass., arrived over the craft soon after Juan S. Ostrand, the vessel's master, radioed:

"Ship anchored. Drifting much. Rudder out. Crew 46. Taking much water at stern. Make disposition for wounded man."

Extent of the injuries of the wounded man was not available.

The motor lifeboat was directed to the area of the vessel by a flashlight beam waved by the keeper of the Sankaty Head lighthouse.

Racing to the scene were three other Coast Guard craft. They were the Spar, a buoy tender from Chatham, and two subchasers, the SC-1063 from Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard Island, and the SC-711 from Block Island, R.I.

Larger ships would be unable to get to the vessel because the water was only three fathoms (eighteen feet) deep.

DELAYED TROOPS TO ARRIVE FRIDAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 — (AP) More than 1,000 troops whose trip home from Europe was delayed when two troopships were disabled at sea are scheduled to arrive in New York Friday aboard the transport Saturnia, the New York Port of Embarkation said today.

A total of 572 servicemen from the Henry Ward Beecher and 605 from the George McCrary were picked up in Hamilton, Bermuda, by the Saturnia, after the two vessels were towed there. The Beecher lost a propeller at sea, and the McCrary had boiler trouble.

Maj. Gen. Clarence G. Kells, commanding general of the port, dispatched the Saturnia, the former Army hospital ship Frances Slanger, to the troops when he learned they would not otherwise reach home by Christmas because of the mishaps.

Arrangements have been made to have special trains speed the soldiers to their homes after immediate processing at Camp Kilmer, N. J., the port spokesman said.

Sweden Seeks To End Trade Barter System

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—Herman Eriksson, Swedish Minister to the United States, told the Swedish Chamber of Commerce here today that Sweden seeks to abolish direct barter in international trade and to restore "a free international market and a free flow of international exchange."

Eriksson said Sweden was opposed to the barter system existing under "the bilateral trade agreements that were a consequence of the collapse of international trade during the period between the two wars."

"Unfortunately," he said, "this system had to be even further developed during the last war and in many respects is still with us. It is this retrograde trade method we must destroy; we must bend our efforts to restore the multilateral system, allowing each country to buy where most convenient and most advantageous and to sell wherever its goods are wanted.

"The import quota restrictions, the rationing of foreign exchange, the forced clearing, which means 'I'll buy from you only if you buy from me,' must go."

Upsurge Of Religion Found In Germany

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—Three members of a Federal Council of Church deputation which recently returned from Germany where they studied religious problems said in a report that "the Protestant churches in Germany have experienced a vigorous upsurge of life and activity since the end of the war."

The overwhelming majority of churches have "banded themselves together in a new nation-wide federation, the Evangelical Church in Germany, which holds a particularly hopeful promise for the future," the report said, adding:

"At its core is the gallant fellow ship of sincere pastors who defied National Socialism fearlessly, in many cases at the cost of being imprisoned in concentration camps."

EVIDENCE SOUGHT IN TREASON CASE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 12.—(AP) U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark said tonight that Justice department investigators are being sent to Europe to correlate treason evidence against eight additional Americans, some of whose cases he said "may become as important as that pending against Ezra Pound."

Pound, at one time a poet and writer of note, faces accusations of aiding the Axis through radio broadcasts and other activities in Italy during the war.

Clark said the identities of the other eight accused as traitors, named in sealed indictments, could not be disclosed.

In a press conference here, the attorney general said also that the department was sending 28 attorneys, along with more than 50 FBI agents, to Germany to sift evidence in alien property cases involving $450,000,000 in property confiscated during the war.

"We want to break up any possibility of the return to German control of concerns whose property was taken over by the government, and to prevent Germany from rebuilding an economic fifth column in this country," Clark said. "It is our intention to make sure that operation of plants confiscated remains in American hands."

BAINBRIDGE TRAIN WRECKED IN WEST

82 Injured As Troop Carrier Is Rammed In Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 12 (AP)—Eighty-two passengers, most of them Negro sailors, were injured, several seriously, when a two-engine ten-coach Pere Marquette train bound for Grand Rapids, Mich., rammed the rear of an Alton Railroad troop train carrying more than 250 Navy personnel late today.

One car of the twelve-car troop train, headed for Shoemaker, Cal., was overturned, and seven others were derailed in the collision on the near South Side, at Thirty-sixth and Rockwell streets.

Most of the injured were aboard the troop train, where many of the sailors were standing, waiting to be served dinner.

Troop Train Was Stopped

Sixty-five of the injured were taken to St. Anthony's Hospital and 58 of them were removed later to Wesley Memorial Hospital. Five were taken to Evangelical Hospital, four to Southtown and eight to County Hospital. Many required only first aid for cuts and bruises.

Among the injured were:

LESLIE BULLOCK, Baltimore, porter on the troop train, possible skull fracture.

HYLAND G. WILLIAMS, Baltimore, condition serious.

ISAAC JOHNSON, 19, steward's mate 2/c, Route 2, Annapolis, cuts and bruises.

John W. Covington, 32, of Baltimore, Pullman conductor on the troop train, said he was on the car which overturned. He said he quieted the occupants and kicked out two windows with his heels to release them.

Charles Lawson, flagman, who said he witnessed the crash, related to reporters that the troop train was stopped at the time, and that the Pere Marquette train rammed it from the rear.

Justin Ebach, 59, engineer of the Pere Marquette train, told newsmen he had a green "go-ahead" signal and did not see the Alton troop train until he was within 300 feet of it. He said he set his brakes and that his train was traveling about 15 miles per hour upon impact.

Pere Marquette Train Undamaged

The Pere Marquette train was not damaged. The troop train was parked on a curved track. It consisted of nine sleeping cars, a kitchen car, a baggage car and a locomotive.

Covington and Lawson said their train was parked, waiting transfer to the main Alton tracks from Baltimore and Ohio tracks.

The trains left separate Chicago stations shortly after 5 P.M..

Both Trains Southbound

Both trains were southbound at the point of the collision. Only eastbound traffic was held up, said W. E. Foran, Pere Marquette general agent. Foran said it would take four to six hours to clear away the derailed cars. There were ten passenger cars and two engines in the Pere Marquette train, No. 8.

Lieut. (jg) A. C. Arnold, Phoenix, Ariz., was in charge of the troop train. He said it contained 243 Negro navy men and a few white personnel. He was uninjured.

ACCUSED SPY FEARS RETURN TO REICH

Indianapolis, Dec. 12 (A. P.).—Superior Court Judge Ralph Hamill late yesterday ordered Sheriff Otto Petit to release to immigration authorities Frederick Emil Bauer, 40 years old, who has admitted he was trained in Germany as an espionage agent but had carried on no spy work in this country.

Bauer's attorney, Joseph T. Mazelin, told the court "if this man is deported to Germany, his life will be forfeited within twenty-four hours for double-crossing the Third Reich."

Bauer was discharged without honor by the Army on Monday. formal protest in the Emergency Court of Appeals probably by the end of the week.

Helen Douglas Names Negro To West Point

Los Angeles, Dec. 12 (AP)—Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas (D., Cal.) announced tonight she had appointed an 18-year-old Negro, David K. Carlisle, to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

"I have selected him because he had the highest grade in the country in the West Point entrance examinations," said Mrs. Douglas. "I believe in equality for everyone. He was an honor student in his high school here in Los Angeles, studied for two years at California Institute of Technology and has been taking a special course in English literature."

Carlisle said he had been notified by Mrs. Douglas today that she was appointing him on the basis of his high grade, that he expected to take his physical examination at March Field and enter the academy in July.

Compton Urges Giving MacArthur Free Hand

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 12 (AP)—Dr. Karl Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, tonight urged that Gen. Douglas MacArthur be given "a chance to work out his present difficult problems with full support and without interference."

In a speech here, Dr. Compton reviewed his "mission to Tokyo" as head of an investigating team of scientists.

General MacArthur's program in Japan, Dr. Compton said, "has thus far succeeded beyond the most optimistic expectation. I should hope that he may be given a free hand, because the situation is too complicated to be safely handled in this critical stage by divided management or conflicting policies."

DEC 13 1945

30.24—32343

WILLIAM GALLACHER, COMMUNIST, ASSERTED THAT "INDONESIANS HAVE AS MUCH RIGHT TO FIGHT FOR THEIR LIBERTY AS AMERICANS HAD IN THE WAR OF INDEPENDENCE." LABORITE J.PLATTSMILLS CHARGED THAT BRITISH TROOPS WERE IN INDONESIA AS "HIRELINGS OF THE DUTCH" AND WERE FIGHTING AS "MERCENARIES."

IN CALCUTTA THE ALL-INDIA CONGRESS PARTY ADOPTED A RESOLUTION NOTING "WITH REGRET THAT THE UNITED STATES HAVE BY THEIR PASSIVE ATTITUDE ENCOURAGED IMPERIALISTIC AGGRESSION IN INDONESIA AND INDOCHINA."

WE859AES

LONDON--ADD LEAD UNITED NATIONS X X X ASSEMBLY

TWENTY AMERICAN CITIES HAVE ADDED THEIR NAMES TO THE LIST OF THOSE BIDDING FOR THE PERMANENT SITE OF THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION.

DEC 13 1945

A UNITED STATES DELEGATE TO THE PREPARATORY COMMISSION SAID, HOWEVER, THAT THE UNITED STATES PROBABLY WOULD NOT RECEIVE ON THE FIRST BALL THE NECESSARY TWO-THIRDS VOTE FOR ESTABLISHING THE WORLD CAPITAL IN AMERICA.

HE SAID HE EXPECTED THAT TWO OR THREE BALLOTS WOULD BE REQUIRED TO SETTLE ISSUE.

THE NEW LIST OF AMERICAN CITIES SUBMITTED BIDS INCLUDED BALTIMORE, BELOIT, WIS.; BERKELEY, CALIF.; CLAREMORE, OKLA.; CONCORD, MASS.; CONCINNATI; DETROIT ISLAND, R.I.; PORTSMOUTH, VA; PRINCETON, N.J.; RICHMOND, VA.; RIDGEFIELD, CONN.; ST. LOUIS, MO.; SALT LAKE CITY; SAN ANTONIO; SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y.; TUSKAHOME, OKLA.; VIRGINIA BEACH, VA.; WILLIAMSBURG, VA.; AND MILWAUKEE.

DEC 13 1945

INVITATIONS ALSO WERE RECEIVED FROM BAGUIO, SUMMER CAPITAL OF THE PHILIPPINES, CAIRO, TANGIERS AND JERUSALEM.

LONDON, DEC 12-(AP)-THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT TODAY ALLOCATED £120,000,000 (ABOUT $480,000,000) FOR COLONIAL DEVELOPMENT AND WELFARE.

A WHITE PAPER ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE SUM INCLUDED £23,500,000 ($94,000,000) FOR RESEARCH, AND £85,500,000 ($342,000,000) ALLOCATED TO COLONIAL TERRITORIES, LEAVING A GENERAL RESERVE OF £11,000,000 ($44,000,000).

GEORGE HENRY HALL, SECRETARYY OF STATE FOR COLONIES, SAID THE ALLOCATIONS WERE NOT AUTHORIZATIONS TO SPEND BUT REPRESENTED WHAT COULD BE SPENT PROVIDED PROPOSED PROJECTS WERE APPROVED.

IN ANOTHER WHITE PAPER PUBLISHED TODAY THE GOVERNMENT PROPOSED A JOINT HIGH COMMISSION AND CENTRAL LEGISLATURE FOR THE THREE EAST AFRICAN COLONIES OF KENYA, UGANDA AND TANGANYIKA.

A COLONIAL OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID THE PLAN WOULD PROVIDE A MEANS FOR COMMON HANDLING OF COLONIAL PROBLEMS, PARTICULARLY THOSE AFFECTING TRANSPORTATION AND COMMUNICATION, INSTEAD OF REFERRING THEM TO SEPARATE LEGISLATIVE COUNCILS.

HE SAID THE VARIOUS ETHNOLOGICAL GROUPS -- EUROPEAN, INDIAN, AFRICAN AND ARAB, -- WOULD BE REPRESENTED BY UNOFFICIAL VEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

JJ1015AES

LONDON, DEC. 12-(AP)-DEBATE ON A PROPOSAL TO ESTABLISH THE PERMANENT HOME OF THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION IN THE UNITED STATES ENTERED ITS FIFTH DAY TODAY WITH SOVIET RUSSIA LINED UP ON THE SIDE OF THOSE MEMBERS FAVORING THE MOVE.

SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI GROMYKO TOLD THE PREPARATORY COMMISSION LAST NIGHT THAT ESTABLISHMENT OF THE WORLD PEACE AGENCY'S HEADQUARTERS IN EUROPE WOULD MAKE IT MERELY A "REGIONAL ORGANIZATION."

THE STEERING COMMITTEE LAST NIGHT SET JAN. 10 AS THE OPENING DATE OF THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY.

WE851AES

LONDON DEC 12-(AP)-HERBERT MORRISON, LORD PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL AND LABOR PARTY LEADER IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS, WILL VISIT THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA DURING THE PARLIAMENTARY RECESS FROM DEC.20 TO JAN.22.

MORRISON IS TO VISIT OTTAWA, MONTREAL AND TORONTO AND ALSOO "MAKE AND RENEW CONTACTS IN THE UNITED STATES."

EZ958AES

SOUTHAMPTON, DEC. 12 -- (AP) -- TWO YOUNG ENGLISH WOMEN ARRESTED [illegible] ON THE PIER YESTERDAY AS THE LINER EUROPA WAS ABOUT TO SAIL FOR AMERICA WERE FINED £2 ($8) APIECE TODAY FOR POSSESSION OF UNIFORMS OF U. S. SAILORS.

[illegible]
THE PROSECUTOR SAID THE WOMEN WERE WEARING THE UNIFORMS AND APPARENTLY WERE TRYING TO STOW AWAY. EACH PLEADING GUILTY, THEY IDENTIFIED THEMSELVES AS MISTRESS MELVYN SCHAMEL, 24, WIFE OF AN AMERICAN SERGEANT NOW IN THE U. S., AND LORNA SPRAGG, 22, ENGAGED TO ANOTHER AMERICAN SOLDIER WHO HAS RETURNED HOME. THE NAMES OF THE AMERICAN SOLDIERS WERE NOT DISCLOSED.

ONE OF THE WOMEN HAD £74 ($296) AND THE OTHER HAD FOUR PENCE (EIGHT CENTS) WHEN THEY WERE APPREHENDED.

DEC 13 1945

CREAGHS 01730 OC/530P

LONDON, DEC. 12---(AP)---THE ATTORNEY FOR WILLIAM "LORD HAW HAW" JOYCE SAID TODAY HE WOULD INVOKE PORTIONS OF BRITAIN'S ANCIENT MAGNA CARTA TOMORROW IN THE APPEAL OF THE DEATH SENTENCE BEFORE THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

THE CROWN CLOSED ITS CASE AGAINST JOYCE, BROOKLYN BORN RADIO ANNOUNCER WHO WAS CONVICTED OF TREASON IN BROADCASTING FOR THE NAZIS.

SIR HARTLEY SHAWCROSS, WHO RETURNED FROM THE NUERNBERG WAR CRIMES TRIAL TO REPRESENT THE PROSECUTION, DECLARED IT WOULD BE AN "UNTHINKABLE" OUTRAGE" THAT A HOLDER OF A BRITISH PASSPORT, SUCH AS JOYCE OBTAINED FOR HIS PRE-WAR TRIP TO BERLIN, SHOULD BE ABSOLVED OF DUTY TOWARD THE CROWN.

APRA 101WHEELERS 01445 JRT 130PES

LONDON, DEC. 12 ---(AP)--- A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID TODATY BRITAIN AND FRANCE WERE EXPECTED SHORTLY TO ANNOUNCE AN AGREEMENT ON PROBLEMS ARISING OUT OF SYRIAN AND LEBANESE DEMANDS FOR COMPLETE INDEPENDENCE. BRITAIN INTERVENED IN THE DISPUTE BETWEEN FRANCE AND THE TWO LEVANT STATES LAST MINT SPRING AFTER ARMED CONFLICT DEVELOPED.

DEC 13 1945

APRA 77 WHEELERS 01332 JRT 107PES

PARIS, DEC. 12-(AP)-FOREIGN MINISTER GEORGES BIDAULT WAS REPORTED TONIGHT TO HAVE SAID THAT FRANCE HAD BEEN ASSURED THAT NO DECISIONS ON PROBLEMS OF INTEREST TO FRANCE WOULD BE MADE AT THE FORTHCOMING MOSCOW MEETING OF THE FOREIGN SECRETARIES OF THE UNITED STATES, RUSSIA AND GREAT BRITAIN.

A RELIABLE SOURCE SAID BIDAULT TOLD MEMBERS OF THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE OF THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY THAT THE RETURN TO THE DEVICE OF THREE-POWER CONFERENCES DID NOT SEEM TO HIM TO CONSTITUTE PROGRESS TOWARD INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION.

BIDAULT WAS REPORTED TO HAVE SAID ALSO THAT A FRANCO-BRITISH ACCORD ON THE LEVANT STATES WAS IMMINENT AND MIGHT BE SIGNED TOMORROW BY REPRESENTATIVES OF BOTH GOVERNMENTS.

THE PROJECTED ACCORD, IT WAS REPORTED, WOULD PROVIDE FOR SIMULTANEOUS WITHDRAWAL OF FRENCH AND BRITISH TROOPS FROM SYRIA AND LEBANON, WITH PROVISIONS FOR FRENCH NAVAL AND AIR BASES IN BOTH REPUBLICS. CONTINGENTS OF FRENCH AND BRITISH TROOPS WOULD REMAIN AT STRATEGIC POINTS UNTIL FRANCE SIGNED PACTS WITH SYRIA AND LEBANON.

THE ACCORD WOULD PLEDGE FRANCE AND BRITAIN TO RESPECT THE INDEPENDENCE OF SYRIA AND LEBANON AND ENTAIL MUTUAL DIPLOMATIC AID IN THE MIDDLE EAST.

BIDAULT ALSO WAS REPORTED TO HAVE TOLD THE ASSEMBLY'S FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE THAT FRANCE WAS READY TO BREAK RELATIONS WITH SPAIN IF BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES DID LIKEWISE.

RP853PES

PARIS, DEC. 12--(AP)- THE CONSTITUTIONAL ASSEMBLY'S FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE VOTED TODAY TO INVESTIGATE THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE FRENCH ZONE OF OCCUPATION IN GERMANY.

[redacted]

A COMMISSION WILL BE CREATED TO INVESTIGATE CHARGES OF COMMITTEE PRESIDENT SALOMON GRUMBACH [illegible] OF DELAY IN DENAZIFICATION OF LOCAL GOVERNMENTAL BODIES AND LACK OF COORDINATION BETWEEN FRENCH

30.24-32345

MILITARY AND CIVILIAN OFFICIALS IN THE OCCUPIED ZONE.

MEANWHILE, THE CONSTITUTIONAL COMMITTEE OF THE ASSEMBLY VOTED OVERWHELMINGLY TO RECOMMEND THAT THE FOURTH REPUBLIC'S CONSTITUTION PROVIDE FOR A PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC.

THE COMMITEEE WAS DEADLOCKED ON THE QUESTION OF WHETHER THE ASSEMBLY SHOULD ELECT A PREMIER. UNDER THE OLD CONSTITUTION, THE PRESIDENT APPOINTED THE PREMIER.

DEC 13 1945

APR WILSONS SECOND 1450-RBH 1037A

PARIS, DEC. 12-(AP)-U.S. ARMY SERVICE FORCES HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED TONIGHT THAT THE 82ND AIRBORNE DIVISION WOULD SAIL DEC. 28 OR 29 ABOARD THE QUEEN MARY FOR THE UNITED STATES.

THE 82ND WAS NOT SCHEDULED TO SAIL BEFORE THE END OF JANUARY, BUT, ALONG WITH OTHER UNITS IT NOW HAS BEEN CHOSEN TO PARTICIPATE IN A VICTORY PARADE IN NEW YORK EARLY IN JANUARY, THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID.

THE DIVISION INCLUDES LOW POINT SCORE ELEMENTS OF THE 101ST AND 17TH AIRBORNE DIVISIONS.

THE MAJOR PORTION OF THE 79TH INFANTRY DIVISION AND ADVANCE

ELEMENTS OF THE 12TH ARMORED DIVISION WERE REPORTED ALREADY AT HOME,

WITH THE 26TH INFANTRY DIVISION AND THE 16TH CORPS AT SEA ENROUTE TO THE

UNITED STATES. ALSO REPORTED AT SEA WERE A MAJOR PORTION OF THE 90TH

INFANTRY AND ADVANCE ELEMENTS OF THE 89TH INFANTRY. THE BALANCE OF THE 89TH

WILL SAIL FROM SOUTHAMPTON, ENGLAND. DEC 13 1945

FINAL ELEMENTS OF THE 36TH INFANTRY DIVISION WERE AT THE

CHERS STAGING AREA NEAR MARSEILLE. OTHER OUTFITS ALERTED FOR SHIPMENT

BUT NOT YET MOVED TO STAGING AREAS INCLUDED THE 29TH, 84TH, 94TH AND 100TH INFANTRY, 2ND ARMORED AND 22ND CORPS HEADQUARTERS.

FIRST ELEMENTS OF THE 82ND AIRBORNE ALREADY HAVE ARRIVED

AT A LE HAVRE STAGING AREA AND THE BALANCE OF THE DIVISION HAS MOVING

TOWARD LE HAVRE.

FIRST ELEMENTS OF THE 82ND AIRBORNE ALREADY HAVE ARRIVED AT A LE HAVRE STAGING AREA AND THE BALANCE OF THE DIVISION WAS MOVING TO LE HAVRE.

DEC 13 1945

APR DYNANS THRU 2ND 2015 HCJ 430PES

BERLIN, DEC. 12--(AP)--THE RUSSIANS ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT NEW DEPOSITS OF ANTHRACITE HAD BEEN DISCOVERED NEAR DOBERLUG ABOUT 60 MILES SOUTH OF BERLIN, IN VEINS RUNNING FROM SIXTY TO 540 YARDS BELOW THE SURFACE. IT WAS ESTIMATED THAT THE DEPOSITS CONTAINED ABOUT 60,000,000 TONS.

THE COAL IS EXPECTED EVENTUALLY TO BE A BOOST TO BERLIN INDUSTRY, WHICH HAS RELIED CHIEFLY ON THE OUTPUT OF THE DISTANT RUHR.

APRA 181 KASISOKES 01900 JRT 345PES

BERLIN, DEC. 12 - (AP) - THE ALLIED CONTROL AUTHORITY'S COORDINATING COMMITTEE TOOK A LONG STEP TOWARD ESTABLISHING CENTRAL COMMUNICATIONS FOR GERMANY TODAY BY AGREEING TO ORGANIZE INTERURBAN TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH SERVICE BETWEEN THE VARIOUS OCCUPATION ZONES.

THE FRENCH, WHO HAVE OPPOSED THE ESTABLISHMENT OF ANY KIND OF CENTRAL AGENCY, AGREED TO THIS PLAN AND TO ANOTHER MEASURE WITH INTERZONAL RAMIFICATIONS WHICH WOULD ESTABLISH UNDER FOUR-POWER CONTROL A HYDROGRAPHIC INSTITUTE STAFFED BY GERMAN CIVILIANS TO PRODUCE DATA FOR SAFE NAVIGATION OF GERMAN WATERS BY SHIPS OF ALL NATIONS.

DEC 13 1945

IN AN ACTION-PACKED TWO AND ONE-HALF HOUR MEETING THE COMMITTEE ALSO AUTHORIZED BERLIN'S ALLIED KOMMANDANTUR TO INCREASE THE FOOD RATION'S OF THE CITY'S LOWEST CIVILIAN CATEGORY FROM 1,248 TO 1,500 CALORIES DAILY. DOCTORS HAD WARNED THE DEATH RATE IN THIS CATEGORY WOULD SOAR THIS WINTER UNLESS THE RATION WAS INCREASED TO COMPENSATE FOR THE LACK OF FUEL. THE CATEGORY INCLUDES 1,000,000 PERSONS, MOSTLY HOUSEWIVES AND OTHER ADULTS NOT EMPLOYED IN OUTSIDE WORK.

THE ALLIED ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE INTERZONAL COMMUNICATIONS SERVICE SAID MESSAGES WOULD "NECESSARILY PASS THROUGH THE CENTRAL INTERURBAN TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE EXCHANGES." ANOTHER INDICATION OF THE TREND TOWARD CENTRALIZATION WAS A SPECIFICATION THAT RATES

30.24-32347

SCHEDULES WOULD BE PREPARED BY "COMPETENT GERMAN OFFICIALS AND CONFIRMED BY THE ALLIED HOSTS AND COMMUNICATIONS COMMITTEE OF THE ALLIED CONTROL AUTHORITY."

DEC 13 1945

IT WAS ANNOUNCED FURTHER THAT "DIRECTORS OF THE CENTRAL GERMAN ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES (IF ESTABLISHED) WILL HAVE A PRIORITY USE OF INTERZONAL COMMUNICATIONS FACILITIES."

AN AMERICAN SPOKESMAN REFUSED TO STATE WHETHER THIS WAS CONSIDERED A RELAXATION OF THE FRENCH STAND AGAINST CENTRAL AGENCIES AND ONLY SMILED WHEN CORRESPONDENTS SUGGESTED FRENCH OPPOSITION WAS BEING CIRCUMVENTED.

THE ALLIES ADOPTED AN INTERIM PLAN FOR THE RESTITUTION OF ART CULTURAL OBJECTS LOOTED BY THE GERMANS. UNDER THIS PLAN, CLAIMANT COUNTRIES WILL BE ASKED TO FORWARD TO ALLIED FORMAL HEADQUARTERS A DESCRIPTION OF LOOTED OBJECTS. THEN EXPERTS WILL EXAMINE THEM AND THE PROPERTY WILL BE RESTORED TO THE CLAIMANT GOVERNMENT ON BEHALF OF THE INDIVIDUAL OWNER.

THE COORDINATING COMMITTEE ACCEPTED AN INTERMEDIATE ESTIMATE OF THE GERMAN POPULATION IN THE FOUR OCCUPIED ZONES AND AGREED TO A COMPLETE GERMAN CENSUS TO BE FINISHED BY JUNE 1, 1946. THE INTERMEDIATE ESTIMATE SHOWED THE POPULATION OF THE FOUR ZONES TO

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE

BERLIN, DEC. 12 - (AP) - THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT'S FINANCIAL EXPERTS, FACED WITH BUDGET DEFICITS THAT ARE BECOMING CRITICAL AS THE ONSLAUGHT OF WINTER BOOSTS THE RELIEF ROLLS, ARE PRESSING URGENTLY FOR UNIFICATION OF THE PUBLIC FINANCE FOR ALL OF GERMANY.

A COMPANION PROBLEM IS TRANSPORTATION--ESPECIALLY RAILROADS, FOR WHICH AMERICANS INSIST THERE MUST BE A CENTRAL AGENCY TO PROMOTE AN EFFICIENT FLOW OF TRAFFIC BETWEEN THE FOUR OCCUPATION ZONES IF GERMANY IS TO BECOME A GOING CONCERN ECONOMICALLY, EVEN ON A BARE SUBSISTENCE LEVEL.

WHAT THE AMERICANS ARE SEEKING TO DO IS TO CARRY OUT THE DECISION OF THE POTSDAM CONFERENCE WHICH RECOMMENDED THAT GERMANY BE TREATED AS AN ECONOMIC UNIT AND THAT TO DO THIS REQUIRED "A COMMON POLICY ON CURRENCY AND BANKING, CENTRAL TAXATION AND CUSTOMS."

SO FAR THE FRENCH, WHO WERE NOT REPRESENTED AT POTSDAM, HAVE BEEN BLOCKING ESTABLISHMENT OF A CENTRAL AGENCY OF ANY KIND, AND THIS ISSUE NOW IS THE SUBJECT OF NEGOTIATION AMONG THE AMERICAN, RUSSIAN, FRENCH AND BRITISH GOVERNMENTS.

AN AMERICAN FINANCIAL EXPERT SAID "WE SYMPATHIZE WITH THE FRENCH VIEW THAT IRONCLAD CENTRAL CONTROL OF GERMAN ECONOMY AS THE NAZIS HAD IT IS DANGEROUS, BUT THAT IS NOT WHAT WE WANT."

DEC 13 1945

"WE WANT NOT SO MUCH CENTRAL CONTROL OF PUBLIC FINANCES AS COORDINATION," HE ASSERTED. "WE WANT TO INSTITUTE ONLY A MINIMUM CENTRAL AUTHORITY TO PERFORM THE POTSDAM ORDER THAT GERMANY IS TO BE TREATED AS AN ECONOMIC UNIT, AND SOME THINGS MUST BE CENTRALLY COORDINATED IF THAT IS TO BE DONE AND IF GERMANY IS TO OPERATE AT ALL."

A UNITED POLICY WAS NEEDED PARTICULARLY ON TAXATION, FOREIGN EXCHANGE, CUSTOMS AND CURRENCY REGULATIONS, HE SAID.

THE EXPERT SAID THERE WAS NO QUESTION OF ESTABLISHING A CENTRAL BANKING ADMINISTRATION--IN FACT, BANKING DECENTRALIZATION WAS THE AIM OF THE MILITARY GOVERNMENTS.

THE RUSSIANS HAVE BROKEN UP THE CENTRAL BANKS AND INSTITUTED A PROVINCIAL SYSTEM IN THEIR ZONE, WHILE THE AMERICANS ALSO HAVE TAKEN CONTROL FROM THE REICHBANK AND PUT THE BANKS ON A LAND LEVEL.

DEC 13 1945

GEN. EISENHOWER'S LAST REPORT ON THE OCCUPATION [redacted] SAID THE GERMAN ECONOMIC CONDITION WAS "CONTINUING UNSATISFACTORY" AND WARNED OF "SERIOUS DIFFICULTIES IF FINANCIAL INSTABILITY IS TO CONTINUE."

#

ADD NUERNBERG - DAY TRIAL XXX LABORERS

AT A MEETING MARCH 1, 1944, ACCORDING TO A DOCUMENT INTRODUCED AS EVIDENCE, SAUCKEL SAID, OF 5,000,000 FOREIGN LABORERS IN GERMANY, "NOT MORE THAN 200,000 CAME VOLUNTARILY."

ANOTHER LETTER FROM ROSENBERG'S FILES SAID THAT ON OCT. 7, 1942, ONE OF HIS AGENTS REPORTED "IN SOME CASES WOMEN WERE BEATEN UNTIL THEY COULD NO LONGER MARCH."

SIMILAR TREATMENT WAS ACCORDED FORCED LABORERS FROM FRANCE AND HOLLAND, IT WAS REVEALED.

A MEMORANDUM SIGNED BY SAUCKEL ON JAN. 4, 1943, REPORTED MUNITIONS MINISTER SPEER HAD SAID IT WAS NO LONGER NECESSARY TO ACCORD "SPECIAL CONSIDERATION" TO FRENCHMEN. THE MEMORANDUM ADDED: "RECRUITING CAN PROCEED WITH EMPHASIS AND SHARPENED MEASURES."

DODD, POINTING OUT THAT MANY DOCUMENTS WERE COMPLAINTS BY UNDERLINGS OF INHUMANE TREATMENT, SAID THAT THEY PROVED THE NAZI LEADERS HAD KNOWLEDGE OF WHAT WAS HAPPENING.

DESCRIBING CONDITIONS AMONG FORCED LABORERS AT A KRUPP MUNITIONS PLANT, DODD PRODUCED A REPORT FROM THE KRUPP FILES WHICH SAID: "DURING THE LAST FEW DAYS WE HAVE ESTABLISHED THAT FOOD FOR RUSSIANS EMPLOYED HERE IS SO MISERABLE THAT PEOPLE ARE GETTING WEAKER EVERY DAY."

THE REPORT, BY WILHELM JAGER, KRUPP DOCTOR, SAID THAT "DURING THE PERIOD IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWING THE MARCH, 1943, RAIDS, MANY FOREIGN WORKERS WERE MADE TO SLEEP AT KRUPP FACTORIES IN THE SAME ROOMS IN WHICH THEY WORK."

JAGER SAID THAT FRENCH PRISONERS OF WAR WERE KEPT IN DOG KENNELS AND LATRINES AFTER AIR RAIDS DESTROYED THEIR BARRACKS.

WE846AES

30.24-33349

WITH WAR CRIMES

NUERNBERG DEC 12-(AP)-DEATH BY HANGING WAS THE PENALTY DECREED BY THE GESTAPO FOR MALE RUSSIAN SLAVE LABORERS WHO HAD SEXUAL RELATIONS WITH GERMAN WOMEN AND CONCENTRATION CAMPS AWAITED RUSSIAN WOMEN LABORERS WHO BECAME SIMILARLY INVOLVED WITH GERMAN MEN.

THE DECREE, ISSUED BY GESTAPO CHIEF HEINRICH HIMMLER, WAS OFFERED TODAY AT THE WAR CRIMES TRIAL OF 21 NAZI LEADERS.

EZ956AES

ADD NL DACHAU xxx DESCRIBED

"IF THESE MEN ARE GUILTY OF A COMMON DESIGN, SO IS EVERY CITIZEN OF GERMANY WHO CONTRIBUTED TO THE WAGING OF TOTAL WAR," ANSWERED CHIEF DEFENSE ATTORNEY LT. COL. DOUGLAS T.BATES.

"THIS COURT MUST NOT YIELD TO THE PRIMITIVE CRY FOR BLOOD IN ATONEMENT FOR DACHAU, WITHOUT CAREFUL CONSIDERATION OF WHOSE BLOOD IS CLAIMED," HE SAID.

"THIS COURT HAS THE OPPORTUNITY TO DEMONSTRATE TO THE GERMAN PEOPLE AND THE WORLD AT LARGE THE MANNER IN WHICH AMERICAN JUSTICE IS ADMINISTERED," ASSERTED DEFENSE ATTORNEY MAJ. MAURICE J. MCKEOWN.

IN GERMANY BEFORE THE WAR, CRIMES AGAINST THE STATE WERE PUNISHED BY DECAPITATION. ONE GERMAN, CONVICTED OF KILLING AN AMERICAN FLIER WAS SENTENCED TO BEHEADING, BUT U.S. HEADQUARTERS RECENTLY ORDERED THE REINSTATEMENT OF HANGING, CUSTOMARY FOR MURDERERS AND OTHER COMMON CRIMINALS.

AT ANOTHER TRIAL IN DACHAU RICHARD DRAUZ, NAZI KREISLEITER OF HEILBRONN, WAS SENTENCED TODAY BY A MILITARY COURT TO BE HANGED FOR KILLING A CAPTURED AMERICAN FLIER BY SHOOTING HIM IN THE BACK OF THE HEAD WHILE THE LATTER WAS HANDCUFFED.

GH229PES

ADD HE DECARED: "THIS COURT MUST NOT YIELD TO A PRIMITIVE CRY FOR BLOOD IN ATONEMENT FOR DACHAU WITHOUT CAREFUL CONSIDERATION OF WHOSE BLOOD IS CLAIMED." ADD DACHAU.DAY xxx TOTAL WAR

ANOTHER DEFENSE ATTORNEY, MAJ. MAURICE J.MCKEOWN, SAID: "THIS COURT HAS AN OPPORTUNITY TO DEMONSTRATE TO THE GERMAN PEOPLE AND THE WORLD AT LARGE THE MANNER IN WHICH AMERICAN JUSTICE IS ADMINISTERED."

LT.COL.WILLIAM D.HENSON HAD CLOSED THE PROSECUTION'S CASE, INSISTING THAT ALL WERE GUILTY WHO PARTICIPATED IN THE "COMMON DESIGN OF EXTERMINATION," REGARDLESS OF THEIR ROLE IN THE TORTURES INFLICTED ON THE PRISONERS. #

WARSAW, DEC. 12 - AP - THE POLISH PRESS AGENCY SAID TODAY POLAND WILL ENGAGE IN MASS PRODUCTION OF PRE-FABRICATED HOUSES AS PART OF THE COUNTRY'S RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM. SEVERLA FACTORIES IN TURONSK, LOWER SILESIA, HAVE BEEN EQUIPPED WITH MACHINERY TO MANUFACTURE PRE-FABRICATED HOUSES, INCLUDING FIXTURES.

GH1201PES

BY LARRY ALLEN

WARSAW, DEC. 12-(AP)-VICE PREMIER STANISLAW MIKOLAJCZYK SAID TODAY IN AN INTERVIEW THAT A WAVE OF POLITICAL MURDERS IN POLAND WERZSBEPNG COMMITTED BY ENEMIES OF THE NATION WHO ARE SEEKING TO PROVOKE INTERVENTION BY AMERICAN AND BRITISH ARMED FORCES.

THE MINISTRY OF PUBLIC SECURITY SAID "SCORES" OF PERSONS HAD BEEN KILLED "IN THE LAST THREE WEEKS".

THE VICE PREMIER'S OWN RIGHT-HAND MAN, BOLESLAW SCIBIOREK, SECRETARY OF THE GENERAL POLISH PEASANT PARTY, WAS THE MOST RECENT VICTIM. HE WAS SHOT BY UNIDENTIFIED MEN WHO ENTERED HIS APARTMENT IN LODZ LAST WEEK.

MIKOLAJCZYK DENIED, HOWEVER, AS "ABSOLUTELY UNTRUE", REPORTS THAT THREE SEPARATE ATTEMPTS HAD BEEN MADE UPON HIS OWN LIFE.

CONDEMNING ALL PERSONS WHO RESORT TO ACTS OF VIOLENCE, HE URGED ALL POLES TO OBSERVE THE LAWS DURING THE DIFFICULT PERIOD THROUGH WHICH THE COUNTRY IS PASSING.

MIKOLAJCZYK SAID AMONG THE MAJOR PROBLEMS AHEAD IN THE NEW YEAR WAS THE STABILIZATION OF THE GOVERNMENT THROUGH ELECTIONS, ORGANIZATION AND DISTRIBUTION OF FOOD SUPPLIES, COMMUNICATIONS AND TRANSPORTATION.

ASKED ABOUT THE REPORTED ARREST AND IMPRISONMENT OF 75,000 TO 100,000 POLES AS POLITICAL OFFENDERS, THE VICE PREMIER ASSERTED HE DID NOT KNOW OF ANY SUCH FIGURE, BUT THAT THE GOVERNMENT IS DRAFTING AN AMNESTY DECREE FOR POLITICAL PRISONERS.

RP952PES

VIENNA, DEC. 12 -- (AP) -- GEN. MARK W. CLARK'S OCCUPATION TROOPS WILL HELP MAKE THE BIGGEST CHRISTMAS AUSTRIAN CHILDREN HAVE HAD IN YEARS. AMERICAN TROOPS ARE SET TO PLAY HOST TO 75,000 YOUNSGTERS BETWEEN THE AGES OF FIVE AND 12, AT PARTIES THROUGHOUT THE AMERICAN ZONE AND VIENNA, THE GENERAL SAID TODAY. #

ADD MOSCOW-PARLEY xxx WEEK'S END

"I THINK THE ATOMIC QUESTION WILL BE THE BIG ISSUE OF THE CONFERENCE," A HIGH SOURCE SAID, ADDING HE BELIEVED THE UNITED STATES WOULD PRESENT DEFINITE PROPOSALS ON THE MATTER "WHICH SHOULD CONVINCE THE SOVIET PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES' GOOD INTENTIONS."

MOST OBSERVERS, HOLDING A SIMILAR VIEW, THOUGHT THE ISSUES DISCUSSED WOULD INCLUDE GERMANY, THE ORIENT, PEACE TREATIES, THE IRANIAN PROBLEM AND THE QUESTION OF THE DARDANELLES.

--DASH--

LONDON, DEC 12-(AP)-FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN, SOON TO LEAVE FOR THE FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE, TOLD COMMONS TODAY HE HOPED THE

TALKS WOULD "HELP TOWARD A FRIENDLY SOLUTION OF THE MANY URGENT PROBLEMS OUTSTANDING."

A BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID THE QUESTION OF TROUBLED IRAN WOULD BE HIGH ON THE CONFERENCE AGENDA. MAIN ISSUES TO BE DISCUSSED WILL BE THE PRESENCE OF BRITISH, AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN TROOPS ON IRANIAN SOIL AND THE DISORDERS IN NORTHERN AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE, HE SAID.

ME537PES

ATHENS, DEC. 12---(AP)---PREMIER THEMISTOKLES SOPHOULIS SAID TODAY A DECISION OF THE LEFT-WING/EAM (NATIONAL LIBERATION FRONT) CENTRAL COMMITTEE TO WITHDRAW ITS SUPPORT OF HIS GOVERNMENT WOULD "IN NOWISE CHANGE THE SITUATION" IN GREECE.

DEC 13 1945

THE COMMITTEE'S DECISION WAS ANNOUNCED LAST NIGHT. IT CHARGED THAT SOPHOULIS' REGIME "HAS BETRAYED ITS REPUBLICAN MISSION."

"THE EAM HAD GIVEN ITS SUPPORT WITHOUT BEING ASKED TO DO SO AND NOW IT HAS WITHDRAWN IT ON ITS OWN ACCORD," THE PREMIER SAID. "THE GOVERNMENT HAS ITS OWN PROGRAM, DISREGARDING COMPLETELY THE ATTITUDE TAKEN FROM TIME TO TIME BY THE EXTREME LEFT OR RIGHT WINGS."

APRA 98 TRAVLOS 01415 JRT 1037AES

ATHENS, DEC. 12-(AP)-THE GREEK GOVERNMENT'S NEW LEFT-WING AMNESTY LAW GRANTING FREEDOM TO MANY POLITICAL PRISONERS WILL BE BROADENED TO MEET THE OBJECTIONS OF FOUR CABINET MINISTERS WHO THREATENED TO RESIGN, AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES SAID TODAY.

THE CABINET RIFT DEVELOPED LAST NIGHT WHEN THE PREMIER THEMISTOKLES SOPHOULIS' GOVERNMENT ADOPTED THE AMNESTY LAW BUT LIMITED ITS TO CERTAIN TYPES OF POLITICAL PRISONERS. EAM (NATIONAL LIBERATION FRONT) OFFICIALS DECLARED THAT ONLY 50 PER CENT OF EAM PRISONERS WOULD BE RELEASED UNDER THE MEASURE.

DEC 13 1945

THE NEW CLAUSE, DRAFTED TO CONCILIATE THE FOUR PROTESTING CABINET MINISTERS, WOULD EXEMPT FROM PUNISHMENT PERSONS CHARGED WITH MURDER OF COLLABORATIONISTS, SPIES AND ENEMY AGENTS IF THE ACCUSED ACTED ON ORDERS FROM THE GREEK GOVERNMENT IN CAIRO OR SUPREME HEADQUARTERS IN THE MIDDLE EAST, IT WAS AUTHORITATIVELY REPORTED.

BELGRADE, DEC. 12---(AP)---THE CITY OF BELGRADE HAS DONATED A TWO-ACRE PLOT IN KOSUTNJAK, PART OF A FORMER ROYAL GAME PRESERVE ON A SUBURBAN HILL OVERLOOKING THE SAVA RIVER, AS A MILITARY CEMETERY FOR AMERICAN AIRMEN WHO LOST THEIR LIVES IN ACTION OVER YUGOSLAVIA. ABOUT 1,300 MEN WERE SO KILLED. THE BODIES OF ABOUT 100 HAVE BEEN FOUND AND

30.24-32351

THE GRAVES REGISTRATION SERVICE IS SEEKING THE OTHERS.

APRA 174 WILLKINGS 01245 JRT 316PES

MADRID, DEC. 12--(AP)---SPAIN RELEASED TO THE BRITISH AND UNITED STATES EMBASSIES TODAY A CONSIGNMENT OF GOLD SOVEREIGNS VALUED AT APPROXIMATELY $1,120,000 WHICH HAD BELONGED TO THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT. THE EMBASSIES ARE ACTING AS TRUSTEES FOR THE ALLIED REPARATIONS COMMISSION.

APRA 180 ASSDS 1820 JRT 330PES

CAIRO, DEC. 12 --(AP)-- TTHE COUNCIL OF THE PAN-ARAB LEAGUE VOTED TODAY TO ADMIT PALESTINE INTO THELEAGUE WITH FULL VOTING RIGHTS AND CALLED A MEETING OF REPRESENTATIVES OF ALL ARAB STATES FOR JAN. 5 IN CAIRO TO DISCUSS THE ARAB BOYCOTT OF ZIONIST PRODUCTS FROM PALESTINE.

THE ADMISSION OF THE PALESTINE ARABS, WHO FORMERLY WERE LIMI* TED TO THE STATUS OF OBSERVERS BECAUSE PALESTINEIS A MANDATED AREA RATHER THAN AN INDEPENDENT STATE? RAISED THE LEAGUE MEMBER* SHIP TO EIGHT STATES. OTHERS IN THE LEAGUE ARE EGYPT, LEBANON, TRANSJORDAN, SAUDIARABIA, IRAN, IRAQ, AND YEMEN.

DE LINS 02140 OC/500P

A44
WITH WASHINGTON
TEHRAN, DEC. 12-(AP)-SIR READER BULLARD, BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO IRAN, WILL LEAVE SHORTLY TO PARTICIPATE IN THE THREE POWER FOREIGN MINISTERS' CONFERENCE IN MOSCOW, THE BRITISH EMBASSY ANNOUNCED TODAY. THE CONFERENCE IS SCHEDULED TO CONVENE ON SATURDAY.
HJ627AES

ISTANBUL, DEC. 11-(DELAYED)-(AP)-CMDR.GEORGE EARLE, FORMER GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA, ARRIVED HERE ON WHAT HE WOULD DESCRIBE ONLY AS "PERSONAL BUSINESS" AND TO RECOVER BELONGINGS HE LEFT BEHIND IN BULGARIA THREE YEARS AGO.

EARLE DECLINED TO DISCUSS REPORTS THAT HE WAS PLANNING TO MARRY BEFORE RETURNING TO THE UNITED STATES. HE HAS BEEN ACCOMPANYING MISS JACQUALINE SACRE, DAUGHTER OF A BELGIAN ADVISOR TO THE TURKISH RAILROAD.

THE FORMER GOVERNOR FIRST CAME TO TURKEY AFTER SERVING AS MINISTER TO BULGARIA. HE BECAME AN ASSISTANT NAVAL ATTACHE UNTIL HIS RETURN TO THE UNITED STATES.

RG103PES

WITH BATAVIA

AMSTERDAM, D.C. 12 - (AP)--Dutch Premier William Schermerhorn told the Lower House today that recent parleys held in Singapore "will prove, we hope, of great practical value in solving the situation in Indonesia.

The meeting, which was held last week, was called by Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten, who invited British, French and Dutch leaders to discuss the crisis in Java and Indo-China. The decisions reached at this meeting have not yet been revealed.

"By the fact that our British Allies have not hesitated to raise their armed force in the Dutch Indies to its present level, despite what for them are unusually difficult conditions," the Schermerhorn statement said "is shown that they intend [redacted] to carry out the task assigned them by the Allied Supreme Command to the finish."

The statement went on to declare that "the government cannot be diverted from its intention to hold the door open for constructive discussion with such persons out of the India community who wish to enter together with the Indies government a new age of political, economical and social development in which justified Indonesian aspirations will find full satisfaction."

BONIS/THIRD1830/APR/1h/1640

CALCUTTA, DEC 12-(AP)-SEARCHING PARTIES TODAY IDENTIFIED THE WRECKAGE OF AN ARMY TRANSPORT PLANE IN WHICH 40 HOMEWARD BOUND AMERICAN SOLDIERS AND FOUR CREWMEN LOST THEIR LIVES LAST MONTH.

ARMY TRANSPORT COMMAND HEADQUARTERS REPORTED THAT DEEP SNOW WAS HAMPERING THE SEARCH FOR BODIES OF THE VICTIMS. THE PLANE CRASHED NOV. 3 AGAINST THE SIDE OF AN 8,200-FOOT MOUNTAIN IN AN ISOLATED HIMALAYAN SECTION 360 MILES SOUTHEAST OF THE ATC BASE AT CHABUA, NORTHERN INDIA.

THE TRANSPORT WAS ENROUTE TO KARACHI.

JJ1008AES

CALCUTTA, DEC 12-(AP)-U.S. ARMY OFFICIALS SAID TODAY THAT LT. COL. ROLF OLAF WULFBERG, COMMANDER OF THE ORDNANCE AMMUNITION AREA AT CAMP KANCRAPARA WHEN AN EXPLOSION KILLED SEVEN AMERICANS AND 84 INDIAN EMPLOYEES THERE LAST MONTH, WAS FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN A RAILWAY COACH SATURDAY.

THE BULLET PIERCED HIS HEAD. THE ARMY DID NOT SAY HOW THE FATAL WOUND WAS INFLICTED. THE RESULTS OF THE ARMY INVESTIGATION OF THE CAMP KANCRAPARA BLAST HAVE NOT BEEN DISCLOSED.

THE COACH WAS ON A TRAIN EN ROUTE TO DARJEELING, IN NORTHERN INDIA, WHERE WULFSBERG WAS TRAVELING ON LEAVE ORDERS.

WULFSBERG'S WIFE LIVES AT (23 CRESTMONT AVE.,) TORRESDALE, PA.

THE LIEUTENANT COLONEL, A WEST POINT GRADUATE, WAS ASSIGNED TO THE INDIA-BURMA THEATER LAST SEPTEMBER.

JJ1006AES

CALCUTTA, DEC. 12-(AP)-TWO OF SEVEN [redacted] SOLDIERS WHO REQUIRED HOSPITALIZATION AS A RESULT OF INJURIES SUFFERED DURING RECENT CALCUTTA DISTURBANCES ARE STILL PATIENTS AT THE U.S. 142 END GENERAL HOSPITAL.

THEY ARE CPL. FRANK FALCALO OF 408 THIRD ST., UNION CITY, N.J., WHO IS RECOVERING FROM A HEAD INJURY AND IS EXPECTED TO BE RELEASED SOON, AND T/4 DOMINICO ROMANELLO OF 352[redacted] 10TH AVE., NEW YORK CITY WHOSE CONDITION IS REPORTED AS GOOD.

THE OTHER FIVE HAVE BEEN RELEASED FOR DUTY.

FBG1007AES/ 01500/ APR

SHANGHAI, DEC. 12-(AP)-STRICTER CONTROLS WERE IMPOSED ON 80,000 SEGREGATED JAPANESE CIVILIANS TODAY BY CHINESE AUTHORITIES INVESTIGATING CHARGES THAT MILITARISTIC NIPPONESE CLIQUES ARE FLOURISHING IN SHANGHAI.

THE CURFEW WAS INCREASED TWO HOURS FROM 8 P.M. TO 6 A.M., WITH SEVERE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATORS. FORMER ARMY AND NAVY PERSONNEL WERE ORDERED TO REMAIN IN CONCENTRATION CAMPS UNLESS GIVEN SPECIAL PERMISSION.

OFFICIALS OF THE CHINESE THIRD DIRECTION ARMY, WHICH IS SUPERVISING THE JAPANESE, WERE CHECKING PUBLISHED REPORTS THAT MILITARY-MINDED CIVILIANS WERE CAMPAIGNING AGAINST THE SPREAD OF PRO-DEMOCRATIC THOUGHT.

THE CIVILIANS, ALL OF WHOM ARE AWAITING RETURN TO THEIR HOMELAND, ARE ADMINISTERED BY A SELF-GOVERNING COUNCIL UNDER RULES LAID DOWN BY THE CHINESE.

HW&SF802APS NM

SHANGHAI, DEC. 12-(AP)-ARRESTED AT HANKOW AFTER A FOUR-MONTH SEARCH, ISAMU ISHIHARA, 36, CIVILIAN INTERPRETER FOR PRISONER OF WAR CAMPS IN THE SHANGHAI AREA WAS BROUGHT HERE TODAY BY AMERICAN WAR-CRIMES OFFICERS.

ISHIHARA, WHO ATTENDED HIGH SCHOOL IN HAWAII IN 1929 AND 1930, IS ACCUSED OF USING THE WATER-CURE, ELECTRIC SHOCK TREATMENT AND OTHER BRUTALITIES AGAINST AMERICAN SERVICEMEN.

WW654APS NM

30.24-32353

SINGAPORE, DEC. 12-(AP)-SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS SAID TODAY THAT THE CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE 16TH JAPANESE ARMY, A MAJ.GEN.YAMAMOTO, HAD ADMITTED BEING MAINLY RESPONSIBLE FOR FOSTERING THE INDONESIAN INDEPENDENCE MOVEMENT IN JAVA.

THE OFFICER WAS ARRESTED LAST MONTH. HE IS AWAITING TRIAL HERE, ALONG WITH A MAJ.GEN.NAKAMURA, ONETIME JAPANESE COMMANDER IN THE CENTRAL SECTOR OF JAVA, WHO IS CHARGED WITH COMPLICITY IN DELIVERING ARMS TO THE INDONESIANS.

WD219 PES

...ADD TOKYO-WARCRIMES-DIET & ALLIES

AMONG THE SUSPECTS SURRENDERING TODAY WERE ADM. SOEMU TOYODA, FORMER COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE COMBINED FLEET; ADM. SEIZO KOBAYASHI, RETIRED, FORMER COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE COMBINED FLEET, ONETIME GOVERNOR OF FORMOSA AND WARTIME PRESIDENT OF THE IMPERIAL RULE ASSISTANCE ASSOCIATION; INOSUKE FURUNO, ENGLISH SPEAKING PRESIDENT OF THE MACARTHUR-ABOLISHED DOMEI AGENCY; KIYOSHI GOKO, PRESIDENT OF MITSUBISHI HEAVY INDUSTRIES, AND SHINGO TSUDA. MITSUI INDUSTRIALIST.

FIELD MARSHAL SHUNROKU HATA, FORMER COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF JAPANESE EXPEDITIONARY FORCES IN CHINA; MATSUTARO SHORIKI, PRESIDENT OF THE TOKYO NEWSPAPER YOMIURI HOCHI; MASATAKA OTA, FORMER NEWSPAPER EXECUTIVE AND GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL; ADM. SANIKICHI TAKAHASHI, RETIRED, FORMER CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE COMBINED FLEET; LT.GEN.NOBUTAKE SHIOTEN, RETIRED, HEAD OF THE ANTI-SEMITIC SOCIETY OF JAPAN.

AS THE PRINCE AND A PROCESSION OF SEVERAL ADMIRALS, GENERALS, INDUSTRIALISTS AND NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS CHECKED IN AT THE PRISON, JAPAN'S DIET HEARD FOREIGN MINISTER SJIGERU YOSHIDA MAKE ONE OF THE STRONGEST UNDERSTATEMENTS OF HIS CAREER.

"JAPAN," HE SAID, "AT PRESENT LACKS COMPLETE SOVEREIGNTY."

YOSHIDA MADE THE REMARK IN CONNECTION WITH HIS DISCLOSURE THAT THE GOVERNMENT ALREADY HAD BROACHED TO ALLIED HEADQUARTERS THE QUESTION OF RESUMING DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH THE REST OF THE WORLD.

HIS ANNOUNCEMENT FOLLOWED A STATEMENT BY A CRITICAL DEPUTY THAT ALLIED ABOLITION OF JAPAN'S DIPLOMATIC SERVICE SHOWED "LACK OF CONFIDENCE IN THE CABINET."

MEANWHILE NIPPON'S PRINTING PRESSES FED A MOUNTING STREAM OF BANKNOTES INTO THE NATION'S CURRENCY INFLATION. KYODO NEWS AGENCY SAID THE NOTE ISSUE OF THE BANK OF JAPAN, WHICH LATE HAS BEEN CLIMBING AT THE RATE OF TWO BILLION (B) YEN IN 10 DAYS, WOULD REACH A TOTAL OF 56 BILLION (B) YEN BY JAN. 1.

THE BANK'S TOTAL ISSUE IN NOVEMBER, 1943, AMOUNTED TO EIGHT BILLION YEN.

THE WAR CRIMINAL SUSPECTS SURRENDERING TODAY WERE ON GENERAL MACARTHUR'S DEC.2 LIST OF SUSPECTS. AN ADDITIONAL 57, NAMED ON MACARTHUR'S DEC.6 LIST, HAVE UNTIL MIDNIGHT SUNDAY TO SURRENDER. THEY INCLUDE PRINCE FUMIMARO KONOYE, THREE TIMES PREMIER OF JAPAN, AND MARQUIS KOICHI KIDO, ONE OF HIROHITO'S CLOSEST ADVISERS.

THE FIRST OF 300 SMALL-TIME SUSPECTS GO ON TRIAL AT YOKOHAMA NEXT TUESDAY. THEY ARE ACCUSED MAINLY OF ATROCITIES AGAINST PRISONERS OF WER.

EW714PCS

A142KX

'WEST OUT (140)

SECOND NIGHT LEAD JAPANESE

BY RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, THURSDAY, DEC.13-(AP)-JAPAN IS BEHIND IN HER PAYMENTS OF OCCUPATION COSTS, FINANCE MINISTER KEIZO SHIBUSAWA TOLD THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES YESTERDAY, YET THIS DEBT ALREADY HAS BECOME AN IMPORTANT FACTOR IN RISING INFLATION.

THE BANK OF JAPAN IS ADVANCING LESS THAN ONE-THIRD OF THE 1,000,000,000 YEN ($66,666,667) MONTHLY OCCUPATION BUDGET. THE FINANCE MINISTER SAID DISCUSSIONS WERE BEING HELD WITH ALLIED AUTHORITIES REGARDING INFLATIONARY DANGERS OF THESE MODIFIED PAYMENTS.

OCCUPATION PAYMENTS TO DATE TOTAL 1,100,000,000 YEN, SHIBUSAWA TOLD A PLENARY SESSION OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES BUDGET COMMITTEE. THE TOTAL DEBT HOWEVER WILL BE PAID, HE PROMISED.

"IT IS SURE THIS WILL FORM ONE CAUSE OF VICIOUS INFLATION," HE SAID IN REPLY TO A QUESTION.

THIRTY-EIGHT JAPANESE MILITARY AND INDUSTRIAL LEADERS, HEADED BY IMPERIAL PRINCE MORIMASA NASHIMOTO, SURRENDERED AT SUGAMO PRISON YESTERDAY.

TWENTY-ONE OTHERS ON GENERAL MACARTHUR'S DEC.2 LIST OF 59, ALL ORDERED TO REPORT BY LAST MIDNIGHT TO AWAIT TRIAL AS WAR CRIMINAL SUSPSECTS, HAD NOT SURRENDERED TODAY BECAUSE OF ILLNESS OR BECAUSE THEY STILL WERE OUT OF THE COUNTRY.

A104FX

TOKYO, DEC.12-(AP)-JAPANESE ASTRONOMERS TODAY ASKED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS TO PERMIT THEM TO COMPARE OBSERVATION WITH AMERICAN ASTRONO JAN.1, AS WHICH TIME THEY SAID THE PLANET MARS WOULD MOVE WITHIN 45,000,000 MILES OF THE EARTH.

MARS IS EXPECTED TO SPIN CLOSER TO THIS PLANET ON THAT DATE THAN IT DID IN 1939. THE CURRENT DISTANCE HAS BEEN CALCULATED AT 54,000,000 MILES.

WW650APS

THE GENUINE ARTICLE

MATSUYAMA,JAPAN,DEC.12-(AP)-A YOUNG AMERICAN OFFICER, NEWLY ARRIVED FROM THE UNITED STATES AND ASSIGNED TO 24TH DIVISION HEADQUARTERS, CALLED HIS MEN TOGETHER, PULLED OUT A CANTEEN AND SAID: "BOYS, HAVE A DRINK ON ME. IT'S SOMETHING YOU HAVEN'T TASTED FOR A LONG TIME."

HE WASN'T FOOLING. HE HAD FILLED THE CANTEEN IN SAN FRANCISCO --- WITH STATESIDE WATER.

--DASH--

DEC 13 1945

MANILA,THURSDAY,DEC.13-(AP)-SIX OF SEVEN JAPANESE ACCUSED OF KILLING AND BURNING TWO AMERICAN FLIERS AND FIVE FILIPINOS AT CEBU CITY LAST MARCH WERE FOUND GUILTY BY A MILITARY COMMISSION TODAY.

LT.COL.ISAMU MORIMOTO AND CAPT.KESTARO TSURUYAMA WERE SENTENCED TO DEATH BY HANGING. SGT.TAKEO KAWAI ALSO WAS SENTENCED TO BE HANGED BUT MERCY WAS RECOMMENDED BECAUSE HE TURNED PROSECUTION WITNESS.

KAWAI TESTIFIED HE HAD ORDERS TO HACK THE FLIERS TO DEATH.

A FOURTH WAS SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT AND TWO OTHERS TO 10 YEARS EACH AT HARD LABOR.

ALL HAD PLEADED INNOCENT. THE SENTENCES ARE SUBJECT TO REVIEW LT.GEN.W.D.STYER, COMMANDER OF AMERICAN FORCES IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC, AND BY GENERAL MACARTHUR.

FJ/ET108ACS NM

MANILA,THURSDAY,DEC.13-(AP)-CONVERSION OF LIBERTY SHIPS TO CARRY TROOPS HOME HAS BEEN HALTED AS "THE RESULTS WERE POOR" AND THE MEN SUFFERED HARDSHIPS ABOARD, B. FRANK YOUNG, WAR SHIPPING ADMINISTRATION OFFICIAL SAID TODAY.

ONLY 30 SHIPS WERE CONVERTED. MEN ABOARD SOME FAILED TO GET HOT FOOD FOR FIVE DAYS IN ROUGH WEATHER, YOUNG SAID. LIFERAFTS ALSO PRESENTED A PROBLEM.

DEC 13 1945

FOUR SHIPS NOT CARRYING TROOPS HAVE BEEN LOST ALREADY TO FLOATING MINES IN THE NORTH PACIFIC, YOUNG ADDED. HE SAID SOME SECTIONS OF THE SEA "ARE ALIVE WITH FLOATING MINES."

TRANSPORTS ALLOCATED FOR JANUARY TROOP CARRYING WILL BE ADEQUATE TO MEET QUOTAS, YOUNG STATED.

[illegible] NM

MELBOURNE, DEC. 13-(AP)-A WITNESS APPEARING FOR LT. GEN. HENRY GORDON BENNETT AT THE OFFICIAL INQUIRY INTO HIS ESCAPE FROM THE JAPANESE IN 1942 WHILE COMMANDING AUSTRALIAN TROOPS IN MALAYA SAID BENNETT WAS "AN INDEPENDENT COMMANDER SUBJECT ONLY TO THE AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT" WHEN SINGAPORE SURRENDERED.

THE WITNESS, BRIAN CLANCY, SAID THAT WHEN BENNETT "LEFT SINGAPORE HE WAS IN FACT NO RELINQUISHING HIS COMMAND."

WILDRED DOVEY, WHO IS ASSISTING THE COMMISSIONER CONDUCTING THE HEARING SAID; "IN THE MISTAKEN BELIEF THAT HIS ESCAPE FROM SINGAPORE WAS ESSENTIAL IN THE INTEREST OF HIS COUNTRY, BENNETT ACTED IN A DELIBERATE BREACH OF WHAT HE KNEW TO BE HIS DUTY AS A SOLDIER."

DECLARING THAT NONE HAD QUESTIONED BENNETT'S COURAGE, DOVEY SAID THE QUESTION WAS WHETHER THE AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT DEMANDED THE SAME STANDARDS OF MILITARY CONDUCT AND HONOR AS OTHER NATIONS.

TU809AES

BRAZIL, Dec. 12 - (AP)--Getulio Vargas who dropped into political oblivion on Oct. 29 when the Army ousted him from the presidency after 15 years virtual dictatorship, is back in the limelight, vying for control in the impending administration of Gen. Eurico Dutra.

DEC 13 1945

The unnpfical vote count which assures Dutra the presidency, bids fair to restore Vargas political fortunes on a wave of blaboring class and gove nment worker votes. These votes not only helped the Vargas-blessed candidacy of Dutra to attain success but assured Vargas his choice on a number of Senate and Chamber seats and will probably send all Vargas closest aides into Congress with him.

Latest unofficial returns give Dutra 2,350,417 votes; Gomes, his strongest opponent 1,480,419; Fiuza, 481,870, and Telles 11,720.

Although Vargas will probably represent the minority Brazilian Labor Party -of which he is the honorary president- in Congress, observers point out his former aides are strong men of the majority Social Democratic Party -of which Dutra is the titular head- and all indication point to Vargas' being the leader-officially or behind the scenes-of the new Congress which will write a new Federal Constitution before turning to its normal legislative work.

30.24 - 32355

Thus Vargas will be in a controlling position of drafting this Constitution which will determine definitively the extent of Dutras powears as President, the length of Dutra's term of office, and how much will be retained from the present Constitution - and Authoritarian charter with corporative features which Vargas imposed on Brazil in 1937 without ratifying of the Congress or the people.

DIEHLS/SECOND1111/PW/th/1540

DEC 13 1945

RIO DE JANEIRO, DEC. 12--(AP)-- ELECTION OF GEN. EURICO GASPAR DUTRA AS PRESIDENT OF BRAZIL WAS VIRTUALLY CONCEDED BY OPPOSITION NEWSPAPERS TODAY WITH MORE THAN HALF OF THE UNOFFICIAL RETURNS TABULATED.

LATEST COUNT GAVE DUTRA, SOCIAL DEMOCRAT PARTY CANDIDATE, SUPPORTED BY FORMER PRESIDENT GETULIO VARGAS HAD 2,100,118 VOTES; GEN. EDUARDO GOMES, NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC UNION CANDIDATE 1,299,386 ; YEDDO FIUZA, WHO HAD COMMUNIST SUPPORT, 440,783 AND MARIO ROLLIN TELLES, AGRARIAN PARTY, 5,508.

WITH DUTRA'S SOCIAL DEMOCRATS APPARENTLY ASSURED OF A SUBSTANTIAL MAJORITY IN THE FEDERAL SENATE BUT PROBABLY SHORT OF A MAJORITY IN THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES, POLITICAL OBSERVERS WERE SPECUALTING ON HIS POSSIBLESTRATEGY FOR ESTABLISHING A WORKING MAJORITY IN CONGRESS.
POSSIBILITIES WERE ALLIANCES WITH EITHER THE VARGAS* AFFILIATED BRAZILIAN LABOR PARTY OR WITH THELARGER ANTI-VARGAS national democratic union.

REWRITE NC RCH 214A

BUENOS AIRES, DEC. 12 -- (AP) -- A U. S. ARMY BOMBER TOOK OFF TODAY CARRYING THE ASHES OF THE 14 MEN WHO BURNED TO DEATH WHEN A U. S. ARMY C-47 TRANSPORT CRASHED LAST WEEK IN WILD AND SWAMPY SECTION OF CORRIENTES PROVINCE.

EN ROUTE TO THE U. S., VIA PANAMA, THE BOMBER WAS REPORTED TO HAVE STOPPED AT MONTEVIDEO TO REMAIN OVERNIGHT.

THE ASHES OF THE CRASH VICTIMS -- MEMBERS OF A U. S. GEOGRAPHIC SURVEY ON THEIR WAY HOME FROM A URUGUAYAN EXPEDITION -- WERE CARRIED FROM THE ALMOST INACCESIBLE SCENE OF THE CRASH IN METAL URNS AFTER THE SEARCH PARTY PERFORMED CREMATION CEREMONIES AT THE SCENE OF THE CRASH.

THEY WERE FIRST CARRIED TO BUENOS AIRES IN THE PLANE OF A U. S. MILITARY ATTACHE, WHERE ARGENTINE MINISTERS OF WAR AND AIR AS WELL AS U. S. NAVAL ATTACHES MET THEM. THE GARRISON OF THE ARGENTINE ARMY AIR BASE PRESENTED ARMS AND A BAND PLAYED AS THE URNS WERE TRANSFERRED TO THE BOMBER TO BE FLOWN HOME.

BUENOS AIRES, DEC. 12-(AP)-COL. JUAN PERON, FORMER VICE-PRESIDENT AND CANDIDATE FOR THE ARGENTINE PRESIDENCY, DENIED LAST NIGHT THAT HIS FOLLOWERS WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR RECENT POLITICAL DISORDERS AND ANTI-JEWISH DEMONSTRATIONS IN WHICH FOUR PERSONS HAVE BEEN KILLED AND 37 M OUNDED.

THIRTY-SEVEN CASUALTIES, INCLUDING FOUR DEATHS, RESULTED FROM GUNFIRE DURING A POLITICAL DEMONSTRATION LAST SATURDAY SPONSORED BY THE ANTI-PERON DEMOCRATIC UNION. ON MONDAY FOUR MORE WERE WOUNDED OUTSIDE A CEMETERY DURING BURIAL SERVICES FOR THREE OF THE SATURDAY VICTIMS. PERON'S OPPONENTS HAVE ACCUSED HIS FOLLOWERS OF STARTING THE SHOOTING.

"FOR SOME TIME IRRESPONSIBLE PERSONS SHOUTING 'DEATH TO THE JEWS! VIVA PERON!' HAVE BEEN SPREADING ALARM AND CONFUSION IN VARIOUS CIVIC ACTIVITIES WHICH WERE BEING HELD NORMALLY," PERON SAID.

"THOSE DOING SO ARE OUTSIDE ALL DEMOCRATIC STANDARDS AND CANNOT BE REGULAR MEMBERS OF ANY ARGENTINE POLITICAL FORCE."
PERON REFERRED TO THE SATURDAY DISORDERS AND SAID HIS SUPPORTERS "ABSOLUTELY DENY THE FALSE IMPUTATIONS" AGAINST THEM.
HJ6AES

A143KX
WEST OUT (100)
HONOLULU, DEC.12-(AP)-EDWIN PAULEY, PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN ON THE ALLIED REPARATIONS COMMISSION, SAID TODAY ON HIS WAY TO WASHINGTON FROM VISITS TO THE ORIENT THAT HE DOUBTED IF RUSSIA WOULD MAKE "ANY SUBSTANTIAL CLAIM FOR RPARATIONS" FROM JAPAN.
ASKED IF HE IS CARRYING BACK TO WASHINGTON ANY RECOMMENDATIONS ON AMERICAN POLICY IN THE EXPLOSIVE SITUATION IN NORTH CHINA, PAULEY SAID HE WAS NOT, ADDING:
"I HAVE ENOUGH TROUBLES OF MY OWN."
HE EXPRESSED DISAPPOINTMENT OVER BEING UNABLE TO GET INTO RUSSIAN-OCCUPIED MANCHURIA.
JQ1128PCS NM

DEC 13 1945

A66
ABOARD THE SS HENRY WARD BEECHER, OFF BERMUDA, DEC. 12-(AP)-FIVE HUNDRED AND FORTY ONE GI'S TRANSFERED TODAY TO THE RELIEF SHIP SATURNIA FOR THE LAST LAP OF THEIR MUCH-DELAYED "HOME FOR CHRISTMAS" VOYAGE.
THE BEECHER, UNTIL TAKEN IN TOW BY THE CECIL M.BEAN, WALLOWED HELPLESSLY IN THE SEA FOR FIVE DAYS AFTER A PROPELLER SHAFT BROKE.
ALREADY ABOARD THE SATURNIA WERE 586 SOLDIERS FROM THE GEORGE W. MCCRARY, WHICH LIMPED INTO ST. GEORGE'S HARBOR SATURDAY AFTER A 21-DAY VOYAGE FROM ANTWERP.
RP820PES

PARRAN-MAYORS
(ADVANCE)...(WX)...NEW YORK, DEC 12-(AP)-SURGEON GENERAL THOMAS PARRAN STRUCK BACK TODAY AT MEDICAL PROFESSION CRITICISM OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S PROPOSAL FOR COMPULSORY HEALTH INSURANCE.
IF AN EFFECTIVE PLAN IS TO BE WORKED OUT, PARRAN SAID IN A PREPARED ADDRESS, THE MEDICAL PROFESSION "SHOULD BEGIN TO EXPLORE THE PROBLEM OBJECTIVELY AND COME FORWARD WITH SOLUTIONS, NOT REJECT IONS."
THE SURGEON GENERAL, A PHYSICIAN HIMSELF, DISCUSSED THE PRESIDENT'S PROPOSED NATIONAL HEALTH PROGRAM BEFORE THE U.S. CONFERENCE OF MAYORS. COMPULSORY HEALTH INSURANCE IS ONE OF THE PROGRAM'S FIVE POINTS.
PARRAN OBSERVED THAT PHYSICIANS HAD TAKEN THE LEAD IN PLANNING FOR NATION-WIDE CONSTRUCTION OF HOSPITALS AND ASSERTED THEY "MUST DO LIKEWISE" IN PLANNING FOR SERVICES UNDER THE INSURANCE PLAN.
"THE CHALLENGE TO THE PROFESSIONS IS TO PARTICIPATE FULLY IN DEVELOPING ORGANIZATIONS AND METHODS, WHEREBY EFFICIENT, HIGH STANDARD SERVICES MAY BE RENDERED," HE SAID.
(END ADVANCE FOR PMS OF WEDNESDAY DEC.12)
SUFR920AES

BOGOTA, DEC. 12 - (AP) - CONGRESS TODAY APPROVED COLOMBIA'S ADHERENCE TO THE BRETTON WOODS MONETARY PLAN.
#

NEW YORK, DEC 12-(AP)-BISHOP G.BROMLEY OXNAM, HEAD OF A THREE-MAN CHURCH DELEGATION JUST RETURNED FROM GERMANY, SAID TODAY THE COUNTRY'S FOOD PROBLEM WAS GREAT, BUT THAT HE DID NOT BELIEVE THERE WOULD BE ANY MASS STARVATION IN THE AMERICAN AND BRITISH ZONES OF OCCUPATION.
"THAT DOES NOT MEAN THAT LIFE IS GOING TO BE SOFT," HE TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE. "IT'S GOING TO BE TERRIBLY HARD."
BISHOP OXNAM, PRESIDENT OF THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA, WAS ACCOMPANIED TO GERMANY BY BISHOP HENRY KNOX SHERRILL OF BOSTON, CHAIRMAN OF THE PROTESTANT CHURCHES GENERAL COMMISSION ON ARMY AND NAVY CHAPLAINS, AND DR. FRANKLIN CLARK FRY OF NEW YORK, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED LUTHERAN CHURCH IN AMERICA. THE DELEGATION RETURNED MONDAY.
BISHOP OXNAM DID NOT COMMENT ON GENERAL CONDITIONS IN THE RUSSIAN ZONE, BUT DID SAY THOSE IN THE FRENCH ZONE WERE NOT AS GOOD AS IN THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN AREAS.
NEXT TO FOOD, THE GREATEST NEED IN THE AMERICAN ZONE IS CLOTHING, THE BISHOP SAID.
ME1213AES

NEW YORK, DEC 12-(AP)-THE NATIONAL CITIZENS POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE TODAY EXPRESSED OPPOSITION TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S PROPOSALS FOR ADDITIONAL LABOR LEGISLATION, TERMING HIS SUGGESTIONS "FRAUGHT WITH GREAT DANGER TO OUR WHOLE ECONOMY."
DR. FRANK KINGDON, CHAIRMAN OF NCPAC'S STEERING COMMITTEE, ISSUED A STATEMENT WHICH ASKED THE PRESIDENT TO USE HIS INFLUENCE RATHER TO PERSUADE AMERICAN INDUSTRIES TO "RESPECT FEDERAL LAW AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY WITH THE UNIONS."
DISCUSSING THE PRESIDENT'S PROPOSALS FOR A COOLING-OFF PERIOD BEFORE STRIKES AND A PUBLIC INQUIRY INTO INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES, THE STATEMENT SAID:
"IN OUR OPINION THESE SUGGESTIONS CAN HAVE BUT ONE EFFECT. THEY WILL ENABLE MANAGEMENT IN KEY INDUSTRIES TO DELAY FURTHER COLLECTIVE BARGAINING WITH UNIONS. THEY WILL THUS WEAKEN THE LABOR MOVEMENT AND UNDERMINE THE WELFARE OF WORKING PEOPLE AT A MOMENT OF THEIR GREATEST NEED."
NCPAC SAID CONGRESS WAS NOT LIKELY TO PASS ANY BILL DESIGNED TO HELP WORKERS, ADDING: "IT HAS FAILED SO FAR TO MEET ANY OF THE MAJOR NEEDS OF THE PEOPLE. IT WILL ALMOST CERTAINLY PASS LEGISLATION THAT WILL WEAKEN, NOT STRENGTHEN THE LABOR MOVEMENT."
ME1209AES

PRECEDE BOSTON
NANTUCKET,MASS.,DEC 12-(AP)-WITH AT LEAST ONE INJURED CREWMAN ABOARD, THE RUDDERLESS YUGOSLAVIAN (CORRECT) CORVETTE INDEPENDENCIA WENT AGROUND IN SUB FREEZING WEATHER TONIGHT, FOUR MILES OFF THIS ISLAND.
SOON AFTER SHE FLASHED A CALL FOR AID, TWO PATROL BOMBERS FLEW OVER THE DISTRESSED CRAFT AND SOME TIME AFTER THAT A COASTGUARD MOTOR LIFEBOAT REACHED THE AREA.

30,24-32357

FIRST REPORTS FROM THE PLANES AND THE LIFEBOAT WERE THAT THE CRAFT WAS IN NO IMMEDIATE DANGER OF BREAKING UP AND THAT ABANDONMENT WAS NOT NECESSARY.

THE WEATHER WAS COLD BUT SEAS WERE DESCRIBED AS NOT ABNORMAL AND WIND VELOCITY WAS REPORTED AS "ABOUT 20 MILES AN HOUR."

THE PLANES, A PBY FROM THE QUONSET, R.I., NAVAL AIR BASE, AND A PBM FROM THE COAST GUARD BASE AT SALEM, MASS., ARRIVED OVER THE CRAFT SOON AFTER JUAN S.OSTRAND, THE VESSEL'S MASTER, RADIOED:

"SHIP ANCHORED. DRIFTING MUCH. RUDDER OUT. CREW 46. TAKING MUCH WATER AT STERN. MAKE DISPOSITION FOR WOUNDED MAN."

EXTENT OF THE INJURIES OF THE WOUNDED MAN WAS NOT AVAILABLE.

THE MOTOR LIFEBOAT WAS DIRECTED TO THE AREA OF THE VESSEL BY A FLASHLIGHT BEAM WAVED BY THE KEEPER OF THE SANKATY HEAD LIGHTHOUSE.

RACING TO THE SCENE WERE THREE OTHER COAST GUARD CRAFT. THEY WERE THE SPAR, A BUOY TENDER FROM CHATHAM, AND TWO SUBCHASERS, THE SC 1063 FROM EDGARTOWN, MARTHA'S VINEYARD ISLAND, AND THE SC 711 FROM BLOCK ISLAND, R.I.

LARGER SHIPS WOULD BE UNABLE TO GET TO THE VESSEL BECAUSE THE WATER WAS ONLY THREE FATHOMS (18 FEET) DEEP.

(NO PICKUP)

AJ1219AES

BOSTON,DEC.12-(AP)-THE VENEZUELAN CORVETTE INDEPENDENCIA FLASHED A DISTRESS CALL TONIGHT AFTER GOING AGROUND ON DAVIS SHOALS 15 MILES SOUTHEAST OF NANTUCKET.

HER CALL FOR AID REPORTED THAT THE VESSEL WAS TAKING WATER RAPIDLY AND NEEDED IMMEDIATE ASSISTANCE.

THE NAVY AND COAST GUARD IMMEDIATELY DISPATCHED ALL AVAILABLE RESCUE CRAFT TO THE SPOT.

A NAVY PATROL BOMBER EQUIPPED WITH FLARES WAS SENT FROM QUONSET, R.I., NAVAL AIR STATION, AND COAST GUARD VESSELS WERE DISPATCHED FROM BOSTON, NEWPORT AND BLOCK ISLAND, R.I., PROVINCETOWN AND CHATHAM, MASS.

THERE WAS NO INFORMATION AS TO THE NUMBER OF PERSONS ABOARD THE VESSEL.

ES1005PES

WASHINGTON,DEC.12-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN TODAY SET UP A NINE-MEMBER COMMITTEE TO COORDINATE GOVERNMENT MEDICAL SERVICES.

IT'S FIRST MAJOR TASK, A WHITE HOUSE STATEMENT SAID, "IS TO FIND WAYS OF INCREASING THE MEDICAL FACILITIES OF THE UNITED STATES VETERAN ADMINISTRATION." IT WILL HOLD ITS FIRST MEETING AT 9:30 A.M.EST MONDAY WITH THE PRESIDENT AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

THE MEMBERS ARE: DR.HAROLD W.DODDS, PRESIDENT OF PRINCETON UNIVERSITY; DR.FRANK H.LAHEY, OF THE LAHEY CLINIC, BOSTON; DR.BASIL C.MACLEAN, ROCHESTER,N.Y., FORMERLY OF THE ARMY MEDICAL CORPS; COL.HOWARD RUSK, FORMERLY OF THE ARMY AIR FORCES, NOW CONDUCTING A DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS REHABILITATION FOR THE NEW YOR TIMES; DR.CHARLES W.MAYO OF THE MAYO CLINIC, ROCHESTER,MINN., MAJOR GEN.HOWARD MC C.SNYDER, U.S.ARMY; REAR ADMIRAL DANIEL HUNT, U.S.NAVY; DR.THOMAS PARRAN, SURGEON GENERAL U.S. PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE; CHESTER I.BERNARD, NEWARK, PRESIDENT NEW JERSEY BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY.

FR203PES

GERMANY
BY GRAHAM HOVEY

WASHINGTON, DEC. 12-(AP)-BEATEN GERMANY, IF THIS COUNTRY HAS ITS WAY, WILL BE BACK ON ITS ECONOMIC FEET TWO YEARS HENCE, ABLE TO PAY ITS OWN WAY AND TO RAISE THE LIVING STANDARDS OF ITS PEOPLE.

THIS IS THE LONG-RANGE OBJECTIVE OF AMERICAN POLICY TOWARD THE REICH AS LAID DOWN BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT. IT COMPRISES A MIDDLE-GROUND BETWEEN "HARD" AND "SOFT" PEACE PROPOSALS.

TO CARRY IT OUT, HOWEVER, THE UNITED STATES AND THE OTHER ALLIES WILL HAVE TO PROVIDE FUNDS---PERHAPS HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS---TO PERMIT GERMANY TO IMPORT HER NECESSITIES OVER THE NEXT TWO YEARS.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT MADE PUBLIC THE U. S. POLICY BY RELEASING THE TEXT OF A STATEMENT PREPARED AT THE REQUEST OF THE WAR DEPARTMENT FOR GUIDANCE OF AMERICAN OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES.

THE STATEMENT, WHICH ALSO WAS SENT TO THE GOVERNMENTS OF RUSSIA, BRITAIN AND FRANCE, CONSTITUTED THE FIRST DETAILED INTERPRETATION BY ANY POWER OF THE GENERAL POLICY FOR GERMANY PRODUCED AT THE POTSDAM BIG THREE MEETING IN AUGUST.

AMERICAN OFFICIALS WERE UNWILLING TO PREDICT HOW THE OTHER THREE OCCUPYING POWERS MIGHT RECEIVE THE POLICY DECLARATION.

THEY SAID, HOWEVER, THAT THE AMERICAN PLAN WAS BASED ON THE ASSUMPTION THAT GERMANY WOULD RETAIN ITS PRESENT BOUNDARIES, INCLUDING THE INDUSTRIAL RUHR AND RHINELAND AREAS.

THIS ASSURED OPPOSITION FROM FRANCE, WHICH HAS INSISTED THAT THOSE TWO ZONES BE STRIPPED FROM GERMANY.

IN A SUPPLEMENTARY STATEMENT ON THE POLICY DECLARATION, SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES SAID THREE STAGES WOULD BE INVOLVED IN GERMANY RETURN TO "NORMAL." IN THE FIRST OF THESE, LASTING UNTIL SOMETIME NEXT SPRING, BYRNES LISTED FOUR ALLIED AIMS:

1. TO PREVENT MASS STARVATION IN GERMANY---WHEN NECESSARY, BY INCREASED IMPORTS FROM THE UNITED STATES.

2. TO INCREASE "TO THE GREATEST POSSIBLE EXTENT" THE EXPORTS OF GERMAN COAL TO COUNTRIES FORMERLY OVERRUN BY GERMANY.

3. TO COMPLETE THE FOUR-POWER REPARATIONS AGREEMENT BY FEBRUARY 2, 1946, AND START THE MACHINERY FOR CARRYING IT OUT.

4. TO ESTABLISH GERMAN ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCIES IN FINANCE, TRANSPORT, COMMUNICATIONS, FOREIGN TRADE AND INDUSTRY.

IN THE SECOND PERIOD, LASTING FROM THE SPRING OF 1946 TO FEBRUARY 2, 1948, A GRADUAL GERMANY RECOVERY IS ENVISAGED.

AS PLANTS ARE REMOVED FOR REPARATIONS, OTHERS WILL BE EARMARKED FOR PERMANENT RETENTION BY THE GERMANS; GERMAN INDUSTRY WILL REVIVE.

IN THE THIRD PERIOD, BYRNES SAID, GERMANS WILL ASSUME CONTROL OVER THEIR OWN ECONOMY SUBJECT TO "RESIDUAL LIMITATIONS" IMPOSED BY THE ALLIES; GERMAN INDUSTRY WILL BE STEPPED UP TO PROVIDE A LIVING STANDARD EQUIVALENT TO THAT OF THE REST OF EUROPE.

ONE OFFICIAL, WHO ASKED NOT TO BE IDENTIFIED, SAID GERMANY THUS WOULD BE NEITHER A COUNTRY OF "FORESTERS AND GOATHERDS, PEASANTS AND SHEPHERDS" NOR THE FIRST-RATE INDUSTRIAL POWER WHICH LAUNCHED TWO WARS OF AGRESSION IN A QUARTER OF A CENTURY.

QS422AES

PATTON
LOS ANGELES, DEC.12-(AP)-SOME OF THE MEN WHO SERVED UNDER GEN.GEORGE S.PATTON, JR., ON HIS VICTORIOUS DASH ACROSS FRANCE AND GERMANY SENT HIM A CABLE OF ENCOURAGEMENT AND HOPE TODAY FROM WOODBURY COLLEGE, WHERE THEY ARE STUDENTS.
"WE, THE MEN WHO SERVED UNDER YOU," THE CABLE READ IN PART, "ARE STILL WITH YOU, AS WE WERE AT NANCY, METZ AND MUNICH."
JQ912PCS

CHICAGO, DEC.12-(AP)-TRIDIONE, A NEW DRUG, HAS BROUGHT "DRAMATIC" RESULTS IN TREATMENT OF EPILEPSY, AN ARTICLE IN THE JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION SAID TODAY.
DR.WILLIAM G.LENNOX OF THE HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOL, REPORTED THAT OF 40 PATIENTS TREATED, 28 PER CENT WERE FREED FROM EPILEPTIC SEIZURES, 52 PER CENT EXPERIENCED A 75 PER CENT OR GREATER REDUCTION IN NUMBER OF SEIZURES AND THE REMAINING 20 PER CENT WERE HELPED MODERATELY.
DR.LENNOX SAID THE DRUG HAD BEEN "THE MOST DRAMATIC IN ITS EFFECT OF ANY FORM OF THERAPY ATTEMPTED" IN TREATMENT OF THE DISEASE.
ER1130PCS NM

SAN FRANCISCO, DEC.12-(AP)-ROBERT STEWART OF MUTUAL BROADCASTING COMPANY IN MANILA, REPORTED TODAY THAT GANGSTERISM IN WHICH BOTH "AMERICANS AND FILIPINOS ARE IMPLICATED IS THE GREATEST HEADACHE OF MILITARY AND CIVIL AUTHORITIES IN THE MANILA AREA."
"ONE SEA CAPTAIN REPORTS THAT ARMED GANGS IN SPEED BOATS ARE GOING OUT TO ANCHORED SHIPS IN THE HARBOR, LOOTING EQUIPMENT AND PERSONAL GEAR," STEWART SAID.
THE BROADCASTER ADDED THAT AMERICAN MILITARY POLICE WERE "RIDING JEEPS SIDE-SADDLE SHOOTING FROM THE HIP IN CHASING DOWN STOLEN TRUCKS."
NN1252PCS

SACRAMENTO, CALIF., DEC.12-(AP)-GEN.H.H.ARNOLD, CHIEF OF U.S. ARMY AIR FORCES, TODAY SAID MILITARY AIR SERVICES AND THE NATION'S AVIATION INDUSTRY MUST ENGAGE IN RESEARCH ON A SCALE HITHERTO UNKNOWN FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE COUNTRY.
NEW AIRCRAFT MUST BE PUT INTO PRODUCTION TO INSURE MAINTENANCE OF AN ADEQUATE NUCLEUS OF MANUFACTURING CAPACITY FOR RAPID EXPANSION IN THE EVENT OF ANY FUTURE EMERGENCY, ARNOLD TOLD THE WESTERN AVIATION CONFERENCE.
ARNOLD ADVOCATED RETAINING ALL OF THE ADVANCE BASES NOW HELD BY THE UNITED STATES TO "EXTEND OUR STRIKING FORCE OUT FROM OUR SHORES AND MAKE IT MORE DIFFICULT FOR AGGRESSOR NATIONS TO ATTACK US."
JQ1032PCS NM

STRIKES AT A GLANCE (130)
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
(CX) ABOUT 400,000 IDLE BECAUSE OF NATION'S LABOR DISPUTES.
9 MA303)LABOR DEVELOPMENTS

(CX) ABOUT 400,000 IDLE BECAUSE OF NATION'S LABOR DISPUTES.
MAJOR LABOR DEVELOPMENTS:
STEEL--CIO UNION MOVES TO GET MACHINERY IN MOTION FOR SCHEDULED NATIONWIDE STRIKE OF 700,000 STEEL, ALUMINUM AND IRON ORE WORKERS ON JAN.14; PRESIDENT PHILIP MURRAY SAYS UNION PREPARED TO NEGOTIATE WITH COMPANY ON $2 A DAY WAGE DEMAND.
AUTOMOBILES--FORD MOTOR COMPANY MEETS WITH CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS TO CONSIDER UNION'S DEMAND FOR 30 PER CENT WAGE INCREASE, PREPARES REPLY TO UNION PLAN FOR PREVENTING UNAUTHORIZED STRIKES; UAW CALLS ON MEMBERS TO CONTRIBUTE TO FUND FOR FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR 175,000 GENERAL MOTORS STRIKERS; GM-UNION NEGOTIATIONS IN RECESS.
ADMINISTRATION--CONGRESSIONAL LEADERS ABANDON HOPE OF GRANTING TRUMAN'S REQUEST FOR STRIKE-PREVENTION LEGISLATION BEFORE CHRISTMAS AS HOUSE REFUSES TO CONSIDER UNION-CURB BILL.
CLOTHING--WAGE INCREASES AND OTHER BENEFITS GRANTED 150,000 OF THE NATION'S CLOTHING WORKERS IN NEW AGREEMENT BETWEEN CIO AMALGAMATED CLOTHING WORKERS OF AMERICA AND THE CLOTHING MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION.
---DASH--

UNDATED ASIATIC (200)
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
JAPANESE ROYALTY AND FORMER WAR LORDS CHECKED IN AT GRIM SUGAMO PRISON IN TOKYO TODAY AS LEADERS OF THE CRUSHED NATION TOOK NEW APPRAISAL OF HER STATUS.
HEADED BY PRINCE MORIMASA NASHIMOTO OF THE IMPERIAL FAMILY, 59 ONETIME BIG SHOTS OF JAPAN HAD BEEN GIVEN UNTIL MIDNIGHT TO SURRENDER AT THE PRISON. THE PRINCE WAS THE FIRST TO ARRIVE.
MEANWHILE, FOREIGN MINISTER SHIGERU YOSHIDA DISCLOSED IN THE DIET THAT JAPAN ALREADY HAD DISCUSSED WITH ALLIED HEADQUARTERS THE QUESTION OF RESUMING DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH OTHER NATIONS.
"JAPAN AT PRESENT LACKS COMPLETE SOVEREIGNTY," HE ACKNOWLEDGED.
FIGHTING FLARED ANEW AT SEVERAL POINTS IN CENTRAL AND WESTERN JAVA. THE BRITISH SENT IN REINFORCEMENTS IN THE FACE OF A THREAT BY INDONESIAN LEADERS THAT SUCH ACTION WOULD RESULT IN A GENERAL UPRISING.
IN CHINA, SEMI-OFFICIAL CHINESE DISPATCHES CONFIRMED THAT RUSSIA HAS AGREED TO FACILITATE THE AIRBORNE OCCUPATION OF KEY MANCHURIAN CITIES BY CHINESE NATIONAL TROOPS AND SAID SOVIET MILITARY AUTHORITIES PROMISED TO PROTECT AIRFIELDS THUS USED.
THE CHINESE CENTRAL DAILY NEWS REPORTEDLFROM PEIPING THAT RUSSIA A
SO HAD AGREED TO ASSUME RESPONSIBILITY FOR DRIVING NON-NATIONAL FORCES OUT OF MANCHURIA, BUT CHUNGKING RECEIVED THE REPORT WITH TONGUE IN CHEEK.
HW757APS

NEW YORK, DEC. 12-(AP)-THE POLISH PRESS AGENCY SAID TODAY A DELAYED DISPATCH FROM WARSAW REPORTED THAT BOLESLAW SCIBOREK, GENERAL SECRETARY OF THE POLISH PEASANT PARTY, HAD BEEN SLAIN BY MEN WHO FORCED THEIR WAY INTO HIS HOME AT LODZ.
THE

30.24-32359

THE AGENCY QUOTED MINISTER OF PUBLIC SECURITY STANISLAW RADKIEWICZ, CHARGING AS DECLARING IN AN OFFICIAL CHARGE THAT THE SLAYING WAS COMMITTED BY UNDERGROUND AGENTS OF FACTIONS OPPOSED TO THE POLISH GOVERNMENT.

THE SECURITY MINISTER SAID THAT CONFESSIONS OF PERSONS HELD FOR PREVIOUS SLAYINGS HAD DISCLOSED "A CALCULATED PROGRAM OF ASSASSINATIONS OF POLISH POLITICAL LEADERS BY AN UNDERGROUND GANG CONNECTED WITH LT. GEN. WLADYSLAW ANDERS," COMMANDER OF THE FORMER POLISH EXILE ARMY.

FBG210PES/ POLPRESS

DEC 13 1945

BY TERRY CHALK

ABOARD THE SS HENRY WARD BEECHER, Dec. 12 - (AP)--A swarm of 541 shouting GI's lined up this morning to transfer to the relief ship Saturnia and round out the much delayed last lap of their "home for Christmas" voyage.

The men, many of whom spent D Day on the Normandy beachead, are happy now as they see the end of their long ordeal in sight, but they army and navy blame tape for letting them drift for five days until the Beecher's sister ship, Cecil M. Bean took the crippled ship in tow.

Already aboard the Saturnia are 586 soldiers from the George W. McCrary which limped into St. George's Harbor Saturday after a harrowing 21 day voyage from Antwerp. The McCrary soldiers cheered as their fellow sufferers began transferring from the Beecher.

Capt. Edward J. Reed, skipper of the Bean, is considered a hero by the Beecher's passengers for his successful towing accomplishments.

Deck Engineer R. M. Redemeyer, of Manhattan, member of Beecher's crew who had been bombed at Tarawa and torpedoed in the Atlantic, said of Reed, that "He can park his ship better than I can park my car."

Reed succeeded in taking the Beecher in tow, after the navy tug had failed. "Beecher Gums" army newspaper in publishing aboard ship was [illegible] in its praise after the Bean succeeded in getting a line aboard on December 9.

The Beecher signalled the Bean "a million thanks from 541 homeward bound GI's for getting us underway again and for your excellent seamanship."

But the men were not so thankful to the navy tug "Restorer", which answered their SOS Dec. 4, reached them at 8 a.m. Dec. 6 and got a towline aboard but had to give up when the line parted that night 320 miles northeast of Bermuda.

The men did not realize that the Restorer was only a lightly powered tug whose crew knew she was incapable of handling the bulky Beecher.

John J Tvedt, of Mobile, Ala., the Beecher's captain said his ship ran into a storm the first night out of Marseilles on Nov. 18. GIs were sick all over the ship, he said, and at 4 a.m. Dec. 4 everyone aboard was startled by a resounding crash which shook the entire vessel. The engines were shut off when it was found the propellor shaft had snapped leaving the ship wallowing helplessly in the heavy seas.

Lt. James Briscoe of Washington ,D.C. said the men's morale was good throughout the trip, except for the fact that they felt that the Navy had deserted them. Leo Agar, of Newton,Iowa, said "I hope I see my wife, Darline, for Christmas. It would be the first time in two years.

PFC Stanley Cycur,of Aliquippa, Pa., asked reporters to "tell the folks back home not to worry." Manuel Bagleri of Chicago said he knew there was going to be trouble the first day when the storm struck and everyone got seasick. Edward Flynn, of Somerville, Mass., voiced the sentiments of the entire ship by saying "I'll be glad to get home."

CHALK/RCA/

DEC 13 1945

a line aboard on December 9.

The Beecher signalled the Bean "a million thanks from 541 homeward bound GI's for getting us underway again and for your excellent seamanship."

But the men were not so thankful to the navy tug "Restorer", which answered their SOS Dec. 4, reached them at 8 a.m. Dec. 6 and got a towline aboard but had to give up when the line parted that night 320 miles northeast of Bermuda.

The men did not realize that the Restorer was only a lightly powered tug whose crew knew she was incapable of handling the bulky Beecher.

John J Tvedt, of Mobile, Ala., the Beecher's captain said his ship ran into a storm the first night out of Marseilles on Nov. 18. GI's were sick all over the ship, he said, and at 4 a.m. Dec. 4 everyone aboard was startled by a resounding crash which shook the entire vessel. The engines were shut off when it was found the propellor shaft had snapped leaving the ship wallowing helplessly in the heavy seas.

Lt. James Briscoe of Washington ,D.C' said the men's morale was good throughout the trip, except for the fact that they felt that the Navy had deserted them. Lee Agar, of Newton,Iowa, said "I hope I see my wife, Darline, for Christmas. It would be the first time in two years.

PFC Stanley Cycur,of Aliquippa, Pa., asked reporters to "tell the folks back home not to worry." Manuel Bagleri of Chicago said he knew there was going to be trouble the first day when the storm struck and everyone got seasick. Edward Flynn, of Somerville, Mass., voiced the sentiments of the entire ship by saying "I'll be glad to get home."

CHALK/RCA/

DEC 13 1945

AFFAIRS SINCE HIS FIRST JOURNEY TO MEXICO IN 1927, HE IS KNOWN PERSONALLY TO THE LEADING EDITORS AND WRITERS OF THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE WHO RESPECT HIM BECAUSE HE PERSONIFIES THEIR CONCEPT OF A NORTH AMERICAN GOOD NEIGHBOR."

NUNEZ, IN CHARGE OF EL UNIVERSAL FOR 25 YEARS, WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE NEWSPAPER'S "EDITORIAL INTEGRITY AND INDEPENDENCE AND UNWAVERING CHAMPIONSHIP OF INTER-AMERICAN UNDERSTANDING AND FRIENDSHIP," THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID.

NUNEZ, MINISTER TO ARGENTINA UNTIL 1944, DIRECTED THE NEWSPAPER THROUGHOUT THE GOMEZ DICTATORSHIP IN VENEZUELA "WITHOUT BEING CLOSED DOWN AND WITHOUT SUCCUMBING TO THE AVARICIOUS AND GRAFTING CLUTCHES OF THE DICTATOR," HIS CITATION REPORTED.

CHATEAUBRIAND'S DIARIOS ASSOCIADOS IS THE LARGEST NEWSPAPER CHAIN IN BRAZIL, WITH 28 NEWSPAPERS, 13 RADIO STATIONS, THREE MAGAZINES AND A NEWS AGENCY.

KNOWN AS A "FLYING JOURNALIST," HE WAS LARGELY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE GROWTH OF AVIATION IN BRAZIL. "HE HAS BEEN A STAUNCH DEFENDER OF THE UNITED NATIONS AND IS ON RECORD AS BEING ONE OF THE FIRST BRAZILIAN LEADERS TO URGE HIS COUNTRY'S PARTICIPATION IN WORLD WAR TWO IN 1939," THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID.

THE MARIA MOORS CABOT AWARDS WERE ENDOWED BY DR.GODFREY LOWELL CABOT OF BOSTON AS A MEMORIAL TO HIS WIFE. IN THE PAST SEVEN YEARS THEY HAVE BEEN AWARDED TO 19 NEWSPAPERS AND 20 JOURNALISTS IN 15 AMERICAN REPUBLICS.

DEC 1945

DN622AES

PHILADELPHIA, DEC 11-(AP)-FATHER DIVINE, NEGRO EVANGELIST, TODAY ACCEPTED FULL RESPONSIBILITY FOR ATOMIC ENERGY BUT SAID HE HAD IT IN HARNESS.

"I AM THE AUTHOR AND THE FINISHER OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY," FATHER DIVINE SAID IN A SERMON QUOTED IN HIS NEWSPAPER, "THE NEW DAY."

"I HAVE HARNESSED IT! I AM BRINGING ALL OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY INTO SUBJECTION AND BY IT I AM BRINGING OUT MANY INVENTIONS!"

JH11215AES

30.24 - 32361

OAK RIDGE, TENN., DEC. 11-(AP)-SIXTY HEAD OF CATTLE APPARENTLY SUFFERING FROM RADIATIONS CAUSED BY THE BLAST OF THE TEST ATOMIC BOMB NEAR LOS ALAMOS, N.M., ARE OAK RIDGE BOUND FOR OBSERVATION, THE KNOXVILLE JOURNAL SAYS.

SOME OF THE 20 COWS AND 40 CALVES, WHICH WERE DESCRIBED AS TURNED GREY AND IN A WEAKENED CONDITION AT KANSAS CITY WHERE THEY WERE FED AND WATERED TODAY, WERE RED HEREFORDS WHICH LOST THEIR HAIR, AN OAK RIDGE SPOKESMAN SAID. WHEN THE HAIR GREW OUT AGAIN IT WAS WHITE, HE STATED.

THE CATTLE ARE CONSIGNED TO COL.STANLEY L.STEWART, AREA ENGINEER AT LOS ALAMOS, AND WILL BE RECEIVED HERE IN HIS NAME.

BE1147PS NM

(ADVANCE)..WASHINGTON,DEC.11-(AP)-FIFTY-FOUR MEMBERS OF LOCAL DRAFT BOARDS IN EACH STATE AND TERRITORY WILL RECEIVE MEDALS FROM PRESIDENT TRUMAN ON JAN.21.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE TODAY DISCLOSED PLANS FOR THE CEREMONY AND SAID THOSE TO RECEIVE THE MEDALS AT THE WHITE HOUSE WILL BE CHOSEN THROUGH DRAWINGS. THE AWARDS TO VOLUNTEER BOARD WORKERS WERE AUTHORIZED BY CONGRESS IN RECOGNITION OF THEIR PATRIOTIC SERVICE.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE DRAWINGS WILL BE MADE BY STATE AND TERRITORIAL GOVERNORS AND SELECTIVE SERVICE DIRECTORS.

THE WHITE HOUSE PRESENTATION WILL BE A PRELUDE TO SIMILAR CEREMONIES IN THE STATES AND TERRITORIES. AT THESE, MEDALS WILL BE AWARDED TO OTHER SELECTIVE SERVICE PERSONNEL.

MEMBERS OF LOCAL BOARDS, GOVERNMENT APPEAL AGENTS, MEMBERS OF APPEAL BOARDS AND OTHERS "WHO HAVE FAITHFULLY SERVED" WITHOUT PAY FOR MORE THAN TWO YEARS ARE ELIGIBLE FOR MEDALS, SELECTIVE SERVICE SAID.

(END ADVANCE FOR AMS OF WEDNESDAY,DEC.12).

EG539PES

DEC 12 1945

MIAMI, FLA., DK. 11-(AP)-THE MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF SIX NAVY PLANES AND 27 CREWMEN REMAINED UNSOLVED TODAY AS THE NAVY CALLED OFF ONE OF THE MOST INTENSIVE SEARCHES OF ITS KIND EVER CONDUCTED ALONG THE ATLANTIC SEABOARD.

AS DUSK SETTLED LAST NIGHT, THE NAVY ANNOUNCED THAT ITS GREAT HUNT WHICH HAD SENT HUNDREDS OF PLANES AND VESSELS OVER THOUSANDS OF SQUARE MILES OF LAND AND SEA WAS ENDED.

AT THE SAME TIME, THE NAVY ASKED SHIPS AND AIRCRAFT OPERATING IN THE AREA BETWEEN KEY WEST AND JACKSONVILLE TO CONTINUE TO KEEP A LOOKOUT FOR ANY POSSIBLE CLUES.

FOURTEEN OF THE MISSING AIRMEN WERE ABOARD FIVE AVENGER TORPEDO BOMBERS WHICH FAILED TO RETURN TO THEIR BASE AT FORT LAUDERDALE FROM A NAVIGATIONAL TRAINING FLIGHT LAST WEDNESDAY. THE OTHER 13 WERE LOST WHEN A MARTIN MARINER PATROL BOMBER DISAPPEARED WHILE HUNTING FOR THE FIVE.

DEC 12 1945

FP446AES

DENVER, DEC.11-(AP)-ROBERT E.HANNEGAN, CHAIRMAN OF THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL COMMITTEE, ACCUSED THE REPUBLICANS TONIGHT OF BRINGING OUT A "FAKE PLATFORM" AT CHICAGO LAST WEEK.

IT PLEDGED SUPPORT OF THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION, HE SAID IN AN ADDRESS PRPARED FOR A BANQUET GIVEN HIM BY COLORADO DEMOCRATS. BUT SEVERAL LEADING REPUBLICANS CAST THEIR VOTES IN THE SENATE AGAINST AMERICAN PARTICIPATION IN THE UNO, HANNEGAN DECLARED.

"THE PARTY DOES NOT CHOOSE TO MAKE ITS STAND CLEAR TO THE PEOPLE," SAID THE DEMOCRATIC CHIEF, WHO ALSO IS POSTMASTER GENERAL.

"WHETHER THE ENEMIES OF WORLD PEACE CAN UNDERMINE IT, WHETHER IT IS TO BE KILLED ONCE MORE BY THE OLD REPUBLICAN FORMULA OF AMENDMENT AND REVISION OR WHETHER IT LIVES TO GUARD AMERICA FROM THE HELL OF ATOMIC WARFARE, WILL DEPEND UPON THE KIND OF MEN WE ELECT NEXT NOVEMBER."

DEC 12 1945

HANNEGAN SAID THE REPUBLICANS ADOPTED PLANKS FAVORING ADEQUATE NATIONAL DEFENSE AND PUBLIC HEALTH, BUT FAILED TO SUGGEST SPECIFIC ACTION FOR CARRYING OUT THEIR IDEAS.

HANNEGAN QUOTED REP.HALLECK (R-IND), CHAIRMAN OF THE G.O.P. CONGRESSIONAL CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE, AS SAYING THAT IN THE 1946 CAMPAIGN THE PARTY MUST GO BACK "TO OLD-FASHIONED CONSERVATISM."

"WHEN WE HAVE A RECORD OF THE PAST BEFORE US," CONTINUED THE DEMOCRATIC LEADER, "AND THE PAGES OF THAT RECORD ARE BLACK WITH TRAGEDY AND DISASTER TO THE PEOPLE, AND A PARTY LEADERSHIP TELLS US IT WANTS TO GO BACK TO THE WAYS OF THAT PAST, THEN THERE IS NO QUESTION, THERE REMAINS NO BENEFIT OF DOUBT TO BE GIVEN. WE KNOW EXACTLY WHERE SUCH A PARTY STANDS.

"THAT IS THE POSITION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY TODAY, AND THE FAKE PLATFORM BROUGHT OUT AT CHICAGO DOES NOT CHANGE IT."

JQ1014PCS NM

UNDATED ASIATIC

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OCCUPATION OF MANCHURIA'S STRATEGIC CITIES BY CHINESE GOVERNMENT TROOPS APPEARED IN SIGHT TODAY AFTER WEEKS OF TENSE NEGOTIATIONS, BUT IN STRIFE-TORN JAVA INDONESIAN LEADERS THREATENED MORE DRASTIC RESISTANCE.

RUSSIA WAS REPORTED BY THE CHINESE CENTRAL NEWS AGENCY TO HAVE AGREED TO THE AIRBORNE OCCUPATION OF CHANGCHUN, THE MANCHURIAN CAPITAL; MUKDEN, THE TERRITORY'S LARGEST CITY (POP. 863,000); AND HARBIN, IN THE NORTH.

CHINESE COMMUNISTS HAD SOUGHT TO TAKE OVER THOSE CITIES AND OTHERS IN THE TERRITORY.

IN JAVA, PREMIER SUTAN SJAHRIR OF THE UNRECOGNIZED INDONESIAN REPUBLIC SAID ANY BRITISH ATTEMPT TO LAND MORE FORCES WOULD BE RESISTED FIERCELY. THE NATIVE LEADER SOETOMO THREATENED THE USE OF POISON AND ARMS.

MEANWHILE, IT WAS ANNOUNCED THAT ACTING-GOVERNOR GENERAL H.J. VAN MOOK OF THE NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES WOULD LEAVE THURSDAY FOR THE HAGUE.

IN TOKYO IT WAS ANNOUNCED THAT THE FIRST OF 300 JAPANESE UNDERLINGS CHARGED WITH ATROCITIES AGAINST ALLIED WAR PRISONERS WOULD BEGIN DEC. 18.

ANNOUNCEMZNT OF THE SPEEDED-UP SCHEDULE, HOWEVER, LEFT UNDETERMINED THE DATE WHEN FORMER PREMIER HIDEKI TOJO -- TOP MAN ON THE LIST OF SUSPECTED ORIENTAL WAR CRIMINALS -- WILL FACE TRIAL.

LT. GEN. C.P. HALL, ACTING U.S. EIGHTH ARMY COMMANDDER, SAID THAT TRIALS OF JAPANESE ACCUSED OF ATROCITIES MIGHT BE CONDUCTED CONCURRENTLY AFTER THE FIRST BEGINS NEXT TUESDAY IN YOKOHOMA, WHERE THREE COURTROOMS NOW ARE AVAILABLE.

WW737APS

NM

STRIKES AT A GLANCE (140)

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(CX) NATION'S LABOR DISPUTES KEEP IDLE AROUND 400,000.

MAJOR LABOR DEVELOPMENTS:

AUTOMOBILES--WAGE NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS AND FORD MOTOR COMPANY OPEN TOMORROW AS UNION OFFERS PLAN FOR PREVENTING WILDCAT STRIKES; GENERAL MOTORS TERMINATES CONTRACT WITH UNION AS WALKOUT INVOLVING 213,000 WORKERS CONTINUES; NEGOTIATIONS ON NEW CONTRACT RESUMED.

STEEL--WAGE POLICY COMMITTEE OF CIO UNITED STEELWORKERS MEETS TODAY TO DECIDE DATE OF NATIONWIDE STEEL STRIKE, SAYS UNION SPOKESMAN, DISCLOSING WALKOUT OF ABOUT 650,000 STEELWORKERS IN 27 STATES OVER WAGE DISPUTE PROBABLY WILL BE CALLED "SOMETIME IN JANUARY."

ELECTRICAL--SLOWDOWN UNDERWAY IN 21 WESTERN ELECTRIC PLANTS IN NEW YORK AND NEW JERSEY, SAYS UNION SPOKESMAN; UNION TO DECIDE ON CALLING STRIKE IMMEDIATELY IN WAGE DISPUTE INVOLVING 19,000 WORKERS; NATION'S TELEPHONE WORKERS MAY BE ASKED TO JOIN IN WALKOUT.

--DASH--

U.S. Loan And Bretton Pact Approved By Commons

COMMONS ACCEPTS 4 BILLION U.S. LOAN

Vote Is 345 to 98 with Many Conservatives Refusing to Ballot

WHEELER

LONDON, Dec. 13 — (AP) The House of Commons voted tonight 345 to 98 in favor of accepting conditions of a $4,400,000,000 loan from the United States, which Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin asserted left many Britons with the "discomfort" of just coming from a money lender's office.

Scarcely a half hour after voting for the loan, which must win approval in the United States Congress before it is granted, Commons voted 314 to 50 for the Bretton Woods monetary stabilization agreement on its second reading. Three readings are necessary for final passage.

DEC 13 1945

Churchill, Bevin Clash

The voting, after two days of heated debate in which Labor government leaders argued that Britain must either accept the loan or go hungry, was climaxed by a last minute personal clash between Bevin and opposition leader Winston Churchill.

Many Conservative members heeded Churchill's plea to abstain from voting, on the grounds that a heavy vote in opposition by the Conservatives would be especially injurious to British interests in America.

Referring to earlier Conservative assertion that the Labor government got the worst of the bargain in the loan negotiations, Bevin pounded with his fist and roared:

"Is that a claim they (the Conservatives) would have got better terms?"

Amid the uproar Churchill retorted, "I certainly am of the opinion we could have got better terms."

"That's a libel on the administration of the United States!" Bevin shot back.

Then with pointed directness the foreign secretary said:

"I don't know anybody who ever came away from a money lender's office and calculated the repayments who felt comfortable. This discomfort is added to when catastrophe falls upon you after you have been a money lender yourself for so long."

Questions Ability to Pay

Churchill, speaking just before the vote, said there was not only bitter disappointment but also deep misgivings of consequences and of Britain's ability to meet obligations.

"I was astonished that the United States thinks it worth while to extract the equivalent of 1.62 per cent interest in the special circumstances in which we find ourselves," he said.

30.24-32363

"It is a pity we should have allowed a commercial loan agreement to be linked up and mixed up with other transactions. I don't like a mixture.

"I resent with every other member in this House the indecent haste in which these most serious and complex matters are thrust before us and have to be settled."

He said it was a cause of complaint that the Labor government allowed itself to be "browbeaten" on a matter of time, commenting that the date of Dec. 31 for ratification of the Bretton Woods agreement "has no special sanctity."

"I have never heard of any valid, solid reason why the Bretton Woods date could not have been revised or extended," Churchill protested.

CHURCHILL BITTER OVER LOAN TERMS

London, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared in the House of Commons tonight, just before the $4,400,000,000 Anglo-American loan agreement went to a vote, that he was bitterly disappointed, and that he had deep misgivings over Britain's ability to meet her obligations.

"I was astonished" he said, "that the United States think it worth while to exact the equivalent of 1.62 per cent interest in the special circumstances in which we find ourselves.

"It is a pity that we should have allowed a commercial loan agreement to be linked and mixed up with other transactions. I don't like mixtures. I resent with every other member in this House the indecent haste in which these most serious and complex matters are thrust before us and in which they have to be settled."

The agreement fixes the interest rate at 2 per cent, but provides that no interest shall be charged for the first five years, bringing the average rate down to the 1.62 per cent mentioned by Churchill.

Loan To Britain Called Insufficient

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Wallace B. Phillips, president of the American Chamber of Commerce in London has praise for the recently announced Anglo-American financial agreement but says the $3,750,000,000 loan would "by no stretch of the imagination be sufficient to meet Britain's full needs."

"England would need three times the amount of this loan to begin importing luxury goods from the United States," Phillips told the Advertising Clubs of New York yesterday.

ACCORD IS REACHED FOR INDEPENDENCE OF SYRIA, LEBANON

WILLIAMS

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(AP) France and Britain agreed today to withdraw their troops from troubled Syria and Lebanon, and to align closely their future policy in the Middle East.

Syrian forces, demanding complete independence from France, fought bloody clashes with the French seven months ago, and British troops intervened to restore order, leading to friction between the French and British governments.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, announcing the agreement in Commons, said French and British military experts would meet at Beyrouth Dec. 21 "to fix very early the first measures of evacuation."

In Paris, a Foreign office spokesman said the accord eliminated "the last vestiges" of the French mandate over Syria and Lebanon, adding that France had considered her mandate ended when the two Levant countries were admitted to the United Nations.

"The two governments have recognized that it was in their joint interest to encourage, within the framework of international collaboration, the economic well being and security of the peoples of the Middle East," Bevin's announcement said.

While the full terms of the accord were not disclosed either in London or Paris, the French spokesman said that the political portion embraced an agreement by France not to take any decision in the Middle East prejudicial to Britain, and vice versa.

Bevin told Commons that Britain and France were "equally desirous of assuring to Syria and Lebanon the full exercise of the independence proclaimed by France in 1942."

"They have decided jointly to examine the conditions for methodical regrouping and withdrawal of their military forces in this zone," he said.

Copies of the agreement were given to both the U. S. and Russian ambassadors in Paris.

The disturbances started last May when Syrian demands for complete independence from France developed into armed clashes. The French shelled Damascus, and 400 were reported killed and several hundred more wounded in sporadic outbursts.

TO RECALL TROOPS FROM THE LEVANT

London, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Foreign Minister Bevin told the House of Commons today that Britain and France have agreed to joint withdrawal of their troops from Syria and Lebanon.

Signed in London today, the agreement provides for close alignment of policy in the Near East with the object of settling the unrest marked seven months ago by armed clashes in a Syrian demand for independence from France.

"The two governments," said an official announcement, "have recognized that it was in their joint interest to encourage, within the framework of international collaboration, the economic well-being and security of the peoples of the Middle East."

The seven-months-old controversy over Syria and Lebanon began last May when Syrian demands for complete independence from France developed into armed clashes. The French shelled Damascus and more than 400 persons were reported killed and several hundred more were wounded in sporadic disturbances. The Syrians accused the French of reinforcing their troops in the midst of negotiations.

On June 1 former Prime Minister Churchill in a communication which the Paris press described as an ultimatum, announced British intervention in the dispute.

British and Free French forces had marched into the country on June 8, 1941, promising to grant independence. This independence was subsequently proclaimed by the French but the Allied forces continued to occupy the country because of war conditions, and the French mandate legally still remained in existence.

BRITAIN WILL RELAX MOST LABOR CONTROLS

LONDON, Dec. 13. — (AP) Britain's labor controls will be relaxed Dec. 20 except for men in essential industry and young men subject to military service, Labor Minister George Isaacs said today.

Women who left to their jobs during the war, will cease to be subject to labor except in nursing, midwifery, and some essential industries, he told Commons.

Generally, he said, controls will be restricted to men up to 30 years of age, but will continue for men up to 50 in building, civil engineering, agriculture, and nursing.

Gen. Bor Denies His Men Are Terrorists in Poland

Leader of '44 Uprising Cites Dissolution of His Army

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—Lieutenant General Tadeusz Komorowski, (Bar) former commander in chief of the Polish Home Army, denied today that members of his forces had engaged in terroristic activities in Poland.

[The Polish press agency on Wednesday quoted the Polish Minister of Public Security, Stanislaw Radzkiewicz, as charging that underground factions opposed to the Warsaw government were responsible for "a calculated program of assassinations of Polish political leaders."

Komorowski denied that the former Home Army had responsibility for violence in general, and of Jewish persecution in particular. The leader of the Warsaw uprising of 1944 against the Germans said the Polish Home Army had been dissolved after the liberation. He said: "This fact alone should serve to refute the allegations relative to Jews."

Urge Majority Vote On UNO Capital

London, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Norwegian delegates to the United Nations Preparatory Commission proposed today that the two-thirds majority rule on selection of a permanent world peace capital be abandoned and that a choice between the United States and Europe be determined on a straight majority basis.

Most delegates informally conceded that the United States would be assured of getting a majo on the first ballot.

BOMB DISPOSAL TEAM WORKS ON DUD MISSILE

LONDON, Dec. 13—(AP) Army engineers failed today to remove the fuse from an unexploded bomb that buried itself 40 feet deep in a South Coyton lumber yard nearly five years ago, and said its 3,000 pounds of TNT would have to be drained off.

Capt. G. F. Horsfall of Halifax, Royal engineers bomb disposal expert, and Lt. A. Frake went down a shaft, dug in 196 days of cautious excavation, to attempt to defuse the last known unexploded enemy bomb in England.

Horsfall reported that Frake removed two and one-half inches of fuse, the other two-thirds remaining imbedded in the bomb. All families living in the area were evacuated and nine bus lines were rerouted. Emptying the explosive charge, expected to take 12 hours, probably will be attempted Sunday.

Cmdr. Agar Quits London Posts

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—Commander Herbert Agar, former editor of "The Louisville Courier-Journal," today announced his resignation as director of the United States information service.

Agar, who was also special assistant to Ambassador John G. Winant, said he would return to the United States next Thursday.

By The Associated Press.

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 13—Dr. Karl Kobelt was elected by Parliament today as President of the Swiss Federal Council for 1946, succeeding Eduard von Steiger.

Dr. Kobelt was Vice President and Army Minister under M. von Steiger, and his elevation to the Presidency, according to Swiss tradition, was a foregone conclusion. He is a member of the Radical party.

Parliament elected Dr. Philippe Etter, present Interior Minister, Vice President.

Dr. Kobelt was born at Marbach, canton of St. Gall, on Aug. 1, 1891. He received his early education at Canton of St. Gaul, on Aug. 1, 1891. from the Federal Institute of Technology at Zurich, specializing in construction engineering. From 1914-17 he was assistant in this Swiss Technical University, in the department for surveying, where he received his doctor's degree.

In 1933 Dr. Kobelt was elected to the State Senate. As such he was appointed Chief of the Building Department. He became a member of the House of Representatives in 1939.

Bretton Fee 'Costly'

Bern, Switzerland, Dec. 13 (AP)—Participation by Switzerland in the Bretton Woods agreement would be a "costly" undertaking, Ernest Nobs, Federal councilor on finance, told the National Council (lower house of Parliament) today.

Nobs, a Socialist, made it clear he was discussing the financial aspects of the agreement and not the merits of the agreement itself.

He said that the "admission price" alone to the Bretton Woods organization for Belgium and The Netherlands was 2,000,000,000 Swiss francs each (about $47,000,000). That, Nobs asserted, would be a lot of money for Switzerland, which, although a neutral, found war conditions expensive.

U.S. Action To Gauge French Bread Ration

Paris, Dec. 13 (AP)—Frenchmen were informed today that the staple of the average family's diet, bread, again will be rationed after January 1, unless American wheat deliveries increase.

Pierre Tanguy-Prigent, Food Supply Minister, told a committee of the Constituent Assembly that, because of the poor harvest, and failure of promised shipments from the United States, ration cards would have to be reissued as long as shipments remain behind schedule. Bread rationing was ended only two months ago.

Paris Shuts Brothels—Pro-Nazi

PARIS, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Paris Municipal Council unanimously passed an ordinance today closing all houses of prostitution. The ordinance declared that the houses had collaborated with the Germans during the Nazi occupation. Persons close to the Council said this marked the first time in French history that such a law had been passed.

2 MORE DIVISIONS SAIL FOR HOME

PARIS, Dec. 13—(AP) The final detachments of the 36th and 89th Infantry divisions are aboard ship en route home from Europe, U. S. Army authorities said today. The first elements sailed several days ago.

Members of the 82d airborne division, scheduled to parade in New York in January, have begun movement from Le Havre to England, and are expected to sail late this month.

Meanwhile, advance elements of the 100th Infantry division were arriving at the Le Havre staging area.

The Army said the last of the 79th division was at sea, with most of it home, and that the 26th Infantry division and the 16th corps were at sea en route. A major part of the 90th Infantry division also was on its way across.

Alerted outfits, not yet moved into staging areas, include the 29th, 84th, and 94th Infantry and Second Armored divisions, and the 22nd corps headquarters.

Allied Control Council Felicitates Eisenhower

Ex-Colleagues Send Message on His Promotion

BERLIN, Dec. 13 (AP).—Members of the four-power Allied Control Council for Germany today cabled to their former colleague, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, congratulations on his appointment as Chief of Staff of the United States Army and assured him they would always remember him "with affection and admiration."

The text of the message, signed by Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Field Marshall Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Lieutenant General Joseph-Pierre Koenig and General Joseph T. McNarney follows:

"The members of the control council send you their heartiest congratulations and best wishes on the assumption of your new and high responsibilities. They wish you a most happy Christmas and prosperous New Year. They will always remember you with affection and admiration for the high example you have set for international understanding and good will."

the establishment of any kind of central agency, agreed to the plan and to another measure which would establish under four-power control a hydrographic institute to produce data for safe navigation of German waters by ships of all nations.

Unity Sought

American authorities, meanwhile, continued to press for unification of transportation and for a unified policy on taxation, foreign exchange, customs and currency regu-

British Press in Red Zone

Russians Invite Visits From Reporters and M. P.s

BERLIN, Dec. 13 (AP).—The Russians have agreed to admit British correspondents into the Soviet occupation zone in Germany, a British official said today. Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, commander of Russian occupation forces in Germany, also has invited British Parliament members to visit the Russian zone when they come to Germany to inspect the British zone, the announcement said.

Four American correspondents who have been invited to cisit the Soviet zone presented to the Russians today an itinerary for a ten-day tour starting next Monday.

36 DACHAU HEADS ARE SENTENCED TO

Reich Wire Services Will Be Centralized

KASISCHKE

Berlin, Dec. 13 (AP)—Allied authorities, still deadlocked on the creation of central administrative agencies in Germany, were agreed today on a plan which is at least a long step in the direction of a central communication system.

The plan, approved yesterday by the Allied Control authority's coordinating committee, calls for the organization of interurban telephone and telegraph service between the four occupation zones and provides that messages pass through "central" telephone and telegraph exchanges.

The French, who have opposed

DEATH BY HANGING

DOANE

DACHAU, Germany, Dec. 13. —(AP) Death by hanging was decreed today for 36 men of the notorious Dachau concentration camp staff, including Commandant Martin Weiss and Dr. Karl Schilling, for atrocities against inmates during their horror regime.

Of the other four defendants, one was sentenced by the U. S. military court to life imprisonment, and three were sentenced to 10 years each.

The accused took their sentence stoically although several bowed their heads when the verdict was read. Schilling later broke down and cried. In the audience of 400 German civilians, a few friends and relatives of the prisoners wept.

The Dachau sentences were stiffer than those imposed by a British court at the Belsen concentration camp trial of 44 men and women. Eleven of the Belsen personnel were sentenced to hang, 14 were acquitted and 19 given prison terms, including one for life. The execution date for Joseph Kramer and Irma Grese, "king" and "queen" of Belsen, and their aides has not been announced.

The life sentence today was given to Peter Betz, a guard against whom there was little evidence of personal cruelty. Ten-year terms were imposed on Hugo Lausterer, who, witnesses testified, was kind to prisoners; Albin Gretsch who was drafted into the SS and against whom no personal accusations of cruelty were made; and Johan Schoepp, drafted from the Romanian army by the SS.

Schilling, accused of killing hundreds of inmates in malaria experiments, blinked his eyes and bowed his bearded head when he heard the death verdict pronounced by Brig. Gen. John M. Lenz, who presided over the court of eight army officers.

Three of the 36 were former prisoners at Dachau, but had been accused by witnesses of many brutalities while working for the SS. They were Christof Knoll, Emil Mahl and Fritz Becher. Four other camp doctors, sentenced to death along with Schilling, were accused of wilful neglect of sanitary conditions, even in the face of disastrous epidemics.

"The evidence has convinced the court beyond doubt that the Dachau concentration camp subjected its inmates to killings, beatings, tortures, indignities and starvation to an extent that necessitates the indictment of everyone high or low, who had anything to do with the conduct of the camp," Lenz said, before announcing the sentences.

Although conceding that "many acts committed at Dachau clearly had the sanction of the highest Reich officials, laws and customs," Lenz dismissed the defendants plea of acting under orders.

"In the view of this court, when a sovereign state lifts itself above the reasonably recognized and constituted international laws or is willing to transcend the recognized customs of humane, decent treatment of persons, then the individuals effecting such policies must be held responsible for their part in such violations," he declared.

36 Dachau Defendants to Die

U. S. Court Sentences Three More to Ten Years' Imprisonment and 40th to Life.

DOANE

Dachau, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—The United States Military Court today sentenced thirty-six officials and guards at the notorious Dachau concentration camp to death by hanging for the murder, torture and starvation of thousands of the camp's inmates. Another defendant was sentenced to life imprisonment and three others were sentenced to terms of ten years' imprisonment.

The four defendants were convicted yesterday. The tribunal debated only ninety minutes before bringing in its verdict. Among those convicted were five camp doctors and three prisoners who had collaborated with the SS.

Witnesses at the trial said that 5,000 Jews were killed at Dachau; that inmates were brutally beaten; that naked men were immersed in ice water for purposes of experiment, and that some men were sent to the crematory while still alive. The camp was the most notorious and most feared of the concentration camps set up by the Nazis for political prisoners.

The men who operated the horror camp received their sentences calmly for the most part, only a few showing any change of expression.

The life sentence went to Peter Metz, a guard, against whom there was little evidence of personal cruelty. Ten-year terms were given Hugo Lausterer, who was said by witnesses to have been kind to prisoners; Albin Gretsch, who was drafted into the SS and against whom no personal accusations of cruelty were made, and Johann Schoepp, who was drafted from the Romanian Army by the SS and assigned to guard the Dachau Tower.

Dr. Klaus Karl Schilling, 74, who killed many prisoners in experiments through which he sought a malaria vaccine, and SS officer Martin Weiss, commandant of the camp, were among the thirty-six sentenced to die. Schilling, who last week begged the court for time to complete his experimental records, blinked his eyes rapidly and bowed his bearded head when he heard the words: "Death by hanging."

Weiss smiled and later on chatted as the prisoners shook hands with their attorneys, four United States Army officers and a German civilian lawyer.

Among the others sentenced to die were Leonhard Eichberger and Sylvester Filleboeck, SS guards, accused specifically of participating in the execution of ninety-five captive Russian officers; Johann Kick, in whose office nails were reported torn from the toes and fingers of captives during interrogation; and Franz Boettger. Three others condemned had themselves been prisoners at Dachau, accused by witnesses of brutalities while used to boss prison work parties. They were Emil Mahl, Christof Knoll and Fritz Becher.

of the 21 top Nazis able to view the exhibits for any length of time. He leaned forward and inspected them with considerable interest.

Ghetto Film Shown

In addition to the shrunken head and lamp shades, the latter made at the Buchenwald camp to satisfy the whim of the wife of one of the guards, the court was shown a captured roll of German movie film taken in a Ghetto somewhere in Europe.

The film showed women being stripped naked and chased through the streets while S.S. (elite guard) troops and German soldiers stood by enjoying the scene. The film recorded floggings and in one instance showed a civilian dragging a woman by her hair.

The preserved head, reduced to the size of a baseball, was that of a Pole who had been caught fraternizing with a German girl. The lamp shades were made from skin of prisoners at Buchenwald, who were selected because they had the best tattoo work on them, then killed by injections, affidavits by former inmates at the Buchenwald camp said.

The prosecution also introduced statements of the defendants showing their intention of doing away with the Jews of Europe.

Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, chief exponent of Nazi race ideology, was quoted as urging Hitler in 1941: "Instead of executing a hundred Frenchmen, let us execute a hundred Jewish bankers."

Hermann Goering was quoted as exclaiming after the slaying of Ernest von Rath, a German embassy staff member, in Paris in 1938: "These pigs will not commit another murder—I would not like to be a Jew in Germany."

Liquidation of Jews Ordered

Hans Frank, former governor-

among others mentioned for their part in the campaign to exterminate Jews.

The grimly exhibits and cold recitation of murder had a tendency to eliminate the little gabfests which customarily take place among the defendants.

Goering sat as if dazed. The usually jaunty Rosenberg, his elbows on his knees and his fists clenched, stared at the floor. Frank held his face in his hands.

The prosecution contended that the persecution of the Jews was part of the Nazi policy to wage aggressive warfare by eliminating internal elements which might be opposed to war. Police messages from the notorious Reinhard Heydrich, the assassinated hangman of Bavaria, were produced to show that the Nazi outrages against the Jews in various cities were centrally directed.

Earlier today the prosecution produced the "death books" of the notorious Mauthausen camp in Austria.

These ledgers recorded the deaths of more than 35,000 inmates from 1939 to 1945. U. S. Assistant Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd called the court's attention to a single day's entries where 203 men were all listed as having died of "heart trouble."

"They died at regular brief intervals," Dodd said. "They died in alphabetical order."

Concentration Camp Horrors Depicted at Nuernberg Trial

GALLAGHER

NUERNBERG, Dec. 13—(AP) A shrunken human head and lamp shades made of human skin were submitted as evidence at the war crimes trial today. Sickened Nazi leaders slumped sullenly in the dock as the American prosecution unfolded the grim tale of concentration camp horrors.

Jew-baiter Julius Streicher, singled out by the prosecution for the first time today, was the only one general of Poland, was disclosed to have told his subordinates in a speech to "liquidate the Jews yourselves, and don't bother the higher ups." He said there were 3,500,000 Jews in Poland, "too many to shoot or poison, but we'll get rid of them somewhere."

The names of Baldur von Schirach, Hitler's youth leader, former Foreign Minister Konstanin von Neurath, Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick, and Rudolf Hess were

Shrunken Head Evidence At War Trial

NORGAARD

Nuernberg, Dec. 13 (AP)—A preserved human head and lamp shades made of human skin were presented as evidence of atrocities in Nazi concentration camps at the war-crimes trial of 21 top German war leaders today.

The grisly exhibits were added to the Germans' own records of murder and brutality placed before the four-power International Military Tribunal by Allied prosecutors charging the one-powerful Nazi humanity."

Relating the already-revealed horrors of the notorious concentration camps at Mathausen and Buchenwald, United States Assistant Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd declared that "we feel no argument is necessary to support our statement that the Nazi conspirators used these concentration camps as places of terror."

30.24-32365

Like Head Hunters' Trophy

The preserved human head, shrunk to the size of a baseball and resembling the war trophy of an aboriginal head hunter, was that of a Pole who had been caught fraternizing with a German girl.

The three pieces of human skin tanned into parchment for lampshades for the wife of SS Standartenführer Koch came from victims at Buchenwald selected because of their "artistic" tattooing, according to an affidavit by a former inmate of the concentration camp.

"In 1939 all prisoners with tattooing on them were ordered to report to the dispensary," the affidavit said. "No one knew what the purpose was. Bu tafter the tattooed prisoners were examined, the ones with the best and most artistic specimens were kept in the dispensary and then were killed by injections."

Poles Hanged

Telling of the shrunken heads, the former inmate was quoted in the affidavit as saying: "I also saw the shrunken heads of two young Poles who had been hanged for having had relations with Jewish girls. The heads were the size of a fist and the hair and marks of the rope were still there."

Jew-baiter Julius Streicher, alone of all the defendants, remained unmoved. The others averted their eyes but from time to time stole glances at the barbaric trophies.

The "death ledgers" of the Mauthausen camp recorded the deaths of more than 35,000 inmates from 1939 to 1945. On March 19, 1945, 203 persons died in twelve hours, the records showed.

Death Of Morton

Mauthausen was the camp where Joseph Morton, Associated Press war correspondent, according to available evidence, was executed last winter on the signed order of Secret Police Chief Ernst Kaltenbrunner, one of the 21 defendants. An American Army investigator declared that the camp "was conducted with the sole purpose in mind of exterminating any so-called prisoner who entered within its walls."

Another report said thirteen American and British parachutists were hanged at the Flossenberg concentration camp after their capture.

A statement from a Budapest Zionist leader disclosed that Hungarian Jews who were too young or too old to serve as slave laborers were automatically consigned to death in concentration camp gas chambers.

American prosecutors introduced the affidavitt of Rudolph Kastner, leader of a Hungarian Zionist organization, reporting that SS troops seized 475,000 Hungarian Jews in 1944 and transported them to the Reich in "death trains."

"Children up to the age of 12 or 14 and older people above 50, as well as the sick or people with criminal records, were taken immediately on their arrival (at Oswiecim concentration camp) to the gas chambers," Kastner declared in his affidavit.

Passed On By Doctor

"The others passed before an SS doctor who, on sight, indicated who was fit for work and who was not. Those unfit were sent to the gas chambers while the others distributed in various labor camps."

Disclosing another breach of in- Dodd produced a secret SS order showing the high command had directed that prisoners of war who escaped and were later recaptured should be transported to the Mauthausen prison camp and their fate kept secret from the International Red Cross.

British and American prisoners were exempted from the treatment by the order. It said inquiries of the Red Cross concerning the fate of recaptured prisoners of other nationalities were to be answered with the reply, "Escaped and not captured."

Dachau Hanging Order

Brutality in the concentration camps began early, Dodd declared. He produced orders posted at Dachau in 1933 directing death by hanging for inmates who participated in any kind of agitation or attempted to establish contact with the outside world.

Defendant Wilhelm Frick, former Nazi Minister of Justice, gave the Gestapo power over the concentration camps and decreed that the secret police should provide "protective custody for those deemed enemies of the state," according to German documents filed as evidence.

An affidavit by Gerhart H. Segar, editor of the New Volkszeitung, New York German-language newspaper, quoted Frick as saying in 1942: "Don't worry; when we are in power we shall put all of you guys in concentration camps."

Other evidence submitted today showed Nazis used prisoners of war as munition plant workers in violation of international law.

PW Labor Report

American prosecutors produced documents showing that the defendant Fritz Sauckel, the Nazi slave-labor boss, reported in June, 1943, that prisoners of war formed a large element of the 800,000 foreign workers drafted for forced labor in armament plants in the previous five months.

Revealing that Hitler's policy of enslavement of conquered peoples met with resistance, Sauckel declared in the report filed as evidence that "unfortunately quite a number of our officials and employés were victims of murders and attacks by Partisans."

Speer Recommendation

A recommendation by Albert Speer, another defendant and former Nazi Munitions Minister, that prisoners of war who escaped and were recaptured be sent to factories as "convicts" was read to the court.

Opening the prosecution's attack on Nazi concentration camps, Dodd declared operation of the camps represented the "commission of crimes against humanity on a grand scale."

The prosecution, Dodd said, did not intend to catalogue all concentration camp atrocities but would outline the broad uses of the camps by the Nazis.

"The Nazis realized early that without the most drastic measures to repress opposition they could never consolidate their power," he said.

Campaign Against Jews

Taking up the case on Nazi persecution of the Jews, William F. Walsh, an American assistant prosecutor, quoted article after article from Streicher's newspaper, Die Stuermer, to show Streicher's campaign of hate against the Jews.

Walsh produced German police messages showing that Hitler's agents inspired the wave of anti-Jewish terrorism that broke out in 1938 after the assassination of Ernst vom Rath, secretary of the German Embassy in Paris. One message from Reinhard Heydrich, chief of the German Security Police, directed that "synagogues are to be burned down only when there is no danger of fire to surroundings."

Walsh quoted Alfred Rosenberg, official Nazi philosopher, as writing in 1944: "The Jewish question will be solved for Europe only when the last Jew has left the European continent."

SURGEONS IN HOPE PATTON WILL WALK DESPITE INJURIES

R. O'REGAN

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 13.—(AP) Army surgeons attending Gen. George S. Patton said tonight there was "a good chance" he might be able to walk again, but cautioned that there "is always the possibility" the general might be crippled for life.

Col. Lawrence C. Ball, Harlan, Ky., commanding officer in the Army hospital where Patton lies paralyzed from the neck down, said there was a growing confidence among American and British specialists that the 15th Army commander would pull through.

"It might take a few days, a few weeks, or several months," said Ball.

Time Needed for Recovery

He said the dislocation of the vertebrae in Patton's neck was reduced, but it was still impossible to determine how much damage had been done to the spinal cord. He explained that time alone would tell whether Patton would again be able to walk.

A night medical bulletin—the briefest yet—said only: "Gen. Patton has had a comfortable day. His condition is progressing satisfactorily."

Mrs. Patton, who flew to her husband's bedside after the auto-truck crash Sunday in which he was injured, spent most of the afternoon with him, indicating a general improvement in his condition. She was able to talk with him for 10 minutes during the morning.

Both Drivers Careless

Meanwhile, the 118th Military Police company issued a report saying that in the opinion of investigating officers the accident was caused "by carelessness on the part of both drivers." Both, however, were listed as excellent drivers and they were returned to their units with no disciplinary action taken.

The drivers were Pfc. Horace Woodring, 19, Sturgis, Ky., Patton's chauffeur, and T/5 Robert Thompson, 20, Camden, N. J., who was at the wheel of the truck. The report said Thompson had signalled for a left turn before the crash.

Maj. Gen. Hobart R. Gay, with Patton at the time of the accident, yelled "sit tight!" to Patton just before the crash, the report said.

"Gen. Patton was apparently thrown forward and then backward," Gay said. "He was bleeding profusely from a wound of the scalp and forehead."

Army authorities said that Patton, who had been scheduled to go home for a Christmas furlough early next week, was visited by the Rev. Andrew White, Wilmington, Delaware Catholic chaplain for the Seventh Army, just after the accident.

Patton, who first thought his caller was an old friend, the Rev. James O'Neill, former Third Army chaplain, said "send him in and let's get going."

Father White said today Patton apparently wanted the ministrations of a churchman, so White read the prayer for the sick and Patton thanked him.

Yesterday the general was visited by the hospital's Episcopal chaplain, the Rev. William R. Price. Patton is an Episcopalian.

Patton Is Given a Good Chance

But Doctor Says It Is Still Impossible to Determine Damage to Spinal Cord.

Heidelberg, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—The commanding officer of the United States Army Hospital, where Gen. George S. Patton Jr. is under treatment for paralysis, said there was "a good chance" that the American commander might be on his feet again.

The fracture of the vertebra in Patton's neck was reduced, he said, but it is still impossible to determine how much damage was done to the spinal cord. Doctors in attendance said the general had spent a good night and that his general condition remained satisfactory, with no complications.

The hospital commandant, Col. Lawrence C. Ball, said there was general confidence among the doctors that the injured commander of the United States Fifteenth Army would pull through, although it might take "a few days, a few weeks or several months." He said there was also "always the possibility that Patton might never be able to walk again."

Wife Visits General.

Mrs. Patton talked with her husband for ten minutes this morning, and spent most of the afternoon sitting by his bedside.

Col. Glen Spurling, chief attendant surgeon, announced at 6 P. M. that the General's condition was "progressing satisfactorily." A medical bulletin this afternoon said that Patton had a comfortable day. He was described earlier as "cheerful and alert."

A noon bulletin said there had been no marked change in the paralysis from which the General is suffering as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident near Mannheim last Sunday.

Neither Driver Held.

Meanwhile the 118th Military Police Company reported that in the opinion of investigating officers "the accident was caused by carelessness on the part of both drivers" in the collision of the General's car and a truck.

The drivers were Pfc. Horace Woodring, 19 years old of Sturgis, Ky., Patton's chauffeur, and T/s Robert Thompson, 20 of 3095 Highland avenue Camden, N. J., who was at the wheel of the truck.

Both, however, were listed as excellent drivers. The report said the two returned to their units and that no disciplinary action had been taken. The Military Police said no reason was found to hold either Thompson or Woodring. The report said the truck driver had signaled for a left turn before the crash.

ENROUTE TO SEE PATTON

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—(AP) Frederick Ayer, Boston business man and brother-in-law of Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., left La Guardia field by Pan American Airway Trans-Atlantic plane today en route to Heidelberg, Germany, where he will visit the injured general. He said his sister, wife of the general, had requested him to come to Germany.

Dutch Traitor a Suicide

THE HAGUE, Dec. 13 (AP).—Dr. R. van Genechten, sentenced to death as a traitor by a special Dutch tribunal on Oct. 17, hanged himself in his cell at Scheveningen Prison during the night. Dr. Van Genechten, who had been in charge of education in Holland during part of the German occupation, was awaiting a decision on his appeal of the death sentence.

Ryti Offers Defense At Finnish War Trial

U. S. Wanted Nation's Attitude if Norway Were Invaded

HELSINKI, Dec. 13 (AP).—Risto Ryti, former President of Finland, said today in a defense speech at the Finnish war guilt trial that he was asked by the United States in 1943 what the Finnish reaction would be to an American invasion of northern Norway.

In a diplomatic note which reached the Finns through the American Legation at Lisbon, Portugal, the Americans also wanted to know what action Finland would take to get rid of their German brothers-in-arms, Ryti said.

Ryti said the Finns, in answer, declared they would not fight against American troops unless the Americans let the Russians invade Finland and that the government would begin deliberations with the Germans on their evacuation of Finland.

BYRNES FLIGHT EAST DELAYED

Muscovites Show Great Interest In Conference

GILMORE

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The

Moscow radio, on the eve of the foreign ministers' conference in Russia, tonight restated the Soviet view that the occupation of Japan should be a joint Allied affair, BBC reported.

The broadcast said Japan could only be effectively subjugated by a joint control board of all the Allies, including Russia, and added that Russia's help was needed in re-educating the Japanese people so that they might eventually re-enter the family of nations.

Moscow, Dec. 13 (AP) — Bad weather delayed Secretary of State Byrnes, expected here today, and he may not reach this snowbound capital for the Big Three foreign secretaries' conference until the week end, a United States Embassy spokesman said today.

Muscovites show great popular interest in the conference, which is scheduled to open Saturday, and which will deal with such prime questions as atomic energy and perhaps Germany, the Orient, peace treaties, Iran and the Dardanelles. However, Moscow's people are not being built up to expect great things of the conference. There is an atmosphere of wait and let's see what happens.

(Byrnes' plane made a two hour stop-over at Orly airfield in Paris today to re-fuel.

(In London it was announced that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin expects to leave by air tomorrow for Moscow, and en route may stop in Berlin to consult with members of the Allied Control council.)

The British and American embassies in Moscow are planning to hold regular press conferences for guidance, background and spot news concerning the sessions.

The relaxation in Soviet censorship, initiated several months ago, no longer exists and all stories must be submitted to censorship.

Correspondents will request that during the meeting, or at its close, they be permitted to hold conferences with Byrnes, Bevin and Molotov.

Two-Hour Stopover In Paris

Paris, Dec. 13 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes, flying to the Moscow conference of foreign ministers, made a two-hour stopover in Paris late today while his plane refueled.

Jefferson Caffery, United States Ambassador, talked with Byrnes at the field until the plane took off for Moscow.

Bevin To Fly To Moscow

London, Dec. 13 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin plans to leave by air tomorrow for the foreign ministers' conference in Moscow. He was expected to travel via Berlin, for stopover consultations with chiefs of the Allied Control Council.

Going with Bevin to assist in the Moscow discussions will be B. J. Dixon, his principal private secretary; V. G. Lawford, assistant private secretary; Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent under secretary to the Foreign Office; Sir Ronald Ian Campbell, assistant under secretary; J. Sterndale Bennett, head of the Foreign Office's Far East Department; W. Hayter, head of the South European Department; J. G. Ward, chief of the Reconstruction Department, and Sir Anthony Rumbold, expert on French affairs, who will be secretary to the delegation.

POOR WEATHER SLOWS BYRNES TRIP TO SOVIET

Secretary's Plane Lands at Paris Airfield to Refuel.

HE MEETS U. S. ENVOY

Russian People Look Forward to Big Three Talks With Great Interest.

Moscow, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—A United States Embassy spokesman said today that Secretary of State Byrnes and his party, en route here for three-Power talks, had been delayed by bad weather. He said the group might arrive as late as Sunday. Previously, Byrnes had been expected to arrive today.

[Byrnes made a two-hour stopover in Paris late today while his plane refueled. United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery talked with Byrnes at the airfield until the plane took off for Moscow.]

Great public interest in Russia centered on the forthcoming conference of Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Bevin and Foreign Commissar Molotov.

To the average Muscovite the decision to have the meeting and to hold it in Moscow came as no surprise. Interviews with numerous Soviet citizens showed that they understand the background and purposes of the talks, which are scheduled to start Saturday.

Sees Co-operation.

Maria M. Ivanova, 48-year-old housewife, said she was glad the meeting was being held "because it shows international co-operation is still taking place."

"I was glad to read they expect to talk about atomic energy" she said. "I don't like the idea of the atomic bomb, but the use of atomic energy is fascinating and I would like to live to see it put into good practical use for the benefit of every one.

"I hope they talk about what's going on in Germany, too. I read in the papers that the British, in their occupation zone, have kept German armed forces together. Naturally I am suspicious and would like to know why Britain allows a mutual enemy to have armed forces. It may be because she has not suffered as much as we have and has not seen such horrors and such destruction as we had."

Valintina I. Popova, 38, dressmaker, declared:

"Such meetings of foreign secretaries must take place every three months. I don't want to predict what the results will be, but, like everyone, I feel hopeful.

"I don't like the atomic bomb and wish with all my heart and soul that it had never been invented. I hate it and dread to think about the future if the atomic bomb is not outlawed or in some way limited or made useless. I hope the inventor of the atomic bomb never finds peace on this earth."

U.S., British Plan Press Parleys In Moscow

Moscow, Dec. 13 (AP)—The British and American embassies in Moscow are planning to hold regular press conferences for spot news and background guidance during the Foreign Ministers' Conference, scheduled to open here Saturday.

Any official statement on news policy at the conference, however, awaits the arrival of United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

The British delegation is bringing a veteran press relations official from the Foreign Office.

Anti-Red Demonstration Seen Planned In Iran

Moscow, Dec. 13 (AP)—A Tass dispatch from Tehran today quoted Iranian newspapers as reporting that former Iranian Premier Said Zia Eddin planned to stage demonstrations during religious mourning days December 15-16, possibly involving the use of military units.

The dispatch, describing the former Premier as the well-known foreign agent, asserted he was rounding up vagrants and rowdies for use on this occasion. Tass said Zia Edden is regarded in Moscow as bitterly anti-Soviet.

[In Tehran Tuesday Zia Eddin—attacked by pro-Soviet newspapers—declared he had no intention of withdrawing from Parliament, because such a move would enable the Russians "to realize their anti-Persian aims quicker." He said there had been a determined campaign to oust him since the Iranian Government's refusal to grant oil concessions to the Soviet Union.]

POPE VOICES PLEA FOR 'ONE FLOCK'

Asks Christians To Reunite In Marking Trent Anniversary

Rome, Dec. 13 (AP)—Pope Pius XII observed the 400th anniversary of the opening of the Council of Trent today by appealing to all Christians to reunite and become "one flock."

In a letter to the Archbishop of Trent, the Pope termed the Protestant schism of four centuries ago a tragic breach resulting from "most unfortunate historical circumstances."

Reunion of the Christian Church, he said, was "the object of our ardent supplications to the Prince of Pastors, while we repeat the prayer which brought to a close the last session of the Council of Trent: 'Vouchsafe, O Lord, our God, that . . . what Thou hast promised would one day occur, may come to pass in our time—namely, that there may be but one flock and one shepherd.'"

The Catholic Church, the Pope said, "remains firm in faith, powerful in its work, enriching all men without distinction of race, creed or color."

The Council of Trent, an assembly of the church, was convened in Trento, Italy, to consider problems arising from the Protestant schism, and remained in session eighteen years.

Church-Unity Plea Made By Pope

Rome, Dec. 13 (AP)—Pope Pius XII appealed to Christians everywhere today for reunion "with Peter and his successor" (The Popes).

The appeal for church unity was made in a lengthy letter to the Archbishop of Trent, marking the fourth centenary of the inauguration of the Council of Trent, which was called to consider church problems growing out of the Protestant schism.

Referring to the schism of four centuries ago as a tragic breach resulting from "most unfortunate historical circumstances," the Pope said reunion was "the object of our ardent supplications to the Prince of Pastors, while we repeat the prayer, which brought to a close the last session of the Council of Trent 'vouchsafe, oh Lord, our God, that . . . what Thou hast promised would one day occur may come to pass in our time, namely that there may be but one flock and one Shepherd.'"

ITALY TO GET BACK NORTHERN AREAS

Rome, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Italy's northern provinces, except the disputed Venezia Giulia and Udine, will be returned to Italian administration around December 31, Rear Admiral Ellery W. Stone, Chief Allied Control Commissioner, announced today. The islands of Pantelleria, Lampedusa and Linosa— which figured in the Sicilian invasion strategy and in discussions of post-war sovereignty—also will revert to Italian control, he added.

Italy, soon to regain jurisdiction over most of her metropolitan territory, is still subject to the armistice terms, however, and will not exercise full sovereignty until the peace treaty is written. The treaty will also decide the fate of Venezia Giulia and Italy's colonies. Restoration of the northern provinces to Italian jurisdiction is expected to hasten preparations for a general election.

JERSEY GIRL CHOSEN MISS KHORRAMSHAHR

Khorramshahr, Iran, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—The Special Service branch of the Persian Gulf Command selected Miss Gladys Wilson, New York photographer's model, of 254 West Grand street, Elizabeth, N. J., as Miss Khorramshahr of 1945 in a snapshot contest.

Sgt. Frank A. Barone, chief clerk of the Personnel Section of the headquarters company, also of Elizabeth and an old friend of Miss Wilson's, entered the picture in the contest. Barone's pleasure at picking a winner was somewhat marred when the theft of the winning snapshot was discovered.

London Awaits Text of Note

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP)—A British Foreign Office spokesman said tonight that the Iranian Government had delivered a memorandum to the British Embassy in Teheran for consideration of the British, United States and Russian Foreign Ministers at their Moscow conference.

Although the text of the note has not been received in London, the spokesman said that he presumed it asked the conference to consider the removal of Allied troops from Iran.

CHINA MAY USE U.S. AIR FERRY

Newspaper Says Russians Approve Yank Planes

Peiping, Dec. 13 (AP)—The influential Chinese paper Ta Kung Pao reported today that the Russians had agreed with the Chinese Government to permit use of American transport planes and pilots for moving Chinese troops to Changchun, capital of Manchuria.

[There was no word from American sources on whether the Americans actually would take such action, however.]

Quotes Changchun Report

The paper, quoting its correspondent in Changchun, said Russian occupation authorities had fully agreed to this and other Chinese suggestions for the troops' entry and that a small airborne advance force already was in Changchun to prepare for the main arrivals.

It also was reported here that the Russians might delay still further beyond the new January 3 deadline their departure from Manchuria in order to aid the Chinese Government forces in establishing control.

Two Reported Held

Chinese Communists are holding only two known survivors from the six planes which crashed during maneuvers December 8 by Marine dive bombers, it was learned here today.

Marine sources reported that negotiations already have begun for return of the two, whose identity was withheld.

Wreckage of at least five and possibly all six of the downed dive bombers was discovered yesterday on a rugged mountain approximately 80 air miles northwest of Tsingtao, their base. The wreckage was so widespread it was presumed the two known survivors must have bailed out.

Chiang's Peiping Visit Believed For Parleys

Chungking, Dec. 13 (AP) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who made a surprise flying visit to Peiping, was believed engaged today in momentous conferences dealing with the immihent return of Manchuria and its wealth of resources to China.

Chiang slipped quietly out of Chungking Tuesday for his first visit to Peiping in ten years.

"I am most anxious to know all the facts about the wrongs you suffered during the period of Japanese occupation," the Generalissimo said in a short message to the people.

Invites Complaint Letters

He declared he also wanted the facts "of any illegal acts which take-over officials of the National Government committed after the restoration."

The Chinese leader invited civilians to send him letters citing complaints and injuries, and promised that if the facts were established the offenders would be severely punished.

With Chiang were Madame Chiang Kai-shek, Chen Hsi-tseng, director of the bureau of general affairs, and Cheng Yen-feng, deputy secretary-general of the central Kuomintang (Nationalist party).

Son To Give Report

Chinese reports said the Generalissimo's elder son, Chiang Chung-kuo, special commissioner for foreign affairs in Manchuria, would fly in from the Manchurian capital of Changchun to give him a first-hand account of conditions in the territory.

Olen Clements, Associated Press correspondent, reported observers in Tientsin also were optimistic that Chiang's visit might mean bloody civil strife could be averted.

While the Generalissimo conferred with his advisers in the ancient city, Peiping's airfields thundered with the traffic of planes flying his 5th Division to Changchun.

Push North Unchallenged

Other Central Government troops were in Mukden, largest and most industrialized city in Manchuria, and were last reported to have pushed 40 miles to the north unchallenged by rival Chinese Communists.

Observers in Tientsin declared all eastern Manchuria would be in the hands of Central Government forces within a few weeks and that they would reach Harbin, northern railway city, by Christmas.

They expressed belief that if there is any fighting for Manchuria it will come in the west, where the Chinese Communists have been resisting a Central Government push northeast of Peiping toward Chengteh, capital of Jehol province.

Chiang was expected to spend only a few days in Peiping, returning to Chungking in time to receive General George C. Marshall, new American envoy to China.

British troops in China are being disbanded, it was announced today as Maj. Gen. Eric L. Hayes, military attaché to the British Embassy, prepared to leave Chungking.

Chiang In Peiping As His Soldiers Near Harbin

Tientsin, China, Dec. 13 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek appeared in Peiping today for the first time in many years, while his troops, last reported 40 miles beyond Mukden, were reported rolling swiftly toward Harbin, a leading Manchurian industrial center.

Other National Government forces were moving to Changchun, Manchurian capital, by air.

Observers here viewed these rapid-fire developments as a strong indication that all Manchuria, rich in industry, will be in the hands of Chiang's Government forces within a few weeks—and probably with a minimum of bloodshed.

Harbin By Christmas Possible

Harbin may be reached by Christmas or before, informed sources here believe. A joint Chinese-Soviet board in Changchun has been operating for weeks the important rail line from Changchun to Harbin and Dairen. The fact this operation has been virtually unhampered by Chinese Communists supports the belief that Harbin will be yielded to the National Army when it is ready to take control.

The almost total absence of any Chinese Communist opposition to the Chinese Government drive into Manchuria, plus Russia's friendly attitude and co-operation with Chiang's forces, indicates that the Chinese Reds—if they fight at all—will do so in the rugged western mountains, where they are strongest. They have reportedly substantial forces at Kalgan, plus an estimated 5,000,000 rounds of Japanese ammunition.

Chiang Sees Chief General

Lieut. Gen. Tu Li Ming, Chinese supreme commander in the northeast, conferred with the Generalissimo in Chungking and Peiping, then returned to his Manchurian headquarters and told his soldiers to move into Mukden. Simultaneously, the 5th Division of the 94th Army was loaded into former American transport planes for the flight to Changchun.

Reports here of Chiang's surprise appearance in Peiping made no mention of Mme. Chiang or of Premier T. V. Soong being present.

But Marine Major General Keller Rockey, commander of the United States 3d Amphibious Corps, has been in Peiping several days—presumably meeting Chiang and his party.

Whether Chiang plans to go on into Manchuria is a matter for speculation, but his trip as far as Peiping bolstered national hopes for a quick end to strife in North China.

Military Attaché to the British Embassy, prepared to leave Chungking. The number of British troops in China that he commanded always was small—a maximum of 1,600—but a training center was maintained at Kucheng and others were being established elsewhere when Japan surrendered. Brig. Gen. Leonard F. Field is on his way to Chungking to succeed General Hayes as Military Attaché.

Chiang Returns to Peiping

His Troops Roll North Toward Harbin in Manchuria—Others Fly to Changchun.

Chungking, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek visited Peiping today for the first time in ten years. He left Chungking in the greatest secrecy yesterday. The first public indication of such a trip was news of his arrival in Peiping.

The Generalissimo, accompanied by Mme. Chiang, is expected to spend only a few days in Peiping, returning to Chungking in ample time to receive United States presidential envoy Gen. George C. Marshall.

Chiang's elder son, Chiang Chung-kuo, is expected to fly from Changchun to Peiping to give his father a first-hand account of events in the Manchurian capital.

Eighty Yanks Jailed In Italy

Viareggio, Italy, Dec. 13 (AP)—A force of more than 200 American and Italian military policemen jailed 80 American soldiers today on charges of desertion, being absent without leave and black-marketing.

Fifteen civilians also were arrested on black-marketing charges.

Free 500 Bulgarian Prisoners

SOFIA, Dec. 13 (AP)—Full pardons were granted to 500 prisoners and punishment of 500 others was decreased today by decision of the Bulgarian Ministerial Council.

British Disband Troops in China

CHUNGKING, Dec. 13 (AP)—British troops in China are being disbanded, it was announced today as Maj. Gen. Eric L. Hayes,

PLANE DROPS FOOD TO MARINE FLYERS

Tientsin, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Food, winter clothing and medical supplies were dropped by a Marine transport plane today on an inland Chinese village where six Marine flyers, missing more than a month, were reported held. Tientsin reports said they were held in the unnamed village by Chinese Communists.

[Communists in Chungking said recently that six captured American airmen were being released, but there has been no subsequent indication that they ever were freed.]

Search continued meanwhile for twelve other Marine flyers who went down in a storm over Shantung Peninsula December 7. Natives yesterday reported that bodies of six flyers had been found, that a seventh had suffered leg fractures, and that the five others were unhurt.

There was no confirmation of new reports that three more Marines, piloting F-7 fighter planes, speediest in the Orient, had been lost somewhere near North China's Great Wall.

HUNT 1000 YANKS MISSING IN CHINA

Shanghai, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Teams of China-wise Americans are searching all sections of China and the islands offshore, hoping to establish the fate of more than 1,000 United States Army and Navy personnel missing in largely inaccessible country. The painstaking hunt is being conducted by the China Theater Search Detachment of forty-eight officers and sixty-one men organized as teams of eight. They are packing supplies sufficient to last six months. The job may last until next May.

Most of the missing men are flyers lost in crashes in the hump area or in coastal regions from which aerial sweeps against the Japanese were launched. There is scant hope of finding any of them alive, but the teams are penetrating remote areas, questioning villagers. They will report the location of any graves.

"Most of those who escaped from crashes have been able to get back by now," said Major Alva R. Smith of Savannah, Ga.

A Chinese superstition against touching a buried body is expected to be of considerable help in finding graves. "Chinese may take valuables from a body before they bury it," said Smith, "but once a body is placed in the ground, it's there for good and the Chinese will lead us to it."

'Hump' Plane-Transfer Totals Set At 220

Shanghai, Dec. 13 (AP)—A total of 220 American aircraft flew over "the hump" to Shanghai last month before the mass movement of planes was halted because of the loss of at least three lives in crashes.

The planes were among 700 which were to have been transported from India and Burma, presumably for distribution to the Chungking Government.

Three ferrying flyers were killed in crashes and another was reported missing. Six other planes were lost in a storm, but their pilots parachuted safely.

Over 100 Chinese Lost As Boat Strikes Mine

Shanghai, Dec. 13 (AP)—A small freighter carrying 200 Chinese struck a mine at the mouth of the Yangtze River and sank within five minutes with a loss of more than 100 lives early today.

Only 90 survivors were rescued in the predawn darkness and five of those died.

The 1,050-ton vessel was en route to Shanghai from Foochow with a cargo of wood and sugar.

7 U.S. Warships Carry Sailors To Hong Kong

Hong Kong, Dec. 13 (AP)—Three escort carriers and four destroyers of the United States Navy arrived here today, carrying hundreds of sailors who said they had come from the Philippines "for a week's vacation."

The flattops were the Siboney, Bairoka and Puget Sound. The visit is part of the Navy's personnel-rotation program, begun in October.

Malayan Rubber Controls Assailed

Singapore, Dec. 13 (AP)—Members of the Singapore Advisory Council declared today that Malayan estates were ready to supply rubber to the United States and the rest of the world as soon as a decision can be made on setting up foreign exchange facilities.

One large estate owner, Lee Kong Chian, complained that rubber control was one-sided, with prices fixed on the 1941 basis but out of line with other conditions.

Tapping of rubber in Malaya, he said, was being done only by small holders with no other means of livelihood and "not because the current Malayan official rubber price is attractive."

SUMATRA LEADERS PLEDGE SUPPORT TO JAVA PREMIER

BATAVIA, Dec. 13—(AP) Indonesian leaders in Sumatra expressed complete solidarity today with the "republic" of Premier Sutan Sjahrir in demanding full independence from the Dutch.

In battle action in Java, meanwhile, R.A.F. planes machinegunned vehicles fleeing from a village fired by the British in a reprisal raid.

Acting Governor Amir of the Indonesian government in Sumatra was flown from Padang with three staff members in a British plane for conferences with officials of the unrecognized Indonesian republic in Batavia. Later Amir told a news conference:

"We are standing full behind Dr. Soekarno (president of the Indonesian republic) and the Sjahrir cabinet. Like people in other parts of Indonesia, we reject Dutch dominion status and demand full independence.

"Sumatra, with the strongest youth movement in Indonesia, has long been a country of revolution against the Dutch. Every act against the population of Java we feel is also directed against ourselves."

The village set afire by British Indian troops was Bekassi, the scene of the massacre three weeks ago of 22 survivors of a plane crash. Bekassi is about 12 miles south of Batavia.

As the village burned fiercely, British Thunderbolts and Mosquitos machinegunned and cannonaded fleeing motor vehicles, destroying four trucks and three passenger cars. Twenty Indonesians escaped from one vehicle.

The Indian troops tried to spare several stone buildings and Chinese homes, but they were unable to halt the spreading flames.

The retaliatory raid followed new outbreaks in which a British enlisted man was killed and four others, a Japanese lieutenant, an Indian officer, and an English and Indian enlisted man were wounded.

In a Batavia suburb a Red Cross truck was attacked by grenades and gunfire.

Similar small scale clashes with infiltrating Indonesians occurred south of Batavia at Buitenzorg, where one Indian was wounded; at Bandoeng, where a Dutchman was killed, and at Medan in Sumatra, where a Dutchman was shot dead.

The Allied war crimes commission in Java reported that it had listed 244 persons, most of them Japanese, as war criminals and that 43 had already been arrested. Heading the list is Lt. Gen. Hitoshi Imamura, Japanese commander in Java accused of the deaths of 300 British officers.

Sumatrans Spurn Dominion Status, Will Aid 'Republic'

Batavia, Dec. 13 (AP)—Indonesian leaders from Sumatra today rejected Dutch offers of dominion status and declared they would support the unrecognized Indonesian republic in its fight for full independence.

Their position was stated by Acting Governor Amir of the Sumatran Indonesian "Government" after a conference with Premier Sutan Sjahrir and other leaders of the "Republic." Amir and three members of his staff were flown here from Padang in a British plane.

Disturbances Spread

The principal opposition to Dutch rule previously had been concentrated in Java, with only a few minor disturbances in Sumatra. While today's conference was in progress, it was reported that a Dutchman had been shot dead near an interment area at Medan, Sumatra.

Amir told a press conference that he was "standing fully behind" the Sjahrir cabinet in its struggle against the Dutch.

"Like the people in other parts of Indonesia," he declared, "we reject Dutch dominion status and demand full independence. Sumatra, with the strongest youth movement in Indonesia, has long been a country of revolution against the Dutch. Every act against the population of Java, we feel, is also directed against ourselves."

Clashes In Java

Meanwhile, small-scale clashes were reported between British and Indonesian forces at several points in Java. One British Indian soldier was wounded in a skirmish at Buitenzorg and a Dutchman was killed at Bandoeng, Java's summer capital.

Clashes between British troops and infiltrating Indonesians at Ambarawa, central Java town near Semarang, cost the British one killed and five wounded.

Indian troops set fire to the Indonesian settlement of Bekassi, near Batavia, and RAF planes machine-gunned fleeing villagers in reprisal for the massacre three weeks ago of British and Indian survivors of a plane crash.

New Outbreaks

The British acted following new outbreaks in which a British soldier was killed and four others, including a Japanese lieutenant, were wounded.

RAF Thunderbolts and Mosquito bombers destroyed four trucks and three passenger cars attempting to flee the village. A British enlisted man was killed by gunfire from a passing train as he sat in a truck guarding a railway crossing.

Java War Criminals Listed

Batavia, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Allied war crimes commission in Java announced today it had listed 244 persons, most of them Japanese, as war criminals and declared that 43 of those named already were in custody.

Heading the list is Japanese Lieutenant General Imamura, who is accused of responsibility for the death of 300 British officers. Another Japanese sought is Lieutenant Colonel Anami, charged with responsibility for the deaths of 1,500 British and Australians used as slave laborers.

RAF Planes Strafe Annamese Positions

Saigon, Dec. 12 [AP—Delayed]—British headquarters announced today that RAF planes had strafed and cannonaded Annamese positions yesterday in response to an appeal for help from a small French detachment which found itself outgunned at Bana, 60 miles north of the hill station at Dalat.

The announcement said warning leaflets were dropped over the Annamese lines before three Spitfires shot up an emplacement from which the Annamese had been reported using three-inch mortars against the French force.

JAP GUN CARRIAGES NOW GARBAGE CARTS

Seoul, Korea, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Fifteen one-time shiny Japanese Army horse-drawn gun carriages took on a new atmosphere today.

In suitable rites attended by American Military Government and Korean officials, they were recommissioned as garbage wagons.

3 JAPS TO BE HANGED FOR SLAYING U.S. FLIERS

KWAJALEIN, Dec. 13.—(AP) Three Japanese officers were sentenced to the gallows today for the slaying of three American airmen on Jaluit atoll in March, 1944.

The Military commission which yesterday adjudged them guilty let off a fourth defendant with a 10-year sentence.

On Tuesday six other Japanese were sentenced to hang for beheading five Americans whose bombers crashed on Mili atoll.

The three sentenced to be hanged for the Jaluit slayings were Lt. Tsugio Yoshimura, Ensign Mamoru Kawachi and Warrant Officer Toshimoto. Each admitted having stabbed or shot to death one of the fliers. Ensign Tadashita Saka was given 10 years.

HOUSE ASSAILS TOKYO REGIME

Negligence Charged In Care Of Homeless War Sufferers

Tokyo, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Japanese House of Representatives sharply assailed its own Government today for failure to provide for war sufferers, declaring that many homeless persons were "still aimlessly wandering on the scorched earth."

In a resolution sponsored by all political parties and adopted without dissent, the House noted that the Government had created a number of reconstruction agencies and had drawn up plan after plan but declared nothing had proved effective because the Government was "tied up with bureaucratic red tape and is content with fumbling."

Demands Drastic Action

It demanded immediate drastic action "with a view to stabilizing the people's livelihood and stepping up economic reconstruction in the face of all kinds of difficulties."

In reply, Chizo Kobayashi, president of the War Damage Reconstruction Board, said the Government was doing its best, particularly on housing, and hoped to have reconstruction projects half completed by March.

Insisting that more be done quickly, Representative Giju Manabe, of the Progressive party, declared defeat had proved hard to take but still was no excuse for "negligence."

Election Bill Completed

The House already had completed action on a general election reform bill which was expected to pass the House of Peers tomorrow.

The measure gives women the ballot for the first time and reduces the voting age to 20, thereby adding 25,000,000 voters. It drastically redistricts the country and allows a wider selection of candidates in first steps toward truly proportionate representation.

Shunichi Suzuki, Home Ministry election expert, said the first national election under the new program would be held between January 20 and 30, with the newly elected Diet to assemble in February. The present lame-duck session is to adjourn about December 21, skipping the regular session which would have begun December 24.

The new election legislation does not revise the lifetime tenure of the House of Peers as earlier promised by Premier Kijuro Shidehara. Such questions will be left to the new Diet, he told questioners today.

Members of the Japanese imperial household have approached highest American officers seeking assurance that no more household princes will be named as war criminal suspects and have been rebuffed, it was reported reliably today.

Election Reform Bill Reaches Jap Peers

Tokyo, Dec. 13 (AP)—Election reform legislation, revolutionary in Japanese history, is expected to be passed by the House of Peers—probably tomorrow—as a first step toward proportionate representation.

While the Diet wrestled with political reform, General MacArthur attacked on the economic front, directing the Japanese Government to inaugurate a broad relief program to provide food, clothing, housing, medical care, financial aid and welfare services for unemployed this winter.

The relief plan, when ready, must be submitted in detail for Allied approval. The Government also was ordered to take all necessary steps to prevent discrimination in distribution of food. Allied headquarters meanwhile began surveys of food consumption, nutrition and physical health of Japanese.

Government Told To Act

The Japanese Government was told bluntly by the House of Representatives today to get busy and do something to alleviate suffering of the war-stripped people.

The House, in a resolution sponsored jointly by all political parties and approved without a dissenting vote, warned that many victims of American bombings "are still aimlessly wandering on the scorched earth," and blamed "bureaucratic red tape" for failure of reconstruction plans.

The election reform bill will double the electorate to about 45,000,000 voters, by granting women suffrage and reducing the balloting age to twenty years.

Shunichi Sukuki, election expert of the Home Ministry, explained that the Government measure provides also for drastic redistricting and a wider choice of candidates for the House of Representatives.

The legislation does not involve revision of the House of Peers, the the reform of which was promised earlier by Premier Kijuro Shidehara. A bill altering the present highly restrictive selection of the upper house is to be introduced in the Diet after Japan's first general election of the occupation.

Government Not Ready

Replying to Naoshi Obara, a peer, Shidehara said the revision should be made before the Diet considers constitutional changes, but that the Government is not yet ready to offer a concrete plan.

Obara made no mention of the present lifetime appointment of the aristocracy but advocated establishment of specified terms for others named to the body in imperial appointment and a broader selection of the 66 members elected by the country's highest taxpayers.

Finance Minister Keizo Shibusawa told the House of Representatives that Japan is behind in payments of occupation costs, but promised that the total debt will be paid.

The Government also asked Allied permission to import 500,000 bushels of Korean rice. It previously had requested 15,000,000 bushels of foodstuffs.

Kyodo news agency said the food shortage was considered one of the basic reasons for refusal of labor to report at coal mines.

MacArthur's headquarters reported that 38 of the 59 war criminal suspects ordered to surrender at Sugamo Prison by last midnight had checked in. Of the other 21, nine are seriously ill, seven are abroad and five are ill but are expected to surrender in a few days.

5 Slated For Trial For Abusing Prisoners

Tokyo, Friday, Dec. 14 (AP)—Disclosing a record of mistreatment of prisoners of war, the Allies toda yfiled formal war crimes charges against five Japanese who next week probably will become the first to go on trial in Japan for such outrages.

The defendants were accused of causing the deaths of at least two American military prisoners and of beating or ordering several score more beaten; of denying prisoners food and medical care and, in several cases, of forcing them to stand naked before jeering Japanese crowds.

The legal section of the 8th Army named the five as Tatsuo Tsuchiya, guard at Mitsushima camp; Lieut. Kei Yuri, commander of Omuta camp, Kyushu; Capt. Kaichi Hirate, commander of Muroran camp, Hokkaido; Lieut. Chotaro Furishima, commander of Gifu camp, Honshu, and Capt. Hiroji Honda, commander of Onahama camp, Honshu.

IMMUNITY DENIED TO MIKADO'S KIN

Tokyo, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Members of the Japanese Imperial household have approached highest American officers seeking assurance that no more household princes will be named as war criminals and have been rebuffed, it was reported reliably today. By this account, the household sought the assurance as "payment for the co-operation extended to the occupation authorities.

The Household is reported to have received the same reply as when it sought a reprieve for Prince Nashimoto, the first Prince to be placed on a "wanted" list and now in jail awaiting trial. That reply was to the effect that the Prince would receive the same treatment as all other Japanese suspects. It is expected that for the time being, however, there will be few further arrests of high persons.

On the other hand, election reform legislation revolutionary in Japanese history is expected to be passed by the House of Peers, probably tomorrow.

D.C. Ordered Jap Cyclotrons' End

Tokyo, Dec. 13 (AP)—General MacArthur's headquarters said today he had orderd Japan's five cyclotrons destroyed upon "specific instructions" from the office of Secretary of War Patterson.

Nevertheless, the headquarters spokesman added, four days after that directive had been received and after the destruction of the atomic research equipment was practically completed, "an inquiry was received from the chief of staff's office in Washington as to the feasibility of shipping intact a cyclotron from Japan for re-erection in the United States."

A special press release was issued to identify the "higher authority" which headquarters here previously reported was responsible for the destruction.

AP Is Quoted

Prefacing the press release, headquarters quoted a December 11 Associated Press dispatch from Washington which said the War Department apparently had asked MacArthur for a report on the smashing of the cyclotrons. "Answering a question," the story added, "a department spokesman said that demolition of the cyclotrons 'is a matter of discussion' between the department and MacArthur's headquarters."

Critics in America have compared the destruction with Nazi book burning and similar curbs upon the quest for knowledge in Europe.

Locations Given

The statement placing responsibility for the destruction upon the War Department said that "specific instructions were received in Tokyo from the office of the Secretary of War that cyclotrons in Japan, precisely identifying those at the Institute for Physical and Chemical Research (in Tokyo), the Imperial University of Kyoto and the Imperial University of Osaka, be destroyed after securing all technical and experimental data."

ORDER TO DESTROY CYCLOTRONS CITED

Tokyo, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Headquarters announced today that Gen. MacArthur ordered Japan's five cyclotrons destroyed upon specific instructions from the office of Secretary of War Patterson. Nevertheless, the spokesman added, four days after that directive had been received, and when the destruction of the atomic research equipment was practically complete, "an inquiry was received from the Chief of Staff's office in Washington as to the feasibility of shipping intact a cyclotron from Japan for re-erection in the United States."

Rice According To Income

Tokyo, Dec. 13 (AP)—A proposal o price rice according to the consumer's income was made to the Japanese Government today by the eaders of the Tokyo Commerce, ndustry and Economic Association. Consumers would be divided into hree income brackets ranging from 3,000 to more than 50,000 yen. The price of rice would be graduated upward for each bracket.

Accused Of Burning Town

Tokyo, Dec. 13 (AP)—Charged with burning the town of San Pablo in Laguna province of Luzon last March, Toshiro Takizawa, Japanese army captain, is to be tried by a United States military commission in Manila, Allied headquarters announced today.

2 Surrender Planes Destroyed

MITO, Japan, Dec. 13 (AP)—The two white, twin-engine planes which carried Japanese surrender emissaries to Manila have been destroyed, together with 1,500 other Japanese aircraft, headquarters of the 637th Tank Destroyer Battalion reported today.

First Jap Trials Delayed

Yokohama, Dec. 13 (AP)—Eighth Army legal officers indicated today that the first war-crimes trials in Japan—scheduled to open Monday—will be delayed long enough to allow the more than 300 defendants to prepare defenses. No definite date was set.

Col. Robert Y. Laughlin, judge advocate, announced the first American military trial commission in Japan will meet in closed session here Monday to adopt rules of procedure against the Japanese, all suspected of mistreating Allied prisoners of war.

Not Yet Notified

His assistant, Major Gayle H. Nichols, said the defendants had not yet been notified of the charges against them and that they must be given sufficient time to organize a defense.

The military court will be empowered to impose the death penalty or imprisonment.

37,727 Quit Pacific So Far This Month

Yokohama, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Since the first of December, 37,727 United States Eighth Army and Air Force troops have boarded United States-bound ships.

The Army's troop movement section announced today that this month's figures will be boosted still higher with the diversion from the European theater of two transports with a capacity of 7,000 men each.

Yamashita Case Is Referred To MacArthur

Manila, Dec. 13 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. W. D. Styer, commander of American forces in the Western Pacific, announced today he had completed his review of Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's death sentence and had forwarded his recommendations to General MacArthur in Tokyo.

Styer gave no indication what he had recommended.

The former Japanese commander in the Philippines was sentenced to be hanged after a military commission last week convicted him of permitting countless outrages by his troops.

3000 LEPERS DIED UNDER JAP RULE

Manila, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Japanese brutality and a calculated program of starvation reduced the population of Culion Island—formerly the world's largest leper colony—from 5,000 to 1,800, Brig. Gen. Howard F. Smith of the U. S. Public Health Service, reported today after an inspection tour. Culion is fifty miles southwest of Mindoro.

The entire Philippines leprosy program has been set back many years by the Nipponese cruelty, Smith asserted. He said that Japanese had argued that lepers did not deserve to live since they ate food needed by soldiers and workers.

SIX JAPS GUILTY OF KILLING YANKS

Manila, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Six of seven Japanese accused of killing and burning two American flyers and five Filipinos at Cebu City last March were found guilty by a military commission today.

Lieut.-Col. Isamu Morimoto and Capt. Kestaro Tsuruyama were sentenced to death by hanging. Sgt. Takeo Kawai also was sentenced to be hanged but mercy was recommended because he turned prosecution witness. Kawai testified he had orders to hack the flyers to death. A fourth was sentenced to life imprisonment and two others to ten years each at hard labor.

Osment Urges Army Pay Rise

MANILA, Dec. 13 (AP).—President Sergio Osmena announced today that he had sent a message to Carlos P. Romulo, Philippines Resident Commissioner in Washington, to renew a request to President Truman for an increase in the pay of Filipino regular army privates from 18 pesos ($9) to 50 pesos ($25) a month. Mr. Truman previously declined such an increase.

Australian Investigation Of Bennett Escape Ends

Assistant Justice Says He Should Have Stayed in Malaya..

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 13 (AP).—A fourteen-day public inquiry into the escape of Lieutenant General H. Gordon Bennett from Singapore when the Japanese over-ran the British base in February, 1942, ended today after twenty-two witnesses had given more than a quarter of a million words of evidence.

Justice George Ligertwood, head of the three-man commission charged with the inquiry, announced he would send a report of the hearings to Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley as soon as findings are reached.

In a final address, Wilfred Dovey, assistant to Justice Ligertwood, asserted that General Bennett, as commanding officer of the Australian Imperial Forces in Malaya, left "at a time when under duty as a soldier" to help carry out the terms of the capitulation. Mr. Dovey submitted that, "much as one regrets it personally," the commissioners' findings "must have a result which does not exonerate Bennett in respect to the discharge of his duties."

Eleven Japs Convicted Of Crucifixion Killing

Sydney, Australia, Dec. 13 (AP)—Eleven Japanese were convicted of the crucifixion murder of three Australian and one American airmen by an Australian military court today at Morotai, in the Moluccas.

One Japanese defendant was acquitted. The killings took place at Talaud Island, off the Celebes, March 23.

Empty Life Raft Sighted Off Azores

Viladoporto, Azores, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—An empty life raft was reported sighted yesterday off Terceira, one of the Azores, by a military plane from the local garrison. A report was intercepted by the Portuguese Navy last Monday that a Clipper plane was down at sea, but thorough search of the Azores seas failed to reveal any trace of a plane. No Clipper has been reported missing.

JAP WAR LEADERS SENT MESSAGE TO GERMANY NOV. 30

Army Intercepted, Decoded Secret Communication

War Break Nearing, Japan Told Hitler Week Before Raid

Between Axis Nations.

SET TO FIGHT REDS

DEC 14 1945

Tokyo Reported Readiness to Attack Russia if Soviet Stayed with Allies.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP) Pearl Harbor investigators learned today that Tokyo sent word to Hitler Nov. 30, 1941, that "there is extreme danger that war may suddenly break out between the Anglo-Saxon nations and Japan."

The same message, which a Navy report said the Army decoded Dec. 1, also told the Japanese embassador in Berlin to advise the German Fuehrer that "the time of the breaking out of this war may come quicker than anyone dreams."

Hitler was to be informed, too, that "if Russia joins hands tighter with England and the United States and resists us with hostilities we are ready to turn upon her with all our might."

Navy Presents Statement

The message was contained in a two-volume Navy statement, given the joint congressional committee, of the evidence gathered by the Navy in its Pearl Harbor investigations.

It was introduced after Gen. George C. Marshall concluded seven days of testimony by agreeing that he could have telephoned some form of warning to Hawaii Dec. 7, 1941, without endangering code-cracking secrets.

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) told the committee that he had a letter from a soldier who went through the Pearl Harbor attack saying that Hickam air field in Hawaii was under a "full out air alert" from Dec. 1 to Dec. 6, 1941. Gearhart asked that committee counsel try to determine whether it was true that a week's alert was called off just the day before the Japanese attack.

Later Gearhart told reporters the soldier who wrote the letter was Stephen L. Carmalt of Bellevue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Insurance Sales Halted

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) read into the record an Associated Press dispatch from Honolulu Aug. 25, 1941, saying Lloyds had discontinued sale of war risk and bombardment insurance in Hawaii.

Phrasing his comments as questions to Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, then in the witness chair, Ferguson wanted to know:

If Lloyds was not close to the British government.

If Aug. 25, 1941, was not about the time that Prime Minister Churchill returned from the Atlantic Charter conference where President Roosevelt agreed to give Japan a warning against further aggression.

Miles expressed the opinion that Lloyds was not close enough to the British government to get reports on the conversations of Mr. Roosevelt.

The Navy statement also disclosed that as early as February 8, 1941, the U. S. naval observer at Singapore passed along British information that the Japanese had a string of ships all across the Pacific radioing word daily to Tokyo.

These observing ships were said to be strung from Panama to Auckland, and one off southern California.

Other items included:

A June 4, 1941, appeal from Admiral Harold R. Stark to Pacific naval commanders to keep him "continuously informed" on what the chief of naval operations indicated was intense Japanese activity in the Marshall and Caroline islands.

On the other hand was a message from Admiral Thomas C. Hart of the Asiatic fleet to Stark saying that it appeared that other Pacific commanders "often have information of range (Japanese) activities which should promptly be passed to me but which has not been done in the past."

Jap Fleet Studied

Back on July 29, 1941, was a monograph by the Office of Naval Intelligence with 20 copies to be provided for Admiral Kimmel at Pearl Harbor. This showed the "organization of the Japanese fleet" and concluded:

"It is evident that Japan has marshalled its full naval strength and is on a full wartime footing."

The Navy report also said:

"It appears from the records of the several investigations by the Navy that there was sent or otherwise available to Admiral Kimmel much intelligence information concerning the Japanese fleet organization and ship dispositions."

Kimmel, in a letter to Stark September 12, 1941 expressed concern that there might be "some in Washington who might be inclined to overlook" the needs in the Pacific.

"Until we can keep a force here strong enough to meet the Japanese fleet we are not secure in the Pacific," he wrote. "And the Pacific is still very much a part of the world situation." Kimmel asked about "shooting orders."

Stark replied that "at the present time the President has issued shooting orders only for the Atlantic and southeast Pacific subarea." He also replied to another question by Kimmel by saying:

"If conclusive, and I repeat conclusive, evidence is obtained that Japanese submarines are actually in or near the United States territory, then a strong warning and a threat of hostile action against such submarines would appear to be our next step."

The old question of how Kimmel and Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short got along together was touched on in a section having to do with the army's willingness to garrison Midway and Wake Islands."

"It appears," the report said, "that the project fell through because these two area commanders could not agree as to who should command the army troops. Each insisted that he should be supreme."

The question about telephoning to Hawaii was put to Marshall indirectly by Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, 1941 Hawaiian commander. Short did not receive a telegraphed warning from Marshall until seven hours after the Japanese attack.

Short Prepares Questions

Short, a daily attendant at the hearings of the Senate-House investigating committee, gave William D. Mitchell, committee counsel, a series of written questions he wanted asked.

One was whether a message simply to be on a complete alert could not have been telephoned when Marshall learned on the morning of Dec. 7 that the Japanese apparently were going to make a military move of some nature at 1 p.m., Eastern Standard Time (dawn Hawaii).

Marshall said it probably could have.

The former chief of staff had testified earlier that he did not telephone because the Japanese might listen in, learn the United States knew of the one o'clock deadline for presentation of an ultimatum to this country, and hence that their coded messages were being read.

Marshall was dismissed as a witness at 12:45 p.m., after more than 26 hours of testimony, and hurried from the room as spectators applauded. In his seven days with the committee the general had kept a plane waiting to take him to China as a special presidential envoy.

Questioned on Philippines Planes

Before Marshall left, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) elicited testimony that the general did not know of any report received by the War department as to why a number of big bombers were caught on the ground when the Japanese struck the Philippines several hours after the Pearl Harbor attack.

Lucas noted that the record showed General Douglas A. MacArthur, commander in the Philippines, had messaged Nov. 28 that he had everything in readiness for a "successful defense."

He said there was testimony also that Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, then chief of the War Plans division, called MacArthur on the telephone when news came of the raid on Hawaii.

In response to Lucas' question, Marshall then testified MacArthur had 35 four-engined bombers and upwards of 100 pursuit planes under his command.

"Was there ever any report on why these bombers which were destroyed on Clark Field (Luzon) were still on the ground?" Lucas asked.

"I don't think so."

Under questioning from Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), Marshall testified that he sent an order to MacArthur before the war asking that he arrange for airplane landing strips in Australia, Borneo and New Britain to be lengthened so they could accommodate American four-engined bombers.

Marshall said he undoubtedly obtained "clearance" for the order from higher-up, perhaps directly from the late President Roosevelt, but that he did not recall now who gave it to him.

No Agreement for War

He reiterated at the same time that there was never any agreement to his knowledge that this country would go to war if Japan attacked British or Dutch possessions.

In support of that statement, Marshall read a memorandum he and Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, signed July 1, 1941, disapproving a report on American-Dutch-British conversations at Singapore.

One objection they voiced was that the report undertook to bind the United States to joint action with the Dutch and British. Marshall and Stark said that was a "political" decision which they were not empowered to make.

They also branded as "unacceptable" what they termed "the small part which is proposed for British naval forces in the Far East area."

They noted that the British proposed to assign 48 warships to that part of the world, but to commit only three to defense of the Malay barrier and use the rest on escort and patrol duties.

The Singapore conversations, Marshall said, were intended to develop joint military plans which would be put into effect in event all three nations became engaged in war with Japan.

For the most part, Marshall was an unruffled witness but he flushed and evidenced anger when Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) took him through a long series of questions about the information sent to Short on the state of American-Japanese relations.

Marshall Pointed to Hawaii

Gearhart contended the Army had intercepted seven Japanese messages which "pointed directly to Hawaii and revealed an inordinate Japanese interest" in the fleet and its base.

He wanted to know whether, if these messages had been sent on to Hawaii, Marshall thought "the ships would have been lined up like sitting ducks—or out to sea in fighting trim."

"It may be," Marshall responded, "that if that information had been sent to Short he would have taken a different view of the command directive which was sent him.

"But General Short was given a definite directive—an alert order."

Marshall contended it was well known to military and naval men that the Japanese kept a constant check on all movements of American warships.

When Gearhart continued to ask suppositious questions, Marshall said he was asking him to use "backsight" and remarked tartly:

"I am still of the opinion that when you give a command to a high ranking officer you expect to have that order executed."

Gearhart suggested that under the instructions sent to Short the American forces could not have attacked the Japanese even if they had sighted their approach.

He noted that the Nov. 27 warning sent to the islands said the United States desired that Japan commit the first overt act if hostilities could not be avoided. Marshall had testified that Mr. Roosevelt ordered those instructions included.

Marshall disagreed with Gearhart. The message also said, he commented, that the commanders were not restricted to a course of action which might jeopardize their defense.

In his opinion, Marshall added, the sudden appearance of Japanese warships in that area would have been an "overt act" and American airmen would have been justified in bombing them.

Recalls Knox Trip

In a discussion of Short's relief as Hawaiian commander, Marshall recalled that Secretary of the Navy Knox visited Hawaii. He said it was after a Knox-Stimson conference that the Secretary of War instructed him to remove Short from command.

"Were there any specific reasons stated (by Stimson) for his removal?" Ferguson asked.

Marshall: "I do not recall the specific statement of the reasons."

Ferguson: "Was it disobedience to the alert order of the 27th?"

Marshall: "I could not say that, Sir. It was the general status of affairs in Hawaii as viewed, presumably, by Colonel Knox following his trip."

Ferguson asked if he was to understand, then, that Marshall did not base the removal order upon any of his own findings.

"I based that order on the direction of the Secretary of War," Marshall replied.

PART IN RETIRE MENT OF SHORT

MARSHALL DENIES

30.24-32371

Former Chief of Staff, Ending Testimony, Says Stimson Ordered It.

FLUSHES ANGRILY ON STAND

Gave 'Definite' Alert to Hawaii Chief—Latter Has Four Questions Asked.

DEC 14 1945

Washington, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Gen. George C. Marshall wound up his testimony before congressional investigators today with a statement that he had nothing to do with the decision to retire Lieut.-Gen. Walter C. Short, Army commander at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese attacked on December 7, 1941.

This decision, Marshall told the Senate-House group, was reached by Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox, who took similar action in the case of Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, the naval chief in Hawaii.

Marshall's appearance on the witness stand lasted twenty-six hours over a seven-day period. As he finished at 12:45 P. M., a plane was waiting to fly him immediately to China as President Truman's envoy.

Still in the uniform of a five-star general of the Army, the former Chief of Staff took his departure with the thanks of the committee for making himself available. Chairman Barkley (D.-Ky.) said: "The committee wishes you on your new mission the same high degree of success you achieved in other fields."

Four Questions for Marshall.

In concluding his testimony, Marshall asserted angrily that Short was given a "definite" alert order before the Japanese assaulted Pearl Harbor and felt he had a right to expect it would be carried out.

Just before he left the stand, Marshall was asked four questions at the request of Short, seated a few feet away in civilian clothes.

Briefly, they were:

Did the War Department know about the tentative standard operating procedure set up July 14, 1941 in Hawaii to show three alert systems?

Yes, said Marshall. He knew of it because of an exception taken by Gen. H. H. Arnold, Air Force chief, to a proposal to use Air Corps ground forces in guarding installations. It was brought out this system provided for three alerts: No. 1 all-out; No. 2, a lesser alert having at least 50 per cent of all troops available at all times; No. 3, against sabotage with no particular threat from without.

Asks About Scrambler.

What were the instructions given the staff duty officer in the Chief of Staff's section from November 27, 1941, to December 7?

Marshall said his instructions to the Secretary of the general staff were to keep a man on duty all the time and to see that he was informed of anything important.

On December 7, before the Japanese attack, could not a full war alert have been sent by "scramble" telephone to Short?

Possibly, it might have been done, Marshall replied without further elaboration. (Marshall previously testified the "scramble" was not in existence then and he did not telephone because he feared the Japanese would intercept a telephone message. A warning sent that day by commercial facilities did not reach Short until after the attack.)

Was J. T. McNarney, a colonel in 1941, sitting on the War Plans Division while serving on the Roberts Commission which investigated Pearl Harbor for President Roosevelt?

Marshall said McNarney had been listed as being with the division only technically, that this was his status even while he was in England as an observer. When McNarney returned, Marshall related, he was appointed deputy chief of staff and then served on the commission.

Also during today's session the committee received a memorandum by Marshall and Admiral Harold R. Stark, then Chief of Naval Operations, stating their reasons for telling British military leaders in July, 1941, that they could not commit the United States to go to war if Japan attacked British or Dutch territory.

The former Army Chief of Staff flared up under persistent questioning about information given to overseas commanders in the last few days before the Pearl Harbor attack plunged this nation into war.

"Gen. Short was given definite direction," Marshall said. "He was given an alert order. I still feel that when you give a command to a high officer you expect it to be carried out."

Marshall's assertion regarding Short followed the statement yesterday by the former chief of staff that he—Marshall—was responsible for actions of the general staff and that he had "full responsibility" for any failure in Washington to see that Short went on a full war alert.

His testimony at that time came in response to a question from Representative Keefe (R.-Wis.) whether Marshall, as chief of staff, should not have investigated upon receivnng Short's reply about the sabotage alert. Marshall observed that it was an "opportunity to intervene."

"Opportunity? It was your responsibility, was it not?" Keefe asked.

"You can put it that way," Marshall replied, then he added: "An immense number of papers came over my desk. I am not passing the responsibility to the Secretary of War. I was responsible for the actions of the general staff throughout. I was responsible for this. A very tragic thing occurred. I am not attempting to evade that at all."

DEC 14 1945

'Must Have Been Evident.'

Marshall said today that Short's reaction to the warning message might have been different if the Hawaiian commander had received information, intercepted from Tokyo, that the Japanese were displaying great interest in United States ship movements around Hawaii.

Representative Gearhart (R.-Cal.) wanted to know why Marshall didn't send that information to the Pearl Harbor commander, Short and Kimmel. Marshall replied he did not think the Japanese intercepts showed anything especially significant, that Japanese interest in ship movements was a long-time, continuing thing.

Gearhart asked if Marshall thought "the fleet would have been lined up like sitting ducks" if the intercepts had been passed on to Kimmel and Short.

"It may be that if the messages had been communicated, Gen. Short's reaction to alert his command might have been different," Marshall said. He added, however, that "it must have been evident to Kimmel and Short that the Japanese could have reported every ship move."

Asked About Philippines.

Replying to a series of questions from Senator Lucas (D.-Ill.), Marshall also told the committee:

As Chief of Staff, he had no knowledge of any information prior to December 7 definitely pointing to an attack on Pearl Harbor.

That President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Stimson knew all he knew about important matters during the critical period preceding the outbreak of war.

Lucas later switched the questioning to Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the defenses of the Philippines at the time war began. He asked whether there was ever any Army report on why the Japanese were able to catch United States bombers on the ground in the Philippines. Marshall said he recalled none.

Later Major-Gen. Sherman Miles, former chief of military intelligence, who resumed his testimony after Marshall left the stand, said that it was hours after the attack on Pearl Harbor "before we could ascertain what in heaven's name had happened in Hawaii." It was partly for this reason that no additional alert messages were sent to MacArthur. Miles added that, as he recalled it, the Japanese hit the Philippines ten or twelve hours after the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Justified U. S. Air Attack.

Earlier, Marshall said that American bombers would have been justified in sinking any Japanese warships that appeared in Hawaiian waters before the war began. He declared that the appearance of such vessels would have been an overt act.

The subject of bombing Japanese ships came up when Keefe noted that a warning message to Hawaii on November 27, 1941, included instructions that the United States wanted the Japanese to take the first step toward hostilities. Marshall again said the directions went into the message at President Roosevelt's request. Then he assumed that Japanese warships were sighted beyond restricted waters around Pearl Harbor, but within range of bombers.

"The sudden, unannounced appearance of such ships in those waters would have been an overt act and would have justified bombing," he said. "And I believe the country would have backed them up."

Keefe said he didn't think there was any question about that.

Marshall also said, in reply to a question, that he thought a flight of foreign planes over Hawaii would have been an overt act.

Marshall noted that the November 27 message, while expressing the desire that Japan make the first overt act, specifically told the overseas commanders they were not committed to a course of action which would "jeopardize your defense."

Hull May Have Lacked Tip

As Marshall returned to the stand for his final day, the committee learned that former Secretary of State Hull may have gone to his last conference with Japanese "peace" envoys on December 7, without knowing of their diplomatic reply which had been intercepted and decoded.

An affidavit submitted to the committee showed that the fourteen-part Japanese message—described by some witnesses as a tipoff that war was near—was delivered to the State Department by an Army officer just as Hull met Ambassadors Saburo Kurusu and Kichisaburo Nomura.

Questioning of Marshall about when he received the important fourteen-point message had been extensive. Several witnesses said that the fourteenth part, combined with a message to the Japanese to deliver it at 1 P. M., Washington time, was the tip that hostile action was imminent.

Whether Hull ever read any of the fourteen parts before he talked to the Japanese remained unclear in affidavits collected by Lieut.-Col. Henry C. Clausen. Clausen was deputized by Stimson to make an independent Pearl Harbor inquiry.

Hull, who spent several days on the stand, is scheduled to return for additional questioning later.

John F. Stone, then personal assistant to the Secretary, said he couldn't recall when Hull got the message.

Reasons Given to British.

In the Marshall-Stark memorandum explaining their reasons for refusing to approve a report on American-Dutch-British conversations held at Singapore in April 1941, the two American commanders contended that the report contained "political matters," and cited a paragraph saying: "Our collective military strength can only be developed fully if our governments agree to act together, should any of them judge that the Japanese have taken action which necessitated active military counter-action."

They cited other instances where, in their opinion, the conversations had gone into the political field, rather than being confined to drafting military plans for use in event the three nations all should become involved in war with Japan.

The memorandum was sent to American Army and Navy observers at London for communication to the British chiefs of staff.

Whether this country made any agreement to fight Japan, in the event the British or Dutch territory was attacked, has been a question brought up frequently in the committee's hearings. Hull, as well as military witnesses, have denied there was such an agreement.

Marshall and Stark also criticized various military proposals in the ADB report, calling "unacceptable" the "small part which is proposed for British naval forces."

On Escort or Patrol Duty.

They said that the British delegates had emphasized repeatedly that retention of the Malay barrier was vital to security of the United Kingdom, but "of forty-eight British naval vessels available in the eastern theater only three British vessels are to operate in the vicinity of the Malay barrier."

"No British vessels whatsoever," they added, "are committed to the naval forces of the barrier against Japanese naval forces advancing southward, nor to offensive operations designed to close the passages of the barrier to the passage of Japanese raiders.

"All British naval forces are assigned to escort and patrol work, most of them at great distances from the position which the British Chiefs of Staff have asserted to be 'vital.'

"It may be pointed out that the naval defense of this position is intrusted, by the ADB report, solely to the United States and Dutch forces."

Under British Command.

Marshall and Stark objected, too, that it was proposed to put strategical command of American naval units under the British commander in chief, China station, to a degree which was never contemplated by this country and to put all air forces under a commander in chief, Far East, with headquarters at Singapore.

"The Chief of Naval Operations," the memorandum said, "cannot agree to permit aviation forces of the United States Navy to operate for other than naval purposes, or to be placed under other than naval command."

In a general criticism, they said the plan "does not give sufficient emphasis to the necessity for the greatest possible degree of offensive operations."

Japs In Hawaiian Waters 'Overt' Act: Marshall

DEC 14 1945

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall said today that American bombers would have been justified in sinking any Japanese ships that appeared in Hawaiian waters before the war began.

Marshall told the Senate-House Committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, that the appearance of such vessels would have been "an overt act."

As Marshall returned to the stand fo rthe seventh day, the committee learned that former Secretary of State Hull may have gone to his last conference with Japanese "peace" envoys December 7, 1941, iwthout knowing of their diplomatic reply which had been intercepted and decoded.

Time Element Stressed

An affidavit submitted to the committee showed that the fourteen-part Japanese message—described by some witnesses as a tip-off that was was near—was delivered to the State Department by an army officer just as Hull met Ambassadors Sab[illegible] Kurusu and Kichisaburo N[illegible]

The subject [illegible]bing Japanese ships came up [illegible]epresentative Keefe (R., Wis[illegible]d that a November 27, 194[illegible]ing message to Hawaii included instructions that the United States wanted the Japanese to take the first step toward hostilities.

Marshall again said the directions went into the message at President Roosevelt's request.

Beyond Restricted Areas

Then, he assumed that Japanese warships were sighted beyond restricted waters around Pearl Harbor but within range of bombers.

"The sudden, unannounced appearance of such ships in those waters would have been an overt act and would have justified bombing. And I believe the country would have backed them up."

Keefe said he didnt think there was any question about that.

Marshall also said, in reply to a question, that he thought a flight of foreign planes over Hawaii would have been an overt act.

Commanders Advised

Marshall noted that the November 27 message, while expressing the desire that Japan make the first overt act, specifically told the overseas commanders they were not committed to a course of action which would "jeopardize your defense."

Questioning of Marshall about when he received the important fourteen-point message has been extensive. Several witnesses have said that the fourteenth part, combined with a message to the Japanese to deliver it at 1 P.M., Washington time, was the tip that hostile action was imminent.

Whether Hull ever read any of the fourteen parts before he talked to the Japanese remained unclear in affidavits collected by Lieut. Col. Henry C. Clausen.

Interviewed 92 Persons

Clausen was deputized by former Secretary of War Stimson to make an independent Pearl Harbor inquiry. He reported that he traveled 55,000 miles and interviewed 92 persons.

Hull, who spent several days on the stand, is scheduled to return.

In an affidavit to Clausen February 13, 1945, Col. Carlisle C. Dusenbury, on duty in the Army Intelligence Division here in 1941, said he began delivery of the fourteen-point message at 9 A.M. December 7, 1941, and finished at the State Department as Hull was meeting with the Japanese.

"This Message Means War"

"When I delivered the copy to OPD (Operations Division) that morning," Dusenbury related," I handed it to then Col. Thomas T. Handy, who, upon reading it, said to me, 'This message means war,' or words to that effect."

Dusenbury said the message began coming in on December 6, but he was advised that night that it could not be completed. He said he and his superior, Col. Rufus S. Bratton, then chief of the Far Eastern Intelligence Division, went home. He added:

"I returned the next morning to begin the distribution of this intercept consisting of fourteen parts . . . about 9 A.M. on December 7, 1941, and finished with the delivery to the State Department as Kurusu and Nomura were meeting with the Secretary of State."

Given To Night Officer

In another affidavit, Bratton said he delivered the first thirteen parts to the night officer at the State Department between 10 and 11 P.M. December 6.

John F. Stone, then personal assistant to the secretary, said he couldn't recall when Hull got the message.

CODE-BREAKING LEAK DEPLORED BY FORRESTAL

DEC 14 1945

Navy Secretary Calls It Tragedy That Secret Was Made Public.

STRESSES WARTIME VALUE

Armed Forces' Reorganization Urged by Department Head Before Senate Group.

Washington, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Secretary of the Navy James V. Forestal today called it a "terrible tragedy" that the secrets of breaking the Japanese code have been made public.

The Cabinet member made this statement before the Senate Military Affairs Committee while urging a Navy Department plan for post-war reorganization of the armed forces. This plan counters the War Department proposal for merging the armed forces into a single organization.

"It was very unfortunate," Forrestal said of the code-breaking disclosures. "We were playing the Pacific war poker game with a mirror behind another man's hand," he said, referring to the value of the code secret during hostilities.

Forrestal mentioned the cracking of Jap codes as he urged a single post-war intelligence agency for all Government agencies. This is one feature of the Navy's reorganization proposal.

Senator Maybonk (D.-S. C.) asked how such things as the code secret's disclosure could be avoided in future.

"It is one of the penalties—I should say one of the corollaries—of a democratic system of government," replied Forrestal.

Army Plan Called Shadowy.

Cincinnati, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Terming Army proposals to merge the nation's armed forces "shadowy," M. Struve Hensel, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, asserted today that the Navy favors unification of defense forces but feels the War Department's plan to "merge first and plan afterward" is "extremely vague."

In an address prepared for delivery before the Cincinnati Rotary Club, Hensel said: "The War Department's plan for the merger of our nation's armed forces is shadowy and Army officers are instructed not to discuss the details.

"The War Department has suggested only a method to achieve unity of effort in our armed forces. Dozens of methods can easily be suggested."

War Mistakes Cited.

Hensel asserted that the United States made mistakes in world war II and said the "major deficiencies" could be classified under three headings:

"Our foreign policies and military programs were not integrated and there was not sufficient interchange of plans and policies;

"Our military programs were not tied to the productive capacity of our domestic economy;

"Inside each department, and between military departments, there were gaps and duplications leading to waste."

Of the Navy's unification plan, Hensel said:

"The Navy has offered to the country a really comprehensive plan for national security. It is directed toward closing all the gaps which appeared in our prosecution of the war . . . it is a plan to unify all, not just a few, of the security functions."

GM Stands Firm On Its Proposal For Wage Boost

DEC 14 1945

Company Does Not Plan to Increase Its Offer, Says Vice President.

OPEN COURT ACTION

Auto Firm Seeks Injunctions to Halt 'Illegal Picketing.'

DETROIT, Dec. 13—(AP) A prediction that the General Motors corporation strike may last "at least six weeks longer" was made today by Harry W. Anderson, G.M. vice president, as the company sought two court injunctions to halt "illegal picketing" of G.M. plants.

The suits, filed in Cleveland and Chicago, drew an immediate reply from Walter Reuther, vice president of the United Auto Workers (C.I.O.), who declared, "They can issue all the injunctions in the world, but the judge isn't going in and make autos."

Anderson also disclosed that the company does not contemplate any increase in the 13 1-2 cent an hour wage increase which it recently offered its 175,000 workers who struck for a general 30 per cent wage rate increase.

The court actions heightened the dispute between G.M. and the U.A.W. on the question of picketing at G.M. plants in more than 70 cities throughout the nation.

Company Accuses Pickets

The company, in a statement issued h[illegible] announcing the filing of the suits, charged union pickets had "caused bodily harm" to non-striking employes trying to enter the electro-motive plants at La Grange, Ill., on Wednesday.

It charged the strikers "engaged in mass picketing, placed obstructions across plant entrances, inflicted bodily harm on employes, carried and brandished bats, spiked clubs and similar weapons and hurled rocks at employes."

Anderson, at the conclusion of another negotiating session between G.M. and the U.A.W. today, told newsmen that the company "has further injunction suits pending now," but declined to elaborate on the statement.

The GM official, reporting on the negotiating session, said "Reuther blamed the corporation for terminating the union contract" which was due to run until April, 1946. The company took this step Monday.

Anderson announced he "hopes to be present" in Washington Dec. 19 when the President's newly-appointed fact-finding committee begins its study of the entire GM strike situation.

Will Give Data to Board

He declared GM would give the board "any data that is pertinent," but parried reporters queries as to whether GM would open its books to the presidential board.

GM has refused to accede to U.A.W. requests that the union be permitted to look over the company's books during the present wage negotiations. The union contended that it wanted to study the company's figures in light of GM's assertion that it could not grant the 30 per cent wage boost without raising car prices.

Anderson gave this version of an exchange with Reuther at today's negotiating session:

He said Reuther had told him the U.A.W. "will get out the panzer troops" if the strike continues.

"I asked him, 'Is that the goon squad you mean' and he answered, 'We are going to put on all the pressure you want,'" Anderson asserted.

Reuther, at a press conference after today's session broke up, did not comment on Anderson's version of the exchange.

Reuther warned that since "the company made no additional offers, the union will tighten up, keep the strike effective and hold the line."

"G.M. is horse trading, and is not engaged in proper collective bargaining," the U.A.W. official charged.

"G.M. is still in the dark ages as far as collective bargaining is concerned. They want to start at zero and work up, while the union works down from its 30 per cent demands," Reuther declared.

"We refuse to have collective bargaining dragged down to that level and we will walk the picket lines just as long as is necessary to win," he added.

Reuther said he has asked the corporation to permit newsmen to sit in on the next negotiating session, which he said, is set for Monday. He indicated the company was not in favor of the idea.

The injunction petitions were the highlight of the day's activities as the parties sought an end to the 23 day old strike.

The Chicago action named Local 719, U.A.W., and 37 of its officers and members as defendants. G.M. asserted that 1,500 employes were kept out of the La Grange plant which normally employs 7,500 hourly and 2,000 salaried workers.

The plant produces engines for Diesel locomotives. The Cleveland suit applied to a Fisher body factory.

General Motors charged U.A.W.-C.I.O. Local 45 in Cleveland with using "threats and personal abuse" to deter non-striking office workers and supervisory personnel from entering the plant.

30.24-32373

In a petition filed in Common Pleas court, the corporation said the police "did not serve in any substantial degree" to prevent the pickets from "such unlawful conduct." Thirty officers and members of Local 45 were named defendants as well as the local itself.

The petition cited an alleged specific instance of Tuesday. At that time the police department said it had sent its entire mounted division of 50 men to the scene. Officers said at least 250 pickets turned back office and clerical workers without disorder.

The court scheduled a hearing for tomorrow on a temporary injunction.

Reuther commented here that it was a "local matter" and would have to be handled "locally" insofar as the international union was concerned.

BUSINESS, LABOR FACE NEW CURBS

DEC 14 1945

Federal Administration Sees Inflation Danger in Present Industrial Situation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(AP) Putting the brakes to its post-victory policy of quick "decontrol," the administration has swung toward restored or tightened curbs on business and labor.

Reconversion, four months old tomorrow, is viewed in the government as a lusty problem child now in danger of bursting its inflationary buttons.

Coupled with this fear is the conviction, announced by President Truman, that industrial strife could smash the rapid return to peacetime production if it is not checked. He has asked Congress to check it.

Industry Ready to Run

Physically, civilian industry is set up and ready to run, with war's debris largely cleared away and assembly lines mounted. Employment is far above expectations and buying is heavy.

But, officials now expect to see only 200,000 new automobiles made this year instead of the hoped-for 500,000. The dominant unit in that key industry, General Motors, is bogged in a strike that may engulf the other big motor makers.

The C.I.O. steel strike set for January 14 is an even greater menace to reconversion, since steel is the basic material of manufacturing.

The steelworkers' dispute also best illustrates the government's quandary: Labor demands higher wage rates, U. S. Steel says it can give them only if its prices are raised, OPA says higher prices mean inflation—a three-way deadlock.

Meanwhile the slowness of new appliances and clothing to reach the market gives production officials the jitters, the heavy consumer demand for goods gives OPA a case of inflation nerves, the housing shortage irritates everybody.

So the fourth month of peace brought at least four movements—in the direction of tighter controls—to offset the contending pressures.

All the moves represent a divergence from President Truman's basic reconversion idea, that the government's best method of restoring a normal national life is to drop controls as soon as possible. The moves:

1. A White House crackdown on labor-industry strife; Mr. Truman requested that Congress provide fact-finding on disputes and a compulsory 30-day cooling-off period. It cost him C.I.O.'s political friendship.

2. Announcement that priorities will be restored—only two months after they were scrapped—to provide building materials for needed low-priced dwellings; also, a request for price controls over new and old homes, after an earlier decision not to seek them.

3. A slow-down in OPA's program of lifting individual price ceilings; in the case of citrus fruits, an OPA request for restoration of a ceiling already lifted, because orange and grapefruit prices soared. Cocoanut prices have quadrupled since control ended, some fur coats have doubled.

4. A bare-knuckle battle by OPA Administrator Chester Bowles and others for an immediate extension of the price control act beyond June 30, on grounds that merknowledge of its approaching en encourages inflationary psychology and may postpone the movement o goods to market at present prices.

AGREES TO PUT LIMIT ON LIFE

OF LABOR BILL

Schwellenbach Won't Fight Restricting Fact-finding Law Truman Seeks.

MIGHT AVERT STEEL STRIKE

Unions, Set Back by House on Racket Curb, Look for Victory in Senate.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach said today that he had no objection to limiting the life of the fact-finding legislation which the administration has asked to the present "emergency period."

Urging passage of the labor disputes measure before Christmas as asked by President Truman, he told the House Labor Committee that "we are hopeful that it will prevent the threatened steel strike in January.

Schwellenbach made his statement as to a time limit on the measure in answer to a question by Representative Hook (D.-Mich.). But the secretary declined to estimate how long he felt the legislation would be needed. He said that information should come from officials concerned with reconversion.

Pursuing Schwellenbach's expression of hope that the requested law would prevent the steel strike, Representative Geelan (D.-Conn.) asked: "Isn't it a hypothesis we are trying to correct?"

"It is more than a hypothesis when a definite date has been set for the steel strike," Schwellenbach replied.

Labor Ponders Setback.

Meanwhile organized labor took solace in past Senate performance as it pondered its first recent major setback in the House.

Failing to block a drive that won lopsided approval for a bill designed to make unions liable to punishment for violations of the 1934 anti-racketeering act, labor supporters said they were confident they could win in the Senate.

Their optimism was summed up by Representative Marcantonio (Amn. Lab.-N. Y.), who told reporters: "There isn't any question that we can stop it in the Senate."

Marcantonio and others who fought the measure through yesterday's House session pointed out that a similar bill passed by the House in the last Congress died in Senate committee. "The same thing will happen again," the New Yorker added.

Continued on Page 13.

Direct outgrowth of a 1942 Supreme Court decision setting aside the conviction of a local New York teamsters' union on charges of conspiracy to violate the 1934 law, the bill would bring union activities within the scope of that act if they constituted "robbery or extortion." Conviction would be punishable by as much as twenty years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

It strikes from the 1934 law a ban against its application to labor organizations "lawfully carrying out the legitimate objectives" of unions, and removes a section exempting wages paid by a bona fide employer to a bona fide employee from the definition of "property" or "money."

The House action cleared the docket of labor bills in a position to be acted on before the Christmas recess, unless unexpected developments jar loose from committees the President's proposal for fact-finding boards to handle major labor disputes.

Union-Penalty Foes Count On Senate

Washington. Dec. 13 (AP)—Organized labor took solace today in a past Senate performance as it pondered its first recent major setback in the House.

Although they failed to block a drive that won lopsided approval for a bill designed to make unions liable to punishment for violations of the 1934 Anti-Racketeering Act, labor supporters said they were confident they could win in the Senate.

Their optimism was summed up by Representative Marcantonio (A.L., N.Y.), who said: "There isn't any question that we can stop it in the Senate."

Previous Bill Died In Senate

Marcantonio and others who fought the measure through yesterday's House session pointed out that a similar bill passed by the House in the last Congress died in Senate committee.

"The same thing will happen again," he said.

A direct outgrowth of a 1942 Supreme Court decision setting aside the conviction of a local New York teamsters' union on charges of conspiracy to violate the 1934 law, the bill would bring union activities within the scope of that act if they constituted "robbery or extortion."

The Penalties Provided

Conviction would be punishable by as much as twenty years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

The bill strikes out of the 1934 law a ban against its application to labor organizations "lawfully carrying out the legitimate objectives" of unions, and removes a section exempting wages paid by a bona fide employer to a bona fide employé from the definition of "property" or "money."

Truman's Proposal

The House action cleared the docket of labor bills in a position to be acted on before the Christmas recess, unless unexpected developments jar loose from committees President Truman's proposal for fact-finding boards to handle major labor disputes.

Hearings on the fact-finding measure were continued today by the Senate and House Labor committees. Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach was slated to support it before the House group and AFL President William Green was booked to oppose it before the Senate committee.

There was slim chance, though, that the President's request for action before Christmas would be granted.

Steel Workers Say Strike Doesn't Violate Contract

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13 (AP)—Supported by an opinion from their general counsel, Lee Pressman, the CIO United Steel Workers declared in a formal resolution they are within their contract rights in going ahead with plans for a nation-wide strike January 14.

The strike, called by the USW's 175-man wage-policy committee, is to enforce the union's demand for a $2-a-day wage increase.

A resolution, adopted by the committee yesterday, asserted the union "has meticulously adhered to the terms of the contract and will continue to do so."

Murray's Stand

At a news conference, Phillip Murray, president of both the CIO and the steel workers, held out no hope the union will take any new step to avert a strike.

Asked if Government intervention might halt a walkout, Murray said the union would accept a Government invitation to negotiate with a Federal labor conciliator present—if the U. S. Steel Corporation would also accept the invitation.

Such action, Murray said, would at least postpone the strike.

The steelworkers' head had "no comment" when asked what his union would do should legislation proposed by President Truman to curb strikes be adopted before January 14.

$2-A-Day Raise Defended

Defending the demand for a $2-a-day raise, the CIO president declared average weekly earnings for steel workers are now about $46, a drop of $11 since the war's end.

The wage-policy committee, in its resolution, answered a charge by the Iron and Steel Institute that steelworkers' contracts contained a clause "wherein the union agrees not to strike during the life of the contract." The contracts expire in October, 1946.

The union contended the clause permits it to "reopen the contract for a general wage increase upon a change in national wage policy," and added such a change "has been announced, and the War Labor Board, in a unanimous resolution, has expressly recognized that the union is free to bargain with respect to a general wage increase."

CONFERENCE FAILS IN BUS LINE STRIKE

WASHING[illegible]N, Dec. 13 — (AP) Labor department efforts to settle a 43-day strike of 4,000 Greyhound bus employes in 18 states collapsed tonight, the U. S. conciliators said.

Conciliation Commissioners Howard T. Colvin and Martin J. O'Connell issued a statement after a day of conferences, asserting that th company had turned down the government proposal to set up a fact-finding panel to examine the dispute.

"The negotiations will be reopened by the Conciliations Service whenever there is reason to believe that something worth while can be accomplished by such action," the commissioners said.

The companies involved are Pennsylvania Greyhound and Central Greyhound serving 18 states east of the Mississippi and the District of Columbia.

The 4,000 strikers who walked out Nov. 1 when previous conciliation efforts were fruitless were represented by the A.F.L. Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees.

The union asked a pay rate of 5.75 cents per mile and a 30 per cent wage increase for terminal and garage employes.

The companies offered 5.3 cents a mile west of Pittsburgh and 5.4 cents east of Pittsburgh and a 10 cent hourly increase for terminal and garage employes.

At earlier sessions in Cleveland the companies also had refused a proposal, accepted by the union to submit to arbitration. Also at the Cleveland sessions, held Dec. 6 and 7 it was suggested that the fact-finding panel be set up.

Edgar L. Warren, chief of the Conciliation Service, said he did not believe that government seizure of the Greyhound Lines would follow today's negotiation collapse. He added, however, "that something can be done" to settle the drawn out strike of over-the-road bus transportation but he would not elaborate.

SENATE APPROVES BILL FOR CHANGES IN FEDERAL BOARDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(AP) President Truman got power to reorganize government agencies today nearly seven months after he wrote Congress that authority was needed "without delay."

The Senate voted down, 49 to 23, emphatic demands by Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.) that the compromise legislation be sent back to the House. Then it sent the measure to the White House.

Vandenberg complained because the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation is not on a list of six agencies exempt from reorganization.

LaFollette sought exemption for the Federal Power commission, which regulates electric power rates and returns.

Both had been placed on the touch-not list when the Senate first approved the program.

Senator Murdock (D-Utah) reminded the Senate that President Truman had asked for no exemptions at all, and that the compromise measure was the best that could be obtained in the "give and take" of a Senate-House conference that adjusted differences between the bills of the two chambers.

Vandenberg pointed to the six agencies which could not be reorganized, but to which additions could be made. These are the Interstate Commerce, Federal Trade, and Security and Exchange commissions and three agencies dealing with railway labor.

"Under what theory is the SEC more sacred from tampering with than the FDIC?" demanded Vandenberg. "Nothing is more important in these moments of flux than that the American people sleep nights in respect to their banking system."

Murdock, who led the Senate conferees, told Vandenberg it was a little unfair to assume that the President of the United States will do anything to injure the agency protecting bank accounts."

Other senators pointed out that FDIC, along with the Federal communications and Tariff commissions and Veterans administration, were placed in a class requiring separate reorganization plans, if any.

Senators O'Daniel (D-Tex.) and LaFollette joined 21 Republicans voting to send the bill back. Eight Republicans teamed with 41 Democrats to send it on to the White House.

TWO FUNDS ADDED TO DEFICIENCY BILL

DEC 14 1945

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP) The Senate Appropriations committee tonight added $400,000,000 for UNRRA and $171,127,000 for veterans housing to the $1,500,000,000 deficiency bill recently passed by the House.

The UNRRA fund would be an initial installment on the $1,350,000,000 which the U. S. is slated to contribute for the organization's next fiscal year. The House has passed a bill authorizing the contribution and the Senate Foreign Relations committee today approved it.

The Appropriations committee stipulated that the $400,000,000 could be used as soon as the Senate completes action on the $1,350,000,000 authorization.

Funds for veterans housing were increased from the $24,500,000 approved by the House to $195,627,000.

Acting Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) said there were no other major changes in the bill as approved by the House.

The commitee left in appropriations for veterans hospital construction totaling about $158,000,000 and $122,000,000 for flood control and rivers and habors projects, but struck out $800,000 for building transmission lines in the central valley of California.

McKellar told reporters he expects to bring the bill before the Senate Friday to get action before the Christmas recess.

Timothy M. Collins, president of the Connecticut Federation of Labor, asserted yesterday federal, state and municipal governments should "move rapidly to stimulate' large scale housing programs.

In a prepared statement, he termed the housing shortage critical and announced the federation favored the enactment by Congress of the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill which provides for low interest mortage rates and extended amortization periods to encourage home building.

Said Collins:

"Private enterprise would be prompted under this legislation to build in the near future hundreds of thousands of new, decent homes so desperately needed by families with modest incomes, while local hou...

...ing authorities would be aided in carrying on further slum clearance projects and in erecting suitable home for families with low incomes."

One of the best means of avoiding discontent and stabilizing the country's economy, said the labor leader, is to encourage workers to become home owners. "Without long term mortgages and reduced interest rates, however," he added, "it will be impossible for most workers to acquire homes of their own."

G.I. Blasts Army 'Brass Hats' At Hearing on Universal Service

DEC 14 1945

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP) An Army buck private stole the show at a congressional hearing on universal military training today with a scathing attack on "brass hats" and "Pentagon Boy Scouts."

While at least six generals, several admirals and more than a dozen colonels sat by and listened, the G. I. witness, George L. Mark of Cleveland, let loose his blast at the high command after assurances from acting Chairman Thomason (D-Tex) that he would be protected from any possible punishment as a result.

Mark, 37-year-old father of three children, was a surprise witness before the House Military committee. He was called out of turn, and four major generals already on the stand were invited to take a back seat, so he could finish in time to catch a train for Camp Atterbury, Ind., where he is due to be discharged tomorrow. He recently testified on demobilization before a Senate committee.

After briefly citing his military record—he was drafted ten months ago and is stationed at Camp Kilmer, N. J.,—Mark launched into his prepared speech and told the committee why he didn't think Congress should adopt universal military training.

But first he threw the committee and the spectators including the generals and admirals, into an uproar by pointing to his glistening bald head and telling that he had been a hair tonic salesman before he was drafted.

Universal military training, he asserted, was the brain-child of "the Pentagon Boy Scouts," the "bemedaled fourflushers," the "brass hats" and the "aristocratic phoneys of the Pentagon castle."

(The Pentagon building in near by Virginia is headquarters of the War department).

The "brass hats," he said, want universal training because "they want a large army to retain the officers."

"These brass hats don't like work," he asserted. "If they did they wounldn't be in the army. They're in the army as officers because they cannot make a fight in the competitive game."

Then he accused them of attempting to make life miserable for enlisted men so they won't reenlist and of "undermining voluntary enlistments and forcing the Congress to pass a compulsory military training program."

The "aristocratic phoneys of the Pentagon castle," he continued, "have practically atomized the members of Congress from individual thinking," and "bemedaled fourflushers who pass out decorations with one hand and doctored reports on demobilization with the other hand still exist."

Mark, the only G. I. who has testified, said he did not believe compulsory military training is democratic. He asserted it would undermine the morals of the nation's youth, eventually bring about militaristic control of the government, and finally lead the country into war.

Voluntary enlistments, if properly handled, he claimed, would provide sufficient manpower for the peacetime army.

Mark challenged assertions of previous witnesses, including Secretary of War Patterson, that enlisted men generally are in favor of universal military training. His own personal opinion, based on polls of his fellow GI's and letters from men overseas, he said, is that most of the nonofficers in uniform are opposed to it.

McVay Defense

Seeks To Keep Jap Off Stand

DEC 14 1945

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—Capt. Charles B. McVay's defense today vigorously assailed the prosecution for "grotesque proceeding" in seeking to offer a former Japanese naval officer as a witness in his court-martial.

When the judge advocate announced he was ready to call the Japanese officer, Iko Hashimoto, the chief defense counsel, Capt. John P. Cady entered formal objection to the "idea of calling an officer of an enemy force noted for despicable treachery" to testify against an American naval officer.

He objected to admitting the Japanese testimony against McVay "on a question involving his entire future career."

Sure Others Would Agree

He said he felt sure he was expressing the feelings of all American citizens and especially those who served in the armed forces, against "any such spectacle."

McVay is being tried on charges of inefficiency and negligence in connection with the loss of his ship, the heavy cruiser Indianapolis en route from Guam to Leyte last July 30.

Hashimoto was the skipper of enemy submarine I-58, which the Japanese have claimed sent the Indianapolis to the bottom with a heavy loss of life.

Not On Legal Grounds

Captain Cady said his first objection to Hashimoto's appearance on the witness stand was not on purely legal grounds, because "our nation's lawmakers never anticipated such a spectacle."

However, he added, he was urging the additional legal objections that the witness was totally incompetent to recognize the difference between right and wrong and had no conception of what an oath meant.

Responding to the defense's objections, Capt. Thomas J. Ryan, Jr., judge advocate, expressed regret that "any emotional aspects" had been introduced into the proceedings.

"To Testify On Facts"

He told the court he would resent as strongly as anyone any testimony from Hashimoto bearing on the witness's opinion of the integrity or honor of the accused officer. He added he did not intend to seek such testimony.

The only reason for calling Hashimoto, he went on, was to have him testify on facts in his knowledge. He said he intended to ask the witness only where he was on specific occasions, what he saw, what he did and how he did it.

In response to the defense's legal point, the judge advocate said as a special precaution he expected to ask the Court to administer a double oath to Hashimoto—one prescribed by United States naval regulations and another provided for in Japanese courts-martial procedure.

Cites Naval Law

He cited naval law providing specifically that the credence to be given any witness before a court-martial was for the court and not the judge advocate to decide.

The defense then challenged the authenticity of the alleged Japanese oath and Francis R. Eastlake, a civilian Japanese expert of the office of naval intelligence, was summoned to authenticate that oath.

The court recessed briefly to decide that issue.

cruiser Indianapolis, is being tried on charges of negligence and inefficiency in connection with the loss of the ship in that area that night. The negligence charge is based on the allegation that he failed to maintain a zig-zag course.

"I wish to make formal objection," Capt. John P. Cady, chief defense counsel, told the court, "to the idea of calling one of the officers of a defeated enemy who as a nation has been proved guilty of every despicable treachery, of the most infamous cruelties, and barbarous practices in violation of all laws of civilized warfare, to testify against one of our own commanding officers on a matter affecting his professional judgment.

"I am sure I express the feeling of every American citizen, especially those who so recently fought against the Japanese, in protesting at this spectacle.

"This objection is not and cannot be based on any legalistic grounds, since our lawmakers have never imagined through the centuries of Anglo-Saxon law any such grotesque proceedings."

Capt. Thomas J. Ryan, Jr., the court's judge advocate, expressed regret at the introduction of "emo-

JAP SKIPPER TELLS OF SINKING CRUISER

Sub Commander Testifies He Scored Three Torpedo Hits.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP) Over defense protests, a former Japanese submarine commander was admitted as a prosecution witness before a Navy court martial today to tell how he sank a large warship which he said was making no radical change of its course.

Iko Hashimoto, short, squat and bullet-headed, told the court trying Capt. Charles B. McVay, 3rd, that he fired six torpedoes and scored three certain hits on a large warship between Guam and Leyte after trailing her for 27 minutes the night of July 29-30.

McVay, skipper of the U. S.

30-24-32375

tional aspects."

He said he would "resent as much as anybody" any questioning of the Japanese as to the honor or integrity of the accused officer, but that he intended to ask only for "facts in the knowledge" of the witness.

He said he would ask only "where he was on specific occasions, what he saw, what he did and how he did it."

Hashimoto testified that about 11:05 p. m., (zone minus 9 time), July 29 his submarine was about 290 miles slightly west of due north of Palau, at latitude 12 degrees 31 minutes north, 134 degrees 16 minutes east. He said he surfaced his ship to take bearings and discerned a "dark object" about 11,000 yards away.

Closed On Target

He immediately crash-dived, swung in the direction of the target, and began to close range, keeping the ship under constant observation through the night periscope. At about 3,000 yards, he said, he recognized the ship as of 10,000-ton cruiser class or larger, and at 1,500 meters fired six torpedoes in two salvos of three each, at three-second intervals.

He said he got three certain hits, confirmed by observation of three separate columns of water. He heard a fourth explosion but did not confirm that as a hit by observation.

Previous testimony had set the time of the Indianapolis explosion as 12:05 a. m., July 30. The Indianapolis was operating on zone minus 9 1-2 time. Survivors of the cruiser have testified to hearing two almost simultaneous explosions.

Hashimoto said the target ship obviously made no radical change of course while he had it under surveillance, but that it might have made a minor change.

utes, the witness related.

He said that he fired torpedoes in salvos of three at three second intervals and saw three hits through his periscope.

The Japanese officer, testifying through an interpreter, described the target of his torpedoes as a "dark object," making no attempt to identify it as the Indianapolis or a warship of any other type.

Hashimoto was admitted as a witness despite vigorous objection by defense counsel for McVay, who is being tried on charges of negligence and inefficiency in the loss of his heavy cruiser, the Indianapolis, that night as it was en route from Guam to Leyte.

The court admitted the Japanese officer as a witness after ruling it was proper to subject him to a double oath. He was given both the standard oath prescribed by United States naval procedure, as well as that used in Japanese court-martial.

Had Surfaced Submarine.

Hashimoto, who was flown here from Tokyo, testified that he first sighted the dark object when he surfaced his submarine to investigate visibility after the moon had risen. He said he crash-dived immediately and put the submarine on a course toward the object he had sighted. He estimated the range at 10,000 meters.

He computed the estimated rse and speed of the target nd prepared torpedoes for firing. He estimated the target was traveling at a speed of about twelve knots, while his submerged speed was about three knots.

When he got within 1,500 meters of the target, he related, he loosed his torpedoes. Raising his periscope after firing, he reported he saw three hits forward of the target object between the bridge and the bow area. He knew three hits were scored, he explained, because he saw three separate and distinct columns of water. Five of the torpedoes fired, he said, were equipped with magnetic war heads.

DEC 13 1945

Credibility Given Test.

Before Hashimoto was sworn, he was subjected to a preliminary examination by defense counsel to test his credibility. He said he was a Shintoist, fully aware of the meaning of truth and falsehood, and that his religion taught he would be punished for uttering any falsehood.

McVay's counsel fought Hashimoto's appearance on the witness stand as a "grotesque proceeding."

When the Judge Advocate announced that he was ready to call the Japanese officer, the chief defense counsel, Capt. John P. Cady, entered formal objection to the "idea of calling an officer of an enemy force noted for despicable treachery" to testify against an American naval officer.

He objected to admitting the Japanese testimony against McVay "on a question involving his entire future career." He said he felt sure he was expressing the feelings of all American citizens and especially those who served in the armed forces, against any such spectacle.

McVay is being tried on charges of inefficiency and negligence in connection with the loss of his ship, the heavy cruiser Indianapolis en route from Guam to Leyte last July 30. Hashimoto was the skipper of enemy submarine I-58, which the Japanese have claimed sent the Indianapolis to the bottom with a heavy loss of life.

Entirely New Precedent.

Capt. Cady said his first objection to Hashimoto's appearance on the witness stand was not on purely legal grounds, because our nation's lawmakers never anticipated such a spectacle. However, he added, he was urging the additional legal objections that the witness was totally incompetent to recognize the difference between right and wrong and had no conception of what an oath meant.

Responding to the defense's objections, Capt. Thomas J. Ryan Jr., Judge Advocate, expressed regret that any emotional aspects had been introduced into the proceedings. He told the court he would resent as strongly as any one any testimony from Hashimoto bearing on the witnesses's opinion of the integrity or honor of the accused officer. He added he did not intend to seek such testimony.

Explains Testimony Desired.

The only reason for calling Hashimoto, he went on, was to have him testify on facts in his knowledge. He said he intended to ask the witness only where he was on specific occasions, what he saw, what he did and how he did it.

In response to the defense's legal point, the Judge Advocate said as a special precaution he expected to ask the court to administer a double oath to Hashimoto—one prescribed by United States naval regulations and another provided for in Japanese courts-martial procedure. He cited naval law providing specifically that the credence to be given any witness before a court martial was for the court and not the Judge Advocate to decide.

The defense then challenged the authenticity of the alleged Japanese oath and Francis R. Eastlake, a civilian Japanese expert of the Office of Naval Intelligence, was summoned to authenticate that oath.

The court recessed briefly to decide that issue.

Jap Allowed to Testify at McVay's Trial

Enemy Submarine Officer Says Dark Object Was Target for His Torpedoes.

Washington, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—Iko Hashimoto, a Japanese submarine commander, told a Navy court-martial trying Capt. Charles B. McVay 3d today that his ship fired three torpedoes into a dark object which it sighted 290 miles from Palau on the night of July 29-30. His submarine had been trailing its target for twenty-seven min-

ON WORLD TRADE

DEC 13 1945

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—The United States today invited 14 countries to a conference next spring dedicated to the reduction of world trade barriers.

A State department announcement said the aim is to negotiate tariff reductions and "to prepare projects for consideration" at later general international conference on trade and employment tentatively scheduled for next summer.

Countries invited to sit in on the talks, which an official said might be held in Europe, are Russia, France, Britain, China, Australia, Brazil, Canada, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Holland, India, New Zealand, South Africa and Belgium-Luxembourg.

Government officials said one of the major tasks confronting the participants would be to begin the actual reduction of empire trade preferences—a policy agreed to by the United States and Britain during their recently concluded trade and financial conversations.

The United States will seek to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements with nations not yet covered by such pacts and to modernize and renegotiate existing agreements.

"Those invitations have just been sent, and there has not yet been time for any of the countries concerned to reply to them," the announcement said.

The State department stressed however that if and when the nations invited accept "the usual formal notice of intention to negotiate trade agreements will be published" and hearings will be held in the United States to determine what the American offer to these nations should be.

proved by President Truman came from real estate circles.

On Capitol Hill, a spot check of the House Banking Committee considering the price-fixing legislation disclosed that a number of members believe Mr. Truman already has sufficient authority to deal with the housing problem.

Home Builders Opposed

This sentiment was echoed by the National Association of Home Builders, which said the imminent restoration of building materials to a priorities system made price ceilings unnecessary.

Frank W. Cortwright, executive vice president of the association, said his organization would continue to oppose ceilings "as unrealistic and unworkable, and as a stumbling block to solving the housing problem."

He said Mr. Truman's program for channeling 50 per cent of all building materials to residential dwellings costing $10,000 or less would help keep all home prices in line.

Won't Pay Top Price

"I don't think people will be foolish enough to pay rediculous prices for homes," Cortwright said, "and that means builders won't be able to charge them."

The National Housing Agency, on the other hand, said in a statement:

"When people want shelter, they want it bad. Within limits, many people will pay any price for a place to live."

Only 30 P.C. Now

Cortwright said home builders have been getting only about 30 per cent of available construction supplies, and that with this increased to 50 per cent under the new program there is good chance that a goal of 500,000 new homes in 1946 can be realized.

In Omaha, President Van Holt Garrett of the National Association

14 NATIONS ASKED TO ATTEND PARLEY

Real Estate Men Oppose Plan For Price Ceilings

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—Administration-indorsed legislation to fix price ceilings on new and existing houses ran into stiff opposition today.

The most outspoken criticism of the proposed control program ad-of Real Estate Boards, said imposition of ceilings would be a "very dangerous step." The association, in a statement issued in Washington, commented that ceilings could nullify any benefits resulting from restoration of building material priorities.

On the subject of priorities, the Producers Council, Inc., said earmarking supplies will make little difference in the number of homes built next year "unless the Government takes steps to stimulate greater production of materials and equipment," and helps the construction industry with price and manpower problems.

The council, a national organization of building products manufacturers' said in a statement the proposed ceiling program "brings with it a great risk of delaying home building."

Meanwhile, Representative Patman (D., Texas), author of the pending legislation on housing ceilings termed the President's indorsement and priorities program steps "in the right direction."

Not Expected To Pass

But Representative Wolcott, of Michigan, ranking Republican member of the Banking Committee, expressed the opinion that the Patman bill has no chance of passing in its present form.

The bill provides that the ceiling on an existing home would be the first price at which it sells after enactment of the legislation. On new homes, the ceiling would be based on actual construction costs, the fair market value of the land, and the contractor's 1941 profit margin on a comparable dwelling.

Under the bill, ceilings would be fixed only in areas where they were deemed necessary by a housing director.

Priorities As Control

Chairman Spence (D., Ky.) of the Banking Committee said the allocation of building materials to dwellings costing $10,000 or less seemed to be an effective means of price control.

He added, however, that since the Government has no "absolute authority" to fix actual ceilings on homes, the committee would "have to look into that."

Authority for priorities stems from the second War Powers Act. Government attorneys have decided ceilings could not be fixed under the act.

government's new housing program.

Dr. Kathryn McHale, general director of the association, wrote Reconversion Director John W. Snyder that building materials should be earmarked for homes costing $6,000 or less instead of $10,000 or under as planned.

She referred to channeling of building supplies to home construction under a priorities system to be established in a few days.

"There appears," Dr. McHale said, "to be no provision guarding against the possibility all materials under priority will be used for houses at the highest price permitted, $10,000."

Quoting from an Army survey at Separation centers, Dr. McHale said only five to 16 per cent of veterans discharged expected to be able to pay as much as $50 a month for rent or house payments.

"The survey concluded," she said, "that virtually all the veterans' need was for houses below $6,000."

The Veterans of Foreign Wars sent a resolution to Congress asking the creation of a special housing administration for veterans.

Omar B. Ketchum, VFW legislative director, said in a statement that "at present it is everybody's, but nobody's job, to relocate the veteran. We want the responsibility pinned down so the work will be done efficiently."

At the same time the VFW statement praised "President Truman's swift and drastic action to ease the national housing crisis, particularly to expedite the immediate housing of veterans." It said the President acted "completely in line" with VFW recommendations.

In Congress, a spot check of the House Banking committee showed a number of members believed Mr. Truman already has enough authority to tackle the housing problem without legislation to fix price ceilings. The committee is considering the administration-endorsed Patman bill which provides for ceilings on new and existing houses.

Cost of New Homes Too High For Veterans, Women Complain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 — (AP) The American Association of University Women complained today that most veterans will be unable to afford the homes built under the

Dramatic Details Of Loss Of Cruiser Juneau Revealed

DEC 14 1945

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—One of the great dramas of the war—the loss of the light cruiser Juneau and the harrowing experiences of her handful of ten survivors—has been pieced together from scattered sources in Navy Department files.

The Juneau was just eight months in service when she was mortally wounded in her second major action in the battle of Guadalcanal, which marked the end of Japanese aggression to the south.

Badly crippled by a torpedo, the Juneau was forced to retire from the action. Later the same day, November 13, 1942, she was again torpedoed. She sank within a minute.

Among the victims were the five Sullivan brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Sullivan, of Waterloo, Iowa.

Survivors On Rafts

When the water calmed after the ship went under, the small group of survivors huddled on and around life rafts, life floats and debris.

A grim night followed, during which several of the group died. The next day sharks attacked, and one man had the skin ripped off one hand by a savage shark. That day a plane roared overhead and dropped an uninflated rubber raft about 200 yards away. Despite the sharks, Signalman First Class Joseph P. F. Hartney, of New Britain, Conn., decided to swim for it.

"The sharks were cowards," he related later. "All I had to do was kick my feet when they came at me and they were scared away."

Try To Make Land

He reached the raft, inflated it and paddled back. He had an idea that land was about 55 miles away and, after receiving permission from one of the injured officers aboard the main raft, decided to make a try for it. James Fitzgerald, seaman first class of Manchester, Conn., volunteered to go with him.

Lieut. (jg) Charles Wang, of Philadelphia, a torpedo officer of the Juneau, was badly hurt. Hartney and Fitzgerald put him aboard their flimsy craft and paddled away, with Hartney doing the navigating.

Their equipment consisted of the raft, a pump, paddles, a patching kit, a bailing bag and a knife. They had neither food nor water. They paddled until exhausted, rested, and then paddled some more. That was their routine for days, broken by unsuccessful attempts at fishing for food, using Lieutenant Wang's shoelaces for a line and his collar pin for a hook. They caught rain water in the bailing bag, which they used as a sea anchor at night.

Spotted Jap Planes

On the third day, they spotted planes, which turned out to be Japanese. They fell flat on the raft and escaped detection.

Then on the same day they saw a low haze in the distance, and knew land was there. They were sure it was San Cristobal Island, at the lower end of the Solomons.

Then, on November 20, came a bitter disappointment. They sighted a PBY navy patrol bomber and signaled it, using the bright blade of the aluminum paddle. The PBY pilot saw them, but before he could come in close a squall blotted them out.

Held Out Through Storm

A terrific storm followed, and for nine hours the men had all they could do to keep afloat. But they won out and when the weather cleared they were within sight of San Cristobal.

Early the morning of November 21 they grounded on a coral reef. Ashore, they found friendly natives who fed them and got word to a white trader on a near-by island, who sent a boat for them. On the trader's island, they signaled a passing patrol plane, which landed and picked them up.

A rescue party was then sent after those who had stayed behind. But it never reached them. Seven of them were finally saved.

Gunner's Mate Allan C. Heyn, of Washington, D.C., the sole survivor of a group of twelve who became separated from the others, told how his companions, crazed by the ordeal, fell or dived from their raft to be killed by circling sharks.

Kept Seeing Mirages

"Like travelers in the desert," he said, "these men kept seeing 'mirages' in the water. For example, they insisted that the Juneau was right beneath us on the bottom. She was all lit up, they said, with the crew at their battle stations waiting for the Japs. One man announced he was going down for a cup of coffee and some sandwiches.

"On the sixth day there were three of us left, a boatswain's mate, a young Mexican and myself. That was when we got our first food. A sea gull lit on the raft, and I wrung its neck. We tried to eat it, but only managed a few mouthfuls.

He Was Being Stabbed

"That night the boatswain's mate left us. His back had been so badly scorched by the sun that both the skin and flesh were splitting and cracking. He was in real agony. He told us he'd rather swim for land and go down trying than just cling to the raft. He turned and swam off in the dark as if land were just around the corner. We never saw him again.

"The next night, the young Mexican suddenly cried out he was being stabbed. I thought he was just having another crazy spell, but when I grabbed hold of his shoulders I saw he was telling the truth. A giant shark was literally eating him out of my arms as I tried to hang on. He screamed once as he went under. His head reappeared for a second and he screamed again.

[Continued On Page 4, Column 1]

"That night was the longest of my life. The sharks were all around me in the water. Why they didn't get me I'll never know. I like to think it was because I did so much praying and had faith that my prayers would be answered.

"On the ninth day a navy patrol plane spotted me. The pilot waved, but flew away. It came back two hours later leading a destroyer to me. Aboard ship the doctor said I had a fractured skull, shrapnel in my foot and was suffering from exposure."

Plane Dropped Rations

Of the remaining group, there were six survivors, the only ones still capable of paddling their raft after five days under a blazing sun in the shark-infested waters. This group was sighted by a patrol plane which dropped a life jacket containing rations and a message promising rescue.

Leading this group was George I. Mantere, chief gunner's mate, of San Diego, Cal.

Mantere and Hartney were awarded the Legion of Merit for their "exceptionally meritorious conduct," and the Bronze Star was awarded Wyartt Butterfield, Seaman 1/c, of Trenton, N.J., a member of Mantere's group who, despite weakness and exhaustion, swam, fought off sharks and recovered the life jacket dropped by the rescue plane.

Others In Group

Other survivors were Chief Steward's Mate Lester E. Zook, of Arcadia, Neb.; Arthur T. Friend, boilermaker 2/c, of Oakland, Cal.; Henry J. Gardner, machinst's mate 1/c, San Diego, and Frank A. Holmgren, gunner's mate 3/c, Eatontown, N.J.

Gardner received a letter of commendation for courage in fighting to keep the Juneau afloat after the ship was struck by the first torpedo, risking his own life to descend into the fireroom to shore and brace bulkheads.

The final casualty toll in the ship's loss was 37 officers and 647 enlisted men either dead or missing in action.

THREE-WAY SPLIT MARKS DEBATE ON EMPLOYMENT BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP) The House split into three major factions today over what role the government should take in maintaining employment in the nation.

Party lines broke as members debated sharply a measure laying down a Federal policy for avoiding a scarcity of jobs. A vote is not expected until late Friday.

The three groups were:

1. Members supporting the pending bill offered by the expenditures committee. It would commit the government to maintain "a high level of employment, production and purchasing power."

2. Those urging adoption of a substitute calling for a Federal action to help assume "full employment."

3. Those opposing both versions. Some of these are against any such legislation. Others expressed fear that any measure approved by the House would be rewritten later by Senate-House conferees to meet administration desires.

Even some legislators who are frequent administration backers split over the legislation.

Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) of the Rules committee declared he wanted a "full employment" bill, but added "we can't have our way at all times, so we must yield to this compromise." He referred to the pending "high employment" bill.

Rep. Outland (D-Calif.) asserted, however, that "those of us sponsoring the original full employment bill are going to continue to fight for it so we can give President Truman what he wants."

Mr. Truman has asked repeatedly for "full employment" legislation and has criticized the expenditures group for delay in handling the measure. The Senate passed a modified version early in October.

Speaking for the committee, Chairman Manasco (D-Ala.) asserted the pending measure "is a sensible, workable bill to try and keep up high levels of employment without bankrupting our government." He added that "we can't guarantee jobs for all as the original bill did."

Several Republican leaders spoke out against either type of bill at this time, saying that administration forces would control the writing of an eventual compromise.

30.24-3237

Total of Unemployed Persons 30 P. C. Below Expectations

Washington, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—The impact of peace on joblessness is 30 to 40 per cent lighter than reconversion officials expected. Fewer lay-offs in industry and an unexpectedly high and sustained rate of buying are among factors that have prompted key Federal economists to offer this improved employment outlook:

By the year's end, the total of actual and potential job-seekers will be 4,000,000 at the most, one-third less than had been predicted for that date when hostilities ceased. By next March the jobless will number not more than 5,000,000. This may be the peak for 1946.

After hovering around that mark until about June the total may begin to decline as civilian manufacturing hits full stride. But officials are wary of guessing beyond mid-1946.

The totals fall far short of Reconversion Director John W. Snyder's estimate, on October 1, that unemployment would hit 8,000,000 by spring.

However, it is known that the forecasts are concurred in by experts in Snyder's office, in the Bureau of Census and some other agencies concerned with the employment problem.

May Bring New Problem.

The happier outlook may bring different sort of problem, Price Administrator Chester Bowles has indicated. He said Monday that the continued high rate of employment was adding to inflationary pressure, making it harder to end price controls.

Bowles mentioned the new census figures which put unemployment at 1,580,000 in November, hardly up from October. However, the census estimate does not include the outpouring of discharged veterans who are visiting or vacationing before they look for work. Nor does it list civilian workers who are taking a rest after arduous wartime efforts.

First Estimates Off.

Adding these in as potential job seekers, and allowing amply for possible error in the census sampling, Government statisticians believe there now are between 2,500,000 and 3,500,000 people who want or will want jobs.

By comparison, the War Manpower Commission estimated after V-J day that 6,000,000 would be out of work by the end of this month.

Two factors not fully appreciated last fall now are seen as holding down the curve of unemployment.

First was the tendency of employers to hang on to their help even when orders were canceled, in order to have workers when the production lines were ready to make civilian goods.

Second, consumer purchasing continues to run ahead of expectations and will continue for months since the public so far has had little chance to replace worn-out appliances and clothes.

of his life," enabled his company to continue its attack, "the resumption of which was of great significance in gaining the approaches to the Cologne plain."

Ray's unit, Company F, Eighth Infantry, Fourth (Ivy) Division, was driving through the Hurtgen Forest, near Schevenhutte, on November 17, 1944, when it was halted by a concertina-type wire barrier and plagued by a heavy concentration of enemy fire from small arms, machineguns, mortars and artillery pieces.

The War Department citation also said.

"Under heavy fire, Lieut. Ray reorganized his men and preparedto blow a path through the entanglement, a task which appeared impossible of accomplishment and from which others tried to dissuade him. With implacable determination to clear the way, he placed explosive caps in his pockets, obtained several bangalere torpedoes and then wrapped a length of highly-explosive primer cord about his body. He dashed forward under direct fire, reached the barbed wire and prepared his demolition charge as mortar shells, which were being aimed at him alone, came steadily nearer his completely exposed position. He had placed a torpedo under the wire and was connecting it to a charge he carried when he was severely wounded by a bursting mortar shell.

"Apparently realizing that he would fail in his self-imposed mission unless he completed it in a few moments, he made a supremely gallant decision. With the primer cord still wound about his body and the explosive caps in his pocket, he completed a hasty wiring system and unhesitatingly thrust down on the handle of the charger, destroying himself with the wire barricade in the resulting blast.

"By the deliberate sacrifice of his life, Lieut. Ray enabled his company to continue its attack."

Ray was born on June 9, 1921, in Brooklyn. He enlisted in the Army as a private June 11, 1942, and received his basic training at Fort Meade, Md. He attended an infantry officer candidate school at Fort Benning, Ga., and received his commission as a second lieutenant on June 2, 1943.

He received a promotion to first lieutenant on July 16, 1944. He previously had been awarded the Bronze Star and the Combat Infantryman Badge, for exemplary conduct in action against the enemy.

Blew Himself to Death to Open Path for G. I.'s

Long Island Man Turned Himself Into Human Explosive to Blast Wire Barrier.

Washington, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—Lieut. Bernard J. Ray of Baldwin, L. I., who opened a path for his company through a wire barrier in Germany by turning himself into a human explosive charge, has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously.

The War Department, in announcing the award today, said that Ray, a combat infantry officer, "by the deliberate sacrifice

House Opening Troopship Inquiry

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—A congressional inquiry into the shipping facilities available for bringing troops home from overseas opens today.

Representative Havenner (D., Cal.), chairman of a House Naval Affairs subcommittee appointed to conduct the inquiry, said navy representatives would be questioned first.

Army And WSA Later

Later, he said, the Army and the War Shipping Administration would be called upon for information about reports that ships capable of carrying troops are lying idle while troops eligible for discharge are waiting at overseas ports for transportation home.

The committee, Havenner said, wants a complete list of ships now assigned to troop transport, and accurate figures on the number of army, navy and marine corps personnel stationed overseas who are now eligible for discharge or will be eligible within the next three months.

Other Data Wanted

Other information the committee desires:

1. A list of ships capable of use for troop transportation that are not being used, and the reasons why not.

2. A list of ships owned by the United States, capable of troop transportation, that are now in the possession of foreign governments or are being operated by the United States to provide troop transportation for foreign governments.

3. A complete list of ships owned by the United States which are lying idle in American, Philippine or other overseas ports because of "delays in repair service or turn-around orders."

'GI Bill Of Rights' Amendments Backed

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee agreed today on amendments to the so-called "GI Bill of Rights" liberalizing loans and educational grants.

The House had recommended that loans for buying homes, businesses and farms be approved by local appraisers while the Senate had asked approval by the Vetreans Administration. The conference agreed [illegible] local appraisers appointed by the Veterans Administration.

Gen. Luther Deck Miller Promoted By Truman

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—President Truman today nominated Brig. Gen. Luther Deck Miller, chief of army chaplains, to the rank of major general. General Miller, a regular army man since 1918, is a native of Leechburg, Pa.

TRUMAN TO ENJOY YULE DAY AT HOME

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 — (AP) The nation's first family will exchange gifts around a lighted Christmas tree in the living room in their Independence, Mo., home Christmas afternoon, the White House said today.

Mrs. Truman and her daughter, Margaret, have finished all their shopping and expect to leave Washington for Independence by train late on Dec. 18. Mrs. Truman's mother, Mrs. David Wallace, will accompany them.

The President has announced that he will follow by plane on Christmas morning.

The holiday dinner will follow Mrs. Truman's favorite menu: mushroom soup, roast turkey, scalloped oysters, jellied cranberries, celery, olives, jelly, pickles, mashed potatoes, giblet gravy, cauliflower, soft rolls, pear and cheese ball salad, plum pudding hard sauce, coffee, candy and nuts.

Margaret Truman, who has been suffering from a heavy cold, was able to return to her classes at George Washington university today.

U.S. Agrees To Lend $5,000,000 To Finland

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—The United States agreed today to lend $5,000,000 to Finland, the only nation to meet its World War I financial obligations to this country in the period between the wars.

Finland will use the funds to purchase approximately 46,000 bales of United States cotton, the Export-Import Ban kof Washington announced.

Walter Grasbeck, chairman of the Finnish trade delegation to the United States, signed the new loan agreement on behalf of his Government.

The loan to Finland was the first to be made from the general credit of $100,000,000 established by the Export-Import Bank in October to finance shipments of United States cotton to European countries.

693,380 Japanese Returned To Homeland

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—A total of 693,380 of Japanese nationals have been repatriated to the home islands in compliance with the surrender agreement, the State Department announced today.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur sent word from Tokyo that this number had been brought back as of December 2. The supreme Allied commander said the repatriates included 313,818 army personnel; 42,862 navy personnel, and 336,700 Japanese civilians.

Nearly two thirds of the total were repatriated from the United States zone in Korea, MacArthur said. He added that the repatriation was being carried out in captured Japanese ships and short-range United States landing craft. In the surrender agreement, the United States and the other allies assumed the obligation of returning Japanese nationals abroad to the homeland.

President To Accept Envoy's Resignation

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—President Truman today agreed to accept the resignation of Charles Sawyer, Ambassador to Belgium, before the end of the year.

Sawyer, Cincinnati lawyer and former Ohio Democratic state chairman, so advised reporters after calling on the President at the White House.

The Ambassador said he would go back to Cincinnati to practice law as soon as his resignation is formally accepted. He said no definite date had been agreed upon but that it would be effective before January 1.

FOES HELPED ATOM CHECK

Hoover Says Captured Agents Kept Tab On Enemy Work

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 13 (AP)—Captured Axis espionage agents, permitted to continue their activities "under our complete control," assisted the United States to keep tab on enemy atomic bomb experiments, J. Edgar Hoover reported today.

Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, told the International Association of Police Chiefs that close co-ordination of law enforcement agencies throughout the Americas wrecked plans of spies and rendered the saboteur powerless.

"Law enforcement was so completely in control of the situation that a number of apprehended espionage agents were allowed to operate under our complete control," he stated.

FBI Chief Cites Results

"In that way we not only were able to prevent information of value from getting to the enemy but we learned a great deal about their requests for specific information along certain lines," Hoover reported.

As chairman of the association's committee on international relations, the FBI chief cited these results from joint wartime efforts of law enforcement agencies in Latin and North America:

1. Not a single act of foreign-directed sabotage against the industrial United States was successful.

2. More than 1,500 spies, saboteurs, smugglers of strategic war materials, propagandists and other enemy agents were identified.

3. Twenty-four clandestine radio stations were found and 28 transmitters were confiscated.

The FBI chief disclosed that in 1944 Peruvian police provided a photograph, finger prints and other data on Eric Gimpel, enemy agent, a few hours after he was landed in this country by a German submarine and before he was taken into custody.

DEC 14 1945

Plutonium Difficult To Produce For Bomb

Rock Island, Ill., Dec. 13 (AP)—A balance so tiny that its operating parts ranged in size from invisibility to four times the width of a human hair had to be perfected before scientists could produce plutonium, the substance in one type of atomic bomb.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, codiscoverer of plutonium, told the Illinois-Iowa section of the American Chemical Society that the new field of study had been named ultramichrochemistry and that it was developed because of the extremely small quantities of the desired substances present in uranium.

Atom Hearing Off Track: Tydings

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—Senator Tydings (D., Md.) said today he wonders whether the Senate Atomic Energy Committee isn't holding hearings on the wrong thing.

Ostensibly, he said, the hearings are on domestic control of the newly discovered force; actually, the witnesses are insisting on putting an absolute end to war.

"We started out after a titmouse and we've found us a bear," Tydings told reporters.

"Must Outlaw All Weapons"

He questioned three young physicists closely in yesterday's hearings as to whether complete disarmament isn't necessary if further fighting is to be prevented. Summing up their testimony, Tydings said:

"You're not going to have world peace by outlawing the atomic bomb alone. You're going to have to outlaw all other weapons too."

Dr. Alvin Weinberg, chief of the theoretical physics section at the Clinton Laboratories, Oak Ridge, Tenn., told Tydings that should there be another war, it will either start or finish with the atomic bomb.

"Saturation" Angle

Emphasizing that the atomic bomb is not just another weapon, he said it is the only one that has the quality of "saturation." He said he meant by that that it wouldn't do the United States any good to have 50,000 atomic bombs against an enemy's 10,000—the 10,000 would be enough to wipe out all our cities and deal us a crushing blow if the enemy got the advantage of a surprise attack.

"It's like two men in a locked room, each with a machine gun," Weinberg went on. "It doesn't make any difference if one man's gun is a little better than the other's, or that he has a lot more cartridges. Whoever shoots first wins."

Today's witness list includes Commodore W. S. Parsons, who was on the first atomic bombing flights over Hiroshima.

President First To Ask A-Test On Warships

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—President Truman proposed the projected Army-Navy test of atomic bombs against warships, the White House disclosed today.

The War and Navy Departments on Monday announced plans for the experiments.

Questioned at a news conference, White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters Mr. Truman not only approved the decision, but suggested it.

"His Proposal," Says Ross

"It was his proposal," Ross said.

Ross could not say whether the test would be made against American ships or captured enemy vessels.

The Army-Navy statement said plans for the bombing are being made but set no date for the test.

A reporter asked if Mr. Truman was likely to view the test. Ross replied that he had no idea, that the matter had not been discussed at all.

TRANSPORT SAILS SLOWLY TO PORT WITH NAVY ESCORT

DEC 14 1945

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(AP) Heavy seas and strong winds in the north Atlantic tonight hammered five disabled or grounded vessels.

They were the troopship Joseph Hooker with 562 servicemen aboard an Argentine corvette and three fishing craft.

The Hooker, still shipping water through ruptured starboard plates, was proceeding to New York under naval escort at 11 knots. Naval officials were uncertain when she would reach port.

Latest information was that the crew of the Hooker was winning its battle with seawater pouring into the broken hull and that the ship was in no danger.

The Hooker radioed a distress call last night about 500 miles from New York. Ships in the vicinity stood by until the cruiser Honolulu arrived to serve as escort.

The fishing dragger Hazel B, with a crew of 12 aboard, was reported listing badly in heavy seas off Nova Scotia after Tuesday's gale pounded her, smashing two lifeboats.

The Rosemarie M., a sister dragger, was standing by to render assistance as the disabled craft rode out the rough waters.

On Rose and Crown shoal, within sight of Nantucket island, the Argentine corvette Independencia was grounded and taking water in her forward compartments, but was on an even keel. A salvage tug stood by. The Independencia, with a Canadian crew of 46 aboard, was not in immediate danger, the Coast Guard said.

The Boston lobster smack Fannie was out of fuel and adrift 100 miles southeast of Cape Ann, and the Coast Guard cutter Thetis was headed toward her.

The Coast Guard asked the Canadian government to rush assistance to the trawler Gale, which left Boston Dec. 5 with a crew of 17, and was reported aground off Sable Island, Nova Scotia.

A sister ship, the Breaker, was standing by, said a message to her owners, the General Seafoods corporation of Boston.

Troopship Goes On Unassisted

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Navy said today that the troopship Joseph Hooker, which radioed a distress call from the Atlantic last night, still was shipping water, but was proceeding at six knots and expected to reach port under her own power.

The Air Sea Rescue Office, Eastern Sea Frontier, said the ship was 270 miles east southeast of the Nantucket Light vessel last night. First distress signal from the Hooker said:

"Taking water in No. 3 hold. Request vessels stand by in case cannot keep pumps going."

Among the Army units represented aboard the Hooker is the 141st Field Artillery Battalion.

Crew Stays On Corvette

Nantucket, Mass., Dec. 13 (AP)—The Venezuelan corvette Independencia which went aground last night off this island, radioed the Coast Guard early today that it was "okay until daylight" and that it was "not necessary to remove personnel."

Two Boston tugs were en route to the scene and another tug was speeding from Newport, R.I.

LAST 'YANK' PRINTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—(AP) The last issue of Yank, the Army weekly that was started on a $25,000 loan and which returned more than $1,000,000 profit to the War department, rolled off the presses today.

Emblazoned on the cover of the magazine, written by and for enlisted men only, was a special honorable discharge certificate signed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief of staff.

Scholarship Foundation Set As Memorial To Bong

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Leading American aviation figures of two world wars today took leadership in the Richard Ira Bong Memorial Foundation of Poplar, Wis., a group formed to maintain the memory of America's leading ace in World War II, killed last August 6 on a West Coast test flight.

Honorary chairman of the organization is Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, top flyer of World War I and currently president and general manager of Eastern Air Lines, Inc., assisted by Col. James Stewart, returned to Hollywood recently after more than four years' service with the Army Air Forces, and Gen. H. H. Arnold, commandant of the United States Army Air Forces, as vice chairmen.

Downed 40 Planes

Bong, awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor along with 25 other high tributes, brought down 40 enemy planes before he left the Pacific in December, 1944.

Under the foundation's program, 50 qualified high-school students will be given annual scholarships of $1,000 each for four years to pursue aeronautical engineering courses at accredited colleges and universities, Rickenbacker said.

"Dick Bong, a farm boy of modest circumstances, had to struggle hard for what education he got, Rickenbacker said. "But it took war to open the gates of opportunity to him. We believe that America can offer more than a war to bring to the surface the native ability of our young people."

Selection In States

The scholarships will be open to graduates of public, private or parochial high schools in the 48 states. Alaska and the District of Columbia, with selections to be made by state committees.

Norman Lapole, of Poplar, is president of the nonprofit foundation formed to carry out the program, to include the erection of a memorial building at Poplar.

Remote Control Curbs Test-Flying Dangers

Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 13 (AP)—Remote control already has eliminated much of the danger of test-flying new airplanes, Navy officials said today, as well as opening new possibilites for training pilots and gunners for the age af superspeeds in air warfare.

The Navy demonstrated publicly for the first time at its air station near here the taking off, maneuvering and landing of combat aircraft by radio, using a seven-ton Grumman F6F Hellcat. Complete control of planes by radio usually is limited to small target ships, of which the Navy bought more than 18,000 during the war.

The art of remote control has gone far beyond that now, Commander Moulton B. Taylor, of Longview, Wash., officer in charge of pilotless aircraft development, said.

Purpose Of Jet "Drone"

The Navy showed for the first time, for example, its remotely controlled jet target plane, using a 120-pound turbo-jet engine 9½ inches in diameter. This plane is launched from a mother ship, and control is taken over by a fighter plane. The purpose of the jet "drone" is to give gunners, and later on pilots of jet propelled fighters, practice against aircraft having speeds in ranges well beyond that possible in target planes using conventional engines.

The Navy is converting 100 war-weary fighters into "drones" for use in realistic dog-fights in which the trainee-pilot can actually shoot down his simulated enemy instead of merely recording his shots on photographic film.

30-24-32379

Enthusiastic About Possibilities

Such training will replace shooting at towed sleeve targets, officials said, because it provides the realism of a maneuvering target and a final check on the effect of the pilot's marksmanship. The control plane can be miles away, or the "drone" can be controlled from the ground.

Navy officers were particularly enthusiastic about the use of remote control in testing new planes. Radio control has been used for that to some extent already, and has shown that it is possible literally to tear a plane apart in flight tests without losing either the pilot or the resulting data. Information on performance and stresses is radioed back to the station from automatic devices in the plane.

DEVICE ASSURES BLIND LANDINGS

A.A.F. Reveals Secret Radar and Television Unit.

Fort Dix, Dec. 13 (A. P.).—A combination radar and television device developed during the war capable of guiding an airplane to a successful landing through a blinding snow storm and ceiling zero was described today at the United States Army Air Forces base here.

Until recently a closely guarded military secret, the device, known as "ground controlled approach," was initially developed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and later perfected by the Air Forces. The device was responsible for saving numerous B-29s during landings at Iwo Jima and will eventually be installed at airfields throughout the nation to provide a fool-proof guaranty of safe landings.

Consisting of three main units, the plane selector, traffic director and final director, the "GCA," picks up a plane in flight while it is thirty miles from the landing field, directs it by beam toward the correct approach at approximately 1,200 feet and then guides the craft to within fifty feet of the runway on a three-degree glide angle from a distance of seven to ten miles.

American Air Lines has already expressed the desire to experiment with the newly developed apparatus and the Civil Aeronautics Association has set aside $25,000 to make further investigation of its use, Lieut. Stanley H. Schuyler of Chicago, officer in charge of ground control approach at the base, said.

Ickes Slashes at G.O.P. On Pearl Harbor Inquiry

DEC 14 1945

CHICAGO, Dec. 13—(AP) Secretary Ickes ran a caustic tongue over the Pearl Harbor inquiry and the Hurley case tonight and opined that the Republicans "have already picked their opponent" for 1948—"they are determined to run against Roosevelt."

"My own confident prediction is," he said, "that F.D.R. dead will give them as sound a trimming as ever did F.D.R. living."

The Interior secretary prepared a crackling speech for a dinner meeting of the Political Action committee in the Sevens hotel ballroom.

He said he was sorry to make only a brief visit to his old home town but he did not "want to miss any of the show that is going on these days in Washington. There is, for instance, the attempt that the reactionary Republicans are making to get ready for 1948."

In this category he placed the congressional investigation of the Pearl Harbor attack and the charges against State Department officials made by Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley when he resigned as ambassador to China.

"There is only one difficulty that I can see in the way of a sweeping victory for the Republicans on the disinterred Pearl Harbor issue seven years after the event," Ickes observed. "Unfortunately for them, and despite their own responsibility for our unpreparedness, we did win the war.

"It is not even creditable, thus belatedly, for ex-post facto 'statesmen' to insinuate, with no regard for the truth, that Roosevelt baited a trap at Hawaii with our navy in the hope that the Japanese would do what The Chicago Tribune and its fellow members of The Chicago-New York-Washington newspaper Axis insisted that it would not do, namely, make war upon the United States."

Concerning the Hurley case, he said:

"In his reckless disregard as to whether he might make trouble for his own country or not," he went on, "General Hurley has cast discredit upon himself. He has hurried into the marketplace with his lamentations, recklessly accusing where apparently he had no proof to sustain his charges. It is not surprising that his charges have fallen flat. He had nothing to sustain them."

Ickes said that "officials in Washington marvelled that the late President should be so generous to a political waif and stray as to clothe him in ambassadorial robes and send him forth where it was a foregone conclusion that, considering his lack of experience and want of self-restraint, plus his eagerness for the limelight, damage might result to his country."

JAP BALLOON FOUND

EUREKA, Nev., Dec. 13—(AP) A Japanese balloon found by a rancher 45 miles southwest of here in desolate central Nevada, has been turned over to military investigators at Fort Douglas, Utah. Sheriff Stanley Fine said explosives on the weapon had gone off, apparently without damage.

PAULEY RETURNS

BURBANK, Calif., Dec. 13—(AP) Edwin W. Pauley, carrying a report for President Truman on conditions in the Orient, arrived by aerial transport from Pacific outposts today and said he would continue his flight to the nation's capital as soon as his plane can be overhauled.

"I've got a job to do," remarked the President's personal representative on the Allied Reparations commission, when asked by reporters if he had been offered or would accept a cabinet post. "I have to make an interim report now and there's much more work ahead."

A9. ADD LONDON-LEVANT XXX OUTBURSTS

ON JUNE 1, WINSTON CHURCHILL, THEN PRIME MINISTER, ANNOUNCED THE BRITISH WERE INTERVENING IN SYRIA AND LEBANON AND CALLED UPON THE FRENCH TO CEASE MILITARY ACTIVITIES, CONFINE THEIR TROOPS TO BARRACKS AND PARTICIPATE IN A THREE-POWER CONFERENCE IN LONDON, WITH THE UNITED STATES THE THIRD PARTY.

o FRANCE REJECTED THE CONFERENCE BID AND THE BRITISH WERE ACCUSED OF STIRRING UP TROUBLE TO PROMOTE THEIR OWN INTERESTS. FRANCE SUGGESTED A FIVE-POWER MEETING IN WHICH RUSSIA AND CHINA WOULD JOIN. INSTRUCTIONS WERE GIVEN TO FRENCH TROOPS TO CEASE FIRE; HOWEVER, AND THE FRENCH FORCES WERE WITHDRAWN FROM TROUBLED AREAS UNDER BRITISH DIRECTION.

THE ARAB LEAGUE HAS CONSISTENTLY SUPPORTED INDEPENDENCE DEMANDS OF SYRIA, A FRENCH MANDATE. BRITISH AND FREE FRENCH FORCES MARCHED INTO THE COUNTRY JUNE 8, 1941, PROMISING TO GRANT INDEPENDENCE.

THE FRENCH LATER PROCLAIMED SYRIAN INDEPENDENCE, BUT ALLIED FORCES CONTINUED TO OCCUPY THE COUNTRY BECAUSE OF WAR CONDITIONS, AND THE MANDATE LEGALLY REMAINED IN EXISTENCE.

DEC 14 1945

G428PES

ADD LONDON NL LOAN XXX PROTESTED

HE CHARGED THAT THE "HARD TERMS" OF THE LOAN WERE "ONE INSTALLMENT OF THE DISASTER HE PREDICTED WOULD OCCUR TO THE COUNTRY WITH THE ELECTION OF A LABOR-DOMINATED GOVERNMENT.

FINAL TERMS OF THE LOAN BROUGHT EXPRESSIONS OF DISAPPOINTMENT EVEN FROM ITS PROPONENTS.

OLIVER STANLEY, FORMER CONSERVATIVE COLONIAL SECRETARY, SAID HE COULD NOT VOTE AGAINST THE LOAN BECAUSE REJECTION "WOULD LAND US IN A CATASTROPHE IN WHICH THERE WOULD BE NO RECOVERY."

o STANLEY ASSERTED "I BELIEVE THAT THIS AGREEMENT HAS GOT TO BE ACCEPTED, BUT IT IS, AFTER ALL, ONLY BUYING BREATHING SPACE."

AN OUTRIGHT CASH LOAN OF $3,750,000,000 AND A $650,000,000 SETTLEMENT FOR POSTWAR LEND-LEASE AND WAR SURPLUSES ARE PROVIDED FOR IN THE LOAN AGREEMENT. BOTH WOULD BE REPAID OVER A 50-YEAR PERIOD BEGINNING IN 1951. THE $650,000,000 SETTLEMENT DOES NOT REQUIRE CONGRESSIONAL APPROVAL.

THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS HAS ALREADY APPROVED U.S. MEMBERSHIP IN A MULTI-BILLION DOLLAR INTERNATIONAL MONETARY STABILIZATION FUND AND AN INTERNATIONAL BANK WHICH WOULD BE SET UP UNDER THE BRETTON WOODS AGREEMENT.

RP612PES

LONDON, DEC. 13--(AP)---MAJORITY LEADER HERBERT MORRISON ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT COMMONS WOULD BE CALLED TO VOTE TONIGHT ON BOTH THE PROPOSED $4,400,000,000 LOAN FROM THE UNITED STATES AND THE BRETTON WOODS PLAN FOR INTERNATIONAL FINANCE.

DEC 14 1945

THE VOTE ON THE LOAN WILL BE CALLED AT 9:15 P.M. (4:15 P.M. EASTERN STANDARD TIME) AND THAT ON THE BRETTON WOODS PLAN AT 11 P.M. (6 P.M. EST), MORRISON SAID.

DEBATE CONTINUED ON THE RATIFICATION OF BOTH MEASURES.

OLIVER STANLEY, CONSERVATIVE FORMER COLONIAL SECRETARY, SAID: "I BELIEVE THAT THIS AGREEMENT HAS GOT TO BE ACCEPTED BUT IT IS, AFTER ALL, ONLY BUYING A BREATHING SPACE."

THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S ARGUMENT THAT THERE WAS NO ALTERNATIVE WAS ASSAILED BY SIR THOMAS MOORE, CONSERVATIVE, WHO URGED: "I WOULD SAY DROP THIS STUPID NATIONALIZATION, FREE THE EXPORT TRADE FROM ITS OWN FETTERS AND THE RESTRICTIONS WHICH TIE IT UP. RALLY OUR FRIENDS IN THE STERLING AREA AND OUR CREDITORS TO OUR SIDE."

SAYING BRITAIN'S FIGHT GAVE THE UNITED STATES THE NECESSARY TIME TO ARM, SIR THOMAS DECLARED: "I WOULD RATHER LEAVE PUBLIC LIFE FOR GOOD THAT TO SEE MY COUNTRY TIED TO THE WHIMS OF A FOREIGN COUNTRY, NO MATTER HOW TRUSTWORTHY AND SINCERE OUR RELATIONS MIGHT BE."

DEC 14 1945

AORA 137 3-17 JRT 117PES

LONDON, DEC. 13-(AP)-CHARGES THAT THE UNITED STATES FAILED TO DISARM MANY JAPANESE TROOPS IN CHINA AND MANCHURIA WERE MADE IN COMMONS TONIGHT BY LIEUT. L. J. CALLAGHAN, LABORITE M. P., WHO ASSERTED THAT AMERICA HAD EMBARKED UPON A "PLAN OF ECONOMIC AGGRESSION IN THE FAR EAST".

CALLAGHAN DEMANDED THAT BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY BEVIN MAKE "VERY STRONG REPRESENTATIONS" AT THE MOSCOW FOREIGN MINISTERS' CONFERENCE CONCERNING AMERICAN PLANS IN THE FAR EAST.

HE ACCUSED THE UNITED STATES OF APPARENTLY SUPPORTING WHAT HE CALLED GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI SHEK'S POLICIES OF USING FORMER JAPANESE PUPPET ARMIES AGAINST THE COMMUNISTS AND APPOINTING PRO-JAPANESE OFFICIALS.

HE ALSO SUGGESTED THAT THE AMERICANS SHOULD WITHDRAW ALL THEIR TROOPS FROM MANCHURIA, AND THAT THE UNITED NATIONS OR BRITAIN, RUSSIA AND THE UNITED STATES SHOULD ASSUME THE RESPONSIBILITY OF CONDUCTING DEMOCRATIC ELECTIONS THROUGHOUT CHINA NOW.

MINISTER OF STATE PHILIP NOEL-BAKER SAID HE "UTTERLY REPUDIATED" THE SUGGESTION THAT THE AMERICANS HAVE ANY INTENTIONS OF ESTABLISHING POLITICAL CONTROL OVER THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT.

HJ1006PES

LONDON, DEC 13-(AP)-OXFORD UNIVERSITY ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT AN HONORARY DEGREE WOULD BE CONFERRED NEXT JUNE ON ADMIRAL OF THE FLEET ERNEST J.KING OF THE UNITED STATES NAVY. A SIMILAR HONOR WAS CONFERRED ON GEN.EISENHOWER, NOW U.S. CHIEF OF STAFF, IN OCTOBER.

AT THE UNIVERSITY'S JANUARY CONVOCATION AN HONORARY DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF LETTERS WILL BE PROPOSED FOR PROF.EDWARD CAPPS OF THE PRINCETON UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF ADVANCED STUDY. PROF. CAPPS IS A FORMER U.S. MINISTER TO GREECE.

HT850AES

30.24-32381

BERLIN, DEC. 13-(AP)-YIELDING TO A RUSSIAN PROTEST, THE BRITISH ARE GOING TO LIQUIDATE THE ADMINISTRATIVE HEADQUARTERS FOR GERMAN ARMY PERSONNEL BY HASTENING THE DISBANDING OF THE REMAINING 656,000 MEN OF THE GERMAN ARMED FORCES IN THEIR ZONE, A HIGH OFFICIAL SAID TODAY.

HE SAID THE COMPLETE PLAN FOR ACCOMPLISHING THE DISBANDMENT WOULD BE ANNOUNCED NEXT WEEK AND SHOULD "END ALL SUSPICION."

SOVIET MARSHAL GEORGI ZHUKOV HAD ASSERTED IN A MEMORANDUM SUBMITTED TO THE ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL THAT THE BRITISH WERE MAINTAING UNITS WHICH SHOULD HAVE BEEN DISBANDED AND ASKED THAT THE ALLIED COMMISSION ENTER THE BRITISH ZONE TO INVESTIGATE.

BRITISH FIELD MARSHAL SIR BER

DEC 14 1945

N
A

RD L.MONTGOMERY DENIED THE ALLEGATIONS, BUT INVITED AN INQUIRY ON THE CONDITION THAT A SIMILAR INVESTIGATION BE MADE IN THE OTHER THREE ZONES.

MJ113SAES

BERLIN, DEC. 13 -- (AP) -- THE BRITISH ~~XXXX~~ ANNOUNCED TODAY A PLAN FOR CONVERTING THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT IN THEIR OCCUPATION ZONE TO THE BASIS OF CIVIL CONTROL.

DEC 14 1945

A BRITISH HIGH OFFICIAL DESCRIBED THE PLAN AS "VERY CLOSE" TO THAT ANNOUNCED ~~XX~~ IN THE AMERICAN ZONE FOR HANDING ~~XXXXXXXX~~ FUNCTIONAL ADMINISTRATION OVER TO THE GERMANS.

HE SAID IT ULTIMATELY WOULD RESULT IN THE GERMANS GOVERNING THEMSELVES, SUBJECT TO CONTROLS WHICH WILL BE EXERCISED BY BRITISH PERSONNEL WHO WILL HAVE CIVILIAN STATUS.

THE OPERATION OF THE CONVERSION WILL BE PROGRESSIVE, THE BRITISH ANNOUNCEMENT SAID, AND NO DATE WAS SET FOR ITS COMPLETION EXCEPT THAT IT WILL BE "AFTER THE BATTLE OF WINTER HAS TAKEN PLACE AND HAS BEEN WON".

DEC 1945

KASISCHKES 01415 OC/430P

FIRST LEAD JEWS

NUERNBERG, DEC. 13-(AP)-A RANSOM OF $2,000,000 TO SAVE HUNGARIAN JEWS FROM DEPORTATION TO GERMANY WAS DEMANDED BY GERMAN S.S. NEGOTIATORS IN BUDAPEST IN APRIL, 1944, AN AFFIDAVIT PLACED BEFORE THE INTERNATIONAL WAR CRIMES TRIBUNAL SAID TODAY.

THE AFFIDAVIT, BY DR. RUDOLPH KASTNER, HUNGARIAN-BORN ZIONIST REPRESENTING THE RELIEF COMMITTEE OF THE JEWISH AGENCY IN CENTRAL EUROPE DURING THE WAR, GAVE THIS SWORN ACCOUNT OF THE INCIDENT:

"THE FIRST TIME I NEGOTIATED WAS ON APRIL 3. AT FIRST THE GERMANS DEMANDED COMPENSATION OF $2,000,000, AND PROMISED THAT IN RETURN FOR THIS SUM THEY WOULD NOT DEPORT ANYONE.

"LATER ADOLF EICHMANN (HIMMLER'S DEPUTY) DECLARED 'I CAN SELL

THE HUNGARIAN JEWS ONLY AS FROM GERMANY. EICHM BRAND SHOULD LEAVE AT ONCE FOR ISTANBUL AND INFORM THE JEWS THERE, AND THEIR ALLIES, THAT I AM PREPARED TO SELL 1,000,000 HUNGARIAN JEWS FOR GOODS, PRIMARILY VEHICLES. I WOULD TRANSPORT THEM TO SVIZERIN AND 'PUT THEM ON ICE'.' IF MY GENEROUS OFFER IS ACCEPTED I WILL RELEASE ALL OF THEM. IF NOT, THEY WILL BE ALL GASSED'."

AT ANOTHER POINT THE AFFIDAVIT OBSERVED:

"AFTER THE FALL OF 1944 HIMMLER WANTED SEVERAL CONCESSIONS. THUS HE PERMITTED THE DEPARTURE FOR SWITZERLAND OF 1,700 HUNGARIAN JEWS DEPORTED TO BERGEN-BELSEN, AND ALSO AGREED TO SUSPEND ANNIHILATION OF JEWS OF THE BUDAPEST GHETTO. HIMMLER PERMITTED THE HANDING OVER TO THE ALLIES OF JEWS OF BERGEN-BELSEN AND THERESIENSTADT (CONCENTRATION CAMPS) WITHOUT A SHOT BEING FIRED, WHICH IN HIS EYES AND THE EYES OF HIS COLLEAGUES WAS SUCH A GENEROUS AND COLOSSAL CONCESSION THAT HE CERTAINLY HOPED FOR SOME POLITICAL CONCESSION IN RETURN."

GH134PES DEC 14 1945

NUERNBERG, DEC. 13 - (AP) - THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT IN BAVARIA RELAYED TODAY FOR THE YUGOSLAV MILITARY MISSION FOR REPATRIATION AN ANNOUNCEMENT THAT FORMER YUGOSLAV PRISONERS OF WAR IN GERMANY WOULD LOSE THEIR CITIZENSHIP IF THEY DID NOT REPORT TO THE MISSION BY SATURDAY.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE FORMER PRISONERS WHO HAD NOT RETURNED TO THEIR HOMELAND INCLUDED PERSONNEL OF THE FORMER YUGOSLAV

DEC 14 1945

ARMY AND "ALL MEMBERS OF THE SO-CALLED YUGOSLAV HOME ARMY SUCH AS THE CHETNIKS, THE SERBIAN STATE GUARD, THE USTASHA, THE DOMOBRANS AND OTHERS WHO WERE TAKEN PRISONER BY THE ENEMY AND DEPORTED TO GERMANY."

DURING THE WAR THE PARTISAN FORCES OF MARSHAL TITO, NOW HEAD OF THE YUGOSLAV GOVERNMENT, ENGAGED IN CONTINUAL HOSTILITIES WITH THE SERBIAN CETNIKS OF GEN. DRAJA MIHAILOVIC AND THE CROAT USTASHAS OF DR. ANTE PAVELIC. PARTISAN SPOKESMEN FREQUENTLY CLAIMED THAT THE CETNIKS AND USTASHIS WERE IN LEAGUE WITH THE GERMAN ARMY.

APR DELUGES 1510 HCJ 546PES

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, DEC. 13 -- (AP) -- COLONEL ERNEST R. LEE, AN AIDE TO GENERAL DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER SINCE 1941, RECEIVED THE LEGION OF MERIT TODAY FOR "EXCEPTIONALLY MERITORIOUS CONDUCT IN PERFORMANCE OF OUTSTANDING SERVICES."

COPENHAGEN, DENMARK, DEC. 13-(AP)-A GROUP OF PROMINENT LUTHERAN CHURCHMEN WILL MEET HERE MONDAY TO DEBATE ON PROPOSED REORGANIZATION OF THE LUTHERAN WORLD CONVENTION WITH AMERICANS AND SCANDINAVIANS AS

30.24-32383

WARSAW, DEC. 13 - (AP) - THE WARSAW NEWSPAPERS ANNOUNCED TONIGHT THAT THE POLISH STEAMER SLASK WAS EN ROUTE FROM LONDON TO GDYNIA WITH A DELEGATION OF FIVE AMERICANS, HEADED BY MICHIGAN STATE SENATOR STANLEY NOWAK OF DETROIT, WHO PLAN TO INVESTIGATE LIVING CONDITIONS IN POLAND.

DEC 14 1945

WARSAW, DEC. 13--(AP)-- THE POLISH PRESS AGENCY REPORTED TODAY THAT POLAND'S PAPER PRODUCTION PROGRAM CALLS FOR AN OUTPUT OF 200,000 TONS IN 1946. POLAND WILL EXPORT WRAPPING AND OIL PAPER, FOR WHICH INQUIRIES HAVE BEEN RECEIBED FROM THE UNITED STATES, ENGLAND AND SWEDEN. WOOD PULP WILL BE IMPORTED FROM SWEDEN AND RUSSIA, WITH THE SOVIETS HAVING ALREADY DELIVERED 15,000 TONS. THE AGENCY SAID POLAND HAS ACQUIRED 54 PAPER MANUFACTURING PLANTS AND 51 PAPER PRODUCTS PLANTS IN THE PRE-WAR GERMAN TERRITORIES REGAINED BY THE POLES.

TU1215PES

ADD STEPEN VLADIMIROVITCH BOBKIN, 52, FOREMAN OF THE TOOL DEPARTMENT IN A MACHINE BUILDING PLANT, SAID: ADD MOSCOW-DAY CONF. XXXEARTIT

"I NEVER DOUBTED THERE WOULD BE A MEETING, BECAUSE IT WAS PART OF THE PAST AGREEMENTS. I AM SURE IT WILL BE MORE SUCCESSFUL THAN THE LAST ONE AND THE OUTCOME WILL BE MORE SATISFACTORY TO ALL CONCERNED.

"I UNDERSTAND THEY MAY TALK ABOUT ATOMIC ENERGY. I WANT TO SAY THAT THE ATOMIC BOMB IS NO LONGER SUCH A SECRET AS SOME PEOPLE ABROAD THINK. I AM QUITE SURE THAT WE HAVE IT ALREADY IN THE SOVIET, OR IF WE DON'T AT PRESENT I AM SURE WE WILL HAVE IT SOON BECAUSE COMMISSAR MOLOTOV SAID SO.

"ATOMIC ENERGY IN PRODUCTION IS A GOOD THING; AND THE USE OF IT WILL OPEN UP A NEW ERA FOR MANKIND WHICH MAY REVOLUTIONIZE EVERYTHING ENTIRELY." #

LEADERS. Add-Copenhagen-Lutherans

UNITED STATES DELEGATES ARE DR.RALPH LANG, DR.F.F.DRY AND DR.J.A. AASGAARD.

RM105PES

MOSCOW DEC.13-(AP)--THE GOVERNMENT NEWSPAPER IZVESTIA DECLARED TODAY THAT "A LASTING FIRM PEACE IS IMPOSSIBLE WITHOUT THE COLLABORATION OF FREEDOM LOVING PEOPLES WHO HAVE FOUND EXPRESSION IN THE ~~ORGANIZATION~~ UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION."

"THEIR MUTUAL CONFIDENCE AND RESPECT SHOULD NOT AND WILL NOT BE SHAKEN BY THE NOISY CLAMORING OF VARIOUS PERSONS," THE IZVESTIA ADDED.

DEC 14 1945

AMONG THE "CLAMORERS" IT LISTED THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE AND THE BRITISH CATHOLIC HERALD, CRITICIZING BOTH PUBLICATIONS SHARPLY FOR COMMENTS IN CONNECTION WITH THE NUERNBERG WAR CRIMES TRIAL.

#

ADD ALL FIVE ARE HELD AT SUGAMO PRISON NEAR HERE. GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS SAID THEY WOULD BE TRIED SEPARATELY.

THE MILITARY COMMISSION ASSIGNED TO HEAR THE CASES WILL MEET MONDAY TO FORMULATE RULES. A DEFINITE DATE FOR STARTING THE TRIALS HAS NOT BEEN ANNOUNCED. ADD TOKYO-TRIAL XXX HONSHU

THE EIGHTH ARMY APPOINTED THESE OFFICERS TO PROSECUTE THE FIRST FIVE DEFENDANTS.

TSUCHIYA--MAJ.LOUIS GEFFEN, 593 WASHINGTON ST., SW, ATLANTA, GA., AND LT.DAVID DAY, JR., ROCKPORT, IND.

YURI--MAJ.JOSHUA V.DAVIDOW, 174 GILES ST., BRIDGEPORT, N.J., AND CAPT.LESTER P.KAUFFMAN, 140 ARLINGTON AVE., NW, CANTON, OHIO.

HIRATE--MAJ.JOSHUA J.EVANS, 539 NORTH FOREMAN, VINITA, OKLA., AND LT.JOSEPH B.HUMPHREYS, 302 NORTH SEVENTH ST., CROCKETT, TEX.

FURISHIMA--MAJ.JOHN W.RENCHARD, 103 NORTH GOURETNEUT (RADIO COPY) TRENTON, N.J., AND LT.HARRY MARGOLIS, 2524 EAST LYNN, SEATTLE.

HONDA--CAPT.EDWARD G.HOWARD, 681 HAMMOND, BROOKLINE, MASS., AND LT.SAUL H.WOLF, 8 WEST 108TH ST., NEW YORK.

JQ1021PCS NM

SECOND NIGHT LEAD JAPANESE (250)

BY RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, FRIDAY, DEC.14-(AP)-SEVEN MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES TODAY CRITICISED GENERAL MACARTHUR'S FARM REFORM DIRECTIVE AS BASED UPON OUTDATED CONDITIONS.

THE SEVEN TOLD A SMALL GROUP OF AMERICAN CORRESPONDENTS THAT MACARTHUR'S DIRECTIVE APPLIED TO RURAL JAPAN OF "10 YEARS AGO AND CONDITIONS NO LONGER TRUE TODAY."

FARMERS PROFITED HEAVILY DURING THE WAR, SAID REP.MAMORU NAGANO OF HIROSHIMA PREFECTURE, AND ACCUMULATED BANK ACCOUNTS AVERAGING 5,000 YEN ($333.) NAGANO, AN INDUSTRIAL MANAGER, ASSERTED THAT GOVERNMENT FIGURES OF A 1,000 YEN AVERAGE DEBT FOR TENANT FARMERS WERE MISLEADING.

"DEBTS USUALLY WERE CARRIED ON THE BOOKS DESPITE THE FARMERS' ABILITY TO LIQUIDATE THEM BECAUSE THE GOVERNMENT FARM CREDIT ORGANIZATION WANTS THEM TO REMAIN IN BUSINESS," NAGANO SAID.

THE LEGISLATORS SAID THEY ALL ARE MEMBERS OF THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY AND INDICATED THEIR OPINION ON THE FARM MEASURE GENERALLY WAS SHARED IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THE MACARTHUR-ORDERED FARM BILL--EXPROPRIATING EXTENSIVE LANDS AND PROVIDING FOR ITS ACQUISITION BY TENANTS ON EASY, LONG-TERM PAYMENTS--IS IN COMMITTEE.

THE DIET, UNPRODUCTIVE OF ANY MAJOR LEGISLATION IN THIS SESSION, IS PREPARING FOR AN EXTENSION OF AT LEAST FIVE DAYS. IT WAS TO HAVE ADJOURNED TODAY. THE CABINET WAS TO DECIDE THE LENGTH OF THE EXTENSION.

YESTERDAY, THE HOUSE SHARPLY ASSAILED ITS OWN GOVERNMENT FOR FAILURE TO PROVIDE FOR WAR SUFFERERS, AS INSTRUCTED BY GENERAL MACARTHUR IN A DIRECTIVE PLACING RESPONSIBILITY FOR THEIR WELFARE DIRECTLY UPON THE JAPANESE. REPRESENTATIVES DECLARED THAT MANY HOMELESS PERSONS WERE "STILL AIMLESSLY WANDERING ON THE SCORCHED EARTH."

#

TOKYO, FRIDAY, DEC.14-(AP)-EMPEROR HIROHITO HAS ACCEPTED THE RESIGNATIONS OF THREE MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF PEERS WHO ARE ON GENERAL MACARTHUR'S WAR CRIMINAL SUSPECT LIST, KYODO NEWS AGENCY SAID TODAY.

THEY ARE KOKI HIROTA, A FORMER PREMIER; LT.GEN.KISABURO ANDO, FORMER HOME MINISTER, AND INOSUKE FURUNO, FORMER HEAD OF DOMEI AGENCY. ALL WERE APPOINTED TO THE HOUSE OF PEERS BY THE EMPEROR.

(EDITORS: MAY BE INSERTED IN SECOND NIGHT LEAD JAPANESE IF DESIRED.)

JQ1106PCS

BY DUANE HENNESSY (190)

TOKYO, DEC.13-(AP)-A BESPECTACLED LITTLE JAPANESE CAREER DIPLOMAT, WHO WAS NAMED MINISTER TO FINLAND DURING THE WAR BUT WHO COULD NOT GET THERE, HAS THE SORRY JOB OF ROUNDING UP HIS FRIENDS TO FACE TRIAL AS SUSPECTED WAR CRIMINALS BEFORE ALLIED COURTS.

HE IS SOFT-SPOKEN, 50-YEAR OLD TOYOICHI NAKAMURA, WHO HEADS THE LIAISON SECTION OF THE JAPANESE FOREIGN OFFICE, CHARGED WITH FINDING AND PUTTING INTO SUGAMO PRISON ANY MAN NAMED BY GENERAL MACARTHUR FOR ARREST.

EACH TIME A LIST COMES DOWN FROM ALLIED HEADQUARTERS TO NAKAMURA IN HIS CHILLY OFFICE HE SCANS THE ROLL OF NAMES OF MEN WHO LED JAPAN'S ARMY, NAVY, INDUSTRY OR POLITICS. WITH A FINGER, HE INDICATES NAME AFTER NAME AND SAYS WITH A BAFFLED SHAKE OF HIS HEAD: "MY FRIEND."

HIS IS THE TASK OF GOING TO THE HOMES OF THE ONCE GREAT AND TELLING THE MEN THAT THEY MUST APPEAR AT SUGAMO BY A CERTAIN DATE. WHENEVER A FRIEND IS INVOLVED, NAKAMURA GOES HIMSELF, IF POSSIBLE, TO BREAK THE NEWS TO THE ACCUSED, HIS WIFE AND HIS FAMILY.

FREQUENTLY HE COMES BACK AND SAYS "MY FRIEND WAS SURPRISED. HE NEVER EXPECTED TO BE NAMED."

PM302APS

DEC 14 1945

ST.GEORGE, BERMUDA, DEC 13-(AP)-MORE THAN 1,000 GRATEFUL GI'S ABOARD THE RELIEF SHIP SATURNIA, TO WHICH THEY WERE TRANSFERRED FROM TWO CRIPPLED TRANSPORTS, LOOKED FORWARD TODAY TO BEATING THE "HOME BY CHRISTMAS" DEADLINE.

DEC 14 1945

YESTERDAY 341 U.S. SOLDIERS, MANY OF WHOM HAD PARTICIPATED IN THE NORMANDY INVASION ONE-DAY, WERE TRANSFERRED FROM THE SS HENRY WARD BEECHER, WHICH WAS DISABLED WHEN HER PROPELLER SHAFT SNAPPED DEC. 4 MORE THAN 300 MILES NORTHEAST OF BERMUDA. PREVIOUSLY, 586 GI'S HAD BEEN TRANSFERRED FROM THE GEORGE W. MC CRARY, WHICH LIMPED INTO ST.GEORGE'S HARBOR SATURDAY AFTER A DIFFICULT VOYAGE FROM ANTWERP.

HERO OF THE BEECHER RESCUE, IN THE EYES OF THE ARMY MEN, WAS CAPT.EDWARD J.WEED, CAPTAIN OF HER SISTER SHIP, THE SS CECIL N. BEAN, WHICH TOWED THE BEECHER IN AFTER SHE HAD DRIFTED FOR FIVE DAYS OUT OF CONTROL.

PREVIOUSLY, THE NAVY TUG, RESTORER, WHICH REACHED THE BEECHER ON DEC. 6 IN RESPONSE TO HER SOS, GOT A TOW LINE ABOARD, BUT THE LINE PARTED THAT NIGHT 320 MILES NORTHEAST OF BERMUDA. THE RESTORER IS ONLY A LIGHTLY POWERED TUG.

NT836AES

30.24-32385

NEW YORK, DEC 13--THE PARIS RADIO SAID IN A BROADCAS RECORDED BY CBS THAT JOSEF KRAMER AND 10 OTHERS OF THE BELSEN CAMP GANG WERE EXECUTED TODAY.

G325PES

(THE PARIS RADIO NEWS DEPARTMENT TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS BUREAU THERE THAT IT COULD FIND NO RECORD OF A BROADCAST OF ANY REPORT OF THE EXECUTION OF KRAMER AND OTHER MEMBERS OF THE BELSEN GANG).

G350PES

A41

NANTUCKET, MASS., DEC 13-(AP)-THE VENEZUELAN (CQ) CORVETTE INDEPENDENCIA WHICH WENT AGROUND LAST NIGHT OFF THIS ISLAND, RADIOED THE COAST GUARD EARLY TODAY THAT IT WAS "OKAY UNTIL DAYLIGHT" AND THAT IT WAS "NOT NECESSARY TO REMOVE PERSONNEL."

THE MESSAGE SAID THAT "ONE MAN REQUIRED MEDICAL AID AS SOON AS POSSIBLE." THE SHIP CARRIED A CREW OF 46.

RISING SEAS PREVENTED COAST GUARD RESCUE VESSELS FROM REACHING THE INDEPENDENCIA.

TWO BOSTON TUGS WERE ENROUTE TO THE SCENE AND ANOTHER TUG WAS SPEEDING FROM NEWPORT, R.I.

JR545AES

DEC 14 1945

A132WX

DEC 14 1945

(270)

WASHINGTON, DEC.13-(AP)-THE WAR DEPARTMENT'S FORMAL REPORT ON ITS INVESTIGATION OF THE GIANT GERMAN DYE AND CHEMICAL TRUST, I.G. FARBENINDUSTRIE, DISCLOSED TODAY THAT:

1--IN ANTICIPATION OF ALLIED VICTORY "THOUSANDS OF FARBEN'S SECRETS WENT UNDERGROUND ALONG WITH OTHER GERMAN RESOURCES TO LAY THE FOUNDATION FOR WORLD WAR III."

2--ADDITIONAL THOUSANDS OF IMPORTANT FARBEN FILES, ACCORDING TO TESTIMONY OF ITS RESPONSIBLE OFFICIALS, WERE "DESTROYED JUST PRIOR TO THE ADVENT OF THE ALLIED TROOPS."

3--FARBEN'S ACQUISITIONS OF EHCMICAL AND DYESTUFFS FIRMS IN FORMER CONQUERED COUNTRIES SO INCREASED THE TECHNICAL DEPENDENCE OF INDUSTRY IN THOSE COUNTRIES ON I.G. "THAT IT IS CONFIDENT THAT DESPITE GERMAN DEFEAT IT CAN REGAIN ITS POSITION OF CONTROL."

4--DAMAGE TO I.G. PLANTS AT THE END OF THE WAR WAS ONLY ABOUT 15 PER CENT OF CONSTRUCTION COSTS; HENCE I.G. IS IN A POSITION NOW TO PRODUCE "AT PRACTICALLY WARTIME CAPACITY."

MUCH OF THE REPORT HAS BEEN TESTIFIED TO BEFORE THE SENATE MILITARY SUBCOMMITTEE HEADED BY SENATOR KILGORE (D-WVA) BY AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT OFFICERS, WHO MADE THE STUDY. THE SUBCOMMITTEE HAS BEEN INVESTIGATING DISARMAMENT OF GERMAN WAR INDUSTRY.

A SUMMARY OF THE AMG'S INVESTIGATION DESCRIBED FARBEN AS NOMINALLY A PRIVATE BUSINESS ENTERPRISE, BUT AS IN FACT A "COLOSSAL EMPIRE SERVING THE GERMAN STATE AS ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL INDUSTRIAL CORES AROUND WHICH SUCCESSIVE GERMAN DRIVES FOR WORLD CONQUEST HAVE BEEN ORGANIZED."

"THE INVESTIGATION WAS, THEREFORE," THE REPORT SAID, "AN IMPORTANT PHASE OF THE PROGRAM ADOPTED BY THE ALLIED POWERS AT POTSDAM TO STRIP GERMANY OF ALL HER EXTERNAL ASSETS IN THE INTEREST OF FUTURE WORLD SECURITY AND TO USE SUCH ASSETS FOR THE RELIEF AND REHABILITATION OF COUNTRIES DEVASTATED BY GERMANY IN HER ATTEMPT AT WORLD CONQUEST."

VH1159PES NM

WASHINGTON, [illegible].13-(AP)-FORMER SENATOR GUY M.GILLETTE SAID TONIGHT THE ENGLISH PEOPLE GAVE A HEARTENING RESPONSE TO AN APPEAL MADE RECENTLY BY AN UNOFFICIAL AMERICAN DELEGATION TO LONDON SEEKING SUPPORT OF A FREE PALESTINE.

THE EX-SENATOR FROM IOWA TOLD A DINNER GATHERING THAT THE FORMATION OF A BRITISH LEAGUE FOR A FREE PALESTINE TO WORK "TOGETHER WITH US IN AMERICA TO SUPPORT THE PROGRAM OF THE HEBREW COMMITTEE OF NATIONAL LIBERATION IS OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE."

GILLETTE SAID THE DELEGATION "IMPRESSED UPON OFFICIAL LONDON THAT THE NEED OF THE HEBREWS NOW ENCAMPED IN EUROPE WERE PRESSING AND THAT UNLESS ACTION WAS TAKEN IMMEDIATELY THOUSANDS OF DEATHS WOULD RESULT."

GILLETTE, REP. SOMERS (D-NY), JUDGE WILLIAM S.BENNET, OF NEW YORK, AND J.DAVID STERN, PUBLISHER OF THE PHILADELPHIA RECORD, MEMBERS OF THE DELEGATION, WERE GUESTS OF HONOR AT THE DINNER TENDERED BY CHAIRMAN PETER H.BERGSON OF THE HEBREW COMMITTEE OF NATIONAL LIBERATION.

VH1147PES

DEC 14 1945

ROCK ISLAND,ILL.,DEC.13-(AP)-A BALANCE SO TINY THAT ITS OPERATING PARTS RANGED IN SIZE FROM INVISIBILITY TO FOUR TIMES THE WIDTH OF A HUMAN HAIR HAD TO BE PERFECTED BEFORE SCIENTISTS COULD PRODUCE PLUTONIUM, THE SUBSTANCE IN ONE TYPE OF ATOMIC BOMB.

DR.GLENN T.SEABORG, CO-DISCOVERER OF PLUTONIUM, TOLD THE ILLINOIS-IOWA SECTION OF THE AMERICAN CHEMICAL SOCIETY THAT THE NEW FIELD OF STUDY HAD BEEN NAMED ULTRAMICHROCHEMISTRY AND THAT IT WAS DEVELOPED BECAUSE OF THE EXTREMELY SMALL QUANTITIES OF THE DESIRED SUBSTANCES PRESENT IN URANIUM.

THE BALANCE WEIGHED MICROGRAMS--ONE MILLIONTH OF A GRAM--WITH AN ACCURACY OF THREE-HUNDREDTHS OF A MICROGRAM. IT WAS CONSTRUCTED OF FIBERS OF PURE QUARTZ, SOME OF WHICH WERE INVISIBLE.

MOREOVER, THE SEPARATION OF THESE ALMOST MICROSCOPIC QUANTITIES HAD TO BE ACCOMPLISHED ENTIRELY BY REMOTE CONTROL, BECAUSE OF THE "STAGGERING LEVELS" OF RADIOACTIVITY PRESENT, DR.SEABORG SAID IN HIS PREPARED ADDRESS.

THE SUCCESS OF THE EXPERIMENTS, HE SAID, ENABLED CONSTRUCTION OF THE HUGE PLANT AT HANFORD, WASH., WHICH PRODUCED PLUTONIUM ON A LARGE SCALE FOR MILITARY USE.

DR.SEABORG, A UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA CHEMISTRY PROFESSOR AND RECENT DISCOVERER OF THE NEW ELEMENTS 95 AND 96, AS YET UNNAMED, SAID THE HEAT GENERATED IN PRODUCTION OF PLUTONIUM AT THE HANFORD PLANT WAS "THE FIRST MEASURABLE PRODUCTION OF ATOMIC POWER IN A SELF-SUSTAINING MANNER."

THE HEAT, WHICH COMES FROM KINETIC ENERGY OF FISSION FRAGMENTS DURING THE PLUTONIUM PRODUCTION PROCESS, HAS NOT BEEN PUT TO PRACTICAL USE, HE SAID, BECAUSE THE PRIMARY PURPOSE OF THE PLANT WAS TO MANUFACTURE PLUTONIUM FOR MILITARY USE.

FY916PCS

UNDATED ASIATIC (225)
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

COMPLETE CHINESE GOVERNMENT OCCUPATION OF EASTERN MANCHURIA WITHIN A FEW WEEKS APPEARED IN PROSPECT TODAY WITH THE APPEARANCE OF GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK IN PEIPING AS HIS ARMIES PUSHED DEEPER INTO THE VAST TERRITORY.

CHIANG'S TROOPS MOVED INTO MUKDEN AND 40 MILES BEYOND, ROLLING ON TOWARD INDUSTRIAL HARBIN, AND AIRBORNE DIVISIONS WERE FLYING TO CHANGCHUN, THE MANCHURIAN CAPITAL.

PRESENCE OF THE GENERALISSIMO IN PEIPING, HIS FIRST APPEARANCE THERE IN MANY YEARS, HEIGHTENED GOVERNMENT HOPES FOR AN EARLY END TO THE CONFLICT WITH CHINESE COMMUNISTS IN NORTH CHINA.

IN JAVA, FIGHTING BETWEEN BRITISH AND INDONESIAN FORCES EBBED TO SMALL-SCALE CLASHES, BUT A NEW TROUBLE SPOT LOOMED. INDONESIAN LEADERS FROM SUMATRA REJECTED DUTCH OFFERS OF DOMINION STATUS, AND DECLARED THEY WOULD SUPPORT THE NATIVE REPUBLIC IN ITS FIGHT FOR INDEPENDENCE.

ELSEWHERE IN THE ORIENT, FOOD AND FINANCES FURROWED GOVERNMENT BROWS. GENERAL MACARTHUR DIRECTED THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT TO INAUGURATE A RELIEF PROGRAM TO PROVIDE FOOD, SHELTER, CLOTHING AND MEDICAL CARE FOR UNEMPLOYED THIS WINTER. THE JAPANESE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVE DEMANDED IMMEDIATE GOVERNMENT ACTION ON RECONSTRUCTION PLANS FOR THE SHATTERED HOMELAND.

MACHINERY FOR FREE ELECTIONS IN JAPAN, SET UP BY A MEASURE WHICH WOULD DOUBLE THE ELECTORATE, WAS EXPECTED TO RECEIVE EARLY APPROVAL IN THE HOUSE OF PEERS.

IN THE PHILIPPINES, A SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS CONSIDERED LEGISLATION FOR CLARIFICATION OF CREDITOR-DEBTOR RELATIONS WHICH WERE KNOCKED OUT OF KILTER BY JAPANESE OCCUPATION CURRENCY.

WW645APS NM

DEC 14 1945

NIGHT LEAD STRIKES AT A GLANCE (160)
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(CX) LABOR DISPUTES KEEP 400,000 IDLE.

MAJOR DEVELOPMENTS:

AUTOMOTIVE--HARRY W. ANDERSON, GM VICE PRESIDENT, PREDICTS STRIKE MAY GO ON FOR "AT LEAST SIX WEEKS;" SAYS CORPORATION WILL NOT BOOST 10 PER CENT WAGE INCREASE OFFER. GM FILES INJUNCTIONS AGAINST UAW STRIKERS IN CHICAGO AND CLEVELAND.

TRANSPORTATION--LABOR DEPARTMENT EFFORT TO SETTLE 18 STATES STRIKE OF GREYHOUND BUS DRIVERS FAILS; CONCILIATORS SAY COMPANY REFUSED TO ACCEPT FACT-FINDING COMMITTEE.

RAILROADS--RAILROADS' MANAGEMENTS ANNOUNCE WILL ASK INTERVENTION BY NATIONAL RAILWAY MEDIATION BOARD IN RULES-WAGES NEGOTIATIONS WITH OPERATING BROTHERHOODS; SAY WAGE DEMANDS WOULD BOOST OPERATING COSTS $2,000,000,000 ANNUALLY AND RULES CHANGES ANOTHER $785,000,000; CONTEND CONFERENCES "STALLED" ON ISSUES OF RULES CHANGES.

ELECTRICAL--SOME 200,000 CIO ELECTRICAL WORKERS VOTE ON STRIKE QUESTION IN NLRB POLL; DEMAND APPROXIMATELY 30 PER CENT WAGE INCREASES.

FY853PCS

Blank

30.24-32387

Kramer and 10 Others Hanged For Belsen-Oswiecim Atrocities

11 OF 'BELSEN GANG' HANGED IN 7 HOURS

Irma Grese, 2 Other Women, Kramer Among Executed

CHAMBERLIN

Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 14 (AP). Josef Kramer, "the beast of Belsen," his blond subordinate, 22-year-old Irma Grese, and nine others of the nortorious Belsen gang were hanged in a little less than seven hours yesterday on twin gallows in the Pied Piper town of Hamelin.

NIGHT

The headquarters of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery announced today that the death sentences pronounced by a British military court at Lueneburg a month ago had been carried out.

Women Die First

The first to die was Elizabeth Volkenrath, at 9.34 A.M. She was followed in the next hour by Irma Grese and Juanna Bormann.

Next came the men, who were hanged in pairs. Pacing the death march were Kramer and Dr. Fritz Klein; second, Karl Francioh and Peter Weingartner; third, Ansgar Pichen and Franz Hoeszler; last, William Dorr and Franz Starfie.

It was all over at 4.16 P.M.

The eleven, condemned to death for crimes committed at the Belsen and Oswiecim concentration camps, were brought to Hamelin from Lueneburg early this week.

British Soldiers On Guard

The hangings were carried out by Pierrepont, official British hangman, on two gallows erected by the Royal Engineers in the yard of the ancient prison on the banks of the Wesen River. Armed British Tommies stood guard at the 15-foot-high prison walls.

German civilians said former concentration-camp inmates were permitted to witness the executions, but there was no official confirmation of this.

Kramer, Irma Grese and 28 other specialists in human misery were convicted at Lueneburg on November 16 by a British military court for the acts committed during their reign of horror. Those who escaped hanging were given prison sentences.

More than 45,000 persons are reported to have died at Belsen.

3 Women And 8 Men Of Belsen Gang Are Executed

DEC DAY

Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 14 (AP)—Field Marshal Montgomery's headquarters announced today that Josef Kramer, the "beast of Belsen," and ten others of the Belsen gang, including blond Irma Grese, were hanged yesterday for committing crimes at the notorious concentration camp.

The executions were carried out at Hamelin by Pierrepont, official British hangman. The eleven condemned to death were moved from Lueneburg's jail to the ancient prison on the banks of the Weser river at Hamelin five days ago. The gallows were built by the Royal Engineers.

All Appeals Denied

Marshal Montgomery denied all appeals Saturday. The eight men and three women hanged were condemned to death by a British military court November 17 for atrocities committed at the Belsen and Oswiecim concentration camps. Nineteen other persons drew prison terms.

Three of the condemned accepted the court's verdict without appeal. They were Elizabeth Volkenrath, 26, head women's supervisor for the SS (Elite Guard); Juana Borman, 42, a fanatic who gave up missionary work to join the SS, and Franz Hoeszler, 34-year-old SS member who helped pick victims for the gas chamber.

Kramer, 39, was camp commandant. Irma Grese was the pistol-packing "queen" of the Belsen gang.

Others Who Died

Others who died were Dr. Fritz Klein, 58, who chose inmates for the gas chamber; Peter Weingartner, 32; Karl Francioh, 33; Ansgar Pichen, 32; Franz Starfie, 30, and Wilhelm Dorr, 24.

Montgomery's terse announcement said:

"All eleven of the Belsen criminals who were sentenced to death at Lueneburg were executed by hanging at Hamelin yesterday, December 13.

"The executions were carried out at the following times:

"9.34 A.M., Elizabeth Volkenrath.

"10.03 A.M., Irma Grese.

"10.38 AM., Juana Borman

"12.11 P.M., Josef Kramer and Dr. Fritz Klein.

"12.46 P.M., Karl Francioh and Peter Weingartner.

"3.37 P.M., Ansgar Pichen and Franz Hoeszler.

"4.16 P.M., Wilhelm Dorr and Franz Starfie."

Two Gallows Used

Two gallows were used, permitting the eight men to be hanged in pairs. The women walked to their death singly.

German civilians said former concentration camp inmates were allowed to witness the hangings by special passes.

Armed British Tommies stood guard at the fifteen-foot high wall around the prison.

NAZIS BUTCHERED 6 MILLION JEWS, TRIBUNAL TOLD

NORGARD

NUERNBERG, Germany, Dec. 14—(AP) The butchery of 6,000,000 Jews, 4,000,000 of them in Nazi concentration camps and the rest in the ghettos of eastern Europe, was recounted today before the war crimes tribunal trying Hitler's 21 top henchmen.

This ghastly summation of Nazi bloodlust was made in an affidavit by Dr. Wilhelm Hoettl, right hand man of Ernst Kaltenbrunner, chief of the German military police. Both were captured last spring.

NIGHT

Many Slain in Russia

Approximately 4,000,000 Jews had been killed in the various extermination camps," said the affidavit, "while an additional 2,000,000 met death in other ways, the major part of which were shot by operational squads of security police during the campaign against Russia."

Hoetl attributed the 6,000,000 figure to Adolf Eichman, chief "Jew catcher" in the secret police. He said Eichman told him of the estimate in 1944, when he began to fear that he would have to pay for the "millians of Jewish lives" on his conscience.

The affidavit climaxed the American case on the extermination of Jews, which had told, from captured German documents, of the slaughter of more than 60,000 in the 29-day Warsaw ghetto massacre in 1943.

The prosecution quoted from Governor General Hans Frank's own diary to indicate his callousness toward wiping out millions of Jews, and read from an official war refugee report an estimate that 1,165,000 European Jews were executed at the Oswiecim camp in southern Poland.

A souvenir volume of reports compiled by the S.S. showed that a Maj. Gen. Stroop directed the annihilation campaign in Warsaw from April 17 to May 16, 1943. He boasted of having killed 7,000 Jews in battle, 5,000 to 6,000 by explosions and fires, and that he had collected 40,000 others "whose extermination in camps can be proved." Total German losses in these "battles" and operations were 15 dead.

Just before the tribunal recessed until Monday, Justice Robert H. Jackson obtained permission to present the American case against six Nazi organizations—a proceeding which he said may affect the fate of great numbers of individual Germans.

DEC

The American chief prosecutor told the court that the prosecution intended to devote all the time remaining before the Christmas recess to presentation of evidence against the Reich cabinet, the Nazi party's leadership corps, the S.S. (Elite Guard), Gestapo, S. A., and the high command and general staff of the German armed forces.

Warns of Controversies

He warned that the United States considered the determination of the guilt of Nazi organizations fully as important as the trial of the 21 leaders in the prisoners' box. Jackson conceded that there would be highly controversial matter introduced, and insisted on the right to present all evidence before defense arguments are presented.

"Questions which relate to these organizations," said Jackson, "go to the very basis of proposals made by President Roosevelt to the Yalta conference, agreement upon which was the basis for this proceeding.

"The United States would not have participated in this kind of determination of questions of guilt, but for this plan of reaching some thousands of others who, if less conspicuous, are just as guilty of these crimes as those men in the box."

Details of the mass murder in Warsaw were submitted in a leather-bound volume of S. S. reports by Major William F. Walsh, of New York city, assistant U. S. prosecutor.

A summary revealed that the S. S. police chief in the city had ordered troops to "destroy the entire Jewish residential area by setting every block on fire." Behind guarded walls in the area were 400,000 Jews. This number was reduced by the Germans to less than one-fourth. Stroop evacuated the remainder on Himmler's orders, in a so-called "cleansing operation" to "preserve the health of the German forces."

Nazi pictures submitted by Walsh along with the S.S. report showed the Germans using smoke to drive the Jews from hideouts, setting fires, dynamiting buildings. One man was photographed in mid-air after jumping from a burning upper floor.

Stroop wrote with satisfaction that entire families were thus liquidated.

6,000,000 JEWS DIED AT HANDS OF NAZI FORCES

War Trial Evidence Gives Estimate on Program of Extermination.

DAY

4,000,000 KILLED IN CAMPS

DEC 15 1945

DEC 1

German Records Tell of 29-Day Slaughter of Inmates at Warsaw Ghetto.

DE LUCE

Nuernberg, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—Six million European Jews were ruthlessly slaughtered in the Nazi campaign of extermination, according to German Secret Police estimates placed today before the International Military Tribunal trying twenty-one one Hitler's leaders on war crimes charges. American prosecutors filed an affidavit by Dr. Wilhelm Hoettl, right hand man to the defendant Ernst Kaltenbrunner in the Secret Police.

"Approximately 4,000,000 Jews had been killed in the various extermination camps while an additional 2,000,000 met death in other ways, the major part of which were shot by operational squads of Security Police during the campaign against Russia," Hoettl said in his affidavit.

Hoettl attributed his figure to Adolf Eichman, often called the chief Jew catcher in the Secret Police. He said Eichman confessed it to him in August, 1944, in expressing the conviction that he would have to pay for "the millions of Jewish lives on his conscience."

Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler thought Eichman's total was too low, Hoettl's affidavit revealed. But Hoettl added that Eichman was the best informed official on Jewish executions.

Warsaw Jews Slaughtered.

Thousands were killed when SS troops wiped out the Warsaw ghetto in a twenty-nine-day massacre in 1943, according to records submitted by Major William F. Walsh of New York city, an assistant United States prosecutor. Details of the mass murder in Warsaw were read from the reports of the SS police chief of the city, who wrote that he ordered troops "to destroy the entire Jewish residential area by setting every block on fire."

The reports showed that the SS chief, a Major-Gen. Stroop, directed the annihilation campaign from April 17 to May 16, 1943, and that he boasted he had killed 7,000 Jews in battle, 5,000 to 6,000 by explosions and fires and collected 49,000 others "whose extermination in camps can be proved." The cost to the Germans was fifteen dead. No attempt by Allied officials to write an account of the mass murder in the ghetto has yet equalled the shocking clarity of the SS reports themselves.

Established at German insistence and over the protests of Polish city officials, the ghetto housed 400,000 Jews behind guarded walls until "resettlement"—transfer to Majdane or elsewhere—and reduced the population to less than one-fourth by the spring of 1943.

Continued from Page 1.

Stroop was entrusted by Himmler with the forced evacuation of the remainder, described as a "cleansing operation" to "preserve the health of the German forces." He started by attacking with tanks and armored cars what the Nazis called "Polish bandits" reinforcing the Jews. Sweatshop arms plants, which had been producing inside the ghetto for the Wehrmacht, provided the victims with the means of resistance.

Flame throwers and artillery were called into action by the Germans and Wehrmacht engineers were detailed to blow up hideouts with TNT. Chemical smoke was used to flush fugitives from sewers. Systematically block after block of buildings was set ablaze.

"The former ghetto is completely destroyed," Stroop finally advised his superiors proudly, "but the ruins still contain a vast amount of stones and scrap material which could be used."

Examples of Reports.

Among sample excerpts from daily operation reports teletyped to higher SS headquarters were the following:

"April 22, 1943—1,100 Jews caught for evacuation; 203 bandits and Jews killed. When engineers blew up dugouts a considerable number of Jews and bandits were buried under the ruins. When we found it necessary to execute some bandits they collapsed shouting 'Long Live Poland.'"

"April 24, 1943—Despite the danger of being murned alive, Jews and bandits preferred to return into the flames rather than risk being caught with us. Over and over again the Jews kept up their firing almost to the end of the action."

"April 26, 1943—Captured Jews reported many of the inmates of the dugouts became insane from the heat, smoke and explosions. Several Jews were arrested who had kept close liaison with a group of Polish terrorists and collaborated with it. During today's operation several blocks of buildings were burned down. This is the only and final method which forces this trash and sub-humanity to the surface. The result of today's operation: thirty Jews evacuated, 1,330 Jews pulled out of dugouts and immediately destroyed, and 362 Jews killed in battle."

"April 27, 1943—Jews who were leaders of the entire resistance movement . . . jumped from burning windows and balconies abusing Germany and the Fuehrer and cursing German soldiers."

"May 3, 1943—We discovered several times today that Jewesses had pistols concealed in their bloomers. Every Jew and bandit will from today on strip completely for search."

"May 15, 1943—The chapel, mortuary and all other buildings in the Jewish cemetery . . . were destroyed."

"May 16, 1943—A large scale action was terminated by blowing up the Warsaw synagogue."

Describing gas chamber executions at Oswiecim, the pr tor read the official report o War Refugee Board of Wash ton, D. C., estimating that 1,1 000 Jews had been killed at one concentration camp. A Polish Government report, read as evidence, estimated that 12,000 Hungarian Jews were executed daily at Oswiecim in July, 1944. Another report described the extermination camp at Treblinka, to which two railroad trains a day moved Jews to be suffocated in steam chambers.

"All the victims had stripped off their clothes," the report said in describing the executions. "Women and children first were driven into the death chambers. Those too slow or too weak to move quickly were driven on by rifle butts, by whipping and kicking. . . . Small children were simply thrown inside. After being filled up to capacity the chambers were hermetically closed and the steam was let in. In a few minutes it was all over."

Defendant Alfred Rosenberg received a letter from a subordinate officer, protesting that burning of Jews to death in locked barns "is not worthy of the German cause and hurts our reputation severely."

Lawyers for the Nazi leaders objected today to the introduction of affidavits as evidence, contending that witnesses should appear in person to testify and be cross-examined.

The tribunal ruled that Allied prosecutors could present affidavits as evidence and pointed out that defense counsel could call the witnesses themselves if they wished cross-examinatio

Capt. Sam Harris of New Y city, an assistant prosecutor, introduced excerpts from the diary of defendant Hans Frank, quoting the former Nazi Governor of Poland, as saying "We must annihilate the Jews wherever we find them and whenever possible."

Justice Robert H. Jackson, Chief United States Prosecutor, and Lieut.-Gen. R. A. Rudenko, Soviet Prosecutor, vigorously opposed the move to bar affidavits where witnesses could be summoned, declaring that the trial would be unduly protracted by lengthy questioning. The British and French prosecutors also opposed the defense motion.

Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief United States prosecutor, announced that evidence would be filed Monday against the six German organizations which were indicted—the Reich Cabinet, Nazi Party Leadership Cor Gestapo, the S. S. (Elite G the S. A. (storm troope the S. D. (secret polic United States, Jackson said, is determined to reach "thousands of lesser men (in Nazi organizations) who are just as guilty as the men in this defendants' box."

HOUSE OF LORDS MOVE IS LAUNCHED TO KILL U. S. LOAN

WHEELER

FIGHT

LONDON, Dec. 14 (AP) Lord Beaverbrook, Conservative champion of Empire preference, announced today he had offered the House of Lords an amendment rejecting the proposals, approved by Commons, for a $4,400,000,000 loan from the United States.

The possibility that other imperialists and such advocates of monetary reform as Lord Sempill would join in refusing the terms of the loan and opposing ratification of the Bretton Woods financial agreement caused speculation.

Commons gave its final ratification to the Bretton Woods pact today, 314 to 50, and sent it to the Lords, where the bill was given a first reading so that it may be debated next week.

The loan measure, which will come before Lords Monday, was approved by Commons 345 to 98 after two days of bitter debate, during which Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, proponent of the loan, clashed repeatedly with former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Conservative leader who objected to some of the terms.

Under normal procedure, Lords can hold up a money bill for 30 days. Since the deadline for accepting the Bretton Woods plan is Dec. 31, defeat of the loan and the plan would leave the government with only a theoretical recourse of creating enough labor peers to override it.

In contrast to Commons, where Laborites hold an unassailable majority, there are only 35 Labor peers in Lords.

However, Lord Cranborne, Conservative leader in Lords, is in constant touch with Churchill and is urging Conservatives to abstain from voting, just as did the Conservative leadership in Commons.

The actual vote in Lords will be small, for although there are 795 peers eligible to sit, it is rare for more than 100 to 120 votes to be cast.

Commons Ratifies Bretton Woods

DAY

The Hague, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Lower House of Parliament ratified today a resolution for participation of the Netherlands in the Bretton Woods financial agreement.

London, Dec. 14 (AP)—The House of Commons today gave final ratification to the Bretton Woods monetary stabilization pact, approval of which was one of the conditions laid down by the United States for a loan of $4,400,000,000 to Britain.

The measure was passed without dissent on its third and last reading and went at once to the House of Lords. The action came barely fourteen hours after Commons had approved the terms of the loan by a vote of 345 to 98.

Parliamentary Procedure

The Bretton Woods bill was rushed through its second reading last night by a vote of 314 to 50. Under British parliamentary procedure the second reading generally determines whether a bill will pass. The third reading is committed to the consideration of possible amendments preparatory to sending the measure to the Lords.

A sharp debate, punctuated by personal clashes between Labor and Conservative leaders, preceded the vote on the loan terms.

The bill was rushed to the House of Lords for a first reading in hope of its clearance in time for royal assent before Parliament's Christmas recess on December 20.

Amendment Withdrawn

An opposition amendment by Conservative Robert Boothby, seeking to limit Britain's liability to the world stabilization fund in the event of devaluation of sterling, was withdrawn when the Government refused to accept it.

"It is quite obvious that if we have to withdraw from the fund it is practically because we have no gold or dollars left," said Boothby. "That is why I am concerned that we accept an obligation to repay this money to the fund in gold, or gold-convertible currency. It is a danger which disturbs me."

Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton replied that the Boothby amendment would modify the obligation Britain was required to undertake if it signed the Bretton Woods agreement, and "it is, therefore, not one I can accept."

Beaverbrook Plans Fight

Lord Beaverbrook, whose newspapers have been among the loudest critics of the Anglo-American financial agreement, and who was a member of Churchill's wartime and caretaker governments, will seek to block approval of both the loan and the Bretton Woods plan in the House of Lords on Monday.

In a previous motion, by which he sought to influence ratification in Commons, Beaverbrook said the two measures "involve return to the gold standard, abolition of the sterling area and destruction of imperial preference (in trade)."

Led by former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, many Conservatives abstained from voting and drew caustic criticism from Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who headed the Government's fight for loan approval.

Bevin and Churchill dueled on the Commons floor in debate over acceptance of the loan terms. The wartime Prime Minister declared:

"I certainly am of the opinion we (the Conservatives) could have got better terms."

Bevin termed Churchill's assertion a "libel on the administration of the United States."

MOSCOW DISAPPROVES ANSWER FROM TURKEY

LONDON, Dec. 14 — (AP) The Moscow radio reported tonight that the Soviet government regarded as "unsatisfactory" the Turkish answer to a Russian note protesting demonstrations in Istanbul on Dec. 4.

The broadcast said the Soviet ambassador to Turkey, Sergei Vinogradov, on Dec. 8, gave the

DEC 15 1945

30.24-32389

Turkish [illegible] of foreign affairs, Hasan Saka, a note protesting the demonstrations as "hostile to the Soviet Union" and placing responsibility on the Turkish government.

The Soviet note, the broadcast added, charged that demonstrations in which two newspaper offices and two bookshops were badly damaged, occurred without opposition from Turkish police, who "protected the demonstrators."

The broadcast quoted the note as saying Russia "cannot overlook such provocative activities."

Decision On UNO Capital Delayed

London, Dec. 14 (AP)—The United Nations Preparatory Commission committee concluded its five-day debate on the site for the new world peace capital today but a selection was delayed by argument over voting procedure.

Bogged down by arguments put forward by European supporters of a European site, the committee rejected a motion to meet a second time today, thus putting off the decision at least until tomorrow.

Mexican and Venezuelan delegates spoke on behalf of the United States today.

DESERTERS HUNTED

LONDON, Dec. 14—(AP) About 2,000 London police aided by American and British military police threw a dragnet over central London and the West End tonight in search of "thousands of deserters" believed hiding in the British capital.

Questioning all persons in theaters, dance halls, clubs, railroad and subway stations, police caught at least nine servicemen who were absent without leave from their armed force units. Hundreds of other persons unable to produce identification papers were taken to ten police stations for further questioning.

Police officials described the raid results as "fairly satisfactory."

British Dock Workers Agree To Negotiate

London, Dec. 14 (AP)—Representatives of Britain's dock workers who tied up a score of ports with an eight-week strike recently, agreed today to negotiate with employers on the basis of a 19-shilling ($3.80) daily wage rate recommended by a government-sponsored investigating committee.

The vote to negotiate overrode appeals of the National Port Workers Defense Committee to maintain the union's demand for 25 shillings ($5) a day and a 40-hour week. Present pay averages 15 shillings ($3).

WARNS OF DEFAULT

London, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—John G. Jarvie, banker and former Regional Port Director, declared today that unless America agreed to take British exports in payment "we would be compelled to default" on the proposed Anglo-American loan. Addressing a Conservative party rally, Jarvie said: "We simply cannot afford to default on two American loans. If America refuses the loan on the only terms which make repayment possible, then the loan should be refused. Under the conditions laid down, America's export trade would be stimulated . . . and when the time came for us to export, our preferential empire markets would be lost."

Attacking the Government's program, Jarvie said that if the Laborites now decide to nationalize all the banks, London would cease to exist as the financial center of the world.

George VI 50 Years Old

London, Dec. 14 (AP)—King George VI celebrated his fiftieth birthday today with a family party inaugurated by a luncheon at which Queen Mother Mary was a guest. A private dinner party and dance were held this evening.

Labor Candidate Wins

LONDON, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Labor party kept its North Tottenham seat in the House of Commons when W. J. Irving polled 12,937 votes in a by-election yesterday against 7,415 for his Conservative opponent, Maj. F. Crowder.

Masked Men Raid Center Of British Hitler Cult

London, Dec. 14 (AP)—A group of masked men, reported to have said they were determined to "stamp out this Hitler cult," last night raided the Kingdom House, headquarters of the Legion of Christian Reformers, and beat up the custodian.

Some of the raiders were in naval uniforms, according to Arthur Schneider, the man who was beaten.

Schneider was seized, bound and gagged after he opened the back door to investigate noises, and was later driven in a motor car for three miles into Pentworth, Sussex, and dumped.

Venerate Hitler

The legion, whose spokesmen have said they consider that Hitler was a divine instrument, first came to public attention two weeks ago at the auction of furniture, Nazi symbols and busts of Hitler at the former German Embassy.

A massive bust of the former Führer, described by the auctioneer as "this piece of granite," was bought by Capt. Gordon Canning for $2,000 and later was reported installed in the stone mansion on the 16-acre headquarters estate of the legion in Sussex.

Canning, one-time member of the British Union of Fascists and of the Anglo-German Society, the Link, was detained under guard for two years during the war.

Hitler "God's Judge"

Pamphlets distributed by "legionnaires" during the auction declared: "We Englishmen, true to God and to England, declare the judgment, the final struggle between God and Mammon, and the God-appointed mission of Adolf Hitler as God's judge.

Capt. St. Barbe Baker, leader of the legion, arrived at Kingdom House shortly after the raid. He told reporters he would do nothing about it.

"I have forgiven them," he said. "I can see how they were misled."

PATTON TO RETURN TO U.S. BY PLANE

AS SOON AS ABLE

O'REGAN

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 15—(AP) [illegible] Patton will be moved back to the United States for hospitalization "as soon as his condition permits," Col. R. Glen Spurling, chief specialist attending Patton, said today.

He said that the move to the United States would be by air, probably within the next four to six weeks.

Spurling, Army neurosurgical consultant who was flown to the 15th Army commander's bedside from Washington, said there was a "possibility" that Patton never would be able to command his troops again.

"Barring unforeseen complications, Patton is out of danger of death," Spurling declared. "It cannot be said, however, that he is out of danger of partial paralysis for life."

Meanwhile, Lt. Col. Paul S. Hill, Jr., of Saco, Me., chief surgeon of the 130th Station hospital, declared the general had been eating regularly.

General Eats Well

"This morning," Hill said, "he had three scrambled eggs, toast and jam, grapefruit and coffee with milk and sugar."

Both Spurling and Hill said Patton is being given one or two ounces of whiskey a day. They stressed the fact that it is part of Patton's medication.

Capt. William Duane, neurosurgeon of the 97th General hospital who maintains a 24-hour watch over the general, added "if Patton doesn't eat, he probably gets a shot of whiskey."

Earlier Seventh army public relations officers had issued a denial that one of Patton's nurses had said he refused to eat or drink unless he got whiskey.

Spurling said it will be impossible to predict for at least three or four weeks the outcome of the automibile accident that has put Patton in a traction apparatus, flat on his back in the 130th Station hospital, suffering a broken neck.

He added that doctors might have to wait as much as six months before they knew whether the General would regain full control of his limbs.

Patton's spinal cord has been injured—to what degree it was still impossible for Spurling to say—in the dislocation of the cervical vertebrae. The surgeon said the vertebrae in Patton's neck are now almost perfectly realigned.

Patton Out of Danger of Death

But Doctor Says He May Never Command Army Again—To Be Moved to U. S. Later.

Heidelberg, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—Col. R. Glen Spurling, chief specialist attending Gen. George S. Patton Jr., said today that he was "out of danger of death, but there was a possibility that he never would be able to command his troops again."

He described Patton's condition as a touch and go affair. He said the General might recover fully from the broken neck he received in an automobile crash last Sunday, but again that he might be partly paralyzed for life. Spurling said it would be impossible to forecast the effects of Patton's injuries for at least three or four weeks.

Spurling, who was flown to Heidelberg from Washington with Mrs. Patton, said the General is unable to move his hands or legs voluntarily but is able to move his shoulders. There is a small amount of movement in his right upper arm. Patton will be in a traction apparatus for several weeks and then will be fitted with a neck brace or collar support, Spurling said.

To Be Flown to U. S.

"As soon as his condition permits, he will be moved back to the United States for hospitalization," the doctor said. "That probably will be within the next four or six weeks. He'll go by air.'

Explaining that the injury to the spinal cord cannot yet be determined, Spurling said doctors might have to wait six months to know definitely whether Patton would regain full control of his arms and legs.

Lieut.-Col. Paul S. Hill Jr. of Saco, Me., chief surgeon at the station hospital, said Patton was eating regularly, his breakfast today consisted of three scrambled eggs, toast, jam, grapefruit and coffee. Both Hill and Spurling, whose home is in Louisville, Ky., said Patton was given one or two ounces of whisky daily. They stressed that it was part of his medication.

Message From Truman.

Mrs. Patton spent most of the day at her husband's bedside reading him messages of sympathy from President Truman, Gen. Eisenhower, British Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander and other friends. The President's message said:

"I am distressed at the painful accident which you have suffered and want you to know that I am thinking of you at this time. You have won many a tough fight and I know that faith and courage will not fail you in this one. I am thankful that Mrs. Patton will be at your side to strengthen and sustain you."

Lieut.-Col. Walter K[illegible]win Jr., Eisenhower's personal representative, is standing by at the hospital to keep the Chief of Staff informed of Patton's condition.

The "no visitors" sign still hung on Patton's door, and Spurling said it would stay there until the General was taken out of the traction apparatus. He added that a shipment of the new drug, striptomycin, was being rushed to Heidelberg against the possibility of urological infections which would not respond to penicillin or the sulfa drugs.

Spurling said Patton was optimistic and hopeful, although he realized the seriousness of his injury.

"He reacts much more philosophically than I would," said Spurling, "and is willing to do anything we ask."

This morning's medical bulletin said Patton's condition was excellent. It stated:

"Temperature 99, pulse 64, respiration 24," said the announcement. "The patient had a comfortable night, alert and cheerful. Scalp wounds are healing normally. Condition excellent. Neurological status unchanged."

Bevin in Berlin.

Berlin, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—The British Foreign Secretary, Ernest Bevin, landed here late today for an overnight stop on his way from London to Moscow. He was met by Sir William Strang, political adviser to Field Marshal Montgomery.

BANKS IN U. S. ZONE PUT ON NEW BASIS

Berlin, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—In a move designed to break the financial grip of the Reichsbank, the American Military Government has ordered the decentralization of banking in the American zone, and the reduction of bank supervision and control to a provincial level.

The presidents of all lander (provinces) within the zone received the details of a broad general plan by Joseph Dodge of Detroit, director of the finance division. Under this the banks will have a clearing arrangement with banks in other occupation zones, but there will be no control links between them. The lander central banks will have names which may not include the word "Reich" and will serve not as banks of issue or commercial banks, but as "bankers' banks" and as bankers for the provincial governments.

"Our decentralization project is an interim plan," Dodge said, "to bring about the decentralization of banks within the American zone pending action on a four-Power level to implement the Potsdam enunciation of decentralization principles."

DEC 15 1945

WAR COURT CURBS PRESS QUESTIONS

Bars German Lawyers From Giving Queries To Nazis

NIGHT

Nuernberg, Dec. 14 (AP)—German defense attorneys were ordered tonight by the international military tribunal's security section to cease putting questions to the Nazi defendants on behalf of news correspondents.

The security department's warning, posted at the information center, threatened contempt-of-court proceedings against anybody who orally or in writing obtained from defendants for transmission to the press any biographical data or political or scientific information.

A German defense attorney said, "This completely cuts us off from the world press, as anything we may say by the way of backgrounding correspondents may be held in contempt of court."

K. Taradankin, Soviet correspondent, who is covering the trials for Izvestia, criticized in a dispatch printed in Russia today the Associated Press for interviewing former Reichsmarshal Herman Goering and other defendants.

Newsmen's Queries Cited

On December 1, two Associated Press correspondents, Wes Gallagher and Louis P. Lochner, submitted a list of written questions to Goering through his attorney, Otto Stahmer, who transmitted them orally to Goering and received oral replies which he copied and turned over to the Associated Press.

Goering said flatly in his replies that he was still a Nazi and that if he had a chance to try again he would "again support the Führer" as he knew him in 1933. "I consider myself a true paladin of my Führer. I was a disciple and a follower," he said.

Rudolf Hess, in answer to questions submitted through his attorney, Gunther von Rohrscheidt, said he flew to England to try to halt the fight between two "noble races"—England and Germany—and not to enlist British aid in the attack on Russia, as widely believed.

He also said, "My loyalty toward the Führer is as great as it ever was."

G. I. WINS CLEMENCY

DAY

Frankfurt, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—Sentence of death imposed on Pfc. Robert A. Colby for the murder of two United States Army officers last June has been commuted by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander of United States forces in Europe, to life imprisonment at hard labor, it was announced today.

Colby, a 23-year-old ex-farmer from Greetingsville, Ind., was condemned by a court martial for shooting and killing Capt. Richard Brown and Lieut. Donald H. Wade, his commanding officers, after being reprimanded. His final clemency appeal was made to Gen. Eisenhower in October. Colby was a member of the Forty-ninth Engineer Combat Battalion. He served in Africa and England and landed in France on D-day.

Army Blacklists 2 Musicians In Reich

DAY

Bad Homburg, Germany, Dec. 14 (AP)—Two American concert soloists who spent the war years in Nazi Germany, Walter Morse-Rummel, a pianist, and Gulla Bustabo, a violinist, have been blacklisted by the United States Military Government.

Brig. Gen. Robert A. McClure, chief of the information control division, said that, although neither Morse-Rummel nor Miss Bustabo had joined the Nazi party, they received "large fees for concert appearances" and served "as tools of the Nazis . . . when most American nationals were being interned."

Both have been banned from the German concert stage and from making any further appearances before United States troops.

BYRNES LOST HOUR OVER RED CAPITAL

Secretary's Plane Caught in Blizzard; Expects Successful Parley.

GILFOYLE

MOSCOW, Dec. 14.—(AP) U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said tonight that if no formal announcement of an agreement followed the meeting of Big Three foreign ministers here he would not regard it as a "bad sign."

Byrnes, relaxing at Spasso House after a harrowing hour in a plane lost in a blizzard over Moscow, made the statement in answer to a question at a press conference.

NIGHT

Cooperation Important

"I think it a far more important thing if we make contact for an exchange of views rather than meet to make announcements," he said. "I think great progress will have been made if we achieve a better understanding."

Byrnes repeated what he said in Washington that the "purpose and only purpose of the meeting is to carry out the spirit of the Yalta meeting to meet every three or four months to preserve contacts between governments."

The secretary of state said he wanted it understood that "this is no peace conference. No delegation. No formal foreign council meeting. Just exploratory."

He added, "I am now asking for a meeting in March, although I have no assurance there will be any agreements."

"This meeting," Byrnes said, "really carries out the Yalta agreement and one which was insisted upon by Generalissimo Stalin at Potsdam.

"The record will show that Anthony Eden (former British foreign secretary) agreed that it should be done and that it would not prejudice meetings of the council of foreign ministers," he added.

BYRNES LOST HOUR OVER RED CAPITAL

(Continued from Page One)

Talks with Clay

Byrnes said that he stopped over in Berlin long enough to talk to Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay and others about the situation in Germany, and stated he believed civilian administration can be turned over to Germans in the American zone by next April 1.

There was no word tonight as to whether British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin would be able to fly into Moscow tomorrow. The weather remained bad with a blizzard raging and snow falling. (A Berlin dispatch said Bevin had landed in Berlin this afternoon on the first leg of his trip.)

In view of Byrnes' experience in being lost for an hour above Moscow, it seemed doubtful that the British official would attempt the trip immediately.

Byrnes landed at the Central airdrome today just before dark.

"I am very happy to be here," were Byrnes' first words as he stepped from his plane, wearing only a light tan covert cloth topcoat, light grey hat, and only a silk scarf around his neck to combat a whirling snowstorm. He had no gloves or rubbers.

He was greeted by Deputy Foreign Commissar V. G. Dekanozov, who said, "we are very glad to have you."

Informed that another deputy foreign commissar, Andrei J. Vishinsky, was waiting for Byrnes at another airport, the U. S. secretary said:

"I am sorry I have made my friend Vishinsky wait, but I am glad to be here. We had trouble finding Moscow, but we are not the only ones who had trouble getting here."

The obvious reference was to the task the Germans had in attempting to reach Moscow and Dekanozov said smilingly:

"Well, all's well that ends well."

Confident of Success

Asked to say something for a recording to be played later over the Moscow radio, Byrnes repeated his pleasure at his arrival, then added:

"I am confident our conversations will help draw our nations even closer together."

Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov was not present. He was conferring with French officials at a trade conference.

Interviewed later at the home of U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, who had been waiting with Vishinsky at the other airport, Byrnes said that being lost in the blizzard was the "first time I have ever had any anxiety in the air."

Byrnes said that at one time he said to Charles E. Bohlen, chief of the Russian section of the State department, "you know, we might run into the side of a mountain."

Bohlen told Byrnes not to worry because there were no mountains "around here," and Byrnes commented "that's fine—but do you know where 'here' is?"

Despite his experience Byrnes showed no sign of fatigue. He said the party got up at 3:30 a.m. for the takeoff from Frankfurt, Germany and was in the air most of the time except for a landing in Berlin. He said the plane ran into the blizzard about three hours out of Moscow.

"I was looking out of the window all the time," Byrnes said.

He said he asked the pilot how much gasoline the plane had, and was assured there was enough to fly back to Paris.

Also greeting Byrnes was the United States Minister Counselor, George Kennan, and the British Ambassador, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr.

When Byrnes's plane landed the snow was so thick his plane was not visible until it came within 500 yards of the waiting delegation.

Those arriving with Byrnes included Bohlen; H. Freeman Matthews, director of European affairs in the State Department; Ben V. Cohen, special adviser; Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University and consultant on atomic problems, and John Carter Vincent, director of the State Department's Far Eastern section.

While no official announcement has been made as to where the meetings of the ministers will be held, it was assumed that they would take place in Speridonifka Palace, a two-story house in the residential section of Moscow.

Byrnes In Moscow; Lost In Air Hour

Moscow, Dec. 14 (AP)—Lost in a blizzard over the Moscow area for an hour, Secretary of State Byrnes landed in an American transport plane at the Central airdrome at 4.12 P.M. today, just a few minutes before darkness closed in. He came here for the Foreign Ministers Conference.

At the airport to greet him was Deputy Foreign Commissar V. G. Dekanazov. Another deputy commissar, Andrei J. Vishinsky, was waiting at another airport.

DAY

"I am sorry I have made my friend Vishinsky wait," said Byrnes, "but I am glad to be here. We had trouble finding Moscow, but we are not the only ones who had trouble getting here."

Recording Broadcast

The statement was not lost on Dekanazov and other Russians who knew at first hand the trouble the Germans had.

"Well, all's well that ends well," commented Dekanazov. "It's an old Russian saying."

"I am very happy to be here," Byrnes commented for a recording which later was broadcast over the Moscow radio.

"I am happy to see my friends and colleague, Mr. Molotov. I am confident our conversations will help draw our nations even closer together."

Byrnes was attired in a light topcoat and light hat and thin silk scarf, and was without overshoes or gloves.

United States Counsellor George Kennan was bundled up at the airport in fur-trimmed overcoat and fur hat pulled down over his ears, as was British Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark Kerr.

[British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin landed late today at Berlin for an overnight stop on his way from London to Moscow. He was greeted by Sir William Strang, political adviser to Field Marshal Montgomery. Bevin will resume his trip tomorrow morning.]

Bevin Stops in Berlin

MOSCOW, Dec. 14 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain had not arrived today for the conference.

A Berlin dispatch said he had landed in Berlin's Gatow Airport and would stay overnight.

NIGHT

Mr. Byrnes said that he had talked in Berlin with Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay and others about the situation in Germany, and said he believed civilian administration could be turned over to the Germans in the American zone by April 1.

Russian Scores AP For Goering Interview

Moscow, Dec. 14 (AP)—Soviet Correspondent K. Taradankin, who is covering the Nuernberg war-crimes trial for Izvestia, criticized the Associated Press today for interviewing former Reichsmarshal Herman Goering.

DAY

"The world press represented at Nuernberg gives the press a great, important meaning," Taradankin wrote in a dispatch reprinted throughout the Soviet Union, "but sometimes dangerous chasing after sensation leads some representatives—even of influential organs—of the press away from the correct procedure.

"This unprecedented interview happened thus: A representative of the Associated Press gave to Goering's defense attorney a list of questions which the lawyer gave to the accused.

"Regretfully, this is not the only case. A day or two earlier the same Associated Press correspondent received a written interview from defendants Joachim Ribbentrop and Eric Raeder.

"Such journalistic tricks are undeniably harmful. They do not help, but, on the other hand, do just the opposite. They disturb the most responsible and noble work on the international (military) tribunal. One must hope that publication of the interviews with Fascist criminals will cause a certain reaction and censure in order that in the future such 'sensations' will not be repeated."

Pravda Irritated By Our Troops

NIGHT

Moscow, Dec. 14 (AP)—The presence of British and American troops in foreign countries was challenged today in Pravda, official Communist party organ, in an outspoken handling of a subject which may be discussed by the Big Three Foreign Ministers.

Writing under the title "Problems Which Deserve Attention," David Zaslavsky, one of the Soviet Union's foremost commentators, asked why the presence of Russian troops in Iran was questioned by Britain and the United States while they kept troops in Java, Egypt, Greece, Palestine, China and other countries.

Questions "Brushed Aside"

Zaslavsky accused some politicians with maintaining a democratic tone "when it is beneficial to them and when it is not they brush aside delicate questions with: 'That's not your business.'"

30-24-32391

DEC 15 1945

The commentator said the clamor which "reactionary circles" were raising about Russian troops in Iran was aimed to "distract attention from their police struggle with the democratic movement in Iranian Azerbaijan."

Seeks Closer Relations.

Moscow, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—The Soviet press reported today the formation of a Russian society to promote closer "cultural relations" with Iranian Azerbaijan, where autonomists are fighting Government troops.

A dispatch from Tehran, quoting the newspaper Rakhbar, said Southern Iranian tribesmen were being supplied with foreign arms, some of them British and Czech rifles.

Loot From Poland Listed

Warsaw, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Polish press agency today said lists of looted machinery submitted by 2,425 Polish firms disclosed the Germans took away in the war 217,747 machines, worth $575,000,000 at prewar rates. The Germans even took 70 streetcars from Warsaw.

Paris to Act.

Paris, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—The French Cabinet today decided to ask for immediate ratification of the Bretton Woods plan by the Constituent Assembly. The Cabinet also decided, at the request of Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, to ask legislative approval of a $550,000,000 credit offered to France by the United States Import-Export Bank.

UNRRA BUYS BULK OF E.T.O. SURPLUSES

Paris, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—The Surplus Property Liquidation Commission announced today that almost $56,000,000 worth of American war goods have been sold in the European theater, the greatest share going to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. UNRRA's purchases were put at almost $40,000,000 worth. Of these about $28,000,000 worth were allocated to Poland, including eight 1,000 - bed hospitals, seventy-five locomotives, 2,500 box cars and fleets of trucks.

France, spending more than $9,000,000 as the top government buyer, recently took 7,000 tons of cotton for almost $3,000,000, and assorted Army clothing for more than $5,000,000. Belgian purchases have totaled $5,500,000. Additional sales of almost $8,000,000 have been made in the Mediterranean theater, where the Italian Government was the principal purchaser.

End Staging Camps In France by Dec. 31

Paris, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—All United States Army redeployment staging area camps in France will be closed by December 31, Service Forces Headquarters said today.

The announcement did not say what route will be used for redeployment next year, but the military authorities said they believed Antwerp would become the main outgoing channel. The installations in the French camps will be turned over to the Liquidation Commission for sale, the Army to retain custody of the sites until Government property has been liquidated.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Dec. 14 (AP)—The lower house of Parliament ratified today a resolution for participation by the Netherlands in the Bretton Woods financial agreement.

Asks Right to Open Synagogue in Spain

Barcelona, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—Isaac Weissman, delegate to the World Jewish Congress, asked permission of the Government today to organize in Barcelona the first synagogue in metropolitan Spain since the civil war.

...ans Hopeful.

...c. 14 (A. P.).—Premier ...de de Gasperi today voiced the hope that the forthcoming Foreign Ministers' conference in Moscow would recognize the need of scrapping the armistice restrictions imposed on Italy so that her people may "regain their sense of dignity and responsibility."

SYRIANS RESERVED

Damascus, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—The Syrians accepted the news of the signing of the Anglo-French accord on the Levant with reservations today.

Although the pact agreeing to the withdrawal of all British and French troops from Syria and Lebanon was hailed as a victory for the Syrians in their fight for complete independence, it was reported that the treaty also provides for special accords to be reached between the French and Syrians on cultural and other interests. The Syrian attitude is that there should be no preferential position.

FALL OF 2 CITIES TO IRANIAN REBELS IS EXPECTED SOON

GOODWIN

TEHRAN, Dec. 14—(AP) Leaders of the local autonomy movement in Azerbaijan province were reported tonight to be in virtual control of Tabriz, while 2,000 rebellious tribesmen were demanding immediate surrender of the government garrison at Ardabil, 110 miles to the east.

A high source in the Iranian government said fall of the two cities appeared imminent.

Government troops in both the capital city and Ardabil were said to be awaiting orders from Tehran instructing them whether to fight or yield in the face of superior forces. Orders were dispatched to them in code last night, but their nature was not disclosed.

Provincial Governor Bayatt, who arrived in Tehran last night from Tabriz, said he had been forced to leave by leaders of the autonomy movement. Bayatt said he was accompanied to his plane by Jafar Pishevari, president of the newly formed Azerbaijan government, who had advised him to quit the province.

Meanwhile Sir Raeder Bullard, British ambassador, and John D. Jernegan, U. S. embassy representative, boarded a Russian plane for Moscow. Spokesman at both embassies said the purpose of the trip was "obviously" to discuss the Soviet attitude toward the revolt which has cut off the northwest province from the rest of Iran.

Neutral diplomatic sources in Tehran said that the small garrison at Tabriz was restricted to the city by orders of the Democratic party and the Russian commandant in that area. The Ardabil garrison was reported to number less than 1,000.

Iranian Premier Ibrahim Hakimi also prepared to leave for Moscow for discussions with the Soviet government. The Iranian ministry of foreign affairs has appealed to Russia, Britain and the United States to withdraw their troops from the country immediately.

(A Moscow dispatch said that the Soviet press reported today formation of a Russian society to promote closer "cultural relations" with Iranian Azerbaijan.

(Dispatches from Tehran quoting the newspaper Rakhbar said southern Iranian tribesmen were being supplied with foreign arms, some of them British and Czech rifles, Moscow added).

Tabriz, Ardabil Threatened By Iran Rebels

GOODWIN

Tehran, Dec. 14 (AP)—A high Government source said today that rebellious tribesmen threatened imminent capture of the Azerbaijan province capital of Tabriz, and the town of Ardabil, 110 miles to the east.

The announcement came as Provincial Governor Bayatt arrived in Tehran by air from besieged Tabriz. Bayatt said he had been forced to leave by leaders of the movement for local autonomy. He said he was accompanied to his plane by Jafar Pishehvari, president of the newly formed Azerbaijan Government and Democrat party leader.

Iranian garrisons in both cities were reported surrounded by insurgent forces, demanding immediate surrender. The embattled force at Ardabil was said to be hemmed in by 2,000 attackers.

Garrison Awaiting Orders

The Tabriz garrison, said a Government official, was awaiting orders from Tehran to fight or surrender. Orders to both garrisons were dispatched in code last night, but their nature was not disclosed.

British Ambassador Sir Reader Bullard and United States Embassy Representative John D. Jernegan left Tehran by plane for Moscow today and the three-power Foreign Ministers' meeting. Spokesmen at both embassies said the purpose of the trip obviously was to discuss the Soviet attitude toward what the Russians have described as a democratic party revolt in the troubled northwestern Iran area.

Appeal To Big Three

Premier Ibrahim Hakimi also prepared to leave for Moscow for discussions with the Soviet Government. The Iranian Ministry of Foreign Affairs appealed to Russia, Britain and the United States to withdraw their troops from the country immediately.

Official reports earlier in the week from the turbulent northwest province told of small skirmishes taking place there, although information has been scarce ever since Iranian troops were turned back by a Russian commander southeast of Zenjan.

The official Russian explanation for not permitting Government troops to enter the Soviet-occupied territory was that such a move might cause unnecessary bloodshed.

Brief Holdout Seen

A prominent member of the Iranian Parliment said Tuesday that the Government garrison at Tabriz could not hold the city more than two weeks without assistance.

A Foreign Ministry statement said the continued presence of foreign troops on Iranian soil "has caused the integrity of Iran to be violated and caused many accidents, brought many difficulties, and the thoughts of Iranians are disturbed."

"Discipline and order are destroyed," the statement continued, "and there is no longer tranquillity among the people."

5 Japanese Charged With Murder Of 8

DEC 15

Tokyo, Dec. 14 (AP)—The murder of eight Allied nationals was charged today in specifications filed by the United States 8th Army against the first five Japanese to be prosecuted in Japan for prison atrocities.

A United States military commission appointed to conduct the trials will meet in Yokohama Monday morning and arraignments may be held then. No date has been set for the trials, however.

The five Japanese are former prison-camp officials and the specifications charge them with inflicting brutalities and suffering in hundreds of specific cases involving thousands of prisoners. Each defendant is charged with the death of at least one American.

Defendants Named

The defendants, first of 300 to face trial:

Tatsuo Tsuchiya, a guard known to his suffering prisoners as "Little Glass Eye," accused of beating one American to death with the aid of such Nipponese prison characters as "Mush Mouth," "Punk," "Speedo," "Mickey Mouse" and "Big Glass Eye," not otherwise identified.

Capt. Kaichi Hirate, of Muroran camp, Hokkaido, accused of causing the death of three Allied prisoners.

Accused In Bayonet Slaying

Lieut. Kei Yuri, commander of a Kyushu camp, accused of responsibility for the bayonet slaying of one American and the starving of another.

Chotaro Furushima, commander of Gifu camp, Honshu, charged with one death.

Hiroji Honda, commander of Onahama camp, Honshu, charged with one death.

Few Victims Named

A few of the victims were named, including these dead:

Pfc. Robert Gordon Teas, Private Noah G. Heard and Corporal James G. Pavlokus. (Home towns unavailable.)

Cruelties listed in the specifications included deliberate starvation and forcing prisoners to stand naked in the snow.

As Allied occupation authorities filed the accusations of "cruel, inhuman and brutal atrocities," opposition to one of General MacArthur's directives for Nippon's reform appeared opening in the ranks of Diet members.

Shows City, Farms Split

The expressed opposition to the directive, which is aimed at helping thousands of Japanese farmers to acquire ownership of land, accented

EIGHT MORE JAPS ORDERED SEIZED FOR BRUTALITIES

TOKYO, Dec. 14—(AP) Arrest of eight more Japanese guards and officials for abusing prisoners of war was ordered today by Allied headquarters as five already in custody were formally accused and slated for prosecution at Yokohama.

The new list includes seven civilians and soldiers from the first branch at Muroran, Hokkaido, and a Major Umino, former commandant of a camp in the Pontianak area of Borneo. All are charged with "atrocities and offenses against the persons of United Nations nationals."

The five others scheduled to be the first defendants in war crimes trials in Japan were accused of murdering eight American, British and Dutch prisoners, and brutally treating hundreds of others by such devices as deliberate starvation and forcing them to stand nude in the snow.

Date for the trials has not been set, but a U. S. military commission which will conduct them will meet in Yokohama Monday to make arrangements.

General MacArthur's headquarters also called upon the Japanese government to make full reports on six "notorious incidents" which occurred in Japan between 1937 and the summer of 1940.

No information was disclosed concerning these incidents except that one of them included an assassination plot in July, 1940, against the then Premier Mitsumaso Yonai and Imperial Household Minister Tsuneo Matsudaira.

Headquarters in another directive demanded that the government explain why it had not acted to the growing estrangement in post-war Nippon between city and rural inhabitants. The Diet critics said the farmers already were better off than many urbanites and were refusing to sell much-needed food.

DEC 15 1945

The Diet is treading such a wary path that the session to date has produced not a single piece of major legislation toward the peace-time reconstruction and reconversion of the beaten country.

Emperor Hirohito was reported by Kyodo news agency to have accepted the resignations of three members of the House of Peers who have been named as war-criminal suspects by General MacArthur's headquarters. All three had been appointed by the Emperor.

Train Workers Strike

But independent movements are at work in Japan which would have been suppressed under the military dictatorship. Japanese workers on one of Tokyo's electric train systems struck for higher wages, continuing to operate the lines but allowing passengers to ride free.

Criticism of MacArthur's directive for the expropriation of extensive lands came from seven members of the House of Representatives who told correspondents their opinion was shared generally in the lower House.

Aimed At Absentee Owners

The directive was aimed particularly at absentee owners but an official of the Department of Agriculture and Forestry said that as few as 10,000 absentee owners might be affected. He said many others could avoid expropriation by working their own soil.

The seven House critics said the directive applied to rural Japan of "ten years ago and conditions no longer true today."

The food situation is so critical that Premier Shidehara has promised the Diet that Cabinet members would tour the country after the session seeking to enlist the aid of farmers in sending foodsuffs to the cities.

Restrict Axis Envoys

The Allied command also:

Demanded full reports on six "notorious indcidents" in Japan between 1932 and 1940, including a plot in July, 1940, to assassinate former Premier Mitsumasa Yonai and Minister of the Imperial Household Tsuneo Matsudaira.

Ordered confined to their present prefectures all Axis diplomatic and puppet diplomatic staffs left in Japan. Thailand (Siam) was excepted.

Ordered the arrest of eight more Japanese prison officials as war-crimes suspects.

JAPS EXTEND DIET SESSION

Labor Union Measure Passed By Representatives

NIGHT

Tokyo, Saturday, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Government today extended the special Diet session by four days after a last-minute rush of business resulted in passage by one house of a major bill—a labor union law—and the introduction of a resolution favoring a "united states of the world."

The House of Representatives yesterday passed and sent to the Peers a labor law granting workers the rights of unionization and collective bargaining. The representatives also passed twenty other measures, most of them abolishing war-time laws.

The House delayed action on the controversial farm-reform bill, subject of a directive by General MacArthur aimed at absentee landlords.

29 Bills Unenacted

Tokyo newspapers said another brief extension of the session probably would be necessary. Twenty-nine bills remain unenacted.

Arrest of eight more Japanese guards and officials for abusing prisoners of war was ordered yesterday by Allied headquarters. Five already in custody were accused formally and slated for prosecution soon at Yokohama.

The new list includes seven civilians and soldiers from the first branch camp at Muroan, Hokkaido, and a Major Umino, former commandant of a camp in the Pontianak area of Borneo. All are charged with "atrocities and offenses against the persons of United Nations nationals."

Accused Of Murdering Eight

The five others scheduled to be the first defendants in war-crimes trials in Japan were accused of murdering eight American, British and Dutch prisoners and brutally treating hundreds of others by such devices as deliberate starvation and forcing them to stand in the snow.

Date for the trials has not been set, but a United States military commission which will conduct them will meet in Yokohama Monday to make arrangements.

end a strike in the Hokkaido coal mines and said that steps to increase coal production had been insufficient and unsatisfactory.

Government sources announced that Premier Kijuro Shidehara's promise for revision of the Japanese house of peers next year does not include any plan to make the upper chamber of the diet completely elective, government sources said today. Aristocrats will hold the reins.

2,400 Yanks Scheduled To Leave Japan Today

Yokohama, Dec. 14 (AP)—Hoping to be home for Christmas are 2,400 men of the 27th Division, all scheduled to ship out tomorrow. Since December 1, some 35,000 United States troops have sailed for home.

Denies British Terms Would Enslave Siam

Singapore, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—M. E. Dening, chief political advisor to Admiral Mountbatten, said today that negotiations for ending the state of war with Siam were proceeding, but denied assertions, which were published, he said, in the United States that Britain's terms would amount to perpetual bondage for the Siamese.

HOLLAND OPPOSES UNO INTERFERENCE IN JAVA REVOLT

HAUGLAND

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 14—(AP) Dr. Hubertus van Mook, acting governor general of the Netherlands East Indies, asserted today that the Dutch government believes the Indonesian revolt should not be tossed in the lap of the United Nations Organization or similar body "which has not yet found its range.'

On the eve of his departure for conferences with Dutch government officials in the Netherlands, van Mook restated the Dutch view that direct discussions with the Indonesians, now in progress, will achieve a solution.

NIGHT

Van Mook told a news conference that although the military situation had eased in western Java, it remained tense in the central portion of the island.

Two Indian soldiers were killed and four wounded when Indonesians armed with machine guns and mortars ambushed a Punjab patrol near the naval base city of Soerabaja.

At Belawan, near Medan, Sumatra, Indonesians wounded four soldiers in an Indian patrol in a rifle and grenade attack.

British communiques reported scattered firing around Batavia's dockyard gasoline dump and small scale attacks on refugee camps at Buitenzorg.

A British spokesman announced that two companies of the Third and Fourth Gurkha divisions and a battalion of the British Sixth airborne division had arrived in Java. The Sixth air borne fought at Arnheim in Holland.

British military police announced the arrest of J. Peterson, notorious Nazi leader of the German community in Batavia and about 100 Indonesians in an early morning raid in the Kramat district.

Meanwhile U. S. consul Walter A. Foote cabled Washington urging the immediate re-opening of the Medan, Sumatra, consulate. Foote recommended that a new consul be flown out.

The only pre-war American consulate in Sumatra was at Medan, which was the center for most big American-owned rubber plantations.

East Indies, today rejected Indonesian suggestions that the dispute over Indonesian demands for independence be referred to the United Nations Organization.

Direct Talks Favored

Van Mook, on the eve of his departure for Holland, declared at a press conference that his Government felt the situation in the East Indies was primarily a matter for direct discussion between the Dutch and the Indonesians.

The Dutch view, he said, is that better results may be obtained by direct discussions.

A British statement reported minor clashes at several points, including Soerabaja, Ambarawa, Buitenzorg and Batavia in Java and Belawan in Sumatra.

DAY

Patrol Is Ambushed

Two Indian soldiers were killed and four wounded when Indonesians with machine guns and mortars ambushed a Punjab patrol near Soerabaja. Four Indian soldiers were wounded in a skirmish at Belawan, near Medan.

Fighting at the other points was limited to desultory exchanges of shots between Indonesians and British patrols.

British military police arrested J. Petersen, notorious Nazi leader of the German community here, and about 100 Indonesians in an early morning raid in the Kramat district. The raid was made as the result of the shooting and subsequent disappearance of a European on a street here yesterday. It was not learned whether the victim was killed or wounded.

BRITISH LAND MORE TROOPS IN INDIES

3 New British Units In Java; Dutch Refuse UNO Inquiry

HAUGLAND

Batavia, Dec. 14 (AP)—A British spokesman said today that two companies of the 3d and 4th Gurkha divisions and a battalion of the British 6th Airborne Division had arrived in Java to augment the military force engaged in restoring order in Java.

Dr. Hubertus J. van Mook, acting governor general of the Dutch

Batavia, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—A British spokesman said today that two companies of the Third and Fourth Gurkha divisions and a battalion of the British Sixth Airborne Division had arrived in Java to augment the military force engaged in restoring order in Java.

Dr. Hubertus J. Van Mook, acting Governor-General of the Dutch East Indies, today rejected Indonesian suggestions that the dispute over Indonesian demands for independence be referred to the United Nations Organization. Van Mook, one the eve of his departure for Holland, declared that his Government felt the situation in the East Indies was primarily a matter for direct discussion between the Dutch and the Indonesians.

DAY

China to Deport All Germans

Austrians Also to Go—Exceptions Possible for Technicians and Missionaries.

MOOSA

Chungking, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—All Germans and Austrians in China, including Jews, will be repatriated unless they obtain permission of the Ministries of Foreign Affairs and Interior to remain in the country, it was announced officially today. Pending repatriation, they will be interned unless they produce "valuable guaranties," either Chinese or foreign.

All such nationals who were suspected of spying, sabotage, or collaboration with the Japanese during the war will be punished according to Chinese law, the Government statement added.

The decisions, which affect approximately 20,000 European Jews in Shanghai alone, were drawn up by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and approved by the Executive Yuan November 27, the announcement explained.

German nationals must report possession of arms or other articles of military value, or face severe punishment. Germans and Austrians—including Jews—who have proved "reliable technicians," however, may be given employment in China by Government or private organizations, the announcement said, if the Ministers of Foreign Affairs and Interior approve.

Regulations provide that German missionaries not suspected of spying or sabotage may carry on missionary activities in areas where they formerly worked, or in areas designated by the Chinese Government—provided the missionaries are "guaranteed" by responsible officials of their churches.

STRONG, MODERN ARMY FOR CHINA

IS RECOMMENDED

NIGHT

CHUNGKING, Dec. 14—(AP) China must have a strong, modern army patterned after that of the United States, plus some adaptation of Japanese methods, Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi reported to the National Military Council today.

Pai, deputy chief of staff, urged one year of compulsory military training for all secondary-school graduates, establishment of retaining schools for the professional army, and creation of a non-professional reserve on American lines.

Since most of China's military equipment is of American origin, it is necessary for training programs and methods to follow the American model, he declared, but noted that changes would be made to conform with "peculiar conditions prevailing in China" with "no wholesale imitation of West Point."

DEC 16 1945

30-24-32393

DEC 15 1945

The army already has undergone a sweeping change, Pai said, as a result of abandonment of mass recruitment in favor of a smaller but more highly-qualified force.

With a smaller professional army, the importance of training cannot be overestimated, he said, so that army schools along the lines of the former Japanese army would be established.

A Chinese dispatch received here today reported that government troops, in a fighting advance had reached a point 11 miles from Kupehkow Pass on the border of Jehol province north of Peiping.

Another dispatch said that in Manchuria, the Russian occupation troops would continue to be responsible for order in Changchun territorial capital, until their departure, which is scheduled for Jan 3, regardless of the presence of Chinese government troops there.

Fight on Way to Jehol

CHUNGKING, Dec. 14 (AP) — Chinese Government troops advancing northward along the Peiping-Jehol Railway have reached a point eleven miles from Kupehkow Pass leading to Jehol Province, but fighting still is in progress, Government dispatches reported today.

A semi-official dispatch from Manchuria, said that Russian troops would be responsible for maintaining order in Changchun, the capital, until they withdraw, Jan. 3, regardless of the presence of Chinese Government forces.

Shanghai To Hong Kong Flight Made By Barbey

Hong Kong, Dec. 14 (AP)—Vice Admiral Daniel E. Barbey, commander of the United States 7th Fleet, flew here today from Shanghai to confer with Rear Admiral Elliott Buckmaster, commander of American naval forces in South China.

En route in a seaplane, Admiral Barbey gave a hitchhike lift to Mrs. George D. Hopper, of Chippewa Falls, Wis., wife of the American consul general at Hong Kong. She had been temporarily stranded at Shanghai after a twenty-day boat trip from San Francisco en route to China.

Horseback Riding Ends For Tientsin Marines

Peiping, Dec. 14 (AP)—Horseback riding in the outskirts of Tientsin—a favorite recreation of United States Marines stationed there—has been forbidden in an effort to forestall further incidents such as the recent shooting of an unarmed Marine by Chinese civilians in that area.

Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey, commanding the 3d Marine Amphibious Force, disclosed today that he had declared the bridle paths off bounds.

Seven Marines Listed Dead In China Crashes

Peiping, Dec. 14 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey announced today that seven Marine flyers were listed as dead, three were missing and two were injured and still in the interior as the result of crashes of six Marine Hellcat planes during a snowstorm December 8.

Aerial searchers have sighted five of the wrecked planes in Communist-held territory about 80 miles northwest of Tsingtao on the Shantung Penisula and are still hunting the other.

Rockey said negotiations were in progress for returning the injured survivors to Tsingtao.

Negotiations also still are under way for the return of six other Marine flyers who bailed out in Communist-held territory in Shangtung province more than a month ago.

6 Prosecutors Named For Trial Of Gen. Homma

Manila, Dec. 14 (AP)—A six-man staff, headed by Lieut. Col. Frank E. Meek, of Caldwell, Idaho, was named today by the war crimes branch of United States Army forces in the Pacific to prosecute Lieut. Gen. Masaharu Homma on charges of condoning atrocities, including the death march on Bataan.

The staff includes a Philippine Army major, Manuel Lim, of Manila; Navy Lieutenant Benjamin Schwartz, of Los Angeles; Capt. S. C. Hill, of Wamego, Kan., and Lieuts. Paul T. White, of Lincoln, Neb., and Abram Raff, of New York.

Homma's indictment probably will be returned December 18 and his trial will begin about January 7.

Homma Arraignment Scheduled For Tuesday

Manila, Saturday, Dec. 15 (AP)—Lieut. Gen Masaharu Homma will be arraigned at 8.30 A.M. next Tuesday on war-criminal charges in the same courtroom where Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita heard his death sentence, army headquarters announced today.

Homma, who has acknowledged "I'm ready to take responsibility for any acts of my subodinates," was in command of Japanese forces who staged the "death march" on Bataan.

Lieut. Gen. W. D. Styer named Brig. Gen. Robert G. Gard, of the 96th Division, and Warren H. McNaught, of the 93d, as final appointees o nthe commission which will hear Homma's case.

Colombia Political Prisoners Are Freed

Bogota, Colombia, Dec. 14 (AP)—Twenty-five army officers serving terms up to four and a half years in connection with the Pasto revolt of July 10, 1944, and other subversive acts, were freed today by presidential decree.

Thirteen others, including Gen. Eduardo Bonitto, who led a revolt inside Bogota Penitentiary where he was serving a term for participating in the conspiracy against the Government, already had been freed.

Alfonso Lopez, then president, was held prisoner for a day when rebellious army officers staged the revolt at Pasto during army maneuvers.

INQUIRY LASTING FOR LONG PERIOD SEEN BY LAWYERS

Refusal to Stick to 'Essential Facts' Cited by Chief Counsel.

LUCAS PROTESTS

Barkley May Retire as Chairman of Senate-House Committee.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—(AP) Controversy over the widening scope and copious detail of the Pearl Harbor inquiry shook the Senate House committee today and produced:

1. Notice from the entire legal staff of four that they can continue work no longer than early January and want to be replaced. William D. Mitchell, chief counsel, said he had believed the "essential facts" could be presented in a relatively short period but that it has become apparent that some committeemen take a different view of what is essential and that the hearings will go on for months.

2. A statement from Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) that he is considering resigning as chairman. He said he would make a decision in a few days, that he must decide whether his duty to the committee or to the Senate as majority leader is the greater.

Hits Repeated Questions

3. An angry protest by Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) against witnesses being asked "the same questions over and over again."

"I cannot for the life of me understand why there are these repetitious questions," Lucas said at a time when Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) was questioning Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow.

Barkley told Lucas that he as chairman could do nothing about repetitious questions except to express the hope that the committee members, in the interest of expediting the hearings, would not ask them.

Ferguson protested that he was not asking repetitious questions.

Gerow appeared the least ruffled of any of the principals as he related to the committee his recollections of War department events Dec. 6 and 7, 1941. He was chief of the war plans division at the time.

He testified he was in his office by 10 a. m. on Sunday, Dec. 7, but never saw the intercepted Japanese note to this country until he was called about 11:30 to a conference in the office of Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff.

It was after this conference that Marshall drafted a message to overseas commanders advising that Japanese ambassadors were presenting the note at 1 p. m., and there might be some concurrent Japanese action at that hour.

Arrives Too Late

The message to Hawaii did not reach Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short there until seven hours after the Japanese attack which was timed to coincide with the delivery of the note.

Ferguson wanted to know what Gerow would have done had he been shown the intercepted Japanese messages when he reached his office.

"I certainly would have drafted a message to overseas commanders," Gerow said. "I would have tried to get in touch with General Marshall and if I couldn't reach him I would have talked to the secretary of war and put a message on the line as quickly as possible."

Gerow also testified that he never saw prior to Dec. 7, any Japanese message implementing the "Winds code."

In mid-November, a decoded Japanese message disclosed they intended, if communications failed, to broadcast "East Wind, Rain" in event there was a break in relations with the United States.

The committee has been trying to learn whether there was such a broadcast before the Pearl Harbor attack.

Ferguson told Gerow that Col. Otis K. Sadtler had testfied before the Army inquiry board that about Dec. 4 he discussed with Gerow a report the Navy had received the implementing broadcast.

Gerow said he had no recollection of it but that any such discussion must have been of an "unverified" report.

(Continued on Page Fourteen)

The Navy had what it terms a "false" message about that time. It took the stand last August when the Navy Pearl Harbor inquiry board's report was released that no actual Winds broadcast was received by it.

The committee also has been advised by Gen. Douglas MacArthur that the Japanese in Tokyo say there was no such broadcast.

Senator Brewster (R-Me.) told reporters he would suggest Hugh Fulton as chief counsel in place of Mitchell. Fulton formerly was counsel for the Senate War Investigating committee. Some Democrats indicated, however, that they did not believe Fulton would be an appropriate choice.

Mitchell, former attorney general, said he had taken the position of counsel hoping to perform a public service by giving Congress and the people the material essential to an informed judgment on responsibility for the Pearl Harbor disaster. He said he and his staff were "depressed" by their inability so far to get into the record much new information which they have readied for presentation.

He said he had accepted the position with the understanding that his services would not be needed longer than early January. The resolution creating the inquiry committee directed that it report by Jan. 3.

Long Session Apparent

"Since the start of the hearing it has become increasingly apparent that some members of the committee have a different view than that entertained by counsel, either as to the scope of the inquiry or as to what is pertinent evidence," Mitchell added in a statement read to the committee.

"This has been reflected in extensive examination by some members of the committee far beyond what the legal staff anticipated."

Mitchell pointed out that the committee began hearings Nov. 15 and thus far has completed the examination of only eight witnesses.

"There remain at least 60 witnesses to be examined," he said. "Many of these witnesses are quite as crucial as those who have testified."

The other members of the legal staff are Gerhard Gesell, chief assistant counsel, and Jule M. Hannaford and John E. Masten, assistant counsel.

Mitchell said that securing new counsel should cause "no serious break" in the hearings and that the present legal staff would be willing to continue for the rest of December and for a short time in January.

When Mitchell completed his

Legal Staff's Move To Quit Job Shakes Pearl Harbor Probe

DEC 15 1945

DEC 15 1945

Pearl Harbor Counsel Staff Asks Release; Barkley May Quit

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Pearl Harbor investigation hit two big snags today which threatened its future.

First, the entire legal staff of the joint Senate-House Probe Committee asked to withdraw from the case.

Then the committee's chairman, Senator Barkley (D., Ky.), said he was thinking of resigning his post in the inquiry. Both cited the widening scope of the investigation and the prospects of a prolonged sitting as a factor.

This pair of unexpected developments posed the question of how the investigation would continue. It had been planned to conclude it by January 3, but Willliam D. Mitchell, chief counsel of the committee, said there were at least 60 more witnesses. Months would be required to examine them, he estimated.

Republicans Silent

Republican members of the committee sat in silence as their Democratic colleagues discussed the problem without reaching any immediate solution.

The legal staff offered to help any new counsel the committee might secure, but Mitchell said that he and his aides could not remain longer than the early part of January.

Barkley called the staff's request to withdraw a "tragic" development and said he had "no idea" who might be willing to take over its work.

In discussing the possibility that he, too, might withdraw, Barkley said he expected to reach a final decision in the next few days.

Will Weigh Obligations

Before making it, he said, he would weigh his "relative obligations" to the committee and to the Senate where he is majority leader.

When the committee recessed at noon, Barkley said he thought there was "no chance" that Mitchell and his staff would reconsider their action. He added that he would have no further statement about his own plans for several days.

He let those rest with his statement to the committee: "If I conclude that my obligations are greater to the Senate, I shall resign as a member of the committee."

Representative Keefe (R., Wis.) said he thinks the committee must go on with its work "with or without counsel." He had no suggestions about a successor to Mitchell.

Will "Stick To The End"

"I didn't solicit membership on this committee," Keefe declared, "but I'm going to stick to the end."

Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) said he had "seen this thing coming."

Mitchell asserted in his statement that "all of my staff accepted their places on my expectations and assurances that they would not be held up for any considerable time after January 1. My own obligations and responsibilities put me in the same position."

Mitchell said when he accepted the counsel's post weeks ago that he wanted to be relieved of duty by the first of the year.

Barkley noted that Mitchell and some of his assistants had said they desired to serve without compensation.

Hadn't Wanted To Serve

The chairman said that he had not wanted to serve on the committee in the first place because as majority leader he had "all any one human ought to be asked to do."

Since the hearings started, Barkley added, he had been forced in effect to give up his work as majority leader "and almost as senator."

It now had become apparent, Barkley said, that the invesigation could not be concluded by January 3, as Congress had stipulated in its enabling resolution.

Only Eight Testified

"At the rate of progress made," he said, "it would be difficult to prophesy how many months may be required to complete the investigation."

In announcing the legal staff's desire to withdraw, Mitchell read to the committee a statement, noting that although the inquiry had been in progress since November 15, the examination of only eight witnesses had been completed.

Barkley told the committee he had "no idea who might be willing to take over the job" of the legal staff and help complete the work of the committee.

Barkley said Mitchell had communicated his staff's decision to him as chairman late yesterday and he had asked the group to think it over during the night.

"It is a tragedy that we are to lose the services of these men," he said, adding that the selection of a new counsel and assistants would present extreme difficulties.

Planned To Recess

Senator Barkley said that it was planned to recess for Christmas either December 21 or 22, and that he had been assured that Mitchell and his staff would certainly continue until then.

Senator George (D., Ga.) commented that he had always been willing to let the committee counsel lay out the inquiry in an orderly way.

George said he recognized the right of all members of the committee to crossexamine but had wondered whether the whole issue might not become confused, "rather than arrive at an answer in which the public may have any confidence."

Senator Lucas (D., Ill.), Represenative Cooper (D., Tenn.), and Representative Murphy (D., Pa.) likewise praised the work of the counsel and expressed regrets.

No Comment From Republicans

During the course of this comment, nothing was said by the Republican members, Senator Ferguson, whom the record shows to be the most persistent questioner of witnesses; Representative Gearhart (Cal.) or Representative Keefe. The other Republican member, Senator Brewster (Maine), has been absent several days because of the death of his father.

Representative Clark (D., N.C.) passed up also his turn to comment.

After this opening bombshell, the committee resumed hearing testimony by Lieut. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, who was chief of the war plans division in the War Department at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack.

60 More Witnesses Listed

Mitchell in his statement said at least 60 more witnesses were to be examined.

The legal staff's move to retire from the investigation came as Gearhart demanded that the inquiry be broadened to include testimony from enlisted men who were on duty at Pearl Harbor at the time of the attack. He claimed this would develop "the real story."

Mitchell said members of the legal staff had been working days, nights and Sundays for two and a half months.

Others On Staff

Besides Mitchell, the staff includes:

Gerhard Gesell, chief assistant counsel; and Jule M. Hannaford and John E. Masten, assistant counsel.

Mitchell made his request for release in a 700-word statement.

The text follows:

"When I undertook to serve the committee as chief counsel, I believed that my services would not be needed beyond early January. This resulted from several factors:

"I had and still have a definite conviction that the real purpose of this committee was to present facts which would permit a final answer to this basic question:

"Who was responsible for the failure of our forces at Hawaii to be on the alert and for the admitted failure to use to the best advantage such defense facilities as were available at Pearl Harbor?

"Sitting For A Month"

"The point we have reached in the hearings makes it evident that a complete replacement of the committee's legal staff is necessary.

"The committee began its hearings November 15 and has been sitting regularly for a month, including all Saturdays but one. During that period only eight witnesses have been completely examined and we estimate that as the field of inquiry by committee members has widened out and new witnesses have been added to the list, there remain at least 60 witnesses to be examined.

"Many of these witnesses are quite as crucial as those who have testified. At the rate of progress during the past month, it seems certain that several more months of hearings will be required.

Final Report Due January 3

"The joint resolution of the Congress under which the committee is acting requires a final report of the committee to be made not later than January 3, 1946. I assumed that time limit meant what it said.

"I had every reason to feel that the essential facts bearing on this basic question could be presented thoroughly within the time set. There had already been six inquiries into this question. As a result, we had as a starting point the testimony of most of the principal participants and a substantial amount of documentary material previously assembled.

"At the beginning of my employment, as I then informed the committee, I undertook with my staff to spend approximately six weeks in the preparation of evidence and stated to the committee that commencing on or about November 15 we would be in a position to present in an organized and orderly fashion the evidence which we had assembled.

Outlines Procedure

"I have never had the idea, nor do I have it today, that counsel should be the sole judge as to what evidence should be presented to the committee or what avenues of inquiry the committee should follow.

"I thought that there are certain essential facts, as to which there could be no doubt as to pertinence or relevance, which counsel should present at the outset in order to lay out the basic groundwork.

"I thought, and so stated to the committee, that at the conclusion of this presentation, which we had every reason to feel could be completed well within the time limit set, the committee would then be in a position to appraise the case as a whole and determine what additional evidence was required or whether any other witnesses should be called.

Cites Different Views

"Since the start of the hearing it has become increasingly apparent that some members of the committee have a different view than that entertained by counsel, either as to the scope of the inquiry or as to what is pertinent evidence. This has been reflected in extensive examination by some members of the committee far beyond what the legal staff anticipated.

"This unexpected development during the last month has made it clear to me and all of my staff that it is not possible to complete the hearings within anything approximating the time I originally anticipated, and, accordingly, I am certain of my own inability, and that of my staff, to see the job through to the end.

"All of my staff accepted their places on my expectation and assurances that they would not be held for any considerable time after January 1. My own obligations and responsibilities put me in the same position.

Didn't Want The Task

"This outcome is a source of deep concern and regret to me, and to the other members of my staff. I did not want the place as counsel, but under the circumstances I felt I could not refuse it.

"I had hopes to perform a useful public service in aiding to present publicly all the pertinent facts which would permit the committee, the Congress, and the public to answer the questions in their minds. Our entire staff has worked days, nights and Sundays for two months and a half.

"We have produced, or prepared for introduction, much pertinent evident that has never been pro-statement, Barkley told him:

"So far as this committee, the Congress and the country is concerned, this development is tragic."

During a luncheon recess, Barkley told reporters he had learned only last night of Mitchell's decision. He said he thought there was no chance the legal staff would reconsider and that he had no idea who might be obtained as replacements.

Barkley would not expand on his statement regarding his possible resignation.

He made congressional history with a resignation in February, 1944. This was when he broke with the White House over President Roosevelt's criticism of congress when vetoing a tax bill.

Angered, Barkley resigned as majority leader but was re-elected by his Democratic colleagues.

Though Mitchell named no names, his complaint obviously was aimed primarily at Republican members who have questioned witnesses in great detail.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) personally questioned General George C. Marshall for two days.

Asked for comment on Mitchell's action, Ferguson declared delays had been occasioned by the legal staff's failure to supply committee members with pertinent documents well in advance of the appearance of witnesses who were to testify concerning them.

The committee still does not know all the information the counsel has," he said.

Declaring congress never had a "more serious job" than investigation of the Pearl Harbor attack, Ferguson said each member has a responsibility to see that all facts are developed.

Representative Keefe (R-Wis) said he saw no reason the committee could not go ahead without a counsel if necessary.

Getting information had been "like pulling pin feathers from a turkey" Keefe commented, adding: "I'm going to stay here until I get it."

The committee's present plans are to take a Christmas recess Dec. 21 or 22. This will mean it will get in only about one more full week of hearings before the Jan. 3 deadline for its report.

It presumably will ask the House for more time.

DEC 15 1945

30.24-32395

DEC 15-1945

duced at any previous inquiry about Pearl Harbor. We are all depressed that because of the course of the proceedings we have not been able to present it.

Makes Request

"It is necessary for me to ask the committee to arrange for other counsel to carry on. If that is done with reasonable promptness there should be no serious break in the hearings. We have already done a large part of the work in digging out and organizing basic material and documents, and arranging for the witnesses.

"I want to make it clear that there has been no restriction placed upon counsel by any member of the committee or by any agency of the Government as far as presenting pertient evidence is concerned. We have had access to all pertinent records and have received complete co-operation from all Government departments concerned. I feel sure that this same condition will continue.

"We will make every effort to aid the new counsel in preparing for their work and, during that process, we can, if the committee desires, continue, for the rest of December and for a short time in January, presenting evidence to the committee so that the new legal staff can pick up the case and carry on."

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO ASSURE JOBS

Lays Down Federal Policy of Maintaining High Level of Employment.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP) Legislation aimed at assuring plenty of jobs in the future was approved today by the House, 254 to 126.

The measure—a substitute for the so-called "full employment" bill requested by President Truman—lays down a federal policy of maintaining "a high level of employment, production and purchasing power."

Three-Man Council

It provides for creation of a three-man economic council to make recommendations toward achieving that goal.

Action on the measure came after the House rejected, 185 to 95, the original "full employment" bill and defeated a plan for an inventory of the nation's assets and liabilities.

The House also turned down, 243 to 136, a move to send all of the bills back to the Expenditures committee which drafted the measure finally adopted.

Final action came after two days of stormy debate and more than two months of controversy in the Expenditures committee.

The substitute now goes to a Senate-House conference committee, which will try to iron out differences between the bill and a modified version of the "full employment" bill passed by the Senate in October.

If the House bill finally becomes law, it would call on the economic council to study economic trends and make suggestions to the President, starting in 1947, regarding ways to keep employment and production at "high levels."

The President then would report to Congress his recommendations. There a joint Senate-House committee established by the measure would act on his proposals.

The Senate-approved bill retains the goal of "full employment" but specifies it must be consistent with the "needs and obligations" of the federal government. It also carries the stipulation that all able-bodied Americans wanting jobs are entitled to opportunity for them.

Both bills say that the government should step in only if private enterprise can't provide enough jobs.

Want Stronger Bill

Proponents of the original "full employment" measure still were hopeful of getting a stronger bill in conference than either the senate or House approved.

Chairman Manasco (D-Ala) of the Expenditures committee, who will head the House conferees, served notice, however, that his group did not intend to go along on other measures. He termed the House bill "a workable, sensible act which will allow us to take constructive action to prevent unemployment and still preserve our form of government."

While Mr. Truman has not expressed an opinion about the substitute, Manasco said he believed the President "will be satisfied."

During the closing hours of debate, when it became apparent the "full employment" plan could not succeed, many administration spokesmen swung to the substitute. They said they didn't like it, but that "half a loaf is better than none."

Criticism of all types was heaped on the substitute measure, before it finally passed. Some legislators said it went too far. Others complained that it did nothing.

Representative Judd (R-Minn) said the substitute "is full of fraud and deceit." Representative Bender (R-Ohio) termed it a "hoax" and Representative Coffee (D-Wash) assailed it as "neither fish nor fowl nor even a good red herring."

Manasco and others asserted, however, that if "high levels" of employment and production are maintained as contemplated, a major scarcity of jobs need not exist again in the nation.

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO ASSURE JOBS

(Continued from Page One)

Labor Bill Before Christmas Hope Dashed by Committee

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—(AP) The administration's hope of getting the new labor bill through congress in time for the steel strike set for Jan. 14 went up the chimney today.

The Senate Labor committee recessed its hearings until after congress returns from its Christmas holidays. Chairman Murray (D-Mont) told reporters, the hearings then will run for another month—100 or more witnesses have asked to testify.

Thus the fact-finding board which President Truman proposes to name for the steel wage dispute will have to depened upon voluntary cooperation from the companies and the union, like the board that was appointed for the General Motors strike. There will be no law to stop the C.I.O. Steelworkers from striking as they have voted to do.

Urged by President

The bill which the President urged congress to pass before Christmas would ban strikes or lockouts while fact-finding boards deliberate. The boards would be armed with legal authority to call witnesses and examine records.

The Senate committee decided, Chairman Murray said, "that it would be absolutely impossible to conclude reasonable hearings and get Senate action on the bill before Christmas."

The House Labor committee gave indications of winding up its hearings but speedy action by the House would go for naught in view of the Senate group's decision. The House committee today heard the objections of Philip Murray, C.I.O. president. Previously it had heard testimony of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, William Green, president of the A.F.L.; Eric Johnson, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce; Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach.

Acting chairman Ramspeck (D-Ga) of the House committee said he believed any more testimony would be largely repetitious and that the committee would vote tomorrow whether to hold further hearings.

The C.I.O.'s Murray reiterated his assertion that "the motive and purpose behind this bill is to destroy labor." He contended that the fact-finding boards would be forced to take court action to obtain the records of some companies and that unions thus might be barred from striking for months at a time.

Cyclotron Destruction Laid To War Department Error

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Secretary of War Patterson said today the destruction by American occupation forces of a cyclotron in Japan "was a case of mistake in the War Department."

He was asked at a news conference about a statement by General MacArthur's headquarters yesterday which said the General had ordered destruction of cyclotrons in Japan "on specific instructions" from Patterson's office.

Patterson said "that is quite correct." He added that he did not personally see the original order which went out because "hundreds of messages" are sent which he cannot see personally.

No Discipline Planned

"In this particular case," Patterson said, "I believe the matter was handled without the thorough consideration the subject wanted and that the sending of this particular message was a mistake."

He said MacArthur acted in an entirely correct matter in carrying out the order.

In answer to another question he said no one would be disciplined because of the mistake.

Atomic Energy Discussion

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—President Truman spent 45 minutes today discussing the future of atomic energy, particularly in relation to forthcoming talks with Russia, in a conference with congressional investigators.

Senator McMahon (D.. Conn.), chairman of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee, told reporters:

"We discussed with the President atomic energy generally as well as the preliminary discussions with the Russian Government on control."

He would not elaborate. The entire committee made the White House call.

New $750,000,000 Is Voted For UNRRA

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Senators voted another $750,000,000 today for relief of war victims and then adjourned after agreeing to an unusual Saturday session to complete work on a $2,500,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill.

The catch-all legislation included not only the $750,000,000 fund for UNRRA but such dissimilar items as funds for salaries of court criers and a statute of George Washington.

The bill was 66 pages long and the Senate had fought its way through only six of them at quitting time.

U.S. Not Getting Credit

The money for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was approved by a voice vote after sharp arguments that the United States wasn't getting proper credit among those receiving the aid.

Earlier this week Congress filled the $550,000,000 balance of its initial pledge of $1,350,000,000 to UNRRA. Legislation already has been approved by the House to authorize expenditure of a second $1,350,000,000. The sum approved by the Senate today would be the first installment on that.

Big Need This Winter

Senators Connally (D., Texas), Vandenberg (R., Mich.) and McKellar (D., Tenn.) told their colleagues the big need for relief is coming this winter and it is only just to make available the greater part of the fund as soon as possible. Connally, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he realized it was impossible to please everybody, even those getting relief.

"Some of the people will be mad at us when it stops," he said. "They'll be mad because it's not more lavish. . . . But we're committed to this thing, and it should go down as one of the most magnanimous acts in the history of the world."

SENATE VOTE BARS CONGRESS PAY RISE

Washington, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—The Senate refused today to vote a temporary 33 per cent pay increase for Senators and Representatives. The vote was 45 to 23.

Action came on an amendment proposed by Senator Bankhead (D.-Ala.), t oa deficiency appropriation bill of more than $2,000,000,000. It would have raised the $10,000 salary of members of the Senate and House to the rate of $13,300 and the $15,000 pay of the Vice - President and Speaker to the rate of $19,950, for the remainder of the acurrent fiscal year ending June 30, 1946.

The vote followed an earlier one of 47 to 24 against a bill provision granting Senators a $2,500 increase in expenses.

This latter vote came after more during which Majority Leader Barkley (D.-Ky.) declared: "No member needs this more than I do" but "I am unwilling to come through the kitchen for a raise."

Senator White (R.-Me.), the Republican leader, supported the proposed increase, pointing out that this already had been voted to members of the House.

Both Barkley and Senator Byrd (D.-Va.), veteran economy advocate, termed the expense increase a "subterfuge."

Senator Bridges (R.- N. H.), who won approval of the Senate Appropriation Committee for the expense ride said it would be a sad day for the country, if the Senate degenerates into a millionaires' club.

Party lines split widely in the rollcall vote.

Senator Bankhead (D.-Ala.), after the rejection of the expense allowance, offered an amendment to provide a direct pay increase of 33 per cent to Senators and representatives, the Speaker of the House and the Vice-President.

This would lift the pay of members of the Senate and House from the present $10,000 to $13,300 and the salary of Speaker and Vice-President from $15,000 to $19,950.

Bankhead said Congressmen had not had a pay raise since 1925 and that the cost of living had increased 33 per cent since 1941.

Jewish Child Care Unit Elects.

Chester Rohrlich was elected president of the Jewish Child Care Association at a meeting of the association's board of trustees yesterday at Federation Building, 71 West 47th street. He succeeds I. Howard Lehman, who was named chairman of the board of trustees.

PROSECUTION RESTS IN TRIAL OF M'VAY

Ensign Tells That Many Men Were Trapped Below Decks on Indianapolis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—Between 250 and 330 officers and men were trapped below decks when the heavy cruiser Indianapolis sank after an explosion at night July 30, according to evidence given today at a court-martial which is trying Capt. Charles B. McVay 3d, skipper of the ship, on charges of negligence and inefficiency in her loss while en route from Guam to Leyte.

It heard testimony from Ensign John Woolston of Seattle, who was damage control officer.

Woolston, who was on watch that evening, said he had made several patrols of the ship to check her condition. He estimated that 250 to 300 men were sleeping in forward compartments in the area where fatal explosions occurred, and that an additional thirty officers and men were on duty station in that area. Sleeping quarters were not full, he said, because many men were on deck because of the heat.

His account was in line with previous testimony of many witnesses that more than 800 of the ship's total company of 1,196 got off the ship before she sank within fifteen minutes after the explosion. The final toll of dead and missing was 880.

The charge of inefficiency against Captain McVay is based specifically on his alleged failure to issue "timely" orders to abandon ship, resulting in the loss of many lives.

The prosecution ended its presentation of direct evidence today, and the defense will begin presentation of witnesses tomorrow.

At its final direct evidence, the prosecution offered paraphrased transcripts of secret official records purporting to substantiate earlier testimony that warning of a submarine contact near her course had been transmitted to the cruiser after she departed from Guam, en route to Leyte.

Capt. John P. Cady, counsel for the accused officer, said he hoped to complete presentation of witnesses by Tuesday. A one-day recess may be taken for preparation of final arguments.

UTICA, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP)—National leaders of veterans organizations were urged today by Alan Stevenson, past commandant of the Marine Corps League, to protest the admission of a former Japanese submarine commander as a witness in the court-martial of the commander of the sunken cruiser Indianapolis.

In letters to all national commanders, Mr. Stevenson declared the action of the Navy in permitting Iko Hashimoto to testify at the court-martial in Washington of Capt. Charles B. McVay 3d, warranted "the strongest possible protest" by all veteran organizations and all American citizens.

ARMY, NAVY FIGHT ANOTHER ROUND IN MERGER TILT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—(AP) The Army and the Navy fought another round today in their "you're another" battle over unification.

The War department at its news conference handed out a Navy pamphlet about the merger plan which Army spokesmen thought was pretty fancy and they made some remarks about the cost. They also made some remarks about freedom of speech of Army and Navy officers.

The Navy department at its news conference gave out an Army staff memorandum which the Navy people interpreted to mean that Army officers could not speak freely on unification.

As for the argument itself, Secretary of War Patterson said that the Navy plan outlined in the pamphlet was a "diversionary attack" and didn't meet the Army's points at all. Assistant Secretary of the Navy H. Struve Hensel said that Patterson must not understand it.

Patterson's conference was held first and the Navy had some scouts there. Hensel's conference followed, but the Army was not represented —unless it had spies in disguise.

The blow-by-blow description follows:

Pamphlet — Patterson exhibits brochure entitled "The Navy Plan for National Security" and calls it "fancy." Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins says War department does not have "any money to answer this." Collins adds, "I have been unable to find out who printed it and who paid for it." Hensel replies Navy paid for it—says Government Printing Office couldn't handle job in time and in sufficient quantity so Navy got private printing firm to print 10,000 copies; bill is expected to be $8,400 and will be paid from Navy's "printing and binding" appropriation.

Free speech — Patterson says "charge is being repeatedly made by the Navy that the Army has muzzled its officers. This is ridiculous." Regarding Secretary of the Navy Forrestal's suggestion that Army tell its personnel they may "say what they think" about merger, as Navy did yesterday, Patterson says Army did so weeks ago. Hensel produces memorandum he says was issued Nov. 5 by Brig. Gen. H. I. Hodes, assistant deputy chief of staff. It reads, "it is imperative that all officers of the Army be conversant with the War department's views and statements regarding the establishment of a single department." It outlined major purposes Army feels should be accomplished and says, "War department feels that only these basic matters should be discussed." Hensel comments that regardless of what Patterson says, this directive still stands, that "when the assistant deputy chief of staff speaks, the boys are going to behave. I think it means the party line."

Reserve Officers Seeking Berths

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—(AP) Secretary of the Navy Forrestal said today that the Regular Navy probably will be able to absorb only half of the reserve officers applying for permanent berths.

His statement noted that more than 17,000 applications have been received so far and 1,500 are being made weekly.

A sample poll showed, he said, that 4.4 per cent of reserve officers who are not applying for regular commissions gave as their reason "probable discrimination against reserve officers." The rest listed factors which Forrestal said are "beyond control of the Navy department and which are inescapably incident to a military life.'

"When we consider that the Navy expanded to some 312,000 reserve officers," the secretary continued, "I am quite gratified that so small a percentage as 4.4 per cent feel disgruntled over their naval service."

The sampling was taken among 4,502 reserve officers.

DEC 15 1945

Charges Troops Being Trained

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—(AP) C.I.O. President Philip Murray said today he had asked Secretary of War Patterson to investigate reports that troops were being trained for "intervention in industrial disputes."

Murray made public a letter to Patterson in which he wrote that he had heard of such "alleged preparations". He told a news conference that discharged veterans had told him of such training a few days ago.

"I would appreciate it if an investigation could be made of this matter in order that if there are any such preparations being made by local officials they should be immediately discontinued," Murray wrote.

In response to questions, Murray said he did not object to use of troops to put down riots but that he did object to any use of soldiers against union picket lines.

He handed out copies of what appeared to be a diagram outlining use of various types of hand grenades against "rioters halting war work" in an industrial area. The diagram bore the name of "T. H. Murphy, Colonel, CWS, chemical officer". In the margin was written, "Cape Monmouth, N.J."

Church View On Training

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America urged Congress today to seek world peace through international co-operation before acting on universal military-training legislation.

The council's views in opposition to the plan advanced by President Truman were presented to the House Military Committee by Dr. John W. Rustin, pastor of Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, Washington.

Insisting that he is "not a pacifist," Dr. Rustin said he feared adoption of universal training by the United States at this time would indicate "a lack of trust" in other nations.

UNO Policy Cited

The executive committee of the Council of Churches, he said, last month committed itself to "the policy of international co-operation embodied in the United Nations Organization."

"The prevention of war is the only sure defense" against future conflict, he added, urging world control of the atomic bomb and control and limitation by international agreement of "all means to wage war."

He urged the United States to seek reduction and regulation of armaments and universal abolition of compulsory military training, asserting such action is necessary "to prevent a race in armaments whose end might well be the destruction of civilization and possibly of mankind itself."

Commission Proposed

The Council of Churches, he told the committee, advocates creation of a civilian commission to make a survey of national defense needs "consistent with the expressed desire of the nation to seek security through international co-operation."

The Rev. Charles L. Bell, Jr., of the First Baptist Church, Madison, Wis., told the committee "conscription and the maintenance of a large Army and Navy are not the right way to go about securing peace."

"If America wants real peace, the way to get it is by working for justice and fairness among the nations," he added.

Dr. Bell said he spoke for the Wisconsin Committee Against Peacetime Conscription and the Madison Council of Churches.

'Threat To . . . Democracy'

"Some of us," he said, "fear that one of the real reasons the military wants a large army and conscription is that there are generals and other officers who don't want to lose rank and who prefer the security such a place offers to the alternatives.

"Some of us fear that behind this lies a real threat to what democracy we have left in our land. We fear that it may be used to support British imperialism in the East and Dutch holdings in the Pacific and French territory in Africa."

He said he was "deeply concerned . . . that the Congress not present the church with the alternative of forsaking its God or forsaking its Government."

Dr. Bell filed with the committee a copy of what he said was an army order issued at Truax Field, Madison, Wis., that soldiers must forward correspondence to congressmen through military channels.

"Is this the proper way to make a democracy work and learn the real opinion of the people?" he asked.

DEC 15 1945

Admiral King Awarded Gold Star By Presiden

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—President Truman presented a Gold Star in lieu of a third Distinguished Service Medal today to Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, who directed the world's mightiest navy to victory.

The retiring chief of naval operations received the Gold Star at ceremonies attended by the Cabinet, members of Congress and men of the Army and Navy who served with him, in the East Room of the White House.

While a navy band played "Hail to the Chief," the President entered the crowded room to read a citation paying tribute to King's "astute military acumen" and his "guiding influence in the Allied strategy of victory."

Acknowledging the tribute, King declared that the job he had done could not have been achieved without the valor, fidelity and patriotism of the 4,000,000 men of the Navy, Coast Guard and Marine Corps.

Army Releasing 400 Millions In Scarce Goods

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The War Department advised Senators today it is releasing immediately more than $400,000,000 worth of scarce civilian goods.

The war investigating committee was given a list of items valued at $203,721,370 and an aide said that another $200,000,000 worth also is being released, although a tabulation of items is not yet available.

The list was submitted after Under Secretary of War Kenneth C. Royall and Gen. Courtney H. Hodges had assured members that the Army would do its best to alleviate civilian shortages, consistent with essential military activity.

11,937 Trucks Listed

Hodges is chairman of an army board created recently to establish policy on reserves of supplies and equipment.

The surplus list includes 11,937 trucks, ranging from 1½-ton size to 7½-ton prime movers.

Some of the other items are several million feet of steel and culvert pipe, 4,681,000 pounds of bleaching material, approximately 6,000 radio receivers, 244,319 telephone head sets, 771,000 pairs of combat coats, 1,493,000 pairs of wool ski sox, 2,098 outboard motors and 3,632 tractors.

Tugboats, Ice Plants, Handcars

There also were varying quantities of such items as ocean-going steam tugs, camouflage nets, insect spray, blasting caps, ice plants, pumps, electrical equipment, passenger boats, barges, life preservers and handcars.

Royall also informed the committee, during his testimony, that the Army is declaring surplus 500,000 yards of lining for clothes—"more than one third of our total stock."

Policy Explained

Under Secretary Royal said the department's new surplus-disposal program is based on a decision of Hodges's board to release supplies of civilian type goods, except the quantities needed during demobilization and that part of the occupation period up to June 30, 1949.

Royall said there were two important exceptions: Items which cannot be properly stored a long time will be released earlier; items critically short for civilians will be declared surplus.

MARSHALL READY FOR CHINA FLIGHT

Washington, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—General of the Army George C. Marshall will leave by plane at 9:00 A. M. tomorrow, weather permitting, for his special diplomatic assignment in China.

The new Ambassador to Chungking called at the White House today, and Charles G. Ross, press secretary, said he spent fifteen minutes with President Truman in a farewell consultation.

Ross said that Marshall will take with him a directive outlining American policy toward China and that President Truman will issue a public statement on which the directve s based.

Ths statement, Ross said, will run from 1,000 to 1,500 words and will be released for publication on Sunday.

Marshall will be accompanied by both a military aid and a State Department aid. Given faforable flying weather, he expects to reach Chungking next Thursday, Chinese time.

30.24-32397

DEC 15 1945

Marshall Faces Delicate Job

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14—(AP) Gen. George C. Marshall cannot be expected to accomplish alone the objectives of his possibly historic mission to China.

Official American concern and interest in China probably has never been higher. Short of President Truman himself, probably no one could be going to Chungking as our new ambassador with greater personal prestige.

Problems Are Complicated

Even so, Gen. Marshall will be faced with delicate and complicated problems. They are two-fold, but intimately mingled:

1. How to complete the disarming and repatriation of Japanese troops in China and at the same time to keep American forces helping in this job from getting mixed up in China's long-threatened civil war.

2. How to help the Chinese avoid that civil war and unite for a strong and democratic China that will strengthen the peace.

There is no question but that the Chinese would like to avoid civil war. Each side hesitates only at the possible price which it fears it may have to pay for peaceful unity.

The Communists hesitate to submit their independent armies to the Central government because they say that government still is a dictatorship and intends to go on dictating.

The Central government hesitates to institute democratic reforms which would give the Communists the political voice they demand because it fears the Communists would take strong-arm measures to control all China.

These fears and suspicions are rooted in 18 years of intermittent civil strife. The Communists and the Nationalist Kuomintang part worked together to overthrow th old Republican regime in 1927, bu then the Kuomintang outlawed th Communists, and this war followe by a bloody civil war that lasted until the early thirties. During this civil war both sides committed the usual excesses and neither has forgotten.

Right now the Central government has made it plain that it is in no hurry to complete the disarming and repatriation of Japanese troops in China until it has time to get enough of its own forces into the areas concerned to take care of Communists forces if necessary.

In many cases the Communists have demonstrated their readiness to rush into such areas and take over in defiance of Chungking's orders.

Hard to Get Around

China is so big and so hard to get around in that not even the Chinese instinct toward compromise has been able to overcome this stalemate, for the impulse to compromise is based on the human tendency to bargain and—if bargaining won't do the trick—to stall and try to use outside factors to advantage.

That is where we and Soviet Russia, (and, to an extent, Britain) come in. And that is where the success of General Marshall's mission may depend upon what happens at the Big Three foreign ministers' meeting in Moscow.

If the chief external powers concerned about China have or can find a common policy toward China, then China's internal deadlock—in the opinion of many—would dissolve.

But if these external powers contend against one another in their China policies, then the two Chinese factions may be expected to keep on trying to play off one external power against another, thereby hoping to delay the time when one side or another sacrifices its bargaining power in the interests of national unity.

The Chinese knew all the angles to that business a full 2,000 years before Machiavelli first codified it for a gawking Western world.

Doolittle, First Tokyo Raiders Gather in Florida for Reunion

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 14—(AP) Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle flew to Miami Beach today for a reunion with the fliers whose last rendezvous was over Tokyo, and as usual the general was "on the target" a little ahead of his men.

A huge birthday cake, commemorating his 49th birthday, greeted the stocky smiling officer as he walked into temporary "headquarters" at a hotel overlooking the Atlantic.

But the week-end party for 54 airmen who took off with him April 18, 1942 from Shangri-La—the deck of the carrier Hornet—to drop the first bombs on the Jap capital, that will be on the general.

"We're here for two purposes; to pay tribute to those of the original 80 who lost their lives—and for a comradely get-together," said the one-time commander of the Eighth Air Force in Europe, who is now attached to U. S. Army Air Forces headquarters in Washington.

Two airmen were killed in crash landings in China immediately following the historic Tokyo raid, and four more died from starvation or ill treatment in Jap prison camps.

Gen Doolittle scouted speculation that Tokyo was primary target for initial atom bomb raids on the Nip homeland and that Nagasaki and Hiroshima were secondary goals.

"Nagasaki and Hiroshima were untouched; Tokyo had already been devastated," he explained. "It would not have been effective to employ a new weapon against a city already desolated."

The general said he had followed the atom bomb forays with great interest but had no particular desire to be "in" on them.

"I am also awaiting with interest the day when atomic energy will be harnessed to constructive purposes instead of destructive," he said. "And that it only a matter of time."

As fliers winging in from every section of the country began to arrive, Gen. Doolittle welcomed each with a warm handshake.

By nightfall tomorrow, 54 of the 61 members of the original Tokyo flight still living are expected to be on hand for a reunion program that calls for a banquet, deep sea fishing, an aquatic show and a farewell supper party Sunday night.

Among the airmen, ranging in rank from corporal to general, will be Capt. George Barr, Tokyo raider rescued from a Jap prison camp three months ago, who will be flown from Schick General hospital, Clinton, Iowa, for the get-together.

Early Monday morning Gen. Doolittle will leave for Kittyhawk, N. C., where he will attend ceremonies commemorating the Wright Brothers' first flight.

A-Bomb Pacific Test Likely

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The atomic bomb is expected to get its ocean test in a remote corner of the Pacific sometime next spring.

Although a White House announcement that President Truman himself suggested the joint Army-Navy test against warships indicates a desire for early action, those in a position to know say the preparations may require as much as five months.

In addition to selecting and preparing target ships, it will be necessary to assemble precision instruments and scientists to work with army and navy officials.

Then will come what the two services describe as "large problems of logistics"—moving this gigantic floating and flying laboratory to a distant ocean area and supplying it prior to and during the actual experiments.

Policing of the test area in itself will be a major task. Scientists can only conjecture and estimate the results of an atomic bomb explosion over or in the ocean.

The weather, particularly the winds, must be checked closely to determine the drift of air charged with radio activity by an explosion. Similar guards must be established in relation to the sea, with its mineral content capable of radio activity.

Officials say it is obvious that the bombing range will be located as far as possible from populated coast lines or shipping lanes and also that it will be desirable to keep away from commercial fishing areas where the explosions and radio activity could cause serious damage.

These specifications for a proving ground point to the Pacific, although final determination has not been made. The Pacific, with its millions of square miles, has waters of tremendous depth.

Some A-bomb experts have suggested that tests against warships should include detonation of the explosive in very deep water to determine the pressure effect on hulls and its range.

Mr. Truman's suggestion (which was interpreted by the services as an order) apparently was motivated by two factors: to give prompt guidance in broad planning for national defense; to provide a yardstick for measuring forthcoming appropriations for both the Army and Navy. This view is reflected on Capitol Hill.

Representative Snyder (D., Pa.), chairman of a House appropriations subcommittee on army funds, said today that "we have a picture of what the atomic bomb will do on land, but we don't know its effect in water."

He added that the type needed for use against naval craft should be determined now so that future expensive readjustments in production will not be necessary.

British Note to Us on Iran

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—The text of the British answer to the United States proposal that all foreign troops be evacuated from Iran [Persia] by Jan. 1, 1946, as made public today by the State Department:

As the United States Government will recall, His Majesty's Government requested to the Soviet Government at the London meeting of the Foreign Ministers that the Soviet Government and His Majesty's Government should agree to withdraw by the middle of December their respective forces from the whole of Persia, except certain defined zones, leaving only small parties for the disposal of surplus property and installations.

The Soviet Government were unable to accept this proposal; nonetheless, His Majesty's Government proceeded with the arrangements suggested in their proposal to the Soviet Government and, except for small administrative parties, such British troops as now remain in Persia have been withdrawn southward as quickly as possible and are stationed in the extreme southwest of the country.

His Majesty's Government take the view that the Allied troops were stationed in Persia only for the purposes connected with the war, and that the war being ended, they should withdraw as soon as possible. Therefore, upon the receipt of the United States Government's proposal that all Allied troops should be withdrawn from Persia before the first of January, 1946, His Majesty's Government as a matter of urgency commenced an examination of the practicability of withdrawing their forces by that date.

The Soviet Government, having intimated to the United States Government that they are not prepared to accede to the United States Government's proposal, British military authorities are not continuing their plans to examine the details involved in the arrangements for withdrawal by Jan. 1, 1946.

His Majesty's Government entirely agrees with the view that fulfillment of assurances contained in the Declaration of Teheran of Dec. 1, 1943, requires that the Government of Iran should have full freedom to move its armed forces in such matter as it considers necessary in order to preserve its authority and maintain internal security.

Philippine Elections Will Be By April 30

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—President Truman today signed a resolution fixing the date for national elections in the Philippines as April 30 or earlier.

The earlier date might be fixed by the Philippine Congress, but, unless it does so, the elections must be held on April 30 for President, Vice President and all members of the House and two thirds of the Senate.

While the term of President Osmena continues until a successor is elected and qualifies, the terms of the legislators expire December 30, 1945. The new Congress would take office not later than May 28, 1946.

Normally Philippine elections are held in November, but President Truman told Congress "it was not possible" to hold them at that time this year.

Floor Of $375 Is Put Under Airline Fares To London

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board acted under a general grant of power today to put a floor of $375 under fares to London and clear away the major difficulty in providing full-scale North Atlantic air service.

At the same time, the board recognized an informal understanding whereby the British will permit United States carriers to make fourteen round trips weekly to England.

The CAB granted seven trips each to Pan American Airways and

DEC

American Overseas Airlines, with a limitation that each not offer more than 250 seats.

About 35 A Trip

This averages about 35 passengers a trip, and is more than can be carried in the DC-4's now in use.

The biggest question in informal talks with the British has been whether the CAB had the authority to protect foreign carriers against uneconomic fare cutting. The same problem arose in negotiations with France for a formal commercial air agreement.

The board's action today may materially hasten the conclusion of such an agreement.

To Withdraw Flying Boats

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Pan American Airways will withdraw flying boats from the Atlantic services immediately after Christmas, a spokesman for the airline said today, and will discontinue serving Bermuda until commercial landplane operations are permitted there.

Pan American has used flying boats on the run to Lisbon, by way of Bermuda and the Azores, since 1938, but intends to replace seaplanes with land planes wherever airports are available.

The United States suggested that Great Britain permit commercial use of airfields built at bases on which 99-year leases for military purposes were obtained in exchange for some overage destroyers before the United States entered the war. One of those fields is at Bermuda.

when Chiang demanded his removal from China.

"This is when Hurley first entered the act," Delacy added. "Instead of backing Stilwell, he backed Chiang. He saw that Stilwell was removed.

"Next he moved into the diplomatic arena where Ambassador Gauss, a man who knew and understood China, had been working for unity and democracy.

"Unity Went Glimmering"

"Hurley brought the northern Chinese Communists and Chiang back together. But because he told Chiang in advance that he could write his own terms—some say he actually used the words 'blank check'—because he offered Chiang United States aid no matter what position the Generalissimo took, he destroyed the long work of Ambassador Gauss. Unity and the hope of democracy went glimmering. Ambassador Gauss resigned. . . .

"Those are the brutal facts," Delacy commented. "They are facts which led irrevocably to civil war in China."

General Hurley said he had no comment to make on the Delacy speech. There was no comment from either the State Department or the War Department.

Olds Named Chairman Of Power Commission

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Federal Power Commission today elevated Vice Chairman Leland Olds, of New York, to the commission chairmanship for the remainder of his term expiring June 22, 1949.

Olds succeeded Basil Manly, who resigned on October 1 to enter private business.

The commission selected Commissioner Nelson Lee Smith, of New Hampshire, to serve as vice chairman for the remainder of this year and for 1946.

Olds first was appointed to the commission in June, 1939, and served as chairman from January, 1940, to June, 1944. Since September, 1944, he has served as vice chairman.

Smith joined the commission in October, 1943, and since September, 1945, has been supervising commissioner of the FPC's nationwide natural gas investigation. He is a former member of the New Hampshire Public Service Commission.

Stilwell Ouster, Resignation Of Gauss Blamed On Hurley

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Representative Hugh Delacy (D., Wash.) said tonight that Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley caused the removal of Gen. Joseph Stilwell in China and brought about the resignation of Ambassador Clarence Gauss.

In a broadcast, Delacy said General Hurley, then special envoy to China, "sided with Chiang Kai-shek against ourn own military leader in China, General Stilwell."

Into Diplomatic Arena

Delacy said Stilwell had nearly achieved military unity in China

RECONVERSION MAY END SWPC

Maverick's Unit Would Lose Lending Power To RFC

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Smaller War Plants Corporation, Maury Maverick's agency of 1,150 employés, may be one of the first consolidated out of existence with signing of the Federal reorganization bill.

Two months ago, it was learned today, an executive order was circulated within the Government eliminating SWPC, giving its lending functions to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and its remaining jobs to the Commerce Department.

$200,000,000 Revolving Fund

The order was blocked almost on the eve of its issuance by the Justice Department, which held that only Congress could dissolve an agency created by act of Congress. The measure awaiting President Truman's signature would clear away that obstacle.

John W. Snyder, reconversion director, has not changed his mind in the meantime, it was said by persons familiar with his plans. They predicted action shortly. The shift would give RFC the bulk of the personnel.

At SWPC a spokesman insisted there had been "no official notification," but admitted knowledge of the pending order. Maverick has repeatedly refused to comment.

Has Loaned $500,000,000

The proposed shift would give RFC a revolving fund of $200,000,000, from which to make loans for the reconversion of small business, and authority to call on Congress for $150,000,000 more as needed.

Under Maverick, former mayor of San Antonio and Democratic Texas Representative in Congress, SWPC has loaned small companies about $500,000,000 with an average loss of less than one half of one per cent.

DEC 15 1945

House Group Favors U.S. News Bureau

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee today approved legislation authorizing the State Department to set up a world-wide organization to disseminate news about the United States.

Subject to approval by both branches of Congress, the legislation would give permanent status to the temporary State Department division handling many of the programs formerly under the jurisdiction of the Office of War Information and the Office of Inter-American Affairs.

It provides for use of newspapers, radio, motion pictures and other channels of news distribution, for the use of schools, libraries and community centers abroad, and for the interchange of students, professors and outstanding persons between this country and other nations.

HALIFAX CITES U.S. INDIES JOB

Says British Follow Orders Of Combined Chiefs Of Staff

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Lord Halifax, British Ambassador, declared tonight that the United States shares with Britain the responsibility for the operations of British Empire forces in the revolt-torn Dutch East Indies.

In an address before the twenty-fifth anniversary banquet of the English Speaking Union, the diplomat declared:

"We did not send our troops to Java on our own initiative. They went there to carry out work which had been assigned to them by the combined chiefs of staff. The decision was not British but Anglo-American."

70,000 Live In Daily Danger

The combined chiefs of staff is an organization of British and United States land, sea and air commanders.

Halifax declared that the troops are in the Indies primarily to disarm the Japanese and secondarily to provide safety for Allied prisoners of war and persons interned by the Japanese, "a large proportion of whom are women and children."

Some internees have "already been murdered," he said, and 70,000 women and children in Batavia alone live in daily danger.

Anglo-American Unity Urged

"However anxious we may be to avoid bloodshed and to keep out out of the internal affairs of the Dutch Indies," Halifax said, "we have been given a job to do and it is surely our duty to see it through."

Halifax appealed for the closest possible Anglo-American understanding. He declared that the peace after the last war really was wrecked by the disunity which then came between the United States and Britain.

He said he did not believe that either Germany or Japan "would have entered upon a career of crime" in the face of real unity between the English-speaking nations.

U. S. OFFERED TO BUY '46-'47 CUBAN SUGAR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—The United States offered to buy the 1946 and 1947 Cuban sugar crops at 3.675 cents a pound as a means of breaking a deadlock in the negotiations for next year's Cuban crop, it was learned today.

The offer, a sugar official said, was made yesterday by American negotiators, and was rejected by the Cubans now negotiating for the sale of their sugar, on the ground that they were interested in long-term security for their industry and the offer did not provide for that.

The negotiations came to a deadlock some time ago when the United States refused to accept Cuban demands that they be allowed to supply at least 40 per cent of what sugar the United States consumed in the next ten years. The United States held to its offer of 3.675 cents a pound for Cuba's 1946 sugar crop.

In a joint statement today, the Department of Agriculture and the Cuban sugar delegation announced the postponement of the negotiations until after the first of the year.

The statement said the conferees "agree that progress has been made" and that they expect an agreement to be reached after the meetings are resumed.

UNRRA Plans To Spend 675 Millions In China

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration plans to spend an estimated $675,000,000 for relief in China between now and March 31, 1947, Roy Hendrickson, UNRRA deputy director, said today.

With the United States final contribution of $1,350,000,000 destined for congressional approval, Hendrickson said the China program soon will be in full swing.

MRS. LIPPMANN NAMED TO RED CROSS OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—(AP) Selection of Mrs. Walter Lippmann, wife of the columnist, as secretary of the American Red Cross, was announced today by Chairman Basil O'Connor.

Mrs. Lippmann, who has been national director of the Red Cross Volunteer Nurse's Aide corps since 1941, succeeded Mabel T. Boardman. Miss Boardman resigned a year ago after serving as secretary for a quarter of a century.

Santos Coming North for Rest.

Miami, Dec. 14 (AP).—Former President Eduardo Santos of Colombia arrived aboard a Pan American Clipper last night on a trip to New York which he said is a vacation.

UNION WILL FIGHT G-M TO BITTER END,

DEC 05 1945

30.24 32399

LEADER DECLARES

Plan to 'Sweat This Out to Finish', Reuther Tells Company.

AGREE ON POINT

White Collar Workers to Be Permitted in Some Plants.

DETROIT, Dec. 14—(AP) The United Auto Workers (C.I.O.) disclosed today that U.A.W. Vice Chairman Walter P. Reuther told General Motors corporation, "you are asking for a fight, brother, and, brother, you are going to get it."

The union said Reuther, who heads the U.A.W.'s General Motors division, also told the company, "if it's the last thing we do, brother, we are going to sweat this one out to the bitter end."

An official U.A.W. spokesman confirmed General Motors disclosure that Reuther made the statements during negotiating sessions Thursday as 213,000 General Motors workers in more than 70 cities remained idle in the strike that began Nov. 21.

Released in Part

General Motors today released a partial stenographic report on Wednesday's discussions between its representatives and U.A.W. officials. The union later released an additional portion of the exchanges at the meeting, and Frank Winn, director of public relations for the union, said the portion released by General Motors was "apparently accurate."

Other developments on the auto industry's troubled labor scene:

1.—General Motors and the U.A.W.-C.I.O. came to understandings to permit white collar workers and supervisory employes—all non-union strikers—to return to work in some plants.

2.—President Truman's fact-finding board announced it would begin public hearings in the General Motors strike Dec. 20 but that a final report would be withheld until the board was certain its findings would "facilitate a settlement."

Representatives of both General Motors and the U.A.W. will go to Washington to appear before the fact-finding board. GM said C. E. Wilson, president of the corporation; Harry W. Anderson, vice president in charge of personnel, and S. M. DuBrul, director of labor economy, will represent GM. Reuther and nine members of the top General Motors negotiating committee, will appear in behalf of the union.

3.—The Ford Motor company and the U.A.W.-C.I.O., engrossed in problems of "company security" and the 30 per cent wage issue as well, held a "satisfactory discussion" and recessed their negotiations until Monday.

Release of the portions of the

(Continued on Page Fourteen)

General Motors-U.A.W. negotiations showed Reuther and Vice President Harry W. Anderson, the corporation's chief negotiator, in sharp exchanges.

At one time Reuther suggested that he and Anderson both take shop jobs in a General Motors plant.

"Let me pick a job out for you and you pick one out for me and if you can last 40 hours on that job you can have my pay for the week," the transcript quoted Reuther.

"You would pay that much," Anderson was quoted as saying, "to get that kind of a publicity stunt for yourself."

Lewis Name Mentioned

At another point the name of John L. Lewis was mentioned and Thomas A. Johnstone, a U.A.W.-CIO negotiator, demanded: "Who said John Lewis was a labor leader?"

This had followed a statement by Anderson that:

"I can go out and get a committee of manufacturers that have nothing to do with General Motors and have them come out and state the union's position is the most ridiculous position in the world. I think I can get a committee of union people to look at it and say the U.A.W.'s position is the most ridiculous position in the world."

A corporation charge of "illegal picketing" had been brought into the courts Thursday as General Motors sought injunctions against U.A.W.-C.I.O. locals in Cleveland and Chicago, charging pickets had used force and "intimidation" against non-strikers.

Common Pleas Judge Frank S. Day of Clevland, acting in the GM suit brought in connection with picketing at the Fisher Body plant of that city, ordered the number of pickets limited to 55.

Judge Day held that no evidence had been presented to support a company charge that union members had molested or threatened persons attempting to enter the strike-bound plant. He said he therefore had not ordered removal of all pickets.

The Chicago injunction request will be heard Friday.

General Motors and the union agreed meanwhile to arrangements for clerical and supervisory employes to enter certain plants in Detroit, Flint, Janesville, Wis., and Linden, N. J. Union officials said they agreed on condition the non-strikers would not undertake to do striker's work.

The dispute over picketing has interfered with negotiations over the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage increase, basis of the walkout.

At one time General Motors refused to consider further wage discussions until the picketing issue was settled. Later, however, it consented to continue the wage parleys, which are to be resumed Monday.

Thousands of Happy Troops Disembark at New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—(AP) Joyful thousands of home-for-Christmas soldiers crowded through the port of embarkation today, but none was happier than the 1,126 who clambered from the Saturnia, Army transport which picked them up in Bermuda from two disabled ships.

The Queen Mary, which landed 11,287 troops, also arrived and the Joseph Hooker, plodded upward port, her pumps fighting seawater pouring through starboard plates. The Hooker, with 562 servicemen aboard, was under escort of the cruiser Honolulu.

Twelve other ships also were headed for port here.

In addition to troops, the Queen Mary brought 84 Army nurses, 41 Red Cross workers, 14 war brides and 160 civilians.

British Actor Arrives

David Niven, 35, British actor; Richard F. Wood, son of Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States; Admiral Sir Henry Moore, former chief of the British home fleet; and Brig. Gen. Frederick S. Strong of Detroit, former commander of American bases ine United Kingdom also were Queen Mary passengers

The soldiers on the Saturnia had been passengers aboard the Henry Ward Beecher, which lost a propeller in rough seas, and the George McCrary, which developed boiler trouble. Both ships were directed by the Navy to put in at Bermuda, the Beecher under tow, the McCrary under her own power.

The Saturnia was sent from New York to pick up the soldiers.

Oscar J. Trevisan, the Saturnia's captain, said two crew members, John Lopatra, discharged Marine of Box 14, Muse, Pa., and L. Lujowski, a native of Poland, were missing. Their rowboat capsized in rough waters off Bermuda as they were returning to the ship, Trevisan said.

Niven, the actor, said he was enroute to Hollywood and that his wife and two children still were in England.

Wood, son of Lord Halifax, was met by his mother. Both his legs had been blown off above the knees by a bomb while he was with the British army in Africa. He said he would visit American Army hospitals in an effort to bolster morale of incapacitated soldiers.

Sir Henry Moore said he was on his way to Washington to head the British admiralty legation there.

22 Ships Scheduled

In all, 22 troopships were scheduled to arrive at three East coast ports, and 52 others were due on the West coast, as follows:

Arriving at New York—Queen Mary with 11,287 troops; J. W. McAndrew, 1,949; Colby Victory, 1,535; Croatan, 1,236; Saturnia, 1,126; Tabitha Brown, 567; Samuel Ashe, 552; Reverry Johnson, 580; F. J. Luckenbach, 166; Brand Whitlock, 22; George Bellows, 21; Milford Victory, 1,492; and Merak, 360.

At Newport News, Va.—Peter Minuit, 544; Joseph Hollister, 589; Philip Doddridge, 22; John Blair, 566; E. A. Peden, 30; and William Halstead, 75.

At Boston—Samuel Livermore, 600; and Smith Thompson, 617.

At Los Angeles—Shamrock Bay, 1,352; Callaway, 1,679; Canberra, 216; St. Louis, 427; Yarmouth, 967; Independence, 1,706; White Marsh, 228; Grant, 1,366; Thistle, 172; War Hawk, 1,528; Valeria, 432.

At Portland—Gage, 2,206.

At San Diego—LST 966, 89; LST 902, 123; Hambleton, 29; Patrol Craft 461, 7; LSM 275 and 277 with total of 17; and 14 LCIS with 359.

At San Francisco—General Aultman, 3,907; Calvert, 1,068; Warwick Victory, 796; Ancon, 637; LST 1107, 129; LST 284, 284; Sunnad n, Uranus, High Flyer, LSMS 345, 448, 450, 447 and 350 with a few each.

At Seattle—Carlisle, 1,026; Horney, 3,613; Carl Shurz, 1,367; White Plains, 1,025, and Lamar, 1,735.

At Tacoma—Brookings, 1,478.

The George Baker due at Newport News with six soldiers was diverted to Baltimore The Marine Panther with 2,373 and the Montclair Victory with 1,484 due at New York were delayed. The Admiral Capps with an unknown number of troops, and the Thaddeus Kosciusko with 570 were delayed arriving at Newport News. The Sitka, with 1,903, due at Seattle, also was delayed.

18 SHIPS TAKING GOODS TO RUSSIA

Load $40,000,000 Order of Industrial Machinery.

Baltimore, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—Eight Liberty ships were being loaded in Baltimore today with a $40,000,000 rush order of manufactured equipment to be used for rebuilding the devastated industrial power of Russia.

Officials of the Moore-McCormack Lines, forwarding agents, said the Soviet Purchasing Commission hoped to get most of the ships, destined for Odessa and Murmansk, on the high seas by Christmas. Similar cargoes are being loaded on six Liberties in Philadelphia and two Russian Liberties in New York harbor.

Turbo-generators, dam sluices, structural steel and almost 100 locomotives and tenders make up part of the cargoes which cost an estimated total of $100,000,000. Each Baltimore and Philadelphia ship also is loading approximately 450 tons of Russian war relief supplies.

The shipments are part of a $400,000,000 credit arrangement signed between the United States and the Soviet Union in order to enable Russia to receive the lend-lease goods on which delivery was halted after V-J day.

A ninth Liberty ship sailed last week from Baltimore and another one was scheduled to leave today. A Baltimore shipping man described the cargoes as "what you would need to rebuild a whole State from the ground up after it was wrecked by war."

ANTI-NAZI ORDERED OUT

Deportation Is Set For Father Of Three In Portland

Portland, Ore., Dec. 14 (AP)—Walter E. Baer, Portland civil engineer and outspoken anti-Nazi who was on the verge of deportation throughout the mid-30's, has been ordered to leave for Germany with the next deportation party.

DEC 15 1945

DEC 15 1945

The famed Baer case was fought through Oregon and New York courts from 1934 to 1937 by friends who claimed he could not remember Germany nor even speak the language.

A group of 120 Portland attorneys appealed today to Gov. Earl Snell to pardon Baer, 47, for two 25-year-old check forgery convictions, on which the deportation is based. Baer's attorney, Irvin Goodman, said Baer served sentences on the charges in 1919 and 1921, but had been a good citizen since. He came to this country from his native Germany in 1907.

"Grave Violation"

The petitioning lawyers claimed that separating Baer from his Oregon-born wife and three children—one in the Army—would be a "grave violation of the principles of democracy."

V. W. Tomlinson, officer in charge of the immigration service here, said "all we are doing is executing a warrant of deportation," as ordered by the commissioner of immigration and naturalization.

"Baer could not be deported before," Tomlinson said, "because of the war situation."

Bette Davis And Husband Return

Laredo, Texas, Dec. 14 (AP)—Bette Davis and her husband, William Grant Sherry, left here this morning for her home in New Hampshire, following a honeymoon trip to Mexico City.

Actor, Pianist, Director, Become U.S. Citizens

Los Angeles, Dec. 14 (AP)—Two foreign-born film personalities and a distinguished musician today became United States citizens.

They were Andrew de Toth, 32-year-old director and husband of Actress Veronica Lake; Paul Henreid, 35-year-old actor, and Vladimir Horowitz, concert pianist.

De Toth was born in Hungary and came to the United States five years ago. Henreid, born in Austria, also has been here since 1940.

Horowitz, born in Kiev in 1904, renounced his Russian citizenship in 1925. He came to this country in 1939.

A97

NIGHT LEAD UNITED NATIONS

LONDON, DEC. 14-(AP)-PARLIAMENTARY MANEUVERS BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS PREPARATORY COMMISSION TODAY FORCED POSTPONEMENT UNTIL TOMORROW OF A VOTE ON THE RECOMMENDATION TO PLACE THE UNITED NATIONS CAPITAL IN THE UNITED STATES.

EVERY INDICATION WAS THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD NOT GAIN THE NECESSARY TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY ON THE FIRST BALLOT. BUT MANY DELEGATES SUPPORTING A EUROPEAN SITE SAID PRIVATELY THE VOTE

DELEGATES SUPPORTING A EUROPEAN SITE SAID PRIVATELY THEY WOULD VOTE FOR THE UNITED STATES ON THE SECOND.

EJ1033PES

A69

WITH FRANKFURT

LONDON, DEC 14-(AP)-FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN TOOK OFF TODAY FROM NORTHOLD AIRDROME FOR MOSCOW TO ATTEND THE FOREIGN MINISTERS' CONFERENCE.

MRS. BEVIN WENT ABOARD THE SKYMASTER PLANE JUST BEFORE ITS DEPARTURE AND TALKED WITH HER HUSBAND FOR A FEW MINUTES. LATER SHE SAID: "I FEEL CONFIDENT THEY WILL COME BACK SUCCESSFUL."

LONDON DEC 14-ADD LOAN

...DER TERMS."

BEVIN TERMED CHURCHILL'S ASSERTION A "LIBEL ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE UNITED STATES".

CHURCHILL ASKED HIS CONSERVATIVE ADHERENTS TO REFRAIN FROM VOTING, WARNING THAT A HEAVY OPPOSITION VOTE WOULD INJURE BRITISH INTERESTS IN THE UNITED STATES. ANSWERING CHURCHILL'S ABSTENTION INSTRUCTIONS TO CONSERVATIVES, BEVIN REMARKED:

"THE EGOISM OF IT, THE ACTUAL BOASTFULNESS OF MY RIGHT HONORABLE FRIEND, THE HORRIBLE ASSUMPTION THAT THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT WOULD GO ON ITS KNEES TO HIM BECAUSE THERE WAS A LABOR GOVERNMENT IN BEING.

"I SAY TO MEMBERS OF MY OWN PARTY, DON'T LET US HAVE ANY COWARDS ON THIS SIDE. THE FACT IS WE HAVE TO BORROW AND ARE NOT IN A POSITION TO DICTATE TERMS. THEREFORE, WE HAD TO NEGOTIATE."

BEVIN DECLARED NO ONE COULD "COME AWAY FROM A MONEY-LENDER'S OFFICE AND CALCULATE THE REPAYMENTS" WITHOUT FEELING DISCOMFORT.

"THIS DISCOMFORT," HE SAID, "IS ADDED TO WHEN THE CATASTROPHE FALLS UPON YOU AFTER YOU HAVE BEEN A MONEY-LENDER FOR SO LONG."

CHURCHILL SAID HE "WAS ASTONISHED THAT THE UNITED STATES THINKS IT WORTH WHILE TO EXTRACT THE EQUIVALENT OF 1.62 PER CENT INTEREST IN THE SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES IN WHICH WE FIND OURSELVES. IT IS A PITY WE SHOULD HAVE ALLOWED A COMMERCIAL LOAN AGREEMENT TO BE LINKED UP AND MIXED UP WITH OTHER TRANSACTIONS. I DON'T LIKE A MIXTURE."

OLIVER STANLEY, COLONIAL SECRETARY IN THE CONSERVATIVE GOVERNMENT, SAID HE COULD NOT VOTE AGAINST THE LOAN BECAUSE REJECTION "WOULD LAND US IN A CATASTROPHE IN WHICH THERE WOULD BE NO RECOVERY."

MK336AES

A41

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, DEC 14-(AP)-U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES, ENROUTE TO MOSCOW FOR A CONFERENCE WITH SOVIET FOREIGN COMMISSAR V.M. MOLOTOV AND BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN, MADE A BRIEF STOP IN FRANKFURT TODAY.

SHORTLY AFTER ARRIVING HERE FROM PARIS, HIS PLANE TOOK OFF FOR BERLIN, WHERE BYRNES WILL MAKE ANOTHER STOP BEFORE GOING ON TO MOSCOW.

J556AES

LONDON DEC 14-ADD TURKISH

DEMONSTRATORS." ... LONDON QUOTED BY THE RADIO, THE BROADCAST QUOTED THE NOTE AS SAYING RUSSIA "CANNOT OVERLOOK SUCH PROVOCATIVE ACTIVITIES." A TURKISH ANSWER DELIVERED DEC. 11, AS QUOTED BY SHOUTS OF "PURELY STATED THAT INVESTIGATIONS SHOWED THE DEMONSTRATIONS WERE OF THE CROWD INTERNAL CHARACTER," AND "X X X JUDGED EITHER BY THEIR ACTUAL A CHARACTER HOSTILE TO ANY FOREIGN POWER."

THE BROADCAST SAID THE TURKISH ANSWER DENIED POLICE ACTED CONTRARY TO THEIR DUTY OR THAT THE TURKISH GOVERNMENT HELD ANY RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE DEMONSTRATIONS.

MQ851PES

DEC 15 1945 30.24-32401

BAD HUMBURG, GERMANY-ADD

BOTH HAVE BEEN BANNED FROM THE GERMAN CONCERT STAGE AND FROM MAKING ANY FURTHER APPEARANCES BEFORE U.S.TROOPS.

MORSE-RUMMEL, GRANDSON OF THE INVENTOR OF THE TELEGRAPH, WAS BORN IN BERLIN OF A BRITISH FATHER AND AN AMERICAN MOTHER. HE SPENT ONLY A FEW YEARS OF HIS YOUTH IN THE UNITED STATES, AND THEN RETURNED TO GERMANY TO STUDY MUSIC AND REMAINED HERE. MCCLURE SAID THE PIANIST ACCEPTED GERMAN CITIZENSHIP IN 1944.

HE WAS SAID TO HAVE EARNED ABOUT 250,000 MARKS A YEAR DURING THE WAR, THROUGH APPEARANCES IN MOST LARGE GERMAN CITIES.

MISS BUSTABO, BORN IN WISCONSIN OF AN AMERICAN MOTHER AND AN ITALIAN FATHER, HAS LIVED IN GERMANY SINCE 1935. SHE WAS SAID TO HAVE BEEN WARNED TO GET OUT OF GERMANY BY THE U.S.CONSULATE SIX MONTHS BEFORE PEARL HARBOR. SHE SAID SHE WAS OBLIGED TO STAY TO COMPLETE CONCERT WORK.

SW1030AES

B113

ST

PARIS, DEC. 14-(AP)-GEN. HENRI FERNAND DENTZ, FORMER FRENCH HIGH COMMISSIONER IN SYRIA AND ONE OF THE MOST PROMINENT FIGURES IN THE VICHY REGIME, DIED IN FRESNES PRISON THURSDAY OF A HEART ATTACK.

~~DENTZ WAS SERVING A LIFE SENTENCE, COMMUTED FROM DEAURPXZDOMDBLLWZIOVE~~

DEC 1519

HEART ATTACK.

DENTZ WAS SERVING A LIFE SENTENCE, COMMUTED FROM DEATH, FOR PERMITTING THE GERMANS TO USE AIR BASES IN SYRIA IN 1941 IN THEIR EFFORT TO SUPPORT AXIS-INSPIRED, ANTI-BRITISH FORCES IN IRAQ.

KA356PES

A1

PARIS FIRST (ADD REDEPLOYMENT XXX LIQUIDATED.
SERVICE HEADQUARTERS SAID A REDEPLOYMENT ADVANCE PARTY OF THE SOTH INFANTRY DIVISION HAD ARRIVED AT LE HAVRE AND THAT THE 100TH INFANTRY DIVISION WAS SLATED TO MOVE TO A STAGING AREA ABOUT
DEC. 17.
OTHER UNITS IN THE REDEPLOYMENT PROCESS INCLUDED THE 79TH
INFANTRY DIVISION ON THE SEAS OR HOME; THE 26TH, 36TH, AND 89TH INFANTRY DIVISIONS AND 16TH CORPS; ON THE SEAS; THE 90TH
INFANTRY DIVISION, MAJOR PORTION ON THE SEAS; AND THE 82ND AIRBORNE DIVISION, SHUTTLING FROM LE HAVRE TO ENGLAND FOR SHIPMENT HOME.
ALERTED FOR SHIPMENT: 29TH, 34TH AND 94TH INFANTRY DIVISIONS, SECOND ARMORED DIVISION AND 22ND CORPS HEADQUARTERS.
GH405PES

A9

DAMASCUS, SYRIA, DEC. 14-(AP)-THE SYRIANS ACCEPTED THE NEWS OF THE SIGNING OF THE BRITISH-FRENCH ACCORD ON THE LEVANT WITH RESERVATIONS TODAY.
ALTHOUGH THE PACT AGREEING TO WITHDRAWAL OF ALL BRITISH AND FRENCH TROOPS FROM SYRIA AND LEBANON WAS HAILED AS A VICTORY FOR

DEC 15 1945

SYRIANS IN THEIR FIGHT FOR COMPLETE INDEPENDENCE. IT WAS REPORTED THAT THE TREATY ALSO PROVIDED FOR SPECIAL ACCORDS TO BE REACHED BETWEEN THE FRENCH AND SYRIANS ON CULTURAL AND OTHER INTERESTS.

THE SYRIAN ATTITUDE IS THAT THERE SHOULD BE NO PREFERENTIAL POSITION.

NO3:AES

A134WX (BATTLESHIP)
BY A.I.GOLDBERG

(130)(WX) ABOARD U.S.S.WASHINGTON,DEC.14-(AP)-THE BATTLESHIP WASHINGTON, HEROINE OF SOUTH PACIFIC BATTLES AND MURMANSK RUN, LEFT SOUTHAMPTON EARLY TODAY FOR NEW YORK WITH 1,500 HIGH POINT TROOPS WHO HOPED TO MAKE IT HOME FOR CHRISTMAS.

THE SHIP IS DUE TO DOCK DEC.21, WITH SOLDIERS OF THE 354TH REGIMENT, 89TH DIVISION; AND MEMBERS OF AT LEAST A SCORE OF ORGANIZATIONS LUMPED INTO THE 701ST TANK BATTALION. IT IS THE WASHINGTON'S SECOND TRIP ON THE NAVY'S PROGRAM TO SPEED HIGH POINT MEN HOMEWARD.

THE CARRIER CHAMPAIGN TOOK OFF TWO DAYS AGO WITH UPWARDS OF 5,000 AND THE ENTERPRISE IS DUE TO SAIL FROM SOUTHAMPTON BEFORE THE WEEK'S END WITH ANOTHER 5,000.

THE WASHINGTON SAILED WITHOUT TWO PASSENGERS, ONE SCHEDULED, THE OTHER UNSCHEDULED. THE FIRST WAS GENERAL GEORGE PATTON, WHO WITH AIDES HAD EXPECTED TO LEAVE FOR THE UNITED STATES BUT INSTEAD IS IN A GERMAN HOSPITAL. THE OTHER WAS A BRITISH STOWAWAY, WHO MUMBLED HE HAD SECRET INFORMATION TO GIVE CAPTAIN FRANCIS MCINERNEY, OF CHEYENNE,WYO., COMMANDING THE SHIP.

THE SHIP WAS STOPPED WHILE PROCEEDING OUT OF THE HARBOR IN ORDER TO GET THE STOWAWAY OFF.

FR1217AES

A159

SINGAPORE, DEC. 14-(AP)-M.E.DENING, CHIEF POLITICAL ADVISOR TO ADM. LORD LOUIS MOUNTBATTEN, SAID TODAY NEGOTIATIONS FOR ENDING THE STATE OF WAR WITH SIAM WERE PROCEEDING, BUT DENIED ASSERTIONS WHICH HE SAID HAD BEEN PUBLISHED IN THE UNITED STATES THAT BRITAIN'S TERMS WOULD AMOUNT TO "PERPETUAL BONDAGE" FOR THE SIAMESE.

FD1255PES

A160

A154KX
(15

A153KX
CHUNGKING, DEC 14 (AP)-CHINESE PRESS REPORTS SAID TODAY THAT GENERAL MARSHALL AND GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK MIGHT HAVE THEIR FIRST MEETING IN CHINA AT SHANGHAI INSTEAD OF CHUNGKING, THE CURRENT CAPITAL.

THE REPORTS, NOT OFFICIALLY CONFIRMED, DECLARED THAT THE GENERALISSIMO, NOW IN PEIPING, WOULD PROBABLY GO ON NORTH TO "AN UNDISCLOSED DESTINATION" IN MANCHURIA, THEN FLY TO SHANGHAI IN TIME TO MEET MARSHALL'S, THE NEW U.S.ENVOY.

DATE OF MARSHALL'S EXPECTED ARRIVAL HAS NOT BEEN ANNOUNCED.

GG1142ACS

WW717APS

A112FX
CHUNGKING, DEC. 14-(AP)-GEN. PAI CHUNG-HSI, GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF, TODAY PROPOSED A MODERN WAR MACHINE FOR CHINA, INCLUDING COMPULSORY TRAINING AND ESTABLISHMENT OF MILITARY SCHOOLS.

HIS REPORT TO THE NATIONAL MILITARY COUNCIL URGED:

1. A YEAR OF COMPULSORY TRAINING FOR GRADUATES OF ALL MIDDLE SCHOOLS.
2. ESTABLISHMENT OF SCHOOLS FOR RETRAINING CHINA'S PROFESSIONAL ARMY.
3. ESTABLISHMENT OF A RESERVE, NON-PROFESSIONAL ARMY SIMILAR TO AMERICA'S RESERVES.
4. REORGANIZATION OF OFFICERS' TRAINING.

SINCE MOST OF CHINA'S CURRENTLY-USED MILITARY EQUIPMENT WAS SECURED FROM AMERICA, HE SAID, IT WAS NECESSARY TO MODEL CHINA'S TRAINING PROGRAMS AND METHODS LARGELY ON AMERICAN LINES.

HE STRESSED, HOWEVER, THAT HIS PROGRAM WOULD INCLUDE "NO WHOLESALE IMITATION OF WEST POINT," AND THAT THE CHANGES WOULD BE MADE IN CONFORMITY WITH "PECULIAR CONDITIONS PREVAILING IN CHINA."

WW720APS NM

30. 24-32 403

A155KX
(150)
DEC 14 1945

SHANGHAI,DEC 14 (AP)-A JOINT U.S.ARMY AND NAVY BOARD TODAY ISSUED A LIST OF CEILING PRICES TO 136 SHANGHAI NIGHT CLUBS AND CAFES, BUT ADDED THAT CONTROLLING PRICES IS FARTHEST FROM ITS THOUGHTS.

IT'S JUST THAT "ALL ESTABLISHMENTS FINDING IT NECESSARY TO CHARGE PRICES ABOVE THIS LEVEL WILL BE PLACED OFF LIMITS BY THE PROVOST MARSHAL," THE BOARD HASTENED TO EXPLAIN.

UNDER THE CEILINGS, AMERICAN SERVICEMEN WILL PAY NO MORE THAN 1,000 CHINESE DOLLARS (ABOUT 90 CENTS AMERICAN) FOR A STEAK WITH TWO VEGETABLES. SOME PLACES HAVE BEEN CHARGING AS MUCH AS 2,600 CHINESE DOLLARS.

SCOTCH WHISKY HIGHBALLS, WITH AN OUNCE AND A HALF JOLT, WERE LISTED AT 1,100 CHINESE DOLLARS, OR ABOUT 95 CENTS EACH. A QUART OF BEER WS PRICED AT 425 CHINESE DOLLARS, OR 36 CENTS. SERVICEMEN HAVE BEEN BILLED AS HIGH AS $2.50 FOR SCOTCH AND $1.00 FOR BEER.

BEST BUY UNDER THE CEILINGS IS A PLATE OF HAM AND EGGS, FOR 350 CHINESE BUCKS OR 30 CENTS.

GG1146ACS NM

RAFF, NEW YORK.

MANILA DEC 14- ADD STAFF

HOMMA'S INDICTMENT PROBABLY WILL BE RETURNED DEC.18 AND HIS ~~TRIAL WILL~~ BEGIN ABOUT JAN.7.

PHILIPPINE ARMY MAJ.GEN.BASILIO J.VALDES, MAJ.GEN.LEO DONOVAN AND BRIG. GEN.ARTHUR TRUDEAU ALREADY HAVE BEEN NAMED TO THE HOMMA TRIAL COMMISSION. TWO OTHERS ARE TO BE ANNOUNCED. GENERAL DONOVAN WAS ON THE COMMISSION WHICH TRIED GEN.TOMOYUKI YAMASHITA AND SENTENCED HIM TO BE HANGED.

YAMASHITA'S COUNSEL REPORTED THEY HAD BEEN DENIED ACCESS TO THEIR CLIENT SINCE HE WAS HUSTLED FROM THE COURTROOM AFTER HIS SENTENCE LAST FRIDAY.

CAPTAINS MILTON SANDBERG AND ADOLF REEL SAID MAJ.GEN.W.A. WOOD, JR., CHIEF OF STAFF OF ARMY FORCES, WESTERN PACIFIC, TOLD THEM HE WAS UNABLE TO FIND "ANY ESSENTIAL REASON" WHY THEY SHOULD SEE YAMASHITA.

YAMASHITA STILL HAS AN APPEAL PENDING BEFORE THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

PM132APS NM

A91FX
FOLO MANILA
TOKYO, DEC. 14-(AP)-ALLIED HEADQUARTERS TODAY ORDERED THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT TO ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS:

"WAS LT.GEN. MASAHARU HOMMA THE SUPREME COMMANDER OF ALL JAPANESE FORCES, OF WHATEVER BRANCH, WHENEVER THOSE FORCES WERE ON THE LAND IN THE PHILIPPINES?"

"DID HOMMA HAVE SUPREME COMMAND OVER THE JAPANESE AIR FORCES IN THE PHILIPPINES?"

HOMMA'S TRIAL ON CHARGES OF CONDONING ATROCITIES IS EXPECTED TO BEGIN IN MANILA NEXT MONTH.

WW614APS

DEC 15 1945

A109WX
A113KX
(130)

TOKYO, SATURDAY, DEC.15-(AP)-WAR CRIMINAL TRIALS OF JAPANESE LEADERS ACCUSED OF PERPETRATING THE PACIFIC WAR OF AGGRESSION WILL NOT START UNTIL ABOUT FEB.1--TWO WEEKS LATER THAN PREVIOUSLY EXPECTED--PROSECUTOR JOSEPH B.KEENAN TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS TODAY.

EARLIER HE INDICATED THE TRIALS WOULD GET UNDER WAY ABOUT MID-JANUARY, BUT THE NEW DATE WAS ESTIMATED AFTER A WEEK OF STUDYING ACCUMULATED MATERIAL.

THE PROSECUTOR SAID THE FIRST DEFENDANTS HAD NOT BEEN CHOSEN, BUT

A102KX
(WEST OUT) (110)

TOKYO, DEC 14 (AP)-JAPAN'S "POWERFUL EXPEDITIONARY ARMY" IN CHINA, AS WARTIME NIPPONESE PROPAGANDIST,

CHINA, AS WARTIME NIPPONESE PROPAGANDISTS DESCRIBED IT, ACTUALLY WAS AN ILL-EQUIPPED, SHABBY CREW LED BY DECADENT OFFICERS AND READY TO DESERT AT SLIGHTEST PROVOCATION, A FORMER DOMEI NEWS AGENCY ASSERTED TODAY.

KEIZO MIZUTANI, OF DOMEI'S SHANGHAI BRANCH, WAS AT CHANGSHA AS A SOLDIER AT THE TIME JAPAN SURRENDERED, AND DECLARED THAT JAPANESE IN CHINA WERE HOPELESSLY BEATEN EVEN THOUGH THEY HADN'T BEGUN TO FIGHT ANY FINAL MAJOR BATTLE.

HE GAVE THIS PICTURE OF JAPANESE TROOPS IN HUNAN PROVINCE:

HUNGER DROVE THEM TO ROBBERIES; WITHOUT SUFFICIENT UNIFORMS, THEY WORE STRAW SLIPPERS AND CHINESE SUITS; AND ONLY A THIRD OF THE MEN HAD RIFLES, OTHERS USING BAMBOO SPEARS. BAMBOO REEDS SERVED AS CANTEENS.

(EDITORS: AT END OF FIRST PARAGRAPH READ X X X A FORMER DOMEI NEWS AGENCY R E P O R T E R ASSERTED TODAY).

GGXA909ACS NM

DEC 15 1945

IT GENERALLY IS BELIEVED HERE THAT EX-PREMIER HIDEKI TOJO AND SOME OF HIS CABINET MINISTERS, WHO WILL BE TRIED JOINTLY, WILL BE NOMINATED.

KEENAN STATED THAT, TO THE BEST OF HIS KNOWLEDGE, CHINA, GREAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA HAVE NOT YET SUBMITTED NAMES OF MEN FROM WHOM COURT MEMBERS AND PROSECUTORS WILL BE SELECTED BY GENERAL MACARTHUR. THERE WILL BE FOUR JUDGES, EACH WITH AN ALTERNATE, AND AN UNDETERMINED NUMBER OF PROSECUTORS.

EW1030PCS

A88FX
(90)

TOKYO, DEC. 14-(AP)-JAPAN'S HARASSED GOVERNMENT PEEKED INTO ITS NEARLY-BARE CUPBOARD TODAY AND PROMISED, FOR THE TRADITIONAL, WEEK-LONG NEW YEAR'S HOLIDAY:

EACH RESIDENT WILL BE PERMITTED TO BUY THREE POINTS OF SAKE (RICE WINE), EXCEPT FOR A SINGLE WOMAN. THEY'RE CUT OFF WITH A PINT.

SMOKERS WILL BE ALLOWED TO BUY 30 CIGARETS; AND A DAILY RATION OF FOUR INSTEAD OF THE CURRENT THREE WAS PROMISED FOR JANUARY.

RATIONING MAY ALSO BE RELAXED SLIGHTLY FOR THE HOLIDAYS ON SUCH ITEMS AS SPECIAL RICE FOR TRADITIONAL CAKES, AND FISH AND VEGETABLES.

AS USUAL, HOWEVER, PEOPLE WITH MONEY WILL PATRONIZE BLACK MARKETS.

WW607APS

A89FX

TOKYO, DEC.14-(AP)-WITH 755,611 JAPANESE NATIONALS RETURNED TO THE HOMELAND FROM THE END OF HOSTILITIES TO DEC. 9, SLIGHTLY MORE THAN 6,000,000 REMAIN SCATTERED FROM THE UNITED STATES TO AUSTRWIA, INDO-CHINA, MANCHURIA AND RUSSIA.

SUPREME ALLIED HEADQUARTERS ADDED THAT IN THE SAME PERIOD 492,455 KOREANS AND 25,909 CHINESE WERE RETURNED TO THEIR HOMELANDS. STILL AWAITING REPATRIATION ARE 551,245 KOREANS, 5,690 CHINESE AND 30,900 FORMOSANS.

JAPANESE REMAINING TO BE REPATRIATED INCLUDE 1,900,000 IN MANCHURIA; 1,563,299 IN CHINA; AND 936,500 IN RUSSIA.

WW610APS

A93

BUENOS AIRES, DEC. 14-(AP)-A CROWD ESTIMATED AT HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS GATHERED.

A93

BUENOS AIRES,DEC.14-(AP)-A CROWD ESTIMATED AT HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS GATHERED HERE TODAY AS THE NEWLY-ORGANIZED LABOR PARTY LAUNCHED ITS CAMPAIGN IN SUPPORT OF THE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDACY OF COL.JUAN PERON.

LABOR PARTY MANAGERS ESTIMATED THAT A MILLION AND A HALF PEOPLE WERE PRESENT TO CHEER PERON. IMPARTIAL OBSERVERS PLACED THE CROWD AT BETWEEN 200,000 AND 300,000. SHORTLY BEFORE THE ORATIONS BEGAN THE SPEAKERS' PLATFORM COLLAPSED. POLICE SAID NONE WAS INJURED.

LUIS MONZALVO, PARTY SECRETARY, SAID THE NEW ORGANIZATION WOULD FIGHT AGAINST THE "POWERFUL FORCE COMPOSED OF BIG LANDOWNERS X X X BANKERS AND THOSE WHO LIVE ON INCOMES X X X."

EJ1037PES

A120 (230)

HALIFAX, DEC. 14-(AP)-CRIPPLED SHIPPING, FROM THE FISHING BANKS SOUTH AS FAR AS BERMUDA, PITCHED AND TOSSED IN THE TEMPESTUOUS NORTH ATLANTIC TONIGHT, BUT WAS ENCOURAGED BY MODERATING SEAS FOLLOWING THE WORST STORM OF THE SEASON.

MOST IMMEDIATE DANGER WAS FELT FOR THE BOSTON TRAWLER GALE, CAUGHT NEAR SABLE ISLAND, 170 MILES OFF THE NOVA SCOTIA COAST, KNOWN AS THE "GRAVEYARD OF THE ATLANTIC." NAVAL AUTHORITIES REPORTED THE 17-MAN CREW HAD BEEN RESCUED, BUT THE LONG LIST OF SHIPS WRECKED ON THE ISLAND WOULD BE ADDED TO THE TRAWLER PROBABLY

ANOTHER BOSTON TRAWLER, THE HAZEL B. CRIPPLED BY A SINGLE MOUNTAINOUS SEA, WAS TOWED INTO PORT HERE TONIGHT WITH HER DECKS DISABLED, HER DECKS COATED THICKLY WITH ICE AND HER CREW OUT OF WATER AND ON SHORT RATIONS. SHE WAS IN TOW OF ANOTHER BOSTON VESSEL, THE TRAWLER ROSEMARIE.

TWENTY-SEVEN CANADIAN SEAMEN FROM THE VENEZUELAN FREIGHTER INDEPENDENCIA, THE FORMER CANADIAN CORVETTE DUNVEGAN, WHICH RAN AGROUND OFF NANTUCKET, WERE TAKEN TO VINEYARDS HAVEN' TODAY ABOARD A UNITED STATES COAST GUARD TUG. THE MERCHANT SEAMEN REPORTED THE FOUNDERING OF A SISTER SHIP IN GASPE BAY, QUE., AND THIS VESSEL WAS IDENTIFIED AS THE FORMER CORVETTE, AMHEST, RENAMED AS THE CARABOBO BY THE VENEZUELAN GOVERNMENT.

THE SEAMEN TAKEN FROM THE INDEPENDENCIA WERE SURVIVORS OF THE CARABOBO. THE INDEPENDENCIA WAS FLOATED BY NAVY TUGS AND WAS BEING TOWED TO BOSTON FOR REPAIRS WITH 22 SEAMEN STILL ABOARD.

THE LOBSTER SMACK FANNIE, EN ROUTE FROM NOVA SCOTIA TO GLOUCESTER WHEN IT RAN OUT OF GASOLINE, SAID IT WAS PROCEEDING TO BOSTON, BUT DID NOT EXPLAIN HOW IT HAD OBTAINED FUEL. THE COAST GUARD CUTTER THETIS WAS ON THE WAY TO AID THE FANNIE.

EJ1138PES

DEC 15 1945

30.24 — 32403½

DAS (q)

ST CZ WE

WITH WAR CRIMES

NUERNBERG, DEC 14-(AP)-LAWYERS FOR 21 NAZI LEADERS ACCUSED OF WAR CRIMES OBJECTED TODAY TO THE INTRODUCTION OF AFFIDAVITS AS EVIDENCE, CONTENDING THAT WITNESSES SHOULD APPEAR IN PERSON TO TESTIFY AND BE CROSS-EXAMINED.

THE INTERNATIONAL MILITARY TRIBUNAL RULED THAT ALLIED PROSECUTORS COULD PRESENT AFFIDAVITS AS EVIDENCE AND POINTED OUT THAT DEFENSE COUNSEL COULD CALL THE WITNESSES THEMSELVES IF THEY WISHED CROSS EXAMINATION.

JUSTICE ROBERT H. JACKSON, CHIEF U.S. PROSECUTOR, AND LT. GEN. R. A. RUDENKO, SOVIET PROSECUTOR, VIGOROUSLY OPPOSED THE MOVE TO BAR AFFIDAVITS WHERE WITNESSES COULD BE SUMMONED, DECLARING THAT THE TRIAL WOULD BE UNDULY PROTRACTED BY LENGTHY QUESTIONING. THE BRITISH AND FRENCH PROSECUTORS ALSO OPPOSED THE DEFENSE MOTION.

BUELGARIE

ATHENS, DEC.14-(AP)-LEONIDAS TASSONIDES, MINISTER OF SOCIAL WELFARE, RESIGNED FROM THE CABINET TODAY.

MOSCOW, DEC. 14--(AP)--THREE PERSONS WERE ORDERED SHOT BY SOVIET COURTS TODAY FOR MURDERS COMMITTED IN MOSCOW.

S.I. IUSHIN AND E.D. PAVLOV WERE CONVICTED OF KILLING A WELL-KNOWN MOSCOW ACTOR, M.M. LEBEDEV, IN A STREET ROBBERY. R. KLINKIN WAS SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR MURDERING A WOMAN WHILE ROBBING HER APARTMENT.

PARIS, DEC.14-(AP)-THE SURPLUS PROPERTIES LIQUIDATION COMMISSION ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT ALMOST $36,000,000 WORTH OF U.S. WAR GOODS HAVE BEEN SOLD IN THE EUROPEAN THEATER, WITH THE GREATEST SHARE GOING TO THE UNITED NATIONS RELIEF AND REHABILITATION ADMINISTRATION.

UNRRA'S PURCHASES WERE PUT AT ALMOST $40,000,000 OF WHICH ABOUT $24,000,000 WAS ALLOCATED TO POLAND. AMONG THE ITEMS BOUGHT FOR POLAND WERE EIGHT 1,000-BED HOSPITALS, 75 LOCOMOTIVES, 2,500 BOX CARS AND FLEETS OF TRUCKS.

FRANCE, SPENDING MORE THAN $9,000,000 AS THE TOP GOVERNMENT BUYER, RECENTLY TOOK 7,000 TONS OF COTTON FOR ALMOST $3,000,000, AND ASSORTED ARMY CLOTHING FOR MORE THAN $5,000,000.

BELGIAN PURCHASES HAVE TOTALLED $5,500,000. ADDITIONAL SALES OF ALMOST $8,000,000 HAVE BEEN MADE IN THE MEDITERRANEAN THEATER, WITH THE ITALIAN GOVERNMENT THE PRINCIPAL PURCHASER.

DEC 15 1945

OEC 151945

30.24-32405

A61WX (250)
(ADVANCE FOR USE AT 10 A.M. EASTERN STANDARD TIME TODAY, FRIDAY, DEC. 14)
(ADVANCE)...WASHINGTON, DEC 14-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN TODAY LAID DOWN A FOUR-POINT SET OF INSTRUCTIONS TO THE 12-MAN COMMITTEE SET UP TO INVESTIGATE THE PALESTINE PROBLEM.

THE "TERMS OF REFERENCE," MADE PUBLIC SIMULTANEOUSLY IN WASHINGTON AND LONDON, DIRECT THE COMMITTEE TO:

1. EXAMINE "POLITICAL, ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL CONDITIONS," IN PALESTINE TO DETERMINE HOW THEY AFFECT JEWISH DESIRES FOR INCREASED IMMIGRATION INTO THE HOLY LAND, TAKING INTO ACCOUNT THE WELL BEING OF THE PEOPLE NOW LIVING THERE.

2. INVESTIGATE THE PLIGHT OF JEWISH REFUGEES IN EUROPE AND ESTIMATE HOW MANY WANT TO MIGRATE TO PALESTINE AND ALSO TO SEE "WHAT PRACTICAL MEASURES" HAVE BEEN TAKEN OR ARE CONTEMPLATED IN THE EUROPEAN COUNTRIES WHERE THEY NOW LIVE TO ENABLE THEM TO LIVE WITHOUT DISCRIMINATION OR OPPRESSION.

3. HEAR THE VIEWS OF "COMPETENT WITNESSES AND TO CONSULT REPRESENTATIVE ARABS AND JEWS" ON PALESTINE PROBLEMS BEFORE MAKING SPECIFIC RECOMMENDATIONS.

4. MAKE "SUCH OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS X X X THAT MAY BE NECESSARY" TO FACILITATE THE EMIGRATION AND SETTLEMENT OF JEWS TO COUNTRIES WITHIN AND OUTSIDE EUROPE.

JUDGE JOSEPH HUTCHESON OF THE CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS IN TEXAS, HEAD OF THE SIX-MAN AMERICAN DELEGATION, WILL ALTERNATE AS CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE WITH THE LEADER OF THE BRITISH GROUP, SIR JOHN E. SINGLETON. THE COMMITTEE HAS BEEN INSTRUCTED TO REPORT WITHIN 120 DAYS.

(END ADVANCE FOR USE AT 10 A.M., EASTERN STANDARD TIME, TODAY, FRIDAY, DEC. 14)
SU721AES

DEC 15 1945

A172WX (110)
WASHINGTON, DEC. 14-(AP)-THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT SAID TODAY IT IS WITHHOLDING FROM THE CIVILIAN MARKET 20,000,000 POUNDS OF GOVERNMENT BUTTER UNTIL NEEDS OF THE MILITARY SERVICES ARE DETERMINED.

THIS BUTTER IS A PART OF MORE THAN 80,000,000 POUNDS WHICH THE ARMY TURNED OVER SEVERAL WEEKS AGO FOR SALE TO CIVILIAN DISTRIBUTORS.

OFFICIALS SAID THAT PROSPECTS OF A CONTINUED SHORT SUPPLY OF BUTTER THROUGH 1946 LED THE MILITARY SERVICES TO ASK THAT THE 20,000,000 POUNDS BE WITHHELD UNTIL THEY CAN REVIEW SUPPLIES.

THE DEPARTMENT WILL CONTINUE THE RELEASE OF 67,000,000 POUNDS WHICH IT ALREADY HAS SOLD OR IS IN THE PROCESS OF SELLING TO CIVILIAN DISTRIBUTORS.
GW128PES

DEC 15 1945

A169WX (100)
WASHINGTON, DEC. 14-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN SPENT 45 MINUTES TODAY DISCUSSING THE FUTURE OF ATOMIC ENERGY, PARTICULARLY IN RELATION TO FORTHCOMING TALKS WITH RUSSIA, IN A CONFERENCE WITH CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATORS.

SENATOR MCMAHON (D-CONN), CHAIRMAN OF THE SENATE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMITTEE, TOLD REPORTERS:

A32WX (360)
(ADVANCE FOR USE AT 10:45 P.M., EASTERN STANDARD TIME, TONIGHT, FRIDAY, DEC. 14)
(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, DEC. 14-(AP)-REP. HUGH DELACY (D-WASH) SAID TONIGHT THAT MAJOR GEN. PATRICK J. HURLEY, CAUSED THE REMOVAL OF GEN. JOSEPH STILWELL, IN CHINA AND BROUGHT ABOUT THE RESIGNATION OF AMBASSADOR CLARENCE GAUSS.

IN A TALK PREPARED FOR BROADCAST OVER NBC, DELACEY SAID GEN. HURLEY, THEN SPECIAL ENVOY TO CHINA, "SIDED WITH CHIANG KAI-SHEK AGAINST OUR OWN MILITARY LEADER IN CHINA, GENERAL STILWELL."

DELACY SAID STILWELL HAD NEARLY ACHIEVED MILITARY UNITY IN CHINA WHEN CHIANG DEMANDED HIS REMOVAL FROM CHINA.

"THIS IS WHEN HURLEY FIRST ENTERED THE ACT," DELACY ADDED. "INSTEAD OF BACKING STILWELL, HE BACKED CHIANG. HE SAW THAT STILWELL WAS REMOVED.

"NEXT HE MOVED INTO THE DIPLOMATIC ARENA WHERE AMBASSADOR GAUSS, A MAN WHO KNEW AND UNDERSTOOD CHINA, HAD BEEN WORKING FOR UNITY AND DEMOCRACY.

"HURLEY BROUGHT THE NORTHERN CHINESE COMMUNISTS AND CHIANG BACK TOGETHER. BUT BECAUSE HE TOLD CHIANG IN ADVANCE THAT HE COULD WRITE HIS OWN TERMS--SOME SAY HE ACTUALLY USED THE WORDS 'BLANK CHECK'--BECAUSE HE OFFERED CHIANG U.S. AID NO MATTER WHAT POSITION THE GENERALISSIMO TOOK, HE DESTROYED THE LONG WORK OF AMBASSADOR GAUSS. UNITY AND THE HOPE OF DEMOCRACY WENT GLIMMERING.

"THOSE ARE THE BRUTAL FACTS," DELACY COMMENTED. "THEY ARE FACTS WHICH LED IRREVOCABLY TO CIVIL WAR IN CHINA."

(END ADVANCE FOR USE AT 10:45 P.M. E.S.T. TONIGHT, FRIDAY, DEC. 14).
EG58PES

A56WX

HASHIMOTO (230)

BY ARTHUR EDSON

DEC 151945

WASHINGTON, DEC 14-(AP)-THE LITTLE MAN LOOKED ABOUT AS FEROCIOUS AS A CHOCOLATE MILK SHAKE.

NEITHER HIS PANTS NOR HIS CHAIR FIT HIM. HIS PANTS WERE TOO SMALL. THE CHAIR WAS TOO LARGE. BY SITTING ON ITS EDGE AND LEANING FORWARD, HE COULD PUT HIS FEET FLAT ON THE FLOOR.

HE LOOKED AS IF HE MIGHT BE APPLYING FOR A JOB AS MESSENGER BOY OR NIGHT WATCHMAN.

THIS WAS COMDR. IKO HASHIMOTO OF THE JAPANESE NAVY. THE JAPANESE SAY HE IS THE MAN WHO SANK THE U.S.S. INDIANAPOLIS. EIGHT HUNDRED AND EIGHTY LIVES WERE LOST.

HASHIMOTO APPEARED YESTERDAY AT THE COURT MARTIAL OF CAPT. CHARLES B. MCVAY, 3RD, WHO IS BEING TRIED ON CHARGES OF NEGLIGENCE AND INEFFICIENCY. MCVAY COMMANDED THE INDIANAPOLIS.

ALL WHILE HASHIMOTO TESTIFIED, YOU HAD TO KEEP REMINDING YOURSELF: "HERE IS A FELLOW WHO COMMANDED A 300-FOOT SUBMARINE. HERE IS THE GUY WHO WAS A CONSTANT THREAT TO U.S. SHIPPING AND LIVES."

YOU HAD TO KEEP REMINDING YOURSELF--OR YOU'D NEVER BELIEVE IT.

FOR HASHIMOTO LOOKS, AND ACTS, THE EXACT OPPOSITE OF ALL THAT AMERICANS EXPECT IN A NAVAL MAN.

HE LUMBERED IN (DESPITE HIS SMALL, COMPACT SIZE, HE'S AWKWARD), AND BOWED STIFFLY.

THEN, THROUGH QUESTIONING, HE TOLD HOW HIS SUB BOBBED UP ONE JULY NIGHT. THERE WAS A LARGE WARSHIP IN THE DISTANCE. HE SAID HIS SUB HASTILY CRASH DIVED, AND THEN CREPT UP CLOSE TO PUMP THREE TORPEDOES INTO HER.

THERE WAS NO EMOTION IN HISVOICE. IF HE WAS PROUD, HE DIDN'T SHOW IT. IF HE WAS HUMBLE, HE DIDN'T SHOW THAT, EITHER. OFTEN HE SPOKE SO SOFTLY THE TWO INTERPRETERS ON EACH SIDE HAD TO LEAN FORWARD TO HEAR.

WHEN HE WAS FINISHED, THE COURT KNOCKED OFF WORK UNTIL TODAY, WHEN THE PROSECUTION WILL CONTINUE ITS CASE.

HASHIMOTO GAVE A FINAL BOW.

UP STEPPED MARINE CAPT. GEORGE CORDEA OF AKRON, OHIO, A VETERAN OF GUADALCANAL. "I GOTTA TAKE THIS MONKEY BACK," HE SAID TO ANOTHER MARINE.

AND OFF THEY WENT--CORDEA, 6 FEET 3 INCHES TALL, A 210-POUNDER, AND HIS HALF PINT PRISONER.

SU706AES

A6WX

PMS BUDGET (350)

COTTON

BY OVID A.MARTIN

WASHINGTON, DEC.14-(AP)-GERMANY MAY BECOME AN OUTLET FOR A PART OF THIS COUNTRY'S SURPLUS OF LOW-GRADE COTTON.

THE GOVERNMENT IS CONSIDERING WAYS OF PLACING AT THE DISPOSAL OF GERMAN TEXTILE MILLS A PART OF THE 2,500,000 BALES OF SUCH COTTON

DEC 15 1945

THE GOVERNMENT ACQUIRED BEFORE THE WAR UNDER ITS GROWER PRICE SUPPORT PROGRAM.

THE OBJECTIVE IS TWO-FOLD: TO HELP DEFEATED GERMANY GET BACK ON ITS ECONOMIC FEET AND TO PROVIDE MORE COTTON CLOTHING FOR NEEDY EUROPE.

BEFORE THE 30'S, GERMANY WAS ONE OF THIS COUNTRY'S BIGGEST COTTON CUSTOMERS. THEN THE REICH TURNED TO OTHER COTTON AND TO SYNTHETIC FIBER.

THE BIG PROBLEM IN THE PROGRAM NOW UNDER STUDY IS ONE OF FINANCING. ONE SUGGESTION IS THAT THE COTTON BE MADE AVAILABLE TO GERMANY BY MEANS OF A LOAN PROVIDED EITHER BY THE U.S. EXPORT-IMPORT BANK OR THE COMMODITY CREDIT CORPORATION. THE LATTER AGENCY HOLDS TITLE TO THE GOVERNMENT-OWNED COTTON.

ANOTHER PROPOSAL WOULD INVOLVE PURCHASE OF THE COTTON BY THE UNITED NATIONS RELIEF AND REHABILITATION ADMINISTRATION. UNRRA THEN WOULD TAKE PAYMENT FOR THE COTTON FROM THE GERMANS IN THE FORM OF TEXTILE FOR RELIEF OF OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES.

AS YET NO DECISION HAS BEEN MADE. THE MATTER IS BEING STUDIED BY SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE ANDERSON AND A COTTON EXPORT ADVISORY COMMITTEE, COMPOSED OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE AMERICAN COTTON INDUSTRY, AND BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

ANNOUNCED THAT IT FAVORS A POLICY OF PROVIDING FUNDS TO HELP GERMANY IMPORT HER NECESSITIES OVER THE NEXT TWO YEARS.

ANDERSON IS EAGER TO DISPOSE OF THE GOVERNMENT'S COTTON HOLDINGS DURING THE NEXT YEAR OR SO.

THE FOREIGN FIELD IS LARGE, BUT THE EFFECTIVE DEMAND IS LIMITED BY A LACK OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE, AND BY THE FACT THAT AMERICAN COTTON IS PRISED CONSIDERABLY ABOVE THAT OF COTTON GROWN IN OTHER COUNTRIES.

30.24-32407

DEC 151945

BY A LACK OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE AND BY THE FACT THAT AMERICAN COTTON IS PRICED CONSIDERABLY ABOVE THAT OF COTTON GROWN IN OTHER COUNTRIES.

THIS COUNTRY NOW IS PAYING A SUBSIDY OF FOUR CENTS A POUND ON COMMERCIAL EXPORTS.

THE EXPORT-IMPORT BANK LAST NIGHT ANNOUNCED A $5,000,000 LOAN TO FINLAND TO BE USED TO BUY 46,000 BALES OF COTTON, AND IT IS EXPECTED THAT SOME OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES NOW NEGOTIATING CREDITS HERE WILL USE PART OF ANY FUNDS OBTAINED FOR SIMILAR PURCHASES.

UNDER TERMS OF THE LOAN TO FINLAND, PURCHASES WILL BE MADE BY PRIVATE IMPORTERS DIRECTLY FROM AMERICAN SHIPPERS.

VH249AES

A121WX

WX LOCALS OUT

WASHINGTON.DEC.14-(AP)-THE WASHINGTON POST SAID TONIGHT THAT GENERAL DWIGHT D.EISENHOWER, ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF, HAS TOLD FRIENDS HE ASPIRES TO NO POLITICAL OFFICE.

SENATOR CAPPER (R-KAS) RECENTLY SUGGESTED THAT EISENHOWER BE NOMINATED FOR THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT IN 1948.

THE POST SAID THAT EISENHOWER HAS ADVISED FRIENDS THAT SUGGESTIONS THAT HE WOULD ENTER POLITICS SERVE NO PURPOSE EXCEPT TO EMBARRASS HIM IN HIS MILITARY DUTIES.

HE EMPHASIZED, THE POST SAID, THAT HE ASPIRES TO NO POLITICAL POSTS, WHETHER IT BE A SMALL TOWN OFFICE OR THE PRESIDENCY.

FR1140PES

B90 (200)

DT KX FOR DALLAS

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., DEC. 14-(AP)-MORE THAN 300 OFFICERS AND 4,000 ENLISTED MEN, MEMBERS OF THE COLORFUL 36TH "TEXAS" INFANTRY DIVISION THAT STORMED THE BEACHES AT ITALY AND SALERNO, WILL REACH AMERICAN SOIL TOMORROW ABOARD THE ADMIRAL CAPPS. MORE ARE DUE HERE OVER THE WEEKEND.

THE CAPPS WAS DELAYED BY STORMS.

BRIG. GEN. ROBERT T.STACK, 47, IS ASSISTANT DIVISION COMMANDER OF THE [illegible]

DEC 15 1945

...HIS WIFE LIVES IN DETROIT.

UNITS OF THE FIGHTING 36TH DUE ON THE CAPPS INCLUDE: HEADQUARTERS AND HEADQUARTERS COMPANY AND HEADQUARTERS SPECIAL TROOPS, MT. PLATOON OF THE 36TH INFANTRY DIVISION; 736TH ORDNANCE MAINTENANCE COMPANY, THE 36TH SIGNAL COMPANY, 142ND INFANTRY REGIMENT, HEADQUARTERS AND HEADQUARTERS BATTERY OF THE DIVISION ARTILLERY.

THE TUSCULUM VICTORY, ALSO DUE TOMORROW, AND CARRYING 110 OFFICERS AND 1,460 ENLISTED MEN, WILL BRING THE 132ND, 133 D, /-,$ 155TH FIELD ARHILLERY BATTALIONS. THE FREDERICK LYKES, DUE SUNDAY, WILL BRING 87 OFFICERS AND 2,313 ENLISTED MEN, WITH SOME ELEMENTS OF THE 36TH INCLUDING THE QUARTERMASTER COMPANY, THE 143RD INFANTRY REGIM

OFFICERS AND 1,460 ENLISTED MEN, WILL BRING THE 132ND, 133RD, AND 155TH FIELD ARTILLERY BATTALIONS. THE FREDERICK LYKES, DUE SUNDAY, WILL BRING 87 OFFICERS AND 2,313 ENLISTED MEN, WITH SOME ELEMENTS OF THE 36TH INCLUDING THE QUARTERMASTER COMPANY, THE 143RD INFANTRY REGIMENT, AND THE 111TH MEDICAL BATTALION.

DUE WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 19, ARE 102 OFFICERS AND 1,425 ENLISTED MEN OF THE HEADQUARTERS AND HEADQUARTERS COMPANY, 141ST INFANTRY, AND 143RD INFANTRY REGIMENT.

GH152PES

DT

A129 (300)

NIGHT LEAD TROOPSHIPS

NEW YORK, DEC. 14-(AP)-NEW YORK HARBOR WAS COLD BUT IT WAS HEAVEN TODAY AND TONIGHT FOR MORE THAN 1,500 SEA-WEARY SOLDIERS WHO HAD BEEN ABOARD THREE TROOP TRANSPORTS WHICH RAN INTO TROUBLE IN THE STORM SWEPT ATLANTIC.

A TOTAL OF 1,126 ARRIVED ON THE SATURNIA, ARMY TRANSPORT WHICH PICKED THEM UP IN BERMUDA FROM TWO DISABLED SHIPS AND 526 WERE ABOARD THE CONVERTED LIBERTY SHIP JOSEPH HOOKER WHICH DOCKED WITH MORE THAN SIX FEET OF WATER IN HER NO. 3 HOLD.

THEY WERE IN ADDITION TO 11,287 HOME-FOR-CHRISTMAS SOLDIERS WHO DEBARKED FROM THE QUEEN MARY.

CAPT.CECIL E.FOLTZ, JR., 32 OF (135 HILLTOP ACRES) YONKERS, N.Y., ON HIS FIRST TRIP AS SKIPPER OF THE HOOKER, WHICH LEFT MARSEILLE NOV. 28, SAID THE SHIP SENT OUT A DISTRESS MESSAGE DEC. 12 AS "PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE."

HE SAID THE HOOKER'S BOTTOM PLATE PROBABLY HAD BEEN FRACTURED, FILLING THE VESSEL'S DOUBLE BOTTOM WITH ABOUT SEVEN FEET OF WATER AND THE HOLD TO A DEPTH OF AT LEAST SIX FEET.

LT.CLYDE O.COOPER OF (ROUTE 1) CHATTANOOGA, TENN., TRANSPORT OFFICER, SAID MANY OF THE MEN, MOSTLY HIGH-POINT TROOPS ASSIGNED TO THE 141ST FIELD ARTILLERY BATTALION, "SLEPT RIGHT THROUGH THE WORST NIGHT."

AT ONE TIME, FOLTZ SAID, THE SHIP WAS REDUCED TO A SIX-KNOT SPEED BECAUSE OF THE DANGER OF CAPSIZING.

SEEPING WATER CAUSED 500 TONS OF RUBBLE BALLAST IN THE HOLD TO SHIFT, HE SAID. A TURN IN THE WEATHER, HOWEVER, ENABLED THE SHIP TO PROCEED TO PORT UNDER ITS OWN POWER--BUT ESCORTED BY THE CRUISER HONOLULU.

1ST LT.RUSSELL LOMBARDY OF MARION, N.C., A MEMBER OF THE 10TH ARMORED DIVISION, SAID "ONE-TON BLOCKS OF CEMENT KEPT ROLLING AROUND LIKE ICE BLOCKS IN THE HOLD BELOW THE DINING ROOM.

EJ&SN1206AES

A156

NEW YORK, DEC. 14-(AP)-A POLICE-ESTIMATED MILLION NEW YORKERS STOOD IN FREEZING TEMPERATURES ALONG SNOW-COVERED STREETS TODAY TO SHOUT A GREETING TO ANOTHER OF THE WAR'S GREAT LEADERS--FLEET ADMIRAL WILLIAM F. HALSEY.

DEC 15 1945

B101 (150)

FIRST LEAD TROOPSHIPS

NEW YORK, DEC. 14-(AP)-"OPERATION SANTA CLAUS"--SO KNOWN TO ARMY PERSONNEL--ENDED SUCCESSFULLY TODAY WHEN THE 24,000-TON TROOPSHIP SATURNIA BROUGHT 1,126 SEA-WEARY GI'S HOME FOR A CHRISTMAS THEY THOUGHT THEY WOULD MISS WHEN THEIR TRANSPORTS WERE DISABLED IN THE ATLANTIC.

THE MEN HAD BEEN PASSENGERS ON THE HENRY WARD BEECHER AND THE GEORGE MCCRARY. THE BEECHER LOST A PROPELLER AND WAS TOWED TO BERMUDA AND THE MCCRARY LIMPED TO BERMUDA UNDER ITS OWN POWER AFTER IT DEFELOPED BOILER TROUBLE.

MAJ. GEN. CLARENCE M.KELLS, COMMANDING GENERAL OF THE NEW YORK PORT OF EMBARKATION, SENT THE SATURNIA TO BERMUDA DEC. 6. TO PICK THE MEN UP. SHE ARRIVED THERE LAST SATURDAY. KELLS

EUNDLED IN A HEAVY COAT, THE FIVE-STAR BULL OF THE PACIFIC WAVED AND SMILED FROM AN OPEN TOURING CAR ON A 15 MILE RIDE FROM LA GUARDIA FIELD TO CITY HALL, WHERE HE WAS MADE AN HONORARY CITIZEN OF THE CITY. ADMIRAL HALSEY WILL BE THE CITY'S GUEST TONIGHT AT AN OFFICIAL DINNER AT THE WALDORF-ASTORIA.

JS-FD1247PES

30.24-32409

WAS ON HAND TO GREET THE MEN WHEN THEY ARRIVED TODAY.

CAPT. OSCAR J.TREVISAN, THE SATURNIAS SKIPPER, ESTIMATED THAT "OPERATION SANTA CLAUS" COST $12,6 [illegible].

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS WERE MADE AT CAMP KILMER, N.J., TO SEND THE HOLIDAY-BOUND SOLDIERS TO RECEPTION CENTERS WITHIN 24 HOURS OF THE TIME OF THEIR ARRIVAL AT THE PIER IN NEW YORK.

THE SATURNIA WAS ONE OF 26 TROOP CARRIERS SCHEDULED TO DOCK AT THREE EAST COAST PORTS TODAY WITH 27,600 SERVICEMEN. ON THE WEST COAST 53 VESSELS ARE DUE WITH ABOUT 34,400 PACIFIC VETERANS.

ARRIVING AT NEW YORK, ETC., SECOND GRAF PREVIOUS.

GH258PES

DEC 15 1945

LINE CARGO AND CAN BE ATTACHED TO LIN[illegible]
DEGREE SHARK REPELLENT[illegible] TO A LIT[illegible]
THE ANTI-SHARK CHEMICAL WAS ONE OF [illegible]
TOP SCIENTIFIC DEVELOPMENTS OF THE WAR [illegible]
DISPLAY TOMORROW.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS REVEALED TODAY WERE RADAR DEVICES, RADIO-CONTROLLED BOMBS AND SHELLS AND ANTI-SUBMARINE EQUIPMENT.

RATED AS THE NAVY'S ONLY TO [illegible] THE ATOM BOMB AS THE GREATEST SCIENTIFIC DEVELOPMENT OF THE WAR, WAS THE RADIO-PROXIMITY FUSE, WHICH EXPLODES SHELLS WHEN THEY COME TO WITHIN A TARGET.

A66

NEW YORK, DEC 14-(AP)-THE DISABLED TROOPSHIP JOSEPH HOOKER, WITH 562 HOMECOMING SERVICEMEN ABOARD, LIMPED TOWARDS SHORE TODAY, HER PUMPS BATTLING WITH THE SEAWATER POURING INTO HER BROKEN HULL.

THE AIR-SEA RESCUE OFFICE OF THE EASTERN SEA FRONTIER REPORTED TODAY THAT THE HOOKER, ESCORTED BY THE CRUISER HONOLULU, WAS DUE AT MONTAUK POINT--THE TIP OF LONG ISLAND--AT 3 P.M. (EST) TODAY. LATEST REPORTS WERE THAT THE SHIP WAS IN NO DANGER.

MEANWHILE, THE ARGENTINIAN CORVETTE INDEPENDENCIA, WHICH HAD BEEN AGROUND ON A REEF WITHIN SIGHT OF NANTUCKET ISLAND, FLOATED FREE WITH THE AID OF A STRONG WIND AND HIGH TIDE, THE COAST GUARD SAID.

TWENTY-TWO MEMBERS OF THE CORVETTE'S CREW WERE TRANSFERRED TO A RESCUE CRAFT FOR TRANSPORTATION TO VINEYARD HAVEN AND A NAVY TUG MANEUVERED TO GET A LINE ABOARD THE SHIP SO IT COULD BE TOWED TO BOSTON FOR EXAMINATION AND REPAIRS.

J744AES

526-536PT

NEW YORK, DEC 14-(AP)-THE NAVY TODAY UNCORKED A CHEMICAL WHICH IT SAID, WOULD MAKE A SHARK TURN UP HIS NOSE AT A MAN IN WATER.

THE NAVY SAID THE REPELLENT, WHICH IS PRESSED INTO SMALL, SOAP-

WITH

A61CX (STRIKES & G U N M A N)
NIGHT LEAD STRIKES AT A GLANCE
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
(CX) LABOR DISPUTES IDLE 410,000.
MAJOR DEVELOPMENTS:
ADMINISTRATION--SENATE LABOR COMMITTEE RECESSES HEARINGS UNTIL AFTER CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS; ADMINISTRATION'S HOPE OF PASSAGE OF FACT-FINDING LABOR BILL IN TIME TO DEAL WITH SCHEDULED JAN. 14 STEEL STRIKE KILLED WHEN COMMITTEE DISCLOSES ANOTHER MONTH OF HEARINGS SCHEDULED ON MEASURE. GENERAL MOTORS FACT-FINDING BOARD, MINUS LEGAL AUTHORITY, PLANS PUBLIC HEARINGS DEC. 20; SAYS CORPORATION AND UNION AGREE TO ATTEND.
AUTOMOTIVE--FORD MOTOR COMPANY RECESSES NEGOTIATIONS WITH CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS ON WAGE AND "COMPANY SECURITY" ISSUES RECESSED UNTIL MONDAY AFTER "SATISFACTORY CONFERENCE." COMMON PLEAS COURT AT CLEVELAND LIMITS PICKETS AT GM FISHER BODY PLANT TO 55 AFTER CORPORATION SEEKS INJUNCTION; UAW LAWYER PROMISES CHICAGO COURT PEACEFUL PICKETING WILL PREVAIL AT GM PLANT THERE IN SIMILAR INJUNCTION CASE.
QZ725PCS

A62CX
(110)

A42CX (STRIKES)
M(420)
NIGHT LEAD UNDATED STRIKES
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
(CX) THE ADMINISTRATION LOST ITS RACE YESTERDAY (FRIDAY) TO GET PASSAGE OF NEW LABOR LEGISLATION BEFORE START OF A SCHEDULED STEEL STRIKE JAN.14.
THE SENATE LABOR COMMITTEE RECESSED ITS HEARINGS UNTIL AFTER THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS AND CHAIRMAN MURRAY (D-MONT) SAID TESTIMONY THEN COULD CONTINUE FOR ANOTHER MONTH ON THE FACT-FINDING BILL ADVOCATED BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN.
THE DASHING OF THE ADMINISTRATION'S EXPECTATIONS THAT THE NEW LABOR BILL WOULD BECOME LAW BEFORE CHRISTMAS CAME AS THE COURTS TOOK A HAND IN THE GENERAL MOTORS STRIKE AND CIO PRESIDENT PHILIP MURRAY DESCRIBED THE NATION'S ENTIRE INDUSTRIAL PICTURE AS EXPLOSIVE.
THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY AND THE CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS RECESSED THEIR CONTRACT NEGOTIATIONS UNTIL MONDAY AFTER A SESSION YESTERDAY WHICH BOTH SIDES DESCRIBED AS "BRIEF AND SATISFACTORY."
BECAUSE OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE'S ACTION, THE FACT-FINDING BOARD WHICH PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAS ANNOUNCED HE WILL NAME TO CONSIDER THE STEEL DISPUTE WILL BE WITHOUT LEGAL AUTHORITY, THE SAME AS THE BOARD HE APPOINTED TO LOOK INTO THE GENERAL MOTORS STRIKE.
BOTH BOARDS MUST RELY ON COOPERATION OF THE COMPANIES AND UNIONS.
THE NEW FACT-FINDING BILL, WHICH MAY RECEIVE HOUSE CONSIDERATION BEFORE CHRISTMAS, WOULD PROHIBIT STRIKES FOR 30-DAY "COOLING OFF" PERIODS PENDING STUDY BY A FACT-FINDING BODY.
MEANWHILE IN THE GENERAL MOTORS STRIKE, WHICH HAS ACCOUNTED FOR

A64(CQ)CX (STRIKES&GUNMAN)
(110)
(CX) UNDATED--FIRST ADD NIGHT LEAD STRIKES (BY AP) XXX
EXPLOSIVE."
THE SPLIT BETWEEN THE GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION AND THE UAW, WHOSE NEGOTIATIONS ARE IN RECESS UNTIL MONDAY, WAS FURTHER EMPHASIZED WHEN THE UNION AND COMPANY GAVE FURTHER DETAILS OF SHARP EXCHANGES BETWEEN UAW VICE PRESIDENT WALTER P.REUTHER AND HARRY W. ANDERSON, GM VICE PRESIDENT AT THURSDAY'S DISCUSSIONS.
REUTHER TOLD THE GM REPRESENTATIVE THAT "YOU ARE ASKING FOR A FIGHT. BROTHER, AND YOU ARE GOING TO GET IT. X X X IF IT'S THE 213,000 OF THE NATION'S 410,000 IDLE IN LABOR DISPUTES. THE [illegible] LABOR DISPUTES JUDGE FRANK PRINCIPAL DEVELOPMENT CAME AT CLEVELAND WHERE COMMON PLEAS JUDGE FRANK S. DAY LIMITED PICKETING AT THE GM FISHER BODY PLANT TO 55 MEMBERS. HE ACTED AFTER GENERAL MOTORS SOUGHT A TEMPORARY INJUNCTION AGAINST STRIKING UAW MEMBERS OF CHARGES OF ILLEGAL PICKETING.

IN A SIMILAR INJUNCTION CASE IN CHICAGO, A UAW LAWYER TOLD SUPERIOR JUDGE DONALD S. MC KINLAY THAT ONLY PEACEFUL PICKETING WOULD PREVAIL AT THE GM ELECTRO-MOTIVE DIVISION PLANT THERE.
THE PRESIDENT'S GENERAL MOTORS FACT-FINDING BOARD ANNOUNCED IT WOULD BEGIN PUBLIC HEARINGS DEC. 20 BUT WOULD WITHHOLD ANY FINAL REPORT UNTIL IT WAS CERTAIN ITS FINDINGS WOULD "FACILITATE A SETTLEMENT."
THE BOARD SAID REPRESENTATIVES OF BOTH SIDES HAD AGREED TO COME TO WASHINGTON FOR THE DISCUSSIONS. IT EMPHASIZED THE PUBLIC HEARINGS WERE NOT INTENDED TO INTERFERE WITH NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN THE COMPANY AND UNION IN DETROIT.
MURRAY, TESTIFYING BEFORE THE HOUSE LABOR COMMITTEE IN OPPOSITION TO THE FACT-FINDING LABOR BILL, SAID THAT SITUATIONS IN MAJOR INDUSTRIES "ARE CRITICAL AND DANGEROUS." HE ADDED:
"THIS IS NOT ONLY TRUE OF THE PARTICULAR INDUSTRIES. THE ENTIRE NATIONAL INDUSTRIAL PICTURE IS EXPLOSIVE."
AJ-FY550PCS

DEC 05 1945

WITH

A61CX (STRIKES & G U N M A N)
NIGHT LEAD STRIKES AT A GLANCE
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
(CX) LABOR DISPUTES IDLE 410,000.
MAJOR DEVELOPMENTS:
ADMINISTRATION--SENATE LABOR COMMITTEE RECESSES HEARINGS UNTIL AFTER CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS; ADMINISTRATION'S HOPE OF PASSAGE OF FACT-FINDING LABOR BILL IN TIME TO DEAL WITH SCHEDULED JAN. 14 STEEL STRIKE KILLED WHEN COMMITTEE DISCLOSES ANOTHER MONTH OF HEARINGS SCHEDULED ON MEASURE. GENERAL MOTORS FACT-FINDING BOARD, MINUS LEGAL AUTHORITY, PLANS PUBLIC HEARINGS DEC. 20; SAYS CORPORATION AND UNION AGREE TO ATTEND.
AUTOMOTIVE--FORD MOTOR COMPANY RECESSES NEGOTIATIONS WITH CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS ON WAGE AND "COMPANY SECURITY" ISSUES RECESSED UNTIL MONDAY AFTER "SATISFACTORY CONFERENCE." COMMON PLEAS COURT AT CLEVELAND LIMITS PICKETS AT GM FISHER BODY PLANT TO 55 AFTER CORPORATION SEEKS INJUNCTION; UAW LAWYER PROMISES CHICAGO COURT PEACEFUL PICKETING WILL PREVAIL AT GM PLANT THERE IN SIMILAR INJUNCTION CASE.
QZ725PCS

A62CX
(110)

A42CX (STRIKES)
M(420)
NIGHT LEAD UNDATED STRIKES
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
(CX) THE ADMINISTRATION LOST ITS RACE YESTERDAY (FRIDAY) TO GET PASSAGE OF NEW LABOR LEGISLATION BEFORE START OF A SCHEDULED STEEL STRIKE JAN.14.
THE SENATE LABOR COMMITTEE RECESSED ITS HEARINGS UNTIL AFTER THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS AND CHAIRMAN MURRAY (D-MONT) SAID TESTIMONY THEN COULD CONTINUE FOR ANOTHER MONTH ON THE FACT-FINDING BILL ADVOCATED BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN.
THE DASHING OF THE ADMINISTRATION'S EXPECTATIONS THAT THE NEW LABOR BILL WOULD BECOME LAW BEFORE CHRISTMAS CAME AS THE COURTS TOOK A HAND IN THE GENERAL MOTORS STRIKE AND CIO PRESIDENT PHILIP MURRAY DESCRIBED THE NATION'S ENTIRE INDUSTRIAL PICTURE AS EXPLOSIVE.
THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY AND THE CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS RECESSED THEIR CONTRACT NEGOTIATIONS UNTIL MONDAY AFTER A SESSION YESTERDAY WHICH BOTH SIDES DESCRIBED AS "BRIEF AND SATISFACTORY."
BECAUSE OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE'S ACTION, THE FACT-FINDING BOARD WHICH PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAS ANNOUNCED HE WILL NAME TO CONSIDER THE STEEL DISPUTE WILL BE WITHOUT LEGAL AUTHORITY, THE SAME AS THE BOARD HE APPOINTED TO LOOK INTO THE GENERAL MOTORS STRIKE.
BOTH BOARDS MUST RELY ON COOPERATION OF THE COMPANIES AND UNIONS.
THE NEW FACT-FINDING BILL, WHICH MAY RECEIVE HOUSE CONSIDERATION BEFORE CHRISTMAS, WOULD PROHIBIT STRIKES FOR 30-DAY "COOLING OFF" PERIODS PENDING STUDY BY A FACT-FINDING BODY.
MEANWHILE IN THE GENERAL MOTORS STRIKE, WHICH HAS ACCOUNTED FOR

DEC 6 5 1945

213,000 OF THE NATION'S 410,000 IDLE IN L
PRINCIPAL DEVELOPMENT CAME AT CLEVELAND W
S. DAY LIMITED PICKETING AT THE GM FISHER
HE ACTED AFTER GENERAL MOTORS SOUGHT A TE
STRIKING UAW MEMBERS ON CHARGES OF ILLEGA
IN A SIMILAR INJUNCTION CASE IN CHICAG
SUPERIOR JUDGE DONALD S. MC KINLAY THAT O
PREVAIL AT THE GM ELECTRO-MOTIVE DIVISION
THE PRESIDENT'S GENERAL MOTORS FACT-FI
WOULD BEGIN PUBLIC HEARINGS DEC. 20 BUT W
REPORT UNTIL IT WAS CERTAIN ITS FINDINGS
MENT."
THE BOARD SAID REPRESENTATIVES OF BOTH
TO WASHINGTON FOR THE DISCUSSIONS. IT EM
INGS WERE NOT INTENDED TO INTERFERE WIT
COMPANY AND UNION IN DETROIT.
MURRAY, TESTIFYING BEFORE THE HOUSE LA
TO THE FACT-FINDING LABOR BILL, SAID THAT INDUSTRIES "ARE CRITICAL AND DANGEROUS."
"THIS IS NOT ONLY TRUE OF THE PARTIC NATIONAL INDUSTRIAL PICTURE IS EXPLOSIVE."
AJ-FY550PCS

A64(CQ)CX (STRIKES&GUNMAN)
(110)
(CX) UNDATED--FIRST ADD NIGHT LEAD STRIKES (BY AP) XXX
EXPLOSIVE."
THE SPLIT BETWEEN THE GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION AND THE UAW
WHOSE NEGOTIATIONS ARE IN RECESS UNTIL MONDAY, WAS FURTHER EMPHA-SIZED WHEN THE UNION AND COMPANY GAVE FURTHER, DETAILS OF SHARP
EXCHANGES BETWEEN UAW VICE PRESIDENT WALTER P.REUTHER AND HARRY W.
ANDERSON, GM VICE PRESIDENT AT THURSDAY'S DISCUSSIONS.
REUTHER TOLD THE GM REPRESENTATIVE THAT "YOU ARE ASKING FOR A FIGHT, BROTHER, AND YOU ARE GOING TO GET IT. X X X IF IT'S THE LAST THING WE DO, BROTHER, WE ARE GOING TO SWEAT THIS ONE OUT TO THE BITTER END."

ANDERSON ACCUSED REUTHER OF PLANNING "A PUBLICITY STUNT" WHEN THE UNION LEADER SUGGESTED THE TWO TAKE SHOP JOBS IN THE PLANT TO SEE IF THEY COULD "LAST 40 HOURS."

QZ704PCS

EDITORS (PMS)

HAL BOYLE IS ONE WAR CORRESPONDENT WHO HASN'T HAD A SHORTAGE OF THINGS TO WRITE ABOUT SINCE THE WAR ENDED.

BOYLE'S COLUMN, A DAILY FEATURE IN HUNDREDS OF ASSOCIATED PRESS MEMBER PAPERS SINCE THE AFRICAN INVASION IN 1942, IS CONTINUING ON THE SAME HIGH PLANE OF INTIMATE REPORTING THAT HE SET IN BOTH THE EUROPEAN AND PACIFIC THEATERS.

IN RECENT WEEKS, BOYLE HAS GONE FROM JAPAN TO THE ASIATIC MAINLAND. HE HAS GIVEN HIS READERS INTIMATE GLIMPSES OF LIFE IN BOTH THE COMMUNIST AND NATIONALIST ARMIES, HIS REPORT ON THE SITUATION IN NORTH CHINA CLASSIFIED AS PAGE ONE NEWS.

BUT HE HASN'T FORGOTTEN THE LITTLE, INTENSELY HUMAN STORIES THAT MADE HIM ONE OF THE FAVORITE CHRONICLERS OF GI JOE'S LIFE. FOR INSTANCE, TAKE A LOOK AT HIS COLUMN FOR TODAY (A113-114 WEDNESDAY) IN WHICH HE TELLS THE STORY OF A SAILOR WHO TRIED TO COMMIT SUICIDE AND NOW WANTS TO LIVE FOREVER.

AP NEWSFEATURES, DEC.13

MK442AES

B49DT

NY MP

(120)

DETROIT, DEC.14-(AP)-AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP OF FRITZ KARL STREUER, 43, FORMER GERMAN-AMERICAN BUND LEADER, HAS BEEN RESTORED BY FEDERAL JUDGE EDWARD J.MOINET.

STREUER'S CONVICTION IN A NEW YORK FEDERAL DISTRICT COURT IN 1942 ON CHARGES OF VIOLATING SELECTIVE SERVICE AND ALIEN REGISTRATION ACTS WAS REVERSED BY THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT. HE WAS RELEASED LAST JUNE FROM THE FEDERAL CORRECTIONAL INSTITUTION AT MILAN, MICH., WHERE HE HAD BEEN SENTENCED TO SERVE FIVE YEARS.

IN HIS PETITION FOR RESTORATION OF CITIZENSHIP STREUER CLAIMED HE HAD A RIGHT TO JOIN THE BUND "AS LONG AS THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT PERMITTED IT TO EXIST.

ARRESTED SHORTLY AFTER PEARL HARBOR, STREUER IS NOW BELIEVED UNDER GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION AT FORT LINCOLN, N.D.

X958AES

DEC 151945

30.24-32411

B57

(ADVANCE FOR USE AT 10PM EASTERN STANDARD TIME TONIGHT, FRIDAY, DEC. 14

EIGHT LEAD HALSEY (NYR 147) (490)

(ADVANCE, NEW YORK, DEC 14)(AP)-FLEET ADMIRAL WILLIAM F.HALSEY SAID TONIGHT THAT MEMBER OF THE UNITED STATES ARMED FORCES MUST LEAD TO MILITARY DISTINCTION.

AT HE A STEP BACKWARD". HALSEY SAID, AFTER A DAY DURING WHICH A MILLION AND TWENTY-THOUSAND TO POLICE DETAILS-HEADED COLD WEATHER AND SLEET, SWEPT STREETS TO WELCOME HIM.

GENERAL OF THE ARMY DWIGHT D.EISENHOWER, ADMIRAL CHESTER W.NIMITZ AND GENERAL JONATHAN WAINWRIGHT RECEIVED SIMILAR WELCOMES DURING THE SUMMER AND FALL.

SPEAKING AGAINST MULTIPLICATION OF THE SERVICES, HALSEY SAID HE

DEC 151945

"ALL ABLE ADMINISTRATORS KNOW THAT THE PROBLEMS OF COORDINATION AND OF ADMINISTRATIVE CONTROL INCREASE RAPIDLY WITH THE EXPANSION OF ORGANIZATION SIZE. IT IS VAIN AND USELESS TO ASSUME THAT BY MERGING TWO GREAT DEPARTMENTS WE WILL ACHIEVE MORE EFFECTIVE ADMINISTRATION. BOTH ARMY AND NAVY EXPERIENCE DURING THE WAR SHOWS THE NEED OF DECENTRALIZING--NOT CONGLOMERATING--PROCUREMENT."

EARLIER TODAY HALSEY RECEIVED A 17-GUN SALUTE AND WAS PRESENTED THE CITY'S MEDAL OF HONOR AND A CITATION FOR "DISTINGUISHED AND EXCEPTIONAL PUBLIC SERVICE" BY MAYOR F.H. LAGUARDIA. HE RODE UP FIFTH AVENUE THROUGH A SHOWER OF TICKER-TAPE AND TORN PAPER.

HE CAME TO NEW YORK BY TRAIN FROM WASHINGTON AND WAS MET BY MRS. HALSEY.

(END ADVANCE FOR USE AT 10PM EASTERN STANDARD TIME TONIGHT, FRIDAY DEC. 14)

BT736PES

DEC 13 1945
DEC 15 1945

WORLD DESTROY THE INITIATIVE OF THE INDIVIDUAL SERVICES. IT WOULD MANACLE THEIR RIGHT TO ADVANCE. IT WOULD DEPRIVE THEM OF REPRESENTATION BEFORE THE CONGRESS AND THE PEOPLE. IT WOULD SUBSTITUTE MILITARY CONTROL FOR CIVILIAN CONTROL. IT MIGHT LEAD TO MILITARY DICTATORSHIP.

"IT DEALS ONLY WITH THE FIGHTING FORCES. IT NEGLECTS THE NON-MILITARY ASPECTS OF TOTAL NATIONAL SECURITY."

HALSEY SAID HE BELIEVED "STRONGLY IN UNIFIED FIELD COMMAND--IN TRIPHIBIOUS WARFARE IT IS A PREREQUISITE TO SUCCESS."

"I WORKED CONTINUOUSLY FROM THE EARLY DATE OF THE PACIFIC WAR TO DEVELOP COORDINATION AND TEAMWORK," HE DECLARED. "I HAD IT PAY OFF. BUT, LET ME EMPHASIZE--IT DIDN'T TAKE THE MAGIC OF GENIUS TO ACHIEVE IT.

"THIS COORDINATION WAS ACHIEVED MOST SATISFACTORILY THROUGH THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF. THE PLANNING THEY DID WAS SOUND. IT WAS SOUND BECAUSE IT WAS COMPREHENSIVE. IT WAS NOT THE FROZEN, PREJUDICED, ARBITRARY DECISION OF ONE MIND."

THE SPOKESMEN OF THE ARMY PLEA," HALSEY SAID, "HAVE TOLD US THAT MERGER OF THE MILITARY DEPARTMENTS WILL ELIMINATE WASTE AND DUPLICATION AND THEREBY EFFECT ECONOMY.

"LET ME REMIND YOU THAT THE PROBLEMS OF ONE SERVICE ARE NOT THOSE OF THE OTHER. EACH IS LARGE, EACH IS COMPLEX, EACH IS HIGHLY SPECIALIZED.

DEC 15 1945

30-24-32413

B38 (Q)

(1,350)

NIGHT LEAD UNDATED REDEPLOYMENT

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(NY)... SEVENTY TROOPSHIPS CARRYING MORE THAN 55,000 SERVICEMEN AND OTHER MILITARY PERSONNEL ARE SCHEDULED TO ARRIVE TODAY (SATURDAY) AT SEVEN EAST AND WEST COAST PORTS.

ELEVEN TROOP-CARRYING VESSELS ARE DUE AT NEW YORK WITH 10,277 PASSENGERS; FIVE SHIPS WITH 703 AT BOSTON AND THREE SHIPS WITH 5,203 AT NEWPORT NEWS.

FROM THE PACIFIC, 19 SHIPS WITH 20,362 TROOPS ARE DUE AT SAN FRANCISCO, 17 WITH 12,154 AT LOS ANGELES, 11 WITH 3,387 AT SAN DIEGO AND FOUR WITH 3,879 AT SEATTLE.

SHIPS AND UNITS ARRIVING:

--AT NEW YORK--

JOHN HOWLAND FROM LE HAVRE, 582 TROOPS INCLUDING 280TH ORD. MAINT. CO. (AA); HQ. AND HQ. BTRY. 47TH AAA BRIGADE; 312 ORD. REBUILT CO.

CHARLES AYCOCK FROM LE HAVRE, 632 TROOPS INCLUDING 450TH BOMB SQ. OF 450 BOMB GP, 738TH FA BN. 170 GEN HOSP.

BOCHFONTEIN FROM ANTWERP, 1,234 TROOPS INCLUDING 149TH ENGR. CONST. BN., 983D ORD. DEPOT CO. 21 CIVILIANS.

COLBY VICTORY FROM LE HAVRE, 1,535 TROOPS INCLUDING MP PLATOON 89TH DIV, 714TH ORD LIGHT MAINT. CO, 405TH QM CO, 89TH SIGNAL CO, 881ST AIR ENGR SQ., 22ND PHOTO RECON SQ. AND MISCELLANEOUS TROOPS.

GRENVILLE M. DODGE FROM LE HAVRE, 625 TROOPS INCLUDING 26TH SIG.

DEC 15 1945

LIGHT CONSTRUCTION COMPANY.

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING -- MONTCLAIR VICTORY FROM LE HAVRE, 1,484; SAMUEL ASHE FROM MARSEILLE, 552; F. J. LUCKENBACH FROM ANTWERP, 166; MERAK FROM ICELAND, 360; MARYVILLE VICTORY FROM MARSEILLE, 1,554; ALTOONA VICTORY FROM MARSEILLE, 1,543.

--AT BOSTON--

SAMUEL LIVERMORE FROM ANTWERP, 600 TROOPS INCLUDING 555TH ANTI-AIRCRAFT ARTILLERY AUTOMATIC WEAPONS BATTALION.

MISCELLANEOUS UNITS ON FOLLOWING -- JOHN H. MURPHY FROM BARRY, WALES, 7; USCG EASTWIND FROM GREENLAND, 31; FRYBARGER, 4, AND CRONIN, 61, FROM PANAMA CANAL ZONE.

--AT NEWPORT NEWS--

THADDEUS KOSCIUSZKO (ORIGINALLY DUE FRIDAY) 570 TROOPS INCLUDING 756TH RY SHOP BN.

ADMIRAL CARPS, (ORIGINALLY DUE FRIDAY) 4,603 INCLUDING UNITS OF HQ. AND HQ. CO. AND SPEC TRPS 36TH INF DIV., MP PLAT 36TH INF DIV., 736TH ORD L. MAINT CO, 36TH SIG CO, 142ND INF REGT, HQ AND HQ BTRY 36TH DIV ART.

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON E. A. PEDEN, 30. (ORIGINALLY DUE FRIDAY)

DEC 15 1945

B39

--AT SAN FRANCISCO --

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING--CARRIER LEXINGTON FROM JAPAN, 1,014 NAVY, 207 MARINES, 1,654 ARMY; CARRIER INTREPID FROM JAPAN, 379 NAVY, 1,961 ARMY; TRANSPORT DARKE FROM PEARL HARBOR, 2,175 NAVY; TRANSPORT BINGHAM FROM MANILA, 1,956 ARMY, 89 CIVILIANS; CARRIER JACINTO FROM SAIPAN, 1,295 NAVY AND MARINES, 694 ARMY; TRANSPORT ST.CROIX FROM MANILA, 1,813, MOSTLY ARMY; TRANSPORT NAPA FROM MANILA, 1,800, MOSTLY ARMY; CARRIER NATOMA BAY FROM MANILA, 1,150 NAVY; TRANSPORT CATRON FROM MANILA, 1,131, MOSTLY ARMY; KENMORE FROM GUAM, 986 MOSTLY NAVY; ADRIAN VICTORY FROM MANILA, 809 ARMY; MARIA SANFORD FROM MANILA, 779 ARMY; OTHERS WITH FEW EACH INCLUDING IMPECCABLE, TRIUMPH, JOHN HIBBEN, WILLIAM P.MCARTHUR, TUSCON VICTORY, CAPE LAMBERT, MARGARET FULLER.

--AT LOS ANGELES--

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING--VALERIA FROM SAIPAN, 432 ARMY; RAYMOND INGERSOLL FROM MANILA, 21 ARMY; LUNGA POINT FROM SAIPAN, 1,067 ARMY, 143 NAVY; LONG ISLAND FROM YOKOHAMA, 952 ARMY; TAKANIS BAY FROM HONOLULU, 1,034 ARMY; WHITE MARSH FROM HONOLULU, 224 ARMY, 4 RED CROSS; GRANT FROM HONOLULU, 1,356 ARMY, 72 CIVILIANS, 12 RED CROSS; WAR HAWK FROM MANILA, 1,529 ARMY, 62 NAVY, 10 CIVILIANS; KOTA [illegible]ONG FROM LINGAYEN, 1,766 ARMY MOSTLY OF 37TH DIVISION; INDEPE[illegible]DENCE FROM IOW JIMA, 1,706 ARMY, 206 NAVY; YUGOSLAVIA FROM HONOLULU, 72 ARMY; ASTORIA FROM HONOLULU, 88 NAVY, 15 MARINES; LEE FOX FROM HONOLULU, 123 NAVY, 15 MARINES; ROLF FROM HONOLULU, 68 NAVY, 25 MARINES; ROMBACH FROM HONOLULU, 145 NAVY, 25 MARINES;

OCT 15 1945

B40

SHIPS AND UNITS ARRIVING YESTERDAY (FRIDAY)

--AT NEW YORK--

QUEEN MARY FROM SOUTHAMPTON, 11,409 TROOPS INCLUDING 32ND HEAVY BOMB SQUAD; C AND D BATTERY 557TH ANTI-AIRCRAFT ARTILLERY WARNING BATTALION; 223RD CHEMICAL BASE DEPOT COMPANY; 168TH STATION HOSPITAL; 1595TH ORDNANCE SUPPLY MAINTENANCE COMPANY; 302ND TRANSPORT WING; 187TH GENERAL HOSPITAL; 687TH GENERAL HOSPITAL COMPLEMENT; 332ND BOMB SQUAD OF 94TH BOMB GROUP; 338TH, 350TH, 351ST, HEAVY BOMB THISTLE FROM HONOLULU, 167 ARMY, 5 ARMY NURSES; TANAMO FROM HONOLULU, 10 NAVY.

--AT SAN DIEGO--

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING--CATSKILL, 1,171 NAVY, MARINES AND COAST GUARD; ATTACK TRANSPORT HAMPTON, 1,910 NAVY AND MARINES; FLEET TUGS NIPMUC AND NO. 211, 4 AND 2 PASSENGERS RESPECTIVELY; LSM'S 156, 327, 332, 383, 435, 443 AND 496 WITH TOTAL OF 300.

--AT SEATTLE--

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING--SITKA FROM MANILA, 1,930 ARMY; LA PORTE FROM MANILA, 1,895 ARMY; USS WILLIAM MCARTHUR FROM KOREA, 24 ARMY; AZTEC FROM HONSHU, 30 ARMY.

DEC 15 1945

30.24-32415

SQUADS; 435TH FIGHTER SQUAD; HEADQUARTERS AND BASE SERVICE SQUAD OF 411TH AIR SERVICE GROUP; 411TH AIR SERVICE GROUP OF 661ST AIR MATERIAL SQUAD; HEADQUARTERS AND BASE SERVICE SQUAD OF 412TH AIR SERVICE SQUAD; 838TH AIR ENGINEER SQUAD OF 412TH AIR SERVICE GROUP; 662ND AIR MATERIAL SQUAD OF 412TH AIR SERVICE GROUP; 19TH AAF PHOTO INTELLIGENCE DETACHMENT; 5TH AIRDROME SQUAD; 365TH AIRDROME SQUAD; 55TH DEPOT SUPPLY SQUAD; 20TH MEDICAL SUPPLY PLATOON; 188TH MEDICAL DISPENSARY; 313TH TRANSPORT SQUAD; 2003RD ORDNANCE MAINTENANCE COMPANY; 306TH STATION HOSPITAL; 309TH PORT COMPANY; 53RD GENERAL HOSPITAL; 444TH ENGINEER BASE DEPOT COMPANY; 319TH QUARTER-MASTER DEPOT SUPPLY COMPANY; 4233RD QUARTERMASTER STERILIZATION COMPANY; 241ST QUARTERMASTER DEPOT SUPPLY COMPANY, AND MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL.

MARINE PANTHER FROM CALCUTTA, 2,373 TROOPS INCLUDING 96TH SIGNAL BATTALION; 1880TH ENGINEER AVIATION BATTALION; 43RD, 46TH AND 48TH PORT SURGICAL HOSPITALS.

J.W. MC ANDREW FROM MARSEILLES, 1,949 TROOPS INCLUDING 7[illegible]TH FIELD ARTILLERY BATTALION, 631ST TANK DESTROYER BATTALION AND 648TH TANK DESTROYER BATTALION.

CROATAN FROM LE HAVRE, 1,236 TROOPS INCLUDING 750TH TANK BATTALION; DETACHMENT 713TH MILITARY POLICE BATTALION; DETACHMENT 296TH ENGINEER COMBAT BATTALION.

SATURNIA FROM BERMUDA, 1,126 TROOPS FROM THE GEORGE MCCRARY AND THE HENRY WARD BEECHER INCLUDING 542ND ORDNANCE HEAVY MAINTENANCE COMPANY, FIELD ARTILLERY; 544TH ORDNANCE HEAVY MAINTENANCE COMPANY, FIELD ARTILLERY; HEADQUARTERS AND HEADQUARTERS DETACHMENT 177TH

B41

--AT NEWPORT NEWS --

JOSEPH HOLLISTER FROM MARSEILLE, 589 TROOPS INCLUDING UNITS OF REAR DET. WUTH EVAC HOSP, SERV. CO. 314TH INF REGT., CO E 314TH INF., CO H 314TH INF.

JOHN BLAIR FROM MARSEILLE, 566 TROOPS INCLUDING 186TH FA BN.

PHILIP DOBRIDGE FROM LE HAVRE, 22 TROOPS INCLUDING 526TH CIC DET.

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING--WILLIAM HALSTEAD FROM NAPLES, 75; USS VESUVIUS FROM CANAL ZONE, 184 NAVY, 7 ARMY, STEPHEN M. CABIRILL FROM EGYPT, 2 ARMY, REDSTONE SEAM FROM ANTWERP, 9 (ORIGINALLY DUE THURSDAY).

(PETER MINUIT DUE TODAY NOW SCHEDULED FOR SUNDAY, GEORGE BAKER DUE

QUARTERMASTER BATTALION.

TABITHA BROWN FROM MARSEILLES, 567 TROOPS INCLUDING 314TH INFANTRY REGIMENT.

L AND M AND ANTI-TANK COMPANY OF THE 314TH INFANTRY REGIMENT.

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING--REVERDY JOHNSON FROM LE HAVRE, 580; BRAND WHITLOCK FROM ANTWER, 22; GEORGE BELLOWS, 21; MILFORD VICTORY, 1,492.

TODAY DIVERTED TO BALTIMORE AND COTTON MATHER DUE TODAY DIVERTED TO NEW YORK)

--AT BOSTON--

NO ARRIVALS.

--AT PORTLAND--

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING--GAGE FROM MANILA, 2,206.

--AT LOS ANGELES--

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING--SHAMROCK BAY FROM PEARL HARBOR, 1,352; CALLAWAY FROM MANILA, 1,679; CANBERRA FROM BALBOA,

HARBOR, 1,352; CALLAWAY FROM MANILA, 1,679; CANBERRA FROM BALBOA, 216; ST.LOUIS FROM RUSSEL ISLANDS, 427; YARMOUTH FROM PEARL HARBOR, 967; FRANKLIN BELL FROM JAPAN, 400; WAXHAWS, 30 NAVY.

--AT SAN DIEGO--

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING, ALL FROM PEARL HARBOR--LST 996, 89; LST 902, 123; DESTROYER-MINESWEEPER HAMBLETON, 29; PATROL CRAFT 461, SEVEN; LSN 275 AND LSM 277, COMBINED TOTAL OF 17 NAVY; 14 LCI'S WITH COMBINED TOTAL OF 359.

--AT SAN FRANCISCO--

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING--GEN. AULTMAN FROM MINDINAO, 3,907 ARMY, MOSTLY OF 31ST DIVISION; CALVERT FROM PEARL HARBOR, 1,068 NAVY; WARWICK VICTORY FROM MANILA, 796 ARMY; ANCON FROM TOKYO, 637; LST 1107 FROM PEARL HARBOR, 129; LST 284 FROM PEARL HARBOR, 284; SUNNADIN, URANUS, HIGH FLYER, LSMS 345, 448, 450, 447 AND 350, HYDE PARK, NY Dec. 14 (AP Six Argentine motorists who recently completed a 40-week, 14,000 mile tour of the Pan American highway, today placed a wreath on the grave of the late President Roosevelt.

Louis Elias Sojit, leader of the group, praised the late President as a friend of all the Americas and a man who was revered in Argentina. #

ALL WITH A FEW EACH.

--AT SEATTLE--

MISCELLANEOUS PERSONNEL ON FOLLOWING--LAMAR FROM YOKOHAMA, 1,735 ARMY; CARLISLE FROM OKINA, 1,026 ARMY; HORNET FROM GUAM, 3,613; CARL SCHURZ FROM ADAK, 1,367; WHITE PLAINS FROM GUAMTM

ARMY; CARLISLE FROM OKINAWA, 1,026 ARMY; HORNET FROM GUAM, 3,613; CARL SCHURZ FROM ADAK, 1,367; WHITE PLAINS FROM GUAM, 1,025.

--AT TACOMA--

BROOKINGS FROM KORE, 1,473 MISCELLANEOUS ARMY PERSONNEL.

HJ852PES

BROOKINGS FROM KOREA, 1,473 MISCELLANEOUS ARMY PERSONNEL.

HJ852PES

DEC 15

DEC 15 1949

DEC 16 1945

30.24-32417

UNITED STATES WINS FIGHT FOR UNO SITE

Preparatory Commission Votes 30 to 14 to Locate Here—Mrs. Roosevelt May Hold Important Office.

DAY

London, Dec. 15 (A. P.).—The United States was selected today as the site for the United Nations Organization. After a roll call vote of 30 to 14, with six abstensions in the committee of the Preparatory Commission, Canada moved to make the decision unanimous. This motion was seconded by Philip Noel-Baker for Great Britain and the Norwegian delegate.

Noel-Baker, who had fought for a site in Europe, then declared, "His Majesty's Government will do everything in their power to make the organization a great success."

The selection of the United States as the permanent home followed one of the hardest-fought battles of the preparatory conference. The deciding vote came after delegates had voted down a motion to locate the site in Europe, 25 to 23.

Mrs. Roosevelt May Get Post.

Washington, Dec. 15 (A. P.).—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is under White House consideration for appointment to an important position with the United Nations Organization, it became known today.

Sources close to the administration who asked not to be quoted directly said that the delegation to the UNO would be announced before very long and that there was ground for speculation that the widow of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt might be in the group.

The vote confirmed a previous recommendation of the executive committee.

Sitting in the visitors' gallery when the decision was announced was Major Robert Lapham of San Francisco, who has invited the new world organizatoin to make his city its home. The committee agreed to meet Monday to select the city in the United States at which the headquarters will be located.

The Colombian delegate was the only delegate among the Latin Americans to vote against the United States. Ecuador, however, abstained.

3,000 POLICE SWEEP LONDON

54 Scotland Yard Arrests Fail To Stop Crime Wave

CREAGH

London, Dec. 15 (AP)—Scotland Yard, moving swiftly in the wake of a series of unprecedented raids, had clues tonight from 54 arrested men which may solve many of the recent armed robberies, kidnapping and other violent crimes in this metropolis, authorities announced.

NIGHT

But London's crime wave was not wiped out. Even as 3,000 Scotland Yard men and military police of three nations struck, a half dozen new major offenses were reported—some within the cordon which had been thrown about the heart of London.

The raiders hit suddenly last night with a vast dragnet, under the code name of "operation dragnet." From all parts of the city—from swank Mayfair to the back alleys of the Soho dist ict—15,161 persons were brought in for questioning.

Newspaper Complaints

All day long there was a constant procession in and out of police stations. Most of those questioned were persons who lacked identity cards when they were halted.

One of those brought in was an a.w.o.l. American officer. Three American enlisted men also were apprehended by American authorities for service violations.

The Evening Star complained of "Gestapo" methods and said the arrests was a "small result." It hoped the authorities would not make a habit of "violating the tradition of English life."

Idlers Go Indoors

Tonight there was a noticebale thinning out of idlers in Piccadilly Circus, London's Times Square, where the net had been drawn tightiest. Scotland Yard said it was satisfied with the results.

The drive, police said, had been aimed principally at 10,000 American, British and Canadian army deserters who they believed were hiding out in London. One newspaper estimated that 6,000 military policemen of Canada, Britain and the United States aided the police.

The dragnet swooped down with military precision, blocking off main arteries, halting pedestrians, covering suspected places of entertainment and subway entrances. Men stationed at the back doors of many places were rewarded with a large net of suspects.

Police Enter Big Dance Hall

Thirty jeeps in formation swept up to one of London's largest dance halls. As police entered, the 2,000 patrons stopped their merrymaking and were lined up against the wall while police moved quietly among them, questioning suspects.

During the afternoon an RAF military police group on motorcycles surrounded a football stadium and questioned RAF personnel found there.

15,161 Are Quizzed In London Hunt

London, Dec. 15 (AP)—Thousands of London bobbies and military police of three nations questioned 15,161 persons last night and today as they searched central London in a drive aimed at rounding up 10,000 army deserters and curbing the city's worst crime wave.

The police arrested two persons for housebreaking, four for larceny and nine for unlawful possession.

Thirty-two others, including one United States officer and three enlisted men, were detained by military authorities for service violations.

DAY

Scotland Yard Satisfied

Scotland Yard, nerve center of the drive, said it was satisfied with the results.

During the manhunt four burglars entered a store just outside the cordon of police and hauled away a safe containing 200 pounds ($800).

RAF military police on motorcycles surrounded a football stadium this afternoon and questioned RAF personnel.

Striking suddenly, 2,000 London policemen aided by military police of three nations, estimated by one newspaper at about 6,000, sealed metropolitan London and searched the city with the precision of a military invasion.

Police Stations Jammed

The check continued until daybreak, when police stations were jammed with hundreds of persons unable to satisfy officials as to their identity. Newsmen, checking the arrests, reported that from 500 to 800 persons had been brought in during the first five hours of the roundup.

Searchers blocked the principal streets and bridges, then swooped down on London's theaters, restaurants, bars, night clubs, hotels, railway stations and other night spots.

The net was drawn tightest in the area around Piccadilly Circus, London's Times Square. Traffic was tied up as police swept in on hundreds of vehicles and poured out of subway entrances.

Identity Cards Required

Vehicles and pedestrians were halted. All persons were required to produce identity cards. Those who could were given printed forms to display and were permitted to continue.

During the search, streets were blocked by crowds who followed police as they made door-to-door checks. In an effort to discourage these bystanders, police several times turned on them and subjected them to identity checks.

Thirty jeeps sped to one of London's largest dance halls. MP's covered all entrances while police went inside.

Dancers Line Wall

The music stopped and 2,000 dancers lined up against the wall. In some clubs dancing continued while plainclothes men moved about the floor questioning the patrons.

The search, given the code name of "Dragnet," was so secret that participating policemen and MP's were not given instructions until a few minutes before "zero hour."

Russ Paper Hits Finn War-Crimes Trials

London, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Moscow radio today quoted the Soviet newspaper Trud as saying the Finnish war crimes trial was "nothing less than an arena for political discussions where former Premier Risto Ryti in his orations propagates the righteousness of his cause and that of Germany."

"This shows that Finland still continues to be influenced by those who do not want honestly and sincerely to carry out their obligations of the treaty of armistice and Article 13 (punishment of war criminals)," the article said.

"Trud" is an organ of the Soviet trade-unions.

British Reprisal Challenged

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Laborite R. W. Sorensen said today he had asked Minister of War J. J. Lawson to tell the House of Commons Tuesday "whether it will continue to be the practice of British troops in Java to destroy native villages as a reprisal."

The question arose as a result of dispatches from Java that British air and ground forces had razed the Indonesian village of Bekasi, near Batavia, in reprisal for the massacre of British and Indian survivors of a plane crash.

France Asks Aid In Spain Rift

WILSON

Paris, Dec. 15 (AP)—France, anxious to break with the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, asked the United States and Great Britain today to consult with her on rupture of relations with the Spanish Government.

NIGHT

The Foreign Office announcement recalled a report last Saturday from a French Constituent Assembly source that France had asked Britain and the United States to state their positions on the question of continued relations with the Franco government.

Major Parties Advocate Break

All three of France's major parties—the Communists, the popular Republican movement (MRP) and the Socialists—have been advocating a break. There has been no agreement, however, among the parties nor within the Cabinet of President de Gaulle, on recognition of the Spanish Republican Government in Exile, headed by Jose Giral Pereira.

The official Government position has been to question whether the Giral group is representative of all the anti-Franco elements within Spain. The Communist and Socialist parties favor Juan Negrin, Prime Minister of the last Spanish Republican Government.

Foreign Office sources made it clear that France would like to break relations with Franco—but preferably in a joint action with Britain and the United States. Meanwhile, the French Government is remaining aloof from any official contact with the Giral group in Mexico.

It was known that when Manual Torres Campana, Minister of Interior of the exiled Government, attempted to see Andre Marlaux, French Information Minister, he was refused. The official French attitude is that members of the Giral Government can come to France if they wish, but only as private citizens.

U.S. Receives French Note

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—The State Department acknowledged today that the United States has received a note from the French Government proposing discussion of Anglo-American-French relations with the Franco Government of Spain.

The department declined to say what its attitude toward the proposal might be. Nothing will be done about it until Secretary of State Byrnes returns from Moscow, a spokesman told reporters.

FRANCE PROPOSES PARLEY ON SPAIN

Paris, Dec. 15 (A. P.).—The Foreign Office announced today that a note had been sent to the United States and Great Britain proposing consultations on their relations with Spain. Ministry spokesmen made it clear that France wishes to break off relations with the Franco government, but only jointly with Britain and the United States.

DAY

Although the three main parties in France—the Communists, the Socialists and the Popular Republicans—are strongly in favor of breaking relations, there is no agreement among them on recognizing the exiled Republican regime in Mexico.

Washington, Dec. 15 (A. P.).—The State Department acknowledged today that the United States has received a note from the French Government proposing discussion of Anglo-American-French relations with the Franco Government of Spain. The department declined to say what its attitude toward the proposal might be. Nothing will be done about it until Secretary Byrnes returns from Moscow, a spokesman told reporters.

Improvement Reported In Patton's Condition

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 15 (AP). Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., improved steadily today and "his general condition is excellent," army bulletins announced.

DAY

The United States 15th Army commander, who suffered a broken neck last Sunday in an automobile accident near Mannheim, showed "slight but significant improvement in sensation" over night, a bulletin said, and he maintained the improvement throughout the day.

The former 3d Army leader "continues alert and cheerful," the Army said.

Patton A Bit Better

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 15 (AP). The condition of Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., was described as excellent today in an official bulletin which noted a "slight but significant improvement in sensation during the past twenty-four hours."

The bulletin added that the former 3d Army commander, whose neck was broken in an auto crash last Sunday, "continues alert and cheerful." His temperature was given as 100 and his pulse as 60.

DEC 16 1945

DEC 16 1945

U.S. Staff Tries To Restrict Nuernberg Trial For Speed

GALLAGHER

Nuernberg, Dec. 15 (AP)—The United States prosecution is fighting to present the Nazi war crimes case to the international military tribunal entirely in affidavits and documents in order to prevent the trial from bogging down in a long-drawn-out legal wrangle that might last into next summer.

DAY

Even if there are no long legal arguments, which have become more frequent of late, the best guess here was that the prosecution could not finish its case before the end of January. With 21 defendants and six organizations each calling witnesses, it was difficult to see how the defense could finish in less than two and one half months.

Would Limit Witnesses

[In Moscow, the Communist newspaper Pravda criticized what it called the torrent of witnesses which threatened to slow the trial unnecessarily. An article written by Prof. Alexander Trainin said documents were the main evidence, and that the defense should be limited in the type of witnesses called.

[The defense witnesses should present only pertinent testimony, he wrote, and not, for instance, testimony that Nazi philosopher Alfred Rosenberg carried on good agricultural organization in the East.]

The documentary evidence itself seems endless. One of the most amazing things about the trial has been the testimony of captured Nazi records demonstrating that even the wildest tales which leaked from wartime Germany under Hitler were in actuality under-statements of the mass slaughter that was being carried on there.

Goering Depressed

The constant flow of damning documents has jolted the jaunt ego of the defendants. The usually jovial Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering has become depressed. Hans Frank, quondam governor of Polish territory, complained of nightmares, after a week of hearing himself singled out as the instigator of mass murder of thousands of Jews and Poles.

Even some of the defendants appeared shocked by the testimony in the record—of mobile gas vans which rolled up, killed hundreds of Jews and rolled on to new points of mass shootings and mass torture; of mass extermination of whole communities.

Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief United States prosecutor, is trying to paint a broad, historical picture of the growth of nazism. But so complicated has the testimony in the Nazis own records become and so vast the crimes charged against them that there is every prospect of weeks of legal wrangling.

Effect On Reich Feared

It was feared here that if the trial went on for months, with drawn-out bickering over testimony of witnesses, the effect on the German people is bound to be one of confusion, if not outright boredom.

The defense has objected to Jackson's plan to limit testimony to documents and affidavits, and in some cases has been upheld by the court. The defense wants live witnesses for cross-examination, and claims affidavits tell only part of the story.

Jackson has agreed that affidavits are not as effective as witnesses themselves, but said the affidavits were necessary if the case is to end "within the memory of anyone now living."

The only prosecution witness to appear thus far has taken up two days on the stand with direct and cross-examination, but affidavits often take only two minutes to present.

Requires Reading In Court

It had been Jackson's original intention to outline the contents of documents and let the court consider them in full, but the court has ruled that only the parts of documents which are actually read in court would be considered evidence in the record. This, too, has slowed the procedure.

The American presentation has been highly detailed in many cases. The United States prosecution is anxious for speed, but at the same time wants to present a full picture. On the other hand the British prosecution covered a tremendous amount of ground in four days by weeding out detail.

It is true, however, that preparation of the bulk of the case has fallen upon the United States. Because of the swift advance of American armies in the last days of the war, nine tenths of the captured material for this case fell into American hands.

For example, one United States attorney had 200 documents which he considered essential to his presentation. Jackson ordered the number cut to 38. Then he ordered it cut again.

No Arrangements To Try Lesser German Generals

Berlin, Dec. 15 (AP)—Robert D. Murphy, United States political adviser, said tonight there were no present arrangements for the trial of German generals below the rank of those now on trial at Nuernberg.

But when the trials of the lesser generals come, he said, they will be on a zonal rather than an international basis with each power trying those it had in custody in its zone of occupation.

Asked whether, as sections of the Berlin press suggest, any will be handed over to the Germans for trial as "criminals against Germany," he said he doubted that would happen.

MOLOTOV GREETS BYRNES, BEVIN ON CONFERENCE EVE

Session of Big Three Ministers Will Get Underway Monday.

BRITISH PARTY DELAYED

Only Single Plane Gets Through Storm to Moscow.

GILMORE

MOSCOW, Dec. 15.—(AP) Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav M. Molotov met individually today with United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and with British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin, and indications tonight were that the three foreign ministers would hold the first formal sessions of their conference on Monday.

NIGHT

Bevin said at a press conference tonight that "patience is a great thing now—a more important word than hope—in settling international problems. x x x If things are formalized and settled too soon, then we may be faced with the problem of revision."

Has No High Hopes

Answering questions as to his hopes for the meeting he said, "I came with practical hopes—neither high nor low."

In reply to a question as to Britain's place and influence in the postwar era, the foreign secretary declared:

"We are not down and out. We will not have less influence than any other country in the world, but we shall not talk so much about it."

Moscow newspapers gave the conference an auspicious send-off. The arrival of the ministers was prominently displayed in Izvestia, Pravda and Red Star, indicating the importance the Russians attach to the forthcoming talks. But the press still refrained from editorial comment on the meeting or its prospects.

Control of atomic energy is the prime subject for discussion.

The British foreign secretary arrived in a British plane this afternoon from Berlin, bundled up against the bitter Russian weather. Three other planes in his party had turned back.

Welcomed By Red Official

Bevin was greeted at the airport by Deputy Foreign Commissar A. J. Vishinsky and expressed thanks for the cordial welcome.

"I bring you greetings of the people of Great Britain and I hope that this conference and our association will still further strengthen the bond of friendship between us and help to contribute toward peace and prosperity," Bevin said in a statement.

Shortly afterward Bevin met with Molotov, Vishinsky, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, the British ambassador, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, British undersecretary for foreign affairs. Earlier Byrnes had made a courtesy call on the Soviet foreign minister.

When Bevin arrived in Moscow, officials still were awaiting a Soviet plane from Tehran, bearing British Ambassador to Iran Sir William Reader Bullard and John D. Jernigan, U. S. legation attache in Iran. The question of Azerbaijan province, where a movement has started seeking autonomy within the Iranian state, is on the Big Three agenda.

Despite his long, hard trip during which his plane was lost in a storm for an hour, Byrnes remained up late last night at Spasso House, home of U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, and held informal discussions with the ambassador and his aides.

The U. S. Secretary of State spent a restful night, however, and was up early, preparing his plans. His secretarial staff also was busy at an early hour, making themselves at home in special quarters set aside for them at Spasso House.

Bevin Reaches Moscow For Parley

GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 15 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin arrived in Moscow by plane today for the Big Three Foreign Ministers Conference. Meanwhile United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes made a courtesy call on Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov.

DAY

A spokesman said the three men might meet informally tonight and would probably hold their first business session Monday.

Bevin flew to Moscow through a blizard which forced three other planes carrying members of his party to turn back. The British Foreign Secretary was so bundled up when he reached the airport that he had to come sideways down the steps of his big four-engined plane.

Byrnes's Preparations

Byrnes, who arrived here late yesterday after his plane was lost for an hour in the storm, spent the night at Spasso House, the residence of the American Ambassador, where he conferred with his staff and made last-minute preparations for the talks.

Foreign observers here felt that several issues have already taken definite shape. Conceding that the question of controlling atomic energy will be the main issue, observers pointed to Iran and Japan—in the light of recent developments—as subjects that appeared likely to come up for discussion.

Byrnes, at a press conference last night, gave no indication of what subjects were on the agenda, but he declared he wanted it understood that "this is no peace conference."

Spirit Of Yalta

He said the "only purpose of the meeting is to carry out the spirit of the Yalta meeting—to meet every three or four months to preserve contacts between the governments." The present conference, he said, was "just exploratory."

Byrnes said he would not regard it as a "bad sign" if no formal announcement of an agreement follows the conference.

"I think it is a far more important thing," he added, "if we make contact for an exchange of views rather than meet to make announcements."

To Propose New Parley

Byrnes said he was going to propose another meeting of the "Big Three" next March.

As final preparations for the conference were made, Soviet censors—already at work handling advance stories—got ready fo their busiest time in two years. All stories written for transmission abroad, no matter what their source or subject, must have the censor's stamp.

Censorship was relaxed recently and then tightened again. The Associated Press has made no effort to test the tightened censorship, but in handling the news as it developed has had no dispatches held up or cut.

Motherhood Teacher Case Stirs Danes

Copenhagen, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Copenhagen School Board announced today it would decide Wednesday whether an unmarried, 42-year-old school principal should keep her job after giving birth to a child.

The board said that Miss Inger Merete Nordentoft, principal of one of Copenhagen's largest schools, had stated she would become a mother in April.

Member Of Parliament

The newspaper Berlingske Tidende said Miss Nordentoft, a newly elected Communist member of Parliament, first disclosed in an interview that she was expecting a baby.

Miss Nordentoft was quoted by Danish newspapers as saying: "The public has given me the responsibility for other people's children. Should I not be able to bring up a child of my own, then? Definitely, I think I should return to my work as school principal."

Her declaration resulted in a storm of mixed comment. Paul Brodersen, minister and dean of a diocese, said that a teacher who gave lessons on the Ten Commandments and did not keep them herself must retire.

26 Teachers Oppose Her

Twenty-six teachers from her school adopted a resolution demanding that she retire. The Danish press published numerous letters for and against Miss Nordentoft's retaining her position.

She has applied for leave until after the baby is born, the school board said.

Pope Sees Monsignor Going To Yugoslavia

Vatican City, Dec. 15 (AP)—Pope Pius XII today received Msgr. Joseph Patrick Hurley, former bishop of St. Augustine, Fla., who will leave soon for Yugoslavia as regent of the Apostolic Nunciature of Belgrade.

DAY

The Pope also received Brig. Gen. Charles Dasher, of Washington, D.C., commandant of American forces in Rome, and Brig. Gen. James Fry, of Idaho, commandant of the 88th Division occupying Venezia Giulia.

Christian Peace Unity Appeal Made

Vatican City, Dec. 15 (AP)—An appeal to the Christian churches of the world to collaborate for the maintenance of peace has been issued by "Unitas," an international association of Christian faiths, headed by the very Reverend Charles Boyer, S.J., dean of theology at the Vatican's Gregorian University.

The appeal was described by well-informed Vatican sources as "praiseworthy" but not inspired by the Vatican itself.

Unitas, which was founded this year, aims at grouping Christian clergy and laymen of all denominations in an international peace organization. It plans to establish national councils, composed two thirds of Catholics and one third of other denominations, throughout the world.

FINDS BANDIT SHE KILLED IS BROTHER

Rome, Dec. 15 (A. P.).—Dora Camusso of the village of Para Sabina, near Rome, last night sold some cattle for 180,000 lire. She worried about taking so much money home. So she stopped at her brother's house and asked him to go with her. He was too busy, he said, but gave her a pistol.

DEC 16 1945
30.24-32419

On the way she met two villagers, who examined the weapon, found it unloaded and gave her two cartridges.

A little farther on she met two masked men who demanded money. She fired twice, killing both. Then she went over to the bodies and lifted the masks. The men were her brother and first cousin.

Leftists Oppose Greek Premier

Athens, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Communist party and the Leftist EAM (National Liberation Front) are reported planning simultaneous mass meetings and demonstrations against the Government of Premier Themistokles Sophoulis tomorrow in Athens and the provinces.

Sophoulis told a press conference that necessary measures had been taken to maintain order, and that police and gendarmerie had been standing by since 9 A.M. today.

The action by the EAM, which is seeking to enforce demands for a general amnesty, may embarrass the Government at a time when the Big Three Foreign Ministers are meeting at Moscow. Leaflets attacking the Government were circulated by the Communist party last night.

Czechs To Seek U.S. Goods

Prague, Dec. 15 (AP)—Hubert Ripka, Minister of oreign Trade, told a press conference today that Czechoslovakia would send a trade commission to the United States in January to attempt to buy machinery, rubber, leather, cotton goods and other items.

Belgium Joins Bretton Pact

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Belgian Cabinet decided today to recommend parliamentary ratification of the Bretton Woods monetary plan. Belgium will subscribe $225,000,000 to the monetary pool, giving that nation fifth place after the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union and entitling her to a permanent seat on the executive committee.

Prince Konoye Kills Self Rather Than Surrender For War Criminal Trial

FORMER PREMIER TAKES POISON IN HIS TOKYO HOME

Princess Finds Her Husband's Body in Bedroom.

DIES AFTER PARTY

Jap Leader Commits Suicide After Entertaining Friends, Relatives.

BRIMES

TOKYO, Sunday, Dec. 16.—(AP) Prince Fumimaro Konoye, thrice premier in the decade of Japan's belligerency leading up to the Pearl Harbor attack, took his life with poison early today at his lavish home, rather than surrender today as a suspected war criminal.

Princess Konoye went into the prince's bedroom at 6 a. m. and found him lying in a Japanese-style bed on the floor, with a vial of poison at his side. She reported he left no note.

NIGHT

Japanese newspapermen and photographers had swarmed to the entrance of Sugamo prison where Konoye had until midnight tonight to report. Shocked when informed of his suicide, they made a dash for his home on Tokyo's outskirts.

The man who was premier the last time just before Hideki Tojo replaced him and began the war, killed himself when he had only a few hours of freedom left before his scheduled surrender.

Entertained Close Friends

Last night he entertained close friends and relatives at his modern residence. He gave no indication he had any plan other than to give himself up before midnight.

Around 2 a. m., he retired to his bedroom.

After discovery of the body, an American doctor was rushed out by counter intelligence officers to investigate. The doctor took charge of the poison vial.

Others in the household reported Konoye was "normal" when he retired. He had talked late into the night with his friends and relatives. The guests included many persons high in Japan's social and political life.

Among them were the Baron Miyagawa and wife, the wife of Marquis Oyama—she is Konoye's sister—and his brother, Viscount Hidemaro, who recently returned from Germany.

Wife Finds Body

Princess Konoye was prompted to investigate on noting a light still was burning. The time of his death was estimated at about 5 a. m.

Konoye's secretary, T. Uchiba, said the body was still slightly warm when he arrived shortly after 6:30 a. m.

Konoye's act, marking him as among the highest-ranking Japanese officials to commit suicide since Nippon's surrender, was a distinct surprise. He belonged to a family ranked next to the imperial household.

Uchiba said, however, "looking back it is obvious now Konoye did not intend to give himself up to American authorities."

Konoye's last days had been restless, worried ones.

Helped Arrange Surrender

At the time of the surrender, some Japanese had said that Konoye was among a select few responsible for persuading the emperor to accept terms. These Japanese talked of assassination. Konoye seldom slept in his own house, moving from one friend's house to another to elude would be assassins.

American officers today clamped a tight guard on the Konoye residence, restricting correspondents to the small entrance hall where three tall U. S. soldiers, in stocking feet, stood guard.

The family first objected to pictures. Later they agreed to dress the body and permit a photographer from each service to take pictures. An official photographer took a picture earlier.

Konoye, 54, had been premier three times in the past 10 years.

The "China incident" occurred during his first term, and he stated that Japan would not discuss peace with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

His second term was marked by the introduction of a single domestic political party, regimentation of the Japanese and the sign-the Tokyo newspaper Asahi said Konoye had refused to meet any visitors, including Saburo Kurusu, who was in Washington as a negotiator when Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

DEC 16 1945

Others Reporting To Prison

"I directed my best efforts for friendly relations between Japan and the United States," he was quoted by Asahi. "The truth will become known after I return to Tokyo."

Other high-ranking war criminal suspects named on the December 6 list began reporting today to Sugamo prison.

The first to surrender were: Viscount Masatoshi Okachi, former head of the Riken Industries and advisor to the Tojo Cabinet; Count Tadamsa Saki, Minister of Agriculture and Forestry in the 1940 Abe Cabinet and director of the Imperial Rule Association, and Shigeo Odate, first mayor of occupied Singapore and home minister in the Loiso Cabinet.

Arrive With Many Servants

Next to report were retired Vice Admiral Takuo Godo, member of two cabinets, and Hiroshi Oshima, wartime ambassador to Berlin.

All arrived with a retinue of servants and members of their families carrying heavy bundles of bedding and personal belongings.

A crowd of Japanese, gathered at the prison gates, appeared shocked when relayed the report of Konoye's suicide.

The United States prosecutor of Japan's high war criminal suspects charged today that they or their friends "destroyed, alerted or secreted" incriminating documents before the Americans landed.

Joseph B. Keenan, veteran prosecutor assigned to bring Hideki Tojo and others before the Allied bar of justice, made his statement in announcing that the trials would begin about February 1.

Tojo's Trial Likely To Be First

"The men we are going to try or their friends had many days in which to act before our troops landed," Keenan said.

Consequently, he and his staff are having to "dig out everything we get," and cannot possibly be ready for the first trials by mid-January as originally planned.

"My staff now has taken over the top cases entirely," Keenan added, "and the charges against the men from whom the first defendants will be selected are being prepared."

Keenan said the first defendants had not been chosen, but it is regarded here as likely that Tojo would be the first to face trial.

The thread of evidence is so snarled, Keenan said, that a member of his staff will go to Germany to obtain documents in the European war-crimes trial that have a bearing on those in Japan.

Small-Fry Trials This Week

The court will be made up of members from China, Great Britain and Russia as well as the United States.

The first of approximately 300 war criminals trials of small-fry Japanese will begin next Tuesday in Yokohama courthouse, Col. Robert V. Laughlin, United States 8th Army Judge Advocate, said.

General MacArthur's recent listing of additional suspects among men high in Japan's councils forced two additional changes today in the Japanese Government.

Admiral Kantaro Suzuki, Premier of the last wartime Cabinet, was made president of the Privy Council succeeding Baron Kichiro Hiranuma, who is on MacArthur's "wanted" list.

Baron Iwakusu Ide, another on the list, resigned from the House of Peers.

JAPS ORDERED TO PUT END TO STATE SHINTO

Directive Of MacArthur Aims To Free People From Compulsion

NIGHT

Tokyo, Sunday, Dec. 16 (AP)—General MacArthur today ordered state Shintoism abolished in Japan to destroy the compulsory religious ideology which his staff asserted led the nation into war—and defeat.

With the expressed aim of freeing people from "direct or indirect compulsion" to believe in "manufactured" religion, the Allied directive laid down a program of broad revision, calling for:

1. Withdrawal of all Government control and support of state Shinto—"the way of the gods."

2. Purging of militaristic and ultra-nationalistic ideology from doctrine of the cult which preaches ancestor worship and defies the Emperor.

3. Removal of Shinto teachings from schools.

Allied officers emphasized that today's action, carrying out the policy announced recently by the United States State Department, involves state Shintoism but does not affect the sect of Shinto which, in 1941, had an estimated 17,000,000 adherents. Nor is it an attempt, they said, to dictate religious beliefs of any kind to the Japanese.

All Creeds On Same Basis

However, the entire population of 70,000,000 is considered members of state Shinto, including 45,000,000 Buddhists and 315,000 Christians.

Brig. Gen. Ken R. Dyke, who described development of state Shinto as "a masterly job of promotion," said MacArthur's order liberates the Japanese from compulsory support of the ideology which "has contributed to their war guilt, defeat, suffering, privation and the present deplorable condition."

General Dyke is chief of the information and education section which drafted terms of the new religious freedom in Japan. In a statement for the Japanese press, he said that all creeds, religions and faiths are placed upon exactly the same legal basis.

No Word On Emperor's Divinity

"Shinto shrines that have a real religious following," he said, "will be able to exist on voluntary contributions."

Navy Lieutenant William K. Bunce, former professor of Oriental history and dean of Otterbein College, who prepared the text of the directive, expressed belief at a press conference that action in divorcing Shinto from government control would cause its influence to wane.

Asked whether steps affecting the Japanese conception of the Emperor's divinity were contemplated, General Dyke said he could not answer that question at this time.

He added that he saw no reason why the Emperor should not continue to worship at the Grand Shrine of Ise, to which Hirohito journeyed recently to report war's end to his ancestors. In the future, however, the Emperor cannot be accompanied by state officials.

"The Emperor is still the spiritual head of Japan," said the General.

Under the heading of militaristic and ultra-nationalistic ideology which must be abolished are doctrines that the Emperor is "superior to heads of other states" and the Japanese superior to other peoples because of ancestral descent or special origin—the Sun Goddess, by Japanese mythology.

The directive abolishes the Home Ministry's shrine bureau, which has exercised jurisdiction over all shrines, written nature-loving rituals, appointed and supervised priests of state Shinto. Of 110,000 Shinto shines in Japan, 220 are state shrines which have received full government aid.

Total contributions to all shrines from village to national sources has amounted to approximately 2,500,000 yen ($166,666) annually. The expressed Allied intention is to return the shrines to local communities.

A radio broadcast explaining the directive's objectives is planned for Monday.

Japan to Export All Silk

TOKYO, Dec. 15 (AP)—Japan's textile industry hopes to convert all its silk production facilities to manufacturing for export, cutting off domestic supplies of short-cut fibre and amassing 157,000 bales of raw silk for foreign buyers by December, 1947.

This was disclosed today in one of the first seven Japanese industrial surveys completed at the request of Allied headquarters. The study eventually will cover all of Japan's major industries.

Jap War Documents Not Available To Allies

Tokyo, Dec. 15 (AP)—Joseph B. Keenan, who will prosecute Hideki Tojo and other Japanese leaders accused of launching the Pacific war, said today the Nipponese have "destroyed, altered or secreted" documents which might establish the guilt of the men to be tried.

"The men we are going to try, or their friends, had many days in which to act before our troops landed," Keenan declared. "Documents have been destroyed, altered or secreted."

To aid the prosecution, Keenan plans to send Otto Lowe, of Cape Charles, Va., a member of his staff to Germany to obtain any documents used in European war crimes trials which might bear on the Japanese trials. The latter hearings are expected to begin about February 1.

Not Like Reich

Keenan commented: "It is a different situation here than in Germany. There the Nazi Government was stubborn to the end and when it cracked there was no Government to destroy documents that pointed to the guilt of the men now being tried there."

Pointing out Japan's long-established policy of secretiveness, Keenan said his group has to "dig out everything we get."

Japanese isolation is another factor making his work difficult, he asserted. In Europe much information about war-crime suspects could be obtained from persons who moved from or traveled in Germany. Such activities were limited in Japan before and during the war.

It is believed here that ex-Premier Tojo and some of his Cabinet members will be nominated for the first trials.

In Yokohama, December 18 was announced as the trial date for the first of approximately 300 small-fry Japanese charged with mistreatment of Allied prisoners. A commission of the United States 8th Army will conduct the trials.

The Japanese Government shake-up continued with the appointment of Admiral Baron Kantaro Suzuki, former aide de camp to Emperor Hirohito and Premier of the last wartime Cabinet, as president of the Privy Council. He succeeds Baron Kichiro Hiranuma, war-criminal suspect.

Ide Quits House Of Peers

Kyodo news agency reported the resignation of Baron Iwakusu Ide, another war-criminal suspect, as a member of the House of Peers was accepted by Hirohito—an action which may presage resignations of other members of that body similarly charged.

Meanwhile, as the House of Representatives passed a labor-union law, the Government extended the current special Diet session for four days. The House-approved measure provides workers with the right to organize and bargain collectively. There has been no House action as yet on General MacArthur's agrarian reform directive to break up larger farms.

Wants "United States Of World"

An elderly Independent, Yukio Ozaki, 86 caustic critic of Nipponese militarists, suggested in the House of Representatives the formation of independent nations into a "United States of the world" with a central government for enforcement of peace.

Japs' Fishing Areas Stand

Tokyo, Dec. 15 (AP)—Fishing areas available to Japanese fleets cannot be expanded unless the industry demonstrates it has exhausted every possible means to increase catches.

This was announced today by supreme Allied headquarters, which expressed disappointment that "fishing is not being resumed on a scale commensurate with the number of fishermen, boats and nets available."

INDONESIANS MASS IN JAVA

British May Throw People's Peace Army Against Revolt

HAUGLAND

Batavia, Java, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Indonesian People's Peace Army (TKR) forces may be hurled full strength against their Nationalist compatriots, the British indicated today amid ominous reports of Nationalist activity in western areas of Java.

The British announced that the Indonesian army chief, Arosdji, had recommended strong action against the Nationalist forces, "even to full military action."

The British press statement added that despite reports of Nationalist movements east of Batavia and in the Bandoeng area, "there is more evidence of positive action by the Indonesian TKR in co-operating with "British authorities."

Convoy British Supplies

Indonesian Army units have been convoying British supplies to and from Bandoeng, northwest of which increasing Nationalist activity was reported.

At Tjikampek, about 70 miles east of Batavia, Nationalist forces were reported by the Dutch news agency Aneta to be massing in an attempt to make the town the anchor of a "first line of defense" to slow down any Allied advance eastward from Batavia.

The agency said several thousand Nationalists were based in readiness at Tjikampek, strategic junction of two main rail lines running from Batavia through north and south Java.

Nationalists Shift Pivot

The pivot of Nationalist defense was said to have been shifted from Bekassi, which was almost destroyed by the British Thursday in reprisal for the recent slaying of occupants of an RAF transport plane. Some 600 houses there were reported leveled.

[In London, Laborite R. W. Sorenson announced in Commons he had submitted to J. J. Lawson, Minister of War, a demand to tell the House next Tuesday "whether it will continue to be the practice of British troops in Java to destroy native villages in reprisal."]

Aneta said considerable quantities of arms had been transported from the Bandoeng area to Tjikampek, and that reinforcements had been reported arriving there from various parts of the island.

Generally, however, Java was quiet today, with only scattered incidents reported.

Indonesian Battle Move Reported

Batavia, Java, Dec. 15 (AP)—Indonesian forces were reported today to be massing at Tjikampek, 70 miles east of Batavia, for a stand against the British.

The Dutch news agency Aneta said considerable quantities of arms had been transported from Bandoeng to Tjikampek, an important railroad junction, and reinforcements had been arriving there recently from various parts of Java.

More Bandoeng Disorders

The British announced that the chief of the Indonesian Peace Preservation Corps, a uniformed force of the unrecognized Indonesian republic, had recommended "full military action," if necessary, against extremist forces in Java.

At the same time, a British press statement said disorders were increasing in the northwestern sector of Bandoeng, summer capital of Java, where sporadic fighting has been in progress for several weeks.

Despite continued outbreaks of violence, the statement said, "there is more evidence of positive action by the Indonesian TKR [Peace Preservation Corps] in co-operating with British authorities."

Skirmishes Near Soerabaja

Skirmishes between British and Indonesian forces were reported near the Dutch naval base of Soerabaja and near Semarang, central Java resistance center.

A British patrol near Semarang dispersed about 80 armed Indonesians, the British announced, while a Punjab company occupied the village of Tjerme, near Soerabaja, after overcoming slight opposition.

The British said they captured a train, a Bofors anti-aircraft gun and many other weapons at Tjerme.

72,000 Americans Left In Burma-India Theater

New Delhi, India, Dec. 15 (AP)—United States Army tabulations disclosed today that on the basis of present progress in demobilization there would be 33,500 United States troops remaining in the India-Burma theater on February 1. At present there are 72,000.

All Americans who were to reach home by Christmas already have departed, with the exception of a small number of air travelers.

OFFICERS' GAG LIFTED BY BRITISH IN JAVA

HAUGLAND

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 15 (AP)—Maj. R. B. Smyth, in charge of public relations for the British in Java, said today that restrictions that prohibited officers from talking to newsmen had been removed and that this would be made clear to officers immediately.

Correspondents have charged that the curb prevented them from getting news and constituted a form of censorship at the source.

The blanket prohibition was ordered several weeks ago after a press conference by Lieut. Gen. Sir Philip Christison, British commander in Java, had caused the British War Office to clamp down. General Christison resumed off-the-record talks later and correspondents were again permitted to confer with other officers. The only restriction in effect recently has been against officers' giving advance operational information.

Correspondents can write and cable home anything they wish on the Indonesian situation. Indian newsmen, for example, have filed without interference stories critical of British policy in Java.

While this freedom on outgoing news has been allowed, there has been suppression of a local news outlet as well as one case of field censorship.

New Charge Made Against Gen. Homma

Manila, Dec. 15 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Masaharu Homma, already accused of permitting the Bataan death march, was charged today with refusing quarter when General Wainwright offered to surrender May 6, 1942.

The new charge was announced by United States Army headquarters, which also postponed for one day the arraignment of the former Japanese commander in the Philippines. Homma will be arraigned Wednesday and will go on trial for his life before a military commission shortly.

The criminal information alleged that despite Wainwright's offer Homma fired on Corregidor and three other islands in Manila Bay, "thus killing and wounding United States troops."

More Crimes Laid To Gen. Homma

Manila, Dec. 15 (AP)—United States Army headquarters today announced filing of additional war-crime charges against Japanese Lieut. Gen. Masaharu Homma, "Death March" commander, including the allegation that he refused to grant quarter to United States and Allied forces on May 6, 1942, when General Wainwright offered to surrender.

Homma's arraignment was set for Wednesday, a day later than originally planned.

Homma fired on Corregidor and three other fortified islands in the mouth of Manila Bay despite Wainwright's surrender offer, the new criminal specifications charged, "thus killing and wounding United States troops."

His trial is expected to begin about January 7, in the same courtroom in which Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita recently was convicted and sentenced to death.

F.B.I. Man Smashes Manila Car-Theft Ring

Manila, Dec. 15 (AP)—A young Federal Bureau of Investigation operative on military leave today smashed Manila's biggest auto-theft ring and recovered a dozen staff cars stolen from the United States Army.

The former FBI man, Master Sergeant Harry J. Painter, of Parsons, W.Va., picked up the trail when military police discovered a Filipino civilian driving a sedan that had originally been painted olive drab.

5 GI's Ordered Arrested

Police said arrest orders were issued for five American soldiers, presently or formerly connected with the Army Headquarters motor pool—two of whom were already en route home aboard transports.

Solving crimes is no novelty to Painter. Although serving in combat, he found time during his fourteen months overseas to round up Japanese stragglers and saboteurs, and last June sent fourteen American enlisted men and one officer to jail for five to seven years for black marketing.

Suspicions first were aroused in the auto-theft case, Painter said, when police noted that not one missing staff car had been recovered. GIs often "borrow" jeeps illegally, but almost always abandon them shortly afterward; yet none of the missing sedans had been located.

Slow Identification

Hours of testing by Tom Baty, Brisbane (Australia) criminologist who heads the Manila police laboratories, identified the stolen vehicles from among scores of late-model automobiles checked by officers.

Registration numbers were faked and one Philipino mechanic said he was paid $300 per car to repaint them, turning out two-tone jobs with rechromed trimming.

Filipinos Oppose McNutt's Creditor-Debtor Bill

Manila, Dec. 15 (AP)—United States High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt's pet bill to standardize the creditor-debtor transactions consumated during the Japanese occupation was received today with something less than wild enthusiasm by the Philippine Congress.

DEC 16 1945

30-24-32421

Elpidio Quirino, Senate president pro tempore, told Frank N. Belgrano, MANILA financial adviser, after a committee hearing that unless a "compelling" reason was shown later the committee would not recommend passage.

"Is it because American businessmen would not come here unless this question of adjustment of the relation of Jap invasion currency to the Philippine peso is settled?" Quirino asked Belgrano.

Belgrano said there was "no selfish American interest or ulterior motive" in urging passage of the measure, which he argued holds the key to restoration of normal economy in the Philippines.

To contentions that the measure would benefit the "buy and sell boys,' Belgrano replied it is possible to take away wartime collaborating profits by taxation and recommended a 90 per cent take of such profits.

Santiago Fonacier, president of the closed Bank of the Philippine Islands, said enactment would require the repayment of 40,000,000 pesos made in "Mickey Mouse" (fiat Japanese pesos) and his bank would be unable to meet such payments.

India-Burma Yanks Getting Out Fast

New Delhi, India, Dec. 15 (A. P.).—United States Army tabulations disclosed today that on the basis of present progress in demobilization there would be 33,500 American troops remaining in the India-Burma theater on February 1. At present there are 72,000. All Americans who were to reach home by Christmas already have departed, with the exception of a small number of air travelers.

China Rule Alarms Jews, Austrians

Shanghai, Dec. 15 (AP)—A Chungking announcement that all Germans, Austrians and Jews will be repatriated from China unless granted special permits caused consternation today among Shanghai's big foreign colony, where most such nationals are concentrated.

Government officials in Shanghai said they had received no word of the order, announced yesterday after its approval by the executive Yuan in Chungking November 27. Some Shanghai officials expressed surprise, particularly over inclusion of Austrians and Jews.

Germans Being Interned

A steady internment of Germans, beginning with about 200 suspected of Nazi leanings, has been under way for several weeks. It was reported unofficially that all 2,400 Germans in Shanghai will be sent to the fatherland.

But it's another matter with the Austrians and Jews. The 4,000 Austrians in the city understand that they again are nationals of that country and no longer so-called stateless refugees. Some want to return to Austria, but many prefer to return to business here.

14,000 Jews Affected

Jews, numbering 14,000, make up the bulk of the foreign population which would be affected. They had been residing in semi-squalor in crowded Shanghai and were segregated by the Japanese at the behest of the Germans. They are clearly alarmed by the statement from Chungking.

Most of the Jews fled to Shanghai during Hitler's blood purges. Only a few desire to return to Europe, and the 9,000 or so who came from Germany openly fear an eventual repetition of anti-Semitism would follow their return.

200,000 Cheer Peron Speech

Buenos Aires, Dec. 15 (AP)—Launching his campaign for the presidency, Col. Juan Perón, former Vice President who resigned in the midst of Argentina's recent political upheaval, told an estimated crowd of more than 200,000 last night that his party rejects all extreme ideologies.

Neutral foreign observers said the crowd, packed into ten blocks of the 400-foot wide Avenue Nueve de Julio, was one of the largest gatherings ever seen in Buenos Aires and was surpassed in modern times only by the throng celebrating the Allied victory.

Spectators Fall From Tree

Police said five persons were injured when tree branches, overburdened by spectators, gave way. Fifteen were overcome by the 94-degree heat. The top of Perón's automobile, parked near the speaker's stand, was wrecked by spectators who climbed on it. Two other cars were damaged in the same manner.

At one point in his speech, when Perón referred to his supporters as a "ragged mob," members of the audience tied a ragged shirt to the staff of an Argentine flag and passed it up to the former Vice President. He seized the flag and waved it.

He declared again and again that his victory would open the road to labor participation in the Government, which he said has been "heretofore closed." He asserted that "true democracy" means workers must "have access to the administration and government of the country."

PROMISES CUBAN SUGAR

Casanova Says Halt of Talks Will Not Stop Exports

HAVANA, Dec. 15 (AP)—Senator José M. Casanova, president of the National Association of Sugar Mill Owners and a member of the Cuban Sugar Sale Commission, said today Cuba would export sugar to the United States, despite the suspension of purchase negotiations.

In Washington it was announced yesterday that the talks had been postponed until January. The Cuban Commission had rejected a United States offer of 3.675 cents per pound for the 1946 and 1947 crops.

"Cuba will send her sugar to the United States, pending resumption of the negotiations and an agreement on price, so the American people will not lack this commodity," Senator Casanova said.

Luis Mendoza, spokesman for the Cuban sugar industry, urged that Cuba officially declare its willingness to ship 85 per cent of its 1946 crop at 3.675 cents a pound "to avert accusations of speculation."

Cartoonist Coughlin Receives British Honor

Ottawa, Dec. 15 (AP)—W. G. (Bing) Coughlin, of Brookline, Pa., whose cartoons of "Herbie," a little Canadian sapper with a faculty for getting into trouble, delighted the Canadian Army overseas, has been awarded the decoration of member of the Order of the British Empire.

His cartoons appeared regularly in the Canadian Army newspaper, Maple Leaf.

End of China Civil War Is Marshall's First Aim

Truman Proposes Meeting of All Factions to Unify Nation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 — (AP) President Truman disclosed today that Gen. George C. Marshall's first objective in China will be an end to hostilities between the Nationalists and Communists.

Beyond that the President called for a conference of all Chinese factions to work out a permanent political settlement for unification of the country in a broadened national government.

At the same time, in a major policy statement on China, Mr. Truman linked American economic aid with his peace and unity program. He said this country would be prepared to grant credits and loans as China moves "along the lines described."

Affects Peace in Pacific

He based the injection of American diplomacy into the internal affairs of China on the assertion that peace and unity in that nation are essential to peace in the Pacific.

The Chief Executive thus furnished Gen. George C. Marshall with a specific program for putting an end to factionalism in China. Marshall, special presidential representative with the rank of ambassador, left for Chungking by plane today carrying a secret letter of instructions from the President on which the White House statement, released tonight, was based.

Marshall succeeds Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley in China and diplomatic authorities estimated that the policy laid down by Mr. Truman brings greater pressure to bear on the government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek than General Hurley was ever willing to use.

China already has asked the United States for a loan of an undisclosed amount, through the Export-Import bank, and has spoken of an ultimate credit of at least $2,000,000,000. The President's policy declaration presumably puts those on the shelf pending reports from General Marshall on the success of his mission.

Two 'Essential' Actions

In his public statement released at the White House the President set forth these two "essential" actions:

"(1) That a cessation of hostilities be arranged between the armies of the National government and the Chinese Communists and other dissident Chinese armed forces for the purpose of completing the return of all China to effective Chinese control, including the immediate evacuation of the Japanese forces.

"(2) That a national conference of representatives of major political elements be arranged to develop an early solution to the present internal strife — a solution which will bring about the unification of China."

In connection with evacuation of the Japanese troops, of whom about 325,000 are in Communist-contested north China and upwards of a million in the rest of China, the President reiterated that American Marines are in China to help get those troops out. He said emphatically that United States support for the government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek "will not extend to United States military intervention to influence the course of any Chinese internal strife."

The political conference for which the President calls would, according to Mr. Truman, have as its objective the creation of a Chinese National government giving "a fair and effective representation" to major political factions in the country.

Change in Political Theory

This would require a drastic change in the theory of "political tutelage" set up by the founder of the Chinese republic, Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, by which one party would rule China until it was ready for full-fledged democracy.

On the other side of the issue, the President declared that when such a broad-based government was created the Communists would have to give up their independent armies and merge their forces into the Chinese national army.

Throughout his 1,200 word declaration, Mr. Truman constantly referred to the need to have in China a cornerstone of world peace and to his idea that this can only be accomplished by unifying the Chinese and getting the Japanese there back to Japan.

"The maintenance of peace in the Pacific may be jeopardized, if not frustrated," the President declared, "unless Japanese influence in China is wholly removed and unless China takes her place as a unified, democratic and peaceful nation.

"This is the purpose of the maintenance for the time being of United States military and naval forces in China."

The detailed steps necessary to achieve unity must be worked out by the Chinese themselves, the President said, and "intervention by any foreign government in these matters would be inappropriate."

"The United States government feels, however," he continued, "that China has a clear responsibility to the other United Nations to eliminate armed conflict within its territory as constituting a threat to world stability and peace—a responsibility which is shared by the national government and all Chinese political and military groups."

The variety of factions referred to grows out of the fact that while there are two principal groups in China backed by force—the Nationalists and the Communists—there are in addition, according to diplomats familiar with the country, various less powerful war lord parties and regional factions which must be taken into consideration.

Truman China Policy Text

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Following is the text of President Truman's statement on United States policy toward China:

The Government of the United States holds that peace and prosperity of the world in this new and unexplored era ahead depend upon the ability of the sovereign nations to combine for collective security in the United Nations Organization.

It is the firm belief of this Government that a strong, united and democratic China is of the utmost importance to the success of this United Nations Organization and for world peace.

A China disorganized and divided either by foreign aggression, such as that undertaken by the Japanese or by violent internal strife, is an undermining influence to world stability and peace, now and in the future.

The United States Government has long subscribed to the principle that the management of internal affairs is the responsibility of the peoples of the sovereign nations. Events of this century, however, would indicate that a breach of peace anywhere in the world threatens the peace of the entire world.

It is thus in the most vital interest of the United States and all the United Nations that the people of China overlook no opportunity to adjust their internal differences promptly by methods of peaceful negotiation.

Names Two Essentials

The Government of the United States believes it essential:

1. That a cessation of hostilities be arranged between the armies of the National Government and the Chinese Communists and other dissident Chinese armed forces for the purpose of completing the return of all China to effective Chinese control, including the immediate evacuation of the Japanese forces.

2. That a national conference of representatives of major political elements be arranged to develop an early solution to the present internal strife—a solution which will bring about the unification of China.

The United States and the other United Nations have recognized the present National Government of the republic of China as the only legal government in China. It is the proper instrument to achieve the objective of a unified China.

The United States and the United Kingdom by the Cairo declaration in 1943 and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics by adhering to the Potsdam declaration of last July and by the Sino-Soviet treaty and agreements of August, 1945, are all committed to the liberation of China, including the return of Manchuria to Chinese control. These agreements were made with the National Government of the republic of China.

DEC 16 1945

DEC 16 1945

Definite Obligation

In continuation of the constant and close collaboration with the National Government of the republic of China in the prosecution of this war, in consonance with the Potsdam declaration, and to remove possibility of Japanese influence remaining in China, the United States has assumed a definite obligation in the disarmament and evacuation of the Japanese troops. Accordingly the United States has been assisting and will continue to assist the National Government of the republic of China in effecting the disarmament and evacuation of Japanese troops in the liberated areas. The United States Marines are in North China for that purpose.

The United States recognizes and will continue to recognize the National Government of China and co-operate with it in international affairs and specifically in eliminating Japanese influence from China. The United States is convinced that a prompt arrangement for a cessation of hostilities is essential to the effective achievement of this end. United States support will not extend to United States military intervention to influence the course of any Chinese internal strife.

The United States has already been compelled to pay a great price to restore the peace which was first broken by Japanese aggression in Manchuria. The maintenance of peace in the Pacific may be jeopardized, if not frustrated, unless Japanese influence in China is wholly removed and unless China takes her place as a unified, democratic and peaceful nation. This is the purpose of the maintenance for the time being of United States military and naval forces in China.

Advocates Conference

The United States is cognizant that the present National Government of China is a "one-party government" and believes that peace, unity and democratic reform in China will be furthered if the basis of this Government is broadened to include other political elements in the country. Hence, the United States strongly advocates that the national conference of representatives of major political elements in the country agree upon arrangements which would give those elements a fair and effective representation in the Chinese National Government.

It is recognized that this would require modification of the one-party "political tutelage" established as an interim arrangement in the progress of the nation toward democracy by the father of the Chinese republic, Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

The existence of autonomous armies such as that of the Communist army is inconsistent with, and actually makes impossible, political unity in China. With the institution of a broadly representative government, autonomous armies should be eliminated as such and all armed forces in China integrated effectively into the Chinese National Army.

In line with its often-expressed views regarding self-determination, the United States Government considers that the detailed steps necessary to the achievement of political unity in China must be worked out by the Chinese themselves and that intervention by any foreign government in these matters would be inappropriate.

China's Responsibility

The United States Government feels, however, that China has a clear responsibility to the other United Nations to eliminate armed conflict within its territory as constituting a threat to world stability and peace—a responsibility which is shared by the National Government and all Chinese political and military groups.

As China moves toward peace and unity along the lines described above, the United States would be prepared to assist the National Government in every reasonable way to rehabilitate the country, improve the agrarian and industrial economy, and establish a military organization capable of discharging China's national and international responsibilities for the maintenance of peace and order.

In furtherance of such assistance, it would be prepared to give favorable consideration to Chinese requests for credits and loans under reasonable conditions for projects which would contribute toward the development of a healthy economy throughout China and healthy trade relations between China and the United States.

Atlantic Charter Conference--Dewey Tip Studied.

Washington, Dec. 15 (A. P.).—The late President Roosevelt was disclosed today to have cabled Winston Churchill on August 18, 1941, that he had made a vigorous statement to the Japanese about their militaristic actions.

Counsel put into the records of the Joint Pearl Harbor Investigating Committee a copy of a message from the President to the British Prime Minister advising him of Mr. Roosevelt's conversation with the Japanese Ambassador.

Republican members had demanded any available evidence of a Roosevelt-Churchill agreement at the Atlantic Conference on parallel action with regard to Japan.

Churchill Broadcast Read.

Mr. Roosevelt told Churchill that on his return to Washington he had called in the Japanese Ambassador and had informed him in language "no less vigorous than and substantially similar to the statement we had discussed."

As evidence that Britain also warned the Japanese, Gearhard Gesell, committee counsel, read into the record an excerpt from a radio broadcast on August 24, 1941, by Churchill cautioning the Japanese against further advances.

Advising Churchill of what he told the Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"I made to him a statement covering the position of this Government with respect to the taking by Japan of further steps in the direction of military domination by force along the lines of the proposed statement such as you and I had discussed. The statement I made to him was no less vigorous than and was substantially similar to the statement we had discussed."

Seeks Dewey's Source.

After today's session ended Senator Lucas (D.-Ill.) declared that the committee should find out how Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York first learned of American interception of Japanese diplomatic and military messages. Lucas told reporters that indications are that Dewey received information on the operation of "Magic," as it was called, before the matter was brought to his attention by Gen. George C. Marshall.

Marshall, then Chief of Staff, addressed two letters to Dewey in the autumn of 1944, during the presidential campaign, discussing some details of the code-breaking operation and urging Dewey to guard against any disclosures of this nature.

"A magazine article has indicated that Dewey knew of this operation before he received Marshall's letters," Lucas said. "I think it is high time the country knows who was slipping out this vital information on national defense for political reasons."

'Magic' Known to Few.

The Illinois Senator previously had brought out in questioning of Lieut.-Gen. L. T. Gerow, former War Plans Chief, that only five War Department officials, including Secretary Stimson, saw the intercepted Japanese messages in 1941. Gerow said other officers undoubtedly knew of "magic," but did not see the messages.

In a series of questions, Lucas sought Gerow's opinion on the charge that might be brought against an Army officer for divulging the secret, which both he and the witness termed "vital." Gerow said an officer who deliberately gave away the secret, knowing what he was doing, might be charged with treason. He said that in such a case, he personally would vote for the death penalty.

Before Gerow resumed the stand, the committee received a copy of a message dispatched to Washington at 7:55 A. M., Eastern standard time, December 6, 1941, by Admiral Thomas C. Hart, then commander of the Asiatic Fleet (in the South China Sea), reporting the movement of two Japanese convoys, one of forty-five ships and the other of ten. He also reported thirty ships and one large cruiser were anchored in Camaranh Bay.

The Navy notified the State Department of this significant movement of the Japanese the same day. Gerow said he could not remember receiving the message, but had a hazy recollection that he had been informed of Japanese troop movements that day.

Gessell, who intends to follow the entire legal staff in withdrawing from the case because it probably will continue long beyond the original termination date of January 3, presented the Hart message.

Questioned by Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.), Gerow disputed the Army Inquiry Board's assertion that the War Department's warning of November 27, 1941, to the Hawaiian command was a "do-don't" message.

Calls Message Specific.

The former war plans chief said he thought the message that Marshall sent to Lieut.-Gen. Walter C. Short ten days before the Japanese attack was specific in its terms.

"This message gave Gen. Short the right to do anything he believed was necessary to protect the island of Oahu," the witness said.

Ferguson contended that the message was indefinite. He cited the fact that Marshall had said "Japanese future action unpredictable but hostile action possible." He noted also that Short was told to carry out defense measures in such a way as not to alarm the civilian population.

"That was a weak message, wasn't it?" Ferguson demanded.

"I don't think it was weak, under the circumstances," Gerow replied.

Two Democrats Object.

As Ferguson went along with his questioning, both Lucas and Representative Murphy (D.-Pa.) showed signs of irritation.

Ferguson noted that naval Capt. R. E. Schuirmann had described Roosevelt's August 17, 1941, discussion with the Japanese as an "ultimatum." The Senator posed several questions to draw from Gerow whether he thought it was an ultimatum.

"Mr. Chairman, I submit that is an unfair question," Murphy declared.

Lucas said: "I am getting tired of this trying to trap a great general."

Gerow said he did not in fact know at the time that President Roosevelt had made the statement to the Japanese. It was to the effect that the United States would look after its interests in event of further Japanese aggression.

Question Twice Repeated.

Later, Ferguson asked: "If there had been a proper alerted condition existing at Pearl Harbor, do you think the Japanese would have been defeated in their attack?"

Gerow replied that there are degrees of defeat, but that he thought "our losses would have been much less and theirs much greater."

Ferguson rephrased the question and Gerow said the Japanese might have lost carriers and other vessels in addition to aircraft.

Murphy commented: "That question has been asked twice in the last five minutes."

Senator Barkley (D.-Ky.) was back in his job as presiding officer. He said yesterday that within the next few days he will make up his mind whether to continue as chairman or quit to devote attention to his other duties as a Senator and majority leader in the Senate.

Inquiry to Be Continued.

Before today's session began committee members agreed that the investigation will go on for a long, long time and conceded they don't know where they will get new counsel.

The committee's present chief counsel, William D. Mitchell, has announced that he and his staff plan to quit by early January. This left up in the air the presentation of what he described as "pertinent evidence that has never been produced at any previous inquiry about Pearl Harbor."

Barkley, the chairman of the inquiry, told reporters there was no use arguing with Mitchell or any of his staff. He said they mean to quit. Other committee members who didn't want to be quoted by name discounted the possibility that Barkley would withdraw from the scene.

Representative Keefe (R.-Wis.) suggested to reporters that the committee go ahead without counsel, if necessary. But Ferguson said he didn't think that would work.

Senator Brewster (R.-Me.) said he would propose Hugh Fulton, former counsel for the Senate War Investigating Committee, as Mitchell's successor. Barkley was known to oppose this, although he said he had no idea where a man could be found to take over.

ROOSEVELT TOLD CHURCHILL OF STIFF WARNING TO JAPS

Cabled London on Return From His

Gerow Contends Note To Short Was Clear

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. L. T. Gerow disputed today the Army inquiry board's assertion that the War Department's November 27, 1941, warning to the

DEC 16 1945

DEC 16 1945

30-24-32423

Hawaiian army command was a "do-don't" message.

The former War Plans chief told congressional Pear Harbor investigators he thought the message that Gen. George C. Marshall sent to Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short ten days before the Japanese attack was specific in its terms.

"This message gave General Short the right to do anything he believed was necessary to protect the island of Oahu," the witness said.

Ferguson's Contention

Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) contended that the message was indefinite. He said the army board had classified it a "do-don't" warning.

Ferguson cited the fact that Marshall had said "Japanese future action unpredictable but hostile action possible." He noted also that Short was told to carry out defense measures in such a way not to alarm the civilian population.

"That was a weak message, wasn't it?" Ferguson demanded.

"I don't think it was weak, under the circumstances," Gerow replied.

Message From Hart

The investigating committee received a copy of a message dispatched to Washington at 7.55 A.M., E.S.T., December 6, 1941, by Admiral Thomas C. Hart, then commander of the Asiatic Fleet.

Hart reported the movement of two Japanese convoys, one of 45 ships and the other of ten. He also reported 30 ships and one large cruiser were anchored in Camaranh Bay.

The Navy notified the State Department of this significant movement of the Japanese the same day. Gerow said he couldn't remember receiving the message but had a hazy recollection that he had been informed of Japanese troop movements that day.

Probe To Continue

Committee members agree that the investgiation will go on for a long, long time and conceded they don't know now where they will get a new counsel.

The committee's present chief counsel, William D. Mitchell, has announced he is resigning because an end to the probe is not in sight.

Mitchell said he and his staff plan to quit by early January. This left up in the air presentation of what he described as "pertinent evidence that has never been produced at any previous inquiry about Pearl Harbor."

They Mean To Quit

Chairman Barkley (D., Ky.) said there is no use arguing with Mitchell or any of his staff. He said they mean to quit. Further, he is thinking of doing the same.

Other committee members discounted the possibility that Barkley would withdraw.

The chairman, who also is Senate majority leader, said a heavy legislative program after the first of the year would demand his attention and he would have to weigh in the next few days where his chief responsibility lies.

"Without Counsel" Suggested

Representative Keefe (R., Wis.) suggested that the committee go ahead without counsel, if necessary. But Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) said he didn't think that would work.

Senator Brewster (R., Maine) said he would propose Hugh Fulton, former counsel for the Senate War Investigating Committee, as Mitchell's successor. Barkley was known to oppose this, although he said he had "no idea" where a man could be found to take over.

Committee members agreed that hearings won't end January 3, as originally planned. Mitchell said 60 witnesses remain to be examined. He noted that only eight had completed their testimony in a month of hearings.

Scope Widened, Charge

Mitchell complained in a formal statement he read to the committee members had widened the scope of the investigation.

Representative Clark (D., N.C.) said "I don't blame him a bit for quitting," adding that some of the questioning "ranks close to pettifogging."

Marshall Off By Air For Post In China

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall left the Capital at 9.08 A.M. today by plane for his new diplomatic post in China.

High ranking military and diplomatic figures were on hand to see him off, including the Chinese Ambassador, Dr. Wei Tao-ming, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff.

Accompanying the General to the Orient was a military attaché, Col. Henry A. Byroade, and a State Department aide, James R. Shepley.

Due In Middle Of Week

The General is expected tc reach Chungking about the middle of next week.

Marshall carried with him to Chungking a directive on United States policy in China. He tackles there a job that has stumped others—unification of China.

The outline of this United States policy, given him by President Truman, will be relased for publication tomorrow.

Unity Of Factions Sought

Diplomats said there was no doubt Marshall's major job was to bring about harmony between the Communist elements of North China and the National Government forces led by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

He succeeds Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, who resigned November 27 with a blast at State Department career diplomats, whom he accused of failing to support his work in Chungking.

On Marshall's efforts may depend:

Tasks He Faces

1. The expeditious removal of 325,000 Japanese troops still in North China.

2. The withdrawal of American Marines who are committed to stay until the Japs are out.

3. The elimination of China as a possible scene of power rivalries among Britain, Russia and the United States.

4. Development of China as a strong nation capable of acting as one of the peace-keeping powers of the United Nations.

Agrees On Need

Diplomats advising Secretary of State Byrnes and President Truman appeared to be agreed that the only solution holding hope of a permanent settlement of China's troubles is an agreement which would bring the Communists into the Chinese Central Government.

General Marshall is expected to put as much pressure as the United States can use in China—and that is considerable—on both sides to force them together. This was foreshadowed in a statement by Secretary Byrnes to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee a few days ago, when he declared that success in efforts to bring about Chinese unity would depend on concessions by both factions.

HEWITT SAYS MERGER MEANS 'CHAOS' IN NAVY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Admiral H. K. Hewitt told the Senate Military Committee today that the immediate effect of combining the armed services would be "chaos as far as the Navy is concerned."

Instead, he recommended retention of individual departments coordinated at the top by a National Security Council, with the Joint Chiefs of Staff functioning as a strategic planning and executive agency.

At the same time, Admiral Hewitt urged that the officers of each service be educated in the functions and problems of the other, through interchange of schooling and training and through frequent joint exercises.

"We have now the greatest navy in the world," declared Admiral Hewitt, a member of the navy general board. "The retention of a strong navy is of the utmost importance to our national security and to the playing of our part in the United Nations Organization. This navy should not be placed under the control of those who do not understand its functions and problems."

Under the plan he recommended, the National Security Council would be composed of Secretaries of State, War, Navy (and Air, if a separate air department should be established), plus the chairman of a national security resources board and the heads of emergency agencies.

Admiral Hewitt said the need for unity of command in the field was fully shown in the war just ended, but that this can be achieved without a unified department of national defense.

Navy Court Gets McVay's Side Of Case

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Navy general court-martial of Capt. Charles B. McVay 3d, met in Saturday session today to begin hearing testimony from defense witnesses.

The prosecution rested its case yesterday and the chief defense counsel, Capt. John P. Cady, said he hoped to complete presentation of testimony by Tuesday.

A day's recess may be taken to permit preparation of final arguments by each side.

Charges Of Negligence

Captain McVay is being tried on charges of negligence and inefficiency in the loss of his ship, the heavy cruiser Indianapolis, which was sunk with a heavy toll of casualties last July 30 while en route from Guam to Leyte.

The court heard testimony from one of the last prosecution witnesses yesterday that from 250 to 330 men were trapped below deck by explosions which preceded the sinking.

That testimony, given by the ship's damage control officer on watch at the time, Ensign John Wolston, of Seattle, Wash., conforms to testimony of other witnesses that more than 800 of the ship's total complement of 1,196 officers and men got off the ship in the 15 minutes which elapsed between the explosions and the sinking.

Woolston said from 250 to 300 men were sleeping in crew quarters in the area where the explosions occurred, and an additional 30 officers and men were on duty in the area. He said the crews' quarters were not filled when he inspected them on his regular rounds, because many men had been driven by the heat to sleep on deck.

Transcript From Navy Files

As its final evidence, the prosecution offered a paraphrased transcript of secret documents from navy files substantiating earlier testimony that after departing from Guam, the Indianapolis was warned by radio of a submarine contact in the area.

A message received at fleet headquarters on Guam from the merchant ship Wild Hunter told of sighting and firing at a periscope 50 miles south of the Indianapolis's track and 180 miles ahead of her position. That message was retransmitted on a radio frequency being monitored by the Indianapolis.

SURVIVORS HEARD ORDER FROM M'VAY

Washington, Dec. 15 (A. P.).—Most of eleven defense witnesses heard Friday at the general court-martial of Capt. Charles B. McVay 3d, charged with inefficiency and negligence in the loss of the heavy cruiser Indianapolis, testified they received orders to abandon ship in time to get safely over the side. Before the court recessed until Monday, four of the eleven said they did not hear the orders, but added this might have been the result of noise and confusion.

Opening the defense testimony, K. M. Lanter, seaman 3/c, said he was asleep on deck when two explosions occurred and the cruiser sank, between Guam and Leyte with a loss of 880 lives.

After dressing and getting a lifejacket, he related, he heard the captain and the executive officer talking on the signal bridge. The executive officer reported the extent of damage, Lanter said, and McVay immediately instructed him to pass the word to abandon ship.

Similar testimony was given by Radioman H. H. Hodge, Lyndhurst, N. J., who said he received word from his immediate superior officer to abandon ship "nine to ten minutes before the ship sank." H. T. McLain, seaman 1/c, Detroit, also testified he heard word to abandon ship from the communications deck, although he was unable to recognize the source.

Nimitz Assumes Highest Navy Position

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz today took over as chief of naval operations and pledged in a sixteen-word statement to do his utmost.

The former Pacific Fleet commander relieved Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King who is retiring after holding the Navy's top job since November 18, 1942.

Nimitz, who led the fleet to victory after the Japanese blasted it at Pearl Harbor, told fellow officers at the Navy Department upon assuming his new duties:

"I have just taken on a great responsibility. I will do my utmost to meet it."

Expresses Thanks

In a farewell message, King gave thanks to the men of the Navy and the Army, and to the Allies, for their efforts in defeating the Axis. He said:

"I wish to express to all hands of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard may deep and abiding appreciation for the wholehearted efforts and devotion to duty which have enabled us to defeat our enemies.

"I wish also to express to our sister service—the Army—in all of its arms and branches, my best thanks for the co-operation and teamwork which made unity of effort the reality without which the war certainly could not have been won.

Praises Allies

"To the armed forces of our allies I extend my respect and admiration for their fortitude and for their deeds throughout the world where comradeship in arms and faith in our common cause brought about the final victories in Africa, Europe, Asia and in the Pacific.

"In now taking leave of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard—men and women—regulars and reserves—officers and men—I wish you one and all, God speed."

Atomic Energy Bill Due After Christmas

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Senate atomic energy committee will consider interim legislation for control of the newly discovered power source shortly after the congressional Christmas recess, Chairman Brien McMahon (D., Conn.) announced tonight.

Stassen Opposes Atom-Bomb Ban

New York, Dec. 15 (AP)—Former Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota said last night outlawing of the atomic bomb by all nations would "have the effect of placing a high premium on lawlessness."

At a dinner of the American Association for the United Nations, Stassen said:

"If any nation, and it could be a comparatively small nation, violated the international agreement against atomic bombs, and surreptitiously prepared even a moderate quantity of them and then carried them by stealth to the major powers of the world, or poised them for supersonic delivery, it could demand submission of the major nations of the world."

DEC 16 1945

Free Election Certain In Greece, Grady Says

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Henry F. Grady expressed belief today that every opportunity will be given for a "free election" in Greece March 31. Grady is chairman of the American group which has been set up to observe the Greek election along with groups from other Allies. He made his comment after a conference with President Truman.

"I know that arrangements are being made that will give every opportunity for a free election," Grady told reporters. "I believe the Greek Government wants to do that."

Pauley Sees Slim Jap Reparations

Los Angeles, Dec. 15 (AP)—Materially, Uncle Sam stands little chance of realizing much from its war with Japan, thinks Edwin W. Pauley, just back from an aerial survey trip to the Orient.

He says that against an estimated $100,000,000,000 war cost, this country will be lucky to get $1,000,000,000 in Nipponese assets.

The chief of the United States reparation mission to Japan held a press conference before leaving by air for Washington to report to President Truman.

Congressmen Pleased by Step

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — Selection of the United States as the site for the UNO aroused quick approval by Congressmen today. Some promptly stepped up their campaigns to have a city in their States chosen as the permanent home.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, Democrat of New York, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he was "very glad." "All that remains now," he added, "is to choose some place in New York like Hyde Park or New York City as the specific site."

Senator Joseph Guffey, Democrat of Pennsylvania, said he "still favored Philadelphia, the cradle of liberty."

A few hours before the Preparatory Commission decided to choose a site in the United States, Chairman Sol Bloom of the House Foreign Affairs Committee had urged such action as one way to keep the American people "internationally minded."

"When we have the organization in our lap we won't go to sleep again," he said.

Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he was "immensely pleased" because it means the headquarters of the new peace-keeping organization will be "detached from the stresses and strains of Europe, where quarrels are whirling all the time."

"It also will give the people of the Western Hemisphere an attachment to the organization which is very essential for its success," he added.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Democrat, of Wyoming, commented: "It is perfectly proper and suitable."

Senator Clyde M. Reed, Republican, of Kansas, observed that "as a patriotic citizen of this country I should say I favor the location, but I really think it should have been Geneva."

WASHINGTON SAILS HOME WITH 1500

Aboard U. S. S. Washington, Dec. 15 (A. P.).—The battleship Washington was speeding from Southampton for New York today with 1,500 high point troops who hoped to make it home for Christmas.

The ship is due to dock December 21, with soldiers of the 354th Regiment, Eighty-ninth Division, and members of at least a score of organizations lumped into the 701st Tank Battalion. It is the Washington's second trip on the Navy's program to speed high point men homeward.

The carrier Champlain took off three days ago with upwards of 5,000 and the Enterprise is ready to sail from Southamption with another 5,000.

The Washington sailed without two passengers, one scheduled, the other unscheduled. The first was Gen. George Patton, who, with aids, had expected to leave for the United States but instead is in a German hospital. The other was a British stowaway, who mumbled he had secret information to give Capt. Francis McInerney of Cheyenne, Wyo., commanding the ship. The ship was stopped while proceeding out of the harbor in order to get the stowaway off.

Destroyer Kennedy in Service

BOSTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—A new 2,200-ton destroyer, named for Lieut. Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., eldest son of the former Ambassador to Great Britain, was placed in commission today at the Navy Yard. Lieutenant Kennedy, a naval aviator, was killed in the European theatre of operations on Aug. 12, 1944, and was awarded posthumously the Navy Cross for "Valor in carrying out a perilous undertaking."

MRS. LUCE WARNS OF NEW ARMS RACE

Declares Atomic Energy Group Should Be Named by Security Council.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. — (AP) Representative Clare Boothe Luce (R-Conn), said tonight that it "would be a very grave error" for a United Nations atomic energy commission to be named by the Security council instead of the General Assembly of the UNO.

"I feel," she said in a broadcast address over CBS, "that most people in the United States and in the smaller nations particularly, believe that so important a commission, upon whose recommendations and operations may depend the very lives of millions and millions of people of all nations large and small, should be appointed by the General Assembly, wherein they are all represented."

Mrs. Luce suggested that present diplomatic negotiations in Moscow might throw the appointment of the commission into the hands of the Security council. On that council the big five nations have voting control.

Urging adoption of her House resolution advocating international disarmament and especially control of atomic energy, the Connecticut representative said "the atomic bomb has projected the subject of disarmament as a prime part of the security problem itself.

"Just as national disarmament cannot safely come without comparable measures of international security, so these measures of security cannot develop safely within the psychology of a national arms race. x x x

"We must not, we dare not, drift into an arms race, with its mobilization of laboratories, its regimentation of industry, and the spirit of aggressiveness, which will be born of such a race. The brains of our scientists, the hands of our workers, the skill of management, must all be used for the happiness of mankind, not for the production of new and more terrible ways of destroying ourselves."

Disarmament through united nations organization procedure, she asserted "is just one step, but a sure step in the direction of peace."

TRUMAN LABOR PLAN SHELVED

Congress Puts The Lid On Program Until '46

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Congress today put the lid on new labor legislation for this week, and key legislators said it probably will be mid-February before major action is taken.

Following the pattern set yesterday by its Senate counterpart, the House Labor Committee voted against considering new labor bills now and called for resumption of hearings on a broader basis in January.

President Truman had asked specifically for passage by Christmas of legislation setting up fact-finding commissions to recommend solutions for major industrial disputes.

Fisher Motion Rejected

The House committee's decision for delay was by a unanimous vote. It came after rejection by a 10-to-7 count of a motion by Representative Fisher (D., Texas) to meet again Monday to ballot on the President's proposal.

While the latter vote was not a direct one on Mr. Truman's plan, Fisher told newsmen he offered his motion "in order to get an expression from the members on how they stand on the presidential suggestion." In a statement issued later Fisher said the effect of the committee's action is to "kill the bill."

Another committee member said privately, "This means Mr. Truman's idea is definitely out of the window." All labor witnesses heard this week have assailed it, while Mr. Truman has named for the automobile industry strike and the one he proposes to name for the threated steel strike will have to depend on voluntary co-operation from the disputants.

Supporters of the President's plan have a slight hope yet for speedy action. Some of them favor a move to get the House Military Committee to attach the proposal to a pending bill repealing the strike-vote section of the Smith-Connally War Labor Disputes Act. Several members of the military group said, however, that such action appears unlikely.

Meanwhile the Senate disagreed with the House version of the so-called "full employment" bill and sent the measure to conference.

And the Veterans of Foreign Wars in letters to congressional leaders urged legislation for compulsory arbitration of labor disputes.

Omar B. Ketchum, V.F.W. legislative representative, said in the letter that the organization favored this step "to assure every veteran, as well as every other American worker, the right to work at a steady job with a fair living wage."

management representatives have recommended many changes.

Filibuster Threatened

Acting Committee Chairman Ramspeck (D., Ga.) said in an interview that he had hoped for action before the first of the month, "but some members wanted to filibuster."

He added that if committee members insist on broadening the inquiry and hearing a large number of witnesses, as indicated in the postponement resolution, it will be six or eight weeks before final action is taken.

Likewise, Chairman Murray (D., Mont.) of the Senate Labor Committee told reporters yesterday that his group will hold hearings for at least a month when they are resumed in January, with at least 100 witnesses wanting to be heard.

The congressional action means that the fact-finding board which

'CATCH-ALL' BILL PASSED

$2,500,000,000 Deficiency Measure O.K.'d By Senate

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP) — The Senate today passed a catch-all deficiency appropriation of more than $2,500,000,000 for Government agencies, including another $750,000,000 for foreign relief under UNRRA.

The measure now goes back to the House for action on more than $950,000,000 of Senate increases.

Largest of the funds added by the Senate are the UNRRA item; $167,400,000 to the National Housing Administration for housing war veterans and $19,576,000 for the Federal Works Administration.

Minor Aid Given Senators

Although amendments to increase pay of legislators and to give Senators another $2,500 a year for expenses were rejected, two minor items were left in the bill to aid Senators. One is $48,500 to provide each Senator with $500 more for stationery. The other is authority to install three-way inter-communicating telephones in their offices.

The Senate also added $1,650,000 for additions and improvements to the White House.

The Senate left undisturbed House funds of $928,000,000 for the Veterans' Administration for national service life insurance; $182,000,000 for veterans' hospitals and housing; some $80,000,000 for the Reclamation Bureau, and $25,000,000 for the Federal Security Administration for grants to states for unemployment compensation administration.

SENATE VOTE SPURS PROGRAM OF UNRRA

Seven Mission Chiefs, Here From Needy Countries, Map Spending of $750,000,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Spurred by a Senate-approved appropriation of $750,000,000, UNRRA officials prepared detailed plans today for continuing relief supplies to Europe and Asia through 1946.

Seven UNRRA mission chiefs, six for Europe and one for China, gathered at headquarters here to draw up next year's supply program for each of their assigned "non-paying" countries.

Arrived from overseas at various times during the current month, the mission chiefs are:

Gen. C. M. Drury, a Canadian, for Poland; Spurgeon Keeny, an American, for Italy; P. I. Alexeez, a Russian, for Czechoslovakia; Colonel Oakley-Hill, a Briton, for Albania; Buell Naben, an American, for Greece; M. A. Sargerchic, a Russian, for Yugoslavia, and Harry Price, an American, deputy for China.

A spokesman said they were proceeding with their individual budgets although final release of the new money still requires general Congressional approval of UNRRA's $1,350,000,000 assessment on the United States for 1946.

In addition, the House must now approve the new $750,000,000 Senate appropriation before the world relief agency can actually make use of the money.

Administration leaders, who voiced strong support of the 1946 UNRRA measures, said the full budget had been halved to speed legislation on at least those funds needed to tide Europe and China through the winter.

The seven mission chiefs will lay their plans before UNRRA's six-nation central committee around Christmas.

U.S. Accepts Custody Of German Paintings

Washington, Dec. 15 [Special]—Trustees of the National Gallery have agreed to accept custody of paintings from German museums which might be brought to the United States for safekeeping until conditions in Germany insure their proper care.

Approximately 200 paintings have arrived at the gallery, having been transported to the United States by the United States Army and will be stored in the air conditioned room of the gallery.

Among these are the work of Botticelli, Breughel, Corregio, Albrecht Durer, Giotto, Frans Hals, Holbein, Fra Filippo Lippi, Raphael, Rembrandt, Rubens, Titian, Velasquez, Watteau.

The German art objects will be retained by the United States Government and returned to their rightful owners when the ownership is established.

WAC Training Program Ended

Fort Des Moines, Iowa, Dec. 15 (AP)—The training program of the Women's Army Corps ended officially today with the closing of the post here as a training center.

After more than three years—during which WAAC's became WAC's and women came from states all over the nation to take courses in administration, baking and cooking, motor maintenance, signal communications, officer candidate courses and basic training—the training program closed with a record of 120,000 women trained, 65,076 of them here.

Training started at the first

30.24-32425

DEC 16 1945

WAAC training center in July, 1942, after the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps was created.

September 1, 1943, the corps became a part of the Army of the United States. Those then in the WAAC were given their choice of being discharged or re-enlisting, and the majority re-enlisted.

There were 444 women in the first classes. When the first WAAC officer were commissioned in the following month they took over training of commissioned and non-commissioned personnel, previously directed by men.

Enlistments for the WAC stopped last August 29, soon after V-J day. Basic training was completed October 22 and the last officer candidate class was commissioned November 17. Members of the last classes for cooks and clerks received certificates December 4.

Tokyo Raiders Guests of Doolittle

54 Flyers Assemble in Peace at Miami Beach to Swap Stories of Glory and Death.

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 15 (A. P.).—Fifty-four men who rocked the Japanese Empire on April 18, 1942, with the first bombs to explode on that aggressor nation assembled in peace today and swapped stories of glory and death.

Central figure at this first rendezvous since the take-off from "Shangri-La" for Tokyo was Lieut. Gen. James H. Doolittle. He led them from the deck of the carrier Hornet on that fateful flight.

"We've been renewing old acquaintances," said Col. Stanford Chester. "The bunch has a great deal to talk about. There's time for fun later on."

Gen. "Jimmy" himself told the rest of the "bunch" about Capt. George Barr, one of the raiders rescued from a Jap prison camp three months ago who was being flown here from the Schick General Hospital, Clinton, Iowa, to join reunion festivities.

Doolittle stopped in to see Barr Thursday and as Barr lay on his hospital bed, the General promoted him in rank. Not only that, but Doolittle cited him for the Distinguished Service Cross, the presentation to be made during a formal dinner here tonight.

A lot more talking and a bit of sightseeing and swimming were on the program. Tonight there will be cocktails, the formal dinner, dignitaries in attendance—and a moment of silence.

Tomorrow the "bunch" will go deep sea fishing, and then the party breaks up. But there will be a new feeling among them for, together, they will have paid homage to two comrades who died in crash landings in China immediately after the raid, three who were put to death by the Japanese, and others who succumbed from treatment in enemy prison camps.

Medal For Hearst, Chennault

Indianapolis, Dec. 15 (AP)—The naitonal executive committee of the American Legion voted today to award the Legion's distinguished service medal to William Randolph Hearst, publisher, and Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault at the 1946 national convention.

GAS WARFARE TRAINING GIVEN TO ARMY TROOPS

FORT MONMOUTH, N. J., Dec. 15.—(AP) The public relations office at Fort Monmouth said today that six-hours of chemical warfare training was being given a number of signal corps units containing individuals scheduled for overseas shipment.

The public relations office said the course involved "defense against chemical attacks" and was included in the regular signal corps basic training.

C. I. O. President Philip Murray announced in Washington yesterday that he had sent a letter to Secretary of War Patterson asking him to investigate reports that troops were being trained "for intervention in industrial disputes."

TROOPS JAM PORTS ALONG WEST COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15 (AP)—Home-bound troops are debarking at Pacific Coast ports faster than they can be moved East and, by Monday, staging areas in the San Francisco region will be filled to a point exceeding their capacity, Maj. Gen. Homer M. Groninger, commanding the San Francisco port of embarkation, said today.

So great is the flow that it will be necessary to tie up some troop ships to the piers and leave the men aboard until further movement to the East releases space in the staging areas, General Groninger explained.

"All camp units of the San Francisco port of embarkation, including Camp Stoneman, Camp Knight, Fort Mason and Fort McDowell, are filled to capacity," the General said.

In Los Angeles the situation was so acute that Brig. Gen. J. K. Herbert, commanding the port, reported that 1,900 troops were being held aboard the U. S. S. Olmstead in the harbor for 24 hours to give the staging area time to clear. Staging camps were bulging with 17,000 men awaiting transportation to separation centers, he said.

At least 75,000 Army personnel are scheduled to arrive in Seattle, Tacoma and Portland in the last fifteen days of December, bringing the total of debarkation for the month close to 150,000. During December 385,000 troops are expected to reach West Coast ports, all of which face the same bottleneck of rail transportation.

UNION CALLS ON LABOR GOVERNMENT TO ACT AS LARGE G.M. STOCKHOLDER

Thomas Suggests Attlee Tell Company The Profits Are Workers' Concern—British-Owned Shares Are Put At 434,000

Detroit, Dec. 15 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers, describing the British Government as a holder of General Motors Corporation common stock, today asked Prime Minister Clement Attlee's Labor Government to intervene in the 25-day-old G.M. strike.

R. J. Thomas, UAW president, disclosed that he had made a direct appeal in a letter to the Prime Minister, but Attlee said at London, "I have not seen the letter."

Thomas suggested that the Prime Minister "make known" to the corporation his (Attlee's) feelings that "profits are indeed the concern of the workers and the owners of any company."

Tells Of "434,000 Shares"

The UAW president said he was "reliably informed" that "as of October, 1945, the British Government was the owner of 434,000 shares of General Motors common stock, 36,000 shares of the common stock of Chrysler Corporation and 34,800 shares of common stock of the Briggs Manufacturing Company."

A General Motors spokesman said Thomas's disclosure was "news to me" and that any comment on the reported British interest in G.M. would "have to come from the company's stock transfer division at New York."

At Washington, Charles Campbell, chief of the British Information Service, said today that the British Government owns a block of G.M. stock outright and controls the stock's voting rights.

Unable To Verify

Campbell said no official report had been released on the extent of the British holdings and he added he was unable to confirm or deny Thomas's figure of 434,000 shares.

The British official gave this explanation of how his Government acquired control of the stock:

During the war, it took over all American assets from British subjects. It paid them in sterling for these assets. Some were sold. Some, turned in after the sales, were kept.

Of the latter, the greater part was put up as security for a loan from the American Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

In Assets Not Sold

The block of General Motors stock is included in the assets which were not sold.

Spokesmen at the British Treasury and Foreign Office in London said no one in authority would be available to comment on Thomas's letter before Monday.

The surprise move by UAW executives followed repetition of their assertions that General Motors has refused to discuss profits during current bargaining with the union. The company said Friday that 64 of its 79 plants are closed as a result of the strike, with 162,273 union workers idle.

Ideas Questioned

Thomas said he was confident the "present management" of General Motors "does not reflect the thinking of the vast majority of the owners of the corporation," and added:

"And above all we are certain that it by no means reflects the attitude and opinion of the British Labor Government, a substantial owner of General Motors shares.

"For that reason and because a statement by the Labor Government of Great Britain would be a welcome demonstration of the solidarity that binds together the working people of all nations, we are hopeful that you will be able to make known to the management of General Motors Corporation your belief that profits are indeed the concern of the workers and the owners of any company."

Thomas's letter to Attlee, a 700-word document, came as General Motors and the union were preparing for appearances next week before President Truman's fact-finding board which is to inquire into the dispute.

Several representatives of both General Motors and the UAW-CIO will appear at the Washington hearing. The union's strike over its demand for a 30 per cent wage increase within G.M.'s present price structure has made idle approximately 200,000 workers.

General Motors was informed of Thomas's letter to Britain's Prime Minister, but a spokesman said there probably would be no comment from the corporation.

Holds Stock, He Says

Thomas opened his letter to Attlee with the statement:

"It has been brought to my attention that the British Government through ownership of large blocks of shares in various American industries has a substantial interest in this country's automobile industry."

He then said he was informed the British Government, as of October, 1945, "was the owner of 434,000 shares of common stock of the General Motors Corporation, 36,000 shares of common stock of the Chrysler Corporation, and 34,800 shares of common stock of the Briggs Manufacturing Company."

From all of these, as well as other auto manufacturers, the union seeks a 30 per cent wage increase.

Wage Increase A Factor

The dispute with General Motors, Thomas wrote Attlee, is "over the matter of wage increases," adding:

"But in its broadest sense it bears directly on matters which in the long run will determine very materially whether or not the United States and all other nations will again follow the road that leads to depression and war or the road that leads to peace and prosperity with constantly rising standards of living for the common people."

Thomas called Attlee's attention to the recent London Trade Union Conference's expression of policy in behalf of the workingman's economic security.

"World Significance" Cited

"It is to guarantee this right to the workers of the United States that we are now fighting," Thomas wrote. "I am sure you will agree with me that upon the outcome of this struggle will, in no small measure, depend the welfare and livelihood of workers throughout the world."

Earlier in the letter Thomas said General Motors in negotiations had met the union "at every turn with the rebuff that 'profits are none of our business' and that, in fact, they are not even the concern of the stockholders, the real owners of the corporation."

"To every union proposal it (General Motors) has countered with the statement that our facts are wrong," Thomas said. "At the same time, however, it persists in its refusal to present the evidence that will disprove the union's charges of profits so swollen that they will easily bear the cost of our wage demands."

To Resume Negotiations

Negotiations in the UAW-CIO's wage disputes with both General Motors and the Ford Motor Company resume Monday.

It was felt that the General Motors meeting, coming shortly prior to the Washington sessions with President Truman's fact-finders, might not be immediately productive.

On the other hand, reports persisted today that Ford would offer the union a wage proposal despite the company's demand for full "employé productivity" before wage discussions.

Ford has reported production of only 20,000 automobiles since reconversion compared to what it said was an estimate a few months ago that it would produce 80,000 cars by this time.

G.M. Files New Picket Action

General Motors Corporation, which previously sought court injunctions at Chicago and Cleveland to halt what it termed "illegal picketing" by the UAW, filed a third action at Trenton, N.J., Friday.

Vice Chancellor Wilfred H. Jayne, of New Jersey Chancery Court, issued a temporary injunction restraining pickets at the Fisher-Ternsted plant at Trenton.

The court set Wednesday for a show-cause hearing at which the union must outline its reasons why the order should not be made permanent.

Jayne's order limits pickets to a maximum of five at plant gates at any one time, forbids them to walk or stand less than 10 feet apart and prohibits them from threats or use of violence against anyone entering or leaving the plant.

LaGuardia To Join Newspaper Staff

New York, Dec. 15 (AP)—Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia will join the staff of PM to contribute one article a week after he leaves office December 31, the newspaper announced today.

LaGuardia will write on any subject he desires and his copy will not be censored, the paper said. His salary was not disclosed.

The Mayor also will do a weekly radio broadcast after he leaves office, at a reported salary of $100,000 or more a year.

55,000 GI's Due Home On 70 Vessels

[By the Associated Press]

More than 55,000 service men are scheduled to arrive at seven ports on the East and West coasts today on 70 vessels. Ships and units arriving:

AT NEW YORK—John Howland, from Le Havre: 582 troops, including 280th Ordnance Maintenance Company (anti-aircraft); headquarters and headquarters battery, 47th Anti-Aircraft Brigade; 312th Ordnance Rebuilt Company.

Charles Aycock, from Le Havre: 632 troops, including 45th Bomb Squadron of 450th Bomb Group, 738th Field Artillery, 170th Battalion General Hospital.

Bochfontein, from Antwerp: 1,234 troops, including 149th Engineer Construction Battalion, 983d Ordnance Depot Company.

Colby Victory, from Le Havre: 1,535 troops, including MP Platoon, 89th Division; 714th Ordnance Light Maintenance Company, 405th Quartermaster Company, 89th Signal Company, 881st Air Engineer Squadron, 22d Photo Reconnaissance Squadron and miscellaneous troops.

Grenville M. Dodge, from Le Havre: 625 troops, including 26th Signal Light Construction Company.

Miscellaneous personnel on following:

Montclair Victory, from Le Havre: 1,484.

Samuel Ashe, from Marseille: 552.

F. J. Luckenbach, from Antwerp: 166.

Merak, from Iceland: 360.

Maryville Victory, from Marille: 1,554.

Altoona Victory, from Marseille: 43.

Boston, Newport News

AT BOSTON—Samuel Livermore, m Antwerp: 600 troops, includ- 555th Anti-Aircraft Artillery tomatic Weapons Battalion.

Miscellaneous units of following: John H. Murphy, from Barry, ales: 7.

USCG Eastwind, from Greenand: 31.

Frybarger: 4.

Cronin, from Panama Canal Zone: 61.

AT NEWPORT NEWS — Thaddeus Kosciuszko, originally due yesterday: 570 troops, including 756th Railway Shop Battalion.

Admiral Carps, originally due yesterday: 4,603, including units of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, and special troops, 36th Infantry Division, Military Police Platoon, 36th Infantry Division: 736th Ordnance Light Maintenance Company; 36th Signal Company, 142d Infantry Regiment; Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 36th Division Artillery.

E. A. Peden, originally due yesterday: 30.

San Francisco List

AT SAN FRANCISCO—Miscellaneous personnel on following:

Carrier Lexington, from Japan: 1,014 Navy, 204 Marines, 1,654 Army.

Carrier Intrepid, from Japan: 379 Navy, 1,961 Army.

Transport Drake, from Pearl Harbor: 2,175 Navy.

Transport Bingham, from Manila: 1,956 Army, 89 civilians.

Carrier Jacinto, from Saipan: 1,295 Navy and Marines, 694 Army.

Transport St. Croix, from Manila: 1,813, mostly Army.

Transport Napa, from Manila: 1,800, mostly Army.

Carrier Natoma Bay, from Manila: 1,150 Navy.

Transport Catron, from Manila: 1,131, mostly Army.

Kenmore, from Guam: 986, mostly Navy.

Adrian Victory, from Manila: 809 Army.

Maria Sanford, from Manila: 779 Army.

Others with few each: Impeccable, Triumph, John Hibben, William P. MacArthur, Tucson Victory, Cape Lambert, Margaret Fuller.

Los Angeles Arrivals

AT LOS ANGELES—Miscellaneous personnel on following:

Valeria, from Saipan: 432 Army.

Raymond Ingersoll, from Manila: 21 Army.

Lunga Point, from Saipan: 1,067 Army, 143 Navy.

Long Island, from Yokohama: 952 Army.

Takanis Bay, from Honolulu: 1,034 Army.

White Marsh, from Honolulu: 224 Army, 4 Red Cross.

Grant, from Honolulu: 1,356 Army, 72 civilians, 12 Red Cross.

War Hawk, from Manila: 1,529 Army, 62 Navy, 10 civilians.

Kota Ageong, from Lingayen: 1,766 Army, mostly of 37th Division.

Independence, from Iwo Jima: 1,706 army, 206 navy.

Yugoslavia, from Honolulu: 72 army.

Astoria, from Honolulu: 88 navy, 15 Marines.

Lee Fox, from Honolulu: 123 navy, 15 Marines.

Rolf, from Honolulu: 68 navy, 25 Marines.

Rombach, from Honolulu: 145 navy, 25 Marines.

Thistle, from Honolulu: 167 army, 5 army nurses.

Tanamo, from Honolulu: 10 navy.

Other Pacific Ports

AT SAN DIEGO—Miscellaneous personnel on following:

Catskill: 1,171 navy, Marines and Coast Guard.

Attack Transport Hampton: 1,910 navy and Marines.

Fleet Tugs Napmuc and No. 211: 4 and 2 passengers respectively.

LSM's 156, 327, 332, 383, 435, 443 and 496 with total of 300.

AT SEATTLE—Miscellaneous personnel on following:

Sitka, from Manila: 1,930 army.

La Porte, from Manila: 1,895 army.

U.S.S. William McArthur, from Korea: 24 army.

Aztec, from Honshu: 30 army.

DEC 16 1945

A-
A169 8

LONDON--~~3RD LD~~ ADD UNITED NATIONS X X X TO 23.
THE VOTE CONFIRMED A PREVIOUS RECOMMENDATION OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.
SITTING IN THE VISITORS' GALLERY WHEN THE DECISION WAS ANNOUNCED WAS MAJ. ROBERT LAPHAM OF SAN FRANCISCO, WHO HAS INVITED THE NEW WORLD ORGANIZATION TO MAKE HIS CITY ITS HOME.
THE COMMITTEE AGREED TO MEET MONDAY TO SELECT THE CITY IN THE UNITED STATES AT WHICH THE HEADQUARTERS WILL BE LOCATED.
THE COLOMBIAN DELEGATE WAS THE ONLY DELEGATE AMONG THE LATIN AMERICANS TO VOTE AGAINST THE UNITED STATES. ECUADOR, HOWEVER, ABSTAINED.
FD&SW333PES

A15
NIGHT LEAD UNO (500)
BY FLORA LEWIS

TO CONTINUE DISCUSSIONS AS TO THE SPECIFIC

LONDON, DEC 15-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES WAS CHOSEN TODAY AS THE PERMANENT HOME OF THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION AFTER A LONG, HARD-FOUGHT BATTLE, AND THE PREPARATORY COMMISSION DECIDED TO MEET MONDAY TO [redacted] CITY IN WHICH THE WORLD PEACE AGENCY WILL BE LOCATED.

THE SELECTION BECOMES FINAL WITH THE STAMP OF APPROVAL OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, AND BELGIAN AND FRENCH DELEGATES, WHO WITH BRITISH DELEGATES LED THE FIGHT FOR A EUROPEAN SITE, SAID THE CHOICE WOULD NOT BE CHALLENGED AGAIN.

A TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY WAS NEEDED

THE UNITED STATES WON OUT ON A ROLL CALL VOTE OF 30 TO 14, WITH SIX NATIONS, INCLUDING THE UNITED STATES, ABSTAINING. PREVIOUSLY THE DELEGATES VOTED DOWN A MOTION FAVORING A EUROPEAN SITE BY A TALLY OF 25 TO 23.

CANADA, WHICH CAST ITS BALLOT FOR EUROPE, MOVED SUCCESSFULLY TO MAKE THE VOTE FOR THE UNITED STATES UNANIMOUS. THE MOTION WAS SECONDED BY BRITISH MINISTER OF STATE PHILIP J.NOEL BAKER, WHO HAD FOUGHT THROUGHOUT FOR A EUROPEAN SITE.

BAKER SAID "HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT WILL DO EVERYTHING IN THEIR POWER TO MAKE THE ORGANIZATION A GREAT SUCCESS."

ADDRESSING THE DELEGATES, ADLAI STEVENSEN, U.S.REPRESENTATIVE, ASKED THEM NOT TO HARBOR ANY FEELING OVER THE VOTE. HE TOLD THEM "THE UNITED STATES IS IN FOR KEEPS THIS TIME."

VOTING FOR THE UNITED STATES ON THE ROLL CALL WERE ARGENTINA, AUSTRALIA, BOLIVIA, BRAZIL, BYELO-RUSSIA, CHILE, CHINA, CUBA, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC, EGYPT, EL SALVADOR, GUATEMALA, HAITI, HONDURAS, INDIA, IRAN, MEXICO, NICARAGUA, PANAMA, PARAGUAY, PERU, PHILIPPINES, POLAND, THE SOVIET UNION, TURKEY, THE UKRAINIAN REPUBLIC, URUGUAY, VENEZUELA AND YUGOSLAVIA.

VOTING AGAINST THE UNITED STATES WERE BELGIUM, CANADA, DENMARK, FRANCE, GREECE, IRAQ, LEBANON, LIBERIA, LUXEMBOURG, THE NETHERLANDS, NORWAY, SAUDI ARABIA, UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA AND THE UNITED KINGDOM.
ABSTAINING WERE COLOMBIA, ECUADOR, ETHIOPIA, NEW ZEALAND, SYRIA AND THE UNITED STATES.
THE VOTE WAS PRECEDED BY A KNOCK-DOWN-AND-DRAG-OUT BATTLE DURING WHICH THE DELEGATES FOR TWO AND A HALF HOURS DEBATED PROCEDURE. THE DELEGATES FOUGHT SO HARD THAT UKRAINIAN DELEGATE D.Z.MANUILSKY ROSE TO SAY "THIS IS MAKING A PAINFUL IMPRESSION," AND NETHERLANDS DELEGATE A.A.PELT TOLD HIS COLLEAGUES THEY LACKED DIGNITY.
THE ONLY SURPRISE IN THE VOTING WAS WHEN EGYPT, WHICH HAD BEEN EXPECTED TO VOTE FOR EUROPE, SAID NO.
EMERGING FROM THE TENSE SESSION, DELEGATES SAID THEY HAD NOT EXPECTED A DECISION SO QUICKLY. AN AMERICAN DELEGATE SAID HE EXPECT-

30.24-32427

DEC 16 1945

ED THE ROLL OF A SCORE OR MORE CITIES SEEKING TO BECOME THE UNITED NATIONS HOME WOULD BE NARROWED DOWN CONSIDERABLY BY THE COMMITTEE OVER THE WEEKEND.

STEVENSON (CORRECT) SPEAKING FOR EDWARD R.STETTINIUS, U.S.REPRESENTATIVE TO THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION, TOLD THE DELEGATES:

A16

"MUCH HAS BEEN SAID ABOUT THE EFFECT ON AMERICAN PUBLIC OPINION OF HAVING THE ORGANIZATION OUTSIDE THE UNITED STATES. BUT WE MUST KE ALIVE THE VITAL INTEREST OF PEOPLES EVERYWHERE."

BRITAIN AND FRANCE SOUGHT A SECRET BALLOT, BUT STEVENSON VOTED AGAINST IT. HE SAID IT WAS NOT TO PROTECT AMERICAN INTERESTS THAT HE VOTED AGAINST THE MOTION, BUT BECAUSE HE WAS AGAINST SECRECY IN PRINCIPLE.

"SECRECY IS A BAD POLICY FOR THE UNITED NATIONS," STEVENSON SAID. "OUR DECISIONS SHOULD BE REACHED FRANKLY AND FREELY."

THE SECRECY MOTION, WHICH NEEDED ONLY A SIMPLE MAJORITY, FAILED BY A VOTE OF 26 TO 24.

SW528PES

AP22

LONDON, DEC 16-(AP)-A BRITISH TREASURY OFFICIAL SAID TODAY THAT THE GOVERNMENT'S WARTIME CONTROL OF FOREIGN SECURITIES HELD BRITISH NATIONALS HAD BEEN MISCONSTRUED BY THE UNITED AUTOMOBILE WORKERS' UNION AS OWNERSHIP OF GENERAL MOTORS SHARES.

THE OFFICIAL RECALLED THAT ALL FOREIGN SECURITIES HAD BEEN DECLARED BY INDIVIDUAL OWNERS HERE DURING THE WAR IN ORDER TO BOLS THE GOVERNMENT'S FOREIGN CREDITS. THESE STOCKS, HE SAID, WERE HEL BY THE GOVERNMENT BUT WERE THE LEGAL PROPERTY OF THE OWNERS.

MEANWHILE A SPOKESMAN AT NO. 10 DOWNING STREET SAID THAT THE REQUEST OF THE UAW FOR BRITISH INTERVENTION IN THE GENERAL MOTORS STRIKE HAD NOT YET BEEN RECEIVED, AND HE DECLINED FURTHER COMMENT.

R.J. THOMAS, PRESIDENT OF THE UAW, SAID IN DETROIT YESTERDAY HE HAD CALLED ON PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE FOR INTERVENTION IN THE STRIKE BY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT, WHICH THOMAS DESCRIBED AS A "SUB STANTIAL OWNER OF GENERAL MOTOR STOCKS."

THE SUNDAY TIMES (NO CONNECTION WITH THE LONDON TIMES) QUOTED A BANK OF ENGLAND OFFICIAL AS SAYING THAT MORE THAN 400,000 GENERAL MOTORS SHARES HAD BEEN PLEDGED BY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT TO THE U.S. RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION AS COLLATERAL AGAINST A LOAN MADE EARLY IN THE WAR.

"THE SHARES ARE HELD IN THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S NAME, BUT ANY DIVIDENDS ARE PAID TO THE ORIGINAL BRITISH OWNERS FROM WHOM THEY WERE BORROWED EARLY IN THE WAR," THE OFFICIAL WAS QUOTED AS SAYING.

Z936AES NM

A154

(110)

LONDON,DEC.16-(AP)-THE MOSCOW RADIO IN A BROADCAST HEARD HERE TONIGHT REPORTED THAT IRANIAN GOVERNMENT TROOPS GARRISONED IN TABRIZ, CAPITAL OF EMBATTLED AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE, HAD "SURRENDERED ARMS" TO SEPARATIST DEMOCRAT FORCES.

THE SOVIET BROADCAST REFERRED TO THE INSURRECTIONIST FORCES WHO HAVE DEMANDED AUTONOMY FOR THE NORTHWESTERN IRANIAN PROVINCE AS "THE AZERBAIJAN NATIONAL GOVERNMENT."

IRANIAN PARLIAMENTARY SOURCES HAD REPORTED LAST TUESDAY THAT TABRIZ HAD BEEN ENCIRCLED BY THE SEPARATIST FORCES. A DEPUTY WHO DECLINED USE OF HIS NAME SAID AT THAT TIME THAT THE PROVINCE ALONG THE IRANIAN-RUSSIAN BORDER "SEEMS DEFINITELY LOST" TO IRAN.

EV104AES

A66

LONDON, DEC. 15-(AP)-AN EXCHANGE TELEGRAPH DISPATCH FROM MOSCOW REPORTED THAT BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN ARRIVED IN THE SOVIET CAPITAL THIS MORNING BY PLANE FOR THE "BIG THREE" FOREIGN MINISTERS' CONFERENCE.

JR743AES

A103

LONDON-FIRST ADD BEVIN XXX CONFERENCE.

THE MOSCOW RADIO SAID BEVIN EXPRESSED THANKS FOR A "VERY CORDIAL WELCOME" AND ADDED IN A BROADCAST STATEMENT:

"I BRING TO YOU THE GREETINGS OF THE PEOPLE OF GREAT BRITAIN AND THE HOPE THAT THIS CONFERENCE AND OUR ASSOCIATION WILL STILL FURTHER STRENGTHEN THE BOND OF FRIENDSO BETWEEN US

THE HOPE THAT THIS CONFERENCE AND OUR ASSOCIATION WILL STILL FURTHER STRENGTHEN THE BOND OF FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN US AND HELP TO CONTRIBUTE TOWARDS PEACE AND PROSPERITY."

EZ1051AES

AP5

MOSCOW, DEC 16--(AP)--RUSSIAN NEWSPAPER TODAY GAVE CONSPICUOUS FRONT-PAGE STORIES TO THE ARRIVAL OF BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN YESTERDAY AND TO PLANS FOR THE BIG THREE CONFERENCE WHICH OPENS OFFICIALLY TOMORROW.

BEVIN'S ARRIVAL AT THE BLIZZARD-SWEPT AIRPORT GOT AS MUCH SPACE IN THE MOSCOW PAPERS AS HAD THE ARRIVAL OF U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES BYRNES 25 HOURS EARLIER. THE PRESS REPORTED THE INDIVIDUAL VISITS OF BEVIN AND BYRNES ON SOVIET FOREIGN COMMISSAR VYASHASLAV MOLOTOV.

0K543AES NM

DEC 16 1945

AP6

MOSCOW, DEC 16--(AP)--A TASS AGENCY DISPATCH FROM TEHRAN REPORTED TODAY THAT THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT GARRISON AT TABRIZ HAD SURRENDERED TO INSURRECTIONISTS WHO HAVE ESTABLISHED THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT OF AZERBAIJAN, NORTHWESTERN IRANIAN PROVINCE ON THE RUSSIAN BORDER.

(PROVINCIAL GOVERNOR BAYATT RETURNED TO TEHRAN FRIDAY AND REPORTED HE HAD BEEN FORCED TO LEAVE TABRIZ, CAPITAL AND LARGEST CITY OF AZERBAIJAN, BY FORCES OF THE SEPARATIST DEMOCRATIC PARTY WHICH HAS DEMANDED AUTONOMY FROM THE TEHRAN REGIME.)

THE SURRENDER OF THE TABRIZ GARRISON, TASS REPORTED, RESULTED FROM NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN JAFAR PISHEHVARI, PRIME MINISTER OF THE NEW

DEC 16 1945

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT OF AZERBAIJAN, AND GENERAL DARAHSHANI.
TASS SAID THAT GENERAL DARAHSHANI HAD AGREED TO SURRENDER ALL ARMS AND TO PLACE THE GARRISON COMPLETELY UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE NEW NATIONAL GOVERNMENT. THE AGREEMENT, THE TASS ARTICLE SAID, PERMITS ALL OFFICERS NOT WISHING TO SERVE IN TABRIZ TO RETURN TO TEHRAN.
OK6AES NM

AP11
MOSCOW--FIRST ADD TABRIZ SURRENDERS X X X TO TEHRAN.
THE SOVIET AGENCY SAID THE NEW, SELF-PROCLAIMED NATIONAL GOVERNMENT OF AZERBAIJAN WAS ORGANIZED AT THE FIRST SESSION OF THE AZERBAIJA MAJLIS (PARLIAMENT) IN A TABRIZ MOTION PICTURE THEATER.
THE MAJLIS ELECTED PISHEHVARI AS PRIME MINISTER AND HE IMMEDIATELY APPOINTED 11 OTHER CABINET MEMBERS WITH THE APPROVAL OF THE GOVERNING BODY, TASS SAID. GUESTS AT THE MEETING INCLUDED REPRESENTATIVES OF FOREIGN CONSULATES, THE PRESS, LOCAL TABRIZ OFFICIALS AND "VARIOUS ELEMENTS OF THE POPULATION," TASS SAID.
THE SEPARATIST DEMOCRATIC PARTY HAS AGITATED FOR MORE THAN A MONTH FOR AN AUTONOMOUS STATUS. RUSSIAN ARMY COMMANDERS OCCUPYING THE PROVINCE HAVE REFUSED TO PERMIT THE TEHRAN GOVERNMENT TO REINFORCE AZERBAIJAN GARRISON ANS PUT DOWN DISORDERS.
W736AES

CLR 838AES AP12NX

AP8
MOSCOW, DEC 16-(AP)-TEN LOW-RANKING GERMAN SOLDIERS WERE BROUGHT BEFORE A MILITARY TRIBUNAL AT SMOLENSK YESTERDAY TO FACE TRIAL ON A SERIES OF WAR CRIMES CHARGES, INCLUDING THE ACCUSATION THAT THEY DRAINED BLOOD FROM RUSSIAN CHILDREN FOR TRANSFUSIONS TO GERMAN WOUNDED.
THE SOVIET NEWSPAPER IZVESTIA SAID THE 10 DEFENDANTS WERE CHARGED WI PARTICIPATING IN THE KILLING OF 135,000 SMOLENSK CITIZENS AND LOOTING. ALSO AMONG THE CHARGES IS THAT THE GERMANS USED CAPTIVE RUSSIANS FOR DRUG EXPERIMENTS.
THE IZVESTIA DISPATCH SAID ALL THE SOLDIERS WERE CARRYING OUT ARMY GROUP ORDERS OF GENERAL VON SCHENKENDORF.
OK610AES NM

A59
FRANKFURT--[redacted]T ADD NIGHT LEAD PATTON X X X ARMY SAID.
ARMY SOURCES AT THE 130TH STATION HOSPITAL, NEAR HEIDELBERG, WHERE PATTON IS BEING ATTENDED BY SPECIALISTS, SAID A MEDICAL REPORT INDICATED THE GENERAL MIGHT BE WELL ON THE WAY TO REGAINING CONTROL OF HIS PARALYZED LIMBS. THEY STRESSED, HOWEVER, THAT IT WAS NOT YET POSSIBLE TO DETERMINE WHETHER HE WOULD RECOVER FULLY.
TA809PES

A76
BERLIN, DEC 15-(AP)-THE GERMAN ADMINISTRATION OF SOVIET OCCUPIED BRANDENBURG ANNOUNCED PERMISSION TODAY TO FORMER MEMBERS OF THE HITLER YOUTH ORGANIZATION TO TAKE PUBLIC SERVICE JOBS AND ENGAGE IN POLITICAL ACTIVITIES.
THE DECISION APPLIES TO YOUTHS UP TO 25 YEARS OF AGE, BUT EXCLUDES FORMER SALARIED OFFICERS OF THE HITLER YOUTH AND S.S. MEMBERS, THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT'S ANNOUNCEMENT SAID.
BZ827AES

A52
BRUSSELS, DEC 15-(AP)-THE BELGIAN CABINET DECIDED TODAY TO RECOMMEND PARLIAMENTARY RATIFICATION OF THE BRETTON WOODS MONETARY PLAN.
BELGIUM WILL SUBSCRIBE $225,000,000 TO THE MONETARY POOL, GIVING THAT NATION FIFTH PLACE AFTER THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN, FRANCE AND RUSSIA AND ENTITLING HER TO A PERMANENT SEAT ON THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.
J649AES

A18
PARIS, DEC 15-(AP)-REAR ELEMENTS OF THE U.S. 90TH INFANTRY DIVISION ARE NOW ON THE SEA EN ROUTE HOME ALONG WITH THE REST OF THE OUTFIT, SERVICE HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED TODAY.
AN ADVANCE PARTY OF THE 100TH INFANTRY DIVISION IS AT A STAGING AREA AT MARSEILLE TO PREPARE FOR THE UNIT'S EMBARKATION. A SIMILAR PARTY IS AT LE HAVRE FOR THE 80TH INFANTRY DIVISION.
THE STATUS OF OTHER GROUPS IN REDEPLOYMENT:
MAJOR PORTION AT HOME--79TH INFANTRY DIVISION.
ON THE SEAS--26TH, 36TH AND 89TH INFANTRY DIVISIONS AND 16TH CORPS.
SHUTTLING FROM LE HAVRE TO ENGLAND FOR SHIPMENT HOME--82ND AIRBORNE DIVISION.
ALERTED FOR SHIPMENT--29TH, 84TH AND 94TH INFANTRY DIVISIONS, SECOND ARMORED DIVISION AND 22ND CORPS HEADQUARTERS.
SW535PES

A124
ROME, DEC. 15-(AP)-CHILD ROBBER GANGS UNDER THE DIRECTION OF MODERN "FAGINS" ADDED TO THE WOES TODAY OF ITALIAN POLICE ATTEMPTING TO CURB THE WIDESPREAD CRIME WAVE.
ONE BAND WHICH HAD STOLEN TEN TONS OF DRIED FRUIT FROM ROME MARKETS WAS SMASHED WITH THE ARREST OF 30 BOYS, 10 TO 16 YEARS OLD, LED BY A YOUTH WHO CALLED HIMSELF "THE CAT." ANOTHER BAND OF 40, ROUNDED UP AT AVEZZANO NEAR ROME, HAD COMMITTED SCORES OF ROBBERIES, INCLUDING A RAID ON A BISHOP'S HOME.
JR1108PES

A39
NAPLES, DEC. 15-(AP)-A BLIND, 8-YEAR-OLD ITALIAN BOY WAS AMONG THE 6,000 U.S. TROOPS WHO LEFT TODAY ABOARD THE CARRIER RANDOLPH BOUND FOR AMERICA.
LITTLE GUILIANO CABBIA, WHO LOST HIS SIGHT WHEN A HORSE KICKED HIM AND THE GERMANS REFUSED TO GIVE HIM MEDICAL ATTENTION, IS GOING TO THE UNITED STATES FOR A DELICATE EYE OPERATION. THE OPERATION WILL BE PAID FOR BY $3,400 RAISED BY AMERICAN TROOPS IN ITALY WHO ADOPTED THE BOY AS THEIR MASCOT.
TA939PES

30.24-32429

DEC 16 1945

A61

TEHRAN, DEC. 15-(AP)-THE IRANIAN MAJLIS (PARLIAMENT) MET IN CLOSEI SESSION TODAY AND USUALLY RELIABLE SOURCES SAID THAT NATIONALIST DEPUTIES HAD ASKED 73-YEAR-OLD PREMIER HAKIMI TO RESIGN.

A SOURCE WHICH HAS ACCURATELY REPORTED PREVIOUS MOVES IN THE PRESENT CRISIS SAID HAKIMI ANSWERED THE DEMAND WITH A TERSE: "I WILL THINK ABOUT IT."

RQ814PES

A21

PRECEDE MOSCOW

TEHRAN, DEC 16-(AP)-AN IRANIAN GENERAL OFFICER ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT THE GARRISON AT TABRIZ, CAPITAL OF AZERBAIJAN, HAD SURRENDERED TO DEMOCRATIC PARTISANS, THAT THE GOVERNMENT STATION AT REZAIEH WAS SURROUNDED AND THAT THE BESEIGED GARRISON AT ARDEBIL HAD NOT BEEN HEARD FROM IN ELEVEN DAYS.

THE GENERAL BLAMED RUSSIAN TROOPS FOR THE TABRIZ SURRENDER.

HE SAID THE RUSSIANS RESTRICTED THE SMALL GARRISON TO BARRACKS AND CONFISCATED THE OFFICERS' SIDEARMS WHILE "WELL ARMED DEMOCRATIC PARTY FORCES OCCUPIED THE HIGHER BUILDINGS COMPLETELY SURROUNDING THE BARRACKS."

THE POST AT REZAIEH, HE SAID WAS SURROUNDED BY "KURDS, ASSYRIANS AND PARTISANS."

Z932AES

DEC 16 1945

A168FX

V"95"

4TH NIGHT LEAD JAP TRIALS

BY RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, SUNDAY, DEC. 16-(AP)-PRINCE FUMIMARO KONOYE, WHO WAS PREMIER THREE TIMES IN JAPAN'S SWASH-BUCKLING DECADE LEADING UP TO THE PEARL HARBOR ATTACK, TOOK HIS LIFE WITH POISON TODAY BECAUSE "I CANNOT STAND THE HUMILIATION OF BEING APPREHENDED BY AND TRIED BY THE AMERICAN COURT

HE HAD UNTIL MIDNIGHT TONIGHT TO SURRENDER AS A SUSPECTED WAR CRIMINAL.

HE GAVE A NOTE OF EXPLANATION FOR HIS ACT TO HIS SECOND SON SHORTLY AFTER 1 A.M.; RETIRED AROUND 2 AND APPARENTLY DIED OF THE POISONING ABOUT THREE HOURS LATER.

"I HAVE BEEN MOST GREATLY CONCERNED WITH THE FACT I HAVE COMMITTED CERTAIN ERRORS IN THE HANDLING OF STATE AFFAIRS SINCE THE OUTBREAK OF THE CHINA INCIDENT (1937)," THE NOTE STATED.

A169FX

"I CANNOT, HOWEVER, STAND THE HUMILIATION OF BEING APPREHENDED AND TRIED BY THE AMERICAN COURT. I CANNOT BUT FEEL ESPECIALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE OUTCOME OF THE CHINA INCIDENT AND FOR THIS REASON I TRIED MY BEST TO ATTAIN AN UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND JAPAN IN THE HOPE THAT SUCH AN UNDERSTANDING ONLY COULD SOLVE THE CHINA PROBLEM.

"IT IS INDEED A MATTER OF GREAT REGRET TO HAVE BEEN NAMED AS A WAR CRIMINAL BY THE UNITED STATES WITH WHOM I WANTED AND TRIED TO WOR TOGETHER FOR A PEACEFUL SOLUTION OF PACIFIC AFFAIRS.

"I BELIEVE MY REAL INTENTION IS EVEN NOW UNDERSTOOD AND APPRECIATED BY MY FRIENDS INCLUDING NOT A FEW FRIENDS IN AMERICA.

A170FX

"PUBLIC OPINION OF THE WORLD, WHICH IS AT PRESENT FULL OF THE OVER EXCITEMENT AND PASSION OF WAR, MISUNDERSTANDING INNOCENCE AND OTHERWISE MALICIOUS LIBELS AND UNFOUNDED RUMORS WILL IN TIME RESTORE ITS CALMNESS AND BALANCES.

"X X X ONLY THEN A JUST VERDICT WILL BE GIVEN AT THE COURT OF THE GODS."

PRINCESS KONOYE WENT INTO THE PRINCE'S BEDROOM AT 6 A.M. AND FOUND HIM LYING IN A JAPANESE-STYLE BED ON THE FLOOR, WITH A VIAL OF POISON AT HIS SIDE. 3d

JAPANESE NEWSPAPERMEN, ETC., 3D GRAF NIGHT LEAD.

DS1140PPS NM

A79FX

VBY RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, DEC. 15-(AP)-THEY DON'T GIVE MEDALS IN JAPAN TO MEN LIKE SUB-LT. SABURO SAKAI OF THE JAPANESE NAVY. THERE WERE NO DEMONSTRATIONS WHEN HE RETURNED QUIETLY FROM SEVEN YEARS OF WAR; HE WAS NOT RECEIVED AT THE IMPERIAL PALACE.

TODAY HE'S MERELY AN OFFICE CLERK--AND THE NATION'S TOP LIVING AIR ACE. HE SHOT DOWN, HE SWEARS, 63 AMERICAN, AUSTRALIAN AND DUTCH AIRPLANES.

NO ONE RECOGNIZES HIM NOWADAYS AS HE WALKS ALONG THE STREETS, INDISTINGUISHABLE FROM ALL THE OTHER SHABBILY DRESSED PEOPLE.

BUT TODAY HE TERMINATED AN INTERVIEW BY ARISING, BOWING STIFFLY, AND SAYING:

"I APOLOGIZE TO THE RELATIVES OF THE MEN I HAVE KILLED."

HIS RECORD OF KILLS, HE SAID, WAS DEFINITE; "THE NAVY WAS VERY STRICT ABOUT FIGURES. I WATCHED EACH OF THESE PLANES CRASH."

ACTUALLY, HE SAID, THERE WAS AN EVEN GREATER ACE IN THE JAPANESE NAVY--SUB-LT. TETSU IWAMOTO, WHO BAGGED MORE THAN 100 ALLIED PLANES--BUT NO ONE KNOWS WHAT HAPPENED TO HIM.

ASKED HOW THE HANDFUL OF NEAL NIPPONESE ACES COULD CLAIM SUCH HIGH SCORES, SAKAI REPLIED:

"THERE WERE ONLY A FEW JAPANESE EXPERTS. THE AMERICAN ACES WERE SENT HOME AS INSTRUCTORS, BUT THE TOP JAPANESE PILOTS, BECAUSE OF OUR SHORTAGE OF MANPOWER, WERE LEFT IN COMBAT TO DIE."

SAKAI DIDN'T DIE, BUT HE'S STILL PARTLY PARALYZED. AFTER HIS BIGGEST VICTORIES IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC IN THE EARLY DAYS OF THE WAR, HE WAS HIT AT GUADALCANAL AUG. 7, 1942. HE SHOT DOWN TWO AMERICAN SBD'S (DIVEBOMBERS) HE SAID, BUT TWO HEAVY SHELLS FROM THEIR GUNS CRASHED INTO HIS COCKPIT.

UNCONSCIOUS AT FIRST, HE RECOVERED AND PULLED OUT OF HIS DIVE ABOVE THE WATER--SO LOW THAT AMERICAN SHIPS WERE FIRING AT HIM WITH MACHINEGUNS. DAZED, BLINDED, PARTLY PARALYZED, "I WANTED TO CRASH INTO A WARCRAFT BUT COULDN'T FIND ANY," HE RELATED.

EVENTUALLY, AFTER FLYING MORE THAN FOUR HOURS IN BLOODY DELIRIUM, HE CRASH-LANDED SAFELY AT [redacted] BASE. 1115

HE RETURNED TO COMBAT ONLY ONCE AFTER THAT: AT IWO JIMA, IN JUNE, 1944, WHEN HE SAID HE SHOT DOWN THREE AMERICAN NAVY FIGHTERS--"THE TOUGHEST FIGHT OF MY EXPERIENCE." THE REST OF HIS WARTIME CAREER WAS SPENT AS INSTRUCTOR OR TEST PILOT.

ENDING THE INTERVIEW BY SHRUGGING INTO HIS WORN OVERCOAT, HE ASKED, HALF-APOLOGETICALLY, "I HAD TO TAKE TIME OFF FOR THIS--WILL YOU LET MY BOSS KNOW I'VE BEEN SPENDING THIS TIME WITH YOU?"

WW602APS NM

A118KX

DEC 16 1945

(130)

TOKYO, SATURDAY, DEC.15-(AP)-WAR CRIMINAL TRIALS OF JAPANESE LEADERS ACCUSED OF PERPETRATING THE PACIFIC WAR OF AGGRESSION WILL NOT START UNTIL ABOUT FEB.1---TWO WEEKS LATER THAN PREVIOUSLY EXPECTED--PROSECUTOR JOSEPH B.KEENAN TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS TODAY.

EARLIER HE INDICATED THE TRIALS WOULD GET UNDER WAY ABOUT MID-JANUARY, BUT THE NEW DATE WAS ESTIMATED AFTER A WEEK OF STUDYING ACCUMULATED MATERIAL.

THE PROSECUTOR SAID THE FIRST DEFENDANTS HAD NOT BEEN CHOSEN, BUT IT GENERALLY IS BELIEVED HERE THAT EX-PREMIER HIDEKI TOJO AND SOME OF HIS CABINET MINISTERS, WHO WILL BE TRIED JOINTLY, WILL BE NOMINATED.

KEENAN STATED THAT, TO THE BEST OF HIS KNOWLEDGE, CHINA, GREAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA HAVE NOT YET SUBMITTED NAMES OF MEN FROM WHOM COURT MEMBERS AND PROSECUTORS WILL BE SELECTED BY GENERAL MACARTHUR. THERE WILL BE FOUR JUDGES, EACH WITH AN ALTERNATE, AND AN UNDETERMINED NUMBER OF PROSECUTORS.

DEC 16 1945

EW1030PCS

--0--

TOKYO, DEC. 15-(AP)-TO PREVENT UNEXPECTED FOOD SHORTAGES, SUPREME ALLIED HEADQUARTERS TODAY ORDERED NOTIFICATION BY THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT WHEN STOCKS OF STAPLES FALL BELOW A 10-DAY SUPPLY IN ANY CITY OVER 100,000. LISTED AS STAPLES WERE RICE, WHEAT, MILLET, BARLEY, POTATOES, SOY BEANS AND OTHER BEANS.

WW523APS NM

A160FX

W-95-

TOKYO,SUNDAY,DEC.16-(AP)-MARQUIS KOICHI KIDO, CLOSE ADVISOR TO EMPEROR HIROHITO THROUGHOUT THE WAR AND A MAKER OF SUCH CABINET PREMIERS AS GEN.HIDEKI TOJO, ENTERED SUGAMO PRISON TODAY AS A WAR CRIMINAL SUSPECT.

UM1039PPS NM

AP1FX

TOKYO,DEC.16-(AP)-SUPREME ALLIED HEADQUARTERS TODAY ORDERED SEVERANCE OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS BETWEEN JAPAN AND THE VATICAN.

THE ACTION CAME IN AN EXTENSION OF A PREVIOUS ALLIED DIRECTIVE DEMANDING RECALL OF VARIOUS JAPANESE DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS ABROAD, AND PROVIDING THAT DIPLOMATIC PROPERTY OF JAPAN THROUGHOUT THE WORLD BE TURNED OVER TO THE ALLIED POWERS.

HW216APS NM

AP2FX

TOKYO,DEC.16-(AP)-MARQUIS KOICHI KIDO, EMPEROR HIROHITO'S CLOSE ADVISER, ENTERED SUGAMO PRISON AS A WAR-CRIMES SUSPECT TODAY, DECLINING COMMENT ON THE SUICIDE OF PRINCE FUMIMARO KONOYE--ONE OF THE MEN HE HAD HELPED TO MAKE PREMIER OF JAPAN.

KIDO CARRIED A SUITCASE AND TWO BUNDLES AS HE STEPPED INTO THE PRISON. MILITARY POLICE MARCHED ON EITHER SIDE OF HIM ALTHOUGH HIS APPEARANCE WAS VOLUNTARY.

THEY ESCORTED HIM INTO THE RECEIVING ROOM, WHENCE HE WAS TAKEN FOR THE REQUIRED DELOUSING TREATMENT GIVEN ALL NEWCOMERS.

HW225APS NM

A143FX (LONSBRG)

K(ADVANCE FOR AMS OF SUNDAY, DEC.16) (350)

BY MORRIE LANDSBERG

(ADVANCE)..TOKYO,DEC.15-(AP)-OVER THE DESERTED STREET CAME A DESPERATE CRY:

"KAIJI DATA." AGAIN AND AGAIN, "KAIJI DATA."

"FIRE!" OUR HOST SHOUTED, ON HIS WAY TO THE DOOR.

ONE BLOCK AWAY FROM HIS HOUSE IN ONE OF TOKYO'S SMALL NEIGHBORHOODS WE FOUND SMOKE FILTERING OUT OF WHAT APPARENTLY WAS THE KITCHEN OF A TWO-STORY CORNER BUILDING. A FEW PEOPLE STOOD SHIVERING IN THE MIDNIGHT CHILL. SGT.NICK KELLAS, CINCINNATI,O., TURNED THE JEEP'S LIGHTS ON THE PLACE.

JAPANESE MEN EXCITEDLY FORMED BUCKET BRIGADES, AND WE FOUR AMERICANS DID WHAT WE COULD. WE WENT INTO AN ADJOINING HOUSE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS PHOTOGRAPHER CHARLES GORRY BROUGHT OUT A SLEEPY, SCARED YOUNGSTER.

THEN THE WHOLE THING TURNED INTO A RED, FLASHING NIGHTMARE. FLAMES BURST FROM THE CORNER BUILDING WITH A HOT FURY. WHIPPED BY A STIFF NORTH WIND THEY ATE INTO THE FLIMSY WOODEN STRUCTURE. FIREMEN WHO ARRIVED FINALLY WERE UNABLE TO GET WATER PRESSURE IMMEDIATELY.

FLAMES, LEAPING ONTO THE ROOF, LIGHTED UP THE OLD DREAF OF FIRE ON THE FACES OF SEVERAL HUNDRED NEICHBORHOOD PEOPLE WHO NOW WERE WATCHING. TENANTS OF ADJACENT HOUSES BEGAN DUMPING THEIR BELONGINGS OUT OF WINDOWS AND INTO THE STREETS. SOMETHING TUMBLED DOWN ON SGT.BOB MESCHES' HEAD, BUT THE NEW YORK BOY WASN'T HURT.

MORE FIRE COMPANIES ARRIVED AND TURNED STREAMS OF WATER ON THE BLAZE, BUT THE FLAMES RACED ON, DEFIANT AND UNCONTROLLED.

MEN SHUTTLED BETWEEN THE HOUSE AND THE STREET, RETRIEVING WHAT HOUSEHOLD GOODS THEY COULD. SOMEBODY ROPED OFF THE STREET WHERE FURNISHINGS WERE HEAPED IN CRAZY DISORDER.

GRAIN SPILLED FROM A CONTAINER ON TO THE STREET AND, WITH EMBERS SETTLING DOWN ON THEM LIKE A RED SNOWFALL, PEOPLE DROPPED TO THEIR

DEC 16 1945

30.24-32431

KNEES AND TRIED TO PICK UP THE TINY MORSELS OF FOOD.
AS WE LEFT, THE FLAMES ROARED ACROSS A THIRD HOUSE. THE CORNER BUILDING WAS A GLOWING SHELL BY NOW AND THE SECOND HOUSE WAS GUTTED. EACH OF US HAD THE SAME IDEA AS THE JEEP PULLED AWAY:

A144FX
"CAN YOU IMAGINE WHAT THIS PLACE WAS LIKE DURING A RAID WHEN THE B29'S DROPPED HUNDREDS OF INCENDIARIES?"
AND NICK SAID "I'LL BET ONE AMERICAN FIRE COMPANY WOULD HAVE HAD THAT FIRE OUT IN FIVE MINUTES."
----THIS MORNING THE FIRE DEPARTMENT REPORTED FOUR BUILDINGS HAD BEEN DESTROYED. THERE WERE NO CASUALTIES.
(END ADVANCE FOR AM'S OF SUNDAY, DEC. 16--MOVED DEC. 14)
DS/UM1014PPS NM ASKT

DEC 16 1945

BATAVIA, JAVA, DEC 15-(AP)

JAVA.
~~WHILE THIS FREEDOM ON OUTGOING NEWS HAS BEEN ALLOWED, THERE HAS BEEN SUPPRESSION OF A LOCAL NEWS OUTLET AS WELL AS ONE CASE OF~~ FIELD CENSORSHIP.
BRITISH AUTHORITIES SUPPRESSED YESTERDAY'S EDITION OF THE EVENING NEWS, PUBLISHED BY THE BRITISH PYSCHOLOGICAL WARFARE DEPARTMENT. THE AUTHORITIES SAID THIS ACTION WAS TAKEN BECAUSE OF THE "DISPROPORTIONATELY HEAVY PLAY" THE NEWSPAPER GAVE TO A SPEECH IN THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS BY TOM DRIBERG, AN INDEPENDENT.
(DRIBERG CHARGES THAT FRENCH AND DUTCH "POLITICAL DICTATES" WHICH HE TERMED UNWISE PREVENTED BRITISH FIELD COMMANDERS FROM SETTLIN INDONESIAN AND INDOCHINESE DISTURBANCES WITHOUT BLOODSHED).
THE NEWSPAPER CARRIED A BOX TODAY SAYING: "THE EDITOR REGRETS THAT OWING TO A TECHNICAL BREAKDOWN IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE TO PUBLISH THE EVENING NEWS YESTERDAY."

A127
AN ACCOUNT OF DRIBERG'S SPEECH WAS AVAILABLE HERE, HOWEVER. THE NEW DAILY NEWSPAPER INDEPENDENT, EDITED BY A STRONGLY PRO-INDONESIAN INDIAN, FEATURED THE STORY WITHOUT INTERFERENCE FROM THE AUTHORITIES.
THE FIELD CENSORSHIP CASE OCCURRED DURING THE FIGHTING AT SOERABAJA WHEN THE BRITISH COMMANDER THERE ASKED CORRESPONDENTS TO PERMIT ONE OF HIS OFFICERS TO READ THEIR COPY BEFORE IT WAS FILED. THE OFFICER ONLY RARELY SUGGESTED ANY CHANGES, HOWEVER.
MAHOMMED DIAH, EDITOR OF THE INDONESIAN NEWSPAPER MERDEKA, AND HIS WIFE WERE ARRESTED YESTERDAY BY THE BRITISH. DIAH SUBSEQUENTLY WAS RELEASED BUT HIS AMERICAN AND TOKYO-EDUCATED WIFE STILL WAS HELD FOR REASONS WHICH THE AUTHORITIES WOULD NOT DISCUSS.
RQ1207PES

(AP)

A165
WITH INDONESIAN AMS BUDGET (170)
BATAVIA, JAVA, DEC.16-(SUNDAY)-SUTAN SJAHRIR, PRIME MINISTER OF THE UNRECOGNIZED INDONESIAN REPUBLIC, EXPRESSED THE HOPE TODAY THAT NETHERLANDS MARINES TRAINED IN THE UNITED STATES WOULD NOT BE USED TO FIGHT JAVA NATIONALISTS.
PREPARING TO LEAVE ON A TOUR OF JAVA TO ENLIST SUPPORT OF INSURGENTS FOR HIS GOVERNMENT, SJAHRIR SAID "I HAVE HEARD THAT DUTCH MARINES TRAINED IN THE UNITED STATES AND NOW ON THE WAY TO THE INDIES PROBABLY WOULD BE USED NOT IN JAVA BUT IN THE OUTER ISLANDS."
"THERE WAS A CERTAIN AMOUNT OF AMERICAN HELP FOR THE FRENCH CAUSE IN INDO-CHINA IN THE SHIPMENT OF TROOPS. I HOPE AMERICA WON'T SIMILARLY SERVE DUTCH INTERESTS HERE."
THE NATIONALIST LEADER SAID HE EXPECTED TO GET IN A FEW DAYS A MORE DETAILED ACCOUNT OF DUTCH PROPOSALS TO END THE STRIFE IN JAVA OVER THE NATIVES' DEMAND FOR INDEPENDENCE.
PREMIER SJAHRIR AND PRESIDENT I.R.SOEKARNO PLANNED TO LEAVE TODAY OR TOMORROW TO CONFER WITH LEADERS OF NATIONALIST RESISTANCE. SOME OF THE SO-CALLED EXTREMIST LEADERS FIGHTING THE BRITISH HAVE COMPLAINED THAT THE SJAHRIR GOVERNMENT WAS TOO MODERATE.
EV220AES

AP13
BATAVIA, JAVA, DEC 16-(AP)-BRITISH TROOPS BURNED DOWN A SMALL VILLAGE NEAR BUITENZORG WHERE NATIVES HAD BEEN REPORTED SNIPING AT RAILROAD TRAINS, THE BRITISH ANNOUNCED TODAY.
THE BRITISH HEADQUARTERS STATEMENT SAID: "BANDOENG SITUATION IS QUIET. THE INDONESIAN ARMY IS PROVING MORE COOPERATIVE AND HAVE EXPRESSED A DESIRE TO INCREASE THEIR EFFORTS TO RESTORE ORDER."
AT SEMARANG, NAVAL GUNFIRE AND ARTILLERY SUPPORT WERE CALLED FOR WHEN A BRITISH PATROL WAS FIRED UPON.
DN321AES

AP20
SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA, DEC 16-(AP)-THE NEW SOUTH WALES COAL STRIKE, IN WHICH 20,000 MINERS ON A 14-DAY WALKOUT STOPPED MOST OF THE INDUSTRY IN THE STATE, WILL END TOMORROW.
APPROXIMATELY 3,000 OF THE STRIKING MINERS WHO ATTENDED MASS MEETINGS IN THE FIELDS DECIDED BY A MAJORITY OF 53 VOTES TO ACCEPT THE RECOMMENDATION OF THE AUSTRALIAN COUNCIL OF TRADE UNIONS TO RETURN TO THEIR JOBS TOMORROW.
AFTER ONE-WEEK'S WORK THE MINERS WILL BEGIN A 16-DAY CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY, HOWEVER, AND THEIR PRODUCTION IN THE NEXT FIVE DAYS WILL ONLY BE ENOUGH TO MAINTAIN SEVERELY RATIONED ELECTRICITY AND GAS SERVICES UNTIL OPERATIONS ARE AGAIN IN FULL SWING.
THE STRIKE STARTED AS A SYMPATHY DEMONSTRATION IN SUPPORT OF STRIKING STEEL WORKERS WHO WALKED OUT OF THE BROKEN HILL PROPRIETARY BECAUSE OF THE DISCHARGE OF A SINGLE WORKER. THE LATTER STRIKE IS BELIEVED NEAR SETTLEMENT.
Z929AES

A141FX (BENNETT)
V(650)
(ADVANCE FOR AMS OF SUNDAY, DEC.16)
(ADVANCE)..SYDNEY, DEC.15-(AP)-LT. [illegible].H.GORDON BENNETT, COMMANDER OF AUSTRALIAN FORCES IN MALAYA IN 19[illegible], HAS ARRIVED IN SYDNEY FROM MELBOURNE TO AWAIT FINDINGS OF A PUBLIC HEARING INTO HIS ESCAPE FROM THE JAPANESE AT SINGAPORE.
A COMMISSIONER OF INQUIRY, JUSTICE GEORGE C.LIGERTWOOD, WILL DECIDE WHETHER BENNETT WAS JUSTIFIED IN FLEEING SINGAPORE WITHOUT ORDERS FROM HIS SUPERIOR, SIR ARTHUR PERCIVAL, BRITISH LIEUTENANT GENERAL WHO HAD ARRANGED THE SURRENDER WITH GENERAL TOMOYUKI YAMASHITA.
BENNETT AND OTHER OFFICERS ESCAPED IN A CHINESE JUNK, USING ONLY A PAGE FROM A SCHOOL ATLAS TO GUIDE THEM TO SUMATRA. WHEN JAPANESE PLANES APPEARED, THEY HID AND LEFT THEIR CHINESE CREW IN VIEW. THE CHINESE WERE PLACED BACK IN THE HOLD WHEN THE PLANES DISAPPEARED TO MAKE SURE THE JUNK WOULD NOT BE SAILED BACK TO SINGAPORE.

THE AUSTRALIAN GENERAL LEFT SINGAPORE THE NIGHT OF THE SURRENDER, FEB.15, 1942. HE REACHED AUSTRALIA NINE DAYS LATER. SINCE THEN, THE COMMONWEALTH HAS BEEN DEBATING WHETHER HE WAS JUSTIFIED IN ESCAPING, EVEN THOUGH HE FLED WITH INTENTIONS OF PLACING IN ALLIED HANDS HIS KNOWLEDGE OF JAPANESE TACTICS.

TO PREPARE HIS REPORT ON THE INQUIRY FOR PRIME MINISTER JOSEPH B. CHIFLEY, LIGERTWOOD IS PONDERING 250,000 WORDS OF TESTIMONY TAKEN FROM 22 WITNESSES IN 14 DAYS OF HEARINGS.

HOWEVER, WHEN COUNSEL COMPLETED THEIR ADDRESSES THURSDAY, THE MELBOURNE JUSTICE SAID HE DID NOT EXPECT THERE WOULD BE MUCH DELAY IN THE PRESENTATION OF HIS REPORT.

IT WAS CONSIDERED LIKELY THAT THE AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT WOULD ACT ON LIGERTWOOD'S RECOMMENDATION, WHATEVER IT MAY BE. AN ADVERSE RECOMMENDATION MIGHT SUBJECT BENNETT TO REMOVAL FROM THE RESERVE OFFICERS' CORPS. (THE GENERAL, UPON HIS OWN REQUEST, WAS REMOVED FROM ACTIVE COMMAND IN APRIL, 1944, AND PLACED ON RESERVE. HE RE-ENTERED CIVILIAN LIFE AS AN ACCOUNTANT.)

SHOULD BENNETT'S ACTION BE VINDICATED, NO POSITIVE STEPS APPEARED LIKELY. A GOVERNMENT APOLOGY PROBABLY WOULD BE CONSIDERED UNNECESSARY BECAUSE THE GOVERNMENT REFRAINED THROUGHOUT THE INQUIRIES FROM EXPRESSING AN OPINION.

THE PUBLIC HEARINGS RESULTED FROM A REQUEST BY THE GENERAL AND STRONG PUBLIC DEMAND.

"IT WILL GIVE ME AN OPPORTUNITY TO CLEAR UP THE MATTER," BENNETT SAID WHEN THE INQUIRY WAS ANNOUNCED. "I AM NOT AFRAID OF THE RESULT."

A142FX

TWO WEEKS BEFORE, BENNETT WALKED OUT OF A MILITARY INQUIRY COURT ORDERED BY GEN.SIR THOMAS BLAMEY, COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF AUSTRALIAN MILITARY FORCES, AFTER CLAMEY RECEIVED A REPORT FROM PERCIVAL. BLAMEY'S FINDINGS WERE NOT MADE PUBLIC.

WHILE THE MILITARY INQUIRY PROCEEDED IN HIS ABSENCE, BENNETT WAS IN SYDNEY WELCOMING BACK HIS EIGHTH DIVISION TROOPS WHO HAD BEEN IN JAPANESE PRISON CAMPS. THEIR CHEERS INDICATED HE HAD RETAINED HIS POPULARITY WITH THEM.

THE PUBLIC INQUIRY CONCERNED WHETHER BENNETT BECAME A PRISONER OF WAR AT THE MOMENT OF THE CEASE FIRE ORDER, AT 8:30 P.M. ON THE DAY OF SINGAPORE'S SURRENDER.

BENNETT AND HIS COUNSEL, BRIAN CLANCY, CONTENDED THAT FROM THAT TIME, BENNETT WAS UNDER COMMAND OF THE JAPANESE AND THAT IT WAS HIS DUTY TO ESCAPE IF HE COULD. WILFRED DOVEY, WHO APPEARED AS ASSISTANT TO THE COMMISSIONER IN A ROLE SIMILAR TO A PROSECUTING ATTORNEY, CONTENDED THAT A SOLDIER DID NOT BECOME A PRISONER UNTIL HE WAS IN THE ENEMY'S PHYSICAL CONTROL AND THAT BENNETT SHOULD HAVE REMAINED WITH HIS TROOPS.

BENNETT'S BRAVERY OR MOTIVES IN ESCAPING WERE NOT QUESTIONED. ON THE FINAL DAY OF THE HEARING, JUSTICE LIGERTWOOD COMMENTED, "EVERYBODY HAS STATED THAT WHATEVER MOTIVES HAD ACTUATED BENNETT IN ESCAPING, THEY WERE NOT SELFISH."

"THERE WAS NOT THE SLIGHTEST DOUBT," SAID DOVEY IN HIS FINAL ADDRESS, "THAT BENNETT ACTED IN HONEST BELIEF, HOWEVER UNFOUNDED, THAT HE WAS DOING WHAT HE DID IN THE INTERESTS OF AUSTRALIA--BUT HE COMMITTED A DELIBERATE BREACH OF HIS DUTY AS A SOLDIER."

CLANCY CONTENDED THAT BENNETT HAD SPECIAL KNOWLEDGE OF JAPANESE TACTICS, HAD EVOLVED METHODS TO COUNTER THEM, AND BELIEVED THAT "THE VERY FATE OF HIS COUNTRY DEPENDED ON HIS GETTING BACK TO AUSTRALIA TO EXPLAIN TO AUTHORITIES THE DANGERS THAT CONFRONTED IT."

(END ADVANCE FOR AMS OF SUNDAY, DEC.16-MOVED DEC.14)

DS1003PPS NM ASKED

AP15FX

SHANGHAI,DEC.16-(AP)-ROLAND SARLEY, FORMER DIRECTOR OF FRENCH MUNICIPAL POLICE AT SHANGHAI, AND L.K.KENTWELL, FORMER BRITISH ATTORNEY WHO RENOUNCED BRITISH CITIZENSHIP, WERE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY TODAY BY WOOSUNG (SHANGHAI) GARRISON HEADQUARTERS FOR INVESTIGATION. HEADQUARTERS SAID THE INVESTIGATION INVOLVED ALLEGED COLLABORATIONIST ACTIVITIES.

SARLEY'S ARREST WAS PROTESTED BY THE FRENCH, WHO CONTENDED IT WAS IN VIOLATION OF PRE-WAR TREATIES.

KENTWELL, GARRISON HEADQUARTERS SAID, ONCE SERVED IN THE LEGISLATIVE YUAN OF THE PUPPET NANKING GOVERNMENT.

HW623APS NM

A168KX (BJT)

AMS BUDGET

NITE LEAD CHIANG (300)

PEIPING,DEC.15-(AP)-GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK REITERATED TODAY HIS DETERMINATION TO BUILD A UNITED, FREE AND EQUAL CHINA, AND CALLED ON THOSE WHO STRUGGLED HEROICALLY AGAINST JAPANESE DOMINATION TO WORK WITH EQUAL DEVOTION FOR THE REGENERATION OF THEIR COUNTRY.

CHIANG SPOKE IN THE HALL OF CHERISHED BENEVOLENCE AT THE FORMER WINTER PALACE OF THE MANCHUS. HIS AUDIENCE INCLUDED MANY OF HIS FRIENDS AND ASSOCIATES OF EARLY REVOLUTIONARY DAYS AS WELL AS FOREIGN DIPLOMATIC REPRESENTATIVES AND A GROUP OF U.S. MARINE OFFICERS HEADED BY MAJ.GEN. KELLER E. ROCKEY, COMMANDER OF THE THIRD MARINE AMPHIBIOUS CORPS.

MADAME CHIANG KAI-SHEK ALSO ATTENDED BUT DID NOT ADDRESS THE GATHERING.

AFTER THANKING HIS "OLD FRIENDS OF THE EARLY REVOLUTION" FOR THEIR STURDY RESISTANCE DURING THE JAPANESE OCCUPATION, THE GENERALISSIMO PAID TRIBUTE TO THE U.S. MARINES FOR THE PART THEY PLAYED IN CHINA'S LIBERATION.

THE VENERABLE GEN. CHIN YUN PENG, WHO WAS PREMIER OF CHINA IN THE DAYS WHEN THIS WAS THE CAPITAL, RESPONDED TO CHIANG'S ADDRESS WITH THE HOPE THAT CHINA WOULD HAVE "SIX FIVE-YEAR PLANS" AND THAT THE GENERALISSIMO WOULD LEAD THE NATION FOR ANOTHER 30 YEARS.

RUSSIAN, FRENCH, SWISS, BRITISH AND AMERICAN DIPLOMATS GREETED CHIANG IN THE BRILLIANTLY-ILLUMINATED HALL WHERE THE PRESIDENTS OF CHINA HELD THEIR RECEPTIONS IN THE EARLY DAYS OF THE REPUBLIC.

AMONG THE CHINESE NOTABLES PRESENT WERE GEN. LI TSUNG-JEN, COMMANDER OF THE GENERALISSIMO'S FIELD HEADQUARTERS; GEN. MA TSUNG-HSAN, COMMANDER OF CHINESE FORCES AT MUKDEN WHEN THE JAPANESE INVADED MANCHURIA; PU CHI, BROTHER OF THE LAST EMPEROR OF THE CHING DYNASTY; DR. WILLIAM HUNG, DEAN OF YENCHING UNIVERSITY, AND THE REV. Z.T. KIANG, THE METHODIST CLERGYMAN WHO BAPTIZED CHIANG.

B231PCS

A23KX

PEIPING--FIRST ADD PEIPING NIGHT LEAD CHIANG (A168KX)

X X BAPTIZED CHIANG.

THE GENERALISSIMO WORE A PLAIN BROWN CHINESE ARMY UNIFORM WITHOUT DECORATIONS. MADAME CHIANG'S ANKLE-LENGTH CHINESE GOWN ALSO WAS BROWN. WITH IT SHE WORE GLITTERING RHINESTONE ERRINGS.

FLAGS OF BRITAIN, RUSSIA, CHINA AND THE UNITED STATES WERE DRAPED ON THE WALL, WHILE ACROSS THE CEILING SPRAD THE HUGE, 12-POINTED SUN EMBLEM OF THE KUOMINTANG.

30.24-32433

DEC 16 1945

REFRESHMENTS SERVED TO THE GUESTS INCLUDED ONE HOMELY AMERICAN TOUCH---HOT-DOGS WITHOUT MUSTARD.

TOMORROW GENERALISSIMO AND MADAME CHIANG WILL REVIEW THE FIFTH REGIMENT OF U.S. MARINES AND PRESENT AWARD TO MEN CITED FOR BRAVERY ON OKINAWA.

EW509PCS

AP4FX

CHUNGKING,DEC.16-(AP)-GEN.CHOU EN-LAI AND FOUR OTHER COMMUNIST DELEGATES TO THE FORTHCOMING CHINESE UNITY AND PEACE CONFERENCE HERE ARRIVED THIS AFTERNOON FROM YENAN. TWO OTHERS WERE ALREADY IN CHUNGKING.

THE DATE OF THE CONFERENCE HAS NOT YET BEEN ANNOUNCED; IT IS EXPECTED TO BEGIN ABOUT DEC. 25.

ARRIVING WITH CHOU, THE DEPUTY LEADER OF THE CHINESE COMMUNIST PARTY, WERE HIS WIFE, ALSO A DELEGATE, WHO AS MISS TENG YIN-CHAO WAS IN 1924 A MEMBER OF THE CENTRAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE KUOMINTANG (NATIONAL) PARTY; GEN.YEN CHIEN-YING, CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE COMMUNIST ARMIES; WU YU-CHANG, ONE-TIME MEMBER OF THE PEOPLE'S POLITICAL COUNCIL AT HANKOW; AND LU TING-YI, CONNECTED WITH THE YENAN OFFICIAL COMMUNIST PUBLICATION.

ALREADY IN CHUNGKING WERE DELEGATES TUNG PI-WU, WHO WAS A COMMUNIST MEMBER OF THE CHINESE DELEGATION AT THE SAN FRANCISCO UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE; AND WANG JO-FEI, MEMBER OF THE CENTRAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY.

HW242APS NM

CLR 833AES AP12 NXCLR744A

AP12FX

CHUNGKING,DEC.16-(AP)-CHINA AND RUSSIA HAVE AGREED ON SPECIFIC MEASURES FOR CHINA'S ASSUMPTION OF THE SOVIET-CONTROLLED ADMINISTRATION OF MANCHURIA, A CHINESE DISPATCH REPORTED TODAY.

DETAILS WERE DISCUSSED AT A SATURDAY CONFERENCE IN CHINHSIEN AT WHICH PARTICIPANTS INCLUDED GEN.TU LI-MING, CHINESE COMMANDER IN MANCHURIA, AND GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S ELDER SON, CHIANG CHUNG-KUO.

THE DISPATCH ALSO REPORTED "SATISFACTORY" RESULTS OF A LATER CONFERENCE AT CHANGCHUN ON METHODS OF TAKING OVER MANCHURIA'S DEFEN AND AGREEMENT "IN PRINCIPLE" ON THE PROBLEM OF MILITARY SUPPLY FOR CHINESE FORCES.

HW502APS NM

AP14FX

FIRST LEAD TRUMAN REACTION

CHUNGKING,DEC.16-(AP)-GOVERNMENT LEADERS HAILED WITH ENTHUSIASM AND CHINESE COMMUNISTS HAILED WITH POLITENESS TODAY PRES TRUMAN'S DECLARATION OF AMERICAN POLICY TOWARD CHINA.

IN GOVERNMENT QUARTERS, THE DECLARATION DISPELLED APPREHENSIONS OF AN UNFAVORABLE CHANGE; SPOKESMEN SAID THE PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT AGREES CLOSELY WITH CHINESE GOVERNMENT POLICY, AND THAT THEY "WARMLY WELCOMED" HIS ASSERTION ALL REASONABLE ASSISTANCE WOULD BE GIVEN TO THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT OF GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK.

COMMUNIST QUARTERS XXX PICKING UP PREVIOUS AT START.

HW603APS NM

DEC 16 1945

AP3FX

CHUNGKING,DEC.16-(AP)-COMMUNIST QUARTERS TODAY HAILED THE "WHOLE SPIRIT" OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S STATEMENT ON AMERICA'S CHINA POLICY, ASSERTING THAT THEY HAVE CONSISTENTLY FAVORED ESTABLISHMENT OF A BROAD COALITION GOVERNMENT RATHER THAN ONE-PARTY RULE.

TRUMAN'S STATEMENT, THEY SAID, ACKNOWLEDGES EXISTENCE OF ONE-PARTY RULE AT PRESENT.

REGARDING TRUMAN'S DECLARATION THAT "UNITED STATES SUPPORT WILL NOT EXTEND TO MILITARY INTERVENTION TO INFLUENCE THE COURSE OF ANY CHINESE INTETIEWLELY IMPLEMENTED."

HW230APS NM

HONG KONG, DEC 16-(AP)-THE PRESIDENT GRANT OF THE AMERICAN PRESIDENT LINES ARRIVED AT HONG KONG TODAY FROM SAN FRANCISCOA VIA SHANGHAI WITH THE FIRST CARGO OF CONSUMER GOODS RECEIVED IN THIS PORT IN FOUR YEARS.

THE LONG-HERALDED CARGO, MOSTLY FOODSTUFFS, HAD BEEN ANXIOUSLY AWAITED BY MERCHANTS AND BUYERS.

G1044AES

A170WX (BJT)

(300) AMS BUDGET--NIGHT LEAD PEARL HARBOR

BY WILLIAM T.PEACOCK

WASHINGTON,DEC 16-(AP)-PEARL HARBOR INVESTIGATORS RECEIVED A NAVY REPORT TODAY THAT THE U.S.CRUISER BOISE WAS NEVER CLOSER THAN 1400 MILES TO THE JAPANESE TASK FORCE WHICH STRUCK HAWAII DEC. 7, 1941, AND THUS COULD NOT HAVE SEEN ITS APPROACH.

THIS REPLY TO A QUESTION RAISED EARLY IN THE HEARINGS--WHETHER THE BOISE SIGHTED THE JAPANESE FORCE BUT DID NOT REPORT IT BECAUSE OF ORDERS FOR RADIO SILENCE--CAME DURING A SESSION MARKED BY CONTINUED BICKERING AMONG REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS.

AT ITS CLOSE, SENATOR LUCAS (D-ILL) TOLD REPORTERS THE COMMITTEE SHOULD FIND OUT HOW AND WHERE GOV.THOMAS E.DEWEY LEARNED THIS COUNTRY HAD "BROKEN" JAPAN'S CODES.

LUCAS HAD DRAWN FROM LT.GEN.LEONARD T.GEROW, THE DAY'S WITNESS, AN EXPRESSION OF OPINION EARLIER THAT ANY MILITARY OFFICER WHO DELIBERATELY DISCLOSED THE SECRET IN WARTIME WOULD DESERVE THE DEATH PENALTY.

FROM GEN.GEORGE C.MARSHALL, THE COMMITTEE HAD HEARD LAST WEEK THAT HE LEARNED DURING THE 1944 PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN THAT DEWEY APPARENTLY HAD LEARNED OF THE CODE-CRACKING. MARSHALL GAVE THE COMMITTEE COPIES OF LETTERS IN WHICH HE APPEALED TO THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEE NOT TO DISCLOSE THE SECRET.

MARSHALL TESTIFIED THAT DEWEY, IN ADDITION TO KEEPING THE SECRET, OFFERED TO HELP QUIET AGITATION IN CONGRESS FOR AN INVESTIGATION OF PEARL HARBOR. HE SAID SOME MILITARY MEN FEARED THE JAPANESE MIGHT DEDUCE FROM THE CONGRESSIONAL TALK THAT THEIR CODES WERE BEING READ.

REP.GEARHART (R-CALIF) ORIGINALLY RAISED THE BOISE ISSUE. HE SAID EARLY IN THE HEARINGS THAT HE WAS INFORMED THE SHIP'S CREW HAD SEEN THE JAPANESE FORCE. HE DEMANDED THAT THE BOISE'S LOG BE PRODUCED.

GERHARD GESELL, CHIEF ASSISTANT COUNSEL, ANNOUNCING HE HAD THE LOG, READ IT INTO THE RECORD. IT RECORDED THAT IN LATE EVENING OF NOV. 27,1941, WHILE CONVOYING MERCHANT SHIPS TO THE PHILIPPINES, THE BOISE SIGHTED A DARKENED SHIP AND CHALLENGED IT. NO REPLY WAS RECEIVED.

ON THE FOLLOWING NIGHT, NOV.28, A DARKENED SHIP AGAIN WAS SEEN WHICH APPARENTLY WAS A JAPANESE CRUISER OF THE ATAGO TYPE.

IN AN ACCOMPANYING STATEMENT, THE NAVY SAID THAT NO CRUISER OF THE ATAGO TYPE TOOK PART IN THE PEARL HARBOR RAID AND THAT FROM "AVAIL-ABLE INFORMATION" THE CLOSEST THE BOISE EVER WAS TO THE RAIDING FORCE WAS 1400 MILES.

A171WX
GESELL ALSO PRODUCED A GROUP OF OTHER DOCUMENTS WHICH HAD BEEN ASKED, INCLUDING A MESSAGE THE LATE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SENT PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL ON AUG.13,1941.
THIS WAS THE DAY FOLLOWING MR.ROOSEVELT'S RETURN FROM THE ATLANTIC CONFERENCE WHERE HE AND THE BRITISH PRIME MINISTER HAD AGREED TO TAKE "PARALLEL ACTION" IN WARNING JAPAN AGAINST FURTHER AGGRESSION.
IT HAD BEEN DEVELOPED THAT AS A BASIS FOR DISCUSSION CHURCHILL HAD A MEMORANDUM WHICH SAID ANY FURTHER JAPANESE AGGRESSION WOULD COMPEL THE UNITED STATES "TO TAKE COUNTER MEASURES EVEN THOUGH THESE MIGHT LEAD TO WAR BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND JAPAN."
SUMNER WELLES, UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE, TESTIFIED A "WATERED DOWN" WARNING WAS GIVEN JAPAN'S AMBASSADOR ON AUG.17.
TELLING OF HIS MEETING WITH THE JAPANESE AMBASSADOR, MR.ROOSEVELT ADVISED CHURCHILL:
"I MADE TO HIM A STATEMENT COVERING THE POSITION OF THIS GOVERNMEI WITH RESPECT TO THE TAKING BY JAPAN OF FURTHER STEPS IN THE DIRECTION OF MILITARY DOMINATION BY FORCE ALONG THE LINES OF THE PROPOSED STATEMENT SUCH AS YOU AND I HAD DISCUSSED. THE STATEMENT I MADE TO HIM WA NO LESS VIGOROUS THAN AND WAS SUBSTANTIALLY SIMILAR TO THE STATEMENT WE HAD DISCUSSED."
IN HIS FINAL DAY IN THE WITNESS CHAIR, GEROW WAS QUESTIONED FOR ONE HOUR AND 50 MINUTES. SENATOR FERGUSON (R-MICH) QUESTIONED FOR ONE HOUR AND SEVEN MINUTES.
EACH HOLDING A COPY OF ARMY REGULATIONS, GEROW AND FERGUSON WENT OVER THEM IN QUESTION AND ANSWER, DEVELOPING THAT THE MANUAL SAID ORDERS SHOULD BE "PRECISE" AND THAT THEY SHOULD "PROMOTE CLARITY."
THEY AGREED, IN FERGUSON'S LANGUAGE, THAT THERE IS "A BURDEN ON TH ONE WHO SENDS THE ORDER TO MAKE SURE THAT IT IS UNDERSTOOD."
BUT GEROW DISAGREED THAT A NOV.27 WARNING SENT TO LT.GEN.WALTER C. SHORT, COMMANDER AT HAWAII, WAS A "DO-DON'T ORDER." FERGUSON SAID AN ARMY BOARD OF INQUIRY HAD SO CHARACTERIZED IT.
GEROW CONTENDED IT LEFT SHORT "DISCRETION TO DO ANYTHING HE THINKS NECESSARY FOR THE DEFENSE OF OAHU."
AS HEAD OF THE WAR PLANS DIVISION, GEROW HAD DISPATCHED THE ORDER UNDER MARSHALL'S NAME. HE TESTIFIED MARSHALL, WHO WAS OUT OF TOWN ON THE 27TH, HAD SEEN A DRAFT THE DAY BEFORE. SOME CHANGES WERE MADE IN THE FINAL DRAFT ON INSTRUCTIONS FROM SECRETARY OF WAR STIMSON.

A172WX
THE DEMOCRATS WERE FIDGETING DURING ALL THIS AND LUCAS SOUGHT TO INTERRUPT WHEN FERGUSON WANTED TO KNOW WHETHER IN GEROW'S OPINION PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT GAVE THE JAPANESE AN "ULTIMATUM" AUG. 17.
FERGUSON DECLINED TO YIELD BUT LUCAS NEVERTHELESS RUMBLED SOMETHING ABOUT "TRYING TO TRAP A GREAT GENERAL."
A MOMENT LATER, CHAIRMAN BARKLEY (D-KY) UPHELD FOR THE FIRST TIME DURING THE HEARINGS AN OBJECTION TO QUESTIONS.
FERGUSON WANTED TO KNOW WHETHER, IF THE HAWAIIAN GARRISON HAD BEEN ALERT, THE JAPANESE WOULD HAVE BEEN "DEFEATED."
"I THINK OUR LOSSES OUT THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN MUCH LESS IF THE COMMAND HAD BEEN ALERT," GEROW REPLIED, ADDING THAT THERE WERE "DEGREES OF DEFEAT," THAT THE JAPANESE MIGHT HAVE LOST SOME CARRIERS TO A MORE ALERT DEFENSE.
FERGUSON PRESSED MORE QUESTIONS ALONG THE SAME LINE.
REP.MURPHY (D-PA), BOUNCING HALFWAY OUT OF HIS CHAIR, SHOUTED, "I OBJECT THAT THE QUESTION HAS BEEN ANSWERED TWICE IN THE LAST FIVE MINUTES."
BARKLEY BANGED HIS GAVEL AND SAID, "THE CHAIR SUSTAINS THE POINT OF ORDER."
A MOMENT LATER FERGUSON SURRENDERED THE WITNESS.
EGGG352PES

A77WX
(210)(ADVANCE FOR AMS OF SUNDAY,DEC.16)
ATOMIC
(ADVANCE)..WASHINGTON,DEC.15-(AP)-THE SENATE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMITTEE WILL CONSIDER INTERIM LEGISLATION FOR CONTROL OF THE NEWLY DISCOVERED POWER SOURCE SHORTLY AFTER THE CONGRESSIONAL CHRISTMAS RECESS, CHAIRMAN BRIEN MCMAHON (D-CONN) ANNOUNCED TONIGHT.
HE SAID THE TAKING OF SCIENTIFIC TESTIMONY IS NOW COMPLETE, AND INDUSTRIAL LEADERS WILL BE HEARD NEXT WEEK.
MCMAHON SAID IN A STATEMENT:
"AT THE FIRST MEETING OF THE COMMITTEE IT WAS GENERALLY AGREED THAT WE MUST HAVE AN UNDERSTANDING OF THE SCIENTIFIC ASPECTS OF THIS TREMENDOUS QUESTION. LEADING SCIENTISTS GAVE US A BACKGROUND OF NUCLEAR PHYSICS, AFTER WHICH WE HEARD REPRESENTATIVE PHYSICISTS OF THE COUNTRY REGARDING THEIR VIEWS ON WHAT SHOULD BE DONE. THE COMMITTEE FEELS THAT THE PRELIMINARY PHASE OF ITS WORK WILL HAVE BEEN COMPLETED BEFORE THE CHRISTMAS RECESS.
"WHILE WE ARE IN AGREEMENT THAT THE INTERNATIONAL PHASE OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY PROBLEM IS OF FIRST CONCERN, WE ARE FACED WITH THE NECESSITY FOR UNDERTAKING TO PROVIDE LEGISLATION FOR AT LEAST THE INTERIM HANDLING OF THE MANHATTAN PROJECT.
"THE HEARINGS OF THE COMMITTEE IN JANUARY, THEN, WILL NECESSARILY BE DEVOTED TO THE SPECIFIC PROPOSALS CONTAINED IN BILLS TO BE BEFORE THE COMMITTEE FOR ITS CONSIDERATION. IN THE MEANTIME THE COMMITTEE WILL CONTINUE ITS CONSIDERATION AND STUDY OF THE INTERNATIONAL ASPECTS BECAUSE IT BELIEVES THAT THE CONGRESSIONAL DECISION ON THIS MATTER WILL BE OF PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE."
(END ADVANCE FOR AMS OF SUNDAY, DEC.16)
VH/LH903PES

(200)
WASHINGTON,DEC.15-(AP)-SENATOR HART (R-CONN), FORMER COMMANDER OF THE U.S.ASIATIC FLEET, DECLARED TONIGHT THAT THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS ARE "MAKING THEMSELVES A GENERAL NUISANCE" IN THE U.S.-CHINESE EFFORT TO GET JAPANESE SOLDIERS OUT OF CHINA.
HART DISCUSSED THE PRESENCE OF UNITED STATES MARINES IN NORTH CHINA IN A SPEECH PREPARED FOR THE RADIO (WTIC, HARTFORD), THE ADVANCE TEXT OF WHICH WAS RELEASED HERE. IT SAID:
"THERE HAS NOW BEEN SOME PROGRESS IN WITHDRAWING THE JAPANESE TO THE SEACOAST, BUT IT HAS BEEN SLOW BECAUSE THE COMMUNIST GUERRILLAS HAVE SEEN FIT TO INTERFERE WITH THE ENTIRE PROCESS BY TEARING UP RAILROAD TRACKS, SMASHING BRIDGES AND MAKING THEMSELVES A GENERAL NUISANCE INSOFAR AS GETTING THE FORMER ENEMY OUT OF CHINA IS CONCERNED.

DEC 16 1945

30.27-32435

"THE JAPANESE HAVE BEHAVED ALL RIGHT THUS FAR. BUT THEIR PRESENCE, MANY OF THEM ARMED, IS AN UNPLEASANT SITUATION--TO SAY THE LEAST.

"I DO NOT BELIEVE WE NEED FEAR THAT THE PRESENCE OF OUR MARINES IN NORTH CHINA WILL RESULT IN OUR INVOLVEMENT IN A FULL-SCALE CIVIL WAR BETWEEN THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT AND THE COMMUNISTS.

"THE MARINES ARE NEEDED THERE TO CARRY OUT THE WORK AT HAND, TO HELP GET THOSE 300,000 EXPLOSIVE JAPANESE OUT OF CHINA AND TO KEEP THE FIGHTING AWAY FROM TWO OR THREE LARGE CITIES WHICH ARE ESSENTIAL TO THE FUTURE OF THE COUNTRY.

"/85 8' 59 ?3 £903$ 5£-5 5£3 529 !-:589,' 28)) '355)3 5£384 $8!!343,:3'

ESSENTIAL TO THE FUTURE OF THE COUNTRY.

"/8

ESSENTIAL TO THE FUTURE OF THE COUNTRY.

"IT IS TO BE HOPED THAT THE TWO FACTIONS WILL SETTLE THEIR DIFFERENCES SOON. OUR INFLUENCE IS THE BEST OUTSIDE INFLUENCE TO THAT END, AND WE SHOULD USE IT--WITH FIRMNESS."

LH911PES

A20WX

(120)

WITH PEARL HARBOR

WASHINGTON,DEC.15-(AP)-CONGRESS' PEARL HARBOR COMMITTEE IS EXCHANGING DOCUMENTS WITH AMERICAN PROSECUTORS OF THE WAR GUILT TRIAL AT NUERNBERG, GERMANY.

THIS WAS DISCLOSED TODAY WHEN GERHARD GESELL, ASSISTANT COUNSEL, INTRODUCED IN THE PEARL HARBOR INQUIRY RECORDS OF HITLER'S CONFERENCES MONTHS BEFORE PEARL HARBOR WITH JAPANESE FOREIGN MINISTER MATSUOKA.

HITLER PROMISED IN APRIL, 1941, THAT GERMANY WOULD "ACCEPT THE CONSEQUENCES" IF JAPAN WOULD ATTACK THE UNITED STATES.

GESELL SAID OTHER DOCUMENTS USED AT NUERNBERG AND CONCERNED WITH GERMAN-JAPANESE COLLABORATION ARE BEING OBTAINED.

HE ADVISED THE COMMITTEE THAT HE IS SENDING TO JUSTICE ROBERT JACKSON, CHIEF AMERICAN PROSECUTOR OF THE WAR GUILT TRIALS, CERTAIN DECODED JAPANESE MESSAGES BEARING ON NIPPONESE UNDERSTANDINGS WITH THE NAZIS.

LH915PES

DEC 16 1945

A102WX

(120)

WASHINGTON,DEC.15-(AP)-UNITED STATES MEMBERS OF THE ANGLO-AMERICAN PALESTINE INQUIRY COMMITTEE SAID AFTER A WHITE HOUSE CALL TODAY THEY WOULD DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO EXPEDITE A DECISION.

JUDGE JOSEPH C.HUTCHESON OF THE FIFTH CIRCUIT COURT AT HOUSTON,TEX., AMERICAN CHAIRMAN SAID THEIR WORK WAS REVIEWED WITH THE PRESIDENT AT SOME LENGTH.

THEIR GOAL, HE SAID, IS TO PRODUCE A JOINT RECOMMENDATION WITH THE BRITISH BY THE END OF APRIL. THIS IS BASED ON THE PRESIDENT'S HOPE FOR A CONCLUSION WITHIN 120 DAYS OF THE INCEPTION OF THE INQUIRY.

THE COMMISSION WAS SET UP TO INVESTIGATE POLITICAL, ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL CONDITIONS IN PALESTINE AS THEY BEAR ON THE PROBLEM OF JEWISH IMMIGRATION AND SETTLEMENT AS WELL AS TO EXAMINE THE POSITION OF JEWISH VICTIMS OF NAZI AND FASCIST PERSECUTION IN EUROPE.

LH1019PES

A104WX

(120)

WASHINGTON,DEC.15-(AP)-ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE SPRUILLE BRADEN SAID TODAY THAT A MAJORITY OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLICS EVENTUALLY WILL AGREE TO INTERVENE IN A WESTERN HEMISPHERE COUNTRY THAT VIOLATES ITS PEOPLE'S INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS AND ITS INTERNATIONAL DUTIES.

URUGUAY PROPOSED SUCH A POLICY OF MULTILATERAL INTERVENTION LAST MONTH.

AS HE LEFT A CONFERENCE WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN ON LATIN AMERICAN AFFAIRS, BRADEN TOLD REPORTERS:

"THE URUGUAYAN PROPOSAL EVENTUALLY WILL GO OVER. IT IS PERFECTLY CLEAR THAT IT DOES NOT PROVIDE FOR VIOLENCE. IF WE CAN HAVE INTERVENTION UNDER THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION, THERE IS NO REASON WHY WE CAN NOT HAVE IT IN THIS HEMISPHERE."

BRADEN DISCLOSED THAT THE UNITED STATES HAS SUBMITTED TO THE OTHER AMERICAN NATIONS ITS IDEAS FOR A DEFENSE TREATY FOR THE HEMISPHERE. THE TREATY WILL BE DISCUSSED AT A FORTHCOMING INTER-AMERICAN CONFERENCE IN RIO DE JANEIRO.

LH1024PES

V

A27WX (GM)

(160)

(ADVANCE FOR AMS OF SUNDAY, DEC.16. RADIO RELEASE 6 P.M., EASTERN STANDARD TIME. TODAY, SATURDAY, DEC.15)

FOLLOW DETROIT NIGHT LEAD STRIKE

(ADVANCE)..WASHINGTON,DEC.15-(AP)-CHARLES CAMPBELL, CHIEF OF THE BRITISH INFORMATION SERVICE, SAID TODAY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT OWNS A BLOCK OF GENERAL MOTORS STOCK OUTRIGHT AND CONTROLS THE STOCK'S VOTING RIGHTS.

CAMPBELL TOLD A REPORTER NO OFFICIAL REPORT HAD BEEN PUT OUT ON HOW MUCH THE BRITISH OWN, SO THAT HE COULD NOT CONFIRM OR DENY THE FIGURE OF 434,000 SHARES OF COMMON STOCKS MENTIONED BY PRESIDENT R. J. THOMAS OF THE CIO'S UNITED AUTO WORKERS UNION.

THOMAS ANNOUNCED IN DETROIT TODAY THAT THE UNION HAD SUGGESTED TO PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE OF BRITAIN THAT THE BRITISH LABORITE GOVERNMENT, AS A STOCKOWNER, ADVISE GENERAL MOTORS THAT PROFITS ARE THE CONCERN OF BOTH WORKERS AND THE COMPANY OWNERS.

CAMPBELL EXPLAINED HOW HIS GOVERNMENT ACQUIRED GENERAL MOTORS STOCK:

DURING THE WAR IT TOOK OVER ALL AMERICAN ASSETS FROM BRITISH SUBJECTS. IT PAID THEM IN STERLING FOR THESE ASSETS. SOME WERE SOLD. SOME, TURNED IN AFTER THE SALES, WERE KEPT. OF THE LATTER, THE GREATER PART WAS PUT UP AS SECURITY FOR A LOAN FROM THE AMERICAN RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION. THE BLOCK OF GENERAL MOTORS STOCK IS INCLUDED IN THE ASSETS THAT WEREN'T SOLD.

(END ADVANCE FOR AMS OF SUNDAY, DEC.16. RADIO RELEASE 6 P.M., EASTERN STANDARD TIME, SATURDAY, DEC.15).

AB/LH606PES

A141WX

(150) WASHINGTON,DEC 15-(AP)-DEAN ACHESON, ACTING SECRETARY OF STATE, TODAY RECEIVED JUAN NEGRIN, LAST PRIME MINISTER OF REPUBLICAN SPAIN.

A STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL SAID THE TWO MEN TALKED ABOUT SPAIN. HE DID NOT ELABORATE, BUT THE SUBJECT OF THE FRENCH NOTE CONCERNING THE FRANCO GOVERNMENT WAS NOT DISCUSSED, HE SAID. FRANCE HAS PROPOSED THAT THIS COUNTRY, ENGLAND AND FRANCE TALK ABOUT THEIR RELATIONS WITH FRANCO.

NEGRIN'S APPEARANCE SERVED TO EMPHASIZE IN DIPLOMATIC CIRCLES THIS GOVERNMENT'S DISPLEASURE WITH THE PRESENT SPANISH REGIME. IT HAS BEEN EXPRESSED BLUNTLY MORE THAN ONCE.

NEGRIN ASKED ACHESON FOR AN INTERVIEW, IT WAS SAID, AND GOT IT.

OTHER SPANISH REPUBLICAN LEADERS HAVE TALKED FROM TIME TO TIME WITH STATE DEPARTMENT FIGURES AND THE VISIT WAS NOT UNPRECEDENTED IN THAT REGARD. HOWEVER, IT WAS THE FIRST TIME DIPLOMATS TONIGHT COULD RECALL THAT A REPUBLICAN OF NEGRIN'S HIGH RANK HAS MET WITH THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S CHIEF.

NEGRIN LEFT SPAIN WITH HIS GOVERNMENT WHEN REPUBLICAN RESISTANCE COLLAPSED IN SPAIN. RECENTLY HE RESIGNED AS PRIME MINISTER OF THE GOVERNMENT IN EXILE.

HY1206AES

A173CX (STRIKES)
NIGHT LEAD STRIKES AT A GLANCE
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(CX) APPROXIMATELY 400,000 REMAIN IDLE IN NATION'S LABOR DISPUTES.

MAJOR LABOR DEVELOPMENTS:

AUTOMOBILES--RUBBER WORKERS PLEDGE FINANCIAL SUPPORT TO STRIKING GENERAL MOTORS EMPLOYES; NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN UNION AND AUTOMOBILE MANUFACTURERS RESUME MONDAY; GM DISPUTE UP FOR REVIEW BEFORE PRESIDENT'S FACT-FINDING BOARD THIS WEEK.

TRANSPORTATION--SIX-WEEK STRIKE OF 2,000 SOUTHWESTERN GREYHOUND BUS DRIVERS ENDED; WORKERS RECEIVE 0.75 CENTS PER MILE WAGE HIKE. IN NEW YORK, STOCKHOLDERS OF GREEN BUS LINES MAN BUSES AS DRIVERS QUIT OVER CONTRACT PROVISIONS.

--DASH--

A174CX
NIGHT LEAD UNDATED STRIKES
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS (450)

(CX) THE 26-DAY OLD STRIKE OF GENERAL MOTORS EMPLOYES YESTERDAY (SATURDAY) WAS GIVEN ASSURANCE OF FINANCIAL SUPPORT BY AN AFFILIATED UNION, THE CIO UNITED RUBBER WORKERS OF AMERICA.

THE URW VOTED UNANIMOUSLY AT ITS ANNUAL CONVENTION IN GRAND RAPI MICH., TO FURNISH THE STRIKING CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS WITH DIRECT DONATIONS FROM THE URW TREASURY AND WEEKLY CONTRIBUTIONS FROM ITS 190,000 MEMBERS. THE INTERNATIONAL CIO HAD ASKED ITS LOCALS AND INDIVIDUAL MEMBERS TO CREATE A SPECIAL STRIKE FUND TO SUPPORT THE G STRIKERS.

NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN MANAGEMENT IN THE AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY AND T UAW-CIO WILL RESUME TOMORROW (MONDAY) AFTER A WEEKEND LULL. THE UNION, SEEKING A 30 PER CENT WAGE RATE INCREASE, WILL CONTINUE ITS MEETINGS WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF GENERAL MOTORS AND THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY AND WILL HOLD ITS FIRST CONFERENCE WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE KAISER-FRAZER CORPORATION, WHICH HAS TAKEN OVER THE WILLOW RUN BOMBER PLANT FOR AUTOMOBILE PRODUCTION.

THE DETROIT TIMES SAID THAT FORD WAS PREPARED TO SUBMIT WHAT IT TERMED A SATISFACTORY" WAGE INCREASE OFFER TO THE UNION TOMORROW (MONDAY). A FORD SPOKESMAN SAID THE COMPANY DECLINED TO COMMENT ON THE REPORT.

ALTHOUGH PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S REQUEST THAT NEW LABOR LEGISLATION BE PASSED BEFORE CHRISTMAS WAS APPARENTLY BY-PASSED BY CONGRESS, PUBLIC HEARINGS WILL BEGIN IN WASHINGTON NEXT THURSDAY ON THE GM DISPUTE BY THE PRESIDENT'S FACT-FINDING BOARD.

THE SENATE LABOR COMMITTEE'S HEARINGS ON A NEW MEASURE TO ESTABLISH PROCEDURE TO SETTLE LABOR DISPUTES WERE RECESSED UNTIL AFTER THE HOLIDAYS, WHILE THE HOUSE LABOR COMMITTEE MET TO DECIDE IF IT SHOULD HOLD FURTHER HEARINGS ON THE BILL, WHICH WOULD PROHIBIT STRIKES FOR 30 DAYS PENDING STUDY BY A FACT-FINDING COMMISSION.

THE FACT-FINDING BOARD WHICH WILL HEAR THE GM CASE HAS NO STATUTORY AUTHORITY, BUT BOTH COMPANY AND UNION HAVE AGREED TO COOPERATE WITH THE BOARD. THE GM DISPUTE HAS AFFECTED MORE THAN 200,000 WORKERS.

A175CX

IN FORT WORTH,TEX., A U.S. CONCILIATOR ANNOUNCED A STRIKE BY APPROXIMATELY 2,000 SOUTHWESTERN GREYHOUND BUS DRIVERS AND TERMINAL EMPLOYES, WHICH BEGAN NOV.4, HAS ENDED.

DRIVERS WILL RECEIVE THEIR DEMANDED FIVE-CENTS-PER MILE PAY, AN INCREASE OF 0.75 CENTS PER MILE, AND WILL ALSO RECEIVE 70 CENTS AN HOUR OVERTIME, E.M. MC FARLANE, UNION OFFICIAL, SAID. OTHER CLASSES OF EMPLOYES WILL RECEIVE PROPORTIONATE INCREASES. CONCILIATOR JOHN L. CONE SAID FULL OPERATION OF SCHEDULES WOULD BE RESUMED AT MIDNIGHT TONIGHT. THE DRIVERS ARE MEMBERS OF THE AFL AMALGAMATED ASSOCIATION OF STREET, ELECTRIC RAILWAY AND MOTOR COACH EMPLOYES OF AMERICA.

IN NEW YORK CITY, STOCKHOLDERS OF THE GREEN BUS LINES, INC., GOT BEHIND THE WHEELS WHEN REGULAR DRIVERS QUIT IN WHAT A UNION SPOKESMAN SAID WAS A DISPUTE OVER CONTRACT PROVISIONS.

THE COMPANY TELEPHONED STOCKHOLDERS IN THE METROPOLITAN AREA AND 84 OF THE COMPANY'S 96 BUSES BEGAN ROLLING. THE LINE SERVES 160,000 PERSONS DAILY.

THE NATION'S TOTAL OF IDLE BECAUSE OF LABOR DISPUTES TOTALLED APPROXIMATELY 400,000.

RS304PCS

A145WX (VETS)

(350)(ADVANCE FOR AMS OF SUNDAY DEC.16)

BLIND VETS
BY ROBERT GEIGER

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON,DEC.15-(AP)-AMAZINGLY SUCCESSFUL METHODS THAT PROMISE TO REHABILITATE VIRTUALLY ALL OF THE 1,375 BLINDED VETERANS OF WORLD WAR II ARE TO BE APPLIED TO 505 SIGHTLESS VETERANS OF THE FIRST WORLD WAR STILL CONFINED TO GOVERNMENT INSTITUTIONS.

ANNOUNCING THIS TODAY, MAJ.GEN.PAUL R.HAWLEY, ACTING VA SURGEON GENERAL, SAID THE ARMY REHABILITATION PROGRAM OF WORLD WAR II HAS BEEN SO SUCCESSFUL THERE ARE ONLY SIX BLINDED MEN FROM THE RECENT CONFLICT IN VETERANS ADMINISTRATION HOSPITALS OR HOMES.

THE ARMY HAS ESTABLISHED INSTRUCTION CENTERS WHERE ITS BLINDED MEN ARE GIVEN TRAINING TO MINIMIZE THEIR HANDICAP.

DEC 16 1945

3027-32437

IN ONE OF THESE, OLD FARMS CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL AT AVON, CONN., THEY ARE TAUGHT TO SUBSTITUTE HEARING FOR EYESIGHT AS AN AID IN WALKING AND OTHER ACTIVITIES; THEY ARE TAUGHT TO READ IN BRAILLE AND TO ENGAGE IN A WIDE VARIETY OF OCCUPATIONAL ACTIVITIES AND RECREATIONS. THESE NOT ONLY REKINDLE NORMAL INTERESTS BUT ALSO HELP VETERANS TO CHOOSE SUITABLE OCCUPATIONS.

AFTER MASTERING THE ARMY COURSE OF INSTRUCTION, 680 BLINDED WORLD WAR II VETERANS HAVE BEEN DISCHARGED AND RETURNED TO CIVILIAN LIFE. MOST OF THE OTHERS ARE RECEIVING TRAINING.

THE VETERANS ADMINISTRATION FACES ONE COMPLICATION THE ARMY DID NOT HAVE TO MEET. MANY OF THE 320 WORLD WAR I VETERANS IN VA HOSPITALS, AND OF 135 IN VA HOMES, HAVE BEEN THERE FOR MANY YEARS. MOST ARE MORE THAN 50 YEARS OLD.

WHILE THE ARMY'S BLIND CENTER STAFFS ARE COMPOSED OF PHYSICIANS AND OTHER SPECIALISTS, AND OF PEOPLE WITH NORMAL SIGHT, THE VETERANS ADMINISTRATION PLAN IS TO RETAIN BLIND INSTRUCTORS IN NINE SPECIAL INSTRUCTION CENTERS.

THEY HOPE TO MAKE MOST OF THE WORLD WAR I VETERANS SELF-RELIANT WITH THE IDEA THAT MANY OF THEM MAY LATER BE ABLE TO LEAVE VETERANS INSTITUTIONS.

THEY WILL BE TAUGHT BRAILLE; THE USE OF BRAILLE TYPEWRITERS AND WATCHES; THE USE OF TALKING BOOKS; PERCEPTION OF OBJECTS AND SOUNDS; RECOGNITION OF PEOPLE; HOW TO GET ABOUT WITHOUT AID; PERSONAL HYGIENE; PENCIL WRITING AND THE USE OF HAND TOOLS AND GAMES FOR THE BLIND.

FIRST INSTRUCTOR APPOINTED WAS GEORGE HACKENBURG, FOR 17 YEARS A FIELD REPRESENTATIVE OF THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COUNCIL FOR THE BLIND AND RECENTLY A DICTAPHONE OPERATOR FOR THE VA. EIGHTY VETERANS WILL BE PLACED UNDER HIS GUIDANCE AT THE DAYTON,O., VA HOME.

OTHER VA CENTERS FOR THE BLIND WILL BE IN THE BRONX,N.Y.; AND TUSKEGEE,ALA., VA HOSPITALS; AND IN THE FOLLOWING VA HOMES: BATH,N.Y.; BAY PINES,FLA.; KECOUGHTAN,VA.; LOS ANGELES,CALIF.; MOUNTAIN HOME,TENN., AND WOOD,WIS.

(END ADVANCE FOR AMS OF SUNDAY DEC.16--SENT DEC.14)

FR122AES

A162KX

(WEST OUT)

DENISON, TEX., DEC 15-(AP)-THE BIRTHPLACE HERE OF GENERAL DWIGHT D.EISENHOWER HAS BEEN PURCHASED IN THE NAME OF THE PEOPLE OF DENISON AS A PERMANENT MEMORIAL TO THE ALLIED COMMANDER IN WORLD WAR II.

GROUNDS AROUND THE HOUSE WILL BE LANDSCAPED BUT THE HOME DESIGN WILL REMAIN UNCHANGED. THE CITY OF DENISON WILL ASSUME PERMANENT MAINTENANCE.

NN1!(£

A145

(110)

NEW YORK, DEC.15-(AP)-HUSSEIN ALA, IRANIAN AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES, SAID IN AN ADDRESS TONIGHT THAT THE REVOLT IN AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE IN IRAN HAD BEEN "ARTIFICIALLY CREATED AND INCITED BY DISRUPTIVE ALIEN ELEMENTS COMING IN FROM THE OTHER SIDE OF THE BORDER."

THE AMBASSADOR DECLARED THE REVOLUTIONISTS WERE "ENCOURAGED BY THE PRESENCE OF THE RED ARMY, WHICH IS STILL STATIONED IN IRAN WITHOUT ANY JUSTIFICATION WHATEVER."

SPEAKING AT A DINNER GIVEN IN HIS HONOR BY THE IRANIAN CITIZENS OF AMERICA AND THE IRANIAN COLONY OF NEW YORK, THE AMBASSADOR DECLARED THAT "ALL ATTEMPTS OF THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT TO NEGOTIATE AN AMICABLE AGREEMENT TO SAFEGUARD THE RIGHTS OF THE IRANIAN PEOPLE HAVE BEEN FRUSTRATED."

EV1229AES

MOSCOW, DEC.15-(AP)-AMERICAN DELEGATES TO A WORLD YOUTH CONGRESS, LED BY JOSEPH ENGEL OF NEW YORK, TODAY VISITED LENIN'S TOMB, THE TRETYKOV ART GALLERY, THE BOLSHOI THEATER OPERA AND MOSCOW STATE UNIVERSITY ON A TOUR OF THE SOVIET CAPITAL.

THE DELEGATES EXPLAINED THE PURPOSE OF THEIR VISIT WAS TO GET ACQUAINTED WITH THE LIFE AND LIVING CONDITIONS OF THE SOVIET YOUTH

:::

A63NR

ATLANTIC CITY,N.J.,DEC.15-(AP)-PAUL BAERWALD,HONORARY CHAIRMAN OF THE UNITED JEWISH APPEAL, TOLD 800 AMERICAN JEWISH LEADERS TODAY THAT THEY MUST FORMULATE PLANS AT A MEETING HERE TO RESCUE THE SURVIVING 1,250,000 JEWS IN EUROPE.

IN A SPEECH PREPARED FOR DELIVERY BEFORE THE OPENING SESSION OF THE THREE DAY NATIONAL CONFERENCE, BAERWALD SAID "THE FATE OF MANY THOUSANDS OF JEWS IN EUROPE WILL BE DETERMINED BY THE RESULTS OF T DELIBERATIONS OF THIS MEETING."

"THIS MEETING IS DEDICATED TO THOSE WHO HAVE SURVIVED," HE SAID "IT IS DEDICATED TO THOSE WHO LOOK TO US AND US ALONE TO GIVE THEM EVERY ASSURANCE WITHIN OUR POWER THAT WE SHALL DO OUR UTMOST TO LE THEM LIVE."

BAERWALD SAID THAT IN THE PROGRAM OF THE JOINT DISTRIBUTION COMMITTEE, THE UNITED PALESTINE APPEAL AND THE NATIONAL REFUGEES SERVICE--THE THREE AGENCIES WHICH MAKE UP THE UNITED JEWISH APPEAL--"WE HAVE THE INSTRUMENTS FOR ACCOMPLISHING OUR PURPOSE."

JR822PES NM

RIO DE JANEIRO, DEC 15-(AP)-AN OFFICIAL GOVERNMENT TABULATION GAVE GOVERNMENT CANDIDATE EURICO GASPAR DUTRA A WIDE MARGIN TODAY IN THE BRAZILIAN PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION, AND OPPOSITION CANDIDATE EDUARDO GOMES SAID HE WOULD BROADCAST A STATEMENT TO THE PEOPLE AS SOON AS DUTRA'S ELECTION WAS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED.

THE TABULATION, AS REPORTED BY THE GOVERNMENT NEWS SERVICE FROM THE SUPREME ELECTORAL TRIBUNAL, INCLUDED ALL STATES AND THE FEDERAL DISTRICT OF RIO DE JANEIRO, BUT EXCLUDED FEDERAL TERRITORIES.

IT GAVE DUTRA 2,287,898 VOTES; GOMES 1,506,071; COMMUNIST CANDIDATE YEDDO FIUZA 412,636, AND AGRARIAN CANDIDATE ROLLIM TELLES 7,727.

AN UNOFFICIAL TABULATION FROM THE EXCLUDED FEDERAL TERRITORIES GAVE DUTRA AN ADDITIONAL 7,198; GOMES, 4,175; FIUZA 605, AND TELLES 112, MAKING THE UNOFFICIAL TOTAL AS FOLLOWS: DUTRA 2,766,695; GOMES 1,740,967; FIUZA 475,170; TELLES 8,680.

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE

BERLIN, DEC. 15-(AP)-BY RUNNING HALF-DAY SESSIONS AND IN SOME CASES USING OLDER PUPILS AS TEACHERS INSTRUCTION IS NOW BEING GIVEN TO 86.3 PER CENT OF THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL AGE CHILDRENIN THE AMERICAN OCCUPATION ZONE IN GERMANY, IT WAS REPORTED TODAY.

LT.COL.JOHN W.TAYLOR, 1157 PARK BLVD., BATON ROUGE, LA., CHIEF OF THE EDUCATION SECTION OF THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT, SAID THAT ON DEC. 1 THERE WERE 1,648,883 CHILDREN OF SIX TO 14 YEARS OF AGE IN THE SCHOOLS AND 262,931 REMAINED TO BE ENROLLED.

TAYLOR SAID ALSO THAT GERMAN UNIVERSITIES, TECHNICAL AND VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS OPERATING IN THE AMERICAN ZONE WERE BEING OPENED TO FOREIGN DISPLACED PERSONS.

HE SAID THAT SUCH INSTITUTIONS WILL BE REQUIRED TO ALLOT TEN PER CENT OF THE TOTAL ENROLLMENT IN EACH DEPARTMENT OF THE SCHOOL TO DISPLACED PERSONS. THE MOVE WAS MADE "IN FAIRNESS TO THESE NON-GERMANS AND ANTI-NAZIS WHOSE EDUCATION HAS BEEN INTERRUPTED," HE ADDED.

TAYLOR SAID THAT THE FUEL SHORTAGE REMAINS A TERRIFIC PROBLEM, THREATENING TO CLOSE A LARGE PERCENTAGE OF THE SCHOOLS THIS WINTER. THERE IS ALSO A SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS.

TAYLOR SAID NEARLY 300 SECONDARY SCHOOLS ARE NOW IN OPERATION, AND 90 MORE HAVE BEEN GIVEN PERMISSION TO OPEN. FIVE UNIVERSITIES NOW OPERATING IN THE AMERICAN ZONE ARE OFFERING COURSES IN MEDICINE, LAW, THEOLOGY AND PHILOSOPHY.

DEC 16 1945

BY FRANK O'BRIEN

BUCHAREST, DEC.15-(AP)-A MOVEMENT TO ESTABLISH A COMPROMISE GOVERNMENT ACCEPTABLE BOTH TO KING MIHAI AND THE BIG THREE WAS LAUNCHED HERE TODAY, AS THE FOREIGN MINISTERS OF RUSSIA, GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES PREPARED TO OPEN THEIR CONFERENCE IN MOSCOW.

THE MOVEMENT, WHILE NO MORE THAN TENTATIVE, APPEARS TO HAVE BEEN ORIGINATED BY THE COMMUNISTS, WHICH WOULD IMPLY SOVIET APPROVAL. IT IS BELIEVED THAT EFFORTS WILL BE PUSHED TO COMPLETE THE NEW GOVERNMENT WHILE THE FOREIGN MINISTERS ARE IN SESSION.

AS PROPOSED BY A COMMUNIST EMISSARY TO ONE OF MMM ROMANIA'S BEST KNOWN POLITIVAL NEUTRALS, THE PLAN CALLS FOR A GOVERNMENT TO BE HEADED BY LUCRETIU PATRASCANU, WHO IS NOW MINISTER OF JUSTICE AND WHO IS CONSIDERED MODERATE IN THE COMMUNIST PARTY.

CONSTANTIN, VISOIANU, A NON-PARTY MAN WHO WAS ONE OF THE ARMISTICE NEGOTIATORS, WOULD BE ASKED TOMTAKE THE MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS UNDER THE FORMULA, REPLACING GHEOGHE TATARSCUE, WHO SUPPRESSED ALL PARTIES UNDER FORMER KING CAROL

TOHARI GEORGESCU, COMMUNIST MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR AND ONE OF THE CONTROVERSIAL FIGURES IN THE KING'S DAY RIOTING OF NOV.8 IN WHICH GOVERNMENT TROOPS FIRED ON PERSONS DEMONSTRATING IN FAVOR OF THE KING, WOULD BE REPLACED.

THE PLAN ALSO IMPLIED THAT THE NATIONAL PEASANT AND LIBERAL PARTIES WOULD BE ALLOWED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE GOVERNMENT, BUT THAT THEIR RESPECTIVE LEADERS, JULIU MANIU AND DINU BRATIANU, WOULD BE BARRED FROM GOVERNMENT POSTS.

MANIU AND BRATIANU, WHO HAVE BEEN ACCUSED BY THE COMMUNISTS, OF STARTING THE KING'S DAY RIOTS, WOULD BE ALLOWED TO REMAIN AS PARTY HEADS, HOWEVER, IT WAS REPORTED.

IT WAS CONSIDERED PRACTICALLY CERTAIN THAT THE PEASANT AND LIBERAL PARTIES WOULD DEMUR AND ON THAT ASSUMPTION MANY PERSONS PREDICTED THAT THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY WOULD BE GIVEN A ROLE IN DRAFTING A COMPROMISE.

: : :

DEC

3027-32739

Iran Troops Surrender To Rebels At Tabriz

DEC 17 1945

TEHRAN HITS SOVIET CURB ON DEFENSE

Godwin

Russia Reports Government Formed In Azerbaijan Capital

Tehran, Iran, Dec. 16 (AP)—An Iranian general officer announced today that the small central government garrison at Tabriz had surrendered to insurgents and charged that the Azerbaijan province capital was lost because the Russians placed restrictions on the defending force.

At the same time the Moscow radio announced that an Azerbaijan national government had been established in Tabriz, but it was not clear whether this regime was demanding complete independence of the province from the Central Iranian Government in Tehran.

Government troops besieged at Ardebil, 110 miles northeast of Tabriz and twenty miles from the Russian border, have not been heard from in eleven days, the general said.

200 Soldiers Surrounded

Two hundred more government soldiers at Rezaieh, in the rugged tribal country northwest of Tabriz, radioed yesterday that they were "completely surrounded by 3,000 Kurds, Assyrians and Democrats" but have pledged themselves to "fight to the last man," he added.

The general, who declined to be quoted by name, gave this unconfirmed account of the happenings in Tabriz, the second city of Iran:

The general government dispatched orders last Thursday to its garrisons in Azerbaijan province, totaling less than 2,400 men, telling them to fight where possible or to destroy their arms and return to Tehran.

Garrison Restricted To Barracks

At Tabriz, the general continued, Russsian occupation troops restricted the central government garrison to its barracks and confiscated the officers' side arms.

Then "well-armed Democratic party (insurgent) forces occupied higher buildings completely surrounding the barracks," he said. Radio messages from the provincial capital last night stated that officers of the capitulated garrison now were en route to Tehran.

Approximately 1,000 Iranian troops and police, who were turned back by the Russians at Kazvin three weeks ago while en route to reinforce government garrisons in Azerbaijan, returned to their quarters in Tehran yesterday.

Troop Morale Termed High

Describing the morale of these troops as high, the general said they would be sent to Hamadan, 180 miles southwest of Tehran. He explained that Hamadan "dominated the food routes" into Tehran.

Armored cars and companies of warmly dressed Iranian troops passed through the streets of Tehran last night, but officers said their movement was "only routine."

RUSSIA STUDYING SETUP AT TABRIZ

Relationship To Tehran Still Not Clear To Moscow

(Continued from Page 1)

the framework of the Central Iranian Government.

Tass news agency said that Jafar Pishehvari, Democratic party leader, had become the Premier of the new government and had selected eleven other cabinet members, all of whom were unanimously approved by the Tabriz Parliament.

Tass said that negotiations between General Darahshani, commander of the Central Government forces in Tabriz, and Pishehvari ended with the signing of a protocol placing the Tabriz garrison completely under the authority of the Azerbaijan regime.

Iran Envoys Go To Moscow

The protocol provides that Central Government troops must surrender their arms or remain in their barracks, and permits all officers not wishing to serve in Tabriz to leave for Tehran, Tass said.

Sir Reader Bullard, British Ambassador to Iran, and John Jernigan, second secretary of the United States legation in Tehran, arrived in Moscow yesterday from Iran. They were available for consultation with James F. Byrnes, United States Secretary of State, and Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, who are in Moscow for meetings with V. M. Molotov, Foreign Commissar.

Tehran-Tabriz Link Not Clear To Russia

Moscow, Dec. 16 (AP)—Soviet dispatches, from Tehran, reporting the formation of a national government in Azerbaijan province did not make clear today the relationship between this régime and the Central Government at Tehran.

In reporting the selection of Tabriz as the capital of the new government, the dispatches said the opening session of the Azerbaijan Parliament had adopted a charter or constitution. It was expected that the provisions of this charter, when known, would throw light on the attitude of the Tabriz regime.

Cabinet Selections Reported

The Azerbaijan Assembly recently demanded the right to establish an autonomous regime within

(Continued on Page 3, Column 2)

New Azerbaijan Rule Said To Be 'Democratic'

London, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight that the new government of Azerbaijan province in Iran has issued a program saying the autonomous state would be conducted on "democratic principles" and that relations would not be broken with the Tehran Government.

The broadcast of a Tass dispatch from Tabriz said the new Azerbaijan Government planned immediately to arrange a general election and afterward to transfer administration of the province to the newly elected body.

The radio quoted the government's program as saying that private property would be regarded as "inviolable"; "traitors and reactionaries" cleared from the gendarmie, with reorganization of local militia groups into a "peoples army," and the Azerbaijan language established as the state language.

The new government said it will distribute government-owned land and that of "reactionury landlords who run away from Azerbaijan," to the peasants, the radio added.

EAST COAST HOME FOR UNO FAVORED

LEWIS

Boston Makes Bid, but San Francisco and Mid-West Cities Are Contenders.

LONDON, Dec. 16—(AP) Boston and San Francisco appeared tonight to be in the lead among United States cities seeking to become the permament home of the United Nations organization, but an American delegate said many others still were definitely in the running and no forecast was possible at the present time.

Some of the delegates to the preparatory commission, including those from Australia, China and the Philippines, definitely have stated their preference for San Francisco, birthplace of the world peace agency.

Favor East Coast

But European delegates, losers in the hard battle for the permanent home, tended to favor selection of an east coast American city for the honor.

Because of the press of the delegates' work before adjournment, it was considered unlikely by some of them that the question of a site could be settled by the year's end. Some thought the matter might be left to the general assembly after a subcommittee visits a number of the bidding cities.

Boston appeared to be leading among east coast cities for several reasons. The delegation from Massachusetts, headed by Gov. Maurice Tobin, made a deep impression upon the subcommittee when it presented Boston's case. Also, Boston is the closest of the American eastern seaboard cities to Europe, and the British appear to consider Boston more friendly to Britain than many other American towns.

Delegates Undecided

Many delegations still are undecided about their choice, and an American delegate said such cities as Chicago, Philadelphia, Atlantic City and a number of others indefinitely were still being considered. The subcommittee of seven hearing the cases of the American cities has also scheduled tentative sessions for the representative of Cincinnati, Ohio, and for John D. Kerr, Jr., representing St. Louis, Mo.

The committee will meet again tomorrow to begin its consideration of the individual cities.

It was considered likely that the committee would take a few straw votes in an effort to narrow down the number of contenders. There are nearly 40.

A draft of an agreement is being prepared for the winning city. It must by signed by the host state. This agreement, as drawn up by a subcommittee, provides for full United Nations ownership of the land where the organization is situated, and of additional land where radio stations, an airport and a railway station could be built if these are necessary.

"The United Nations zone is inviolable," the agreement reads.

Contains Other Guarantees

It contains other guarantees of noninterference with United Nations administration by the host state.

It provides that in peace and war the host government must guarantee adequate communications, including transportation, to and from the zone. Free visas are to be given without delay to delegates, secretariat officials and their families, as well as to accredited press, radio and film representatives.

The decision to place the organization home in the United States has led to a European drive for a strong regional office of the United Nations in Europe, possibly at Geneva, where old League of Nations buildings could be used.

Agencies May Be In Europe

In addition, Europeans say some specialized agencies might be quartered in Europe, such as the health organization and the European inland transport commission. Assembly meetings also might occasionally be held in European headquarters, these delegates say.

The delegates also pointed out that it is now almost certain that the secretary general of the organization will not be an American. A European is considered by them the likeliest candidate, although several Canadians have been mentioned.

With the location of the organization's home out of the way, the preparatory commission is expected to rush its work to a quick conclusion preparatory to the meeting of the General Assembly in January.

Nazi Chiefs Resigned to Death As Evidence Piles Up at Trial

NUERNBERG, Dec. 16 — (AP) Virtually all the 21 frightened men facing the international military tribunal are resigned to death in expiation for the crimes of Nazism, Nuernberg jail attendants reported today.

The crushing weight of the evidence against them—tons of signed records which told in their own words of the enslavement of nearly 7,000,000 foreigners and the extermination of 6,000,000 Jews—has given the unnerved defendants their worst weekend since the trial began and produced a wave of fatalism among them.

Schacht Hopes for Acquittal

Of the 21 Nazi leaders on trial, only Hjalmar Schacht, former reichminister of economics who considers himself an abused party in these proceedings, holds grimly to the hope of acquittal. The remainder seemed to be preparing themselves for a sentence of death.

The joviality and confidence of Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering has faded. He is reported torn between fear of the future of his wife and daughter now held in an American prison camp and dread that his boastful reputation as an "honorable soldier" will be soiled for all time.

Goering's personal influence over the other prisoners is waning, and there is a falling out among the Nazi defendants. Such men as former Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz and former Hitler youth leader Baldur von Schirach are openly criticizing the one-time German air chief.

Keitel Resigned to Death

Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, former chief of the high command, has told interrogators he is resigned to execution. He was described as extremely downcast by the documents produced in evidence showing that German army engineers were used to blow up Jewish hideouts during the Warsaw ghetto massacre.

"I should have spent more time in the field and learned what the individual units were doing," he was quoted as saying.

Hans Fritzsche, former chief of Nazi radio propaganda, whose name scarcely has been mentioned during the trial, was quoted as saying "it makes little difference whether the victors kill us or we kill ourselves afterward. We can't go on living." This sentiment was shared by other defendants, it was reported.

Most dejected of all the prisoners is Hans Frank, former Nazi governor-general of Poland, and the submission of his diary in evidence did nothing to help his tortured state of mind. As item after item in the diary noted Frank's satisfaction with "special measures" against Jews and Poles, he became more and more downcast.

"Why did I write that?" he moaned to his jailmates later.

At present all 21 defendants constitute unique subjects for clinical psychiatric study. Maj. Douglas M. Kelley of San Francisco and Lt. Gustave Gilbert of New York, former teachers at the University of California and Columbia university respectively, now are completing a series of tests of the defendants to determine character traits.

In the next four days before the tribunal recesses until Jan. 2, the prosecution will produce another load of captured papers. These relate to the calculated planning of the German cabinet, the leadership corps of the National Socialist party, the S.S. and the S.A., the security service and secret police, the general staff and the high command.

These will be added to the crushing weight of documentary evidence which pictured with pitiless clarity the broad historical outlines of the rise of Nazism and the deliberate campaign of extermination by which the leaders hoped to make the Third Reich supreme for 1,000 years.

British Government Does Not Own Stock

LONDON, Dec. 16—(AP) A British treasury official said today that the government's wartime control of foreign securities held by British Nationals had been misconstrued by the United Automobile Workers' union as ownership of General Motor shares.

The official recalled that all foreign securities had been declared by individual owners here during the war in order to bolster the government's foreign credits. These stocks, he said, were held by the government but were the legal property of the owners.

Meanwhile a spokesman at No. 10 Downing street said that the request of the U.A.W.-C.I.O. for British intervention in the General Motors strike had not yet been received, and he declined further comment.

R. J. Thomas, president of the UAW, said in Detroit yesterday he had called on Prime Minister Attlee for intervention in the strike by the British Government, which Thomas described as a "substantial owner of General Motors stocks."

Stock Pledge Noted

The Sunday Times (no connection with the London Times) quoted a Bank of England official as saying that more than 400,000 General Motors shares had been pledged by the British Government to the United States Reconstruction Finance Corporation as collateral against a loan made early in the war.

"The shares are held in the British Government's name, but any dividends are paid to the original British owners from whom they were borrowed early in the war," the official was quoted as saying.

British Emptying Bomb Of T.N.T.

London, Dec. 16 (AP)—Army engineers worked twenty feet below the earth's surface tonight pumping 3,000 pounds of T.N.T. from a two-ton "dud" bomb which fell in a South Croydon lumber yard five years ago.

After giving the eight and one-half foot missile an all-day bath of live steam, Lieut. A. Frake and Sergeant W. S. Collins of the Royal Engineers began removing the explosive charge and hoped to finish the job before dawn.

Meanwhile, twenty families were evacuated from the area and all traffic was diverted.

An attempt to remove the fuse from one of the last known unexploded enemy bombs in England previously had failed.

SWISS REPATRIATED

BERN, Switzerland, (AP)—Approximately 2,000 Swiss citizens have been repatriated from the Russian-occupied zones of Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Austria and Germany. Swiss authorities said some 5,000 Swiss citizens remained in those areas and that they were being given an opportunity for repatriation.

MUTINY IN SYRIA

PARIS, Dec. 16—(AP) Dispatches from Syria to the French news agency said today a small scale mutiny broke out yesterday among native christian troops at Homs, north of Damascus.

The dispatches said the mutiny was led by a young captain who was an instructor in the Homs military school, and brought "a quick reaction."

Dispatches did not make clear whether the mutiny was suppressed immediately. Messages reaching Paris said only that government forces in Damascus "tried to capture" the military school.

British military forces, responsible for order in Syria, were reported on the alert against any spread of disorder.

Port Of Le Havre Put Off Limits For Yanks

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Joseph V. Dillon, provost marshal general of the European theater of operations, today said certain sections of Le Havre had been placed off limits for American service men because there had been "a little hell-raising."

General Dillon, who arrived today aboard the troopship Thomas H. Barry, was among 3,284 enlisted men, 170 officers and 407 nurses returning from Europe.

Maj. Gen. Thomas J. Finley, commander of the 89th Division, was greeted by his wife, who came from Washington.

Another troopship arriving today was the Maryville Victory, with 1,554 troops from Marseille.

T/5 William F. Hare, of Camden, N.J., who has been in the Army four and a half years, became a casualty as the ship anchored in the harbor. He was stricken with appendicitis and was taken to the Fort Hamilton Hospital.

Other arrivals at New York today were the Robert Paine, with 512 men; James J. Hill, 639; Charles Aycock, 632; Joseph Hewes, 559; Tabitha Brown, 567; Greenville H. Dodge, 625; Brand Whitlock, 22; Walter Forward, 699, and F. J. Lukenback, 164.

Paris Children Guests Of U.S. Christmas Party

Paris, Dec. 16 (AP)—Nearly 5,000 youngsters from the Paris area whose fathers were killed during the war were guests of the United States Army and the American Red Cross at a Christmas party today. Each child received a toy from his GI hosts.

Approximately 10,000 more toys, shipped from the United States by the Red Cross, will be distributed at later Christmas parties.

Hess Reported Trying To Prove 'A Real Man'

Berlin, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Social Democratic party newspaper Das Volk published today what it described as a photostatic copy of a secret letter from Martin Bormann to Heinrich Himmler in which Bormann expressed the opinion that Rudolf Hess flew to Scotland in May, 1941, to prove "he was a real man."

According to the newspaper the letter was written by Bormann, Deputy Party Führer, on June 19, 1941. It was datelined from the Führer's headquarters and Bormann represented its contents as expressing "the conviction of the Führer," the newspaper said.

Das Volk quoted the letter as saying:

"Hess was depressed over impotence which a treatment failed to cure. He wanted to show that despite this he was a real man and he thought of aviation as the most daring thing he could do. . . . By the flight he wanted to prove his manhood to himself, his wife, the (Nazi) party and the German people."

Displaced Jews Strike At British Zone Camps

Montgomery Denies Troops Clubbed Inmates

BERLIN, Dec. 16 (AP).—Field Marshal Bernard L. Montgomery headquarters said in a statement today that Jews in several displaced persons' camps in the British occupation zone had staged strikes in protest against British policies in Palestine, but the statement denied stories that British troops had clubber Jewish inmates of the camps.

The statement said: "At some D. P. camps a one-day strike by Jewish D. P.s was instituted, taking the form of a refusal to eat and do normal duties. Such strikes were treated with great tolerance by authorities in charge of the camps. Stories that British troops in Germany have clubbed Jews in D. P. camps are untrue."

The statement added that on Nov. 16, three days after Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had made his statement in the House of Commons on Palestine, inmates of the Polish Jewish camps at Vinhorst came to the offices of the Jewish Committee at Hannover to collect rations.

"The opportunity was taken to stage a 'demonstration' in the city against the British Palestine problem," the statement said.

PATTON WINNING PARALYSIS FIGHT

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 16.—(AP) Army medical specialists said tonight that Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., apparently was winning a battle to throw off the paralysis which has gripped him since his neck was broken a week ago in an automobile accident near Mannheim.

The colorful American general, slowly was regaining feeling in his numbed limbs and his broken neck was well on the way to recovery, the specialists said.

Mrs. Patton spent most of the day with her husband while prayers were said for the general in the chapel of the 130th station hospital. The text of tonight's medical bulletin:

"Gen. Patton has had a comfortable day. Temperature 98.8 degrees, pulse 64, respiration 20. There has been no change in his general or neurological condition since the morning report."

The morning bulletin:

"Gen. Patton had a comfortable night. General condition excellent. Alert and cheerful. Improvement in spinal cord function is maintained. Temperature 99 degrees, pulse 64, respiration 22."

Air Technicians Reach Vienna

VIENNA, Dec. 16 (AP).—Nearly thirty technical employees of Pan-American World Airways arrived in Vienna today on a flight from New York to Calcutta to survey facilities for passenger service. Captain George A. Doole jr., in command of the flight, said that if arrangements could be made Pan-American would begin passenger operations over a route from New York through Europe via the Balkans to Asia in the late winter or early spring of 1946.

30.24-32751

SUGAR FOR POLES

WARSAW, (AP)—Sugar factories in Poland plan to produce 200,000 tons by next spring. Ten plants have started production—at Irena, Garbow, Lublin, Gniezno, Szamotuly, Zbierk, Znin, Dobre, Kruszwica and Matwy—and 20 more factories are slated to resume production shortly, making sugar from sugar beets.

Sweden Launches Destroyer

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 16 (AP)—The new Swedish destroyer Oeland, which, Swedish naval experts say, has stronger anti-aircraft equipment than any other destroyer in the world, was launched at Malmoe today.

Man Resembling Scorza Held By Italian Police

Rome, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Italian news agency Ansa reported today that Milan police had arrested a man who bore a "striking physical resemblance" to Carlo Scorza, former secretary of the Fascist party.

The dispatch said the man denied he was Scorza, but police were holding him for further investigation.

New National Assembly Of Bulgaria Convenes

Sofia, Dec. 15 [(AP) Delayed]—Bulgaria's new National Assembly was convened today with an inaugural address by Regent Venelin Ganev, who called for collaboration with the United States and Britain so that "the peace of the Balkans may finally be guaranteed."

[The Moscow radio said Vassili Kolorov was unanimously elected chairman of the Assembly by secret ballot.]

BIG THREE LEADERS OPEN CONFERENCE

Initial Session in Moscow Goes Over Procedure to Be Established.

MOSCOW, Dec. 16—(AP) A British embassy spokesman said the foreign ministers of the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States met tonight for about two and one half hours and woud meet again tomorrow afternoon.

No other statement would be forthcoming on the first session of the conference, the spokesman added.

Routine Business Scheduled

The conferees at Speridonifka palace were not expected to accomplish much more than routine business at the first session. None of the major issues plaguing the postwar world was likely to come up for discussion until U. S Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin and Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav M. Molotov had settled matters of procedure.

In all likelihood the foreign ministers first would settle the time for their succeeding meetings and the length of those sessions. They would also be expected to discuss the question of chairmanship—whether there should be a single permanent chairman for the conference or a rotating chairmanship.

The first meeting also might touch on procedure as regards the agenda for the conference—which matters should be taken up first.

Reads Diplomatic Reports

Byrnes spent his morning hard at work, reading a State department report forwarded to him from Washington on matters in many parts of the world which will require his attention while he is in Moscow. His headquarters is at Spaso house, home of U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman.

Both Byrnes and Bevin were described as eager for the conferences to begin. An informed source said it was Byrnes' hope that the daily sessions in Moscow might not be as long and drawn out as were the meetings of the council of five foreign ministers in London. The length of the sessions there, it was stated in American circles, contributed somewhat to the breakdown of that conference.

Bevin was up early and conferred with his staff, including British Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark Kerr and the British ambassador to Iran, Sir Reader William Bullard.

There was no indication up to noon that Byrnes had conferred with his Iran expert, John D. Jernigan, attaché of the United States Legation in Tehran. But the Iran question, including the continued presence of occupation troops there and the movement in Azerbaijan province for autonomy, is high on the agenda for this conference.

Moscow newspapers displayed prominently Bevin's call on Molotov after his arrival here, and the visit to Molotov by Byrnes and Harriman.

MINISTERS START TALKS IN MOSCOW

Only Routine Business Expected At First Session

London, Dec. 16 (AP) — James F. Byrnes, United States Secretary of State, Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Commissar, and Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, met this afternoon in the first session of their three-power conference, British dispatches from Moscow said.

Before the meeting, the dispatches reported, Bevin conferred with Sir Reader William Bullard, British Ambassador to Iran, on the latest developments in that country.

Trial For 10 Germans Started In Smolensk

Moscow, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Russians opened their own domestic war crimes trial in Smolensk, Saturday when ten Germans were arraigned before a military tribunal and charged with atrocities in the region during the Nazi occupation.

The indictment charges them with participating in the killing of more than 135,000 Soviet citizens, looting and destroying industrial enterprises and houses, experimenting on Russian captives and draining blood from children for transfusions to German soldiers.

A dispatch to Izvestia said all the accused were of low rank, acting under orders from still uncaptured General von Schenkendorf, who in turn acted under directives of the German High Command.

Ukrainan Families Resettled

Moscow, Dec. 16 (AP)—The newspaper Izvestia said today in a dispatch from Odessa that more than 7,000 Ukranian families have been resettled in the Odessa region from Poland under a recent Soviet-Polish agreement.

Cairo Cabinet Okays Bretton Woods

Cairo, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Egyptian Cabinet today approved the Bretton Woods monetary agreement and an Egyptian contribution of $85,000. Parliament must make the final ratification.

ISTANBUL INCIDENT CALLED 'DOMESTIC'

Turks, Baring Reply to Soviet Note, Deny Disorders Had Anti-Russian Flavor

ANKARA, Dec. 15 (Delayed) (AP)—A Turkish note to the Soviet Union denied today that the student demonstrations in Istanbul on Dec. 4 had reflected a hostile attitude toward Russia, and it charged that false information from Tass, Soviet news agency, was at the base of the misunderstanding.

The text of the Russian protest and the Turkish reply were released after a Moscow radio broadcast had issued summaries of the documents. The Moscow radio summary ended with an assertion that the Turkish reply was unsatisfactory, but the Turkish authorities made no comment.

The Turkish note, replying to a Soviet protest that said that the outbreak had been of a hostile character, which the Soviet Union could not permit to pass unnoticed, said the demonstrations had been purely domestic in nature, showing public reaction against "theories professed by certain Turkish newspaper men."

During the demonstration students attacked two newspaper offices, Tan and Turquie, often said to have Leftist leanings—and two bookstores in which, Tass said, Soviet literature was on sale. Tass claimed at the time that "Fascist demonstrators * * * shouted provocative remarks to Russians, and street cars and buses were covered with anti-Soviet placards."

TEXT OF SOVIET PROTEST

The text of the Soviet note to Ankara:

According to information received by the Soviet Government during the Istanbul demonstrations Dec. 4, there was shouting several times of hostile words against the Soviet Union; two bookstores selling Russian publications were wrecked and Soviet books were destroyed, which indicates the demonstrations had a hostile character toward the Soviet Union. These hostile acts occurred in the absence of any sort of counter-action on the part of the Turkish police which protected the demonstrations.

The Soviet Government cannot let such provocative acts toward Soviet Russia pass unnoticed, and declares that responsibility for the above-mentioned acts falls on the Turkish Government.

THE TURKISH REPLY

The text of the Turkish reply:

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs, after careful examination of the Russian note, has the honor of letting the Russian Embassy know the answers to different points brought up in the note.

First, it must be emphasized that a detailed inquest made by competent authorities has established in conclusive fashion that the Istanbul demonstrations were purely of a domestic nature. In the same way as in several other countries where the press at present has complete freedom, divers ideologies fight each other today in Turkish publications.

It results, from official reports as well as from a number of reports sent their newspapers by foreign correspondents, that the demonstrations simply were a mark of reaction on the part of public opinion against the theories professed by certain Turkish newspaper men.

Neither in intention nor in fact has the incident surpassed this, and it is absolutely erroneous to attribute to it a hostile character against the Soviet Union. It is a matter of fact that following this contention the Tass representative was amicably invited by the direction of the Turkish Press Bureau, where he had presented a completely false report, to correct its errors.

Russians Referred to Courts

The Tass representative absolutely refused to do so and may be unwittingly at the basis of the misunderstanding between the two countries concerning the purport of the incident.

However, in order to show its neighbor country proof of its excellent dispositions, the Government of the Turkish Republic, on the basis of these points, authorized the start of a further inquest with a view to establish, despite the evidence of fact of the intention of fishermen fishing in troubled waters interested in provoking artificial complications in Turko-Russian affairs, if any such thing existed from near or far.

The answer received on this subject is convincing and is of a nature to give full satisfaction to the Turkish Government. The demonstrations of Dec. 4 did not mark, either by shouting or by acts, any hostile character to any foreign power.

As concerns material destruction, the Turkish Government is informed of damages suffered by several book stores, and unfortunately among these people is a Russian citizen. The people who have suffered damages should, in order to make their demands valid, follow the normal course of judiciary procedure. Turkish citizens who have suffered damages have already presented their claims.

The information trying to attribute to the demonstrations a so-called hostile character to the U.S.S.R. has been definitely and completely discarded. There is no question of a mistake on the part of police forces and no responsibility whatsoever on the part of the Turkish Government.

Change in Greek Envoys Due

ATHENS, Dec. 16 (AP).—Athens newspapers said today broad changes in Greek diplomatic posts abroad have been decided upon by Foreign Minister John Sophianopoulos, including changes in ambassadors at Washington, London, Paris and Moscow.

British Officer Denies Accusing Dutch Troops

Batavia, Java, Dec. 16 (AP)—Official denial was made today that Lieut. Col. H. C. G. Harding, British assistant provost marshal, said on November 24 that 60 Indonesian police were shot down "in cold blood" by Dutch and Amboinese troops in an attack on the Indonesian central police station here, as reported by the Associated Press.

Denial In Letter

British Brigadier MacLean, in a letter to the Netherlands Indies Government Information Service on Dec. 12, said the statements attributed to Harding were "entirely false and a distortion of the true facts."

He asserted that Harding at a press conference actually had said 63 members of the civil police, including some inspectors, were taken prisoner by Dutch military personnel November 18 and on his (Harding's) orders some of them were released.

Harding today approved MacLean's letter as presenting the facts but declined further comment.

It is understood here that Harding elaborated on his November 24 press conference statement at a subsequent interview.

Notes Taken At Interview

Morton, who has returned to Sydney after his assignment in Java, said "notes were taken at the interview with Harding and I am certain Harding made the statement."

"I heard and saw some of the shooting that took place near the Indonesian police station November 18," Morton said, "and later I was shown a 21-day-old baby lying wounded in an Indonesian hospital, where Indonesian doctors told me she was the victim of the police station shooting. At the same time I was shown wounded Indonesian police officers."

British Fleet Command Changed

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 16 (AP)—Vice Adm. Sir Arthur John Power relinquished command of the East Indies Fleet today and was succeeded by Vice Admiral Clement Moody. The East Indies Fleet was formed a year ago when the Eastern Fleet was divided into the British Pacific Fleet under Admiral Sir Bruce A. Fraser and the unit commanded by Admiral Power.

BRITISH BURN JAVA VILLAGE

Action Follows Sniping At Indian Railroad Guard

Batavia, Java, Dec. 16 (AP)—British Indian troops burned an Indonesian village today, as Premier Sutan Sjahrir and President Soekarno of the unrecognized Indonesian republic started on a "pacification tour" of Java.

The British announced that the Indian troops put the torch to a village near Buitenzorg, 30 miles south of Batavia, after sniping from the village prevented them from guarding a rail crossing where some British forces had been ambushed.

Sjahrir, just before his departure, indicated he was expecting more detailed Dutch peace proposals to the Indonesians, and at the same time expressed concern over the possibility of American aid to the Dutch.

Hears Marines Are On Way

Declaring that he had heard "Dutch Marines" trained in the United States were on their way to the Indies, "probably to be used not in Java but in the outer islands," Sjahrir added:

"There was a certain amount of American help for the French cause in Indo China in the shipment of troops. I hope America won't similarly serve Dutch interests here."

Meanwhile the British said yesterday that Aroedji, leader of the Indonesian People's Peace Army (TKR) in Bandoeng, recommended that "strong action" be taken against the Nationalists in the northern part of the town, "even to the extent of full military action."

British Troops Would Act

Contrary to previous reports, such action would be by Britsh troops, since the TKR lacks power to control the forces opposing the British in Bandoeng.

Yesterday the Associated Press erroneously identified Aoerdji as leader of TKR forces in Java.

The Britsh said the Indonesian army "is proving more cooperative and has expressed a desire to increase their efforts to restore order."

Meantime, the Dutch news agency Aneta said the fate of approximately 1,000 men, women and children compelled by the Indonesians to evacuate Soerabaja during the fighting there last month was unknown, even to British military authorities.

try's manifold difficulties can be settled without civil war.

Both sides praised President Truman's declaration of United States policy toward China, although the Communist acclaim was tinged with skepticism, and both sides looked hopefully to the arrival of General Marshall, now en route, whose first assignment as United States envoy is to seek an end to internal strife.

Comments On Statement

Government quarters received Truman's statement with enthusiasm and said it agrees fully with their own present policies. They "warmly welcomed" his assertion that the United States would assist the Chiang Kai-shek Government in every reasonable way.

Communists applauded the "whole spirit" of the Truman declaration, and a spokesman said they particularly welcomed United States recognition of the fact China now has one-party rule, whereas the Communists consistently have sought a broad coalition government.

Truman's declaration that support of China's National government would not extend to military intervention in internal strife, however, drew from the Communists only a polite: "We hope this is so."

Hope For Marshall Action

Their spokesman added, "We hope that when General Marshall arrives, this point will be effectively implemented."

He reiterated that Communists would have no objection to national-

Communist publication.

Already waiting in Chungking were two delegates, Tung Pi-wu, who accompanied the Chinese delegation to the San Francisco United Nations conference; and Wang Jo-fei, Communist executive committeeman.

Oppressions Dispelled

As the peace conference was due to get under way before Christmas, Chungking official quarters declared that President Truman's reaffirmation of American policy dispelled disquieting apprehensions of change.

They said it was the central Government's policy to broaden its base so that representative elements could participate, citing as evidence of their good intentions the creation of an all-party Political Consultative Council to try to settle outstanding differences with the Communists.

Despite these and other expressions, wordy conflict between the factions continued today without noticeable abatement.

A Government dispatch from North China said that 20,000 Communists were preparing a counter-offensive against National forces pushing north near Jehol province along the Peiping-Jehol railway and that five bridges on that line had been destroyed by the Communists.

Charge Newsboys Are Beaten

The Communists in turn charged that Government secret service men were trying to limit circulation of the New China Daily News, Communist paper. They said that here and elsewhere, newsboys were being beaten and readers intimidated.

Meanwhile, the Government's occupation of Manchuria was progressing smoothly.

A Government dispatch from that territory said that China and Russia had agreed on specific measures for Chinese assumption of the administration. It also reported "satisfactory results" at a conference in Changchun, Manchurian capital, on methods of taking over the defensive system now manned by Russians, plus agreement "in principle" on military supply questions.

caught their first glimpse of the Chiangs as the couple rode to the parade grounds, but the public was excluded from the field.

Marine police and Chinese secret service men guarded the Chiangs as they watched the Marines parade in full battle kit with tank-destroyers and artillery. Thirty-six Marine Corsair planes flew in formation overhead.

The north wind was so brisk that it blew one Marine's helmet from his head and sent clouds of dust whirling. Chiang endured it but Madame Chiang took refuge in the car of Maj. Gen. Keller E Rockey, commander of the Third Amphibious corps, along with Prudence Hemingway of New York, Alma Durns of Greenwich, Conn., and Theodora Morgan of Brooklyn, all Red Cross girls.

General Rockney, Brig. William A. Worton, his chief of staff; and Brig. Gen. Louis R. Jones, commanding the Peiping Marine detachment; members of their staffs and nine Marine fliers were decorated by Chiang with the Order of the Sun and White Cloud for their work in disarming and repatriating Japanese.

Other Marines received American decorations, pinned on them by the generalissimo, for bravery in the Okinawa and Palau campaigns.

Five-Year Air Plan for China

CHUNGKING, Dec. 16 (AP).—A five-year plan for the development of civilian aviation in China was reported today in the Chinese press, which said the program would give China 40,000 miles of air lines. The plan calls for the expansion of air lines to Formosa, Hainan, Manchuria, Japan, Siam, Burma, the Philippines and Australia.

Frenchman And Briton Arrested In Shanghai

Shanghai, Dec. 16 (AP)—Roland Sarley, former director of French municipal police at Shanghai, and L. K. Kentwell, former British attorney who renounced British citizenship, were taken into custody today by Woosung (Shanghai) garrison headquarters for investigation. Headquarters said the investigation involved alleged collaborationist activities.

Sarley's arrest was protested by the French, who contended it was in violation of prewar treaties.

Kentwell, garrison headquarters said, once served in the Legislative Yuan of the puppet Nanking Government.

WAC's Bound Home From China

Shanghai, Dec. 16 (AP)—Thirty WAC's from China Theater Army Air Force headquarters left for the United States today aboard the troopship General Scott. They were the first to leave the China theater. Some had served as long as sixteen months in Burma and China.

KONOYE ACCEPTS CHINA WAR GUILT IN SUICIDE NOTE

Ex-Premier Defends His Role in Other Events in Pacific.

TRIED TO PLACATE U. S.

American Prosecutor Acts to Halt Hari-Kari Among Other Suspects.

TOKYO, Dec. 16 — (AP) Prince Fumimaro Konoye, 54, three times premier of Japan, committed suicide by poison today to escape American trial as a war criminal.

Joseph B. Keenan, special prosecutor of the top war crimes cases, promptly issued a statement telling the Japanese people there is nothing to fear from American justice if they are innocent and their consciences clear.

Final Note Revealed

A written statement in which Konoye rejected the "humiliation" of facing trial was disclosed several hours after Princess Konoye found his body on his bedroom floor at 6 a.m. The statement accepted responsibility for the China conflict. His son, Michitaka, in a separate statement, said his father had left written documents defending his part in the tripartite pact and the preludes to the Pacific war.

Konoye was named as a war criminal suspect Dec. 6 and was instructed to surrender at Sugamo prison by midnight tonight.

Last night he gave a dinner for close friends and relatives at his lavish suburban home, talking with them for several hours afterward. They reported him "normal" when the party broke up about 11:30 p.m., although his secretary later recalled that he had appeared depressed at intervals.

Refers to Suicide

Referring directly to the suicide, Prosecutor Keenan said: "No person confined as a suspect need fear unless his own conscience insists on or emphasizes his own guilt.

"It has been made abundantly clear that no person will be convicted unless convicted by a judicial process which has proved its outstanding fairness for generations by and among one of the foremost of civilized nations.

"Consequently, anyone who takes his life does so either as a result of an unsound mind or an unsound and unwarranted estimate as to the American judicial process in the suppression of crime."

Konoye's farewell statement was written during a final conference with his second son, 22-year-old Michitaka. He handed the single sheet of pencilled characters to his son before bidding him goodnight at 2 a.m. Three hours later the prince swallowed the poison which apparently gave him a swift and relatively painless death.

Tomohiko Ushida, family secretary and spokesman who apparently did not know of the existence of the note until it was announced at a news conference by Lt. Col. B. E. Sackett, chief investigator for Keenan, said that at last night's dinner "the prince was greately concerned about the future of the emperor, particularly in connection with the general policy which is being adopted by the Americans."

Ushida said, however, that there had been no mention of abdication or the possibility of the emperor's being named a war criminal.

Upholds Emperor System

Konoye told his son to uphold the emperor system. Prior to the order for his arrest, he had been working on a proposed constitutional revision at the emperor's suggestion.

Konoye last was premier shortly before Japan's attack on the United States. He was succeeded in October, 1941, by Hideki Tojo, the "Pearl Harbor" premier.

"I have been most greatly concerned with the fact that I have committeed certain errors in the handling of state affairs since the outbreak of the China incident (in 1937)", Konoye's note said.

"I cannot, however, stand the humiliation of being apprehended and tried by the American court. I cannot but feel especially responsible for the outcome of the China incident and for this reason I tried my best to attain an understanding between the United States and Japan in the hope that only such an understanding could solve the China problem.

"It is indeed a matter of great regret to have been named as a war criminal by the United States, with whom I wanted and tried to work together for a peaceful solution of Pacific affairs. I believe my real intention is even now understood and appreciated by my friends including not a few friends in America. Public opinion of the world, which is at present full of the overexcitement and passion of war, misunderstanding innocence and otherwise malicious libels and unfounded rumors, will in time restore its calmness and balances. Only then a just verdict will be given at the court of the gods."

The family spokesman said Prince Konoye "was worried about the general state of affairs in Japan. He feared some disorders might take place. He mentioned that the Japanese people 'ought to pull themselves together'".

The spokesman said there was no mention at last night's dinner of the prince's scheduled imprisonment.

Konoye returned Monday after a week at his summer villa at Karuizawa, where he spent much time reading.

Other high-ranking war criminal suspects named on the Dec. 6 list reported to Sugamo prison today. Among them was Marquis Koichi Kido, close advisor of Emperor Hirohito. He declined to comment on the Konoye suicide.

69 JAPS ACCUSED

TOKYO, Dec. 16. — (AP) Arrest of 69 additional Japanese prisoner of war camp officials, guards and civilian employes suspected of atrocities against Allied prisoners was ordered today by General MacArthur.

Camps in which they had served included several in Manchuria as well as 30 scattered through Japan.

Nearly 300 other suspects had been listed earlier. A U. S. military commission is to meet Monday to arrange their trials.

JAP DIPLOMAT RECALLED

TOKYO, Dec. 16—(AP) Supreme Allied headquarters today ordered severance of diplomatic relations between Japan and the Vatican.

The action came in an extension of a previous Allied directive de-

Communist Leaders Arrive In Chungking

Both Chinese Factions Praise Statement Of American Policy Issued By Truman

Chungking, Dec. 16 (AP)—A delegation of leading Chinese Communists arrived here today for peace talks almost simultaneously with President Truman's statement urging Chinese unity, evoking new expressions of hope that this country's internal problems can be solved peacefully.

tionalization of the Chinese army—eliminating the separate Chinese Communist forces—if a truly representative government were formed.

The newly-arrived Communist delegates are Gen. Chou En-lai, deputy leader of the party; his wife—a former national party executive committeewoman; Gen. Yeh Chien-ying, chief of staff of the Communist armies; Wu Yu-chang, former member of the People's Political Council at Hankow; and Li Ting-yi, of the Penan official

CHIANG REVIEWS MARINES IN CHINA

PEIPING, Dec. 16—(AP) Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek reviewed a parade of the U. S. Fifth Marine regiment near the legation quarter today and presented awards to more than a score of officers and men.

Several thousand spectators

30.27-32743

manding recall of various Japanese diplomatic missions abroad, and providing that diplomatic property of Japan throughout the world be turned over to the Allied powers.

U. S. Artillery Fired in Japan

TOKYO, Dec. 16 (AP)—The first artillery piece fired on Japanese soil by Americans sent a shell into the side of Mount Fuji today. The firing was part of a training program. Pvt. Paul F. Strong of Ashland, Ohio, fired the shot as the No. 2 gun crew of Battery A, Eighty-second Field Artillery Battalion, First Cavalry Division, rehearsed.

JAP SCIENTISTS URGED TO DEVELOP RESOURCES

TOKYO, Dec. 16. — (AP) Allied headquarters today urged Japan's scientists to tackle the problem of increasing petroleum and coal production and developing other natural resources.

Lt. Col. Hubert G. Schenck, chief of the natural resources section of General MacArthur's staff, noted in a message to a meeting of research leaders that:

"Japan's geologists can contribute a great deal toward a permanent peace between nations by helping to solve many economic problems arising from material shortages."

It is up to them, he asserted, "to make their full contribution toward building a stable Japanese economy. Scientists in other fields must devote their principal attention to the solving of their similarly practical problems."

Methods are now being devised, he added, to permit exchange of published scientific information between Japan and other countries.

FINAL TOUCH

WITH THE 32nd DIVISION, Japan, (AP)—The fighting is over, but Japanese warplanes still are going up in smoke. More than 150 of them have been set afire and destroyed by demolition troops of Brig. Gen. Robert B. McBride's 32nd Infantry Division. McBride's men are mopping up the remnants of Japanese fighting equipment in northern Kyushu and southern Honshu.

Marshall Plane Reaches Hawaii

Honolulu, Dec. 16 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, en route to his post as the new United States Ambassador to China, arrived at Hickman Field today.

"I have no comment to make on anything except that it is a beautiful day," Marshall said.

Accompanied by his secretary, Chief Warrant Officer Richard Hickey, of Columbus, Neb., he will continue his journey tonight in a plane piloted by Col. Homer Munson, of Easterville, Iowa, and Major Douglas N. Macondrum, of Watertown, Mass.

TROOPS LEAVE PANAMA FOR DISCHARGE IN U. S.

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Dec. 16.—(AP) The last U. S. Army soldiers in the Panama Canal department eligible for discharge in December left Saturday for Cristobal on their homeward journey aboard the transport Florida, it was announced today. There were 956 passengers aboard, including 669 enlisted men and a number of Army and Navy officers and civilian employes.

On Thursday 502 high-point men left aboard the transport Cuba.

The Pacific-bound U. S. S. West Point docked last night and was scheduled to leave today for Yokohama. The U. S. S. General Meigs cleared Balboa yesterday morning for the Pacific, and the U. S. S. Wakefield left last Tuesday, carrying 5,000 Marines to China.

ARMOUR'S RETURN HINTS U. S. PLANS BREAK WITH SPAIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP) The United States tonight appeared headed definitely toward a break with the Franco government of Spain, in the opinion of diplomatic officials close to the issue.

Ambassador Norman Armour is returning from Madrid and State department officials say no plans have been made to replace him. Armour is retiring from the foreign service after many years of duty.

His return, by way of Paris, coincides with a French Foreign office announcement that the United States and Great Britain have been asked to consult with France on a diplomatic rupture with Franco. Even before the announcement of the French action, however, Armour's return had been interpreted here as signalizing the beginning of the end of dealings with Franco.

The French made it clear they would like to make the break, but preferred to act jointly with Britain and the United States.

Juan Negrin, the last prime minister of Republican Spain, called on acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson yesterday, but a State department spokesman said later they had not discussed the French note.

It was regarded as significant, however, that Acheson had received a Spanish Republican leader of Negrin's rank.

Advisers of Secretary of State Byrnes and President Truman recently have been pressing for a clarification of United States policy toward the Madrid regime and now hope that it may soon be forthcoming.

Some officials here feel that a mere break is not enough. Any such step, in their opinion, should be accompanied by a statement to the Spanish people pointing out why their country, because of Franco's policies, has been cut off from the family of nations, and defining some of the measures—such as an end to Fascist political organization—which would be necessary to qualify Spain for United Nations membership.

Officials advocating this course appear to have come to these ideas reluctantly. They contend that it would be better to have a slow evolution away from Francoism in Spain, but they doubt that the world is in a mood to wait for delayed changes of that sort.

The hope held by such diplomats is that concerted diplomatic measures by the leading countries of the western world would force the powers that be in Spain to pull away from Franco and his Falange organization. That, they hope, would result in some sort of temporary junta, and eventually in a popular assembly which could move to complete reorganization of the Government.

There probably would be a decided Leftist swing in the complexion of the Spanish Government in any such event, in the opinion of best-informed American diplomats.

BATTLE ON LOAN TO BRITAIN SEEN AS BITTER FIGHT

DEC 17 1945

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP) What may be one of the bitterest controversies yet to confront Congress on international issues is shaping up around the proposal to grant Great Britain a $4,400,000,000 credit.

There were signs today that some members of Congress will insist upon prying into the long-range purposes of the British Labor government, looking for all possible uses to which the money might be put.

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), senior Republican member of the House Ways and Means committee, told the House "We are being called upon to finance the socialization of the British empire." A Democrat, Rep. Celler of New York, said the loan "will promote too damned much socialism at home and too damned much imperialism abroad."

Rep. Smith (R-Ohio) asserted that the administration already is organizing a nation-wide "propaganda campaign" to sell the British loan to the people.

The British House of Commons having approved the loan this week, along with ratification of the Bretton Woods monetary pacts, Congress expects to receive from President Truman, perhaps this week, a message formally proposing legislative sanction of the loan.

Three House committees are angling for the loan ratification legislation—Ways and Means, Banking and Currency, and Foreign Affairs.

The administration is expected to frame the loan measure as an amendment to the Export-Import Bank act which would put the loan issue before the Banking committee which brought out the Bretton Woods Agreements act.

Friends of the loan proposal are arguing that America has more to gain in trade with an economically healthy British empire than it might lose in the $4,400,000,000 advance. The opposition contends the money will be a "gift."

Democratic leaders expect to win their fight for the British loan, but concede they will have a battle on their hands.

The administration is expected to emphasize the British promise to carry out a broad program of commercial and financial reforms, if Congress approves the credits.

These concessions, Assistant State Secretary William L. Clayton said, would "open up the markets of the world to our goods."

ACTION BY HOUSE ON UNITED NATIONS LOOMS THIS WEEK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP) Legislation making this country a full partner in the United Nations organization will reach President Truman by Christmas if congressional leaders have their way.

The necessary measure already has passed the Senate and is scheduled for House consideration Monday. It would authorize the President to name America's UNO representatives and give him the right to:

1. Use American troops against would-be aggressors without further congressional sanction. (Congress will determine later how many troops shall be assigned to the world security council).

2. Impose economic sanctions against aggressor nations.

Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts told newsmen tonight he expects the legislation to be approved by the House without major change by Tuesday or Wednesday. This would allow time, he said, to adjust any Senate and House differences and get the bill to the White House by week's end.

Chairman Bloom (D-NY) of the Foreign Affairs committee and the ranking Republican member, Rep. Eaton of New Jersey, told reporterers they did not know of any plans to oppose the measure.

Bloom added, however, that he expected some efforts would be made to restrict the Presidential authority. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) fought bitterly for such restrictions in the Senate, but lost.

Another problem to be considered by the Senate and by Bloom's committee Monday is the question of opening of Palestine to Jewish immigration.

Two witnesses are scheduled by the House group: Lessing Rosenwald of Chicago and Dr. Emanuel Neuman of New York city.

Navy's '41 Chief of Intelligence To Be Pearl Harbor Witness

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP).—Congressional investigators of the Pearl Harbor disaster turned today to the 1941 director of naval intelligence for light on the Navy's greatest defeat.

He is Theodore S. Wilkinson, a rear admiral at the time of the Japanese attack and now a vice-admiral, who was too busy fighting the enemy to testify before a naval board of inquiry on Pearl Harbor in 1944.

Admiral Wilkinson was listed as the first witness in what will be the last week of the Senate-House Committee investigation before the Christmas holidays. Some think it may be the last week for some time to come. That belief arises out of the decision of the committee's entire legal staff to withdraw because of the time-consuming course of the investigation.

Chairman Alben W. Barkley, Democrat, of Kentucky, has been assured by William D. Mitchell, committee counsel, that he and his aids will certainly be on hand this week and into early January, if necessary, to break in replacements. However, there has been no official action on choosing new counsel.

Mr. Mitchell told reporters there had been no change in his decision to withdraw from the case, which originally was scheduled to end Jan. 3.

It "will take a lot of speeding," he commented, to get things over within two, three, or four months.

He made that observation on a suggestion by Senator Scott W. Lucas, Democrat, of Illinois, that Governor Thomas E. Dewey be required to tell how he learned in 1944 of the highely secret Japanese-code cracking process.

Mr. Mitchell said Governor Dewey was well down toward the end of the witness list as arranged by counsel.

While Admiral Wilkinson did not appear before the naval court of inquiry, he did testify before a later inquiry conducted for James Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy, by Admiral H. K. Hewitt.

The Hewitt inquiry resulted in no complaints about Admiral Wilkinson's running of naval intelligence up to the time of the war.

Neither, however, did the Hewitt findings have anything adverse to say about Army intelligence. Some of the Congressional investigators have jumped hard on certain phases of work done by Army intelligence.

In this connection, the Hewitt report said:

"Information was promptly and efficiently obtained by the United States Navy and Army intelligence organizations in Washington, concerning the Japanese government's actual views as to the diplomatic negotiations and its intention to wage war, by means of interception, decryption and translation of Japanese diplomatic messages.

"The information which was obtained in Washington by the War and Navy Departments from Japanese diplomatic messages was fully exchanged.

"The information obtained by the Navy Department from intercepted Japanese diplomatic messages was adequately disseminated within the Navy Department."

The Hewitt report did say that Admiral Harold R. Stark, then chief of naval operations, did not send to Admiral Husband E. Kimmel at Pearl Harbor "important information which would have aided him materially in fully evaluating the seriousness of the situation."

The Congressional committee may get a chance at Admiral Stark for some direct testimony on that before very long. He is to follow the next witness, Vice Admiral R. K. Turner, who was chief of Navy war plans at the time of Pearl Harbor.

KAISER AUTO FIRM TO GET DEMANDS FROM UNION TODAY

DETROIT, Dec. 16 — (AP) A newcomer to the automotive field, Kaiser-Frazer Corp., Monday comes under the big guns of the C.I.O. United Auto Workers, already loaded with a 30 percent wage demand and leveled at the industry's big three.

Negotiating sessions with K-F will open at the same time the union resumes conferences with Ford Motor Co. and strike-bound General Motors Corp.

Kaiser-Frazer has not made public its wage policy, but a spokesman has said the firm will press the U.A.W.-C.I.O. for a new type company security agreement.

Such an agreement has already been offered Ford, although the union has threatened to withdraw it unless the company readies a specific wage increase proposal.

GM unions in Flint, Mich., have condemned the security plan for Ford as a "treacherous blow" to the labor movement, and asked that it be withdrawn.

At conferences last week Ford asked a 60 to 90 day delay on the wage matter, charging that suppliers' strikes have made future auto production an uncertain matter.

Later a jointly satisfactory meeting led observers to predict, without confirmation, that the company may have a wage proposal ready for the union.

General Motors, whose 200,000 idle employes were made the center of an international "incident" Saturday, will take up its negotiating burden Monday also.

Walter P. Reuther, U.A.W.-C.I.O. vcie president and leader of the GM negotiators, will ask the company to admit the press to their conferences on pain of having the U.A.W.-C.I.O. release verbatim transcripts of the parleys.

Monday's latest in a long series of fruitless and often bitter exchanges is expected to produce little in advance of government fact-finding hearings in Washington later in the week.

The U.A.W.-C.I.O. president, R. J. Thomas, sprang a surprise last week with a letter in which he asked British Prime Minister Clement Attlee's Labor government to intervene in the 26-day-old GM strike.

British sources in Washington confirmed Thomas' statement that a large block of GM stock is held by the Attlee government. However, they indicated that Britain is not inclined to interfere in what it regards as a U. S. domestic problem.

Negotiations with Chrysler Corp., third member of the big three, have been at a standstill since the union's contract expired two weeks ago.

JOB CRISIS LOOMS IN USES SPLIT-UP, SAYS LABOR GROUP

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. — (AP) An unemployment problem "equal to any the nation has ever faced" was predicted by the Labor committee of the National Planning association tonight.

The committee made this prediction in calling for permanent federal operation of the United States Employment service.

Under legislation now pending in Congress, USES would be broken up into 52 state and territorial systems, a setup which the committee said has proved "simply not adequate" in past emergencies.

The committee, made up of a score of A. F. L., C. I. O. and other union leaders, added:

"This retreat from responsibility means that the Federal government will turn over the operation of the employment service to the states but go right on paying 100 per cent of the cost.

"With millions of veterans and war workers looking for jobs, there could be no worse time to disrupt the national employment service."

Under state control there is danger, the labor planning group said, of using USES to "force down the workers' standard of living by driving labor into cheap jobs."

This, the report argued, could result from provisions in nearly all state unemployment compensation laws under which employers contribute less money to the state compensation fund if they have good records for stable employment, which is measured by the smallness of payments to workers they have laid off.

"It is to the immediate financial advantage of the employer in these states when a laid-off worker, instead of receiving benefits, can be referred to the first job on file in the USES, even though the job is below the worker's skill and just earnings," the committee said.

"In every state there is some pressure to favor this kind of referal policy in order to keep wage rates down."

Laid-off war workers and discharged veterans are on the road again seeking new jobs, the committee said, and local USES offices cannot help them "unless labor transfer and information services can transcend state lines and encompass the country as a whole."

Publication of the report was authorized by the National Planning association's board of trustees, which does not necessarily imply agreement of the industry, agriculture or other groups of NPA. The statement was made public by Clinton S. Golden of the C. I. O. United Steelworkers and Marion H. Hedges of the A. F. L. International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, chairman and vice chairman of the Labor committee respectively.

WLB ORDERS RISE IN PAY OF WOMEN

Inequality With Men's Scale in General Electric and Westinghouse Noted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The War Labor Board has recommended a 4-cent hourly pay increase for 50,000 women employes of the General Electric and Westinghouse Electric Companies to correct an asserted inequity with the men's scale.

The board acted after the companies and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America were unable to agree on details of adjusting what the union, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, contended were intraplant inequities in pay between women's and men's jobs.

The 4-cent hourly increase recommendation is retroactive to last April 1, when the two companies' master agreements expired.

The WLB advised the companies to set aside an additional 2 cents an hour for all women employes, the exact number of whom has not been determined. This fund would be distributed on the basis of negotiations between the companies and the union and would not be limited to the 50,000 women affected by today's recommendation.

Three exceptions to the recommended 4-cent hourly adjustment were specified by the WLB. They are to be worked out by the parties. In case of disagreement, William E. Simkin has been assigned to try to work out a compromise. Mr. Simkin, a former member of the WLB shipbuilding commission, was co-chairman of the steel wage adjustment commission in the basic steel case of 1944.

The exceptions listed by the board were:

1. Where the employes recently have received an increase to take care of the alleged inequity, either through collective bargaining or a WLB order.

2. Where the inequity is very small, as between men's pay and women's pay.

3. Where the ratio of women to men in a plant is overwhelming.

The board, in announcing its decision today, was acting on the remnants of cases involving more than 100,000 employes at fifty General Electric plants in thirty-three cities and another 80,000 workers in sixty plants in thirty-three cities employed by Westinghouse Electric.

The WLB will wind up its affairs by Jan. 1.

Statement by Union

Officials of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America announced the WLB decision here last night. They said the rise in wages of 50,000 women workers would amount to $6,000,000 annually and that the retroactive pay required of the two corporations would amount to about $2,500,000.

"This raise," the union statement declared, "is in addition to the current demand by the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America for a $2-a-day wage and salary increase for all employes, men and women, of these companies."

FORD 'LIMPING' LAID TO SUPPLY

Production Delay Not Fault Of Employes, Statement Says

Detroit, Dec. 16 (AP)—Henry Ford 2d said today that, through no fault of his production employés, the Ford Motor Company is "limping instead of galloping along" as a result of parts shortages.

As president of the company, he made a public appeal to suppliers across the nation to speed supplies to his Detroit factories, subject only to quality and price levels.

The Ford statement follows:

"Immediately after V-J day we told the American people that we expected to make 80,000 cars for them before Christmas. While it is true that we already have built almost half the new cars that have been built, we know today that we will produce only 30,000 by that time. We are 50,000 cars short of our promise.

"I feel that the American people should know why.

"No Fault Of Our Employes"

"This situation definitely is not the fault of our employés. Since V-J day we have not had a single unauthorized work stoppage. On the other hand, we have had to lay off almost 40,000 employes for five weeks on one occasion and on a second almost 40,000 employés for five days.

"Ford motor production is limping instead of galloping along, because of insufficient supplies—parts and materials.

"We are producing. But it is a desperate, frustrating kind of production. We can not predict even on a day-to-day basis whether we will have enough material to keep our lines going on a full shift.

Suppliers' Various Reasons

"We are usingf every kind of expedient and patchwork operation —some of them very costly—to keep production going.

"One group of suppliers has told us that they have canceled our contract because price ceilings on their product result in a loss on every sale. A second group says they are unable to fulfill contracts because they can not raise wages and are therefore losing their employés to other industries.

"Whatever the reason the plain fact is that today the Ford Motor Company is completely cut off by fourteen major suppliers while from many others we are getting a mere trickle of parts and materials.

"An easy way out would be to ask the Government to raise ceiling prices, but the Government has declared that retention of ceiling prices is a basic policy in the fight against inflation. And even if that were the right way to get this situation straightened out, we haven't time.

1946 Production Schedule

"The Ford Motor Company has set a 1946 production schedule of 120,000 cars and trucks monthly. If we can meet this schedule, we know that we will be doing our part in beating down inflation, by bringing the supply of automobiles once more in step with the demand.

"But we can not achieve that goal unless we get supplies—parts, materials and specialties. I invite suppliers wherever they may be to get them to us, subject only to two things—that they meet our specifications for quality and meet competition for prices. I invite them to write or wire us here at Dearborn for lists of things we must have at once.

"The No. 1 job before the company today is production—all-out peacetime production. Production means jobs at high wages, more and more products for more and more people at lower costs. Only maximum production can end this country's present economy of scarcity."

Textile Workers Seek Strike Vote

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—Representatives of 80,000 CIO textile workers decided at Boston to petition the National Labor Relations Board for a strike ballot in 102 woolen and worsted mills. The union's principal demands are a 15-cent hourly wage increase and a 75-cent hourly minimum. A union spokesman said the industry generally has offered an 8 cents an hour increase and a 65-cent minimum.

Southwestern Greyhound busses were expected to resume operation tomorrow ending a six-weeks strike of 2,000 AFL employés, who won pay raises. Experienced drivers will get 5 cents a mile under the new contract, and terminal employés' pay will be raised $5 a month.

Another labor dispute ended at SKF industries' three plants in Philadelphia, where 3,000 members of the CIO steelworkers union were scheduled to return to work Wednesday after an eleven-week stoppage.

Agreement Reached

Agreement was reached upon grievance procedure in the cases of two employés whose dismissal and transfer precipitated the walkout October 1.

The union promised to withdraw any charges of unfair labor practices against the company. On its part, the company agreed to drop its $2,000,000 suit against the union and seven of its officials for picketing damages.

At Providence, R.I., the Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing Company was scheduled to resume operations tomorrow, the plant was shut down after 1,000 AFL office employés struck October 26, and 5,000 production workers refused to cross their picket lines. The agreement which ended the strike calls for negotiation of the union's pay raise demand after the employés return to work.

30-24-32445

said the eleventh meant the Sinclair pipeline system. The Navy list:

Sinclair Refining company located in and around Coffeyville, Kas.; in and around Corpus Christi, Tex.; in and around East Chicago, Ind.; in and around Fort Worth, Tex.; in and around Marcus Hook, Pa.; in and around San Springs, Okla.; in and around Sinclair, Wyo.; in and around Wellsville, N. Y.; all petroleum pipeline facilities in United States and related facilities.

Sinclair said the agreement also provided that any employe accused of violating the no-strike provision shall, upon determination of guilt, be immediately suspended by the union and discharged by the company.

Sinclair Oil Strike Settled, Workers Get 18 Pct. Boost

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 — (AP) The Navy announced today the Sinclair Oil Corp. strike is settled and it will release the company's 11 government-seized properties at midnight Monday night.

In New York, H. F. Sinclair, company president, said in a statement that the settlement provides an 18 per cent pay increase for a basic 40-hour week to approximately 8,400 employes.

It contains a clause barring strikes or work stoppages with provision that the company may cancel on 10-day notice if the no-strike agreement is violated, he said. The union may take similar action in event of a lockout.

It becomes effective when approved by Vice Admiral Ben Moreel, Navy petroleum seizure officer, and runs to May 31, 1946, Sinclair added.

The Sinclair properties were among 53 taken over by the Navy Oct. 5 under executive order of President Truman after strikes crippled production.

Four of the 53 plants already have been returned to their owners, the Navy announcement said, "three because of stabilized labor conditions and one because it was shut down."

The Navy, it was stated, "is continuing to operate the remaining 38."

Both the company and the C.I.O. Oil Workers Union announced settlement of the dispute, the Navy reported.

The Navy listed Sinclair properties at 10 locations in announcing 11 were involved. A spokesman

"It is the understanding that the Navy will immediately terminate the seizure of Sinclair operations which have been under Navy control," Sinclair declared.

"The pattern for wage adjustment in the oil industry was set when a large number of companies put into effect a 15 per cent wage increase several months ago," the statement said. "The union continued to demand a 30 per cent increase and to enforce this demand called widespread strikes which were ended by Navy seizure.

"We believed that the issues involved could be beter settled by collective bargaining than by strikes, government seizure, or panel fact-finding. I don't think either side can win a strike. I believe we must continue to base our relations with labor on bargaining among ourselves. Those are the reasons why we have made this settlement.

"With Admiral Moreel, who has been most helpful in arriving at this settlement, we are naturally hopeful that it may provide an example for the settlement of the existing and threatened strikes in other industries, which are retarding the recovery of the whole nation."

TOP AIRLINES POST GOES TO HEAD OF MARITIME BOARD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP) Vice Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime commission, has been offered the presidency of the Air Transport association, employes of the organization were told yesterday by Stuart G. Tipton, general counsel and acting president.

Tipton indicated that the final decision rests with President Truman, to whom the commissioner must resign. He left the impression that he expects a favorable decision by Jan. 1.

The presidency at ATA, comprising 23 airlines, has been vacant since the death of Col. Edgar S. Gorrell last March 5.

The ATA recently hired Rep. Robert Ramspeck (D-Ga.) as executive vice president, a new position. Ramspeck will resign from Congress to join the association Jan. 1.

Tipton's announcement, made at an ATA staff meeting, was the first official disclosure of the offer to Land, though it had been reported within the industry for some time that he would take the job.

The position is one of the most important in the aviation industry. It has become increasingly important with the entry of domestic carriers into the international field.

People in the industry have said the salary probably is no less than $50,000 a year. Land's salary as maritime chairman is $12,000.

His selection as top man in the ATA may cause some surprise in the industry inasmuch as he supported the proposal that steamship companies be permitted to operate airlines.

Land, who will be 66 next Jan. 9, is a native of Canon City, Colo., and served in the Navy 39 years before his retirement in 1937. He has been chairman of the Maritime commission since 1937.

He served two years as assistant chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics. He took a leave from that post to work in 1928 with the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics.

WARSHIPS SPEED RETURN OF TROOPS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP) The Navy announced tonight that "the shipping bottleneck is being broken" and that veterans are being returned from Europe ahead of schedule.

Within the next month or two, the announcement said, there will be an "excess of transportation" for the return of eligible veterans from the Pacific.

The battleship Washington, six cruisers and eight carriers now hauling troops from Europe will be reassigned to fleet duty or placed in reserve early in January, the Navy said, and eligible members of their crews demobilized.

The first fighting ship in the Atlantic transport job to complete its transport assignment will be the cruiser Savannah, which is due to arrive in New York with over one thousand returning troops on December 17.

The battleship Washington and the carrier Enterprise will dock in New York on December 20. On December 22, the cruisers Philadelphia and Portland are scheduled to arrive in New York, thus completing their runs with troops returning from Le Havre, while the cruisers Reno and Augusta complete the same trip on December 23.

On December 24, the cruiser Boise will arrive in New York harbor after completing her final voyage from Le Havre and the carrier Randolph will also dock at New York, with troops from Naples. The carriers Langley and Monterey likewise returning from Naples are scheduled to arrive at Norfolk on December 25 and 30 respectively while the carrier Wasp is due at the same port on December 26 with troops embarked at Southampton. The arrival of the carrier Bataan in Norfolk January 1, will complete the last combatant ship transport run from Naples to the United States.

NEW U. S. BOMBER WRECKED IN CRASH ON ROUTINE FLIGHT

Super-Plane Set Speed Record in Long Beach-Washington Dash.

PILOTS BAIL OUT

Last Man to Jump Takes to Parachute at 400 Feet Altitude.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP) The Army's record breaking superplane, the XB-42, known as the Mixmaster, crashed at nearby Oxen Hill, Md., late today without loss of life or injury.

The crew of three officers, making a routine flight around Washington with the plane, took to their parachutes and landed safely after the ship got into trouble in the air.

One man jumped at 1,200 feet, a second at 800 feet and the third at 400 feet, the War department reported.

A representative of the Douglas Aircraft company, manufacturer of the plane, explained later that before they bailed out, the pilot jettisoned the propeller unit in the tail. This feature was specifically designed, the company said, in case of an emergency in military operations. The twin propellers crashed in a churchyard, while the fuselage landed on a farm a mile away.

Those aboard, according to the War department, were:

Lt. Col. E. J. Ascani, the pilot; Lt. Col. J. M. Laney, and Major C. L. Hayduk.

In Air 30 Minutes

The plane had taken off from Bolling field, Washington, at 4 p. m. and the crash occurred about thirty minutes later. The War department said the cause of the crash could not be ascertained immediately and a board of inquiry would be empanelled to investigate the wreck.

The ship was demolished.

The Douglas Army bomber, propelled by twin propellers in its tail, flew eastward across the country Dec. 8 in 5 hours, 17 minutes which the National Aeronautic association is recognizing as a record between Long Beach, Calif., and Washington.

Averaged 432 M.P.H.

The plane averaged 432 miles an hour for 2,295 miles.

The experimental bomber has no counterpart among familiar military types. It has two Allison 12 cylinder in-line engines inside the fuselage. They transmit power to two Curtiss propellers through long drive shafts.

The plane was completely streamlined, having no engine nacelles or external gunturrets. Its wing spread was 70 feet, 6 inches; its length 53 feet, 8 inches, and it weighed 19,149 pounds empty. It would carry up to four tons of bombs as far as 5,000 miles.

Due to the design, the plane is equipped with special emergency arrangements for bailing out. The whole propeller installation can be blown off with a special detonation switch. In this way crew members were protected from falling into the propellers.

Europe Food Appeal Made

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—An appeal to President Truman "to take immediate steps toward relieving the appalling famine in Germany and Austria" appeared today on Capitol Hill over the names of 34 senators.

The petition bore no organization caption. Senator La Follette (Prog., Wis.) said he did not know who sponsored it, although he thought it originated within the Senate itself. Senator Johnson (D., Col.) said he understood it was circulated by a Congregationalist minister of whose name he was not sure.

Senator Radcliffe was one of the signers.

Food At Starvation Level

The appeal asked Mr. Truman:

"1. To give order at once to our armed forces in Germany and Austria to raise food rations above the present starvation level in the United States zone of occupation and restore immediately mail and postage service.

"2. To start negotiations at once with the head of the Russian state with the object of gaining his permission to send American food supplies into the Russian zone of occupation in order at least to diminish the appalling daily death toll.

"3. To give permission now to private relief organizations to start operations in Germany and Austria in order to support the efforts of our occupation forces.

"4. To authorize and create an independent American relief mission to avert this impending disaster of wholesale starvation and pestilence now threatening Europe even beyond the assistance now being furnished by UNRRA."

Romulo Appeals to House For Quick Aid to Filipinos

Says Delay Will Mean Heavy Suffering and Deaths

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—Brigadier General Carlos P. Romulo, Resident Commissioner of the Philippines to the United States, appealed today to the House of Representatives for immediate action on the Philippines rehabilitation bill, asking passage before the Christmas recess.

"Eighteen million Filipinos look to the United States for the immediate help that was promised to them during the war and since the war," General Romulo said in a statement. "Unless this legislation is adopted, we will not be able to start our program of reconstruction. Unless it is adopted quickly, thousands will suffer and even die while delay after delay stifles the help that every one agrees we should receive. . . . A single month, even a single week, of further unnecessary delay will cause untold havoc in our precarious economy."

The Senate already has passed the legislation, which appropriates funds for compensation of Philippine war damage and for restoration of public works destroyed during the war. The bill also provides for transfer to the Philippine government of surplus properties of the armed forces now in the islands and for the training of a number of Filipinos in various technical fields.

TRUMAN VISITS 600 VETERANS

Makes Pre-Christmas Calls At Army And Navy Hospitals

DEC 17 1945

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—President Truman paid a pre-Christmas visit to more than 600 wounded veterans at the army and navy medical centers today and said afterward he found their morale so high that "they make you ashamed of yourself if you do any beefing."

The President left the White House at 8.30 A.M. and was gone four hours. He drove over the whole route without police escort.

First he visited the Navy Hospital at near-by Bethesda, Md. He spent an hour there going from ward to ward visiting bed and wheelchair patients. Then he motored to Walter Reed Army Hospital in the Washington city limits and toured several buildings for an hour and a half.

"Morale Is Terrific"

Talking with newsmen later, he said he asked each wounded sailor and soldier what had happened to him.

"One sailor," he said with a smile, "told me he got a broken nose in a fight and he thought a Republican did it."

"The morale of these fellows is terrific," the President added.

He visited wounded bluejackets and GI's with both legs gone or one leg or one arm missing.

"None of them is down in the dumps," he commented.

He said when he inquired how each was getting along they replied: "Fine." Several, asked when they were going to get out of the hospital, answered, "when this hospital gives me my legs."

Several Thousand Patients

It gives you a lift to see these boys," Mr. Truman told reporters in the main lobby at Walter Reed. Although several thousand patients are in the two hospitals, he said he saw only about 600 personally as he did not have time to call on all of them.

Mr. Truman did not try to call on 85-year-old General of the Armies John J. Pershing, a patient at Walter Reed. It was explained he did not wish to disturb the aged AEF commander in chief.

Asked whether many of the veterans were thinking about Christmas, the President replied a great many are hoping to get home for the holidays on leave, and still others are on the point of discharge.

Presidential Escort

Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, Navy Surgeon General, and Rear Admiral William Chambers, commandant at Bethesda, accompanied the President on his navy hospital tour. On the army institution visit Maj. Gen. Shelley U. Marietta, commanding general, escorted him among the patients.

Brig. Gen. Harry Vaughan and Commander Clark Clifford, military and naval aides at the White House, made the trip with the President.

New Postal Guide Lists Towns Named for U. S. War Heroes

DEC 17 1945

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 — (AP) It doesn't prove a thing but Eisenhower, kiddies, is strictly not a postoffice.

The new postal guide which goes on sale tomorrow lists MacArthur and Nimitz in West Virginia, Halsey in Nebraska and Oregon, and Marshall in fourteen assorted states.

But no Eisenhower.

The Post Office department reports many an interesting changeover since its last edition, including some strange goings on down in Kentucky.

For instance:

Fed has become Hihat, Hot Spot has been cooled into Premium, Omarsville has changed to Kalliopi, and—geographical marvel!—Northern has turned into Eastern.

Of course, you remember good old Johnnie Mine, Nev.? It's now Pahrump, Nev.

Four Tokios and 13 Berlins rode out the war, but Berlin, Ala., was renamed Sardis.

There are 28 Franklins, 27 Washingtons and 24 Springfields scattered between Massachusetts and Oregon.

The guide is in red this year instead of the usual postman's uniform gray. It also tells when to ship baby chicks. This intelligence is in pretty highfalutin' language, but the gist of it seems to be that baby chicks should be shipped when quite young.

GI Who Rescued Three Gets Posthumous Award

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—A soldier who was killed while trying to dig out five comrades buried by a bomb explosion has been awarded the Medal of Honor posthumously.

He was Pfc. David M. Gonzales, of the 32d "Red Arrow" Infantry Division. The medal will be given to his widow who lives at Pacoima, Cal.

Gonzales was wounded fatally on Luzon last April in attempting to save his comrades. With enemy fire spraying around him, he succeeded in rescuing three men before he was hit. The other two buried soldiers were rescued later.

DONOVAN, DODD HOME FROM NUERNBERG TRIAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 16—(AP) Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, who recently resigned as assistant to Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief United States prosecutor at the war crimes trials at Nuernberg, Germany, arrived at La Guardia field tonight aboard an Air Transport command plane from Paris.

Donovan said he would go to Washington and that he was anxious to get out of the Army and return to private law practice.

Others of Jackson's staff on the plane were Sidney S. Alderman of Washington, D. C., and Thomas J. Dodd of Lebanon, Conn, special assistant to the United States attorney for Connecticut.

Alderman said the Nuernberg court was scheduled to recess next Thursday and to reconvene Jan. 3. He said "the case of the American side has progressed very well."

YANKS, REDS MIXING WELL

AP Correspondent Discusses Conditions In Germany

DEC 17 1945

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—American soldiers in Germany are getting along well with the Russians, Edward Ball, Associated Press foreign correspondent, said tonight in a broadcast.

"The few incidents that have happened can be traced to our misunderstanding of the Russian excitability and sense of fun," Ball said. "You know, when the Russians become excited they pull out their pistols and begin waving them around. The American GI misunderstands this, and thinking that the Russian is drawing a gun, shoots first. As a result, the Russians don't reach for their guns as readily as they used to."

Appearing with Glenn Babb, foreign news editor of the AP, on the "We the People" program, Ball declared that the serious incidents between the various Allied troops in Germany could be traced largely to the Germans.

Hopes For Christianity In Japan

"I'm afraid the average German still sees himself as a member of the master race, temporarily in eclipse, sitting back and hoping the Allies will fall out among themselves," Ball said.

Babb declared that for the average Japanese the dream of conquest was "like a lovely firework display that fizzled out in the rain."

"Mr. Hashimoto, the average Jap, is now beginning to realize that he was dragged into the war," Babb said. "And believe me, he was glad to see the end of the war at any price."

Babb added that he thought there were high hopes for Christianity in Japan, while Ball asserted that hatred and double dealing were still the order of the day in Germany.

Distress Call Received From French Vessel

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Air Sea Rescue Office, Eastern Sea Frontier, reported tonight that a distress call had been received from the French ship, Cap Bleu, saying it had run aground near Halifax, Nova Scotia. The distress call said the ship needed assistance immediately.

The Air Sea Rescue Office said Canadian authorities were cognizant of the Cap Bleu's distress call and position.

Doolittle Discloses 'Guide' Plane Was Lost

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 16 (AP)—Four out of the sixteen planes which bombed Tokyo for the first time in 1942 might have landed safely in China had it not been for the crash of a China-based plane which was to guide them, Gen. Jimmy Doolittle said today.

Doolittle, who came to Miami for a reunion with his fliers on the Tokyo bombing, said the "guide" plane crashed after leaving Chungking. All occupants were killed.

The general estimated that the four planes from his flight might landed at China bases had it not been for the crash. The others, because they had longer flights over Japan, possibly would not have had enough gasoline to complete the trip, he said.

CRITIC OF 'BRASS HATS' TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 16.—(AP) George L. Mark of Cleveland, O., who criticized Army "brass hats" in two congressional hearings while still a buck private, was discharged today at Camp Atterbury and announced he would enter Ohio's May primaries for either senator or congressman-at-large.

Relaxing in an Indianapolis hotel, Mark said his discharge papers stated he was entitled to the Good Conduct and World War II Victory Medals but a clerk at the camp told him "there isn't any for you." Mark said a photographer wanted to take a picture of him receiving his discharge but was refused by the camp command.

"I don't care about ribbons or photographs in themselves but I don't like the principle of denying these from anybody," the former barber supply salesman said.

Ohio's "Buckeye" Division Returns

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16 (AP)—More than 2,000 cheering men, the last elements of the 37th "Buckeye" Division, Ohio's own, came back to the United States today aboard the Puebla, one of the few Army transports emerging from its gloomy coat of wartime battle gray.

Among the 2,328 men of the Buckeye outfit aboard, these units were represented: The 129th Infantry Regiment, Division Artillery Headquarters, the 6th Field Artillery, the 112th Medical Battalion, the 117th Engineers and the 140th Field Artillery.

Although the 37th was originally an Ohio National Guard outfit, the number of Ohioans in the last groups to come home was proportionately small.

Most of the boys in the outfit have to go to Fort Sheridan, Ill., before they can start their terminal leaves.

Port of embarkation authorities said they wanted to get men all home by Christmas but were gloomy at the prospect. Rail facilities were jammed with thousands of other troops arriving over the week end.

Delay In Troop Arrivals

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The War Department said tonight troops arriving at three west coast ports face delays averaging forty-eight hours to six days because of traffic pileups. Men will be housed on ship.

It named San Francisco, Los Angeles and Seattle in a statement which said, "serious congestion in passenger traffic out of West ports will cause delays in debarkation of troops arriving there for discharge.

Staging areas in the San Francisco region are filled to capacity and it will be necessary temporarily to house troops on board transports moored at piers.

"Similar conditions exist at Los Angeles and Seattle."

RADAR EXPERT HONORED

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 16—(AP) Edward L. Bowles, Massachusetts Institute of Technology electrical engineering professor, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for "exceptionally meritorious service in the field of radar."

On leave-of-absence from M. I. T. since 1940 to assist the government in its war activities, Bowles was appointed expert consultant to the Secretary of War to advise on radar policy in April, 1942.

30.24-32447

UNDATED UNO SITE

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DEC 17 1945

A SUBCOMMITTEE OF THE UNO PREPARATORY COMMISSION WILL CONTINUE IN LON

MONDAY HEARING DELEGATIONS FROM VARIOUS UNITED STATES COMMUNITIES WHICH HAVE ENTERED BIDS TO HAVETHE PERMANENT UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION HOME LOCATED IN THEIR DISTRICTS.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE, WHICH HAS ALREADY HEARD FROM REPRESENTATIVES OF MORE

A SCORE OF U.S. CITIES, IS EXPECTED AFTER HEARING FROM THE FULL LIST TO RECO

MEND TWO OR THREE LOCALITIES. IT IS PROBABLE THE SUBCOMMITTEE MAY SEND INS

VESTIGATORS TO A NUMBER OF THE LOCALITIES DURING THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS BEF

OFFERING A NARROWED LIST.

THE PREPARATORY COMMISSION PRESUMABLY WILL SELECT THE SPECIFIC SITE

AMONG THOSE RECOMMENDED AND PRESENT IT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY---WHICH WI

MEET JAN. 10---FOR FINAL AND OFFICIAL APPROVAL.

A205

LONDON, DEC. 16-(AP)-REYNOLDS NEWS SAID TODAY AN UNIDENTIFIED AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PHOTOGRAPHER WAS THREATENED AT A MEETING ADDRESSED HERE SATURDAY NIGHT BY SIR OSWALD MOSLEY, FORMER HEAD OF THE BRITISH UNION OF FASCISTS.

THE PAPER SAID THE PHOTOGRAPHER'S CAMERA WAS SEIZED AND THROWN TO THE FLOOR DURING THE MEETING, WHICH IT DECLARED WAS ATTENDED BY MORE THAN 1,000 PERSONS WHO HAD BEEN DETAINED BY THE BRITISH DURING THE WAR ON SUSPICION OF BEING IN SYMPATHY WITH THE ENEMY.

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE HOTEL WHERE THE MEETING WAS HELD SAID THE MEETING WAS A SOCIAL ONE AND THERE WERE NO DISORDERS.

BJ111AES

DEC 17 1945

A147 (130)

LONDON--FIRST ADD UNO (BY LEWIS) X X X IN JANUARY.

A SUBCOMMITTEE REPORTING ON THE INFORMATION POLICY OF THE UNITED NATIONS HAS PREPARED A REPORT FOR PREPARATORY COMMISSION APPROVAL. IT URGES THE PEACE AGENCY TO GIVE THE WORLD'S PRESS "THE FULLEST POSSIBLE DIRECT ACCESS TO THE ACTIVITIES AND OFFICIAL DOCUMENTATION OF THE ORGANIZATION."

THE REPORT STATES THAT THE UNITED NATIONS MUST NOT ENGAGE IN PROPAGANDA, BUT SHOULD USE EXISTING INFORMATION SERVICES AS FAR AS POSSIBLE, SUPPLEMENTED BY ITS OWN INFORMATION STAFF WHEN NECESSARY.

THE REPORT MENTIONS ESTABLISHMENT OF A UNO BROADCASTING STATION FOR COMMUNICATION WITH MEMBER GOVERNMENTS AND FOR UNITED NATIONS PROGRAMS. IT URGES ENCOURAGEMENT OF DIRECT BROADCASTING FROM THE SITE OF THE ORGANIZATION. ANOTHER INFORMATION SERVICE RECOMMENDED IS THE PREPARATION OF NON-COMMERCIAL DOCUMENTARY FILMS.

THE REPORT SUGGESTS ESTABLISHMENT OF AN ADVISORY COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS FROM THE PRESS, RADIO AND FILM INDUSTRIES TO HELP THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY GENERAL IN CHARGE OF INFORMATION.

THE DELEGATES MUST CONSIDER THIS REPORT AND THE ONE ON GUARANTEES BY THE HOST STATE BEFORE ADJOURNMENT.

TA953PES

WITH UNO

LONDON, DEC. 16-(AP)-THE FOLLOWING LIST OF 39 LOCALITIES IN THE UNITED STATES HAS BEEN FILED WITH THE PREPARATORY COMMISSION OF THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION AS PROSPECTIVE SITES FOR UNO HEADQUARTERS.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J.; BALTIMORE, MD.; BELOIT, WIS.; BERKLEY, CALIF.; BLACK HILL COUNTY, S.D.; BOSTON, MASS.; CHAMPAIGNE CITY, ILL.; CLAREMORE, OKLA.; CONCORD, LEXINGTON DISTRICT, MASS.; CHICAGO, ILL.; HYDE PARK, N.Y.; THE STATE OF INDIANA; THE STATE OF RHODE ISLAND; MIAMI, FLA.; MONTEREY PENINSULA, DEL MONTE, CALIF.; MONTICELLO, VA.; MORAGA VALLEY, CALIF.; NEW ORLEANS, LA.; NEWPORT, R.I.; NEW YORK CITY; PHILADELPHIA, PA.; PORTSMOUTH, VA.; PRINCETON, N.J.; RICHMOND, VA.; RIDGEFIELD, CONN.; ST. LOUIS, MO.; SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH; SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS; SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF; SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y.; TUSKAHOMA, OKLA.; VALLEY FORGE, PA.; VIRGINIA BEACH, VA.; WILLIAMSBURG, VA., AND MILWAUKEE, WIS.

TA840PES

CINCINNATI, OHIO; DENVER, COL.; DELAWARE CITY, PA.; DETROIT, MICH.;

VIENNA, DEC. 16-(AP)- VIENNESE SMOKERS, WHO FOR MONTHS HAVE BEEN ABLE TO BUY CIGARETTES ONLY ON THE BLACK MARKET, WILL GET A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FROM THE GOVERNMENT, IT WAS ANNOUNCED TODAY. A RATION OF 20 CIGARETTES WILL BE SOLD TO ANYBODY OVER 18 YEARS OLD BEGINNING DEC. 21.

WB/435P HEINZERLING 01815

DEC 17 1945

A135

ROME, DEC. 16-(AP)-THE ITALIAN NEWS AGENCY ANSA REPORTED TODAY THAT GIOVANNI AGNELLI, 79, PRESIDENT OF THE FIAT MOTOR WORKS AT TURIN, DIED YESTERDAY MORNING AT HIS HOME.

TA902PES

A184

MOSCOW--FIRST ADD FIRST LEAD FOREIGN MINISTERS X X X SPOKESMAN ADDED.

OBSERVERS AGREED THAT THE SESSION GOT UNDER WAY IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF CORDIALITY ON ALL SIDES.

IT WAS THE FIRST TIME U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES BYRNES, SOVIET FOREIGN COMMISSAR VYACHESLAV M.MOLOTOV AND BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN HAD CONFERRED SINCE THE UNSUCCESSFUL MEETING OF THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS IN LONDON LAST SEPTEMBER.

MOLOTOV AS HOST RECEIVED THEM AT SPERIDONIFKA PALACE WHERE THE SOVIET UNION USUALLY HOLDS IMPORTANT DIPLOMATIC CONFERENCES.

THE CONFEREES, X X X AS BEFORE.

DEC 17 1945

BJ1156PES

A155FX(ASAHI)

KONOYE-TOJO (470)

TOKYO,MONDAY,DEC.17-(AP)-THE NEWSPAPER ASAHI TODAY SAID THAT PRINCE FUMIMARO KONOYE, WHO COMMITTED SUICIDE YESTERDAY TO ESCAPE TRIAL AS A WAR CRIMINAL, RESIGNED AS PREMIER OCT. 16, 1941, BECAUSE GEN.HIDEKI TOJO WAS DEMANDING A SPECIFIC DATE FOR STARTING WAR WITH THE UNITED STATES AND HE COULD NOT DISSUADE HIM.

THIS STATEMENT WAS TAKEN FROM KONOYE'S LETTER OF RESIGNATION TO EMPEROR HIROHITO AS PUBLISHED BY ASAHI. THE LETTER SAID THE PREMIER HAD BEEN UNABLE TO CHANGE THE ATTITUDE OF TOJO, THEN WAR MINISTER, AND "AS A RESULT, I FIND IT IMPOSSIBLE TO DISCHARGE MY HEAVY RESPONSIBILITY OF ASSISTING YOUR MAJESTY IN ADHERENCE TO MY CONVICTIONS."

HIROHITO ACCEPTED KONOYE'S RESIGNATION AND IMMEDIATELY NAMED TOJO PREMIER.

TOJO, NOW IN SUGAMO PRISON, AWAITS TRIAL ON ALLIED CHARGES THAT HE WAS A LEADER IN PRECIPITATING THE PACIFIC WAR.

EDITORIALIZING ON KONOYE'S SUICIDE, ASAHI SAID HIS "WEAKNESS OF CHARACTER IS BOUND TO CONSTITUTE A STATE CRIME" BECAUSE IT MADE WAR EASY.

THE PRINCE, IN THE PUBLISHED LETTER, TOLD THE EMPEROR THAT TOJO REFUSED TO WITHDRAW JAPANESE TROOPS FROM CHINA "BECAUSE OF ITS EFFECT ON THE MORALE OF THE ARMY."

THIS WITHDRAWAL WAS A BASIC PREREQUISITE TO THE SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION OF NEGOTIATIONS THEN UNDERWAY WITH THE UNITED STATES.

TOJO "ALSO SAID THAT IF JAPAN ONCE YIELDED TO THE UNITED STATES," THE DOCUMENT CONTINUED "THE LATTER WOULD BECOME MORE ARROGANT AND HAUGHTY AND THERE WOULD BE NO ENDING TO IT AND THAT THOUGH THE AFFAIR MIGHT BE BROUGHT TO A TEMPORARY SETTLEMENT, SINO-JAPANESE RELATIONS WOULD BE LIKELY TO SUFFER A RUPTURE WITHIN TWO OR THREE YEARS. STATING THAT DOMESTIC VULNERABILITY EXISTED ON BOTH SIDES, THE WAR MINISTER INSISTED THAT NO TIME SHOULD BE LOST IN DETERMINING A DATE FOR STARTING THE WAR."

KONOYE SAID "THERE STILL IS SOME HOPE FOR AMICABLE SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES" IF WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS FROM CHINA WAS BEGUN.

"TO PLUNGE INTO A GREAT WAR, THE OUTCOME WHEREOF IS UNFORESEEABLE AT THE PRESENT TIME WHILE THE CHINA AFFAIR STILL REMAINS UNSETTLED, WOULD BE QUITE UNBEARABLE TO ME, WHO HAVE BEEN FEELING A SERIOUS RESPONSIBILITY SINCE OCCURRENCE OF THE CHINA AFFAIR," THE RETIRING PREMIER WROTE.

A156FX

HE SAID TOJO BELIEVED THERE THEN WAS ONLY A SLIM CHANCE FOR THE WASHINGTON NEGOTIATIONS TO SHOW INDICATIONS OF MARKED SUCCESS AND CONSEQUENTLY HE WAS INSISTING UPON PREPARATIONS FOR WAR. THIS WAS PURSUANT TO A DECISION OF AN IMPERIAL CONFERENCE IN THE EMPEROR'S PRESENCE SEPT. 6, 1941, IN WHICH IT WAS DECIDED TO BEGIN WAR PREPARATIONS IF NEGOTIATIONS SHOWED NO SIGN OF IMPROVEMENT BY MID-OCTOBER.

THE DOCUMENT EVIDENTLY WAS RELEASED BY KONOYE'S FRIENDS OR RELATIVES SEEKING TO PROVE HIS CONTENTION--WHICH HE OFTEN REITERATED AFTER THE OCCUPATION--THAT HE RESIGNED OVER THE PACIFIC WAR ISSUE.

ASAHI'S EDITORIAL, HOWEVER, IMPLIED A GENERAL JAPANESE FEELING THAT THE RESIGNATION IN ITSELF WAS A SIGN OF FATAL WEAKNESS.

"THE RESPONSIBILITY OF SO-CALLED SENIOR STATESMEN WHO FAILED TO DO ANYTHING TO CHECK THE STRONG POLICY OF THE MILITARY CLIQUE HEADED BY TOJO AND ALLOWED THE CLIQUE TO DO AS IT LIKED, IS NO LESS HEAVY THAN THAT OF THE TOJO CABINET," THE PAPER SAID.

DS731PPS NM ASKED

V

30.24-32449

A141FX (KONOYE)
WITH KONOYE (380)
TOKYO, DEC.16-(AP)-PRINCE FUMIMARO KONOYE'S SUICIDE BY POISON--A METHOD SCORNED BY MANY JAPANESE BECAUSE THEY REGARD IT AS PAINLESS--WAS NEVERTHELESS SURROUNDED WITH MUCH OF THE CEREMONIOUS "FACE" WHICH MEANS SO MUCH HERE.

KONOYE LAST NIGHT ENTERTAINED RELATIVES AND A FEW CLOSE FRIENDS AT A FAREWELL DINNER. THEY THOUGHT IT WAS BECAUSE HE WAS DUE TO SURRENDER BY MIDNIGHT TONIGHT TO AMERICAN AUTHORITIES. THEY SAID THE CONVERSATION WAS EASY, WITH NO HINT OF SUICIDE AND NO MENTION OF HIS EXPECTED IMPRISONMENT. THEY STAYED LATE. IN RETROSPECT, SOME SAID THEY SHOULD HAVE DIVINED HIS INTENTIONS, BUT AT THE TIME HE SEEMED HIS USUAL SELF, THE URBANE HOST AT A HIGH-SOCIETY PARTY.

AT 11:30 P.M., THE FORMER PREMIER WENT TO HIS ROOM AND TALKED AT LENGTH WITH HIS SECOND SON, MICHITAKA. HE UNDOUBTEDLY TOLD HIS SON OF HIS INTENTIONS, FOR HE WROTE A SUICIDE NOTE ON A SHEET OF PAPER WITH A PENCIL AND HANDED IT TO THE YOUTH. THEN AT 2 A.M. HE BADE HIS SON AND WIFE GOODNIGHT.

PRINCESS KONOYE APPARENTLY WAS NOT WARNED, FOR SHE HAD BEEN PREPARING LUGGAGE FOR HIM TO TAKE TO PRISON, AND AT 6 A.M. SHE FOUND THE BODY WHEN SHE WENT TO SEE WHY HIS ROOM STILL WAS LIGHTED.

THE PRINCE'S BODY, CLAD IN PAJAMAS, LAY ON A FUTAN -- JAPANESE FLOOR BED -- WITH A FOREIGN-STYLE PILLOW UNDER THE HEAD. HIS HANDS WERE FOLDED PEACEFULLY ACROSS HIS CHEST, AND HIS UNSHAVEN FACE APPEARED SERENE.

RELATIVES SUBSTITUTED A WHITE CEREMONIAL KIMONO FOR THE PAJAMAS AND MOVED THE BODY FROM ITS EAST-WEST POSITION TO A NORTH-SOUTH POSITION, IN KEEPING WITH JAPANESE CUSTOM.

BESIDES THE FUTAN THE ONLY ARTICLES IN THE ROOM WERE THE POISON VIAL BESIDE THE BED, A NIGHT-STAND ON WHICH WAS A CUP OF UNIDENTIFIED LIQUID, A BOOKCASE CONTAINING A FEW JAPANESE VOLUMES AND SOME BRIC-A-BRAC, AND A SMALL MEDICINE TRAY ON WHICH WAS A JAR OF AMERICAN MENTHOLATED SALVE.

AN AMERICAN MILITARY GUARD WAS PLACED AROUND THE HOUSE, BUT THE THREE AMERICAN SOLDIERS WHO WERE STATIONED IN THE SMALL ENTRA HALL TOOK OFF THEIR SHOES, AS IS THE JAPANESE CUSTOM UPON ENTERIN A HOUSE.

IN THE OCCIDENTAL-STYLE OFFICE ADJOINING THE SUICIDE ROOM, AN OLD FRIEND, SHIGEHARA MATSUMOTO, QUIETLY BUSIED HIMSELF IN WRITING A FUNERAL ORATION.

SADLY, PRINCESS KONOYE EXPRESSED CONCERN THAT HER ELDEST SON, WHO WAS KNOWN AS "BUTCH" WHEN HE WAS A PRINCETON UNIVERSITY GOLFER, WAS NOT PRESENT. HE WAS AN ARMY LIEUTENANT AND IS BELIEVED TO HAV BEEN CAPTURED IN MANCHURIA.

DS/X632PPS NM

DEC 17 1945

A32FX
WITH KONOYE
TOKYO, DEC 16-(AP)-ON THE VERANDA OF PRINCE FUMIMARO KONOYE'S HOME WERE FOUND GIBBON'S DECLINE AND FALL OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE, AND OSCAR WILDE'S DE PROFUNDIS AND BALLAD OF READING GAOL, WHICH TH FORMER PREMIER EVIDENTLY HAD BEEN READING SHORTLY BEFORE HIS SUICID TODAY.

IN DE PROFUNDIS THIS PASSAGE WAS UNDERLINED IN RED:

"SOCIETY AS WE HAVE CONSTITUTED IT WILL HAVE NO PLACE FOR ME, HAS NONE TO OFFER; BUT NATURE, WHOSE SWEET RAINS FALL ON THE UNJUST AND JUST ALIKE, WILL HAVE CLEFTS IN THE ROCKS WHERE I MAY HIDE, AND SECRET VALLEYS IN WHOSE SILENCE I MAY WEEP UNDISTURBED."

JW1125APS

DEC 17 1945

A203DT
-95-
SUB INTRO WINDSOR FORD
(DT) WINDSOR, ONT., DEC.16-(AP)-STRIKING CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS OF THE FORD OF CANADA PLANT SUNDAY SCHEDULED A REFERENDUM VOTE ON A MODIFIED CANADIAN GOVERNMENT PLAN TO END A STRIKE THAT BEGAN SEPT.12.

THEY AGREED, DURING A MASS MEETING, TO VOTE TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY OF THIS WEEK ON THE GOVERNMENT'S "SETTLEMENT FORMULA."

THE STRIKE BEGAN X X X THIRD GRAF PREVIOUS.

EM107AES NM

(90)
(DT)..WINDSOR,ONT.,DEC.16-(AP)-STRIKING CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS OF THE FORD OF CANADA PLANT HERE VOTED OVER THE WEEKEND TO ACCEPT A MODIFIED CANADIAN GOVERNMENT PLAN TO END A STRIKE THAT BEGAN SEPT.12.

A SPOKESMAN FOR FORD LOCAL 200, UAW-CIO, SAID THE VOTE WAS UNANIMOUS.

THE STRIKE BEGAN OVER WAGE ISSUES AND UNION SECURITY DEMANDS AND IMMEDIATELY IDLED ABOUT 10,000 FORD EMPLOYES. ANOTHER 3,500 WINDSOR WORKERS WALKED OUT IN SYMPATHY BUT LATER RETURNED TO THEIR JOBS.

THE GOVERNMENT PEACE PLAN CALLS FOR A RETURN TO WORK, AND A LIMITED PERIOD OF NEGOTIATIONS FOLLOWED BY ARBITRATION.

BZ1231AES NM

BY HAL BOYLE

HONG KONG, DEC. 16--(AP)--CHINESE PORT RESTRICTIONS ARE PUTTING BRITISH TRADERS AT A DISADVANTAGE IN COMPETING WITH AMERICAN OPERATORS, REAR ADMIRAL C. H. J. HARCOURT, COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF AND HEAD OF THE MILITARY ADMINISTRATION IN HONG KONG, SAID TODAY.

"AMERICAN PLANES AND WARSHIPS HAVE COMPLETE FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT IN CHINESE WATERS," HE SAID AT A NEWS CONFERENCE. "THE BRITISH HAVEN'T, AND AS A RESULT THEREFORE ARE AT SOMETHING OF A DISADVANTAGE IN TRADE MATTERS."

DEC 17 1945

HE ACKNOWLEDGED THAT BRITISH VESSELS HAD SUFFERED DELAYS IN RECEIVING PERMISSION FROM NATIONALIST GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS TO DOCK IN CHINESE PORTS, BUT ADDED "THERE HAS BEEN NOTHING TO INDIATE THIS WAS DELIVERATE. THINGS ARE IMPROVING AND IT IS CERTAIN THAT BRITAIN, AMERICAN AND CHINA MUST WORK TOGETHER. CHINA HAS A DEUCE OF A PROBLEM."

HE SAID IT WAS H "QUITE LIKELY" THAT THERE WOULD BE A LARGE INFLUX OF AMERICAN BUSINESS INTO HONG KONG, BECAUSE OF A FEELING ON THE PART OF AMERICAN BUSINESSMEN THAT THEY HAVE MORE LONG TIME TRADE SECURITY HERE THAN IN SHANGHAI, WHERE THEY ARE SUBJECT TO WHATEV TAX RESTRICTIONS THE CHINESE NATIONAL AND LOCAL GOVERNMENTS MIGHT IMPO

HE [illegible] COMMENTED ALSO THAT "THERE HAS BEEN A LARGE AMOUNT OF UNTHINKING CLAMOR TO RESTORE HONGKONG TO THE CHINESE, BUT AMONG THE THINKING CLASSES THERE IS A REALIZATION THAT THERE ARE MANY THINGS WE CAN DO FOR THEM THAT THEY CAN'T DO ALONE."

AOR BOYLES THRU SEC 2012 MB/310P

A105CX (STRIKES)

DEC 17 1945

STRIKES AT A GLANCE (120)
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
(CX) 400,000 CONTINUE IDLE IN NATION'S LABOR TROUBLES.
MAJOR DEVELOPMENTS:
PETROLEUM--SINCLAIR OIL CORP.-CIO OIL WORKERS WAGE DISPUTE SETTLED; NAVY RETURNS COMPANY'S 11 GOVERNMENT-SEIZED PLANTS; ABOUT 8,400 OIL WORKERS TO GET 18 PER CENT PAY BOOST.
AUTOMOBILES--CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS START TALKS WITH KAISER-FRAZER CORP., AUTOMOTIVE NEWCOMERS, AS GM AND FORD CONFERENCES ARE RESUMED; UNION AWAITS OFFICIAL REACTION TO REQUEST FOR BRITISH LABOR GOVERNMENT SUPPORT IN GM DISPUTE.
TEXTILES--CIO TEXTILE WORKERS, SEEKING WAGE INCREASE, DECIDE TO ASK STRIKE BALLOT IN 102 WOOLEN AND WORSTED MILLS.
TRANSPORTATION--SOUTHWESTERN GREYHOUND BUSES SCHEDULED TO ROLL AGAIN AFTER 43-DAY STRIKE; AFL EMPLOYES GET PAY RAISES.
-DASH-

FIRST LEAD EYEWITNESS (WITH WRECK) (350)

DEC 17 1945

BY BEM PRICE
BENNETTSVILLE, S.C., DEC. 16-(AP)-A CLEVELAND, OHIO, PRODUCE BROKER, PINNED FOR TWO HOURS BENEATH THE BODY OF A PULLMAN PORTER FOLLOWING THE WRECK OF THE SEABOARD AIRLINE'S NORTHBOUND SUN QUEEN, TOLD TODAY OF BRUSHING HOT COALS FROM HIS FACE WHILE AWAITING RESCUE.
THE BROKER, ABE WEISMAN, (3677 EAST 154TH ST.) SAID HE WAS SLEEPING AT THE TIME OF THE CRASH AND THAT HIS FIRST SENSATION WAS THAT OF "SLIPPING OFF INTO WATER. IT WAS REALLY MUD. I FELT THE HOT COALS ON ME RIGHT AWAY," HE SAID, "AND TRIED TO BRUSH THEM AWAY."
WEISMAN IS UNDER TREATMENT FOR FACIAL BURNS AND SHOCK.
"I DON'T KNOW HOW THE PORTER GOT OVER ME," WEISMAN CONTINUED, "BUT HE WAS LYING ON MY ARM. THERE WERE SUITCASES ALL OVER ME, TOO. I REMEMBER A COUPLE OF WOMEN GETTING UP ON THEIR KNEES AND BLOOD FROM ONE KEPT RUNNING OFF ONTO ME. PRETTY SOON PEOPLE CAME WITH BLANKETS, WHICH THEY PUT AROUND ME. THEN THEY TRIED TO DIG ME OUT.
"FIRST THEY TRIED WITH THEIR HANDS," SAID WEISMAN, "BUT IT WASN'T MUCH USE IN THE MUD. AND THEN SOMEBODY GOT AN AXE AND WAS ABLE TO CUT ME OUT. WHEN THEY GOT ME OUT I WAS PRETTY DAZED AND THEY MADE ME A BED OF PILLOWS FROM THE CARS AND GAVE ME A SHOT OF DOPE."
WEISMAN'S ROOMMATE AT THE MARLBORO COUNTY GENERAL HOSPITAL, WILLIAM HAROLD ROBINSON, OF ROCHESTER, N.Y. (217 HARWICK ROAD) SAID HE WAS AWAKE AT THE TIME OF THE CRASH AND HAD "LOOKED DOWN THE AISLE JUST IN TIME TO SEE A LOT OF GLASS FLYING AND A SHOWER OF SPARKS."
ROBINSON, WHO SAID HE WAS RECENTLY DISCHARGED FROM A CONSCIENTOUS OBJECTOR CAMP IN PUERTO RICO, RELATED THAT THE NEXT THING HE KNEW AFTER THE CRASH WAS THAT "I FOUND MYSELF TRYING TO STAND UP ON THE SIDE OF THE CAR. I DON'T KNOW HOW LONG IT WAS BEFORE I DISCOVERED MY BACK WAS CUT, BUT I WAS HELPING THE SERVICE MEN LOOK AFTER THE OTHERS. WE GOT THE WOMEN AND BABIES -- I GUESS THERE WERE FOUR OR FIVE OFF THE CAR FIRST.
"A FUNNY THING ABOUT THOSE BABIES," SAID ROBINSON, "MOST OF THEM WERE IN THE DINING CAR JUST AHEAD AND FEW WERE HURT AT ALL. I GUESS THEY WERE IN THERE FOR AN EARLY FEEDING.
"ANYHOW, I BEGAN TO FEEL PRETTY WEAK AND HAD TO LIE DOWN UNTIL SOMEBODY CAME TO LOOK AFTER ME. I DON'T KNOW HOW LONG THAT WAS."
THE CONDITION OF NEITHER MAN IS CONSIDERED SERIOUS.
AT CHERAW, A CORONER WHO X X X ETC, PICKING UP PREVIOUS (A110AX, CHERAW DATE, AT START.)

MK1053PES NM

30.24-32451

HONG KONG, DEC. 16--(AP)--THE PRESIDENT GRANT OF THE AMERICAN PRESIDENT LINES ARRIVED AT HONG KONG TODAY FROM SAN FRANCISCO VIA SHANGHAI WITH THE FIRST CARGO OF MDSE. CONSUMER GOODS RECEIVED IN THIS PORT IN FOUR YEARS.

DEC 17 1945

THE LONG-HERALDED CARGO HAD BEEN ANXIOUSLY AWAITED BY MERCHANTS AND BUYERS. THE CARGO CONSISTED MOSTLY OF FOODSTUFFS.

APR HUTCHESONS 01700 CCC 1022A

PEIPING, DEC 17 (AP)-THE PHONOGRAPH IN THE SWANK RED CROSS LEGATION CLUB WAS THROBBING OUT "IN THE MOOD" WHEN CHINA'S FIRST LADY, MADAME CHIANG KAI-SHEK, DROPPED IN SATURDAY.

"THAT'S GOOD AMERICAN JITTERBUG," SOMEONE INFORMED MADAME CHIANG, WHO PROMPTLY REPLIED SHE HAD NEVER SEEN IT DANCED.

SGT. THOMAS KEARNS, OF 218 JAMAICA AVE., QUEENS VILLAGE, N.Y. AND MISS PRUDENCE HEMENWAY, OF 73 LEXINGTON AVE., BUFFALO, N.Y., A VASSAR GRADUATE WHO HAS BEEN A RED CROSS STAFF MEMBER IN THE CHINA AND BURMA THEATER SINCE JANUARY, 1945, VOLUNTEERED FOR THE COMMAND PERFORMANCE.

DEC 17 1945

GG827 PM

TOKYO, DEC. 17-(AP)-NAVY CAPTAIN HAROLD E. PARKER, WHO JOINED GENERAL MACARTHUR'S STAFF IN DECEMBER, 1944, AND ASSISTED IN PLANNING THE PHILIPPINES CAMPAIGN AND JAPANESE OCCUPATION, HAS BEEN DETACHED AND WILL RETURN BY PLANE TO HIS HOME IN FLINT, MICH.

FJ646ACS

OKAZAKI, JAPAN, DEC. 17-(AP)-PFC. JAMES B. MILLER, OF CHICAGO, HAS A NEW TYPE OF SOUVENIR FROM JAPAN--A DISCHARGE AUTOGRAPHED BY GEN. WALTER KRUEGER, COMMANDER OF THE SIXTH ARMY. MILLER, A 69-POINT VETERAN, IS EN ROUTE HOME ON FURLOUGH AFTER ACCEPTING A DISCHARGE IN ORDER TO RE-ENLIST. (STREET ADDRESS UNAVAILABLE)

FJ647ACS

MANILA, MONDAY, DEC. 17-(AP)-CHAIRMAN MAURY MAVERICK OF THE SMALL WAR PLANTS CORP., MAKING A FOUR-DAY INVESTIGATION OF SMALL BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES IN THE PHILIPPINES, SAID TODAY THE ISLANDS ARE FERTILE GROUNDS FOR BUSINESS DEVELOPMENTS.

MAVERICK, WHO LEAVES FOR AUSTRALIA WEDNESDAY, CONFERRED WITH RESIDENT COMMISSIONER PAUL V. MCNUTT BEFORE TOURING THE SOUTHERN LUZON COCONUT AREA WITH GUERRILLA LEADER COL. VINCENTE UMALI. HE ALSO VIEWED DESTRUCTION OF TOWNS AND PROCESSING PLANTS IN LAGUNA PROVINCE, ESPECIALLY IN THE CITY OF SAN PABLO.

FJ509ACS

LORDS ARE ASKED TO APPROVE LOAN

LONDON, Dec. 17—(AP) Laborite spokesman Lord Pethick-Lawrence today asked the House of Lords for quick approval of the terms of the projected $4,400,000,000 American loan, warning that the alternative was British isolation and "a quarrel with America."

Moving adoption of the government's resolutions covering the loan and the Bretton Woods World Bank plan, Pethick-Lawrence soberly told the House:

"I beg of any of you contemplating voting against this agreement, to weigh carefully before doing so what will be the consequences of its rejection. . . . It will mean not merely a quarrel with America, but the end of all cooperation."

Commons has already approved the financial agreement, by which the Anglo-American conferees in Washington tied the Bretton Woods plan to the loan. The loan itself must still be approved by the U. S. Congress.

Lord Beaverbrook, principal critic of the loan and the Bretton Woods plan, withdrew his amendment to reject both measures, but associates said he would oppose when final division comes tomorrow night.

Most Conservatives were expected to abstain from voting.

LORDS DEBATE LOAN BY U. S.

Opposition Rallies Behind Beaverbrook.

London, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Labor Government leaders urged the House of Lords today to approve the $4,400,000,000 American loan to Britain over strenuous opposition led by Lord Beaverbrook, powerful British publisher.

Opposition to the loan and to approval of the Bretton Woods plan for a world stabilization fund—already approved by the House of Commons—rallied behind Beaverbrook's contention that both plans would involve return to the gold standard and other financial disadvantages to Britain.

Beaverbrook abruptly withdrew his demand for a vote on an amendment rejecting the loan and Bretton Woods plan but announced he would renew his objections when the House of Lords formally votes tomorrow on the Government program.

Support for the new financial agreement was urged by Lord Pethick-Lawrence, Secretary of State for India.

"If this was a return to the gold standard as we understood it in days gone by, I should not be standing here," he declared.

Despite the opposition raised by Beaverbrook, both Labor and Conservative party leaders maneuvered behind the scenes to avert possible rejection of the measures. Conservative leaders, while holding a majority in the House of Lords, were fearful that an adverse vote would result in elimination of the Lords as a law-making body. Law making powers of the House of Lords already are drastically restricted and London newspapers said that rejection of the loan and Bretton Woods proposals would mean probable subsequent legislation stripping the last legislative powers from the upper House.

Cautions Members.

"I beg any of you contemplating voting against this agreement to weigh carefully before doing so what will be the consequences of its rejection," Lord Pethick-Lawrence declared.

"It will mean not merely a quarrel with America, but the end of all co-operation. We should destroy all immediate hope of building up a world order, and we should be putting ourselves in a position of isolation. Isolation is an impossible creed for any nation in the middle of this Twentieth Century."

DELAY ON UNO SITE

LONDON, Dec. 17—(AP) Recommendation of a specific American city as the site for the permanent United Nations organization home apparently was ruled out tonight, preparatory commission delegates said, and the choice probably will be left up to the general assembly which convenes Jan. 10.

Opinion was that the general committee on sites would attempt to narrow down the list of 40 or more bidding United States cities to five or six, and that these five or six would be presented to the assembly for a final choice.

UNO STUDIES U. S. FOR SITE

Boston and San Francisco Lead Field of 39 Cities.

London, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Marking what Yugoslav delegate Stoyan Gavrilovic describes as a shift of the center of world politics from the Old to the New World, diplomats of fifty-one nations began today the selection of a site within the United States for the home of the United Nations.

Gavrilovic, chairman of a subcommittee which has been hearing invitations from various American cities, said the big fight over the question of whether Europe or the United States would get the permanent headquarters was over, and that selection of a specific location in the United States should be fairly easy.

Favorites in the field of thirty-nine American cities were San Francisco and Boston, the latter supported by many European delegates because of its nearness to the old world. Delegates from China, Australia and the Philippines have come out for San Francisco, where the world peace organization was founded.

An American delegate said the field of thirty - nine probably would be narrowed down to three or four in the preliminary decisions and a subcommittee then would visit the proposed locations. The final choice may not be made until the general assembly meets in January.

European nations, meanwhile, launched a drive to establish a regional office in Europe, possibly in Geneva, where old League of Nations buildings could be used.

A cablegram setting forth the reasons why New York should be the permanent headquarters of the United Nations Organization was sent to the Preparatory Commission of UNO by the Mayor's Committee on Permanent Headquarters for United Nations Organization. It was signed by Mayor LaGuardia, Mayor-elect William O'Dwyer, Park Commissioner Moses and Grover A. Whalen, committee chairman.

Among the advantages of the proposed site for the headquarters in Flushing Meadow Park advanced in the message and also in a brochure to be released in a week, were: The city offers the most appropriate setting for the task of achieving lasting international co-operation because its citizens are of every nationality and creed to be found throughout the world; the making of the peace would be expedited through New York's cultural, educational and commercial resources; the port of New York is unmatched throughout the world and, with the completion of Idlewild Airport, New York will be the undisputed hub of the air world.

SOLDIERS TESTIFY TO DEPOT BEATINGS

Court-Martial Tries Charges Of Brutality At Litchfield

London, Dec. 17 (AP)—Two soldiers testified at a court-martial today that they saw wounded American soldiers clubbed at the 10th Reinforcement Depot at Litchfield in Staffordshire because they couldn't lift their legs high enough when ordered to march double time.

The defendant, Sergt. Judson H. Smith, of Cumberland, Ky., provost sergeant at the depot, has denied that any troops were mistreated, and he has been supported by Col. James A. Killiam, of Chicago, commander of the depot. Eight other enlisted men and three officers face trial later on charges of brutal treatment of the men.

Prosecution Charges Plan

Capt. Earl J. Carroll, of San Francisco, prosecutor, said he was endeavoring to show there was a plan to make Litchfield so "tough" in the last months of the war that soldiers would prefer combat to confinement there. He called the trial "The GI Nuernberg."

Carroll received permission to mark as a prosecution exhibit a medical report to the effect that a head blow may have caused the death of Private Eril Bolton, a Negro, two days after he left the depot last March.

Soldiers Tell Of Beatings

Pfc. Henry Petras, of Newark, N.J., a witness, said he was beaten across the legs and back by a guard known as "The Move" before he had recovered from an appendectomy.

Another soldier told of hearing a guard threaten to kill a Negro soldier the guard was beating. A third witness told of punishments such as being forced to clean a floor with a toothbrush, or removing and replacing a hat 5,000 times.

Britain to Abolish Information Ministry

London, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—The British Ministry of Information will be abolished to make way for a new organization on a substantially reduced scale, Prime Minister Attlee told Commons today. Attlee said that MOI, which was the fountainhead for most wartime governmental news, probably will be succeeded by a smaller agency to present British policy overseas.

NO REPRIEVE FOR AMERY

LONDON, Dec. 17 — (AP) Home Secretary James Chuter Ede said tonight no reprieve would be granted to John Amery and that the Nazi radio propagandist would be hanged Wednesday for high treason.

Amery is a son of L. S. Amery, secretary of state for India in the Churchill cabinet. He confessed his guilt to eight counts of treason Nov. 28 in Old Bailey and was condemned in an eight-minute hearing.

PLANE DOWN AT SEA

London, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—The British Press Association said a large four-engined airplane was believed to have crashed into the sea tonight off England's southeast coast.

Green distress flares and rockets were sighted eight to ten miles southeast of Deal after a plane circled low over the area, the news agency said. The flares were in the vicinity of the South Goodwin Lightship. A lifeboat put out despite high seas, wind and rain squalls.

Tito Repeats Conditions For Relations With Italy

London, Dec. 17 (AP)—Marshal Tito, in a signed article read over the Belgrade radio, said today there could be no normal diplomatic relations between Italy and Yugoslavia until the Italians recognize Yugoslavia's "just demands" for reparations and territorial revisions.

"A defeated country cannot impose conditions on a victor," said Tito.

PARIS TO REVOKE BROTHEL LICENSES

PARIS, Dec. 17 — (AP) The prefect of Paris police said tonight that all 178 licensed houses of prostitution in the French capital would be closed.

The prefect, Charles Luizet, said the city's registered prostitutes would be placed under strict control, but added that it might be three months before the order could be enforced completely. He said all efforts would be made to apprehend unlicensed women.

Luizet made his announcement at a Paris council meeting after City Councilwoman Marthe Richard, leader of a crusade to close the brothels and make prostitution illegal, declared she had been offered 1,000,000 francs ($20,000) "to drop this whole business" by "persons with an interest in the operation of the houses." She declined to name them.

Emile Bure, political director of the newspaper L'Ordre, in an editorial assailed the council's action as opening the door to a wave of violent sex crimes. He compared Paris with New York, where he said the lack of established outlets had driven men to rape and related crimes.

Mme. Richard had argued that the 6,000 registered prostitutes of Paris were responsible for the increasing incident of venereal disease.

"These institutions in which young women, most of them minors, are treated as cheap merchandise, are a horror for our city," she said in an interview. "I have told the council that in them a girl is forced to receive 70 or 80 clients a day. I have seen such girls in hospitals, physically ruined, of course."

PARIS SUPPORTS ANTI-VICE DRIVE

Paris, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Prefect of Police Charles Luizet said today that the 178 licensed houses of prostitution in the Paris area will be closed within three months and the city's registered prostitutes will be subject to strict control.

Luizet made his announcement at a Paris City Council meeting after Mme. Marthe Richard, determined leader of a crusade to close the brothels and make prostitution illegal, declared she had been offered 1,000,000 francs ($20,000) "to drop this whole business." She said the offer "came from persons with an interest in the operation of the houses," but declined to name them.

Mme. Richard's anti-prostitution motion was unanimously approved in principle Thursday by the Council which left the final decision on the matter to Luizet, who will be responsible for enforcement.

Mme. Richard, a council member, said Paris prostitutes were responsible for the increasing incident of venereal disease and said the city's legalized houses of prostitution had been espionage headquarters for the Germans during the occupation.

Following world war I Mme. Richard was decorated by the French Government for intelligence work against the Germans. In world war II she entered the French Resistance Movement during the Nazi occupation and, among other acts, helped shelter Allied airmen from capture.

She married Thomas Crompton, an executive of the Rockefeller Foundation in Europe, after world war I. He died in 1928. She said that after she achieved her goal of outlawing prostitution she would retire to Florida to live near her late husband's relatives.

80TH DIVISION IN STAGING AREA

PARIS, Dec. 17—(AP)—The Army announced today that the 80th division has reached the Le Havre staging area preparatory for shipment home. Some 7,500 of the division will shuttle to England for shipment and the rest will sail directly to the United States.

The redeployment status of other units:

Major portion at home—79th division.

At sea—26th, 76th, 89th and 90th divisions.

Shuttling to England from Le Havre en route home — 82nd airborne division.

Arriving at Calais staging area—100th division.

Alerted for shipment home—29th, 84th and 94th infantry divisions, Second Armored division and 22nd corps headquarters.

The Army said Brig Gen. Stuart Cutler, former commander of the 101st airborne division, has been named commander of the Chanor base section at Brussels. The base controls the ports of Antwerp and Le Havre. Cutler, of Auburn, N. Y., succeeds Brig. Gen. E. F. Koenig.

G. I. KILLED IN PARIS

Paris, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—The French news agency reported today that an American soldier and the wife of a French housepainter were stabbed fatally by the husband last midnight after a fight in a Montmarte cafe over money. The agency said the soldier was Erwin Wesphalen, stationed at Grand Port near Reims and in Paris on a pass.

The report said the husband joined the couple at a table and started arguing with the 38-year-old woman about money. He drew a knife and killed her and the soldier, the agency said.

The Provost Marshal's office confirmed the incident but refused to give details pending notification of the soldier's kin.

Some German Travel Over Boundaries O.K.

Berlin, Dec. 17 (AP)—One-year passes permitting travel across occupation boundaries will be issued to limited classes of Germans, it was decided today by the co-ordinating committee of the Allied

30.24-32453

Control Council as the first step toward permitting normal interzonal travel.

Eligible for passes will be:

Germans employed in special agencies under the control council; church dignitaries; the clergy; doctors; technicians in reconstruction projects; agents in interzone business, and business men whose duties require travel in two or more zones.

Pre-Peace German Sports Groups Banned

Berlin, Dec. 17 (AP)—Abolition of all sports organizations which existed in Germany before the surrender was ordered today by the co-ordinating committee of the Allied Control Commission is a move to prevent the use of organized sports as a cloak for military training.

The ban was aimed primarily at organizations engaged in parachuting, marksmanship or other activities of a military nature, the directive said, adding that physical education of German youth will be in health hygiene and recreation of a strictly nonmilitary nature.

600,000 NAZIS SOUGHT BY U.S.

Conviction Of 'Little Fuehrers' Of Criminality Is Aim

DE LUCE

Nuernberg, Dec. 17 (AP)—The United States prosecution plumbed the depths of the pyramided Nazi political system today in an attempt to convict 600,000 "little führers" of criminality, but doubts were raised that actual guilt reached that deep in what the American counsel called a "hierarchy of descending Caesars."

The doubt was cast by pointed comments from Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding over the international tribunal trying 21 Nazis, and by the reported view of the British prosecution that the trial should not attempt to convict the bottom levels of the Nazi political hierarchy.

Many Of 600,000 In Jails

Robert G. Storey, of Dallas, Texas, United States assistant prosecutor, opened this most controversial and difficult phase of the trial, and Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief United States prosecutor, himself will present the final argument on why six Nazi organizations should be ruled criminal, and membership in them automatically a crime.

Many of the 600,000 now are in Allied jails "waiting the outcome of this war criminal trial," Colonel Storey told the court.

If the United States venture is successful, it will mean the blanket conviction of the leadership corps of the National Socialist party, all of whom will be considered guilty in varying degrees.

A Conservative Figure

Actually, Storey said, 600,000 is a conservative figure, for if all subordinate staff officers of the leaders were included, the total would reach 2,000,000.

Those Storey sought to convict included 41 Gauleiters (provincial leaders); 808 Kreisleiters (county leaders), 28,326 Gruppenleiters (group leaders), 89,378 Zellenleiters (unit leaders) and 463,048 block leaders, plus the staff officers assigned them.

He said he would attempt to show the responsibility of the leadership corps as a whole for the plotted misdeeds of the National Socialist party, ranging from Jewish programs to the murder of captured Allied airmen.

Twice Storey was halted by questions from Lord Justice Lawrence. Storey quoted a letter from the missing Martin Bormann, Hitler deputy and Reichsleiter who is being tried in absentia, to Reichsleiter Alfred Rosenberg, another defendant, urging inclusion in the Nazi catechism of some of Ten Commandments plus some added Nazi commandments. Lawrence interrupted to ask what that had to do with block leaders, the small fry Nazis who ruled 40 to 60 households each for the party.

Storey replied he could not hope to prove at each stage that all the leadership knew about each crime, but that the prosecution was attempting to show that crimes were committed at different levels within the party organization.

Called A Police Affair

Lawrence interrupted the second time when Storey referred to a police order from Gestapo Chieftain Heinrich Himmler's headquarters. He asked what connection that had with the leadership corps. Storey replied that the late Himmler was a Reichsleiter as well as head of police, and his orders were carried out by members of the leadership corps.

Lawrence remarked it seemed to him a police and not a party affair.

The order in question instructed district police chiefs to confer with Gauleiters and Kreisleiters on "coordination of activities in anti-Jewish demonstrations." It was dated November 11, 1939.

Storey contended the responsibilities of the leadership corps were "more massive and comprehensive than those of the masses it led and directed in assault on the peace-loving peoples of the world."

Using a chart, he traced the hierarchy. Directly below Hitler, he said, were the Reichsleiters, including Rosenberg, Bormann, Nazi Youth Leader Baldur von Schirach, Governor of Poland, Hans Frank, Wilhelm Frick, protector of Bohemia and Moravia, and the late Robert Ley, Labor Front leader, who hanged himself in his Neurnberg cell.

These were the "most powerful overlords of the German people," Storey declared.

He said Rosenberg's organization carried out a vast program of plunder throughout Occupied Europe, and tried to undermine the Christian Church; that Bormann issued secret orders to Gauleiters that National Socialism and Christianity were incompatible and that the influence of churches in Germany must be eliminated; that Ley destroyed a free labor movement and placed it under his Labor Front; that Frick participated in framing laws promoting the Nazi conspiracy to violate the rights of humanity.

Nazi Leadership Corps Target At Trial

GALLAGHER

Nuernberg, Dec. 17 (AP)—American prosecutors today called on the International Military Tribunal to convict as war criminals 600,000 members of the Nazi Leadership Corps—described as "the brain, backbone and directing arm of the Nazi party."

Opening a new phase of the war-crimes trial of 21 top Hitlerite leaders, the prosecution charged that thousands of members of such once-powerful organizations as the Leadership Corps, the Elite Guard (SS), the Storm Troops (SA), the Reich Cabinet, the Gestapo and the German high command should also be declared guilty as war criminals.

Jails of Allied powers in occupied Germany are filled with thousands of such minor Nazis.

Automatically Guilty

If the six indicted German organizations are convicted of being criminal groups, these members will automatically be guilty of war crimes to varying degrees, American prosecutors declared.

Col. Robert G. Storey, assistant United States prosecutor, opened the new phase of the trial by producing records showing that the Nazi Leadership Corps had approximately 600,000 active functionaries, ranging from Hitler's immediate aides to minor block leaders whose duty, the prosecutor charged, was "to spy on the population."

Colonel Storey declared that the estimated figure of 600,000 for the membership of the Nazi Leadership Corps was a "limited view," asserting that numerous minor staff officers would bring the total to approximately 2,000,000.

Lesser Responsibility

However, conviction of the subordinate staff officers is not being sought by the prosecution, because "their participation in and responsibility for the conspiracy were measurably less extensive than those of staff officers and officeholders on higher levels of the Leadership Corps.

Colonel Storey listed the membership in the various categories of the Leadership Corps as follows: 41 Gauleiters (district leaders); 808 Kreisleiters (county leaders); 28,376 Ortsgruppenleiters (local group leaders); 89,378 Zellenleiters (cell leaders) and 463,048 Blockleiters (block leaders, each supervising approximately 60 houses).

The prosecutor charged that the Reich Cabinet by its decree of July 3, 1934, legalizing the party's blood purge, "moved to make itself accessory after the fact of these murders."

Plan To Starve Russia

Earlier, the prosecution disclosed the systematic plans for the stripping of food from Russia that would have wiped out the populations of Moscow and Stalingrad if those cities had been conquered.

Reading from captured German plans for the conquest of Russia, the prosecution named Hermann Goering, sitting uncomfortably in the prisoners' box, as the instigator of a calculated starvation plan that would have caused the deaths of "many tens of millions" of Russians.

"This document reveals a program of mass murder to stagger the imagination," one United States prosecutor told the four-power tribunal.

Food Export To Reich

The plan, drafted by Goering's Economic Ministry in 1941, called for export to Germany of every ounce of food in the Ukraine and other areas. In the food-deficient north, the Army was to seize all food for its own use.

Another defendant, Alfred Rosenberg, administrator of the conquered Ukraine, was quoted as saying in a speech in 1941 that "the job of feeding the German people falls on the East. . . . We see no reason for feeding the Russian people of that area."

Also introduced as evidence was a Rosenberg decree ordering his subordinates to disregard Hague Convention rules for treatment of captured peoples because, he said, the rules "are not applicable to the Soviet Union."

Kaltenbrunner Removed

Just before the court session opened, Defendant Ernst Kaltenbrunner, who took his place in the prisoners' box after the trial began because of hospitalization for a cerebral hemorrhage, was taken from the courtroom. Kaltenbrunner, former chief of the dread security police, complained of a headache and medical authorities decided he needed to rest.

As the fifth week of the historic trial began, virtually all the 21 Hitler leaders were losing their nonchalant courtroom air and apparently becoming resigned to death as punishment for Nazi crimes.

The mounting pile of evidence—taken from the Germans' own records—that the Hitler regime was responsible for the enslavement of nearly 7,000,000 foreigners and the extermination of 6,000,000 Jews has virtually unnerved many defendants, according to their prison guards.

Jail attendants said only Hjalmar Schacht, former Reichsminister of Economy, holds grimly to the hope of acquittal. Schacht has maintained he had little connection with Hitler's machinations, despite his letters introduced in evidence declaring he was rebuilding German economy so it would support a large military machine.

The Goering Ministry order directed the seizure of all Russian live stock and grain harvests for export to Germany and capture of the Russian fishing fleet for German use in Norwegian waters.

"Many tens of millions of people in these areas will . . . either die of starvation or emigrate to Siberia," the order declared.

Himmler's Income

An insight into the sources of income for Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler was given by a letter signed by a banker identified only as von Schroeder in which he said to Himmler:

"Please be assured that we will always do everything in our power at all times to assist you in every possible way. I am pleased to inform you at this opportunity that your circle of friends has again placed at your disposal this year a sum slightly in excess of 1,000,000 reichmarks for 'special purposes.'"

Storey traced the organization of the party hierarchy, ranging from the Reichsleiters immediately below Hitler down to some 500,000 Nazi block leaders. These block leaders each had about 60 houses under their surveillance, and their duty, Storey said, was "to spy on the population."

Storey named four of the accused Nazis in the prisoners' box as Reichsleiters—Rosenberg, Baldur von Schirach, Hitler Youth chief; Hans Frank, Nazi Governor of Poland, and Wilhelm Frick, former "protector" of Bohemia and Moravia. Two others who were indicted but are missing from the courtroom were also named. They are Martin Bormann, Hitler's missing deputy who is being tried in absentia, and Robert Ley, German labor boss, who committed suicide rather than face trial.

"The evidence will show that Rosenberg was the leader of the organization named for him which carried out the vast program of looting and plundering art treasures throughout occupied Europe," Storey declared.

Failure Of Nazi Plan To Harm British Through Irish Bared

TUCKER

Nuernberg, Dec. 17 (AP)—German intrigue to stir up revolution in Ireland through the Irish Republican Army failed largely because of the mysterious death of an Irish revolutionary agent on board a U-boat in the English Channel, says Maj. Gen. Edwin Lahousen, one-time German intelligence official.

Lahousen, surprise witness for the prosecution at the war crimes trial here, said in an interview that death of the agent also foiled plans to sabotage British industries from Irish bases, and that other sabotage agents were nabbed the moment they set foot on British soil.

He said the operation bore the code name "pidgeon," and was considered politically so important by Joachim von Ribbentrop that it was taken over by the Foreign Office.

Worked Under Canaris

The key revolutionary figure was described by Lahousen as an Irish-American in the outlawed Irish Republican Army who worked his way from New York to Genoa, Italy, as a crew member of a United States ship, and was brought to Germany after making contact with Nazi intelligence officers through an intermediary.

Lahousen worked under Admiral Walter W. Canaris, Greek-born chief of the German intelligence who was hanged for his part in the Hitler bomb plot. Lahousen said Nazi efforts to sabotage Allied countries were repeatedly "sabotaged" by Canaris.

"There were two different parts to the plan to harm the British by using the Irish," Lahousen said. "The first part provided for the use of agents to work with the IRA and use Ireland as a base for sabotage operations against British war industries. The second provided for collaboration with IRA through the key agent, who was to be sent to Ireland to work for an uprising to take place simultaneously with a planned invasion of Britain."

Taken To See Ribbentrop

Soon after the IRA man arrived in Berlin he was taken to see Ribbentrop, Lahousen said.

"Shortly after this meeting our agents began to go over. After things were ready this man was put aboard a submarine," he continued.

Lahousen's diary says the submarine left from Wilhelmshaven on August 6, 1940, for an undisclosed point on the Irish coast. A radio transmitter and special sabotage equipment were to be dropped by parachute at a prearranged rendezvous.

"The U-boat had just left a very few hours when it sent a radio message that the agent had suddenly died. The message came through normal channels of the navy and we were informed they buried him at sea," Lahousen said.

"When the U-boat returned, investigation showed the man had died of illness of the stomach.

"The Foreign Office, however, accused Canaris of poisoning him."

Cause Of Death Uncertain

"I can say it was absolutely out of the question that Canaris poisoned him. Ribbentrop made repeated efforts to learn what precisely happened, but I don't think the results were conclusive.

"His death practically ended all enterprises in Ireland. With regard to other agents that went to Ireland, then to England, with the help of IRA, I believe we succeeded in getting four or five of them across by using a submarine in one instance and an airplane in another. . . . But I must say on the whole the enterprise was a failure because they all were caught."

Lahousen was asked, "What was the chief satisfaction Germany obtained from Ireland during the war?"

"There was no satisfaction," he replied. "The Irish Republican Army was of course concerned with their own political ends and would make trouble for (Prime Minister) de Valera instead of making trouble for England. The Foreign Office had every interest in keeping de Valera in a good mood and thus an order was given to cease operations.

Nuernberg Nazis Cut Off From Contact With Press

Defense Counsel Forbidden to Act as Intermediaries

NUERNBERG, Dec. 17 (AP).—The international military tribunal ruled today that German defense lawyers must not act as intermediaries for press interviews with the Nazi leaders on trial here for war crimes.

Upholding the court's security section rule against permitting defense counsel to relay questions and answers between their clients and newspaper men, Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding, declared that "this is a procedure which cannot and will not be countenanced."

The warning to defense lawyers followed Soviet broadcasts reporting that Lieutenant R. A. Rudenko, chief Russian prosecutor, had protested to the tribunal after publication of interviews with Hermann Wilhelm Goering and other Nazi defendants obtained by The Associated Press by submitting questions through defense counsel.

PATTON SITS UP IN HOSPITAL BED FOR FIRST TIME

O'REGAN

HEIDELBERG, Dec. 17—(AP) Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., sat up in his hospital bed today for the first time since his automobile accident eight days ago, after doctors removed a traction apparatus which had realigned the vertebrae in his broken neck.

Army medical authorities, who substituted a plaster cast which encases Patton's neck and the upper part of his chest, said the colorful 15th Army commander was getting well "like a house afire."

One Army source at the 130th station hospital here said "only 'Old Blood and Guts' could come out of it the way he did."

The 60-year-old former commander of the Third Army was recovering from the paralytic injury to his spinal cord with speed reminiscent of his armored lunges across France and Germany. He had said after the crash: "This is a hell of a way to die."

With the cast keeping his neck immobile, Patton was able to read and eat sitting up. Mrs. Patton spent the entire day with him.

Messages of encouragement continued to come in, including one from Winston Churchill, who said: "I sincerely hope you are making a good recovery. Your accident has caused pain to your British friends and comrades, who have admired your brilliant service for the common cause."

Other messages came from Gen. Henry H. Arnold and Gen. Carl A. Spaatz of the United States Air Forces, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, new Veterans' Administration chief, and from the Swedish army.

Text of the evening medical bulletin describing Patton's condition: "Temperature, 98.6 degrees; pulse, 60; respiration, 20; traction removed. X-ray of spine following application of cast shows perfect alignment to cervical vertebrae. General conditions excellent."

Neck In A Cast, Patton Sits Up In His Bed

Heidelberg, Germany, Dec. 17 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., sat up in his hospital bed today for the first time since his accident eight days ago and Army authorities said he was "getting wel llike a house afire."

The United States 15th Army commander, who had said "this is a hell of a way to die" after an automobile crash rendered him almost totally paralyzed, was throwing off the paraylsis suffered by injury to his spinal cord with speed reminiscent of his wartime advances.

One army official said Patton's recovery was "amazing" and "only Old Blood and Guts could come out of it the way he did."

Neck Put In A Cast

Army specialists removed a traction apparatus which has realigned the shattered vertebrae in Patton's broken neck. They substituted a plaster cast which encased the general's neck and body down to the middle of his chest. He now is able to read and eat sitting up and for the first time could look directly at Mrs. Patton, who spent the entire day with him.

Among the messages of encouragement pouring into the hospital was one from Winston Churchill, which said:

"I sincerely hope that you are making a good recovery. Your accident has caused pain to your British friends and comrades who have admired your brilliant service in the common cause."

Cable From Bradley

Gen. Omar Bradley, who was Patton's immediate superior in the European campaigns, cabled Patton that "a truck can't do what the Germans tried so long to do and failed." Other messages came from the Swedish Army, Gen. H. H. Arnold and Gen. Carl Spaatz.

The evening bulletin from the hospital said:

"Temperature, 98.6; pulse, 60; respiration, 20; traction removed, X-ray of spine following application of cast shows perfect alignment to cervical vertebrae. General condition excellent."

Prayers Are Said

Text of the Army's midday bulletin:

"Temperature 98.8 degrees, pulse 60, respiration 20. General Patton had a comfortable night. Preparations are being made to substitue cast-immobilization for traction."

Mrs. Patton spent most of yesterday with her husband. Prayers were said for the General in the chapel of the hospital.

LARRY ALLEN INJURED

LOMZA, Poland, Dec. 17—(AP) Associated Press Foreign Correspondent Larry Allen was slightly injured today when an automobile plunged into a ravine during a raging blizzard. Three other occupants of the car were not injured.

Allen suffered injuries to his spine and right thigh when he was thrown from the car. The others were Col. Walter A. Pashley, of Washington, D. C., a U. S. military attache at Warsaw; Borinslow Sakowski, postmaster of the town of Turosl, and the driver of the car, Pfc. George Scholenberger, of Detroit, Mich.

MOLOTOV CHOSEN AS CHAIRMAN OF BIG THREE SESSION

Foreign Ministers Together Two Hours in Second Meeting.

CORDIAL AIR NOTED

Observers Believe Moscow Conference Has Gotten Off to Good Start.

GILMORE

MOSCOW, Dec. 17—(AP) The foreign ministers of Russia, the United States and Britain, Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav M. Molotov presiding as permanent chairman, met for two hours late today but there was no announcement of the progress of their conferences on multiple world problems.

While little actual news of the meetings could be gleaned, there was every reason to believe, however, that representatives of the three nations were prepared for discussion of actual items on their agenda. It was their second formal session at Speridonifka Palace.

Meet Again Today

An observer said the ministers met in an atmosphere of "serious businesslike discussion." They will meet again at 4 p.m. tomorrow, a U. S. embassy spokesman said.

An observer said U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Molotov cordially greeted one another as they entered the sparkling white and gold conference room.

A flag of his respective nation sat on a huge circular table before each minister and his delegation.

After the conference the ministers emerged in what appeared to be good humor.

Observers were quick to point out however that both Byrnes and Bevin had predicted the conference might not result in the reaching of any agreements and said the fine air of cordiality which prevailed should not raise hopes beyond the expectations of the principals themselves.

Both Byrnes and Bevin were said to be keeping in touch with Chinese and French representatives in Moscow.

Short Meetings Scheduled

The conference apparently will proceed on a schedule of short meetings rather than the lengthy session schedule of the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in London last September.

It was learned that Byrnes and Bevin had asked Molotov to preside as permanent chairman. This followed the pattern of Molotov's 1943 Moscow meeting with former U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull and former British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

No communique was issued after the meeting, and none was expected. There was no reason to believe that statements of progress would be issued at all.

It was recalled that Bevin told his press conference a great deal of headline news, in all probability, could not be expected to emanate from the meetings, and there was nothing to change this view after the first session. But according to persons who were present, the meeting progressed according to expectations, and general satisfaction was expressed.

Competent osbervers cautioned, however, that the lack of announcements should not be interpreted to mean that much history was not being made.

"It has been said and well said that this meeting is exploratory," one observer said. "It's first stages, then could not contain much that would contribute to public enlightment. The three men have met in an atmosphere of cordiality and advanced toward their schedule. What more can be said right now?"

Neither Byrnes nor Bevin, it was said, could know with certainty yet whether they would be here for Christmas. Neither has excluded the possibility, and the embassies are prepared for a stay through the entire holiday period.

Bevin learned he would have to get along at least one more day without the help of British personnel held up in Berlin by bad weather. RAF officers said the three planes carrying experts and clerical help still were weather-bound.

Moscow Parley Gets Down To Business

DEC 18 1945 JAMES

Moscow, Dec. 17 (AP)—In an atmosphere of cordiality enhanced by an informal preliminary meeting last night, the Foreign Ministers of the Soviet Union, the United States and Britain turned today to the serious business of bringing their countries closer together in the interests of world peace.

A British Embassy spokesman said the Foreign Ministers would meet for the second time this afternoon, and observers expected they would embark at once on discussion of the momentous issues that had brought them together, including the vital question of international control of atomic energy.

Their first meeting last night took place in brilliantly lighted Speridonifka Palace.

Molotov Presides

Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, as the host, presided over the proceedings—his first joint meeting with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin since the unsuccessful conference of the Foreign Ministers Council in London last September.

United States Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and British Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, as well as other members of the American and British delegations, were present.

Moltov was described as warmly cordial and hospitable.

The only reference to the matter of atomic energy came last night from Bevin when he told a press conference that he did not expect to deviate from the decisions reached by British, American and Canadian leaders at Washington last month.

The only American press representative permitted to enter Speridonifka Palace while the Foreign Ministers were there was Emil Reynolds, a representative of the American News Picture Pool, who took pictures at a buffet supper.

"All Very Friendly"

"I walked into the buffet and found all three ministers talking in a very friendly way," Reynolds said. "I started taking flashlight pictures and Mr. Byrnes noticed I was wearing an American uniform and said: 'I'm glad to see you here—you are the only representative we have here.'

"I took a bunch of pictures all showing the ministers with vodka glasses in their hands. I thought I ought to get at least one shot without any drinking in it—you know there are people back home who don't believe in it—so I asked Mr. Byrnes if he would put down his glass. I explained why, and Mr. Byrnes smiled and said, 'Sure.'

Bevin Laughed, Too

"Mr. Bevin had heard part of the conversation and asked me to repeat it and I did. Mr. Bevin laughed.

"Mr. Molotov heard Mr. Bevin laugh and came over and asked what it was all about. When it was explained he laughed louder than anybody.

"But they all put their glasses down and I took the picture."

NAZIS CONFESS CRIMES AT TRIAL IN SMOLENSK

MOSCOW, Dec. 17—(AP) German defendants in the Smolensk war crimes trial, rated by the Russians on a par with Nuernberg, confessed participation in mass atrocities today, with one admitting that his brutal extermination of Russians had been carried out on his own initiative.

Six of the 10 accused men had testified as the trial ended its second day.

Willy Krause and another of the low-ranking defendants, Kurt Haudiyan, confessed to raping and beating Russian women, and to looting and burning Russian homes after shooting and hanging their occupants, Tass said.

6 GERMANS ADMIT CRIMES IN SOVIET

Moscow, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Six of the ten Germans on trial before a Soviet tribunal at Smolensk for war crimes confessed on the stand today that they had participated in atrocities. The trial is attracting about the same attention in Russia as is the Nuernberg hearing, although the Smolensk defendants mostly are low ranking Germans.

30.24-32455

Willy Krause was quoted by Tass as admitting taking part in punitive expeditions, of raping and beating Russian women, mass lootings and burning peasants' houses. Kurt Haudiyan confessed that he hanged and shot Russians, robbed, raped and killed girls, the Russian news agency said. Fritz Henchke told of shooting Russian war prisoners. Willy Weiss said he gave orders to machine-gun civilians including women and children. Eric Mueller admitted participating in a punitive expedition in which fifty persons were burned alive, and Heinz Winkler confessed taking part in mass shootings and deportations of slave labor to Germany.

"This trial is part of that great trial which is being waged over Fascism by the progressive humanity of the whole world," Tass commented.

Stalin in Moscow; Returns to Duties

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 18—The Moscow radio said today that Generalissimo Stalin returned to Moscow yesterday and resumed his duties. The brief announcement said:

"On Dec. 17 President of the Council of the Peoples' Commissars of the U.S.S.R. Stalin returned to Moscow from his vacation and resumed his duties."

Premier Stalin left Moscow on Oct. 9 for a vacation near Sochi on the Black Sea. When he failed to return to review a parade in Red Square on Nov. 7 reports circulated that he was ill.

Jailed for Libeling King

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 17 (AP)—Mohamed Abdel Kader Hamza, publisher of Al Balagh, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment today on a charge of libeling King Farouk in an editorial criticizing the royal appointment of an Egyptian Ambassador to Great Britain. The newspaper was ordered suspended for a month.

STALIN IN GOOD HEALTH, BYRNES TOLD BY REDS

MOSCOW, Dec. 17—(AP Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin were assured today by High Russian authorities that Generalissimo Stalin is in good health.

Both visitors made official inquiries. They did not ask and were not told when Stalin would return.

Iran Head Fears 1,000 'Liquidated'

Tehran, Dec. 17 (AP)—An Iranian general staff officer said tonight he feared members of three government garrisons numbering more than 1,000 had been "liquidated" in the insurgent drive through turbulent Azerbaijan.

Iran army headquarters here said the last heard from an 800-man garrison at Rezaieh was that it was "cut off from food and unheard from in several days." There has been no word, the report added, from the garrison 110 miles west of Tabriz at Ardebil, whose radio has been silent twelve days.

The Iranian officer, who refused to be quoted by name, also expressed apprehension that 200 soldiers at Miandaub, 80 miles south of Tabriz, Azerbaijan capital, had been "wiped out." He said the garrison there radioed Saturday it was "surrounded by 3,000 Kurds, Assyrians and Partisans," and would "fight to the last man."

The Russians, the General declared, confiscated the side arms of the Iranian officers and restricted the Government garrison to its barracks. Then, he said, "well-armed Democratic party (Insurgent) forces occupied higher buildings completely surrounding the barracks."

The General, who declined to be quoted by name, said that Central Government troops at Ardebil, 110 miles northeast of Tabriz and twenty miles from the Russian border, had not been heard from in eleven days. He added that 200 Government soldiers at Rezaieh, northwest of Tabriz, had radioed they were "completely surrounded by Kurds, Assyrians and Democrats."

Approximately 1,000 Iranian troops and police, who were halted three weeks ago by the Russians at Karzen while en route to reinforce garrisons in Azerbaijan, have returned to Tehran.

Claim Autonomous Rule.

Moscow, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—The official Soviet news agency, Tass, said today in a Tehran dispatch that Azerbaijan insurgent Democrats had proclaimed the existence of an autonomous national government which would operate "without violating the integrity of Iran."

The insurgents, in a nineteen-point statement, said their Government recognized the Central Iranian Government at Tehran and "will carry out all measures which do not contradict the autonomy of Iranian Azerbaijan and the full rights and demands of the people," Tass said.

Other points called for the adoption of the Azerbaijan language as the official language, the purging of "traitors" from police ranks, the holding of provincial and city elections, and Government "support of private initiative directed toward increasing all economy of the country and the common welfare of the people," Tass said.

United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin kept in close touch with the situation and read reports from their observers—John D. Jernigan, secretary of the American legation, and Sir Reader Bullard, British Ambassador to Iran—who arrived here Saturday from Tehran.

Ambassador to Seek Byrnes's Aid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (A.)—Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala said today he would ask Secretary of State James F. Byrnes to protest to the Russian government the establishment of an autonomous government in Azerbaijan Province.

In an unscheduled visit at the State Department, Ala told a reporter he intended to ask Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson to forward an Iranian request for an American protest to Secretary Byrnes in Moscow.

"This was exactly what I had foreseen," the Ambassador said. "This is an attempt on the part of Russia to present the United States and Britain with a fait accompli on the eve of the meeting of the Big Three Foreign Ministers."

Moscow was made by Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala. After a visit to acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson, he told reporters that Russia had deliberately engineered establishment of the Azerbaijan regime.

American officials, although conceding that the history of Azerbaijan includes several incidents of revolutionary ferment, said there had been no widespread demands for complete autonomy until the present uprising was considerably advanced.

They added that the U. S. differed strongly with the Russian view that Soviet officials had the right to bar regular Iranian government troops from Azerbaijan on the excuse that their presence would increase the disorders.

The movement of troops within the borders of Iran should be the private affair of the central government at Tehran and not the concern of foreign forces, the officials said.

Ala said he had asked Acheson to forward his government's request for a protest to Secretary of State Byrnes, who is expected to discuss the Iranian situation at length with Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov and British Foreign Secretary Bevin at Moscow.

The ambassador said the timing of the establishment of an autonomous Azerbaijan regime at Tabriz by insurgent forces was no accident.

"Russia wants to present the United States and Britain with a fait accompli," he declared.

"Mr. Molotov wants to sit down at the table with Mr. Byrnes and Mr. Bevin and ask them what can be done in Iran, now that the new Azerbaijan government has been established."

President Truman's declaration of American policy toward China and the favorably-spoken reaction to it continued to be the top news in this strife-torn country.

K. C. Wu, government minister of information, said that he believed the government would agree to form a coalition with the Communists provided they would abolish autonomous armies and cease independent control of territory, but that the Communists still wanted to retain both.

However, a delegation of leading Communists arrived in Chungking yesterday for renewal of peace talks which are expected to start before Christmas.

Wu said President Truman's statement, urging the rivals to settle their differences and create a united China in order to get American aid, was not regarded here as a warning. President Truman's stated objectives are identical with those of the central government, Wu asserted.

While Wu said all his expressions were personal, the Chungking press echoed his theme—applauding Truman's statement but expressing doubts of Communist cooperation. The official Central Daily News said the Communists were determined to maintain their armies and that President Truman "hit the nail on the head when he said existence of autonomous armies makes political unity in China impossible."

The government meanwhile was making progress with its moves for control of northern areas.

Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Davis quoted authoritative American sources in Peiping as disclosing that the U. S. Army Air Transport command would fly government troops into Mukden and Harbin, important cities of Manchuria. The influential newspaper Ta Kung Pao said last Thursday that the Russians had agreed to this use of American planes and pilots.

Davis said it was understood that the flights would not start until preparations were made for handling the big C-54 transports at Manchurian airfields.

Winter Requires Speed

Speed was essential, however, because of increasing winter conditions and the nearness of the January 3 date when the Russians are scheduled to quit Manchuria.

Ta Kung Pao said today that the Russians had decided to hand over to the Chinese Henry Pu-yi, who was Japan's puppet emperor in Manchuria.

Government dispatches from Inner Mongolia reported national forces had reoccupied the railway town of Saratsi, 300 miles west of Peiping, and that there were indications the Communists were abandoning their two-month-old seiges of Paotow and Kweisui in the same area.

China May Let 'Post' Man In

Wu Says He Has Recommended Admission of Berrigan

CHUNGKING, Dec. 17 (AP).—Minister of information K. C. Wu told newsmen today he had recommended that the foreign ministry grant the application of Darrell Berrigan, of "The New York Post," for a visa to enter China but said the ban upon Harold Isaacs, of "Newsweek" magazine remained in effect.

Wu said the visa application of Edgar Snow, an associate editor of "The Saturday Evening Post," still was under consideration.

"We have no blacklist," Wu asserted.

Tabriz in Hands of Insurgents

Iranian General Says Garrison Was Captured With Help of Restrictive Measures by Reds.

Tehran, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Tabriz, capital of Azerbaijan Province, was reported today entirely in the hands of Insurgent forces which, an Iranian general officer asserted, overpowered the small Central Government garrison with the help of restrictive measures imposed by Russian occupation troops.

RUSSIA ACCUSED OF AIDING REBELS IN IRAN DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) United States officials expressed belief today that the uprising which led to the creation of an autonomous regime in Azerbaijan was inspired and not spontaneous.

These officials, who asked not to be identified, said this government attributed the troubles in northern Iran largely to the presence of Russian occupation troops.

A request that the United States register a vigorous protest with

LEADERS IN CHINA READY TO MAKE DEAL WITH REDS

CHUNGKING, Dec. 17—(AP) Chinese government willingness to make a deal with the Communists was expressed by a high official today amid new reports of Communist setbacks in inner Mongolia and disclosure that U.S. air forces would fly government troops into Manchuria.

Sees China Accepting Coalition

Information Minister Comments on Truman Policy—U. S. to Fly Chiang's Troops.

Chungking, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Minister of Information K. C. Wu declared as his "personal opinion" today that the Chinese Government would agree to a coalition with the Communists provided there were no independent armies or territories in China.

He asserted, however, that the Communists wanted to retain their armies and obtain independent control over the northern provinces, where the perils of civil war now are greatest.

The Minister declared that official quarters here did not consider President Truman's statement on America's China policy in the light of a warning because the aims were identical with those of the National Government.

The President's declaration drew enthusiastic approval from Government leaders generally, but polite skepticism from the Communists, whose representatives were calling on Government delegates today in preparation for a resumption of peace talks.

Marshall Awaited.

Awaiting the arrival of Gen. George C. Marshall as they gather here to talk of peace, both factions looked to the new United States Ambassador to China to implement the President's hopes that China's difficulties can be solved without recourse to full civil war.

As Gen. Chou En-lai, deputy Communist leader, arrived with four other delegates to the meetings scheduled to begin about Christmas, Communists said they welcomed the "whole spirit" of the Truman statement.

Government spokesmen lauded Mr. Truman's declaration as paralleling their own policy and approved his assurance that reasonable assistant would be given Chiang Kai-shek.

Communists Hopeful.

The declaration that such support would not include military intervention in China elicited a polite "we hope this is so" from the Communists. They approved what they said was President Trumans acknowledgement of a one-party rule in China, declaring they always have favored establishment of a coalition government instead.

In Communist-encircled Peiping Generalissimo and Mme. Chiang reviewed the Fifth Marine Regiment in a parade near the legation quarter.

A Government dispatch reported Chinese-Russian agreement for China's resumption of control in Manchuria, and satisfactory results at a meeting on ways of taking over defenses in that province.

U. S. to Fly Chiang's Troops.

Peiping, Dec. 16 (Delayed) (A. P.).—The United States Army's world-girdling Air Transport Command will fly Chinese Central Government troops to the Manchurian cities of Mukden and Harbin, it was reported today by authoritative American informants. The operation, involving C-54 transport planes each capable of carrying fifty or more fully equipped infantrymen, was reported scheduled to begin within the next two weeks.

This is one of the points previously learned to be under negotiation between Russian and Chinese authorities in Changchun, the Manchurian capital.

It was understood that the operation will not begin until advance preparations are made for handling the huge planes on the Mukden and Harbin air fields. Up to now, the Chinese Air Force and the Chinese National Airways Corporation were expected to shoulder the full weight of the air lift to Manchuria and there were misgivings that this would provide insufficient planes to accomplish the mission quickly.

In the past few days an increasing number of administrators have been flown north to take over Manchuria for the National Government. There is need for speed because soon the heavy winter of Manchuria will begin curtailing flights. The temperature dropped to 14 below zero at Changchun after a snowstorm three days ago.

INDO-CHINA REBELS QUIETED

SAIGON, Indo-China, Dec. 17—(AP) An Anglo-French communique said today that pacification of Indo-China was "making rapid progress" as British Indian and French troops continued operations against rebel strongholds. Indian forces cleared an island off the coast, taking more than 400 prisoners, along with machine guns and grenades.

Will Hand Over Henry Pu-yi

CHUNGKING, Dec. 17 (AP)—The authoritative newspaper Ta Kung Pao said today that the Russians had decided to hand over to the Chinese Henry Pu-yi, who was Japan's puppet emperor in Manchuria.

Government dispatches from Inner Mongolia reported that National forces had reoccupied the railway town of Saratsi, 300 miles west of Peiping and that there were indications that the Communists were abandoning their two-month-old sieges of Paotow and Kweisui in the same area.

U. S. Flyers Identified

YENAN, China, Dec. 15 (delayed) (AP).—Communist 8th Route Army headquarters today identified a Captain Odeloff and a Lieutenant Brander (names translated from Chinese) as only survivors of the crash of six marine planes on Tatze Mountain, in eastern Shantung Province, Dec. 8.

The report received here said bodies of ten pilots and crewmen and wreckage of all six of the planes were found on the mountain side.

Headquarters also reported one of two American planes flying from Liukung Tao Island, off the Shantung coast, fell into the sea Dec. 11. On the same day 8th Army men rescued two pilots of an American plane forced down near Penglai, Shantung Province, when it ran out of gas.

MME. CHIANG SEES SOME JIVE

Peiping, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—The phonograph in the swank Red Cross Legation Club was throbbing out "In the Mood" when Mme. Chiang Kai-shek dropped in Saturday.

"That's good American jitterbug" some one informed Mme. Chiang, who promptly replied she had never seen it danced.

Sgt. Thomas Kearns of 218 Jamaica avenue, Queens Village, L. I., and Miss Prudence Hemenway of Buffalo, a Vassar graduate who has been a Red Cross staff member in the China and Burma theaters since Jannary, 1945, volunteered for the command performance.

French Assail China Arrest

Says Citizen's Seizure Flouts Extraterritorial Rights

SHANGHAI, Dec. 17 (AP).—France has not yet formally relinquished extraterritorial rights in China, the French consulate here said today in protesting vigorously against the arrest by Chinese of a French national and calling it a "flagrant violation of international treaties binding France and China."

The man arrested is Roland Sarley, former director of the French Municipal Police at Shanghai. He was taken into custody Friday night by the Shanghai-Woosung garrison command on a charge of collaborationist activities.

The United States and Great Britain have relinquished extraterritorial rights in China.

Shanghai Trials Postponed

SHANGHAI, Dec. 17 (AP)—The first of Shanghai's war crimes trials set for mid-December were postponed today to the first of the year, the United States Judge Advocate's office for the China theatre said today.

The office said it was ready to proceed against thirty-five Japanese charged with the torture and cremation of three American fliers at Hankow a year ago, but a go-ahead from Washington was being awaited.

48 Navy Ships Leave Shanghai

Shanghai, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Forty-eight craft of various types carrying 2,000 high point Navy personnel destined for discharge in the United States left Shanghai yesterday, Vice-Admiral Daniel E. Barbey announced. The departures reduced the Seventh Fleet in Shanghai harbor to 106 vessels.

8000 Civilians Strike in Singapore

Singapore, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Eight thousand civilian employees of the British Military Administration went on strike at this British naval base today over demands for wage increases. Authorities who said essential services were not affected, replaced many of the strikers with Japanese prisoners organized in labor gangs.

Java Gunners Score Against RAF Planes

Batavia, Java, Dec. 17 (AP)—Tained Indonesian antiaircraft gunners in Java are inflicting heavier proportional losses on the British than the Japanese were able to inflict in Burma, an RAF spokesman said today.

Group captain, W. D. Davis, senior staff officer of the Allied forces in the Netherlands East Indies, told a news conference that the RAF lost thirteen or fourteen aircraft in Java thus far. In proportion to the number of planes used in Burma, the Japanese could not do as much, the officer said.

Java Gunners Show Accuracy Against R. A. F.

Anti - Aircraft Batteries Trained by Japanese Inflict High Ratio Losses

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 17 (AP).—Thoroughly trained Indonesian anti-aircraft gunners in Java are inflicting heavier proportional losses on the British than the Japanese were able to inflict in Burma, an R. A. F. spokesman said today.

Group Captain W. D. Davis, senior staff officer of the Allied forces in the Netherlands East Indies, told a news conference that the R. A. F. had lost thirteen or fourteen aircraft in Java thus far, including four or five shot down. In proportion to the number of planes used in Burma, the Japanese could not do so much, the officer indicated.

One R. A. F. fighter-bomber was brought down by the Indonesians today.

The Japanese, during the occupation of Java, trained Indonesian anti-aircraft men so thoroughly that "their deflection is exactly right—almost German-like," the officer said. At Soerabaja alone, now in British hands, the Indonesians once had as many as twenty mobile anti-aircraft guns, Davis said.

British planes yesterday knocked out an Indonesian mobile anti-aircraft gun near Soerabaja after it had ben detected in action, and reconnaissance showed there were three more such guns in the area.

R. A. F. craft have flown 880 operational missions in Java since Oct. 16.

Commenting on criticism abroad of R. A. F. activities against the Nationalists, Davis said British planes are used only to protect displaced persons when troops cannot control the situation, or when there is hostile action against British troops. Dutch armed planes are not permitted in Java 'for obvious reasons," Davis said.

A British press statement said the Bandoeng area, in western Java, was generally quiet today, although there were "indications of renewed activity" by the Indonesians to the northwest between Bandoeng and Batavia.

The statement said that yesterday 300 Indonesians armed with knives attacked a guard post in the Buitenzorg area south of Batavia, a few hours after an Indonesian machine-gun attack was repulsed.

300 INDONESIANS ROUTED BY BRITISH

Batavia, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Three hundred Indonesians, armed with knives and shouting for their "Moslem brothers from India" to join them, were dispersed today when they attacked a guard post in the Buitenzorg area of western Java. British Indian troops broke up the attack with rifle fire. Several hours earlier, an attack by Indonesians armed with machine guns also was repelled.

A British announcement yesterday said that Indian troops burned a "troublesome" village near Buitenzorg because it was used by snipers who prevented the Indians from guarding a rail crossing where some British forces had been ambushed. Strafing British planes kuocked out a 40 mm gun near Seorabaja.

The Dutch News Agency Aneta said Mrs. Mahommed Diah, wife of the editor of the Indonesian nationalist newspaper Merdeka, was released from custody last night by British authorities. Her husband was arrested with her last Thursday but he was released Friday morning. Aneta said it still was not known on what charge they were held.

Rumor Tokyo Cabinet Will Resign Is Spiked

Tokyo, Tuesday, Dec. 18 (AP)—Premier Kijuro Shidehara's cabinet plans to remain in office until the general elections in January, when a party government is expected to come into power on the basis of election results, a source close to the Premier reported today.

The source said there is "absolutely no foundation" to a report that the cabinet would resign Sunday. The report was received yesterday after a member of the House of Representatives charged that the government did not fully realize defeat.

Another interpellator, Sadaori Nakatani, independent, asserted "lfaison with the supreme allied commander is not smoothly maintained." He also criticized the government for ignoring the Diet in execution of Allied directives.

Japan Calls General Election

TOKYO, Dec. 17 (AP).—The Japanese Cabinet in extraordinary session decided today to dissolve the Diet (Parliament) tomorrow and call a general election for about Jan. 24, the newspaper "Asahi" said. The Privy Council, meanwhile, approved the new election law, which goes into effect at once, extending the vote for the first time to 22,000,000 women and 3,000,000 young men.

Konoye Suicide Held New Blow To Emperor

Tokyo, Dec. 17 (AP)—Prince Fumimaro Konoye's suicide yesterday, a new and powerful blow to the prestige and position of Emperor Hirohito, may have profound repercussions in the imperial household as well as in political circles.

The Prince himself, in his final hours, expressed concern for the future of the imperial house as discussions of possible abdication were revived. Some Japanese said the suicide might be the final factor in precipitating the Emperor's resignation.

Doubtless, Hirohito personally felt the blow deeply, Konoye long was the close confidant, and it generally was believed the Mikado placed great authority in "the dangerous Prince."

One Factor In Suicide

The newspaper Asahi said today that Konoye intimated to a member of the House of Peers that fear that the Emperor would be named as a war criminal was one factor in his suicide.

The peer, Nobuya Uchida, was quoted in an interview as saying that Konoye on Saturday morning declared:

"If war responsibility is going to involve the Emperor, there is no way I can live on as a subject."

Asahi added that others who saw Konoye shortly before he died said he repeatedly expressed concern for the future of the Emperor in the face "of American policies."

Parallel Blow

Konoye's death was a swift parallel blow to General MacArthur's recent directive against shinto. That directive struck deeply at Hirohito.

Before that, the widespread network of MacArthur's war-criminal lists had stripped from around the throne all but two of the principal and still active court actors in the tragedy of the past fifteen years. The imperial household had been invaded by the arrest of Prince Morimasa Nashimoto.

Yesterday, a few hours after Konoye's predawn suicide, Marquis Koichi Kido, until recently lord keeper of the privy seal and another close adviser of the Emperor, surrendered as a war criminal suspect.

Crown Prince In The News

It may have been with design, that a few days ago newspapers suddenly blossomed anew with articles about Crown Prince Akihito, whose twelfth birthday is December 23.

After the surrender, all of the Tokyo press carried stories about the crown price. It is known now that the Emperor's abdication before the occupation was discussed and Akihito was being groomed as ruler under a regency. The plan was abandoned when the Allied attitude indicated relative leniency toward Hirohito.

Furthermore, Konoye and other high ranking Japanese, probably unwittingly, have disclosed in interviews that Hirohito attended key meetings which determined upon the Pacific war and therefore knew as much about the plans as Cabinet members.

Held Emperor Uninformed

At the outset of the occupation, Government officials had insisted that the Emperor was uninformed of such plans.

Hirohito could resign either because of illness, which would precipitate a regency, or by ordering the swift writing of special household laws. If he supplied the impetus, the present lack of any suitable method for abdication could be remedied quickly.

Konoye certainly has supplied a precedent for Hirohito declining to share the "humiliation" of war trial.

Prince Fumimaro Konoye declared in memoirs completed not long before his suicide yesterday.

The plan was approved in general by leaders who included the War and Navy Ministers, only to be stalled by the sole opposition of Matsuoka until it was made useless by misunderstandings and deterioration of relations, Konoye wrote in his long political testament detailing Japan's side of the negotiations which preceded the war.

Subsequently, however, Konoye referred to the military as regarding the deal as a temporary expedient.

Matsuoka, named by General MacArthur on Nov. 19 as a war criminal suspect, was last reported ill at his home in Nagano Prefecture, whence he sent word on Nov. 23 denying rumors that he had attempted suicide, but pleading that he was so sick he could not walk and considered himself "doomed."

The Associated Press obtained the Konoye memoirs in Japanese three days before his suicide. They are being translated, and copies are in the hands of Joseph B. Keenan, United States special prosecutor of top war cases in Japan.

The plan provided for Japan and America to guarantee the independence of China. Japan was to withdraw her troops from Chinese territory "based on an agreement to be formed between Japanese and Chinese."

There would be no annexation of Chinese territory, no reparations, revival of the open door policy, union of the Chiang and Wang regimes (Chungking and the Japanese-sponsored puppet government), self-restriction by Japan of immigration of Japanese into Chinese territory, and American recognition of Manchukuo, the state which Japan had established in Manchuria.

Konoye Wrote That Matsuoka Hastened War

Memoirs Say Compromise With U. S. Early in 1941 Was Blocked by Minister

TOKYO, Dec. 17 (AP). — Top Japanese officials accepted "in principle" an American compromise plan to solve differences with Japan eight months before Pearl Harbor but it was blocked by Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka because he was in "a bad mood," Prince Fumimaro Konoye declared in memoirs completed shortly before his suicide yesterday.

The plan was approved in general by leaders who included the war and navy ministers, only to be stalled by the sole opposition of Matsuoka until it was made useless by misunderstandings and deterioration of relations, Konoye wrote in his lengthy political testament detailing Japan's side of the negotiations which preceded the war.

Said Deal Was Temporary

Subsequently, however, Konoye referred to the military as regarding the deal as a temporary expedient.

The Associated Press obtained the Konoye memoirs in Japanese three days before his suicide. They are being translated, and copies are in the hands of Joseph B. Keenan, U. S. special prosecutor of top war crimes cases in Japan.

Konoye, the prince who was three times his country's premier, the last time in the tense summer of 1941, reported:

1. The late President Roosevelt suggested a tentative date—some time in October—and a place, possibly Juneau, Alaska, for a personal meeting with Konoye to discuss peace. (It was in mid-October, however, that Japan by an imperial conference decision began preparing for war, and Gen. Hideki Tojo notified Konoye it was time for his cabinet to resign. Tojo succeeded him).

2. Japanese naval leaders were fearful of a Pacific war but unwilling to oppose officially the army's demand for it.

3. The then Foreign Minister Matsuoka was blamed by Konoye

MACARTHUR ASKS FREE PRESS PACT IN U. S. TREATIES

TOKYO, Dec. 17—(AP) General MacArthur recommended today the inclusion in all United States treaties of a clause guaranteeing "a reciprocal free press and open communications facilities."

The supreme commander made his suggestion in a letter to Wilbur Forrest, vice-president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, in which he declared:

"There can be no greater guarantee of a peaceful world then an international free press."

Discussing the Japanese press, MacArthur said:

"Now that the fetters of feudalism are unleashed" a press which "will freely and adequately mirror the aspirations of the Japanese people will be created."

He added that on other single agency "can play a greater role in remaking Japan into an accepted member of the family of nations than the free, uncontrolled and unfettered press which we are seeking to encourage."

At the same time MacArthur warned against "the greatest menace" which he said "is the use of the press for propaganda purposes." He added:

"Once the press is turned to propaganda its value is lost and the foundation for the evil 'isms' is created. Nothing will destroy a free press more quickly than a propaganda press."

He continued:

"I have deep faith that the unhindered operation of the great American press and its news agencies will serve as a fitting example to those who maintain and operate the instruments of public opinion in the remainder of the world—an example to be emulated by those who have at heart the real welfare of their people and the permanent peace of the world."

Konoye's Memoirs

Matsuoka Blocked U.S. Plan For Compromise in Pacific

(Editors note: This is the first of a series of stories based on the memoirs of Prince Fumimaro Konoye, premier of Japan when that country and the United States were seeking means to avert war. Konoye committed suicide Dec. 16, rather than submit to American arrest.)

By MURLIN SPENCER

TOKYO, Dec. 17—(AP) Top Japanese officials accepted "in principle" an American compromise plan to solve differences with Japan eight months before Pearl Harbor but it was blocked by Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka because he was in "a bad mood," Prince Fumimaro Konoye declared in memoirs completed shortly before his suicide yesterday.

The plan was approved in general by leaders who included the war and navy ministers, only to be stalled by the sole opposition of Matsuoka until it was made useless by misunderstandings and deterioration of relations, Konoye wrote in his lengthy political testament detailing Japan's side of the negotiations which preceded the war.

Said Deal Was Temporary

Subsequently, however, Konoye referred to the military as regarding the deal as a temporary expedient.

The Associated Press obtained the Konoye memoirs in Japanese three days before his suicide. They are being translated, and copies are in the hands of Joseph B. Keenan, U. S. special prosecutor of top war crimes cases in Japan.

Konoye, the prince who was three times his country's premier, the last time in the tense summer of 1941, reported:

1. The late President Roosevelt suggested a tentative date—some time in October—and a place, possibly Juneau, Alaska, for a personal meeting with Konoye to discuss peace. (It was in mid-October, however, that Japan by an imperial conference decision began preparing for war, and Gen. Hideki Tojo notified Konoye it was time for his cabinet to resign. Tojo succeeded him).

2. Japanese naval leaders were fearful of a Pacific war but unwilling to oppose officially the army's demand for it.

3. The then Foreign Minister Matsuoka was blamed by Konoye as suffering from jingoism and pro-Germanism plus "a bad mood" which led to sabotaging acceptance of the compromise plan. (Matsuoka, who also has been listed as a war criminal suspect by General MacArthur, held the view, Konoye said, as far back as May, 1941, that Roosevelt had already decided on United States entry into the European war).

Talks Started in 1940

4. Talks on adjustment of American-Japanese relations had been under way unofficially since December, 1940, with former U. S. Postmaster General Frank Walker in one of the key roles. Konoye named the others as Bishop James Edward Walsh, superior general of the Catholic Foreign Missionary society, Maryknoll, N. Y., and Kichisaburo Nomura, Japanese ambassador to the United States, and others for Japan. He said both President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull were informed of the conversations.

There was no indication of the period during which Konoye wrote his memoirs, which relate in detail the negotiations of the second and third Konoye cabinets from April, 1941, to a period seven weeks before the first shot of the war. They evidently were designed, however, to present his final word.

From these private, unofficial talks, Konoye wrote, came on April 4 a "first trial plan" which the Japanese modified slightly in a "second trial plan." Hull and Nomura held the first talks on April 16.

Konoye's description of this program said it was based upon an American promise to help obtain Chungking's agreement to peace in China.

Settlement of the China hostilities was proposed as being vital for Japan and for American-Japanese reapprochment.

The plan provided for Japan and America to guarantee the independence of China. Japan was to withdraw her troops from Chinese territory "based on an agreement to be formed between Japanese and Chinese." There would be no annexation of Chinese territory, no reparations, revival of the open door policy, union of the Chiang and Wang regimes (Chungking and the Japanese-sponsored puppet government), self restriction by Japan of immigration of Japanese into Chinese territory, and American recognition of Manchoukuo, the state which Japan had established in Manchuria.

The plan further agreed that America and Japan "will not position naval and air strength which would mutually threaten the other x x x when the agreement is reached in the Japanese-American negotiations the two nations will dispatch fleets to visit the other formally and celebrate the arrival of peace in the Pacific."

Of high importance to Japan was Konoye's statement that if an understanding were reached, there would be mutual exchange of necessary materials. He said it would provide that the United States should furnish credit and give "support and cooperation in the production and gaining of resources Japan desires in the (southwest Pacific) area such as petroleum, rubber, tin, nickel and others."

The two countries would jointly guarantee the independence of the Philippines, wrote Konoye, and Japanese "immigrants to the United States and the southwest Pacific would be considered in a friendly manner or be given the same treatment of non-discrimination and equality as other nations."

The plan proposed, he added, that Japanese-American conversations be held in Honolulu, to be opened by President Roosevelt and Konoye, but later Alaska was mentioned.

Konoye summoned a conference of cabinet and military chieftains when he received the plan on April 18.

"The general opinion," he wrote, was that "to accept this American proposal would be most suitable for the disposal of the China affair."

"On the advocacy of some quarters for entrance to the south (occupation of southeast Asia) even the military command now says it has no preparations," Konoye continued. "From the standpoint of nurturing national strength, too, there is the necessity for the future to shake hands temporarily with the United States" and plan for obtaining materials.

Ties With Germany

Some stressed the necessity of protecting Japan's relations with Germany, Konoye related, and debated the advisability of informing Germany of the proposed agreement. Opponents said Germany might object and Japan thereby would lose "this chance for life" while proponents favored secrecy.

The chief of the American bureau, Konoye wrote, wanted at least to send a telegram to Ambassador Nomura telling him to inform Hull that Japan "agreed in principle" with the plan.

Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs Ohashi, although agreeing with the idea, insisted on "postponement of action until Matsuoka returned from Europe."

Matsuoka returned on April 22. Konoye met him at the airport, intending to present the important plan at the psychological moment.

But something went wrong.

Japanese Judge Ousted For Too Light Sentence

Disobeyed Allied Order in Handling Native Carrying Arms

TOKYO, Dec. 17 (AP).—General Douglas MacArthur today ordered the dismissal of Judge Takeo Ishiwara, of the Kyoto District Court, for imposing an "unusually light sentence"—$13.33—on a former Japanese Army captain charged with carrying arms for distribution to his disbanded command. The government section of Allied headquarters said the dismissal, the first of its kind, was for incompetence in sentencing offenders against Allied directives.

Hirashi Kondo, a former technical captain in the Japanese Army, had been arrested by a 6th Army searching detail and accused of carrying seven hand grenades, a Samurai sword and a Japanese pistol. The case was referred to Kyoto police, with a warning the Allies considered the offense "very grave."

Road Data Asked Of Japs

Tokyo, Jan. 17 (AP)—Supreme Allied headquarters, in an effort to help the Japanese plan a postwar road-building program, asked the Imperial Government today for data on construction, repair and maintenance of highways which will bear the brunt of occupation traffic.

Japanese Building Ships

122 Steel Craft and 1,356 Wooden Ones Are Under Construction

TOKYO, Dec. 17 (AP).—Japanese shipyards, operating on a full-time basis, have under construction 122 steel ships and 1,356 wooden vessels, Allied headquarters announced today.

The rebuilt merchant fleet will be geared to support a "minimum Japanese economy." From their own shipyards the Japanese have been ordered to produce craft to meet harbor requirements, the needs of the fishing industry, the repatriation program and a merchant fleet to supply the nation with vital imports.

Stricter Control Of Formosans Ordered

Tokyo, Dec. 17 (AP)—Allied headquarters told the Japanese Government today to "exercise a firmer control" over 7,600 Formosans encamped near Atsugi airfield awaiting repatriation.

The directive said the Formosans had been the source of considerable trouble and were a potential threat to the security of the airfield, site of the original American landings in Japan.

McNutt Confers in Tokyo

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 18 (AP)—Paul V. McNutt, Philippine High Commissioner, arrived by plane this morning from Manila to confer with General MacArthur's staff and the Pauley Reparations Commission. He was accompanied by Rear Adm. Gilchrist Stockton, senior naval liaison officer; Maj. Gen. William C. Rose, chief of staff; Fritz Worcester, special assistant, and Frank L. Belgrano, financial adviser.

McNutt Flying to Tokyo

MANILA, Dec. 17 (AP).—Paul V. McNutt, High Commissioner to the Philippines, will depart tonight by plane for Tokyo to confer with occupation and reparations officials on Army operations in the Philippines.

'The Rottenest Thing'

Hiro, Japan, Dec. 17 (AP)—Band Leader Sharon Rogers, one of the few American civilian women in Japan, says American soldiers' fraternization with Japanese women is "disgusting . . . and makes an American woman's blood boil."

"It's the rottenest thing I have ever seen in my life, and the last possible thing I could have believed our soldiers would stoop to," the army newspapers Stars and Stripes quoted the woman who is leading an all-girl orchestra on a tour of Japan.

Girls' Wash On His Line, GI To Explain

Hiro, Japan, Dec. 17 (AP)—An American officer who sent home a picture of his quarters in Japan received an immediate query regarding some feminine lingerie shown hanging on a line behind his residence.

"That's easy to explain," wrote the officer. "Ten girl interpreters live next door and use our washline."

Another fast query to Japan: "What's this about ten girls living next door to you?"

The Yank had 89 discharge points, so he is hurrying home to explain.

7 Seized in Japan Black Market

IRUMAGAWA, Japan, Dec. 17 (AP).—Five American soldiers and two Japanese civilians were arrested today charged with black marketing sugar, clothing and cigarettes valued at 50,000 yen ($3,333).

G. I.'S PLAY NURSE TO CRIPPLED PLANE

Yokohama, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Three bewildered American airmen are stranded at Atsugi airfield with an airplane that won't fly. They don't know what they are going to do because their outfit has broken up. They were aboard the C-47 cargo carrier "Tokyo Express" which roared up from Leyte November 29. The roar turned into a groan over Osaka, but one good engine got them to Atsugi.

They couldn't get parts for the plane, so the pilots hitchhiked back to Leyte, leaving the enlisted men of the crew with the ship. The crew's original orders specified they always must stick with the plane.

So Cpl. Carl Schaefer, flight engineer; Cpl. Robert Lancaster, radio operator, and Cpl. Glenn Flaim started playing nursemaid to the plane. They slept in it by night and searched unsuccessfully for parts by day.

Then, says Schafer, from all he can learn the 666th Troop Carrier Squadron broke up. Radiograms to Leyte went unanswered.

Sarita Sails for Seattle

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 17 (AP)—The steamship Sarita, with sixteen officers and 525 enlisted men eligible for discharge, sailed today for Seattle.

HOMMA TO PLEAD TODAY

MANILA, Tuesday, Dec. 18—(AP) Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma will be arraigned before an American military commission here tomorrow on war crimes charges involving the deaths of 67,000 American and Filipino prisoners of war.

Specifically the former Japanese commander in the Philippines is charged with responsibility for the ghastly death march of Bataan, in which 17,200 captured Americans and Filipinos died.

Also chalked up against him in the war crimes indictment are brutalities and executions that took the lives of 4,831 Americans and 45,000 Filipinos between April and August of 1942 in the notorious O'Donnell and Cabanatuan prison camps.

Tomorrow Homma will be asked only to plead guilty or innocent. His trial is expected to begin about Jan. 7.

HOMMA TO ANSWER FOR 67,000 DEATHS

Manila, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Gen. Masaharu Homma must answer for the deaths of 67,000 United States and Filipino troops seized in Japan's conquest of the Philippines, war crimes investigators said today. Forty-three specific charges have been lodged against Homma, who will be arraigned Wednesday. He will face a military commission in a trial for his life about January 7.

He is charged with responsibility for the Death March from Bataan, in which 17,200 Americans and Filipinos died. He is charged with responsibility for the brutalities and executions that took the lives of 4,831 Americans and 45,000 Filipinos between April and August of 1942 in the notorious O'Donnell and Cabanatuan prisoner-of-war camps.

The trial of Homma may be shorter than that of Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, who was condemned to be hanged after the prosecution had presented 123 specific charges against him.

Army Recuiting Filipinos

MANILA, Dec. 17 (AP).—The United States Army is recruiting 50,000 Filipinos for the recently reorganized Philippine Scouts who eventually will replace American garrisons in the Philippines.

Chile Prowlers Wound American Consul Aide

Valparaiso, Chile, Dec. 17 (AP)—Three prowlers inflicted serious knife wounds last night on Donald Gibbs of Los Angeles, assistant to the United States Consul here.

He was stabbed when he found the assailants at his home in nearby Vina Del Mar and grappled with them. An emergency operation was performed at the Vina Del Mar Hospital where Gibbs's condition is serious.

Brazil Rejects Sanctions Plan

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Brazil rejected today Uruguay's plan for intervention in the governments of New World nations which follow anti-democratic principles.

ARRESTS IN PARAGUAY

Political Leaders Seized in Plot Against Government

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Dec. 17 (AP)—Police Chief Jesus Blanco Sanchez said tonight that an undisclosed number of political leaders had been arrested in connection with what he described as a plot against the Government of President Higinio Morinigo. He said that leaders of the Liberal and Communist parties as well as followers of former President Col. Rafael Franco were among those jailed.

Guatemala President in Wreck

GUATEMALA, Dec. 17 (AP).—President Juan Arevalo suffered bruises and other minor injuries last night, when his automobile left the road and plunged into a deep ditch.

Rumor Ship Hit Mine Causes Search By Navy

Honolulu, Dec. 17 (AP)—Navy search planes were sent out today to check on a rumor that a ship had struck a mine near Midway. The Navy reported it had no definite information, merely the rumor.

The Honolulu Star-Bulletin said it had been informed that a troopship had hit a mine Sunday morning in the Midway area but that there was no verification.

French Ship Found Aground and Empty

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 17 (A. P.).—The French ship Cap Bleu was hard aground and deserted today on Jack Shoal near the Strait of Canso. The Canadian patrol boat French found no trace of the crew, which was thought possibly to have made its way to the Nova Scotia shore.

Canadian Calls For Global Rule

Ottawa, Dec. 17 (AP)—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King called today for some form of world government, "with a limited surrender of national sovereignty," to control the problems of the atomic age.

The United Nations Organization, he said, although a step in the right direction, was not enough.

King, speaking as head of one of the three nations which developed the atomic bomb, said:

"The solutions of the problems presented by atomic energy must be sought in the realm of world politics." He added that it was difficult to see "a solution in anything short of some surrender of national sovereignty."

"With a limited surrender of national sovereignty," he continued, "there must be instituted some form of world government, restricted, at least at the outset, to matters pertaining to prevention of war."

CANADA WEIGHS ATOM PROBLEM

Prime Minister Sees Need of Peace Organization.

Ottawa, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Some form of world government may be necessary to maintain peace in a world where the use of atomic energy is known, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King said today in the Canadian House of Commons.

The statement came in the Prime Minister's first public report on the recent Washington conferences at which he, Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain, and President Truman agreed that information on the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes should be exchanged among nations with safeguards. He asked Commons to approve the Washington declaration calling for a United Nations commission to study ways of preventing atomic energy from being used for destructive purposes.

"The more deeply one ponders the problems with which our world is confronted in the light . . . of the implications of the development of atomic energy; the harder it is to see a solution in anything short of some surrender of national sovereignty."

Mackenzie King disclosed that a study is being made at Chalk River, Ont., on the use of thorium as a starting point for the production of atomic energy. Until now, uranium has been the mineral used as the basic material for atomic fission.

"Thorium is a probable second basic material for that purpose, although it is not as yet a proven material," Mackenzie King said.

The Prime Minister said the largest proved deposit of uranium ore was in the Belgian Congo and the next largest in Canada. He did not indicate the extent of thorium in Canada.

3027-3275.9

High Court Orders Delay In Execution of Yamashita

Tribunal Grants Stay Pending Decision on Jap's Appeal.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) The Supreme court of the nation he vainly tried to master by the sword granted a stay of execution today to Japanese General Tomoyuki Yamashita, convicted as a war criminal.

The former "Tiger of Malaya," convicted by an Army commission of permitting wholesale atrocities in the Philippines, sped a petition here by air mail asking that the case be taken out of the hands of the military.

The Supreme court justices held a hurried get-together and granted a stay of the death sentence. Whether the high tribunal actually will take jurisdiction over the case—and thus decide the legality of the military trial—was not immediately announced, however.

It was believed unprecedented for a foreign enemy general thus to appeal to the Supreme court. However, it is usual for the court in a death case to grant a stay pending a decision on whether the appeal should be reviewed.

Yamashita is not appealing directly from the sentence. That might come later. He is fighting a decision of the Philippines Supreme court denying his contention that the military tribunal was without jurisdiction.

Yamashita has two other petitions pending here in which he challenges the military's right to try him and asks that he be brought before the Supreme court for a hearing.

His grounds are: When the commission was appointed there was no military government or hostilities in the Philippine Islands and therefore no authority to set it up. He also says he should be regarded as a prisoner rather than a war criminal.

The Justice Department already has objected to Yamashita's appeals. It says the military tribunal is a branch of the executive arm of the Government and outside the realm of the courts.

U. S. Supreme Court Stays Yamashita Death Sentence

Holds Up Execution Pending Final Decision on His Petitions Challenging Authority of Army Court That Tried Him.

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—The Supreme Court today granted a stay of execution to the Japanese General, Tomoyuki Yamashita, who was sentenced to death by an American military commission in Manila.

The tribunal acted at a conference after leaving the court room at the completion of its regular session for the day. The action was taken a few minutes after the arrival of an airmailed petition from Yamashita asking for a review of a decision by the Philippines Supreme Court in his case.

Secretary of War Patterson earlier had ordered Yamashita's execution stayed pending final decision by the Supreme Court on his petition. The Philippine court denied Yamashita's contention that the military commission was illegal and that Philippine civil courts should take jurisdiction.

The Supreme Court also has under consideration petitions in which Yamashita challenged the authority of the military commission to try him. He asked to be brought to Washington for a hearing before the court or one of its justices.

The court adjourned today until January 2. Attaches said they did not expect it to announce its decision on the petitions before that date.

Yamashita, former Japanese commander in the Philippines, was convicted of permitting atrocities in the islands.

U. S. MAY PROVIDE SHIPS, MEN FOR CHINA'S NEW NAVY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. — (AP) Secretary of the Navy Forrestal revealed plans today to help China "establish and maintain" a navy which can contribute substantially to "maintenance of peace in the Pacific."

To that end, Forrestal asked Congress for an act authorizing the President to turn over surplus American warships or other vessels to China. The ships could be given, sold, exchanged, or transferred on any terms "the President may deem proper."

The bill also would empower the President "to detail officers and enlisted men" of the Navy and Marines "to assist the Republic of China in naval and maritime matters." These men would get their regular U. S. Navy pay plus "such compensation and emoluments as may be offered" by China.

Forrestal wrote Speaker Rayburn that the proposed legislation "is in conformity with recent recommendations of the joint chiefs of staff and the State, War and Navy coordinating committee, and the Navy department has received advice from the White House."

"It appears that the national interest, as well as considerations of good conscience, require that the United States give aid to the Republic of China by assisting that nation in maintaining a Navy at a strength which will make possible a substantial contribution toward the maintenance of peace in the Pacific," Forrestal wrote.

"The property which would be transferred if the bill is enacted consists principally of excess or surplus naval vessels and of technical material necessary to permit China to establish and maintain a naval establishment of a size and nature conforming to the policies of the United States. A very large percentage of this material is prospectively available in United States surpluses.

"The situation in China in naval matters is different from that of our other allies. China possessed only a small naval power before the war with Japan. That power was destroyed by the Japanese immediately upon the outbreak of war. China is now faced with the problem of creating a navy with nothing to build upon. China has neither the industrial facilities nor the technical experience necessary to rebuild her navy. The Navy department proposes that the United States give assistance to our ally by providing services and materials of which we now have a surplus and an abundance."

New U.S. Attitude Seen Toward Foreign Unrest

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP) — The United States appears today to have embraced the belief that under certain conditions any nation's internal affairs become the business of all nations.

President Truman applied that principle to strife-torn China in his policy declaration Saturday, and Government officials said this country soon might join others in applying it to Spain and Argentina.

Break With Tradition

With ratification of the United Nations charter the United States accepted the principle of collective action to prevent—or stop—international wars. Traditionally, however, this country has held that a nation's internal troubles were strictly its own business.

Mr. Truman in his 1,200-word directive to Gen. George C. Marshall, his special envoy to China, observed that "a breach of peace anywhere in the world threatens the peace of the entire world." Thus, he said, it is in "the most vital interest of the United States and all the United Nations" that Chinese Nationalists and Communists settle their differences promptly and peacefully.

He implied that American economic assistance for China would depend on the speed with which that country moves toward peace and unity.

Spain And Argentina

Meanwhile, there were indications that the United States soon might decide officially that tactics of Generalissimo Franco in Spain and of Argentina's military regime also threaten peace and thus are international business.

Secretary of State Byrnes has announced this Government's "unqualified adherence" to a recent Uruguayan proposal that the American republics adopt the principle of collective intervention when any one of their number denies its people essential rights or violates its international obligations.

Diplomats concede that the collective intervention idea was aimed squarely at the Buenos Aires militarists.

Return Of Armour

As for Spain, the return to Washington of Ambassador Norman Armour apparently will end a phase of American relations with that country. There are no plans to replace Armour, who is retiring from the diplomatic service.

Some government officials believe the next move will be a joint Anglo-American-French diplomatic break with the Franco Government early in 1946, accompanied by conditions under which Spain could regain recognition and qualify for United Nations membership. Those conditions would be certain to include the ousting of Franco.

One indication of the changing United States policy on Spain was the visit Saturday of Dr. Juan Negrin, last premier of Republican Spain, with acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

It was the first time in years that a Spanish Republican of Negrin's standing had called on a top-level State Department official.

Joint Defense Plan for Arctic To Be Prepared by U.S., Canada

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) The United States and Canada are cooperating on joint defense measures against any future attack particularly across the Arctic regions, Allied diplomatic officials disclosed today.

As one step, the U. S. has assigned six observers to accompany "Exercise Musk-Ox," the Canadian army and air force expedition which will make a 3,100-mile expedition through the Arctic early next year to gather information on possible military operations in that region. The expedition will be supplied by air.

As another step, the American-Canadian Board on Defense, headed by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York, now is meeting every two months instead of every three months as it did during the war.

Americans officials also are supporting the Arctic institute at McGill University in Canada which is studying problems of existence in the Arctic.

Gen. Henry H. Arnold has predicted that the next war may bring attacks across the North Pole with atomic weapons.

The "Musk-Ox" expedition is to start in two segments from Churchill, Manitoba, in mid-February and end in Edmonton, Alberta, in early May. The U. S. has given Canada assurance of full cooperation with the expedition.

The air forces expect to obtain vital information on polar operations and the ground forces will gather data on equipment needed in the Arctic area.

American officials say the U. S. and Canada have cooperated closely in liquidating their joint wartime ventures, particularly the air route between the U. S. and Alaska and the installations connected with it.

The highway sections linking Alaska and the U. S. will be taken over by Canada on April 1 and the telephone and telegraph lines June 1. These were developed to support a series of aerial staging fields which the Canadians built and the U. S. helped develop and supply.

Canada has paid for every permanent air facility installed by the U. S., American diplomats say. The U. S. has requested no bases on Canadian soil in view of mutual confidence that a comprehensive defense program can be worked out in any emergency.

U.S. And Canada Launch Arctic Defense Plan

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—Mindful of atomic-age possibilities, the United States and Canada are beginning to work out joint plans to defend North America against any attack from Asia or Europe across the North Polar regions.

Disclosing this today, Allied diplomatic officials said one of the first specific steps taken by this country was the assignment of six observers to accompany a Canadian Army airforces expedition on an 81-day Arctic trip to gather military and scientific information.

"Exercise Musk-Ox"

This expedition has been designated "Exercise Musk-ox" by the Canadian Government. It will cover 3,100 miles through territory that heretofore has been considered an impenetrable barrier against attack but that now is regarded as one of the potential approaches to some of America's most vital cities.

In two segments, the expedition is scheduled to start from Churchill, Manitoba, in mid-February, and from Edmonton, Alberta, in early May.

In addition to sending observers, the United States has assured Canada of full co-operation in developing and carrying out the expedition.

The Data To Be Gathered

During the 81 days the scores of men on the trip will be supplied by air. The Air Forces will obtain what officials expect will be vital information on Arctic operations, and the ground troops and scientists will gather facts about the clothing, food and equipment needed for ground operations in extreme cold.

Inquiries about what is going on were prompted by recent assertions by Gen. H. H. Arnold, Army Air Forces chief, that the next war might bring fantastic transpolar assaults with atomic weapons. Military and diplomatic officials say Canada is on the strategic routes of attack over the Pole, the North Pacific or the North Atlantic.

Permanent Board

Thus the pattern of co-operation that was used successfully by the United States and Canada in World War II is being developed further against the possibility of another and more terrible conflict.

The heart of this pattern is the American-Canadian Board on Defense, a permanent agency of which Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York is the ranking American member. The board's work is more intense now in the closing months of the war. Whereas a year ago it met every month it is now meeting every two months.

American officials say that co-operation between the United States and Canada is typified by the way in which the two countries worked together on the air route from the northwestern United States during the war and are working together now to liquidate the installations.

Canada To Take Over Road

Canada will take over the highway sections linking Alaska and the United States on April 1 and the telephone and telegraph lines on June 1. Both of those were developed to support a series of aerial staging fields which the Canadians built and the United States helped develop and supply.

American diplomats say the canadians have paid for every permanent air facility the United States put in.

So far, because of mutual confidence that a comprehensive defense program can be worked out against whatever dangers the future may hold, the United States has not asked for American bases on Canadian soil. There is no indication here that the question will come up.

ADMIRAL WANTED TO WARN FLEET,

HE TELLS PROBERS

Intelligence Chief Recognized Jap Message as Threat of War.

REPORTED TO STARK

Delay in Decision Prevented Warning from Reaching Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP)—A naval intelligence expert testified today he wanted the U. S. fleet warned four hours before the Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor. He said he so advised the chief of naval operations, Admiral Harold R. Stark.

This testimony was given to congressional Pearl Harbor investigators by Vice Admiral Theodore S. Wilkinson, chief of naval intelligence immediately before and after the Dec. 7, 1941 attack. As deputy to Admiral William F. Halsey later, Wilkinson plotted the coup that resulted in shooting down Admiral Yamamoto, the Japanese navy chief.

Hurried Conferences

Wilkinson told the Senate-House committee about the Navy's hurried conferences and conclusions from intercepted Japanese code messages right before the attack.

Describing receipt of the 14th part of the Japanese message to Secretary of State Hull the morning of Dec. 7, Wilkinson testified:

"It was brought in to me at my office about 9 o'clock in the morning. To me, they were fighting words. They meant more than breaking off negotiations.

"I went to see Admiral Stark in his office about 9:15 a. m. I pointed out the seriousness of that language. I advised that the fleet be notified."

Wilkinson pointed out that this was before the Navy had intercepted the Japanese message ordering their ambassadors to deliver the reply to Hull at 1 p. m. which turned out to be nearly coincident with the Pearl Harbor bombing.

He said he didn't think expressly of an attack on Pearl Harbor, that the Navy never had any indication one would occur there. His warning to the fleet, Wilkinson said, was to be of a general character.

Stark tried to call General of the Army George C. Marshall, Wilkinson recalled, and couldn't reach him. There was another conference at 10:30 or 10:40 a. m. when the 1 p. m. deadline message—of such later significance—was discussed.

The committee has had testimony that Admiral Stark at first disagreed with General Marshall on the wisdom of sending a new warning that morning on the ground it might be "confusing." Marshall determined to send one shortly before noon and said Stark asked him to route it to naval officers, also. That was done but it arrived in Hawaii while the bombs were dropping. Marshall said he learned of the Japanese message after 11 a. m.

Saw Pearl Harbor Message

Earlier in his testimony Wilkinson told of seeing in 1941 a Japanese code message dividing Pearl Harbor into five areas, but said he did not recognize it as the precise bombing plan it turned out to be.

"It is now apparent that it was a plan, not only of a bombing target, but also for midget submarine activity.

"I did not—I regret now—attribute the bombing target significance which now appears."

Wilkinson said he talked the message over in his section and finally concluded it was another example of Japan's "nicety of intelligence" and meticulous attention to detail.

The message intercepted by U. S. code-crackers was sent by Tokyo to Honolulu Sept. 24, decoded by the Navy finally on Oct. 9, 1941. It ordered Japanese agents there to chart the waters of Pearl Harbor in five areas with details on exactly what ships were at anchor and where, which were tied up at wharves, docks and buoys by types.

"The inference was that they wanted to know everything, the state of repair of ships, and also some knowledge as to which ships would not be a threat to them some place else," Wilkinson said.

The admiral told the committee that by the end of November, 1941, the Navy had "every indication" that the Japanese were preparing for hostilities.

No Hint of Hawaii Attack

There was "not the slightest" hint that Hawaii would be attacked, however, he added.

Gerhard Gesell, committee counsel, outlined a list of happenings and in each case the witness said the Navy knew about them at the time. The sequence included:

Nov. 1 all Japanese naval vessels manned on a full war footing.

Dec. 1, Japanese ships recalled for quick docking and repair and all radio service calls to ships were changed.

Wilkinson agreed with Gesell that the American Navy had lost track of a number of Japanese fleet units. He said both carriers and battleships could not be accounted for.

"There was every indication—these and many others—that there was an emergency arising," he testified.

"Did you ever have any information, oral or written, that Hawaii might be the point of attack?" Gesell asked.

"Not the slightest," Wilkinson replied.

Asked if he ever foresaw an attack on Hawaii the Admiral answered:

Expected Southward Drive

"No. I thought the Japanese would proceed southward to carry out their campaign. It was my guess—not a very good one—they would not attempt a direct attack against the Anglo-Saxon nations, but would go as far as possible with infiltration not precipitating a full war."

As Wilkinson took the stand, the committee received in evidence naval reports showing that the Office of Naval Intelligence on Dec. 1, 1941, anticipated a Japanese advance against Thailand, possibly Singapore and Burma.

Emphasizing how concerned the Navy was to keep the code-cracking secret, Wilkinson revealed more details of how it figured in the aerial ambushing of the Japanese naval commander, Admiral Yamamoto, in April, 1943.

At that time, Wilkinson was deputy to Admiral William F. Halsey. He said he got a message from Admiral of the Fleet Chester W. Nimitz that "magic"—the code cracking—knew where Yamamoto could be shot down at a certain place and at a certain time.

"I invited his attention that it would show we had broken their code," Wilkinson said he told Nimitz.

"He said 'Go ahead,' he would take that chance."

Simply, Wilkinson said:

"I arranged for intercepting of him."

Wilkinson said a few "magic" intercepts were sent out "to the field" in July, 1941, but none after that, the Navy desiring to keep the code-cracking as top secret. He said "summaries" of diplomatic developments, which contained no tipoffs on code breaking, were provided the field commanders, however.

ADMIRAL BARES BAITING A TRAP FOR YAMAMOTO

Wilkinson of Intelligence Staff Risked Revealing Breaking of Codes.

JAP COMMANDER SHOT DOWN

Navy Saw Crisis in Nov., 1941, but Not Blow at Hawaii—Dewey Center of Clash.

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Vice-Admiral T. S. Wilkinson testified today that he set a death trap for Japanese Admiral Yamamoto despite fears that the Japanese would thereby learn that the United States was cracking their codes.

The former head of naval intelligence, who later fought at sea with Admiral William F. Halsey, told his story to a Senate-House committee investigating the attack on Pearl Harbor.

The Yamamoto incident came up while Wilkinson was telling of the great secrecy that surrounded the code-breaking when he was in intelligence from mid-October, 1941, to July of 1942.

Later at sea, he said, he got orders from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz to arrange to snare Yamamoto, the head of the Japanese fleet, who once boasted he would dictate peace terms in the White House.

'Go to It'—Nimitz.

Wilkinson said the operation would show that the United States had very definite information as to Japanese movements and he so advised Nimitz. "Nimitz said, 'Go to it,'" he related.

The actual shooting down in the air of Yamamoto—an intricate operation that required split-second timing — Wilkinson described simply: "I arranged for an interception of him."

Yamamoto's plane, en route to an airdrome on Bougainville in the Solomon Islands, was intercepted and shot down on April 18, 1943, by Lieut.-Col. Thomas G. Lanphier, Army Air Forces pilot. Other American pilots from Guadacanal picked off planes in Yamamoto's party.

In telling of the code-cracking operations, Wilkinson testified that the Navy set up stations at Corregidor and Pearl Harbor which picked up Japanese messages out of the air. He said that the facilities in the Philippines under the direction of Admiral Thomas C. Hart, then commander of the Asiatic Fleet, were such that the important Japanese "purple" code could be broken there and thus these messages could be scanned by Hart.

Kimmel Less Informed.

Facilities at Pearl Harbor, he continued, were not as extensive. Only less important and easier codes, he said, could be read there. Thus Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, commander of the Pacific Fleet, did not have available at Pearl Harbor some of the information that reached Hart.

Gerhard Gesell, committee counsel, referred to Kimmel's request early in 1941 to be advised of Far Eastern diplomatic developments. Wilkinson said that so far as he knew at the time there was no responsibility to inform Kimmel of "purely diplomatic" developments.

He added that if the intercepts revealed any threatening Japanese intentions, it was his responsibility to call this to the attention of the War Plans Division and that division's responsibility to send directions to Kimmel.

Gesell brought up the much-discussed Japanese message of September 24, 1941, in which Tokyo asked a spy for detailed information on the layout of ships in Pearl Harbor. Gesell noted that other witnesses have said that from hindsight it was clear this was a "bombing plot" or a map that was wanted. Wilkinson agreed that it was.

"I did not, and I regret now, attribute the bombing target significance which now appears," he said. He said his reaction at the time was that it was all a part of the traditional, meticulous attitude the Japanese had toward any scrap of information.

Japs Arrested on Coast.

Wilkinson testified that at the time the Japanese were displaying pre-war interest in Hawaii, "two or three" Japanese officers were picked up on the West Coast. They carried instructions, he told the committee, to report on ship movements and locations along the coast from Seattle to San Diego. Generally, he said, they did not appear to be mapping the West Coast harbors, although one of them had been told to learn what ships were in docks at Bremerton, Wash.

Wilkinson said the Navy had "every indication" in late November, 1941, that the Japanese were preparing for hostilities, but "not the slightest" hint that Hawaii was a target. The committee also received naval records showing that navy intelligence had detailed information on Japanese fleet locations six days before the raid, but nothing to indicate that Japanese warships were anywhere near Pearl Harbor.

Gives Clipped Answers.

Wilkinson replied with clipped affirmatives as Gesell, outlined a list of happenings that indicated the Japanese were preparing to fight and asked the witneses if he knew about them at the time.

On September 25, 1941, Gesell noted that the Japanese had made abnormal personnel changes in their fleet to put it on an emergency basis.

By November 1, he said, all Japanese naval vessels were manned on a full war footing.

By November 15, he continued, the Japanese had requisitioned all the merchant ships they could lay their hands on and had equipped many of them with anti-aircraft guns.

By December 1, he said, the Japanese had recalled their ships for quick docking and repair. On that date, they changed all of their radio service calls to their ships.

Lost Track of Units.

In addition, Gesell said, the American Navy had lost track of a number of Japanese fleet units. Wilkinson said this was true, that both carriers and battleships could not be accounted for.

30.27-32761

"There was every indication—these and many others — that there was an emergency arising," he testified.

"Did you ever have any information, oral or written, that Hawaii might be the point of attack?" Gesel asked.

"Not the slightest," Wilkinson replied curtly.

Gesell later asked: "Did you ever forsee an attack on Hawaii?"

"No," Wilkinson replied. "I thought the Japanese would proceed southward to carry out their campaign. It was my guess—not a very good one—they would not attempt a direct attack against the Anglo-Saxon nations, but would go as far as possible with infiltration not precipitationg a full war."

Got Tip-off Message.

Wilkinson also testified that top naval officials learned from an intercepted diplomatic message almost four hours before the attack on Pearl Harbor that Japan apparently intended to go to war. The "fighting words," as Wilkinson termed them, were in the final part of a fourteen-part message which Tokyo sent here to its "peace" envoys with instructions to deliver it at 1 P. M. (Eastern standard time).

Wilkinson said he read the fourteenth part about 9 or 9:15 A. M. that Sunday, when it came to his office. He said he immediately showed it to Admiral Harold R. Stark, Chief of Naval Operations, "and I think I pointed out to him the seriousness" of the wording. Wilkinson said he advised Stark to notify the Pacific Fleet. He added that he did not mean to say that he suggested the danger of immediate attack on Hawaii specifically, but the imminence of hostilities in the South China Seas.

Wilkinson said his recollection was that Stark attempted to get Gen. George C. Marshall, Army Chief of Starr, on the phone. Gesell noted that the record of the White House switchboard, whih top military men used, did not show such a call urtil 12:10 P. M.

Wilkinson's testimony was delayed by a political squabble among the members at the opening of the session. During arguments precipitated by a controversy over committee employees and the course of the inquiry, Representative Keefe (R.-Wis.) demanded to know at one point whether the group was investigating Pearl Harbor or Gov. Dewey of New York.

The controversy arose after Senator Brewster (R.-Maine) told the committee that he is personally paying the salary of Percy L. Greaves, a former employee of the Republican National Committee, whose presence at the inquiry has evoked caustic remarks from Democratic members.

Brewster read into the record a statement by Greaves saying that the latter never had intended to "insult or reflect in any way" on members of the committee. Senator Lucas (D.-Ill.) charged last week that Greaves, while sitting at the committee table, had made insulting remarks to majority members.

Lucas told the committee that he was not satisfied with the explanation and would demand an investigation of Greaves and "two other gentlemen who have sat here constantly in the hearings giving considerable information" to some members.

This touched off a debate in which Lucas said he thought that the committee had intended to operate on a non-partisan basis. Keefe said he wondered if Lucas's proposal to reporters Saturday to investigate "the Dewey incident" was prompted by a desire to keep the inquiry on a non-partisan basis.

Thinks Dewey Had Tipoff.

Keefe referred to previous testimony that Gen. George C. Marshall appealed to Gov. Dewey, 1944 Republican presidential candidate, to quiet talk about Pearl Harbor during the political campaign.

"I wonder if we are investigating Pearl Harbor or Gov. Dewey," Keefe demanded.

Lucas replied that the letters sent to Dewey by Marshall already had been introduced in the record. These letters informed Dewey that this country had broken the Japanese code and urged Dewey not to disclose this fact in the campaign. Lucas said, however, that he had reason to believe Dewey knew about the code-breaking before he received Marshall's letters.

Lucas said the only thing he wanted to find out is "Who gave him this top war secret?"

"What has that to do with Pearl Harbor?" Keefe asked.

"It has plenty to do with Pearl Harbor if somebody is giving away the top secrets of the country," Lucas retorted.

Dewey, while he was here this week end for the Gridiron Club dinner, told a reporter he had no comment on Lucas's proposed inquiry. He reiterated that he was willing to appear as a witness if the committee thought he could add any information.

Lucas's assertion that he would ask additional investigation of Greaves prompted Brewster to retort that if the committee is going into that matter, he will seek an investigation of past connections of all committee employees.

"There have been a good many things occur here that have not impressed the minority," he asserted.

Naval Intelligence Report.

The Navy spoke of "the approaching crisis in United States-Japanese relations" as early as November 15, 1941, congressional investigators heard today, and six days before Pearl Harbor summarized the Far Eastern situation as pointing to an "early Japanese advance against Thailand.'

The phrase "approaching crisis" was contained in a fortnightly summary issued by the Office of Naval Intelligence on that date. It was put in the record of the Pearl Harbor committee, along with other Naval Intelligence data.

Noting that Saburo Kurusu was flying to Washington as a special peace envoy, the summary commented that "no one apparently expects his mission to succeed, the envoy himself reportedly expressing extreme pessimism."

"American spokesmen, including Secretary Knox, have indicated that the United States will not budge from her position," it was added.

The document, circulated among high naval officials, said the Japanese combined fleet was reported to be "nearly in full force in the Inland Sea."

See Talks Broken Down.

The Naval Intelligence forecast regarding Thailand also said that "Japanese-American negotiations have virtually broken down" as of December 1, unless the Japanese requested continuance of diplomatic conversations.

The December 1 summation said deployment of Japanese naval forces southward from Japan "has indicated clearly that extensive operations are underway for hostilities." They apparently were bound, it added, for French Indo-China and Formosan ports.

Also released was a December 1 memorandum for the director of naval intelligence by Commander A. M. McCollum. He handed over a resume "of the outstanding military, naval and political moves made by Japan during the past two months," and said:

"A view of the general situation would indicate that the principal preparatory effort has been directed by the Japanese looking toward, first: An eventual control or occupation of Thailand, followed almost immediately by an attack against British possessions, possibly Burma and Singapore."

Jap Submarine Patrol.

Also into the committee records went a February 15, 1941, memorandum telling of Japanese observation of United States naval movements. This said:

"In June of 1940, the United States naval attache at Tokyo reported that Japanese submarines were said to maintain an observation patrol in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands and that the submarines were supplied from time to time by making contact with Japanese naval tankers at sea.

"The tracks of Japanese naval tankers moving between Japan and the West Coast of the United States were plotted and it was found that most of them passed through a point just to the northward of the Hawaiian Islands and in this same area the tankers seemed to make very slow progress for a day or two leading to the presumption that it was in this general locality that contact was made between the observing submarines and their supply ships.

"This area was searched on several occasions and no contact with Japanese submarines was made."

Workers in Illegal Strikes

COMPANY SUBMITS ITS DEMANDS AS PARLEY RESUMES

Loss of Seniority Proposed for Participation in 'Wildcat' Walkout.

KAISER TALKS BEGIN

C.I.O. Union Offers 'Standard Proposal' to New Auto Firm.

DETROIT, Dec. 17. — (AP) A demand that "appropriate penalties" be provided against employes participating in work stoppages that violate contract provisions was made upon the C.I.O. United Automobile Workers today by General Motors Corp.

The demand was contained in a letter to the union listing more than a dozen stipulations the corporation said must be included in a collective bargaining agreement with the U.A.W.-C.I.O. The letter was made public by the management as discussions of new contract proposals including the union demand for a 30 per cent wage rate increase, were resumed.

Kaiser Negotiations Open

The U.A.W.-C.I.O., led by President R. J. Thomas, submitted what it termed a "standard proposal" at the opening of negotiations with the newly formed Kaiser-Frazer Corp.

The company, through Edward D Riordan, director of industrial relations, said it will submit its lists on proposals, including its request for a guarantee of company security, at the next meeting Thursday.

Both sides termed today's initial conference "satisfactory". They would not enlarge on the provisions of the union contract proposal nor would Thomas say whether it embodied a 30 per cent wage increase demand.

The new General Motors agreement, management there said, must include a stipulation "that there be appropriate penalties, including loss of seniority, against any employee taking part in any strike or work stoppage in violation of the agreement."

Challenges Union Actions

Also demanded was "an adequate guarantee that the union will make good on its pledge to eliminate personal attacks, false accusations and vilification of management through union publications, handbills, literature and releases; and that the international union as bargaining agent shall accept full responsibility for all items pertaining to management in such publications and releases."

Another stipulation advanced by the corporation would provide that "wages, hours of employment and other conditions of employment are the only matters which are subject to collective bargaining."

The management also stipulated that "the products to be manufactured, the location of plans, schedules of production, methods, processes and means of manufacture, the right to hire, promote, transfer, discharge or discipline for cause and to maintain discipline and efficiency of employes are the sole responsibilities of the corporation."

The management asked that the union withdraw objections to the local unions negotiating and agreeing to pay plans which provide for rewarding individuals for increased productive effort." The corporation has said the union objects to the incentive wage plan.

Similar to Ford Proposal

The GM demand for penalties against workers participating in unauthorized work stoppages follows the line of a Ford Motor Co. demand for "company security."

Ford demanded that the union pay a $5 a day fine for each worker taking part in illegal stoppages. The union countered with a proposal for fines of $3 for the first offense and $5 for subsequent contract violations, the money to be deducted from the offender's pay check. The proposal still is under discussion.

Most of the other demands contained in the GM letter amplified provisions of the existing contract and related mainly to grievance procedure, bargaining processes and seniority accumulation.

The first restraining order against Michigan pickets was issue and that the fact finding will produce no facts unless the industry's financial position is publicized.

G-M Asks Security Clause In New Pact to Penalize

On the question of prices, the board at first refused to state its position. After conferring with Labor department attorneys it withdrew the refusal and announced it would take up the question overnight with Schwellenbach and Collet.

Earlier in the day upwards of 10,000 salaried employes who had been kept from their jobs by the strike of production workers went through picket lines to return to their jobs.

At Flint, Mich., police, using a flying wedge formation, charged through a picket line at one of the corporation's AC Spark Plug division plants.

Within the wedge were 30 non-union office workers. They were not molested by the strikers although shouts of "scab" were hurled at them from the line. Subsequently scores of other office employes entered through the hole opened by Police Captain Gus Hawkins and 30 police officers. Union spokesmen said only about 50 pickets were at the plant gates when the police appeared.

Office workers at GM plants in other cities also went through picket lines today to return to their jobs. Generally the line opened voluntarily. At Lansing George Nader, a C.I.O. United Automobile Workers international representative, charged that an Oldsmobile official struck a striker in the picket line at the gate of the Oldsmobile plant. Nader said a warrant would be sought against the official.

Reinforced police squads stood guard as salaried workers entered the Lansing plant but no other untoward incidents were reported there or at other GM plants throughout the country. Advices to the corporation offices here said the salaried workers generally were being permitted through the picket lines without objection by the strikers.

A picket was arrested at a GM plant near Trenton, N. J., for failing to maintain a 10-foot separation from other pickets as required by a chancery court order.

Fact Finders Convene, Have Difficult Time

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) The government's first experiment in use of fact finding to settle a labor dispute nearly bogged down today on the relation of profits and prices to labor demands for wage increases.

Temporarily refusing to settle the question, the "guinea pig" oil wage fact-finding board recessed until tomorrow with the announced intention of putting its trouble before Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach and Economic Stabilizer John C. Collet.

The board's opening hearing produced considerable confusion with sharp disagreement between oil industry spokesmen and representatives of the oil workers union. Finally the discussion became so technical that the board summoned Labor department legal experts for help.

Subsequently Chairman Frank P. Graham told reporters the panel was moving slowly because it had no precedent. The oil board is regarded as the prototype for the panel which begins hearings Wednesday in the General Motors strike, and a fact-finding board yet to be appointed in the steel wage dispute.

Much of today's session centered around demands by Lindsay P. Walden, union general counsel, that the board state definitely whether it would relate any ultimate wage recommendation to possible price increases. The union, demanding a 30 per cent wage increase, contends the oil industry can absorb the increase without raising prices.

Late in the day, Walden provoked another deadlock by demanding that the board go to the White House if necessary for authority to subpoena company books and determine oil industry profits.

Company representatives objected immediately, refusing to consider the profits questions on ground that it had no bearing on the wage issue. One company—Pure Oil—withdrew its brief from the hearing.

Ben Harper of Houston, Tex., Pure Oil counsel, said he would not reenter the brief "until we know what the rules are going to be." He declared the panel previously had indicated to the industry that the profit issue would not be raised in the hearings.

Walden countered with the claim that profits are a fundamental is-

FACT-FINDING BODY STALLED BY ISSUE OF PRICE VS. WAGE

Both Sides Demand Question Be Clarified—To Talk With Schwellenbach.

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—The issue of prices and profits and the relation of both to wages stalled the Government's oil wage fact-finding board today at the opening of its first hearing.

The panel, regarded as a guinea pig in the use of Federal fact-finding in labor disputes, recessed until late afternoon when both the C. I. O.-Oil Workers Union and representatives of the oil industry demanded that it decide the wage-price question before continuing with the hearings.

Dr. Frank P. Graham, chairman of the board, said that the panel would confer with Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach and John C. Collet, economic stabilization director, during the recess.

The issue as stated by the union was whether or not, if the board decided a wage increase was merited, such an increase would be granted with a possible price increase in mind. The union contends that the industry can grant its demand for a 30 per cent wage increase without raising prices.

As the recess was called the Standard Oil Company of Ohio issued a statement describing the union's wage demand as wholly exorbitant and unjustified.

Union Raises Price Issue.

The wage-price issue was raised by Lindsay P. Walden, union general counsel. He declared that the board must advise both parties as to the extent of its authority in making recommendations which might involve wages, as against prices and profits.

The General Motors strike is next in line for the fact-finding process, which has been bitterly opposed by labor and cooly regarded by management. Observers from the General Motors Corporation sat in on the hearing.

Only four refineries actually were represented. They were the Atlantic Refining Company of Philadelphia, the Cities Service Oil Company of East Chicago, Ind.; the Republic Oil Refining Company of Washington, D. C., and the Standard Oil of Ohio, Cleveland.

O. A. Knight, president of the union, told the panel that the Sinclair Oil Corporation was not present because of a week end settlement between Sinclair and the union, providing for an 18 per cent wage increase.

Graham announced that failure of any parties to attend and participate was their own responsibility and at their own risk.

Text of GM Letter Stating Terms for New Contract With Union

DEC 18 1945

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Dec. 17—Following is the text of the letter presented by the General Motors Corporation today to the United Automobile Workers, CIO, stating terms for a proposed new contract:

On Dec. 10, 1945, you were notified that General Motors Corporation elected to terminate, and did terminate, effective on that date, the agreement between General Motors and the International Union, United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, CIO, dated April 16, 1945.

This is to notify you that we are prepared to negotiate an agreement covering wages, hours and conditions of employment of the production and maintenance employes for whom the union acts as the certified bargaining agent. This agreement shall contain only such provisions as are collectively bargained and mutually agreed to by the parties.

It is further proposed that the pattern of past contractual relationships, namely a national agreement covering appropriate matters common to similar or related bargaining units and supplemental local agreements authorized by such national agreement, be followed in negotiations between the parties.

We are prepared to review the bargaining units which were covered by the canceled national agreement to ascertain whether all such bargaining units should be included in the new national agreement.

It is further proposed that such provisions of the national agreement previously in effect as are naturally satisfactory to the parties form a basis for the negotiations of the new collective bargaining agreement.

Company Demands Listed

In addition to appropriate provisions and definitions deemed necessary by the parties to formalize a collective bargaining agreement, General Motors demands that the agreement provide, among other things:

1. That wages, hours of employment and other conditions of employment are the only matters which are subject to collective bargaining.

2. That the union and the corporation shall recognize the rights of employes and applicants for employment to elect or refuse membership in any union, to maintain or resign from such membership, to enjoy freedom from restraint and discrimination, coercion with respect to work, employment, union membership and union activity. Solicitation for union membership and collection of dues shall not take place during working hours on company time or at company expense.

3. That the products to be manufactured, the location of plants, the schedules of production, the methods, processes and means of manufacturing, the right to hire, promote, transfer, discharge or discipline for cause, and to maintain discipline and efficiency of employes, are the sole responsibility of the corporation.

4. That the union be properly represented in each bargaining unit subject to appropriate conditions to reasonably regulate such representation, to eliminate abuses, to provide that the wages to be paid to union committeemen for time spent off their jobs in handling grievances or negotiating with the management be paid one-half by the union and one-half by General Motors, and to provide for employment of committeemen on jobs other than their own only to the extent necessary to accomplish proper representation of the union.

Grievance Machinery

5. That grievances of employes, which are to be defined as alleged specific violations of a provision or provisions of the national agreement or local agreements authorized and executed as supplements to the national agreement, be handled in accordance with a grievance procedure patterned after that provided for in prior collective bargaining agreements, with such modifications as are necessary to simplify and expedite the disposition of grievances and to eliminate the abuses which developed under the grievance procedures of prior collective bargaining agreements.

6. That, subject to appropriate rules, regulations, definitions and procedures with respect to transfer, loss of seniority and lay-off and rehiring, employes, other than veterans of World War II, shall acquire seniority after a probationary period of twelve consecutive months during which they shall acquire no rights with respect to re-employment if laid off or discharged during such period.

7. That there be appropriate penalties, including loss of seniority, against any employe taking part in any strike or work stoppage in violation of the agreement.

Guarantee on Publications

8. That there be an adequate guarantee that the union will make good on its pledge to eliminate personal attacks, false accusations and villification of management through official union publications, handbills, literature and releases; and that the international union, as bargaining agent, shall accept full responsibility for all items pertaining to management in such publications and releases published by the international union, local unions or their representatives.

9. That there be a leave of absence procedure which eliminates the abuses which existed under the prior agreements.

10. That the international union will withdraw objection to the local unions negotiating and agreeing to pay-plans which provide for rewarding individuals for increased productive effort.

11. That there be equal employment opportunity for World War II veterans as compared to civilians hired during the war, irrespective of senority.

While the Wage-Hour Law provides for a minimum rate of 40 cents per hour, General Motors proposes that the minimum hiring wage rate for male and female employes in any General Motors plant be increased to 80 cents per hour if the minimum rate is not already that high. New employes hired at this minimum rate will be advanced to a job rate of 90 cents per hour in not more than six months' time in accordance with procedures to be negotiated locally.

Attitude on WLB Orders

With respect to provisions incorporated in prior collective bargaining agreements pursuant to directive orders of Governmental agencies, and not as a result of collective bargaining, your attention is directed to the position of General Motors Corporation outlined in a letter sent to the National War Labor Board by Mr. C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, dated Oct. 2, 1942, from which we quote the following:

"Compliance with these orders (directive orders of the National War Labor Board) requiring their incorporation in signed contracts with the unions as directed by the board, under these circumstances does not mean that General Motors has come into a mutually satisfactory understanding with the unions regarding the specific provisions of the board's orders. There has been no meeting of minds between the corporation and the unions as to the soundness or desirability of certain of these provisions and thus the resulting documents cannot be regarded as collective bargaining agreements in so far as the orders of the board are concerned, but rather will represent a contract between the parties to abide by and carry out these orders of the board."

"Specifically, regarding Section 1 applying to union security, the corporation remains convinced that the orders of the board are unreasonable and unnecessary, and infringe the rights of employes and the corporation. We believe the laws of our country provide for free choice unionism, and we continue to maintain that it is improper for the corporation to be forced to establish as a condition of employment that union members must remain in the union to continue to hold their jobs."

DEC 18 1945

30.27-32763

Police Help G.M. Office Force Enter Plant

DEC 18 1945

Detroit, Dec. 17 (AP)—Police cracked a picket line of CIO United Auto Workers strikers to escort office employés into one General Motors plant today while at other factories the picket lines opened voluntarily.

A flying wedge of police charged the line at the AC Sparkplug Division in Flint, letting about 30 office workers into the administration building at the outset; 120 more entered later.

Meanwhile, in Lansing, George Nader, UAW international representative, charged that an Oldsmobile official struck Ted Dillingball, a striker, as he passed through the picket line at the Elm street gate of the Oldsmobile factory. Nader said a warrant would be sworn out for the Oldsmobile official.

Illegal, G.M. Holds

General Motors, which has charged the UAW with "illegal picketing" and has asked injunctions in Ohio, Illinois and New Jersey, had directed office workers in several Michigan cities to report today.

In Cleveland, several hundred salaried workers at G.M.'s Fisher Body plant moved through a picket line. Picketing was limited Friday by a temporary injunction. A company spokesman said the salaried workers' entrance was marked by "a few incidents of temper, but no violence."

38,000 Kept Idle

Thirty-eight thousand office workers, supervisory personnel and other non-strikers have been idle in the 26-day-old walkout of 175,000 production workers over the union's 30 per cent wage increase demand.

At a number of plants the union pickets have permitted the entry of non-strikers since the day the strike began. Strikers in Flint, however, had protested the entry of any. Shouts of "scab" greeted the non-strikers' appearance today.

The union's wage fights in the auto industry broadened meanwhile to include the newly formed Kaiser-Frazer Corporation. President R. J. Thomas of the union planned to attend personally the first conference with this firm while other union men met again with General Motors. A meeting with the Ford Motor Company was postponed until tomorrow morning.

Work Pledge May Be Asked

Kaiser-Frazer, planning to build two lines of cars in the Willow Run bomber plant, reportedly will demand some kind of guarantee against unauthorized strikes before making known its proposed wage rates.

Speculation that Ford would soon make a wage offer has mounted steadily since the union last week offered this company a security plan. The plan, not yet formally accepted by Ford, would subject instigators of wildcat strikes to discharge and participants to fines of $3 to $5 a day.

A Ford statement last night said the company will have produced only 30,000 of the 80,000 cars it had promised by Christmas. "This situation definitely is not the fault of our employés," said Henry Ford 2d, president. "Since V-J day we have not had a single unauthorized work stoppage." He said the company could not get parts and materials, and listed strikes, price ceilings and a loss of workers because of wage stabilization as the suppliers' major difficulties.

"The No. 1 job before the company today is production—all-out peacetime production," Ford concluded. "Production means jobs at high wages, more and more products for more and more people at lower costs. Only maximum production can end this country's present economy of scarcity."

PRICE ISSUE SIDESTEPPED

Oil Wage Fact-Finding Body To Confer On Subject

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Government's first experiment in use of fact-finding to settle a labor dispute nearly bogged down today on the relation of profits and prices to labor demands for wage increases.

Temporarily refusing to settle the question, the "guinea pig" oil wage fact-finding board recessed until tomorrow with the announced intention of putting its trouble before Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach and Economic Stabilizer John C. Collet.

The board's opening hearing produced considerable confusion, with sharp disagreement between oil industry spokesmen and representatives of the oil workers union. Finally the discussion became so technical that the board summoned Labor Department legal experts for help.

Panel Moving Slowly

Subsequently Chairman Frank P. Graham said the panel was moving slowly because it had no precedent. The oil board is regarded as the prototype for the panel which begins hearings Wednesday in the General Motors strike, and a fact-findin board yet to be appointed in the steel wage dispute.

Much of today's session centered around demands by Lindsay P. Walden, union general counsel, that the board state definitely whether it would relate any ultimate wage recommendation to possible price increases. The union, demanding a 30 per cent wage increase, contends the oil industry can absorb the increase without raising prices.

Company Withdraws

Late in the day, Walden provoked another deadlock by demanding that the board go to the White House of necessary for authority to subpoena company books and determine oil industry profits.

Company representatives objected immediately, refusing to consider the profits question on ground that it had no bearing on the wage issue. One company—Pure Oil—withdrew its brief from the hearing.

Ben Harper, of Houston, Texas, Pure Oil counsel, said he would not re-enter the brief "until we know what the rules are going to be." He declared the panel previously had indicated to the industry that the profit issue would not be raised in the hearings.

Called Fundamental

Walden countered witl. the claim that profits are a fundamental issue and that the fact finding will produce no facts unless the industry's financial position is publicized.

On the question of prices, the board at first refused to state its position. After conferring with Labor Department attorneys, it withdrew the refusal and announced it would take up the question over night with Schwellenbach and Collet.

Disclaim Authority

When the question of company books was raised, board members pointed out to Walden that they had no statutory authority to compel introduction of such evidence. Walden then suggested that the board "take the matter up with the President of the United States to determine how they can be obtained."

"Certainly," Walden said, "no greater harm could come to the companies by Mr. Truman and this panel requiring them to produce their books," than came to the oil workers when he said Mr. Truman "broke the oil workers strike and took away their bargaining power."

Walden referred to seizure of the oil refineires by the Navy last October.

TRUMAN PREPARES UNIFICATION BILL

Congress to Get Measure Tomorrow; Somervell Favors Merger of Services.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) President Truman will send to Congress, probably on Wednesday, his long-awaited recommendations on the proposal to unify the armed services, the White House announced today.

Meanwhile, the President vetoed a bill which would have given the rank of vice admiral to chiefs of the naval bureaus and the rank of rear admiral to assistant chiefs.

His veto message said that this matter "should await decision by the Congress on the matter of the organization and composition of our whole postwar military establishment and consideration of the problem of suitable rank for higher commands and staff assignments in the ground, sea and air forces."

Gen. Somervell Testifies

The Senate Military committee proceeded with hearings on the Army-Navy proposal. General Brehon Somervell, chief of the Army Service forces, testified that unification would eliminate "wasteful" competition between the services and "unnecessary duplications."

Somervell estimated that 25 per cent or more could have been saved on military construction costs during the war if the War and Navy departments had been combined.

Somervell also cited these cases of "duplications, overlappings and conflicts" which he said might have been avoided under a single defense agency:

A major shipyard had contracts for Navy sea-going tugs and Army steel towboats. Both services sent in expediters and the "conflict only served to slow down both programs."

The "Navy purchased towels at a time when the Army had an excess supply."

Army engineers tied up all construction lumber in 1942 and the Navy "dry dock construction was retarded."

The Marines developed a herringbone twill that was better and cheaper than the Army's but the Army "was unaware" of it.

Identical Army and Navy supply items were listed under different names for most of the war with resulting duplication and confusion.

Competed for Labor

Army and Navy supply depots 10 miles apart in Utah competed for critical labor with the Navy paying $1.02 an hour and the Army $1.16.

The Army put three men in a Pullman section, and the Navy only two. An order in July, 1945, resulted in one-third reduction of Navy Pullman requirements that that could have been reduced at the outset of the war.

An Army-Navy conflict over real estate "delayed the building of the Air Service command depot at Alameda, Calif., by approximately seven months."

Critical medical specialists frequently were located in duplicating Army and Navy hospitals only a few miles apart.

There could have been a "saving not only in professional services but also in facilities and equipment for X-ray, operating rooms, laboratory, kitchen, and laundry utilization."

DELEGATES CLASH ON HOUSING BILL

C.I.O. Endorses Price Ceilings, Management Opposes Proposal.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) The C.I.O. today endorsed the administration's appeal for price ceilings on houses, but a spokesman for home builders said such controls would "emasculate the industry."

While labor and management delegates to a government-sponsored housing conference clashed on this point, they joined in recommending that it be made clear to the public there can be no quick solution of the housing shortage.

These were other highlights at the opening session of the two-day conference called at the direction of Reconversion Boss John W. Snyder:

1. Both the C.I.O. and the American Federation of Labor contended construction workers are underpaid and that this is a major obstacle to home building.

Strike Would Halt Construction

2. An industry representative said that if steel workers strike as scheduled it would mean "virtual stoppage" of home construction.

3. The A.F.L. recommended that veterans be given an over-riding priority for building materials, and that such supplies be earmarked for homes costing $7,000 or less rather than $10,000 or under as planned.

4. The C.I.O. urged that Congress authorize publicly financed "decent permanent housing" wherever private enterprise "is not ready or able to provide it."

5. Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small called on industry to use wartime ingenuity in turning to substitutes for scarce building materials.

Labor and management delegates stressed that it will take years to provide enough housing to meet pent-up demand. They asked that the government emphasize this point in its information programs.

"We should not delude the public with any impression that thousands upon thousands of homes can be built next year," said Harry C. Bates, chairman of A.F.L.'s housing committee.

400,000 Homes to Be Built

Bates estimated that only 400,000 dwellings could be built next year. Government officials have calculated that at least 3,000,000 new homes will be needed by the end of 1946.

The C.I.O.'s support of legislation to fix price ceilings on new and existing houses was voiced by William G. Nicholas, secretary of the organization's housing committee.

Nicholas also urged continuance of rent controls and passage of the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill which would set up a long-range publicly financed housing program.

The C.I.O. official made the specific suggestion that the government finance home building now in cases where private industry is not ready or willing.

Opposes Ceilings

Opposition to the administration-endorsed Patman bill for ceilings on houses came from Joseph E. Merrion, president of the National Association of Home Builders, who said such legislation "not only would do nothing to produce building materials, but would reshackle and emasculate the industry."

Merrion's criticism on this score also was applicable to the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill, he said.

Merrion said a "wave of strikes" has seriously delayed production of some building materials, and added:

"The administration policy of encouraging wage increases while holding a ceiling on finished products is not working and will not work in many of these industries."

The A.F.L. delegate, Bates, said wages in the construction industry are still under government control, while other industries are free to grant increases.

"As a result," Bates said, "thousands of workers who left the construction industry for better paying wartime jobs do not want to return."

John W. Edelman, a member of the C.I.O.'s legislation committee, said a major obstacle to home construction is "the problem of substandard wages."

Noting that the C.I.O. has scheduled a steel industry strike for next month, L. C. Hart, vice president of the Producers' Council, Inc., said this would result in a "virtual stoppage of home construction."

HOME PRICES START DEBATE

DEC 18 1945

CIO Backs Ceilings—Builders Fear Effect

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—The CIO today indorsed the Administration's appeal for price ceilings on houses, but a spokesman for home builders said such controls would "emasculate the industry."

While labor and management delegates to a Government-sponsored housing conference clashed on the point, they joined in recommending that it be made clear to the public there can be no quick solution of the housing shortage.

These were other highlights at the opening session of the two-day conference called at the direction of John W. Snyder reconversion head:

1. Both the CIO and the American Federation of Labor contended construction workers are underpaid and that this is a major obstacle to home building.

"Virtual Stoppage" Foreseen

2. An industry representative said that if steel workers strike as scheduled it would mean "virtual stoppage" of home construction.

3. The AFL recommended that veterans be given an overriding priority for building materials, and that such supplies be earmarked for homes costing $7,000 or less rather than $10,000 or under as planned.

4. The CIO urged that Congress authorize publicly financed "decent permanent housing" wherever private enterprise "is not ready or able to provide it."

5. John D. Small, civilian production administrator, called on industry to use wartime ingenuity in turning to substitutes for scarce building materials.

"Years Needed"

Labor and management delegates emphasized that it will take years to provide enough housing to meet pent-up demand. They asked that the Government emphasize this point in its information programs.

"We should not delude the public with any impression that thousands upon thousands of homes can be built next year," said Harry C. Bates, chairman of AFL's housing committee.

Bates estimated that only 400,000 dwellings could be built next year. Government officials have calculated that at least 3,000,000 new homes will be needed by the end of 1946.

Opposition Voiced

The CIO's support of legislation to fix price ceilings on new and existing houses was voiced by William G. Nicholas, secretary of the organization's housing committee.

Nicholas also urged continuance of rent controls and passage of the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill which would set up a long-range publicly-financed housing program.

The CIO official made the specific suggestion that the Government finance home building now in cases where private industry is not ready or willing.

"Reshackling" Predicted

Opposition to the Administration-indorsed Patman bill for ceilings on houses came from Joseph E. Merrion, president of the National Association of Home Builders, who said such legislation "not only would do nothing to produce building materials, but would reshackle and emasculate the industry."

Merrion's criticism on this score also was applicable to the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill, he said.

Senate Calls on U. S. to Urge England to Open Palestine Door

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) The Senate formally called on the United States today to use its "good offices" with Great Britain toward the opening of Palestine to free entry of Jews.

It passed, on a voice vote, a resolution by Senators Wagner (D-N. Y.) and Taft (R-Ohio) favoring establishment of Palestine as "a democratic commonwealth in which all men, regardless of race or creed, shall have equal rights."

It rejected an amendment by Senator Hart (R-Conn.) to provide for working out the problem with other nations—including the Arab states—as well as Britain. Hart argued there was danger of bloodshed if the Arabs thought too extreme measures were being undertaken.

President Truman several months ago asked Great Britain, which holds a mandate over Palestine, to permit the entry of 100,000 homeless Jews. This was turned down and instead a commission was set up to study the whole question.

Connally Lone Dissenter

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) who was the lone "no" man in a 17 to 1 Foreign Relations committee vote approving the resolution, told the Senate:

"The President doesn't want this resolution passed. He told me on the telephone and I told the committee. He told me, 'I do not regard it as advisable. I don't want to see any sort of resolution enacted until this commission has completed its inquiry and reported back.' The secretary of state does not want it at this time."

Wagner, in urging adoption of the resolution, which now goes to the House, declared:

"If even the small pressures being brought to bear against a just solution of the Palestine question—the small pressures of oil concessions and Arab threats—if even these small pressures are enough to divert Great Britain or America from the course of honor, how pitifully inadequate is the state of our international morality!"

From the press gallery, the only audible "no" on passage came from Connally. Likewise, the only audible "aye" on Hart's amendment came from Hart.

Wagner Calls Palestine a Test

Tells Senate It Will Show Whether World Is Ready to Build Moral Basis for Peace.

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Senator Wagner (D.-N. Y.) pictured Palestine today as presenting a test of the question whether the world is ready to support principles of justice and morality as the way to maintain peace.

He told the Senate that Palestine and the question of Jewish immigration there might look small in world affairs but that they were "terribly important" as "a test of the integrity and conscience of mankind" and as "a signpost of where the world is going." He urged Senate approval of a resolution favoring the establishment of Palestine "as a democratic commonwealth in which all men, regardless of race or creed, shall have equal rights."

Both Britain and the United States had promised as much, he said, and asked: "If the great Powers of the world prove themselves incompetent to deal honestly and fairly with a matter of this size, what hope or faith can we have that they will rise to the enormously larger problems of the future?

"If even the small pressures being brought to bear against a just solution of the Palestine question—the small pressures of oil-concessions and Arab threats—if even these small pressures are enough to divert Great Britain or America from the course of honor, how pitifully inadequate is the state of our international morality?"

"Permanent peace," the Senator declared, "can rest only upon the foundation of the external bases of morality. Permanent peace requires justice and truth and fair-dealing—toward the weak as well as the strong, toward the oppressed as well as the free, toward those who are homeless as well as those who are secure."

Alfange for Resort to Arms.

The Jewish people must resort to arms and win their independence in Palestine the way the Americans won theirs in 1776, according to Dean Alfange, one-time American Labor party candidate for Governor and chairman of the American Christian Palestine Committee of Greater New York. He spoke today at the annual benefit luncheon of the Temple Rodoph Sholem.

"Rebellion and bloodshed is the answer to the Palestine question," Alfange said. "The Anglo-American committee of inquiry is a cunning device to commit our country to an anti-Zionist policy and should be renounced by Congress."

U. S. SUB CAPTAIN GIVES TESTIMONY AT M'VAY TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 — (AP) The defense in the court martial of Capt. Charles B. McVay, 3rd, offered testimony today to discount the effectiveness of zigzagging to evade submarine attack.

Captain McVay, skipper of the heavy cruiser Indianapolis, is being tried on charges of negligence and inefficiency in the loss of the ship last July 30 while en route from Guam to Leyte. The charge of negligence is based specifically on alleged failure to maintain a zigzag course through waters where enemy submarines might be encountered.

The witness was Capt. Glynn R. Donaho, whose submarine in seven war patrols made 23 consecutive successful attacks on enemy shipping, sinking or damaging 28 ships totaling 200,000 tons.

Captain Donaho told the court zigzagging was effective only if the target ship makes a radical change of course after the torpedoes are fired. Submarine officers anticipate zigzagging by the target ship as a matter of course, he said, and if the target ship makes a change of course before the torpedoes are fired, attack is delayed only a matter of seconds to permit new calculations.

Even if the target ship changes course after torpedoes are fired, he said, there is a 50-50 chance it would make matters worse.

The chief defense counsel, Capt. John P. Cady, announced that the accused officer would take the witness stand in his own defense tomorrow.

Meanwhile, criticism of the presentation of testimony last week by Iko Hashimoto, former commanding officer of the Japanese submarine I-58 which reportedly sank the Indianapolis, continued to be voiced in Congress.

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R.-Mass.) offered a resolution ordering the testimony stricken from the record on the ground that it was "entirely incompetent."

Capt. Oliver F. Naquin, Arlington, Va., surface operations officer on the staff of the commander, Marianas area, at the time of the Indianapolis sinking, testified today he considered the danger of submarine attack "very slight" when the Indianapolis left Guam.

Capt. Alfred M. Granum, Bethesda, Md., operations officer on the staff of the commander, Philippine sea frontier, at the time, said there had been reports, but no confirmation, of submarines in the area.

SUPERBOMBER DETAILS GIVEN

New Consolidated - Vultee XB-36 Nearly Ready.

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—The Army Air Force disclosed today some additional details of its coming Superbomber, the Consolidated-Vultee XB-36. It said in a monthly publication, Air Force, that the huge plane was about to take to the air.

A drawing of the bomber showed it with lines resembling those of the Boeing B-29 Superfortress, except that the six engines are set into the after part of the wing and the propellers push rather than pull.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the AAF, discussing the new weapon recently, said it would weigh more than 250,000 pounds and have an operating radius of 5,000 miles. This compares with a peak gross weight of 140,000 pounds and about 1,600-mile radius for the B-29.

The Air Force gave these general facts about the XB-36, which is being built at Fort Worth, Tex.:

Crew Will Total 17.

The fuselage is 163 feet long and 150 inches in diameter. The tail rises 46 feet 7 inches above the ground. Its fore and aft compartments are linked by a pressurized tunnel as in the B-29. The crew will total seventeen, including relief crewmen. There will be sleeping accommodations and a galley to prepare hot meals. It will operate at more than 30,000 feet altitude and can make nonstop flights from Tokyo to New York as a "matter of course."

The engines will be Pratt & Whitney "Majors," the four-bank radial, air-cooled monsters recently announced as having an emergency power rating of more than 3,650 horsepower each. Cooling will be by air taken in through ducts in the leading edge of the wing.

The wheels are 110 inches (nearly ten feet) in diameter, and one tire weighs 1,500 pounds. The bomber will have a tricycle landing gear, with double main wheels and a single nose wheel.

The drawing indicates five bomb bays.

A transport version also is being built and is expected to accommodate 200 passengers. An order for it has been placed by Pan American Airways.

LINDBERGH URGES POWER-BACKED UNO

Alternative to Force Is Worse, He Tells Capital Dinner—Calls Christian Ideals a Guide

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh, a pre-war non-interventionist, called tonight for a world organization backed by military power and guided by the qualities represented in Christian ideals.

"I have advocated tonight a world organization backed by military power," the flier said, "an organization led by Western peoples, who developed modern science with its aviation and its atomic bomb.

"But I must confess to you that I am fearful of the use of power. I plead for strong military forces only because I believe the alternative is worse.

"If we are able to prevent the misuse of power based on aircraft and atomic energy in the future, that will mark a greater epoch in human relationships than their invention marked in science," Colonel Lindbergh told an Aero Club dinner marking the forty-second anniversary of the Wright brothers' flight.

In his prepared speech the colonel said in part as follows:

"That plane at Kitty Hawk, like the Chinese firecracker, held the magic of great construction in peace or great destruction in war. That we have used this inheritance primarily for war is a responsibility which rests squarely on our own shoulders. When I say our own shoulders, I speak of civilized man.

"There is little satisfaction in spending one's life developing machines which are likely to bring ruin to one's own people. Our minds are harassed by the damage that has already been done; by the realization that Western man has not justified his trust; that he has misused his inheritance from the early pioneers.

"The developments of science, improperly guided, can result in more evil than they bring good. What peaceful men take a thousand years to build, fools can now destroy in fewer seconds. Experience has shown that we cannot depend on political specialists to turn the inventions of science to the benefit of mankind.

Reconsidering Ideas Urged

"It is obvious that all of our ideas must be reconsidered in the revolutionary light of an atomic era. This applies especially to aviation, since it provides the carrier for the latest and most deadly of all man's weapons. We know that one airplane, carrying one atomic bomb, can wipe out a city. We know that transoceanic rockets, using fuels already developed, can be built in the near future.

"The oceans, therefore, which

30.27—32765

proved effective barriers to bombing aircraft of World War II, will not protect this country from atomic rockets of World War III, if such a war begins.

"Life would be intolerable here in America if we knew that an irresponsible foreign government could, without warning, send an atomic rocket hurtling toward every city in our country. If we permit the world to continue uncontrolled, an enemy could have such rockets aimed at our vital areas waiting only for the pressure of a button to send them off. Then, our institutions, our homes, our families, would be at the mercy of some fanatic's finger thousands of miles away. It would be like living with a rifle pointed always at your head.

"And it would be only a matter of time before the trigger would be pulled, for where man has had power at his fingertips, soon or later, he has found causes for its trial.

"If we are able to prevent the misuse of power based on aircraft and atomic energy in the future, that will mark a greater epoch in human relationships than their invention marked in science. Yet if we fail, the penalty is staggering. We can succeed only by organizing all nations toward this end. For we must face the fact that aircraft and the atomic bomb have brought us to a time when we will either live in an organized world or in constant insecurity.

"To me, it is no longer a question of whether or not we should have world organization, but of what form it should take. Now that such an organization is in its infancy—now is the time to consider seriously its implications. Too few people stop to realize that a world organization may vary between the arbitrary power of a Roman state and government based on the complete equality of man.

"Whatever compromise is made between these extremes of Roman state and mass control it must contain an element of power to be effective—power to prevent the preparation for an atomic war, power which cannot be blocked by the veto of any single nation. Power—because experience has shown only too clearly that we cannot depend on promises alone.

"In this age of split seconds and splitting atoms, a world organization must have immediate and overwhelming strength at its disposal. To disarm too quickly, to fail to maintain the quality of our weapons, to underestimate the revolutionary changes the atomic age has brought, would be fatal.

Morality Backed by Power

"But power alone has limited life. History is full of its misuse. There is no better example than Nazi Germany. Power without a moral force to guide it, invariably ends in the destruction of the people who wield it. Power, to be ultimately successful, must be backed by morality; just as morality must be backed by power.

"A world organization, to have permanent influence, must wield power that is guided not by the desire for revenge, not by the intent to exploit or enslave, but by the qualities represented in Christian ideals. To those who say that such ideals are impractical, let us point out the failure of the Hitlerian regime. The philosophy of Christ may have been too intangible for the Nazi Government to understand, but the rubble of Berlin is a sufficiently tangible result of their failure.

"Christian ideals may in one sense seem a far cry from the subject of aviation on which you invited me to speak. But in a deeper sense they affect every industry and every action. They cannot be left alone to church and clergy. They must live in the philosophy of a nation, in the policies of a world organization, in the use of science and its great inventions."

BOMBER HOLDING RECORD CRASHES

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Just eight days after it set a new Long Beach-to-Washington air record, the Army's Mixmaster experimental bomber crashed to destruction at nearby Oxon Hill, Md., yesterday. The three crew members parachuted to safety.

Nicknamed for its unique propeller-in-tail design, the XB-42 was on a routine flight from Bolling Field Army air base. The highly streamlined craft averaged 432 miles an hour in the five-hour, seventeen-minute flight from Long Beach on December 8.

Officials of the Douglas Aircraft Company, which built the craft, said at Santa Monica that a second model has been made for the Army.

Truman to Pass Holiday With Family in Missouri

Will Leave Capital for 3 Days Beginning Dec. 25

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP).—President Truman plans to pass three days in family gatherings during his Christmas visit home to Missouri, it was announced today.

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman will depart by plane from Washington about 8 or 9 A. M. (E. S. T.) Christmas Day and start back from Kansas City the following Friday morning. Upon his return to Washington, Mr. Ross said, the President will begin work on his annual State of the Union message to Congress.

The visit in Missouri, Mr. Ross asserted, will be entirely one for the enjoyment of the holidays with members of his family and close friends. Ross said the personal nature of the trip was emphasized by the fact that only Brigadier General Harry H. Vaughan, the President's military aide, will fly with him. Even General Vaughan, he said, will not be with the President most of the time since he will visit his own mother who lives near Kansas City.

Navy Urges 3-Months Sea Cruise For Trainees

Washinton, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Navy told Congress today it will give all naval men in universal military training a three-months sea cruise, provided Congress approves the program.

Supporting proposals for compulsory peacetime training, Vice Admiral Louis Denfeld outlined to the House Military Committee just how the Navy plans to utilize the year's training for each trainee.

First, the Chief of Naval Personnel said, the trainees will go to "boot" camp for three months to learn fundamentals of Navy life. A second three-months period will be devoted to specialized training in a Navy school, and a third three-months to team training.

The final three months, Denfeld said, will find the inductee aboard a training ship to give him "a chance to try at sea what he learned on land."

President Would Table Issue Of Promotions

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—President Truman asserted today he believed that the question of postwar rank and promotion in all branches of the armed services should be tabled until Congress decides the kind of a national defense establishment the country will have in the future.

Mr. Truman expressed himself in vetoing a bill to give chiefs of naval bureaus the rank of vice admiral and assistant chiefs that of rear admiral.

Depends On Congress

The President told Congress:

"The matter of increased permanent rank for chiefs of bureaus of the Navy Department and their assistants should await decision by the Congress on the matter of the organization and composition of our whole postwar military establishment and consideration of the problem of suitable rank for higher commands and staff assignments in the ground, sea and air forces."

The message was delivered shortly after the White House announcement that the President will send Congress a message this week, probably Wednesday, outlining his views on a proposal to unify the Army and Navy.

5,000 To 6,000 Words

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the message runs from 5,000 to 6,000 words.

Ross would not discuss the President's position on the unification proposal. He simply told reporters that the message was virtually completed.

At the same time Ross said he did not know when the President would send a message urging congressional ratification of the recently negotiated $4,400,000,000 British credit.

Competition "Wasteful"

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, Gen. Brehon Somervell offered a lengthy and detailed account of "wasteful" competition between the Army and Navy as an argument for postwar unification of the armed services.

Director of the huge Army Service Forces during the war, Somervell told the Senate Military Committee there had been "unnecessary duplications" of effort and predicted there would not be time for them in any future war.

Listing critical wartime needs ranging from doctors and nurses to powerful communication and radar equipment, the general said a single armed forces agency could have shortened the war.

Saving Set At 25 P.C.

His "rough" estimate on possible savings was "about 25 per cent or more" if the "construction requirements of the War and Navy departments had been combined" during the last four years.

It is my firm conviction that a single department of national defense would result in economy of manpower, money and of material, and an increase in the speed and efficiency of operations," he testified.

PROGRAM IS PLANNED FOR DISABLED VETS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) The Veterans Administration, planning a program of recreation, religion and study for disabled soldiers, today appointed Col. Francis R. Kerr, chief of its special services division.

A prepared announcement said the appointment will be effective when Kerr is released from the Army. He now is chief of the Army Exchange Service and deputy director of Army Service forces Special Services division.

Kerr will organize canteens; recreation, entertainment and athletic programs; libraries and chaplains' services. There will be a special services director in each of the 13 regional offices.

NAVY V-12 CONTINUES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) House passage sent to the White House today legislation permitting the Navy to continue its V-12 training program until next June 30.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the Naval committee said the program would end next March unless Congress, passed the legislation, giving the Navy authority to spend an additional $10,000,000 for the training.

All in Armed Services To Get Truman Citation

President to Send Thanks to 12,000,000 Men and Women

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP).—President Truman is saying thanks to the 12,000,000 men and women who fought World War II for the United States. The Army and Navy announced jointly today that a "testimonial of appreciation" bearing the Presidential seal would be given to all who served in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard after Sept. 16, 1940, and who now have or will receive honorable discharges.

The testimonial says:

"To you who have answered the call of your country and served in its armed forces to bring about the total defeat of the enemy, I extend the heartfelt thanks of a grateful nation. As one of the nation's finest, you undertook the most severe task one can be called upon to perform. Because you demonstrated the fortitude, resourcefulness and calm judgment necessary to carry out that task, we now look to you for leadership and example in further exalting our country in peace."

Navy Denies Sampson Charges

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Navy said today that it did not contemplate an investigation of the naval training station at Sampson, N. Y., because there is "no basis" for such action. An investigation was requested by the Albany chapter of the Disabled American Veterans because, the organization said, it had received reports that "food and medical care" at the station were inadequate.

INCREASE FAVORED IN ARMY OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) A Bill empowering the War department to commission 8,281 additional officers in the regular army was passed today by the House. It now goes to the Senate.

The new law would authorize 25,000 officers in the regular army against 16,719 now permitted.

Supporters of the bill said it was devised "to keep some of the outstanding young men of the Army of the United States (not the regular army) who may go elsewhere upon demobilization unless commissions are offered immediately."

The bulk of officers in World War II held temporary commissions in the Army of the United States, that part of the fighting force now being demobilized.

Regular army commissions would be limited to AUS officers more than 21 years of age and none could be given above the grade of major, confirmation of the Senate would be necessary and the authority would expire eight months following passage of the act.

UNRRA FUND VOTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP)—The Senate completed congressional action today on legislation authorizing a second $1,350,000,000 fund for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration.

Approval came on a voice vote sending the measure to the White House.

The Senate already has voted $750,000,000 of the new funds in approving a $2,500,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill last Saturday.

Army Grooms Jet Planes For Cross-Country Dash

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP)—The Army was reported tonight by informed sources to be preparing two or three P-80 jet propelled fighter planes for an attempt to set a new transcontinental west to east speed record.

Informed sources indicated the flight would be made soon, with the planes outfitted with auxiliary fuel tanks for the hop from California.

The planes, built by Lockheed and known as "Shooting Stars," are powered with gas turbine jet engines.

It was thought they may not only attempt to better the transcontinental record of 5 hours and 27 minutes from Burbank Calif. to Floyd Bennett field, New York, set by a B-29 bomber recently but also may try to better the 606-mile top speed record now held by the British.

NAVAL OFFICERS TO GET SEA DUTY

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Because demobilization has sharply reduced the officer personnel of the fleet, the Navy has instructed all naval commands in the continental United States to submit lists of line officers available for sea duty.

Those so classified include warrant officers, regular Navy officers, reserve officers who have requested transfer to the regular Navy or have asked postponement of their demobilization for the duration, and reserve officers with thirty-eight points or less.

As they are needed, the Navy Department said, these officers will be detached from their present shore duty and assigned to duty at sea or beyond the continental limits to relieve officers eligible under the point system for demobilization.

SWISS MAY LIMIT WATCH EXPORTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 — (AP) Switzerland has agreed to discuss limiting her export of watches to this country to 3,000,000 annually, Walter Cenerazzo, president of the American Watch Workers union, said today.

As a result, Cenerazzo told a reporter, his union has called off its plan to picket the State department in protest against what the union head called "dumping" of Swiss watches on the American market.

Cenerazzo said his information on the Swiss agreement came from the State department.

If the two countries can agree on such a trade quota, the union—which previously asked that annual imports be limited to 2,100,000 watches—probably will accept it, Cenerazzo said.

Cenerazzo said he planned to return tomorrow to his home in Waltham, Mass. His union represents workers at Waltham, Lancaster, Pa., and Elgin, Ill., watchmaking plants.

He pointed out, however, that the State department referred in an announcement Dec. 3 to "urgency of achieving a solution of the problem during the current year."

"The current year ends Dec. 31," he said. "We shall wait until that date before taking definite action." Cenerazzo said more than 10,000,000 Swiss watches would enter the American market in 1945.

Finland Makes Payment

Washington, Dec. 17. (AP)—The Treasury said today Finland had made another payment, amounting to $258,054.74, on its World War I debt.

Spaatz Receives Collier Trophy

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—President Truman today presented to Gen. Carl A. Spaatz the Robert J. Collier trophy for the conspicuous contribution to aviation by an American.

Spaatz, commander of the United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe in 1944, received the trophy "for demonstrating the air-power concept through employment of American aviation in the war against Germany."

The trophy, awarded annually by the National Aeronautics Association, has been held by Rear Admiral Luis de Florez.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces, attended the presentation ceremony at the White House.

MEDICAL, SURGERY UNIT FOR VETS IS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) Legislation to establish a department of medicine and surgery in the Veterans Administration was approved today by a Senate Finance subcommittee.

The measure will be considered tomorrow at an executive session of the full committee. It already has been passed by the House. Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), subcommittee chairman, said he will seek a Senate vote before the Christmas holiday.

The bill was endorsed in testimony today by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, director and Gen. Paul R. Hawley, acting surgeon general of the Veterans Administration.

It provides a salary of $12,000 for chief medical director and $11,500 for his deputy, and for a staff of eight medical assistants and other lesser department heads.

8,000 MARINES HOME

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 — (AP) Approximately 8,000 U. S. Marines will have returned from overseas by Christmas, Marine headquarters announced today. The majority are now en route and those eligible for discharge will be released as rapidly as possible.

Initial elements of the occupation forces in Japan, amounting to several thousand high-point members of the 2nd and 5th Marine divisions and the 5th Amphibious corps will arrive on the west coast within a few days.

The 5th division is scheduled to be disbanded, with about 9,000 of its low-point men being transferred to other outfits remaining overseas.

HOUSE FAVORS RETURN OF MEN KILLED ABROAD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) Legislation directing the War department to return for burial in this country an estimated 300,000 bodies of Americans killed abroad was passed by the House today and sent to the Senate.

The bodies to be returned are those of service men and civilians whose death since September 16, 1940, was directly attributable to the war or to government service, and whose next of kin desire their return.

They will be reburied in national cemeteries or in places chosen by relatives.

Rep. Sikes (D-Fla.), who handled the bill for the Military committee, estimated at $700 the cost of each reburial, including transportation.

U.S. Envoy To Attend Brazil's Inauguration

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—Adolf A. Berle, Jr., Ambassador to Brazil, will return to Rio de Janeiro in time for the inauguration of President-elect Eurico Gaspar Dutra about January 15, the State Department announced today.

Berle left Rio Saturday and is expected to arrive in Washington by plane late tomorrow night. He plans a Christmas vacation after conferences at the State Department.

The department's announcement that Berle would return to his post spiked reports that he would retire from the diplomatic service and resume the private practice of law.

'Blockbuster' Expert Honored

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP).—The Army's Legion of Merit was awarded today to Air Commodore Patrick H. Huskinson, blind inventor of the "blockbuster" bomb, of Great Britain. The award, presented by General H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces, carried a citation that credited the R. A. F. munitions expert with "contributing greatly to the bombing efficiency" of A. A. F. bombers.

American Airlines Plans Service To Scandanavia

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board today authorized the American Airlines System to begin service on its route to the Scandinavian countries, and designated airports in each of them.

Officials of the airline said they expected to announce shortly when operations, which now reach only to London, would be extended.

The airports designated are Bromma at Stockholm, Gardermoen at Oslo and Kastrup at Copenhagen.

Armed Service Credit For Retirement Urged

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—The House today passed a bill to give Federal Civil Service Employés credit toward retirement for time spent in the armed forces.

An amendment inserted by the House, however, sends the bill, previously passed by the Senate, to conference before final action.

Crew Shortage Blamed For Delaying 60 Ships

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—A shortage of crews is delaying the sailing of 60 ships from American ports, the War Shipping Administration sai dtonight. Six troop ships are among those being held up.

To man the vessels, WSA said in a statement, the Merchant Marine needs 1,000 officers and 10,000 men immediately.

Calling it "a manpower crisis greater than any during the war, WSA said it is issuing appeals for men with sea experience to return to the ships "in order that troops, relief and food supplies may continue to move."

'VET' LOSES STRIKE PAY

The Michigan Commission Rules Against Unemployment Stipend

DETROIT, Dec. 17 (AP)—John E. Cody, 26-year-old World War II veteran and father of three children, lost an appeal for compensation today for unemployment resulting from the strike at the General Motors Corporation.

The State Office of Veterans Affairs, filing Mr. Cody's appeal as a test case, said 14,000 other Michigan veterans are similarly affected by the strike.

Referee Samuel Sternberg of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission, in denying Mr. Cody's benefits, suggested that Congress should waive the "labor dispute" disqualification clause in the GI Bill of Rights, at least during the veteran's initial year as a civilian.

HIGH COURT BACKS U. S. IN TAX CASE

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—The Supreme Court today ruled proper a Government claim that the Hercules Gasoline Company, Inc., owed $32,481 as a surtax on undistributed profits for 1937. Justice Black delivered the court's 5-to-3 decision. Justice Jackson did not participate in the case. Justice Reed wrote a dissent in which Chief Justice Stone concurred, and Justice Burton also dissented.

The Supreme Court today appointed Lloyd K. Garrison special master to take testimony on Georgia's complaint that it has been a victim of railroad freight rate discrimination. Garrison is chairman of the War Labor Board and a member of the fact-finding group named by President Truman to investigate the General Motors strike.

The master will receive evidence from twenty railroads listed by Georgia as having engaged in a rate conspiracy against it. The master also will take testimony from all others interested in the case. Then he will make a report to the Supreme Court on his findings and recommend a final court decree. The court later will hear arguments.

NEWSPRINT RATION WILL END DEC. 31

CPA Decision on Ending It Is Expected to Be Signed by Snyder Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Civilian Production Administration has decided to lift newsprint control Dec. 31, but the decision must be approved by John W. Snyder, reconversion director.

Government officials who know about the CPA's decision, but who requested anonymity, said that Mr. Snyder might make his position known tomorrow.

The CPA, it was understood, had planned to make an announcement on revocation of controls, but the order was held up in Mr. Snyder's office.

Officials attributed the delay to phrasing used in the CPA announcement, rather than to any disagreement on whether the order should be lifted.

Members of the Newspaper Industry Advisory Committee have twice recommended that all newsprint ration controls be lifted at the end of the year.

Newsprint controls were put into effect Jan. 1, 1943.

Canada Lifting Its Controls

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (AP)—Lifting of controls on the distribution of newsprint in Canada, effective Dec. 31, was announced tonight by the Prices Board.

The board said that directives to mills and wholesalers, assuring publishers aad printers a supply of print paper after Dec. 31 equal to their current quotas, had been issued and distributed to the trade.

Canada Output to Set Record

MONTREAL, Dec. 17 (AP) Canadian newsprint production will reach an all-time high of 3,696,000 tons in 1946, the Newsprint Association of Canada estimated today, but the organization warned American consumers that increased orders would not be justified.

The estimates for 1946, based on the expected supply for the first six months of the year, are 693,000 tons, or 23 per cent, above the average for the last five years before the war; are 468,000 tons, or 15 per cent, above the wartime average, and are 437,000 tons, or 13.4 per cent, above th efigures for 1945.

The Newsprint Association took pains to emphasize that the total American supply from all sources would be only slightly above last year and actually below the years 1941 and 1942 and that because of an increase in the number of users individual consumers might be little, if any, better off than in the last quarter of 1945.

The association pointed out that the United States rates of ordering and consumption throughout 1945 "have been considerably in excess of actual shipments," that stocks had been eaten into and were now at an all-time low, and that American production was expected to drop to a new low mark of 17 per cent of American consumption in 1946.

Despite the record production figures and record shipments to the United States estimated for 1946, American newspaper publishers individually can expect little relief from their present tight situation, the association said. Among new users listed as getting part of the available stocks are new newspapers, more comic books, more Government consumers and others.

"The increase (of Canadian production) in 1946 merely brings shipments approximately into line with the rate of orders placed in the fourth quarter of 1945," the Newsprint Association said in a survey.

"To preserve a sound situation, consumers should realize that total 1946 supply, as presently estimated, does not justify an increase in the present rate of total ordering."

Pulpwood Data Tentative

The present estimate is based on what can be done with pulpwood, the raw material, now on hand. In June, production will begin to show an increase in pulpwood cut this winter, although it was stated that no further estimate of 1946 performance was feasible until new wood figures became available in the spring. The association said that even if the maximum production of Canadian mills were achieved in the second half of 1946 —"which is highly doubtful"—improvement in the half year "could not exceed 200,000 tons."

Shipments of newsprint to the United States from Canada, which supplies three-fourths of American consumption, will reach an all-time high of 3,000,000 tons in 1946, it was estimated. This compares with a five-year pre-war average of 2,286,000 tons, a wartime average of 2,617,000 tons, and shipments of 2,770,000 and 2,811,000 tons in the previous high years of 1941 and 1942, respectively.

Shipments to the United States will be 31 per cent above the pre-war average, and nearly 18 per cent above 1945.

On a percentage basis, Canadians will be supplying 81 per cent of their production to United

30.2A-32467

States users in 1946. They will export 13 per cent to other countries and use 6 per cent at home. This is the same ratio of distribution shown in the average of the war-time years.

The following table shows in percentage figures the distribution of Canadian production in recent years:

	To Canada	To U. S.	To All Other
Pre-war average	6	76	18
1940	5	75	20
1941	6	80	14
1942	6	87	7
1943	6	85	9
1944	6	81	13
1945	6	78	16
War-time average	6	81	13
1946	6	81	13

The United States got relatively more, and other foreign consumers less, in 1942 and 1943, because of a shortage of shipping space and other war factors, the association said.

Total United States supply, while only slightly better than in 1945, will be actually less than in 1941, the association estimated. It said the decline from 1941 would run 9 or 10 per cent after deduction of 240,000 tons to allow for low stocks and new users.

The figures in the survey are based on reports and estimates made from trade sources by the Newsprint Association and by the American Newspaper Publishers Association, supplemented by Canadian Government statistics.

FORMER CHIEF RABBI OF BERLIN VISITS U. S.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(AP) Dr. Leo Baeck, 73, former chief rabbi of Berlin and onetime president of all Jewish congregations in Germany, arrived here by transatlantic plane today and said the United States and Palestine were the "two hopes of every Jew."

"This history of the Jews in Germany is finished," said Dr. Baeck. "There is no foundation there for the re-establishment of Jewish religious existence. Jewish life now has only two centers—one in America and the other in Palestine.

"America and Palestine are the two hopes. In the concentration camps there was always only one cry—Palestine and America."

Dr. Baeck, who spent two and a half years in concentration camps at Terezin, Czechoslovakia, said he planned to remain in the United States about a month to assist the 1946 drive by the United Jewish Appeal for $100,000,000 in relief funds and to advance the cause of world Jewry.

EIGHT SHIPS BRING 11,000 MEN HOME

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—(AP) The Navy transport Europa, partially sheathed in ice, docked tonight with 6,224 soldiers and civilians, climaxing a day in which eight vessels disembarked 11,000 veterans and the exchange liner Gripsholm landed 1,994 repatriates from the Mediterranean.

Comdr. A. W. Maddox of Washington, D. C., executive officer of the Europa, said high point men from the Eighth and Ninth Air Forces, the 89th Artillery battalion and some infantrymen were aboard.

Earlier the cruiser Savannah completed a transport assignment in the Atlantic, the first fighting ship to do so.

Among the Gripsholm's passengers were Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and Robert Denham of Cincinnati, an American Red Cross field director.

Also aboard was Mrs. Marsha Wazal, 20, of Alexandria, Egypt, a war bride, who said she had met her husband, Joseph A. Wazal of Fitchburg, Mass., when he was stationed with the American army in Egypt and she was a civilian clerk there.

Mrs. Wazal said her husband was still on duty in the Middle East. She was met by his uncle, Harry Fried, of Jersey City, N. J.

NEW SUB COMMISSIONED

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 17—(AP) A new submarine, the U.S.S. Sablefish, is scheduled to be commissioned tomorrow at the Philadelphia Naval base.

Captain W. L. Beck, USN, chief of staff to Rear Admiral Milo F. Draemel, commandant of the Fourth Naval district, will turn the ship over to its commanding officer, Commander Richard H. Crane, USN, whose home is in Waterbury, Conn.

The Sablefish was built at the Cramp Shipbuilding Co., yard and launched June 4. Her keel was layed at June 5, 1943. She carries a crew of eight officers and 72 men.

Stassen Plans Trip Abroad Next Year

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 17 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen plans to go to Russia, Europe and South America next year to study conditions in various countries, the former Minnesota governor said today.

"When I will go depends on when I can work it into my schedule," the 1940 candidate for the Republican presidential nomination told a news conference.

Services Honor Wrights

KITTY HAWK, N. C., Dec. 17 (AP)—An armada of Army and Navy planes roared a salute today to the Wright brothers.

Witnesses included Orville Wright, now 74, and Lieut. Gen. James Doolittle, who in a speech called for "aggressive continuation of research and development" and an "expendable military organization composed of the smallest Army, Navy and Air Force commensurate with our requirements."

Doolittle Presents 3 Ideas For Keeping World Peace

Kitty Hawk, N.C., Dec. 17 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. James Doolittle, speaking from the hillside where 42 years ago the Wright brothers flew the first airplane, today outlined "three means of assuring peace until we have a world police force to enforce the international laws."

They were:

1. "The aggressive continuation of research and development.

2. "The establishment of an ultra-modern, highly mobile, readily expendable military organization composed of the smallest army, navy and air force commensurate with our requirements. It must be adequate to our national security and it must be within our ability to enforce it.

One-Defense Department

3. "The establishment of a single department of national defense in which the army, navy and the air force are coequal and autonomous.

"This will avoid duplication and waste, and assure the most economical adequate military setup in which each service will be built up and financially supported according to its value as a defensive and offensive agency."

Standing beneath the shaft erected on Kill Devil Hill, overlooking the Atlantic, in memory of the 450-foot flight of the Wright brothers on December 17, 1903, Doolittle warned that "air power is the safeguard of our nation—there can be no compromise with the safety of America."

Said the former head of the 8th Air Force in Europe and leader of the first air raid on Tokyo:

"It was the spirit of progress that carried Wilbur and Orville Wright to one of the greatest achievements of all times. In the same spirit, and in the shadow of this inspiring monument let us rededicate ourselves to making American commercial and military aviation truly outstanding.

"In this way we can go forward, not only in world progress but toward that common goal we all seek: National prosperity and world security.

"America has taken a dominant part in the development of the airplane which has done so much to change the course of civilization.

"America must take a dominant part in world affairs and strive to bring about a lasting peace. We hope that we may eventually have a legalized world organization with a world police force to enforce the international laws. . . ."

Referring to the rapid developments in aviation, Doolittle said the B-29, with a range of 5,000 miles and a bomb capacity of 20,000 pounds, "is just a step toward the airplane of the future.

Plane Of The Future

Shortly we shall have a plane with a range of 10,000 miles with a bomb load of 10,000 pounds. At somewhat reduced range, such a plane will carry 80,000 pounds as against the 20,000 in the B-29."

He said that the nonstop flight of a B-29 from Guam to Washington, a distance of 8,000 miles, "as spectacular as it seems when compared with the first successful flight of the Wright brothers, is but a modest forerunner of what is to come in aviation in the near future."

VISITS WINSTED

WINSTED, Dec. 17—(AP) Antonio Santillan Falconi of Rio Bamba, Ecuador, president of the Ecuadorian Chamber of Commerce and vice president of the Chamber of Industries there, visited manufacturing plants here today in what he said was the first stop on a survey of industry he intends to make throughout New England

Falconi was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Judith Falconi, and a New York industrial engineer.

Falconi, who said the survey was being made with the intention of establishing export markets between United States firms and those in Ecuador, Columbia and Peru, asserted that manufacturing plants in those countries cannot supply all the material needed there.

He said that all three countries want machinery and engineers from the United States to handle labor and industrial problems there.

SCIENCE TO STUDY A-BOMB TEST SITE COWS

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Dec. 17—Fifty-eight mangy red cows and calves, trespassers on the atomic bomb test site at Alamagordo, N. M., when the first experimental explosion took place July 16, were under observation here today.

They were sent to this home of the atomic bomb for tests to determine whether their poor condition was caused by the explosion.

They were a sorry looking bunch. None had turned gray completely, but several, the cows especially, showed mysterious gray hairs on their backs. All were thin and several had lost large patches of hair.

Col. Stafford I. Warren, head of the Medical division of the Manhattan Engineer district, said a thorough scientific test, "which will take at least six months," will be carried out.

DEC 18 1945

ECUADOR LEADER

...ADD-LNDN...UNO...CHOICE

SAN FRANCISCO AND BOSTON STILL WERE CONSIDERED FAVORITES AMONG THE BIDDING COMMUNITIES. HOWEVER, THE SUBCOMMITTEE HEARING DELEGATIONS FROM THE BIDDERS WAS INSTRUCTED TO SUBMIT A TABULATION OF THE DATA IT WILL HAVE ACCUMULATED BY FRIDAY, FOR REVIEW BY THE GENERAL SITE COMMITTEE. DELEGATIONS FROM ST. LOUIS, MO., CINCINNATI, OHIO, AND RIDGEFIELD, CONN., STILL ARE TO BE HEARD.

THE GENERAL COMMITTEE WILL TAKE THE REPORT UNDER ADVISEMENT SATURDAY AND THEREAFTER ATTEMPT TO PARE THE LIST TO FIVE OR SIX. THEN IT MUST DECIDE WHETHER TO HOLD THE MATTER IN ABEYANCE FOR THE ASSEMBLY OR TO APPOINT AN INTERIM COMMISSION WITH POWER TO RECOMMEND TO THE ASSEMBLY.

TA1027PES

FIRST LEAD STALIN (140)

LONDON, TUESDAY, DEC. 18-(AP)-GENERALISSIMO STALIN HAS RETURNED TO MOSCOW FROM A VACATION OF MORE THAN TWO MONTHS. THE MOSCOW RADIO SAID BRIEFLY TODAY THAT STALIN, WHO HAD BEEN VACATIONING NEAR SOCHI ON THE BLACK (CORRECT) SEA SINCE OCT. 9, RETURNED TO THE CAPITAL YESTERDAY AND "RESUMED HIS DUTIES."

STALIN'S RETURN COINCIDED WITH THE OPENING THIS WEEK IN MOSCOW OF THE CONFERENCE OF FOREIGN MINISTERS OF THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA.

RUMORS REGARDING STALIN'S HEALTH, DENIED BY AUTHORITATIVE MOSCOW SOURCES, WERE PUBLISHED THROUGHOUT THE WORLD WHEN HE FAILED TO ATTEND THE 28TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE RED REVOLUTION ON NOV. 7.

THIS CELEBRATION CUSTOMARILY HAS BEEN LAUNCHED WITH AN ADDRESS BY STALIN ON THE EVENING OF NOV. 6, AND ON THE FOLLOWING DAY STALIN HAD BEEN IN THE HABIT OF STANDING FOR HOURS TO REVIEW THE PARADE.

FOREIGN COMMISSAR MOLOTOV DELIVERED THE SPEECH THIS YEAR.

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR W.AVERELL HARRIMAN REPORTED, HOWEVER, THAT HE SAW STALIN ON OCT. 27 AND THAT HE WAS IN GOOD HEALTH.

STALIN WILL OBSERVE HIS 66TH BIRTHDAY DEC. 21.

(NO PICKUP)

TA1113PES

DEC 18 1945

THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT CONSIDER THAT SENDING A [redacted] "COMMISSION OF INVESTIGATION AT [redacted] THIS TIME WOULD CONTRIBUTE TOWARDD A SETTLEMENT BY THE METHOD OF DIRECT [redacted] DISCUSSION."

APR 01750 MB/145P

LONDON, DEC. 17 -- (AP) -- CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER HUG DALTON REFUSED IN COMMONS TONIGHT TO ANSWER QUESTIONS CONCERNING THE BANK OF ENGLAND'S RESERVES DURING DEBATE ON A BILL TO NATIONALIZE THE INSTITUTION.

DALTON SAID THE BANK HAD TOLD HIM DISCLOSURE OF ITS RESERVES "WOULD BE GREATLY AGAINST THE NATIONAL INTEREST." THE MEASURE NOW GOES TO THE HOUSE OF LORDS FOR CONSIDERATION AND WILL BE RETURNED TO COMMONS FOR FINAL ACTION.

LONDON, DEC. 17--(AP)--GREAT BRITAIN PLANS TO SEND A PARLIAMEN MISSION TO STUDY CONDITIONS IN POLAND NEXT MONTH, BUT DOES NOT CONTEMPLATE DISPATCHING SENDING A SIMILAR GROUP TO JAVA, FOREIGN OFFICE UNDERSECRETA HECTOR MCNEIL TOLD COMMONS TODAY.

MCNEIL SAID THAT WH WHILE IT REMAINS BRITISH POLICY "TO ENCOURAGE DIRECT DISCUSSION BETWEEN THE DUTCH AND THE INDONESIANS,"

SOUTHAMPTON, ENGLAND, DEC. 17-(AP)-MRS. MAVIS HALEY, WHOSE PARENTS LIVE IN OKLAHOMA CITY, ARRIVED TODAY TO SEE HER HUSBAND, RAF FLIGHT LT. NORMAN HALEY, WHO WILL UNDERGO AN EYE OPERATION SOON. MRS. HALEY SAID SHE DID NOT THINK HER HUSBAND WOULD LOSE HIS SIGHT.

DEC 18 1945

APRA 01736 OQUINN RM 1249

3027-32769

BRUSSELS, DEC. 17-(AP)-U.S. MILITARY POLICE ARE HUNTING THROUGH BELGIUM TODAY FOR JOHN WARD, WHO ESCAPED FROM A JAIL A MONS FOR A SECOND TIME. WARD, REPORTED FROM BOSTON, WAS SERVING A 15 YEAR TERM AT HARD LABOR FOR ROBBERY. HE WAS SEEN LAST IN THELIEGE AREA.

WILLIAMS APRA 01155 RM 1013

WARSAW, DEC. 17 - (AP) - FIVE AMERICANS FROM DETROIT, MICH, ARRIVED HERE TODAY TO BEGIN A TOUR OF POLAND AND INVESTIGATION OF POST-WAR CONDITIONS AT THE INVITATION OF THE POLISH GOVERNMENT.

THE GROUP IS HEADED BY MICHIGAN STATE SENATOR STANLEY NOWAK AND INCLUDES STATE REPRESENTATIVE VINCENT KLEIN, PROF. ANTONY KARCZMARCZYK, HENRY PODOLSKY, EDITOR OF THE NEWSPAPER GLOS LUDOWY, AND THADDEUS KANTOR OF THE JOURNAL NB NASZ SWIAT.

DEC 18 1945

ATTHENS, DEC. 17 -- (AP) -- THE WAR CRIMES OFFICE ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT THE GREEK GOVERNMENT WILL DEMAND THE EXTRADITION OF 300 GERMANS, ITALIANS AND BULGARIANS BACK TO GREECE TO FACE A COURT MARTIAL FOR CRIMES ALLEGEDLY COMMITTED DURING THE OCCUPATION OF GREECE.

ADD TEHRAN NL TABRIZ XXX LAST MAN

(DISPATCHES FROM TEHRAN TO THE SOVIET NEWS AGENCY TASS SAID A NEW NATIONAL GOVERNMENT SET UP BY THE INSURGENTS IN THE PROVINCE WAS "BACKED BY A RECENT ELECTION OVERWHELMINGLY FAVORING SELF GOVERNMENT." THE DISPATCHES SAID A NEW PARLIAMENT MET IN TABRIZ, CAPITAL OF THE PROVINCE, YESTERDAY, AND CHOSE DEMOCRATIC PARTY LEADER JAFAR PISHEHVARI AS PRIME MINISTER.)

THE OFFICER SAID TWO IRAN ARMY OFFICERS WHO FLED FROM THE SURRENDERED GARRISON AT TABRIZ ARRIVED HERE TODAY AND REPORTED TO HEADQUARTERS "THERE WAS NO QUESTION OF RESISTANCE AT TABRIZ BECAUSE IRANIAN BARRACKS WERE COMPLETELY SURROUNDED BY RUSSIAN TROOPS ARMED WITH MACHINEGUNS."

(THE TASS DISPATCHES TO MOSCOW SAID THE NEWLY PROCLAIMED AZERBAIJAN GOVERNMENT HAD SIGNED A PROTOCOL WITH THE IRANIAN CENTRAL GOVERNMENT'S NORTHERN ARMY COMMANDER GIVING THE NEW REGIME FULL CONTROL OVER THE GARRISON IN TABRIZ, IRAN'S SECOND CITY).

TA1022PES

BY JOHN RODERICK

SHANSI, SUIYUAN, LIBERATED AREA, DEC.15-(DELAYED)-(AP)-THREE WITNESSES TODAY SAID THAT MORE THAN 500 CHINESE CIVILIANS WERE KILLED AND 800 HOUSES BURNED TO THE GROUND NEAR PAOTOW STATION ON THE PEIPING-SUIYUAN RAILWAY NOV.14 BY THE KUOMINTANG 33RD ARMY UNDER FU TSO-YI.

THE WITNESSES, WANG UNG-FU AND TWO RAILROAD WORKERS SAID THEY ESCAPED EASTWARD TO AN AREA CONTROLLED BY THE COMMUNIST EIGHTH ROUTE ARMY.

THE TOTAL LOSS SUFFERED BY THE PEOPLE WAS MORE THAN 30,000,000 CHINESE NATIONAL DOLLARS (ABOUT $30,000.) THE FIRE BURNED A DAY AND A HALF.

JQ1010PCS NM

WAR CRIMES TRIALS (360)

BY MORRIE LANDSBERG

YOKOHAMA,DEC.17-(AP)-IN THE COLD AND GLOOM OF YOKOHAMA COURTHOUSE, EIGHT AMERICAN MILITARY COMMISSION MEMBERS TODAY SET THE STAGE FOR THE FIRST WAR CRIMES TRIALS TO BE HELD IN JAPAN.

FIVE JAPANESE ACCUSED OF COMMITTING OR CONDONING ATROCITIES AGAINST ALLIED PRISONERS OF WAR WILL BE HEARD FIRST, AMONG THEM TATSUTO TSUCHIYA WHOM PRISONERS CALLED "LITTLE GLASS EYE." TSUCHIYA WILL BE ARRAIGNED TOMORROW ON CHARGES THAT HE HELPED BEAT AN AMERICAN TO DEATH LAST MARCH. IN ALL, NEARLY 400 JAPANESE WILL BE TRIED ON ATROCITY COMPLAINTS.

DEC 18 1945

COMMISSION MEMBERS EMPHASIZED THAT THE ACCUSED WILL BE GIVEN FAIR TRIALS ALTHOUGH IT WAS DECIDED NOT TO TRANSLATE THE COURT RECORDS FROM ENGLISH TO JAPANESE. THE CHIEF DEFENSE COUNSEL, LT. COL. JOHN DICKINSON, ST. PETERSBURG, FLA., SAID SUCH TRANSLATION MIGHT PROLONG THE TRIALS ONE YEAR.

THE DEFENDANTS WILL BE GIVEN COMPLETE TRANSLATIONS OF THE EVIDENCE AGAINST THEM IN ENGLISH.

DEFENDANTS AND WITNESSES WILL BE SWORN BY OATHS BINDING IN THEIR INDIVIDUAL RELIGION, THE COMMISSION DECIDED, AFTER THE QUESTION AROSE AS TO INCLUSION OF THE PHRASE "SO HELP YOU GOD" IN VIEW OF NON-CHRISTIAN BELIEFS OF THE JAPANESE.

TWO LARGE AMERICAN FLAGS DRAPED THE SIDES OF THE TRIAL COMMISSION BOX, WHICH IS IN A COMPARATIVELY SMALL ROOM LIGHTED ONLY THROUGH A GRILLED SKYLIGHT.

COL. OLIVER G. TRECHTER, COURT PRESIDENT, WAS DELAYED, AND COL. WILLIAM B. YANCY, HARRISONBURG, VA., PRESIDED.

THE COMMISSION INCLUDE TWO MEN WHO WERE PRISONERS OF WAR: COL. JOHN H. BALL, 465 REYNOLD ST., WILLIAMSPORT, PA., WHO WAS CAPTURED IN THE PHILIPPINES IN 1942 AND TOOK PART IN THE BATAAN DEATH MARCH, AND COL. MICHAEL F. BUCKLEY, 1195 YOSEMITE AVE., SAN JOSE, CALIF., WHO SERVED WITH THE BRITISH EARLY IN THE WAR AND WAS CAPTURED BY THE GERMANS IN 1941.

OTHERS ON THE COMMISSION ARE COLS. JOHN J. O'BRIEN, 6931 SCAMEW (RADIO COPY) TERRACE, SEATTLE; CLARENCE C. CLENDENNEN, 3706 31ST ST., JACKSON HEIGHTS, N.Y.; CHARLES BLANCHARD, SAN ANTONIO, TEX.; JOSEPH J. FRASER, WALNUT, IA., AND LT. COL. JOHN C. DILLER, 9 E. 67TH ST., KANSAS CITY.

MAJ. LOUIS GEFFEN, ATLANTA, GA., AND LT. DAVID I. DAY, JR., ROCKPORT, IND., WILL PROSECUTE TSUCHIYA, ACCUSED OF KILLING PFC. ROBERT GORDON TEAS, AN AMERICAN PRISONER, BY "BRUTALLY AND ATROCIOUSLY BEATING HIM WITH KNOTTED ROPES AND CLUBS."

FOUR OTHER DEFENDANTS WILL GO ON TRIAL SEPARATELY ON CHARGES OF TORTURING AND STARVING TO DEATH EIGHT ALLIED PRISONERS. THOSE CASES WILL FOLLOW TSUCHIYA'S.

WW444APS

MANILA, JAN. 17-(AP)-LOBBYISTS WERE REPORTED EXERTING PRESSURE TODAY ON THE PHILIPPINES CONGRESS TO SET A HIGHER VALUATION ON JAPANESE PUPPET CURRENCY THAN SPECIFIED IN A MEASURE SPONSORED BY U.S COMMISSIONER MC NUTT AND DESIGNED TO REHABILITATE THE NATION'S FINANCES." IT IS KNOWN THAT SPECULATORS BOUGHT V .

COMMISSIONER MC NUTT AND DESIGNED TO REHABILITATE THE NATION'S FINANCES. IT IS KNOWN THAT SPECULATORS BOUGHT UP PUPPET MONEY HOPING FOR A COUP.

BUENOS AIRES, DEC. 17-(AP)- [redacted] FORMER VICE PRESIDENT JUAN PERON SAID TODAY THAT ARGENTINA "CANNOT ADMIT FOREIGN INTERFERENCE IN HER INTERNAL PROBLEMS" AND ADDED THAT "THE TENDENCY OF THE UNITED STATES TO INVOLVE ITSELF IN OUR NATIONAL LIFE [redacted] BE ABANDONED WHEN [redacted] X X X THE INTENTIONS OF OUR PEOPLE ARE [redacted] FREELY EXPRESSED."

THE STRONGMAN [redacted] PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE OF LABORITE AND NATIONALIST GROUPS, [redacted] WAS QUOTED BY THE NEWSPAPER LA CALLE AS SAYING FURTHER:

"WE BEAR NO ANIMOSITY TOWARD THE UNITED STATES OR OTHER AMERICAN COUNTRIES, AND IN FACT I BELIEVE THEY BEAR NONE TOWARD US."

PERON, [redacted] APPARENTLY IN REFERENCE TO [redacted] THE URUGUAYAN PROPOSAL THAT WESTERN HEMISPHERE NATIONS UNITE IN MULTILATERAL INTERVENTION AGAINST NON-COOPERATIVE MEMBERS, SAID [redacted] THAT ARGENTINA'S [redacted] "FUTURE RELATIONS WITH FOREIGN COUNTRIES WILL BE SETTLED BY MEANS OF COMPROMISE."

WB 810P MCEVOYS 2000

MEXICO CITY, DEC 17-(AP)-U.S. AMBASSADOR GEORGE S. MESSERSMITH TOLD FOREIGN SECRETARY FRANCISCO CASTILLO NAJERA TODAY HIS GOVERNMENT WOULD LIKE TO KNOW THE BASIS FOR LABOR LEADER VICENTE LOMBARDO TOLEDANO'S ASSERTION YESTERDAY THAT "IMPERIALISTIC" INTERESTS IN THE UNITED STATES WERE SMUGGLING ARMS INTO MEXICO TO FOMENT A REBELLION.

MESSERSMITH SAID HIS REQUEST WAS NOT IN THE FORM OF A PROTEST AGAINST LOMBARDO TOLEDANO'S REMARKS BUT MERELY TO DETERMINE IF THERE WERE ANY "DEFINITIVE EVIDENCE" TO SUPPORT HIS CHARGES.

LOMBARDO TOLEDANO, HEAD OF THE LATIN AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR, SAID IN HIS ADDRESS THAT MEMBERS OF THE REVOLUTIONARY SINARQUISTA MOVEMENT WERE "PASSING ARMS INTO MEXICO ACROSS THE UNITED STATES BORDER" WITH THE AID OF "CERTAIN YANKEE IMPEERIALISTIC COMPANIES," WHICH HE DID NOT IDENTIFY BY NAME.

M134AES

DEC 18 1945

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, DEC. 17-(AP)-ONE OF ITS MOST INFLUENTIAL MEMBERS TOLD CONGRESS IN A VALEDICTORY ADDRESS TODAY IT SHOULD:

1. INCREASE THE SALARIES OF ITS MEMBERS;
2. SET UP A CONGRESSIONAL PENSION PLAN; AND
3. LIMIT ITS SESSIONS TO FIVE OR SIX MONTHS IN EACH YEAR.

REP. CLIFTON A. WOODRUM (D-VA), WHO IS LEAVING THE HOUSE

30.2F-3247

DECEMBER 31 AFTER NEARLY 23 YEARS' SERVICE, SAID HE DOES NOT BELIEVE, HOWEVER, THAT CONGRESS NEEDS TO BE "TREAMLINED."

"THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AS IT STANDS NOW IS VERY UNIQUE IN ONE PARTICULAR," SAID WOODRUM, RANKING DEMOCRATIC MEMBER OF THE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE AND CHAIRMAN OF THE POSTWAR MILITARY POLICY COMMITTEE.

"

IN ONE PARTICULAR," SAID WOODRUM, RANKING DEMOCRATIC MEMBER OF THE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE AND CHAIRMAN OF THE POSTWAR MILITARY POLICY COMMITTEE.

"WHATEVER MAY BE SAID OF THE ANTIQUITY OF ITS PROCEDURES, IT IS A LEGISLATIVE BODY WHICH STRICTLY AND LITERALLY IS IMMEDIATELY RESPONSIBLE TO THE WILL OF THE MAJORITY OF ITS MEMBERS. XXX

"NO LEADERSHIP, NO COMMITTEE, NO GROUP OF MEMBERS CAN VERY LONG DELAY THE WILL OF THE MAJORITY MEMBERS OF THIS HOUSE."

WOODRUM IS RESIGNING TO BECOME PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN PLANT FOOD COUNCIL.

(END WOODRUM ADVANCE TO BE HELD FOR RELEASE EXPECTED SHORTLY AFTER NOON EASTERN STANDARD TIME TODAY MONDAY DEC. 17)

FR921AES

BY A.I.GOLDBERG

(WX)-ABOARD THE USS WASHINGTON,DEC 17-(AP)-STORMS TODAY SLOWED THE PROGRESS OF THE BATTLESHIP WASHINGTON WHICH IS BRINGING 1,500 HIGHPOINT SOLDIERS FROM EUROPE TO NEW YORK.

FOLLOWING THE WASHINGTON WAS THE CRUISER PORTLAND, OUT OF LE HAVRE, AND AHEAD OF THESE TWO SHIPS WAS THE CARRIER CHAMPLAIN.

THE WASHINGTON SHIPPED WATER AS SHE BATTLED WAVES CHURNED UP BY WINDS REACHING 87 MILES AN HOUR. APPROXIMATELY HALF THE GI'S ABOARD WERE SEASICK.

THE BATTLESHIP WAS FORCED AT TIMES TO CUT HER SPEED TO SEVEN KNOTS. FOR A WHILE SUNDAY SHE TRAVELLED SOUTHWARD IN AN ATTEMPT TO SKIRT THE STORMS AND MAKE BETTER TIME IN HER RACE TO BRING THE SOLDIERS HOME IN TIME FOR CHRISTMAS.

B GG121AES NM

Germany and Italy. He said Germany "was advancing in the direction of Japanese-German-Soviet collaboration until at least about the time of Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov's visit to Berlin in November, 1940."

Nazi Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop advanced the plan for the four-power agreement, which included.

"Firstly, the Soviet union will declare that it agrees with the principle of the tri-partite pact in the sense of preventing war and swiftly recovering peace;

"Secondly, the Soviet union will recognize the leading position of Germany and Italy and Japan respectively in the new order in Europe and Asia and the three nations will pledge respect of Soviet territory.

"Thirdly, the three nations and the Soviet union pledge not to assist any nation being the enemy of the other, nor to join such a group of nations."

The plan, in addition, provided for a secret agreement on "future spheres of influence."

Molotov Given Details

The Japanese government promptly approved the plan which was handed to Molotov during his Berlin visit. Then Tokyo heard nothing further until March, 1941, when Matsuoka visited Berlin.

The latter was told Molotov had agreed in principle but proposed "exchange conditions of over 30 articles which Germany could in no way recognize."

Both Hitler and von Ribbentrop spoke "strongly of Soviet lack of faith and outrageousness," Konoye continued.

He said Nazi officials told Matsuoka "unless the Soviet Union is dealt a blow it will be impossible to eliminate Europe's root of disaster."

Konoye then records two conflicting versions of the neutrality pact. He quotes Matsuoka as saying upon returning to Japan that he informed von Ribbentrop he intended attempting to obtain a pact during his Moscow stopover because "Japan would be greatly" affected by war. He added that von Ribbentrop said it would be fine if he could obtain a pact, but doubted the possibilities.

After the neutrality agreement, Konoye said, von Ribbentrop sarcastically told Japanese Ambassador Oshima "it is hard to understand that despite the fact I clearly told Matsuoka a German-Soviet war is inevitable, he had signed a neutrality pact with the opponent Soviet union."

Oshima quoted high Nazi militarists as saying operations against Russia probably would be over in four weeks, and adding "it should not be regarded as a war but as a police measure."

Then German-Russian hostilities began and Japan's dreams crashed.

States." The German-Russian war upset Japan's calculations, he said.

Japanese who opposed the pact at the time, he added, were motivated by "pro-Anglo-American emotionalism" and not by any logical analysis as to who might win the war.

The document said it was hoped Japan could settle "the China affair" and "avoid a war against Britain and the United States."

...)—Japan's answer to an American plan to preserve peace in the Pacific was blocked for eight days in the Spring of 1941 while Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka sought to learn Germany's attitude toward the negotiations, Prince Konoye wrote in his memoirs.

To gain time, Matsuoka proposed a neutrality pact with the United States, a suggestion rejected by Cordell Hull, then United States Secretary of State.

Konoye said that earlier Matsuo-

Konoye in Document Denied Axis Treaty Led to U. S. War

Tokyo, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Prince Fumimaro Konoye, in a posthumous defense of his pre-Pearl Harbor policy, said in a document made public today that there "actually was no connection in the cause or effect between the tri-partite (Axis) alliance and the outbreak of the American-Japanese war."

The Prince declared that Japan was legally bound to fight the United States only if the latter declared war on Germany.

However, Japan declared war first and "therefore the words 'tripartite alliance' cannot be found in the Imperial rescript declaring war," Konoye continued.

The signing of the tripartite pact was the proper policy for Japan in 1940, he said in the document written some time before he committed suicide Sunday and which was left behind to be made public. Konoye's second son, Michitaka, said the document contained all that the Prince wanted to say on the subject.

The former Premier said that Japan expected to obtain through the pact a Japanese-German-Russian rapprochement to "strengthen the position of our country against Britain and the United ka, returning from Germany in a "bad mood," presented Japanese acceptance of the American plan eight months before Pearl Harbor. That plan, Konoye wrote, was based on an American promise to help obtain Chungking's agreement to peace in China.

Pressed By Others

Pressed by political, Army and Navy leaders to quit stalling—they saw in the American plan an opportunity to pull Japan's chestnuts out of the China fire—Matsuoka forwarded his answer to the United States on May 12.

Shortly thereafter he received from Germany a reply which sought to use the negotiations as a means of preventing the United States from convoying goods to Britain, under threat that such action would force Japan to enter the war.

The Associated Press obtained Konoye's memoirs three days before his suicide. They are being

REDS CONSIDERED UNION WITH AXIS, KONOYE REVEALS

Russia Agreed 'In Principle' in 1940 to Four-Power Alliance.

NEGOTIATIONS FAILED

Suicide Premier Tells in Letter of Moves to Avoid War with Soviet.

TOKYO, Wednesday, Dec. 19.—(AP) A document released by a son of Prince Fumimaro Konoye, former Japanese premier, asserts that Russia in late 1940 agreed "in principle" to join members of the tripartite alliance in a four-power entente which assigned the eastern world among them.

Michitaka, son of Konoye who committed suicide Sunday rather than be arrested as a war criminal, said the document was prepared by his father prior to his death.

In the document Konoye says that Iran and India were to be Russia's "future sphere of influence" under a secret agreement acompanying the proposed entente; Japan was to receive the south seas area; Germany would have taken central Africa, and Italy northern Africa.

Plan Failed to Progress

Konoye said, however, the plan failed to progres and that three months after the agreement in principle was reached, German officials openly talked about the inevitability of a Nazi-Soviet war.

Japan once officially requested Berlin to avoid war with Russia, but the overture was brushed aside with the contention "it will be possible to terminate operations in two or three months."

Both he and Japan had been duped by Berlin's "traitorous" power politics, Konoye strongly suggested, and he intimated neither Germany nor Russia seriously attempted to conclude the entente agreement.

Yosuke Matsuoka, then foreign minister, knew about the prospective Nazi-Soviet hostilities when he sought and obtained a neutrality pact from Moscow, the document said. Matsuoka's purpose was to hedge on Japan's position.

Hoped for Reapprochment

Konoye repeatedly contended that Japan expected, by joining the Axis, to obtain a reapprochment with the Soviet as well as translated, and copies have been given to Joseph B. Keenan who will prosecute Japan's leading war criminals.

Success Doubted

Matsuoka told the Emperor on May 8 that if the United States should join in the European war, "Japan would naturally have to stand on the side of Germany and Italy," the former Premier wrote.

Earlier Konoye had asked Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, then commander in chief of the combined Japanese fleet, "what are the chances if there should be a Japanese-American war?"

Yamamoto replied:

"If they say it must be done, we will run around at will for about half a year or a year. But if it stretches into two or three years, I have no confidence in a successful ending."

Konoye Alarmed

Alarmed by the Navy attitude, Konoye related his excitement at receiving the American plan for an understanding between the two nations, an excitement that prompted him to meet Matsuoka at Tachikawa airfield when the latter returned from Europe.

The plan was explained to Matsuoka on the drive back from the airfield, but Konoye noted: "It is said that as expected, Matsuoka was in a bad mood and assumed the attitude of having almost no interest in the plan."

Later that night, April 22, Matsuoka waxed "loud and fiery on his visit to Europe and when the problem shifted to the important American plan he showed excitement and especially stressed the problem of Germany's trust of Japan" under the tri-partite pact.

Revised U.S. Plan

"He also declared he understood this American plan as having 70 per cent evil will and 30 per cent good will," Konoye noted.

Matsuoka then stalled. But he did go so far as to draft his own revision of the American plan and his revisions were approved by the Japanese Cabinet May 3, or twelve days after he returned from Europe.

However, Matsuoka balked on assuring the United States that Japan would not "carry out an armed advance southward" into the Southwest Pacific. He deleted a provision that neither country would base its fleet where it could threaten the other.

Then Stalls Again

He also inserted a provision that the United States and Japan would mediate between Britain and Germany in an attempt to end the European war at a point when Germany was victorious.

With Matsuoka's revisions ready, the Cabinet urged that they be sent to the United States. Again Matsuoka stalled. He told Ambassador Nomura in Washington to give Hull an interim answer and, while acting as if it was Nomura's own idea, to suggest the neutrality pact.

When Nomura presented the suggested pact to Hull on May 7, Konoye said: "Hull did not even consider this. It is said that Hull spoke strongly in a manner rare for him, and urged the earliest possible beginning of negotiations."

Sought Nazi Opinion

Matsuoka had sent the chief of the Japanese European and Asiatic Diplomatic Bureau to inform Germany and Italian Ambassadors "as an absolute secret of the fact Japan had received a secret proposal for the adjustment of diplomatic relations," Konoye recounted.

"Further, when the Foreign Minister was visited by the German Ambassador, he requested that 'I would like to hear Foreign Minister Ribbentrop's opinion, if there is any,' and added, 'to counter the use of evil will of the United States and to solve the China affair will, after all, be advantageous for Germany also.'"

Matsuoka then went to Emperor Hirohito, Konoye wrote.

Threatened To Quit

"At this time he (Matsuoka) reported 'if the United States would join the war (in Europe) Japan would naturally have to stand on the side of Germany and Italy. At such time an adjustment of Japanese-American relations would be in vain. In any case, if we should go back on the trust of Germany and Italy by concentrating too much on the American question, I shall have to ask to be allowed to resign.'"

The long-delayed revisions presented to Hull May 12 did not set well with him, Konoye noted. "Hull showed not a small amount of doubt over the fact Japan had eliminated the item guaranteeing that Japan would not carry out an armed move southward."

Two Main Points

Matsuoka, who finally agreed to send an answer without hearing from Germany, received immediately afterward a German note that "since the real will of the United States in seeking a compromise with Japan was to drive ahead toward entering the war against Germany, the Japanese Government should make it clear that:

"1. It recognizes American convoying as an action intentionally bringing about war and which, therefore, will naturally force Japan to enter the war, and

"2. If the United States refrains from such action, Japan is prepared to study the American proposal."

Konoye wrote that the German answer concluded with a statement that "in view of the effect this would have on the tripartite pact, it is desired that the German Government be informed previously to the sending of a final answer."

Ouster Pondered

Friction between the cabinet and Matsuoka increased. Even the Emperor was reported to have lost confidence in the foreign minister and to have inquired as to the feasibility of removing him. But Matsuoka remained adamant in his attitude toward the United States.

"From the words and actions of the foreign minister," wrote Konoye, "I wondered if he had during his stay in Germany made some sort of important promise. I could do nothing but believe his official reports on his talks and according to these, Führer Hitler and Foreign Minister Ribbentrop urged an attack on Singapore but (the reports) do not say anything which could be taken as a commitment."

The high hopes which Japanese leaders held for a successful understanding with the United States began to fail.

Negotiations Halted in July

Konoye, three times premier of Japan who committed suicide Sunday, related that negotiations which had been going on since April halted when Germany attacked Russia in July of 1941.

Matsuoka, whose arrest has been ordered by General MacArthur, prevented Japanese acceptance of an American peace plan early in 1941 and stalled the conversations for eight days while he sought to learn Germany's attitude on the negotiations.

Konoye said Japan was surprised by the German attack on Russia and indicated strongly that Japan, although a member of the tripartite (Axis) pact, was not advised in advance.

With the negotiations halted, Konoye's memoirs continue, President Roosevelt sent him a message asking for definite word refuting reports that "Japan will start military action against the Soviet."

U. S. Ambassador Grew delivered the note direct to Konoye, the former premier wrote, and that angered the by-passed foreign minister.

Konoye assured Mr. Roosevelt Japan would not move against Russia (the cabinet already had met and decided not to start action "for the time being.") But he said he took the opportunity to ask if the United States "really has intentions of entering the European war."

To this question, Konoye wrote, the President replied on Aug. 16 that "the motivation of the right of self defense against Germany is natural."

The note continued—"sarcastically" Konoye thought—that "at this time the United States will regard those who force the United States to stand by idly as the cohorts of the armed aggressors."

Visited Emperor

Konoye said that earlier in July Matsuoka went to Emperor Hirohito and made this statement:

"Today, with the German-Soviet war having started, Japan should co-operate with Germany and attack the Soviet Union. For this it is best to hold back temporarily from southern regions, but we will have to fight soon."

Konoye's Memoirs

Jap Plan For Pacific Peace Was Disclosed to Germany

(Editors note: This is another in a series based on the memoirs of Prince Fumimaro Konoye, Japan's premier in the days shortly before Pearl Harbor, who committed suicide Sunday to avoid arrest as a suspected war criminal).

By MURLIN SPENCER

TOKYO, Dec. 19 — (AP) In a great and tragic double cross, Japan disclosed to the German government in July of 1941 the terms of its proposed plan for peace with America even before it was forwarded to the United States.

Prince Fumimaro Konoye's memoirs disclosed that then Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka ordered a subordinate to inform Germany of the plan at a time when the United States was seeking assurances of Japan's good faith.

Konoye sought to clarify Japan's position by writing a note to Matsuoka. He told his foreign minister that until the Russian problem was settled, no show of force should be made in the South Pacific and "from this viewpoint it would be good to suspend such action as occupying French Indo-China."

Konoye declared it was imperative that Japan obtain American help in filling sore needs for various materials, and that it was important to begin immediate peace negotiations with Chungking through United States help.

Matsuoka replied he was in fundamental agreement and said that "from today I will think of the American problem seriously."

Konoye wrote that the United States in returning a revised negotiation plan of June 21, 1941, deleted a Japanese proposal that the two countries co-operate in mediating the European war.

In Konoye's view, that "implied that the United States would until the very end drive ahead for the destruction of Germany."

The United States also told Konoye in an oral statement "it had been ascertained" that some Japanese in influential government positions had pledged "to support National Socialist Germany and its conquering policy."

Called for End of Talks

That, said the late prince, made Matsuoka "increasingly more uncooperative," and he demanded that the negotiations with the United States be cut off.

Unable to stand against Matsuoka, Konoye said he called on the army, navy and home ministers and obtained from the army and navy a joint opinion that:

1—Japan's attitude toward the European war should be decided by treaty obligations and the necessity of self-defense, while demanding the right to use force in the Pacific if necessary.

2—If a breakdown was to come in negotiations, the breakdown "should be delayed until after we occupied French Indo-China."

Matsuoka finally approved the revised plan on July 14, 1941. It differed from the American plan of June 21 in that it revived the article proposing joint action to terminate the European war. (Germany was winning at the time and Japan's plan would have left her master of Europe.)

"Since such a Japanese counterplan at last had been completed," Konoye wrote, anyone would think it immediately would be carried to the American side.

"But the foreign minister had the opinion that 'first an instruction telegram for the refusal of the oral statement should be issued and then the counter-plan be sent two or three days later.'"

This telegram termed the United States oral statement a "rude, irrational note," and said that "'unless the United States government first abandons it, Japan cannot drive ahead the discussions on an understanding plan."

Over the opposition of the army and navy and contrary to the agreement with Konoye for sending the telegram and counter-plan simultaneously, "in the late hours of July 14 the foreign minister sent only the instruction telegram rejecting the oral statement."

The next day, Konoye wrote, "the foreign minister made chief of the European Bureau Sakamoto inform the German side of the final Japanese plan, which had not yet been presented even to the United States."

The Konoye cabinet had reached the end of the road. It could continue no longer.

Want to Keep Emperor

TOKYO, Wednesday, Dec. 19 (AP)—Japan's two major political parties today listed preservation of the Emperor system as the first plank in their platforms for the forthcoming elections.

Touching off the political campaign, spokesmen for the so-called Progressive and Liberal parties placed retention of the Emperor even before improved living conditions and other campaign issues.

The importance of the Emperor system was underlined repeatedly during Diet discussions. The numerically small Communist party is the only political organization advocating its abolition.

Emperor Is No Longer A Divinity In Schools

Tokyo, Dec. 18 (AP)—Dr. Kotaro Tanaka, chief of the bureau of school eduction in the Education Ministry, told Kyoto news agency today that General MacArthur's directive abolishing state Shintoism strips the Emperor of his divinity but permits the Japanese to regard him as "the object of reverance as a sovereign ruler."

Hereafter, he said, schoolchildren no longer will be told to regard the Emperor as a divinity. Japanese history as now being taught also should be re-examined, he proposed.

Death Marcher Leaves Trial

Commission

Yokohama, Dec. 18 (AP)—A member of the United States military commission set up to try small-fry Japanese war-criminal suspects withdrew today after the defense argued his ordeal in the Bataan Death March might have left him prejudiced.

Col. John H. Ball, of Williamstown, Pa., who survived the march of horror, stepped down in the interest of fair play shortly before the opening of the first trial of a Japanese in his homeland on war-crimes charges.

"Little Glass Eye" First

The dubious distinction of being first defendant was given Tatsuto Tsuchiya or "Little Glass Eye," who pleaded innocent.

The prosecution announced it would seek the death penalty for the former prison guard, charged with "brutally and atrociously" beating to death Pfc. Robert Gordon Teas with knotted ropes.

Tsuchiya is the first of about 400 Japanese underlings who will be brought to trial for war crimes.

Chief defense counsel is Lieut. Col. John Dickinson, of St. Petersburg, Fla. Heading the trial commission is Col. Oliver G. Trechter.

Prosecution's Aims

Tsuchiya stood blinking before the tribunal of beribboned colonels in a small chamber of the courthouse. After he had pleaded innocent, the prosecution said it would prove that Tsuchiya—a guard at the Mitsushima prison camp—participated in the brutal murder of Teas and was guilty of other war crimes.

Major Louis Geffen, the prosecutor, said "Little Glass Eye" took an "inhuman delight in the atrocities."

The defense argued against Ball's participation in the trial shortly before Tsuchiya's arraignment. Ball said, however, that nothing that had happened to him as a prisoner would affect his judgment unless it were connected directly with his personal experiences.

Lost 90 Pounds, He Says

The colonel said he lost 90 pounds during his imprisonment.

The defendant was escorted into the chamber by three white-helmeted MP's. The Japanese was seated at a small table with two members of the American defense counsel, two interpreters, and his own Japanese attorney.

Tsuchiya displayed no emotion.

Major Harold H. Emmons, Jr., of Detroit, assistant defense counsel, attempted to remove two of the specifications against the defendants, but each request was denied by the commission. Emmons contended there was no violation of international law in the charge that the prison guard forced Allied prisoners to slap each other.

30.25-32473

The major argued that the laws of war recognized that prisoners were subject to punishment established by captors for their own troops and that slapping was a popular form of summary punishment in Japan.

David I. Day, Jr., of Rockport, Ind., speaking for the prosecution, countered that the Army Field Manual prohibits any corporeal or cruel punishment.

The trial recessed after the prosecution introduced its first documentary evidence—copies of an exchange of letters between former Secretary of State Cordell Hull and the Japanese, in which both sides agreed to abide by the 1929 Geneva Convention in handling prisoners of war.

Articles of War Void In Jap War Crime Trial

YOKOHAMA, Wednesday, Dec. 19—(AP) In a ruling expected to set an important precedent in all war crimes trials in Japan, a military commission stated today that an "enemy belligerent is, without the protection of a constitutional guarantee and the articles of war do not apply to a commission such as this."

In overruling a defense objection, the commission held that "Congress did not intend that the articles of war be applied to such a commission."

The ruling came in the trial of Tatsuo Tsuchiya, former guard at a prisoner of war camp and the first war criminal suspect to be tried in Japan. The defense objected to introduction of an affidavit by 1st Sgt. Clifton Otto Snodgras, Junction City, Kas. Tsuchiya is charged with assisting in the murder of Pfc. Robert Gordon Teas, Streator, Ill., who was captured on Bataan April 10, 1942, and killed the following February.

Jap Munitions Explode

Yokohama, Dec. 18 (AP)—Eight Japanese were killed and eighteen were injured in the explosion of a three-car ammunition train at Tsujibo railroad station south of here today. The explosives were intended for American demolition. The 8th Army ordered an investigation.

LOAN IS APPROVED BY HOUSE OF LORDS

LONDON, Dec. 18 — (AP) The House of Lords tonight approved acceptance of the $4,400,000,000 United States loan by a vote of 90 to 8, after two days of debate climaxed by caustic opposition from Conservative Lord Beaverbrook.

Immediately after the vote the House approved the Bretton Woods monetary agreement bill, adoption of which was a condition of the U. S. loan. The Bretton Woods agreement, now cleared of its final parliamentary hurdle, is expected to receive royal assent Thursday.

The vote on the loan showed surprisingly light opposition. Approximately 60 members abstained, as advocated by Conservative party leaders. There were about 150 in the chamber when the vote was taken.

Previously the measure had been accepted by Commons by a vote of 345 to 98, and Bretton Woods was approved there by 314 to 50.

Just before the vote was taken, Lord Addison told the peers:

"Any lord who votes for the destruction of this (agreement) is undertaking a terrible responsibility."

Beaverbrook, in an address weighted with sarcasm, told the House Britain should look to the empire for solution of her ills, just as in her trouble in 1940 she looked to the empire.

"Can we not do likewise in peacetime if we are confronted with a financial crisis?" he asked. "It only requires spirit to do it.

Earlier economist Lord Keynes, back from Washington where he negotiated the loan, had told the lords that "on top of Lend Lease," the loan proposals could not be considered "as anything but an act of unprecedented liberality."

Beaverbrook challenged the conditions of the loan, but acknowledged in advance his opposition probably would fail "because the government have the bankers on their side." He challenged both the loan proposal and the Bretton Woods agreement as unacceptable to British economy.

"I make no complaint at all about the Americans advocating the gold standard as a condition of the loan so generously offered," Beaverbrook said, "nor do I deny their altruistic motives in the presentation of Bretton Woods. I am sure they were altruistic motives on the part of the Americans. But they do not just happen to suit the economy of Great Britain and it is on that point I develop my opposition."

With heavy sarcasm which drew laughter he said:

"I deny that the terms are harsh. I do not think the conditions are. Still, I hold the opinion that the loan is reasonably offered and should be gratefully rejected. I think the loan is necessary, but is entirely unnecessary at the present time. There is not the slightest justification for it unless it is Bretton Woods."

Beaverbrook clashed with Lord Keynes when the former quoted a series of sterling balances. Keynes commented sharply:

"After a long life in the jungles of statistics, I have never heard statistics one-fifteenth so phoney."

On Empire Preference

Lord Bennett, former Prime Minister of Canada, expressed concern over withdrawal of the empire preference system in return for tariff concessions.

"Preferences are family matters," he declared amid cheers from Conservative members. "The United States accepted our preferences without any protest, as did several European and South American countries.

"But since 1933 and 1934 the United States has consistently endeavored to destroy those preferences. To have these family preferences settled by other countries than the family countries is essentially wrong."

Keynes Defends U.S. In Bitter Loan Debate

London, Dec. 18 (AP)—Lord Keynes, one of Britain's principal negotiators for the $4,400,000,000 American loan, today asked the House of Lords to "appreciate the motives and purposes of the other side" in weighing the loan terms.

Resuming the two-day debate on the loan and the Bretton Woods monetary stabilization pact, Lord Keynes said:

"Hour Of Degradation"

"I feel sure that serious injustice is being done to the liberal purpose and intense good will toward this country of the American people, as represented by their Administration, and their ardent desire to see this country a strong and effective party in getting a distressed and confused world into the ways of peace and economic order."

Lord Keynes's conciliatory words contrasted with bitter criticism of the loan agreement yesterday by Lord Woolton, former Food Minister in Churchill's War Cabinet, who declared Britain faced "an hour of degradation" and said the loan terms would cause deep animosity toward the United States.

In retort to this, Lord Keynes exclaimed: "What a depth of misunderstanding governs this criticism!" Then he continued:

"It is a complete illusion to suppose that in Washington you have only to mention the principle of equality to get all you want. Americans find postmortem assessment of relative services and sacrifices extremely distasteful and dissatisfying."

Haw Haw Appeal Dismissed By Court Of Last Resort

London, Dec. 18 (AP)—An appeal by William (Lord Haw Haw) Joyce from a death sentence for high treason was dismissed today by the House of Lords, Britain's court of last resort.

Joyce, who broadcast for the Nazis over the Berlin radio, was not in the House when the decision was announced.

His attorneys had based his appeal on the grounds that he was a native of the United States and thus could not be guilty of treason to the British crown.

Amery To Hang Tomorrow

Joyce was the second person to hear this week that his death sentence for treason would not be stayed. The Home Secretary announced yesterday he would not reprieve John Amery, son of the British Secretary of State for India in the Churchill war Cabinet, who also was convicted of being a Nazi broadcaster.

Amery is scheduled to be hanged tomorrow.

The four-member appeal court voted 4 to 1 for dismissal of Joyce's appeal.

Spectator Causes Stir

When the decision was announced, a man sitting in the public gallery cried:

"This man is innocent. I prophesied the death of Hitler and his return."

He was silenced by officials.

Joyce, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., was sentenced at Old Bailey September 20 to die by hanging.

No date has been fixed as yet for his execution.

Joyce's final hope of escaping execution rests with Home Secretary James Chuter Ede, who can recommend a reprieve to the King.

Gale Damages 2 Navy Vessels

London, Dec. 18 (AP)—Two American warships, the aircraft carrier Wasp and the cruiser Augusta, were damaged in a 70-mile-an-hour gale that swept over the mid-Atlantic and battered the coast of England today.

The United States Navy port office at Southampton announced that the Wasp was en route to Southampton to pick up troops when she ran into the storm Sunday. Steel curtains on the hangar deck were washed away.

Damage To The Augusta

The Augusta, en route to the United States from Le Havre with troops, had her starboard side crushed in one or two inches and received similar damage to her bulkheads.

No casualties were reported on either ship.

Port officials said the Wasp was expected to put in at Plymouth this morning for temporary repairs, and that the Augusta had turned back and would arrive at Southampton or Portsmouth later in the day.

Blown Off Dockside

Meanwhile, two persons were blown off the dockside at Aberdeen, Scotland, last night and drowned before rescuers could reach them.

The southwest and west coasts of England have been in the grip of the gale for 24 hours and the Channel has been whipped into a sea of mountainous waves. Boats, unable to reach shore, were riding out the storm with two anchors down.

Storms Slow Battleship

Aboard The U.S.S. Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Storms yesterday slowed the progress of the battleship Washington which is bringing 1,500 highpoint soldiers from Europe to New York.

Following the Washington was the cruiser Portland, out of Le Havre, and ahead of these two ships was the carrier Champlain.

The Washington shipped water as she battled waves churned up by winds reaching 87 miles an hour. Approximately half the GI's aboard were seasick.

GIANT UNO RADIO IN U. S. PROPOSED

London, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—A technical advisory committee of the United Nations Organization recommended today the establishment in the United States of the most powerful radio station in the world to be operated exclusively by the agency to inform all peoples of its "aims and activities." The station would be supervised by UNO through a department of public information.

The technical advisory committee suggested that the United Nations establish a general policy that the press and other existing agencies of information be given the widest possible access to activities and official documents of the United Nations Organization.

Choice of a specific American city as the site for the permanent United Nations Organization headquarters probably will be left up to the general assembly, delegates to the preparatory commission said today.

The United States asked for a four-day postponement of the first session of the United Nations General Assembly which had been set for January 10. Adlai Stevenson of the United States said the delay was asked because the liner Queen Mary had postponed its sailing date from New York from January 2 to January 7. Several Latin American delegations and the United States representatives had booked passage on the liner.

Mayor LaGuardia announced today that he had received a cablegram from London, which informed him that the appropriate committee will give full consideration to additional information concerning the offer of Flushing Meadow Park for a permanent headquarters for the United Nations Organization.

The cablegram was signed by Gladwyn Jebb, executive secretary of the preparatory commission. The Mayor had no comment on the message. It was sent in reply to a cablegram from LaGuardia, Mayor-elect O'Dwyer, Park Commissioner Moses and Grover Whalen.

Halifax Reported Quitting

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP).—Three London newspapers reported today that Lord Halifax, Ambassador to the United States since 1941, would be succeeded soon by Sir Archibald John Kerr Clark Kerr, present British Ambassador to Russia.

A Foreign Office spokesman had no official confirmation, but pointed out that it had been consistently rumored recently that Lord Halifax was anxious to return to England.

Air Chief Marshal Out

LEWES, England, Dec. 18 (AP).—The Royal Air Force announced tonight the retirement of Air Chief Marshal Sir Richard Peirse, fifty-nine, soon after it was disclosed that he had been named co-respondent in an uncontested divorce action brought by General Sir Claude Auchinleck, sixty-one, commander of British forces in India, against Lady Auchinleck.

Peirse formerly was R. A. F. commander in India.

Auchinleck was granted on Monday, a divorce decree nisi and costs at Sussex Assizes.

British Food Chief To Visit U.S.

London, Dec. 18 (AP)—Sir Ben Smith, Minister of Food, said today he was going to the United States to discuss "specific food problems" after the adjournment of Parliament December 20.

Churchill Reported Coming to U. S.

London, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—The London Star said today that Winston Churchill would leave for a three-month lecture tour of the United States soon after Parliament adjourns for Christmas December 20. Churchill's secretary declined to confirm or deny the report, but said the wartime Prime Minister would take a holiday soon.

The Star said Churchill's lectures would give glimpses of the war from the inside and of his associations with President Roosevelt.

The Daily Sketch also reported that Churchill would visit the United States and said former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden would be Conservative party leader during his absence.

BRITAIN REVEALS ROCKET DAMAGE

London, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—The Ministry of Health said today that every German rocket bomb that fell on London during the war damaged an average of 600 to 700 family dwellings. Each flying bomb damaged about 400 dwellings.

The census of June 30, 1944, showed that 462,000 persons slept regularly in public shelters.

Britain to Relax Shipping Controls

London, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—The Government told Commons today it planned to relax wartime controls of merchant shipping after March 2, 1946, but said some form of supervision would be maintained to insure sufficient tonnage to maintain imports.

GUARDS' FEARS AIRED AT TRIAL

GI Testifies At Court-Martial Probing Brutality Charges

London, Dec. 18 (AP) — United States Army Staff Sergeant Ashur H. Baizer, of New York, testified today that military guards at the Litchfield (England) replacement depot lived in constant fear of being imprisoned themselves if they were not "tough enough" with prisoners.

Baizer was called in the court-martial of Sergt. Judson H. Smith, first of twelve Litchfield guards to be tried on charges of brutal treatment of prisoners.

"Guards All Scared To Death"

Baizer said he heard an officer tell the guardhouse staff that "if they weren't tough enough they might find themselves behind bars."

"The guards were all scared to death," he declared.

Other witnesses added to the accounts of clubbings and punishments that have been described by a series of enlisted men confined at Litchfield before returning to combat during the last year of the war.

Pfc. John P. Buckmaster, of Miami, Okla., who flew here from France to testify, said he saw a Negro soldier clubbed to his knees by two sergeants in the guardhouse.

Other Charges Listed

The prosecution has begun an attempt to show a Negro soldier died of head injuries two days after being released from Litchfield.

Other witnesses told today of being held fourteen days on bread and water in solitary confinement for failure to eat a burned potato, and of being forced to stand motionless facing a wall for eight consecutive hours.

Pope's Message To Be Broadcast

London, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Vatican radio said tonight that an English version of Pope Piux XII's message to the College of Cardinals on Christmas Eve will be broadcast on a wave length of 31.06 meters immediately following the Pontiff's talk, scheduled for 5 P.M., Eastern Standard Time.

Swiss Urged to Keep Armed

BERN, Dec. 18 (AP).—Dr. Karl Kobelt, Swiss President for 1946, told the Naitonal Council today he would not speculate on a clash between the Western and Eastern nations, but urged Switzerland to "remain armed for all eventualities." He asked the Lower House to approve a military budget of 800,000,000 Swiss francs ($188,139,000). He said Switzerland, traditionally neutral, must be prepared to defend itself "in case of a clash between the United Nations themselves."

French Public Service Workers' Strike Averted

Paris, Dec. 18 (AP)—A threatened general strike by 2,000,000 French public service workers apparently was averted today when the Constituent Assembly voted support to the Government program calling for higher wages.

The program would give graduated increases to workers in large cities and heads of families. The union had asked a flat 1,000-franc ($20) monthly increase for its membership.

SIX U.S. DIVISIONS ARE ABOARD SHIPS

PARIS, Dec. 18—(AP) Elements of six U. S. Army divisions were aboard ships enroute home today, theater service forces headquarters announced.

These were. 69th infantry division, most of which is already home; 26th, 36th, 89th and 90th infantry divisions, which are already on the high seas; and the 82nd airborne division, which is shuttling to England for reshipment home.

The 80th infantry division was in the LeHavre staging area. 7,500 of its personnel will go home via England; the remainder will sail directly for America. First elements of the 100th infantry division were at the Marseille staging area, the announcement said.

Other outfits alerted for shipment the 29th, 84th and 94th infantry divisions, the Second Armored division and the 22nd corps headquarters.

Bombs Blocked Suez 76 Days

Paris, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Suez Canal was blocked for 76 days during the war and the Mediterranean lay landlocked to the east, stockholders of the waterway learned today.

A dryly worded report said two sunken hulks still narrow the canal channel. They are the last of 26 ships sunk in the canal in 64 German air attacks.

The Germans bombed ships in the channel twenty times and laid mines in the canal on seventeen other occasions. Three times the canal was paralyzed for more than eight days and was knocked out for shorter periods on numerous occasions.

Directors of the international concern said canal traffic had fallen to such an extent in 1940, 1941 and 1942 that the company could pay no interest or amortization on capital for those three years.

Company officials said privately they expected profits for the 1943-1945 period.

The last time shareholders of the Suez Canal met was on June 3, 1940, while German bombers were attacking the Renault works outside Paris. Ten days later, the French capital and the headquarters of the canal were in German hands.

JUDGES IRKED AT WAR TRIAL

Criticize U.S. Case Against Lower-Level Nazi Groups

Nuernberg, Dec. 18 (AP)—Openly irritated judges on the international military tribunal heckled American prosecutors today over the abundance of documentary evidence, and cast doubts on parts of the United States case against lower-level Nazi groups which the prosecution seeks to convict along with the 21 Nazi leaders.

Justice Robert H. Jackson's staff completed the case against the Nazi party leadership corps.

But numerous questions from the bench indicated that the judges thought knowledge of the over-all Nazi program of domination and extermination did not filter down into lower elements of the corps as the prosecution charged.

Justice Lawrence Objects

As an assistant United States prosecutor, Robert G. Storey, took up the case against the Nazi Cabinet, Lord Justice Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding, complained that the bulk of the evidence Colonel Storey offered was cumulative.

When Colonel Storey started reading a list of those who participated in Nazi Cabinet defense council meetings, Justice Francis J. Biddle inquired caustically: "What will that show?"

The prosecution said it would show the roles of the accused in issuing decrees. Biddle queried again: "And what will that show?"

Two more sharp interruptions came from Lawrence, who said the prosecution was laboring to prove obvious facts, and that the question was: "What is the criminality of Reich Cabinet acts?"

Americans Stand Alone

Storey discarded part of his script and plunged into the process of Nazi lawmaking, only to be interrupted by Lawrence, who demanded:

"And what does that have to do with the criminality of the Reich Cabinet? . . . I think the tribunal can take it as evidence that the Cabinet, before passing laws, consulted somebody."

The present phase of the trial—that of presenting evidence against the principal Nazi organizations—has been one of the hottest legal problems of the trial, with the Americans standing alone in an effort to punish a half-million or more Nazi underlings for their part in the vast party program of persecution and extermination.

Storey had just started prosecution of the Brown Shirt Storm Troopers when the court adjourned for the day.

Letter Presented

From his great wealth of documents he introduced a series of pictures of Hitler, Hermann Goering and others in SA uniforms, and brought another caustic comment from Lawrence, who asked whether there was "any doubt that Hitler and Goering were members of the SA."

Earlier in the day Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi propagandist, and Goering were described as common thieves who had vied with each other in stealing works of art from helpless, conquered peoples.

Storey presented a letter from Rosenberg to Hitler, in which the Führer was promised twenty pictures from great stocks of loot, "with the hope"—said Rosenberg—"that this short occupation with beautiful things will send a ray of beauty and joy into your revered life."

Kaltenbrunner Stricken Again

Ernest Kaltenbrunner, one-time Nazi chief of the criminal police, who has been absent from the defendants' box for the past two days, has had another cranial hemorrhage. An official medical report said he may have to be returned to an army hospital.

Kaltenbrunner was excused from the proceedings when he complained of severe headaches. Tests of spinal fluid disclosed a subarachnoid hemorrhage (hemorrhage of the middle-brain membrane), similar to the one he suffered last month, two days before the opening of the trial.

U. S. OUTLINES GERMAN PLOT AGAINST JEWS

Also Gives Details of Plan to Wipe Out Churches of Christians.

MINOR OFFICIALS INVOLVED

Court Again Shows Impatience With Evidence Presented by Prosecution.

Nuernberg, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Seeking conviction of thousands of minor Nazi party officials as war criminals along with Hitler's top leaders, American prosecutors today outlined details of an alleged Nazi plot to exterminate the Jews and wipe out the influence of Christian churches in Germany and the rest of Europe.

Orders for anti-Jewish pogroms and confiscation of Christian church properties were carried out through the 600,000 members of the Nazi Leadership Corps who spread Hitler's anti-religious doctrines throughout Germany, according to evidence laid before the International Military Tribunal.

The score of top Nazi leaders on trial for war crimes listened intently as American prosecutors also demanded the conviction of members of the Leadership Corps and five other Nazi organizations for carrying out the orders of Hitler's inner circle.

Meanwhile, Ernst Kaltenbrunner, one of the Nazi defendants, suffered another cerebral hemorrhage today and officers of the International Military Tribunal announced he might have to be returned to an army hospital. Kaltenbrunner, former chief of the Nazi security police, had been absent from the courtroom for the last two days because of severe headaches.

Tests of the spinal fluid today disclosed a second hemorrhage, medical authorities reported. Kaltenbrunner suffered his first hemorrhage two days before the trial began and did not take his place in the prisoners' box until last week.

Organized Pogroms

Relating how Nazi party leaders secretly inspired pogroms, Col. Robert G. Storey, assistant United States prosecutor, read a directive from party headquarters at the Munich Brown House that "the party should not appear outwardly as the originator of the demonstrations but in reality should organize and execute them."

Answering questions of Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding, as to how the low-ranking Nazi block leaders could have been responsible for orders from high party leaders, Colonel Storey declared that the block leaders, who numbered more than 450,000, received their orders verbally and thus there were few documents linking them directly with Nazi policy.

Tribunal Doubts

The tribunal indicated some doubt that minor Nazi officials shared in war guilt with their leaders. Justice Lawrence yesterday questioned the prosecution's evidence that Heinrich Himmler's Gestapo was ordered to co-operate with Gauleiters in staging anti-Jewish demonstrations.

Lawrence remarked that this seemed to him to be a police rather than a party affair.

Colonel Storey charged that Alfred Rosenberg, official philosopher of the Nazi party, and Martin Bormann, Hitler's missing deputy who is being tried in absentia, were the leaders in the Nazi attack on the church.

The prosecutor produced a directive from Bormann to Rosenberg for closing eleven Catholic theological schools.

Colonel Storey named Rosenberg as the leader in the looting of art treasures from European museums "for the cultural impoverishment of virtually every community in Europe and enrichment of Germany."

Other prominent figures in the art looting named by the prosecutor were Goering, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel and Hans Frank, Nazi Governor of Poland. Introduced was a Goering directive ordering the air force to transport art treasures from the Louvre in Paris to Germany.

Telling of the wholesale rush among Nazi leaders to put their hands on as many art treasures as possible, Colonel Storey introduced evidence of a falling out between Goering and Rosenberg. Letters showed that they clashed at least once over who should get certain art works.

Promise To Hitler

Another document submitted to the court was a Rosenberg letter to Hitler promising to give him twenty paintings "with the hope this short occupation with beautiful things of art which are nearest to your heart will send a ray of beauty and joy into your revered life."

Turning to the prosecution's charge that members of the Reich Cabinet should be considered war criminals, Colonel Storey produced documents to show that chiefs of the armed forces were in the Cabinet and that 17 of the 21 defendants on trial held Cabinet posts at one time or another.

As the prosecution's evidence unfolded, Justice Lawrence and Justice Francis Biddle, United States representative of the tribunal, became increasingly critical of the presentation, complaining that evidence was "cumulative" and declaring that minute proving of known facts was unnecessary.

30.24-32475

3 MILLION NAZIS LOST IN 5 YEARS

Secret German Report at End of 1944 Showed Big Drain on Manpower.

NUERNBERG, Dec. 18.—(AP) The German army high command admitted secretly just before its last great gamble, the Ardennes counter-attack, that Germany had lost 3,554,284 men killed or missing in action—65 per cent of them on the Soviet front in more than five years of war, it was learned today from a Nazi document.

Prepared for the Fuehrer's headquarters, this casualty report by the intelligence branch of the German army indicated that Hitler publicly told the truth about the low price in Teutonic lives he paid for conquering Poland, but was an inveterate liar thereafter.

729,031 Hospitalized

The report did not include wounded, as American Army tabulations do, but an attached note stated there were 729,031 Wehrmacht wounded and sick hospitalized in the Reich at the time.

Soviet officials have said that German casualties in the east, including dead, wounded, captured and missing, reached 12,000,000. The Wehrmacht report covering eastern operations up to November 30, 1944 listed 1,410,728 dead and 907,050 missing.

Military men estimate that the wounded usually number four times as many as the dead. Applied to the Wehrmacht report, this formula would mean adding more than 5,500,000 to the dead and missing figure of nearly 2,500,000 for a grand total of approximately 8,000,000 in the east.

Document At Nuernberg

Hitler's last public remarks on Wehrmacht losses were made August 11, 1942, when he said 350,000 Germans had been killed in the war up to that time. He gave no figures on wounded or missing.

However, the Wehrmacht statistics listed 701,734 Army, Navy and Air Force dead for the same period—double what Hitler had reported.

The formerly highly confidential document is among thousands now at Nuernberg Palace of Justice, but none of the four prosecuting powers has chosen to present it to the international military tribunal trying 21 defendants on war-crimes charges.

A special chart accompanied the tabulations to show the Führer graphically how much German Army manhood had been expended on the series of fronts from 1939 to the Winter of 1944-45.

Losses By Fronts

It listed:

Polish Campaign—16,843 dead, 320 missing. Hitler himself had announced total casualties of 44,303, including wounded, at the conclusion of this 27-day campaign.

Africa—10,013 dead (this figure is blurred on the photosatic copy which is available), 90,052 missing. British sources have estimated German casualties in Africa and the Middle East at 150,000, a total nearly reached if wounded are added to the German figures at the rate of four to each man killed.

The Western Front Up to June 1, 1944, Six Days Before D-day—66,106 dead, 3,218 missing. This included the "phony" war of the Winter of 1939-40, the seizure of Denmark, Norway, Holland and Belgium and the collapse of France, repelling of the Dieppe landing and all other ground activity during this pediod.

Later Losses In West

Western Front From June to December 1, 1944—54,764 dead, 338,033 missing. Immediately afterward came the Battle of the Bulge, in which American forces estimated they killed possibly 50,000 Germans.

South Front (Italy and Sicily)—47,873 dead, 97,154 missing.

Southeast Front (the Balkans and Greek islands)—24,207 dead, 12,060 missing. This included the conquest of Yugoslavia, Greece and Crete and subsequent operations against guerrilla armies. Hitler had asserted that he won the Balkans with 6,056 casualties.

A breakdown of losses by services in another table showed the Army losing more than 3,000,000 killed by enemy action or missing, while the Luftwaffe lost 288,039 and the Navy 77,498.

Death Foiled Revolt in Ireland

Nazis Had Agent in U-boat Bound for Eire as Base for Sabotage Against British.

Nuernberg, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—The mysterious death of an Irish revolutionary agent aboard a German U-boat foiled Nazi plans to promote a revolution in Ireland and to sabotage British industries from Irish bases, according to Nazi Major-Gen. Edwin Lahousen.

Lahousen, erstwhile German intelligence official who is a prosecution witness at the war crimes trial here, said in an interview that the Nazis planned to stir up revolt through the outlawed Irish Republican Army. The revolution, he said, was to be timed to occur when the Nazis invaded Britain. This was to be preceded by sabotage operations conducted against British war industries by agents operating from Irish bases and assisted by the Irish Republican Army.

Lahousen said that the key revolutionary figure, whose death put a permanent crimp in Nazi intrigue, was an Irish-American in the I. R. A. This agent worked his way from New York to Genoa, Italy, on a United States merchant ship, and went to German after contacting Nazi intelligence officers, Lahousen added.

After German operatives were sent to Ireland, the I. R. A. agent was put aboard a submarine on August 6, 1940, for an undisclosed point on the Irish coast, Lahousen said.

"The U-boat had only been gone a very few hours when it sent a radio message that the agent had suddenly died," he continued. "There was great excitement caused by this in the Foreign Office. . . . An investigation showed the man had died of illness of the stomach, which in connection with his high state of excitement had proved too much for him."

Admiral Walter W. Canaris, the Greek-born chief of German intelligence who subsequently was hanged for participation in the 1944 bomb plot against Hitler, was accused by the German Foreign Office of poisoning the agent, Lahousen said.

"I can say that however mysterious this whole affair was it was absolutely out of the question that Canaris poisoned him," he added.

Campaign Ribbons Given To War Correspondents

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 18 (AP). European, African and Middle Eastern campaign ribbons were awarded today to 314 civilian war correspondents "for outstanding and conspicuous service with the armed forces under difficult and hazardous combat conditions."

Eight awards were made posthumously to Bede Irvin, Associated Press photographer; Harold Denny, New York Times; Jack Frankish, United Press; Harold Wykulick, Popular Science; David Lardner, New Yorker; Gaston Madru, Newsreel Pool; Ernie Pyle, United Features; and Thomas S. Treanor, Los Angeles Times.

Those who received ribbons for service with the Associated Press were Hal Boyle, Franklyn Banker, Horace Cort, Ruth Cowan, Kenneth Dixon, Howell Dodd, Roger D. Greene, Dan Grossi, Harry Harris, Lewis Hawkins, Henry B. Jameson, Byron Rollins, Wade Werner, William S. White, Don Whitehead, Thoburn Wiant.

Also to Tom Yarbrough, Larry Allen, Edward D. Ball, William F. Boni, Peter Carroll, Charles Chamberlain, Howard Cowan, Robert Eunson, William Frye, J. W. Gallagher, A. I. Goldberg, Henry Griffin, Louis P. Lochner, Pugh Moore, Ned Nordness, Alex Singleton, Alvin J. Steinkopf, Robert C. Wilson and Edward Worth.

Berlin's Union Members Allowed Secret Ballot

Berlin, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Allied kommandanture granted permission today to the 300,000 trade union members in Berlin to hold free elections by secret ballot.

An Allied spokesman said the action marked a "milestone in putting Germany on a democratic basis."

Nominations will not be restricted.

FIRST AIRBORNE TO DISBAND

BERLIN, Dec. 18 — (AP) The First Airborne army will be disbanded effective Jan. 1, with the 78th infantry division assuming the responsibility and control of the activities of the American headquarters in the Berlin district, it was announced officially tonight.

German Youths Taken In 2-Hour Gun Battle

Dusseldorf, Germany, Dec. 18 (AP)—Eleven German youths between 15 and 19 were arrested last night after a two-hour gun battle with British military police and German civil police.

Some of the Germans, suspected of carrying out recent robberies, were wounded.

Patton Continues Gain, Shoulder Muscles Better

The Motor Functions of Upper Chest Also Improved

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 18 (AP).—General George S. Patton Jr. continued to gain today, and his general condition remains excellent, bulletins on the United States 15th Army commander's progress said.

General Patton, partially paralyzed in an automobile crash near Mannheim, is showing gradual improvement in his motor functions, particularly about the shoulders and upper chest, a report said.

Mass Graves Opened In Saxony

Berlin, Dec. 18 (AP) — Soviet authorities said today a number of mass graves had been opened at Bautzen, in Saxony, which contained the bodies of concentration-camp inmates slain by the SS (Elite Guard). The first of the graves yielded fourteen bodies.

NAZI DENIES CHARGE

Aurich, Germany, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—SS Major-Gen. Kurt Meyer denied before a Canadian military court today that he had instructed his troops in Normandy last year not to take prisoners.

The German is on trial, accused of direct responsibility for the shooting of forty-eight Canadian prisoners of war. Meyer told the court he wished to call witnesses.

33,217 Enlist in Europe

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 18 (AP).—Lieutenant Colonel M. Burke, recruiting officer in t European theater, said today 33,217 American troops had listed in that area.

Austria Begins Second Venture As Democracy

Parliament to Meet Today; Figl Is First Chancellor; Cabinet List Approved

VIENNA, Dec. 18 (AP).—The Allied Council for Austria gave its approval blessing today to the new Second Austrian Republic, and the newly elected Parliament will meet for the first time tomorrow.

The new government, faced with the difficult task of charting the road to national recovery, will line up as follows:

Leopold Figl, Chancellor; Karl Renner, President of the Republic; Adolf Schaerf, Vice-Chancellor; Figl, Foreign Minister, with Karl Grumer as Under-Secretary; Louis Weinberger, Minister without portfolio; Oskar Helmer, Interior Minister, with Ferdinand Graf as Secretary of State in the Ministry; Felix Hurdes, Education Minister; Josef Kraus, Agriculture Minister; Eugene Fleichhacker, Construction Minister; Vincenz Uebleis, Transport Minister; Karl Altmann, Power and Electrification Minister; Karl Maisel, Social Administration and Peter Kraulain, Property Protection and Economic Planning, with Karl Waldbrunner as his Secretary of State.

The Parliament will hear an address by Renner, who served as Chancellor since the provisional government was formed soon after the entry of the Russians into Vienna. Renner was scheduled to be elected President of the Second Republic by the Parliament, after which he was to install the new Cabinet.

Figl, the new Chancellor, will address the Parliament Friday, setting forth his program.

The new Cabinet was the second named by Figl, the first having foundered on Allied Council objections to three proposed members because of statements made by them during the recent elections.

The new government is a coalition of three political parties, although only the Minister of Power and Electrification is a Communist. Eight Cabinet members are from the dominant People's party, the right-wing group. Five are Socialists.

Storm Lashes Portugal.

Lisbon, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—A 75-mile-an-hour wind sank small Portuguese craft, wrecked plantations and washed waves of the Tagus River into the lower areas of Lisbon today. Peasants living around Mount Caparica became panic stricken and fled their homes, fearing an eruption.

FUTURE MEETINGS OF BIG THREE ARE FAVORED BY REDS

MOSCOW, Dec. 18. — (AP) As Foreign Ministers of the United States, Britain and Soviet Russia met for their third formal session today, the Moscow newspaper "New Times" indicated Russia would favor continued meetings of the Big Three powers in the interests of world collaboration.

Referring to recent proposals that veto rights of the five major nations on the United Nations Security Council be abolished, the New Times called this an "attempt to balk on firm collaboration of peace-loving great powers," and an attempt to "transfer international policy to new rails" which "cannot lead peoples to a way of reliable peace."

The New Times which frequently devotes itself to foreign policy discussion, said the tendency toward a shift of responsibility from the great powers to the United Nations as a whole had gone so far in some circles that some organs of the foreign press were seriously discussing whether "Big Three" meetings were needed or not.

Conceding that the atomic bomb had introduced something new into international relations, the New Times asked: "But is firm collaboration of the great powers in the interests of international peace less necessary under the new conditions? Isn't it rather the reverse?"

Sticking to their conference schedule, the United States Secretary of State, James F. Byrnes, and the British Foreign Secretary, Ernest Bevin, resumed their talks with the Soviet Foreign Commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov, at 4 P.M., in the white and gold conference room of Speridonifka Palace.

Stalin Back In Kremlin

Issues directly affecting world peace and prosperity were on their agenda, although it was felt that the foreign ministers were looking less for immediate concrete agreements than for free exchange of ideas on such things as atomic energy and better understanding between the great powers.

Russians learned that Generalissimo Stalin was back at the Kremlin today after a 68-day vacation on the Black Sea.

Byrnes and Bevin, both concerned with rumors abroad, were assured by high Soviet officials that Stalin is in good health, and were expected to call and pay their respects.

Bad Weather Grounds Planes

Meanwhile, the British Embassy here said there was some possibility that three aircraft carrying members of Bevin's party would arrive soon in Moscow from Berlin. The planes were grounded by bad weather.

Similarly, a British plane which has been trying for several days to take off for London with first documents of the foreign ministers' meeting has been unable to get away because of fog.

STALIN ON JOB AS MINISTERS CONFER ANEW

Generalissimo Returns to Moscow After 68-Day Vacation in South.

BIG THREE CONTINUES TALKS

Feeling of Reserved Optimism Seems to Prevail After Second Meeting.

Moscow, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Generalissimo Stalin, rested by a long vacation, was back at his desk today as the Foreign Ministers of Soviet Russia, Great Britain and the United States prepared for their third formal session on world problems with a feeling of reserved optimism.

Stalin returned from his sixty-eight-day holiday yesterday, just four days before his sixty-sixth birthday and plunged immediately into his duties as President of the Council of People's Commissars.

His long absence from the Kremlin had given rise to rumors abroad that he was ill, but these reports had been denied both by Soviet officials and by United States Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, who visited him at his Black Sea retreat near Sochi. Harriman reported on his return that he had found Stalin in excellent health and enjoying his holiday. Similar assurances as to the Generalissimo's health were given only two days ago to United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin by high Soviet officials.

Stalin's return was announced by a brief statement published in all Moscow newspapers, saying:

"Yesterday, December 17, the President of the Council of People's Commissars, U. S. S. R., Comrade Stalin, returned from his vacation to Moscow and entered upon the fulfillment of his duties."

The announcement came as the "Big Three" foreign ministers, meeting here since Sunday, finished their preliminary talks and prepared to get down to discussion of some of the basic issues of world peace and prosperity which were believed to be on their agenda.

Both Byrnes and Bevin were said by diplomatic observers to have emerged from yesterday's meeting with a feeling of reserved optimism, looking not so much for concrete agreements in the future sessions as for a free exchange of ideas on such problems as control of atomic energy and a better understanding between the great Powers.

Yesterday's meeting, presided over by Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov as permanent chairman, lasted two hours and fifteen minutes. There was no announcement of the progress made, but an observer said the ministers met in an atmosphere of "serious, businesslike discussion." The three conferees left the meeting in what appeared to be good humor.

Editorial Opinion

Meanwhile, the New Times, important Soviet semi-monthly publication of political opinion, declared in an editorial that "the responsibility for peace in the coming atomic century is bigger than ever before" and the peace-loving nations should prove now that they can collaborate on a lasting basis.

Asserting that the will of the Soviet Union for close international collaboration "is unshaken," the editorial said "other countries" should cast aside "attempts to find a way out of the situation by methods which have nothing in common with the spirit of unanimity and accord in which great powers should act to provide peace and security."

Britons Might Arrive

The British Embassy said there was some possibility that members of Bevin's official party, grounded in Berlin since their three planes were forced to turn back Saturday because of bad weather, might arrive today.

A British plane that has been trying to leave Moscow for London since Sunday, with the first documents of the Foreign Ministers' meeting, was unable to take off this morning because of fog.

Mass Shootings Laid To Nazis In Smolensk

Moscow, Dec. 18 (AP) — Infants snatched from their mothers were hurled against stone walls and killed, and Germans twice weekly during one period of the occupation carried on systematic shootings of large groups of men, women and children, witnesses testified today as the Smolensk war-crimes trial of ten Germans entered its third day.

One woman witness said that after the mass shootings in Smolensk, on Thursdays and Saturdays, a "gas wagon" regularly hauled loads of corpses to a big ditch and dumped the bodies there.

She said the Germans tore babies from their mothers and hurled the infants into the wagon.

Killed 160 in Own Tank; He Drove; She Bossed

MOSCOW, Dec. 18 (AP).—A married couple who bought their own tank, with Premier Stalin's permission, and used it to kill 160 enemy soldiers, have been demobilized from the Red Army.

The couple, Lieutenant Ivan Fyedorovokh Boiko and his wife, Senior Lieutenant Alexandra Boiko, used the tank in campaigns in Poland, Germany, Romania and Czechoslovakia. The wife commanded the tank, her husband drove.

PREMIER VOWS WAR ON IRANIAN REBELS

Will Protest to Big Three on Azerbaijan Autonomy—Memo Assails Soviet Disclaimer

By The Associated Press.

TEHERAN, Iran, Dec. 18—Prime Minister Ebrahim Hakimi told the Iranian Parliament today that he would take "strong measures" against insurgents who have set up a Government in Azerbaijan Province, and would not permit them "to bring this country to ruin through terror, murder and rebellion." [The United Press reported that the Premier had said he would "never recognize the so-called Azerbaijan Government."]

He said he would appeal again to the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain to withdraw their occupation troops from Iran as soon as possible. He added, "I still intend to go to Moscow," where the Big Three foreign secretaries are meeting.

His unscheduled speech came shortly after the Government, in a statement addressed to foreign embassies, had charged that armed adventurers in Azerbaijan have taken advantage of the presence of foreign forces and engaged, under a treacherous title of democracy, in an armed uprising against the monarch and democratic Government of Iran.

The Government's statement disputed the claim in a Soviet memorandum, addressed to the United States Government, that "events which have recently taken place in Iran do not constitute any armed uprising nor even any action against the imperial Iranian Government."

The Soviet statement "is by no means consistent with the facts," the Government said.

[In London the Iranian delegate to the United Nations Preparatory Commission, Nasrullah Entizam, said his Government was considering a protest to the United Nations General Assembly in January over what he termed Soviet intervention in Azerbaijan Province.]

Premier Hakimi said in Parliament that all true Iranians wished "to maintain the integrity and greatness of their native land and oppose the acts and treacherous propaganda carried out by a band of adventurers." "I will not allow these acts and propaganda to set fire to this country," he continued.

The Government statement was issued under the title, "Observations of the Iranian Government on the Contents of a Memorandum Addressed by the Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs to the United States Government." It referred to the Soviet reply to a United States note on the Azerbaijan situation.

Says Outsiders Form Regime

The statement said that the Government in Azerbaijan was not made up of inhabitants of the province and that the founder of the insurgents' Democratic party was "a member of the Communist party in Baku [Soviet Union] named Idalat."

The document presented a list of what it called specific acts of violence and claimed "people of doubtful character" were terrorizing and terrifying the people of the province and "imprisoning and tormenting Government officials."

An observer just back from Azerbaijan said that the Democratic party there had "openly announced" it was supported by the Soviet Union. He quoted the Premier of the Azerbaijan Government, Jafar Pishehvari, as having said the party "had been able and is now able to develop its program by support of the Soviet." The Premier was said to have added: "Why not? Is it the first time in modern history that a foreign power has aided another country in its struggles against oppression?"

This source said Soviet troops had mounted guard before party headquarters in Tabriz, Iran's second city and capital of Azerbaijan, now entirely in the hands of the insurgents, and that Russian troops "always are stationed near the party's meeting places." The Russian commander there, this source said, "ordered Iranian troops and gendarmerie not to leave the city without his permission."

The observer quoted Mr. Pishehvari as having said the province would "continue to honor the Iranian flag, give allegiance to the same sovereign and use the present national currency," but as having added, "We will insist on collecting our own taxes, administering funds collected here and directing public affairs which in the past caused our wealth to be spent in Teheran while our own people suffered poverty, neglect and the evils resulting from absentee land ownership."

The informant said he believed the insurgents were ready to spread their movement to neighboring provinces.

The government's statement, describing Azerbaijan incidents, said these included: "The murder of Yahyapur, governor of Maragheh, one of the old and notable members of the staff of the Ministry of the Interior and a member of one of the old families of Azerbaijan."

80 Natives Dead In Java Clash With British

Batavia, Dec. 18 (AP)—At least 80 Indonesians were killed yesterday in bitter hand-to-hand fighting at Buitenzorg with a British Indian column, which suffered 32 casualties, the newspaper of the 23d Indian Division reported today.

Three Indians were killed. A British officer and 28 Indians were wounded when the column encountered a road block 30 miles south of Batavia, the newspaper Fighting Cock said. The Indonesians were estimated to total 300.

An official British press statement issued earlier minimized the action and did not list the Indonesian casualties, asserting that two British troops were killed and five were wounded. The Indonesians were armed with machine guns and rifles.

Europeans Evacuated

Two hundred fifty Europeans and Eurasians were evacuated from Bandoeng. Some of the évacuées said that Indonesians seized 32 persons there December 9, and that nothing had been heard from them since.

Indonesians were reported to have occupied Ambarawa, which was evacuated recently by the British.

An RAF Thunderbolt was shot down yesterday near Soerabaja, but the pilot was reported to have bailed out successfully. An RAF spokesman said that Indonesian anti-aircraft gunners were inflicting heavier proportional losses than the Japanese were able to do in Burma.

80 JAVA NATIVES DIE IN CLOSE FIGHT

Indian Army Newspaper Tells Of Hand-To-Hand Clash

Batavia, Java, Dec. 18 (AP)—Bitter hand-to-hand fighting between British Indian troops and 300 Indonesians, in which at least 80 of the native force were killed, was reported today by the unit newspaper of the 23d Indian Division.

Describing the battle, which took place yesterday near Buitenzorg, about 30 miles south of here in western Java, the newspaper said Indonesian dead might total 100. Their own dead were put at three, with one British officer and 28 Indian soldiers wounded. The clash occured at an Indonesian roadblock.

British reconnaissance reports said Indonesian forces had occupied Semarang, in north central Java, recently evacuated by British forces, and that there were no signs of the town's normal population.

American Ships Used

30.24-32477

British - chartered, American-manned Victory ships were reported evacuating 3,600 refugees from the Semarang area in north central Java. Dutch officials said 1,800 were brought to Batavia and that the others would be shipped to Siam.

Merchant Marine Lieutenant (jg) Anthony R. Sammak, of North Bergen, N.J., said the ships, Winchester Victory and Lake Charles Victory, had been assigned to British service with eight others in return for use of the Queen Mary to transport United States troops.

He said his ship previously had been assigned to taking French troops from Marseille to Saigon, Indo-China, and that a crew committee had protested use of the ship for other than United States troops in two letters to President Truman, one sent from Port Said, Egypt, and the other from Saigon.

1,800 Dutch Refugees Arrive

BATAVIA, Dec. 18 (AP).—Eighteen hundred Dutch refugees from Semarang arrived here today on the United States - owned and American - manned Victory ship Winchester.

Dutch officials said another United States Victory ship, the Lake Charles, was evacuating another 1,800 from Semarang direct to Siam.

Chinese Rift's End Seen Possible

Chungking, Dec. 18 (AP)—The head of the Chinese Communist peace delegation declared today that a halt to civil warfare was China's first need, and peaceful national reconstruction was her second.

For that reason, Gen. Chou En-lai told correspondents, he would seek a cessation of hostilities before the all-party political consultative council convokes its peace session.

He said the Communists had their own plans for stopping civil strife, but declined to disclose them.

Want General Election

He also announced that the Communists would demand an open general election for the National Assembly, which he said was selected before the war with Japan and it no longer was representative.

The seriousness of the situation in China, Chou continued, was well known, adding:

"In a word, there is civil war. We will demand cessation of hostilities. This is in comformity with the desires of the Chinese people."

Communist Desires

The high-ranking Communist said his party wants "political democracy, nationalization of the Chinese Army, and legal status for all political parties," asserting that was the will of China's people and Allied governments.

Gen. Yeh Chien-ying, chief of staff of the famed Communist 8th Route Army, said his presence in Chungking, instead of at the front, indicated the Communists want to halt the fighting.

Yeh declared the Communists were as anxious for peace as was President Truman.

Want Meeting Date Also

The Communist leader said he would demand that, in addition to a new National Assembly election, a date be fixed for its convocation.

The Central Government already has fixed the date for May 5, and the Communists want it convoked later. It will be charged with the task of revising China's constitution.

Meanwhile, both Government and Communist quarters expressed surprise that stories had been published abroad saying that all fighting had ceased on Chinese fronts for the past 72 hours.

COMMUNIST CHIEF SEES NEED FOR END OF CHINA FIGHTING

CHUNGKING, Dec. 18. — (AP) China's No. 2 Communist, here to talk peace with the nation's leaders, said today that an end to civil warfare was China's first need and that the seven-man delegation he heads would "demand cessation of hostilities."

Gen. Chou En-Lai told newsmen he would seek a cease-fighting agreement before the all-party political consultative council begins its formal peace session. Failing that, he added, he would insist that a truce be made the first item on the council's agenda. A date for the session has not yet been set.

Chou summarized Chinese Communist aims as "political democracy, nationalization of the Chinese army, and legal status for all political parties."

Warfare in Shantung

Chinese press dispatches meanwhile reported "ferocious" fighting in southern Shantung province, where Communists were said to have captured the important town of Tenghsien, on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad midway between Nanking and Tientsin.

The Generalissimo and Madame Chiang returned triumphantly today to Nanking from which they were forced by the Japanese to flee in 1937. A semi-official dispatch said they flew to the former capital from Peiping in Chiang's special plane.

Before he left Peiping, Chiang said in a brief radio address that a "particular friendship" existed between the peoples and armed forces of China and the United States and that their continued close relationship would help preserve world peace.

He made no reference in his address to President Truman's recent statement of policy toward China. Later, at a press conference just before he and Madame Chiang boarded their plane, he declared Mr. Truman's pronouncement showed that "the President of the United States has a very clear understanding of the present situation in China."

The generalissimo added:

"A broadening of the base of China's government (one of the reforms urged by Mr. Truman) already has been brought near in a speech I made last March 1, and would be one of the purposes of the national assembly" convoked for next May.

The New Szechwan daily said the government soon would liberate "Young Marshal" Chang Hsueh-Liang, who has been under surveillance since the time he kidnaped Chiang Kai-Shek in a pre-war coup. The newspaper stated the central government now planned to use Chang Hsueh-Liang's influence in Manchuria in the restoration of Chungking's control over that liberated territory.

No Troops In Mukden Yet, Chiang Reports

Peiping, Dec. 17 [AP—Delayed]—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's provincial headquarters said today that contrary to previous reports there were no Central Government troops in Mukden.

Furthermore, the announcement said, diplomatic and military preparations for the occupation of that biggest city in Manchuria had yet to be completed.

[Previous Chungking reports said that not only had National Government troops entered Mukden overland but some even were fanning out to the north and northwest.]

One major general, charged with liaison with front-line troops, said he had no information in the past three days and did not know where the national troops were. No one seemed concerned, either about the lack of information or the delay in the occupation of Mukden.

Peiping, Dec. 17 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in a brief radio address declared today that a "particular friendship" existed between the peoples and armed forces of the United States and China. Avoiding any direct reference to President Truman's statement of American policy toward China, the Generalissimo said the close relationships of the two countries would continue and thereby help preserve world peace.

20 JAPANESE ARRESTED, AMMUNITION SEIZED

SHANGHAI, Dec. 18—(AP) Chinese military headquarters, announcing the arrest of 20 Japanese and the seizure of a quantity of arms and ammunition, said today it had broken up a small but potent underground group in the big Nipponese segregation colony at Shanghai.

A Japanese major general was the leader of the organization, the announcement said.

Chinese authorities last week began investigation of reports that militaristic cliques were flourishing among the Japanese because of loose supervision.

Gets Bronze Star For Opening Port

Shanghai, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Commodore Columbus D. Smith of Atlanta, naval port director, received the Bronze Star today from Admiral C. Turner Joy for meritorious service in opening Shanghai's harbor to United States naval forces. Smith formerly commanded the gunboat Wake, which was seized here shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor. He made a daring escape from Ward Road Jail, and returned to fight the Japanese

Ship Slips Mooring.

Shanghai, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—A 40-mile wind jerked the 8,000-ton naval auxiliary U. S. S. Carter Hall from its Whangpoo River mooring today. The ship was reberthed without damaging other craft.

To Drive On Right Soon

Shanghai, Dec. 18 (AP)—Traffic in Shanghai's congested streets will be changed from the left to the right side January 1, municipal police said. While drivers are getting used to the change, the speed limit is being reduced from 15 to 12.4 miles an hour.

McNutt's Plane Reaches Tokyo

Tokyo, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Paul V. McNutt, Philippine High Commissioner, arrived by plane today from Manila to confer with Gen. MacArthur's staff and the Pauley Reparations Commission. He was accompanied by Rear Admiral Gilchrist Stockton, senior naval liaison officer and Major-Gen. William C. Rose, Chief of Staff.

Lerch Arrives In Seoul To Be Korea Governor

Seoul, Korea, Dec. 16 [AP—Delayed]—Maj. Gen. Archer L. Lerch, former provost marshal of the United States Army, arrived today and planned soon to take over his new duties as governor general of Korea.

He will succeed Maj. Gen. A. V. Arnold, who is returning to command of the 7th Division. Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, commanding general of American forces in Korea, said Arnold's appointment here had been temporary.

Indian Defense Cites American Declaration

New Delhi, Dec. 18 (AP)—Long passages from the American Declaration of Independence were read today during the closing defense agument before a general court-martial trying three former members of the British Indian Army on treason charges for activities in the Japanese-sponsored Indian National Army.

Citing the declaration in an attempt to show that allegiance to country is higher than allegiance to king, Bhulabhai J. Desai, defense counsel, said: "But for that declaration, there would have been no United States of America to save Europe and the world in the last war."

HOMMA GOES BEFORE COURT

Former Philippines Commander Denies Atrocity Charges

Manila, Wednesday, Dec. 19 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Masaharu Homma pleaded innocent today to responsibility for the Bataan death march and other major Japanese atrocities in the Philippines.

Speaking clearly in English, which he learned in his years as attaché with the British army, the onetime conqueror of the Philippines agreed to dispense with translation as he was arraigned before a United States military commission.

The former commander of the Philippines is accused of responsibility for the death march, in which 17,200 American and Filipino prisoners died, and with numerous other brutalities, including the deaths of 4,831 Americans and 45,000 Filipinos between April and August, 1942, in the O'Donnell and Cabantuan prison camps.

Second To Be Tried

Homma is the second former commander of Japanese forces in the Philippines to be tried here as a war criminal. Less than two weeks ago, Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, one of his successors, was convicted of condoning wholesale atrocities, and sentenced to be hanged. Yamashita has one appeal pending before the United States Supreme Court and another before General MacArthur.

Homma was ordered to appear for trial on January 3 by the commission president, Maj. Gen. Leo B. Donovan, of Arlington, Va., although Lieut. Col. Frank E. Meek, Caldwell, Idaho, the prosecution chief, agreed with Major John H. Skeen, Jr., Baltimore, of the defense, that because of the defense staff's late entry in the case it would require at least a month to prepare witnesses. Donovan is the law member of the commission.

Details Forgotten, Is Plea

The defense emphasized that the charges are based on atrocities committed three years ago, that many details have been forgotten by Homma and that witnesses are scattered throughout Japan, Korea and China.

The courtroom, in the high commissioner's residence, is familiar to Homma, who used the house as his residence. Dewey boulevard, on which the building fronts, was the scene of his Roman triumph in May, 1942, when Corregidor captives were forced to march in humiliation past the then strutting conqueror.

50 SHIPS ANCHORED IN SAIPAN HARBOR

HONOLULU, Dec. 18. — (AP) More than 50 merchantmen waiting for months in Saipan's Tanapag harbor for unloading orders are costing U. S. taxpayers more than half a million dollars monthly, the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes reported today.

A War Shipping administration official in Honolulu, however, termed the tie-up just a "logistic hangover" of the amphibious struggle against Japan.

"Vessels swing tantalizingly at anchor here while GI's slowly sweat out stateside transportation," wrote two Stars and Stripes reporters T-5 Dickie Moore, former Hollywood child film star, and Staff Sgt. Martin Rakitt.

They reported the ships' manifests showed they were loaded with ammunition, bombs, post-exchange supplies, beer, oil and other cargo such as aircraft parts, telephone wire and landing craft.

"The S. S. Alexander Mitchell has been waiting for unloading instructions since August 1," the GI reporters said. On an average the 50 merchantmen have been waiting more than two months.

Army, Navy and War Shipping administration officials here explained that Tanapag harbor is used as an anchorage for ships destined for other Pacific ports, and that some of the vessels are gasoline and oil tankers whose cargoes are being held against future fuel needs in the Pacific. Others are loaded with munitions originally intended for use against Japan, but now must wait decisions in Washington.

Another B-29 Record

Japan-to-Washington Plane Flies Coast-to-Oahu in 9 Hours

HONOLULU, Dec. 18 (AP).—The Superfortress Fluzzy Fuzz IV was believed today to have set a flight record from Mather Field, Calif., to Hickam Field, Oahu, in 9 hours 25 minutes.

The bomber, which recently set a non-stop record by flying from Japan to Washington, was set to take off this morning for Guam, where it will be delivered to the United States Army Air Transport Command and Brigadier General Frank E. Armstrong, of the 20th Air Force, who flew it to Washington on its record run.

Navy Calls Off Search For Ship Reported Mined

Pearl Harbor, Dec. 18 (AP)—A navy spokesman announced at noon today that the Navy had called off an aerial search for a ship which reportedly hit a floating mine Sunday near Midway Island. Planes engaged in the search were ordered to return to their original routes.

Efforts still were being made, however, the spokesman said, to trace a garbled distress message picked up yesterday by several ships and by navy radio here and at Guam.

Peron Opposes Foreign Pressure

Buenos Aires, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Argentina cannot admit foreign interference in her internal problems, says Col. Juan Peron, former vice-president and presidential candidate of laborite and nationalist groups.

Peron is quoted by the newspaper La Calle as saying that "the tendency of the United States to involve itself in our national life will be abandoned when the intentions of our people are freely expressed." He added that the Argentine people "bear no animosity toward the United States or other American countries, and in fact I believe they bear no toward us."

Argentina's future relations with foreign countries will be settled by means of compromise, Peron asserted.

ADMITS DEFEAT

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 18—(AP) Air Maj. Gen. Eduardo Gomes tonight conceded victory to his chief opponent, Gen. Eurico Gaspar Dutra, in Brazil's Dec. 2 presidential election. The official tabulation of the votes in the election will be announced in a few days by the Supreme court.

Air Transport Crash Kills 8

Rio de Janeiro, Dec. 18 (AP)—Six passengers and two crew members were killed today in the crash of a transport plane in Rio de Janeiro state. The plane was operated by the Brazilian Meridional Airline.

Greek Ship in Distress.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 18 (A. P.)—Port authorities picked up a distress signal today from the 4,643-ton Greek freighter Dimitrios Chandris, in mid-Atlantic. An American freighter was said to be steaming to the disabled craft. The Dimitrios Chandris was built in 1910. Her home port is Piræus.

Washington Battles Storm.

Aboard the U. S. S. Washington, Dec. 18 (A. P.). — Storms have slowed the progress of the battleship Washington, which is bringing 1,500 high-point soldiers from Europe to New York.

Following the Washington was the cruiser Portland, out of Le Havre, and ahead of these two ships was the carrier Champlain.

The Washington battled waves churned up by winds reaching eighty-seven miles an hour. Approximately half the G. I.'s aboard were seasick.

The battleship was forced at times to cut her speed to seven knots. For a while Sunday she traveled southward in an attempt to skirt the storms and make better time in her race to bring the soldiers home in time for Christmas.

New Conference Set After C. I. O. Rejects Ford Wage Proposal

DEC 19 1945

UNION TO EXPLAIN ITS REFUSAL OF 12.4 PCT. INCREASE

Company Says Proposal Made Despite $33,000,-000 Extra Cost.

FACT FINDERS TO MEET

G-M Board Will Begin Study of Detroit Strike Data Today.

DETROIT, Dec. 18. — (AP) The C.I.O. United Automobile Workers today rejected a 12.4 per cent wage rate increase offer by the Ford Motor Co.

The rejection came less than an hour after the Ford company announced the offer while representatives of management and union were meeting on the U.A.W.-C.I.O. demand for a 30 per cent wage rate increase.

The U.A.W.-C.I.O. recently turned down a 10 per cent wage rate increase offer by General Motors Corp. whose 175,000 production workers have been on strike nearly a month over the union's 30 percent increase demand.

Ford estimated its increase offer at 15 cents an hour to all production workers. The GM offer was estimated by the management to amount to 13 1-2 cents an hour.

Proposal Unacceptable

"The Ford proposal is completely unacceptable to the union," said Richard T. Leonard, U.A.W.-C.I.O. Ford director as he came out of the negotiating conference. He did not amplify his statement but indicated a detailed explanation would be made later. It was announced the conferences between union and company would be resumed Thursday.

The Ford offer and its rejection brought no immediate comment from General Motors officials. Most of them were enroute tonight to Washington for the opening of hearings tomorrow by a fact-finding commission appointed by President Truman to study the GM dispute.

The Ford offer was coupled with a condition that it become effective for a period of two years at the beginning of the calendar month during which production of all Ford vehicles, cars and trucks reached or exceeded 80,000 units monthly. The Ford normal peacetime output is in excess of 120,000 units a month.

The proposal also stipulated elimination of unauthorized work stoppages, an agreement regarding management prerogatives, and a reduction in the number of union committeemen. It also included a new "company security" plan, providing penalties against individual workers and the union for unauthorized work stoppages.

Additional Loss

The Ford management, which previously had stated it stood to lose "about $35,000,000 during 1946 even without a wage increase," said today its newest proposal meant an additional outlay of $33,000,000 annually.

"This represents a 12.4 per cent increase in our present average wage and approximately 21 per cent more than the present average of our major competitors," said the Ford letter to the union.

The company is willing to risk the additional $33,000,000, the management said, in an effort to win the confidence and cooperation of its employes; stay in production and keep men employed; help break the log-jam of postwar mass production, and "do our share in halting inflation."

A company spokesman said he assumed the $68,000,000 loss envisaged by the company during its 1946 operations, would "come out of capital."

"It certainly won't be taken out of profits," he added.

The Ford statement did not estimate the number of workers who would be affected by the proposed wage rise. In the recent strike vote conducted among Ford employes 102,248 were listed as eligible to vote.

Office Workers Barred

An augmented picket line at General Motors' AC Spark Plug division plant in Flint today kept office workers from their jobs. Police estimated the pickets numbered close to 600 at one time. Yesterday there were 50. There was no attempt to break through the line today as was done yesterday and after the group of office workers had been sent home most of the pickets also left the plant gates.

No untoward incidents were reported as salaried workers at other GM plants reported for work again.

In supplemental memoranda handed the union today the Ford management presented detailed proposals regarding a new "company security" plan and management prerogatives.

Under the new proposal individual workers taking part in illegal strikes would be penalized $1.50 a day during their first participation and $2.50 a day during their second participation. The union would be liable to the company for an equal amount for each worker involved.

In addition the U.A.W.-C.I.O. would be held liable to the company in the amount of $5,000 for each person not an employe of the company who might be found guilty of "instigating, fomenting, actively supporting or giving leadership to an illegitimate strike."

The worker penalty would be deducted from his wages and that against the union from amounts collected by the company for the union under the check-off provisions of the agreement.

The company said any penalties thus collected would be paid over to the national infantile paralysis foundation or some other recognized charity of the company's choosing.

The prerogatives stipulations reserved to the management the right to hire and lay off, promote and transfer, and discipline and discharge employes for cause, provided the terms of the agreement were not violated in the exercise of those rights.

The company also reserved the right to "establish and determine and to maintain and enforce standards of production," and to determine which employes should work overtime when such extra work became necessary to maintain "efficiency and an even flow of production."

Do Not Ask Price Increase

"Theoretically," said the Ford letter, "we could ask government to raise ceiling prices enough to cover a wage increase. We do not think it wise to go that road at this time, because present government policy is based on the belief that only rigid adherence to OPA ceiling prices can prevent inflation. x x x

"Unless we give up the problems as insoluble, we have no alternative but to take a gamble. x x x The company x x x has decided to risk an additional $33,000,000."

The letter added that "if OPA should raise price ceilings on our products, such action shall not be made the basis for additional wage proposals by the union."

The U.A.W.'s strike strategy committee asserted late today that 99 per cent of the GM strikers have indorsed a recommendation by the U.A.W.'s GM council that they "remain on strike until their demands are met."

The GM delegates at a December 8 meeting here called on the locals to turn down GM's offer of a 13 1-2 cent an hour wage increase, which the company said would average a 10 per cent wage rate boost. The union seeks 30 per cent.

Company officials were unavailable for comment.

The strategy committee's announcement was signed by R. J. Thomas, U.A.W. president; Walter P. Reuther, vice president and chief union negotiator on the GM issues; Richard T. Frankensteen, vice president; George F. Addes, secretary treasurer; Norman Matthews, director of the U.A.W.'s Chrysler department and Leonard.

Statement to Locals

The statement, sent to all U.A.W. locals, read in part:

"The corporation refuses to produce the facts in the wage negotiations. They can not weaken the picket lines. So the corporation agents are inspiring daily rumors that the strike is ineffective, untimely and that the union leadership is divided."

x x x The anti-labor forces which inspire these stories would have labor postpone its struggle for decent wages until 1947, hoping before that time either to destroy labor or to have it hog-tied into ineffectiveness by restrictive legislation."

The U.A.W. described the strike as effective and said GM is not producing new cars and that "every plant of the corporation that produced automobiles or parts is completely and effectively paralyzed by the strike."

Turning to the wage issue, the U.A.W. said, "when we submitted our wage demand, C. E. Wilson, (General Motors president) answered with a flat no and stated the company would not grant one cent in wage increases.

Citing subsequent company wage increase offers, the latest of which was the 13 1-2 cent figure, the report said the GM's offer was the result of "economic pressure" resulting from the strike.

The committee said the charges about the timeliness of the strike and rumors that the leadership of U.A.W. was split on strike strategy "was the most vicious lie of all." It called on all strikers to "stick to their guns" until the 30 per cent is forthcoming — unless the company "proves by facts that they are unable to pay it."

Ford's Letter to Auto Union

DEC 19 1945

DETROIT, Dec. 18 (AP).—Following is the complete text of the Ford Motor Company's letter to the United Automobile Workers union:

The objective of our present negotiations has been to arrive at workable and equitable solutions to the problem of wages and the problem of company security which involves worker productivity and unauthorized work stoppages.

The only way Ford Motor Company can live and prosper in a highly competitive industry is to keep everlastingly at the job of increasing efficiency and keeping costs down so that we can make more and better cars and trucks to sell for less money.

It has been clear to us, therefore, that solutions to our problems cannot be arrived at separately, because the problems themselves are tied together. We cannot be efficient producers without eliminating work stoppages. Any increase in wages must come out of increased volume production.

Before our negotiations started, we told you quite frankly that we did not think this was the time to talk about a wage increase, because we cannot tell what our costs are going to be until we have had a history of volume production under present conditions.

30.24-32479

Materials Cost More

We told you that materials—when we can get them at all—are costing us more than ever before. Last week we gave you our conservative estimates that, even without a wage increase, we will lose about $35,000,000 during 1946.

On the other hand, you have repeatedly maintained that these statistics do not answer the pressing and real problem of the employees you represent—the problem of meeting family budgets without the overtime pay taken home during war time.

Theoretically, we could ask the government to raise ceiling prices enough to cover a wage increase. We do not think it wise to go that road at this time, because present government policy is based on the belief that only rigid adherence to O. P. A. ceiling prices can prevent inflation.

That puts the problem squarely up to the Ford Motor Company and its employees. Unless we give up the problem as insoluble, we have no alternative, but to take a gamble.

The management of the company has done its best to calculate carefully the risks in such a gamble. It has decided to risk an additional $33,000,000.

Company's Objectives

Behind this important decision is our belief that we may be able to win these things:

1. The confidence and cooperation of our employees.

2. We can stay in production and keep men employed.

3. In prompt all-out production we can sharpen our production skills and efficiency to meet and beat competition.

4. We may help to break the log jam of post-war mass production.

5. By bringing the supply of new cars up to demand, we can do our share in halting inflation.

Therefore we propose:

1. That a wage increase of 15 cents per hour be granted, this increase to become effective at the beginning of the calendar month during which total production reaches a volume of 80,000 units including Fords, Mercury's, Lincolns and trucks.

Wages Above Competitors'

(This represents a 12.4 per cent increase in our present average wage and approximately 21 per cent more than the present average of our major competitors.)

2. That these new rates remain in effect for two years from the date they become effective.

3. That this proposal be made subject to agreement on the following items involved with the problem of company security:

A. Elimination of unauthorized work stoppages.

B. Management prerogatives.

C. Reduction of the number of union committeemen.

4. That if the O. P. A. should raise price ceilings on our products, such action shall not be made the basis for additional wage proposals by the union.

We hope that you will find these proposals equitable and acceptable and that we can wind up our negotiations promptly.

M'VEY DESCRIBES LOSS OF CRUISER

Captain Tells Court He Ordered Ship Abandoned Before She Capsized.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. — (AP) Capt. Charles B. McVay, 3rd, testified before a Navy court martial today that he ordered his ship abandoned the moment he became convinced it was doomed.

He said the ship, the cruiser Indianapolis, was not steering a zigzag course when she was attacked because visibility was so poor he did not consider it necessary.

The ship exploded and sank shortly after midnight on July 30 while en route from Guam to Leyte. McVay is charged with negligence in not ordering a zigzag course through waters where enemy submarines might be encountered, and with inefficiency in not issuing "timely abandon ship orders.

The accused officer took the stand at his own request, to complete the presentation of direct testimony. Court recessed until 10 a. m. tomorrow when closing arguments will be heard.

Recounting in detail his actions between the moment of the explosions and the ship's sinking 15 minutes later, McVay said he never left the bridge area after nine p. m. that night.

Visibility throughout the evening was very poor, he said, and he made a final check on it about 10:30 p. m., before retiring to his emergency cabin just off the bridge.

Standing orders to officers on watch, he said, called for them to notify him of any change in visibility or other operating conditions, and to order resumption of a zigzag course if they considered conditions warranted. He said no report of any kind was made to him from the time he turned in until the first explosions.

All Communications Disrupted

He said he went immediately to the bridge after the first blast and was informed that all communications were out and that the damage control officer had gone below to investigate the ship's situation. An effort had been made to signal the engine room to stop all engines, he said, but no communication was available.

The officer of the deck reported he had sent word to the radio room to send out a distress message.

Captain McVay said he looked over the side of the bridge to determine the extent of damage but it was so dark he could see nothing. The ship was still on a fairly even keel, he said, and he was not perturbed.

Shortly thereafter the damage control officer expressed belief that the ship was badly damaged and asked about abandoning ship.

Feeling that control could be maintained, McVay said he replied in the negative and ordered the damage control officer to return below and make further investigation.

Shortly thereafter the executive officer reported that in his opinion the ship was doomed and recommended that abandon ship be ordered.

Ordered Ship Abandoned

Because of his confidence in the executive officer's judgment, Capt. McVay said, he told him to pass the word to abandon ship, and "I didn't see him again."

Asserting that his first concern was to make sure that distress messages went out, the captain said he told the officer of the deck he was going to the radio shack himself. He said he started down the ladder and had reached the signal bridge when the ship took a sudden list and then seemed to hold at about 60 degrees. Then, in about 30 seconds, it turned on its side. He said he stood upright on the ship's side and started toward the midship section, having in mind that that part of the ship might remain afloat until daylight.

Suddenly, however, he was knocked into the water by a wave.

"I struck out into the darkness," he said. "I heard a swish, looked back and the ship was gone."

After completing his testimony under questioning, Capt. McVay vounteered the statement that he considered all officers on watch that evening fully competent, and that if conditions had required they would have ordered a zigzag course on their own initiative.

Japs Had Data On Warships At Hawaii Base

Intercepted U.S. Radio Messages on Dec. 6 Revealed Position of Fleet.

RAID PLANNED NOV. 9

Enemy Fleet Had Alternate Orders if U. S. Ships Were Outside Harbor.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 — (AP) Testimony that the Japanese learned through intercepted U. S. radio messages what warships were at Pearl Harbor was laid before the congressonal investigating committee today.

This information came from General Douglas MacArthur's staff in Tokyo, along with other word that:

1—The enemy had alternate plans to smash the U. S. fleet if it was anchored outside the harbor.

2—Orders went to the Japanese navy to prepare for the attack as early as Nov. 9; assuming war with Britain, the United States and the Netherlands was "inevitable" and would come "the first part of December."

Came from MacArthur

This information was obtained by MacArthur's staff in questioning Japanese prisoners after the fall of Japan. Much of it came from Commander Tomo Tachibana of the Japanese naval intelligence staff, reconstructed from memory.

Whether the Japanese actually had cracked a U. S. radio code as theirs had been cracked was not made clear.

The joint Senate-House committee received at the same time memoranda of Sumner Welles, former Undersecretary of State, describing the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting at sea when the Atlantic Charter was drawn in August, 1941. Welles revealed that:

(A) Mr. Roosevelt was reluctant to agree right then on a postwar organization to disarm aggressor nations, urging that this wait until a U. S.-British "police force" was established.

(B) The President agreed to U. S. occupation of the Azores.

(C) Prime Minister Churchill said he could not subscribe immediately to a promise that all peoples would have access to world markets and raw materials. He raised the point that this collided with the empire preference system and that he would have to consult the dominions.

(D) The British sought to have the Americans and Dutch join in a statement to the Japanese that further "encroachments" in the southwest Pacific would lead to counter-measures even though the result might be war. The President, other witnesses have said, did make a statement to the Japanese ambassador but it was "watered down."

Second Day

The evidence was introduced as Vice Admiral Theodore S. Wilkinson, chief of naval intelligence at Pearl Harbor time, went through his second day of questioning.

The MacArthur information that the Japanese had assigned a force to hit at the fleet if it was outside the harbor led to some sharp questioning of Wilkinson.

Critics have contended the fleet was "bottled up" and could not maneuver to escape the bombs and torpedoes. With that in mind, Senator Lucas (D-Ill) developed from the admiral testimony that the ships would have had an hour and a half to get out if the then chief of naval operations, Admiral Harold R. Stark, had followed Wilkinson's advice to warn them at the time he gave it—9:30 a. m. Dec. 7.

Wilkinson said it takes 10 minutes to get a big ship out, one destroyer could have been gotten out between the battleships and cruisers, perhaps two. By his reckoning, more than half the six battleships, six cruisers and dozen destroyers smashed in the raid could have escaped the harbor.

Questioned on Safety

But Rep. Murphy (D-Pa) asked Wilkinson if the fleet would have been safer outside the harbor, say in Lahaina roads.

"I would say it would have been less secure because it would also have been exposed to submarine attack while there would have been the same danger from air attack," Wilkinson testified.

"Would it have been any more safe at Puget sound or San Pedro (on the west coast)?" Murphy asked.

"Rather less safe," Wilkinson replied. "The anti-aircraft protection was not as complete as at Pearl Harbor."

Questioned by Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif) Wilkinson declared that the fleet, even if it had been spared at Pearl Harbor, might have met disaster later if it sought to relieve the Philippines. Senator Brewster (R-Me) interjected:

"Yes, public opinion might have demanded a relief expedition to the Philippines."

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif) declared that Wilkinson "withheld" important information—intercepted Japanese code material—from Admiral Kimmel and "deprived" him of reaching conclusions from it. The witness retorted that keeping the secret of the code-breaking was the first consideration and moreover Kimmel and all other Pacific commanders "were well aware" of Japanese espionage activities.

It wasn't his business, Wilkinson said, to send out any information that might lead to fleet operations—that was the duty of the War Plans division and the chief of naval operations.

The committee record was bulged some more by the introduction of correspondence between Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, Pacific fleet commander, and Stark in which Kimmel complained he was not getting enough information on the broad political situation.

"It is suggested," Kimmel wrote in May, 1941, "that it be made a cardinal principle that the commander-in-chief Pacific fleet be immediately informed of all important developments as they occur and by the quickest secure means available."

Jap Officer Interviewed

The documents from MacArthur's headquarters were based on the conjecture of the Japanese officer interviewed because the key officer at Pearl Harbor had died and important papers were burned at the time of surrender.

Tachibana informed Col. F. P. Munson of MacArthur's staff about the intercepted U. S. broadcast on the number of battleships, cruisers, destroyers and others entering Pearl Harbor or anchored there. He did not give any more details of this broadcast but added that the Japanese got information also from signals to American ships.

The Japanese said the naval intelligence division at Tokyo had "a most difficult time" judging the habits and strength of the American fleet.

As a result, he said, Tokyo spent years in analyzing "bits of information obtained from naval officers at Washington, newspapers and magazines published in America, American radio broadcasts, signal intelligence, passengers and crews of ships stopping at Honolulu."

The Japanese plan of attack, in great detail, was obtained by Munson from the recollections of Rear Admiral Sadatoshi Tomioka, Rear Admiral Jameto Kuroshima and Capt. Mitsuo Fuchida. They gave the information that they were prepared to hit outside the harbor as well as inside.

Subs Dispatched Early

MacArthur also relayed to the committee the story of two Japanese submarine commanders interviewed by a Japanese correspondent. This account said submarines which participated in the Pearl Harbor attack left Yokosuka naval base as early as Nov. 11, assigned to strike U. S. vessels escaping from the harbor and to rescue fliers shot down.

A day before the attack one of the submarines sighted the carrier Lexington but "no trouble ensued." The story related the launching of two-man midget submarines from the decks of five larger submarines just before the air attack began.

One of them was unwary enough to message the "end" of the battleship Arizona the night of Dec. 7, as detected from sky-high flames. U. S. destroyers pursued him "and dropped depth charges madly" but he got away after being submerged 39 hours.

As Wilkinson concluded his testimony for the day, Senator Brewster remarked to reporters that the admiral told the Roberts commission which investigated Pearl Harbor that Admiral Kimmel had all the information naval intelligence in Washington possessed. In his testimony to the congressional group, Wilkinson said Kimmel did not have access to the Japanese intercepts.

Brewster called this such an obvious conflict that it may have "influenced" the decision of the Roberts commission to "convict" Kimmel. This group found that Kimmel and Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, the Hawaiian commanders, did not alert their commands sufficiently. The senator suggested it might be a good idea to subpoena former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts, head of the commission, to clear up the point.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) told reporters, at the same time, that as soon as Wilkinson concludes his testimony the commitee ought to summon Kimmel and Short. This view had been expressed by Brewster last week.

House Passes UNO Participation Bill

Washington, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—The House passed today, with minor changes, a Senate-approved bill providing for United States participation in the United Nations Organization. The roll call vote was 344 to 15.

Senate and House conferees now will consider the House changes in the legislation. The chief difference is addition of an amendment allowing Congressmen to serve as representatives to the UNO Council.

Earlier House members turned the bill into a vehicle for advancing the merits of their respective districts as the site of the UNO's permanent home.

Palestine Entry Measure Wins Favor in House

Resolution Voted by Senate Adopted by Committee; Floor Action Likely Soon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP).—The House Foreign Affairs Committee today added its approval to Senate-passed legislation calling on the government to "use its good offices" with Great Britain to permit free entry of Jews into Palestine.

Representative Sol Bloom, Democrat, of New York, chairman, reported that the committee at a closed session approved unanimously a resolution identical to one passed overwhelmingly yesterday by the Senate. The action clears the way for possible House action on the measure before the holidays.

Meanwhile, President Truman announced appointment of Bartley C. Crum, of San Francisco, as a member of the Anglo-American Palestine Inquiry Committee to succeed O. Max Gardner, former Governor of North Carolira, who asked to be relieved of the assignment because of the burden of his duties as chairman of the advisory board of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

"British Agents" Accused

CLEVELAND, Dec. 18 (AP).—Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, chairman of the Zionist Emergency Council, returned from Palestine by plane today, and declared in an interview "the tension in Palestine and in the Near East is fostered by British agents."

"The Arab League," he said, "is a British instrument, and it has but one purpose—the cementing of the Arab world into a solid block against possible Soviet penetration in the Middle East which would endanger British imperial interests."

Dr. Silver, who is head of the Temple here, asserted that British troops in Palestine take advantage of every opportunity to display armed force.

"I was myself a witness to one of these demonstrations," he said. "A search was on in a Jewish settlement for several unfortunate Jewish immigrants who had entered the country without a certificate. To locate and punish these few unfortunates, a whole division of troops, including tanks and armored truck, were rushed to the area. British planes flew overhead. For what purpose?"

Dr. Silver said the time for action by Jews in America is now, and continued:

"We cannot do less than demand that 100,000 Jews be admitted to Palestine at the earliest possible moment."

TRUMAN DECISION ON PRICE PROBLEM AWAITED BY PANEL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 — (AP) The future of fact-finding as proposed by President Truman apparently rested tonight on a White House decision to affirm or deny that prices must be considered when age increases are recommended.

This issue finally forced the oil wage fact-finding board into a two-day adjournment and is certain to crop up tomorrow in the organization meeting of the President's panel to investigate the General Motors strike.

Dr. Frank P. Graham, chairman of the oil board, announced that the wage-price problem—posed by the Oil Workers union—was so important that an overall government policy decision is indicated. Such a decision, he said, will be made before Friday and will be announced by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach.

To get the answer, Schwellenbach must obtain an interpretation of President Truman's already-stated policy which permits employers to raise wages without government approval, provided the increases do not mean higher prices. The secretary was reported ill with influenza today.

As presented by the oil workers, the question raises the issue of whether government fact-finding boards may or may not recommend price increases to conform with any wage boosts which they may propose.

The C.I.O., in all of its current wage disputes, contends the industries involved can grant 30 per cent wage increases within the present price structure. Industry has disputed this contention.

Although the union raised the point in the oil hearing, along with a demand that company books be brought in to determine profit positions, its representatives agreed to continue the hearing. Company spokesmen, however, refused to proceed until the question was settled.

Graham then adjourned the session until Friday morning, declaring that was the earliest date on which Schwellenbach could give an answer. Meanwhile, it was understood, Graham planned to discuss the situation with Economic Stabilizer John C. Collet and possibly with Reconversion Director John W. Snyder. However, it seemed certain that the final decision must come from the White House.

Graham today also avoided a definite answer to the demand for production of oil industry books and other financial data. This issue it was indicated, will come up again on Friday.

One oil company already has withdrawn from the hearing because of the injection of the profits issue and all have declared they did not consider profits a part of the inquiry. The union, on the other hand, contends that determination of profits is a fundamental fact to be found by the panel.

Roosevelt Feared Critics Of Atlantic Charter Talks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP) President Roosevelt apparently was keenly aware at the time how some critics at home would regard his Atlantic Charter meeting with Prime Minister Churchill.

He wanted the joint announcement of the conference to say in so many words that he had made no future commitments but Churchill opposed such a statement.

And the late President was reluctant on his part to write an endorsement of a postwar international organization which Churchill wanted because of "suspicions" such an agreement might arouse in the U. S.

Memoranda from Welles

These hitherto unpublished sidelights on the historic meeting at sea in August, 1941, came to light at the congressional Pearl Harbor investigation today in memoranda of Sumner Welles, who was there as undersecretary of state.

When the two leaders discussed the Statement they would issue after the conference ended. Welles quoted Mr. Roosevelt as suggesting that they say their discussions "had in no way involved any future commitments between the two governments, except as authorized under the terms of the Lend-Lease act."

"Mr. Churchill dissented very strongly from the form in which the President had desired to make it clear that no future commitments had been entered into," Welles wrote.

"The President stated that portion of the proposed statement was of extreme importance from his standpoint inasmuch as a statement of that character would make it impossible for the extreme isolationist leaders in the United States to allege that every kind of secret agreement had been entered into during the course of these conversations."

Two Declarations Drafted

Welles said that Sir Alexander Cadogan had drafted two declarations, one a parallel statement of policy on Japan, and the other a joint declaration on British-American intentions.

An American draft of the latter statement apparently was prepared and Welles said that Churchill, in reading a point calling for the post-war disarming of aggressor nations, "inquired whether the President would not agree to support some kind of effective international organization' as suggested by the prime minister in his original draft x x x."

"The President replied," Welles' memorandum continued, "that he did not feel that he could agree to this because of the suspicions and opposition that such an agreement on his part would create in the United States.

"He said that he himself would not be in favor of the creation of a new assembly of the League of Nations at least until after a period of time had transpired and during which an international police force composed of the United States and Great Britain had an opportunity for functioning."

Discussed World Markets

Churchill raised the further point, Welles said, that the portion of the statement promising all peoples access to the markets and raw materials of the world collided with the British empire's trade preference policy.

He personally did not support this policy, Welles quoted Churchill as saying, but had to check any such statement with the dominions before he could subscribe to it.

"Harry Hopkins then suggested that Sir Alexander Cadogan and I be requested to draft new phraseology which would take care of the difficulties and prevent the delay of which Mr. Churchill spoke."

But Welles said he objected that fundamental principle, not mere phraseology, was involved, adding that the two nations "might as well throw in the sponge" if they couldn't agree on this principle.

Cadogan, however, said the dominions would have to be consulted and that consequently the joint statement could not be issued until some time after the news of the meeting between the President and Churchill had been given out.

At a subsequent meeting with Cadogan on the British battleship Prince of Wales, Welles said they reached substantial agreement on the terms of the proposed joint statement.

STATE DEPT. GIVES INSTRUCTIONS ON ARMY'S CHINA ROLE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP) The State department today reasserted its right to chart American foreign policy by making public some instructions to the War department on movement of Nationalist troops in China.

Issued at a news conference, the statement "directed" the War department that Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer could transport Chinese Nationalist troops to Manchuria when he deemed it necessary.

Applies to Manchuria

It added, however, that this privilege held only for Manchuria. Wedemeyer may move forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek from south to north China, the statement said, only if such action is approved by Gen. George C. Marshall, President Truman's special envoy, who is scheduled to arrive in Chungking Thursday.

Although the statement said "the State department has directed the War department," state officials said it was not a directive in a strict sense, but rather an interpretation of the President's Chinese policy statement issued Saturday.

These officials added that the War department frequently requested guidance on matters which might edge into the field of basic foreign policy.

Other government sources, however, compared the instructions to last September's statement by acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's administration of Japan.

Acheson at that time said the occupation forces in Japan were "the instruments of policy and not the determinants of policy."

Despite this attitude on Japan, some State department officials including Secretary Byrnes have insisted until recently that the presence of American troops in strife-torn China was purely a military matter.

Only to Accept Surrender

The U. S. troops were there, Byrnes explained, only to accept the surrender of Japanese troops; disarm and repatriate them under terms of the surrender agreement.

Byrnes told a news conference November 7 that it had not even been called to his attention when U. S. Marines were first sent into China, but emphasized he was not concerned because the operation was purely military, not political.

Many State department officials acknowledged privately, however, that the presence of American troops in the middle of a virtual Chinese civil war had political implications, regardless of the motives for keeping them there.

Whatever the motive for making them public, the instructions for Wedemeyer, some officials said, would have the effect of helping re-establish the State department in the policy-making role which it frequently yielded to the armed forces during the war.

These officials emphasized at the same time that relations between the State and War departments were never better.

British Entry Into Java Was Joint Decision

State Department Official Admits Anglo-American Staff Chiefs Agreed on It

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP).—A State Department spokesman acknowledged today that the decision to send British troops into

He added, however, that "that had nothing to do with the present fighting going on there."

The combined chiefs of staff is an organization of British and United States land, sea and air commanders.

The State Department official, who asked not to be quoted by name, implied that while the United States shared responsibility for dispatching the troops into Indonesia, the American government was not responsible for the manner in which the operation was carried out.

He recalled the United States request to Britain and Holland that they remove American trademarks from all lend-lease weapons and equipment used in combating Indonesian elements seeking independence.

The British Ambassador, Lord Halifax, said in a speech last Friday that the United States shared with Britain the responsibility for sending British Empire forces into the Dutch East Indies. Asserting that the decision was not British, but Anglo-American, Lord Halifax said, "We did not send our troops to Java on our own initiative. They went there to carry out work which had ben assigned to them by the combined chiefs of staff."

duties as special envoy of President Truman, with the assignment of tryng to bring together the Chinese Nationalist and Communist factions.

McDermott mentioned only Manchurian "ports." The State Department later said that although the directive specifically stated "Manchurian ports," it was the department's view that Wedemeyer could use air transport to get Nationalist troops anywhere in Manchuria he deemed necessary.

Friday would be the earliest date on which the Labor Secretary could answer.

At the same time, Graham declined to give a definite board reply to another CIO oil-worker demand that the oil companies' books be introduced as evidence in the hearing.

Prices, Profits Stall Oil-Pay Fact-Finding

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Government refusal to determine immediately the relationship of industry prices and profits to federally recommended wage increases today forced the oil wage fact-finding board to adjourn until Friday.

By that time, Board Chairman Frank P. Graham promised, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach will have stated the Government's position—which, Graham indicated, must be determined meanwhile by high Administration officials.

Companies Balked

Oil industry spokesmen refused to continue in the fact-finding hearing until the board decided whether, in making any recommendations on CIO demands for a 30 per cent wage increase, it would consider possible price increases in oil products.

Graham declared the issue was "an over-all governmental problem" which Administration officials now were considering and that it would "take time for the Government to give its answer."

Basic Policy Decision

The formulation of the reply, regarded as a basic policy decision of far-reaching effect in such labor disputes as the General Motors strike and the pending steel strike, will be left to Schwellenbach, Economic Stabilizer John C. Collet and other interested Government agencies, Graham said.

The price question stalled the oil hearing most of yesterday and the fact-finders had hoped to obtain an answer by this morning. Graham reported, however, that Schwellen-

Gen. J. L. Collins Made Director Of Information

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Appointment of Lieut. Gen. Joseph Lawton Collins to be director of information for the War Department was announced by the Army today.

Collins, former commander of the 7th Corps in the European campaign, succeeds Maj. Gen. Alexander D. Surles, who has directed the Bureau of Public Relations since August 6, 1941. Surles has been assigned to special duty at the office of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Chief of Staff.

As director of information, Collins is in charge of the Bureau of Public Relations, the legislative and liaison division and the information and education division. The three organizations were brought together under one director last September.

Ammunition Ships In Delaware Bay

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Army said today that an accumulation in Delaware Bay of fifteen ships with ammunition resulted from orders banning unloading of explosives at certain ports.

The ships, ten of them with full loads of ammunition and five partly loaded, are anchored near Cape May, N.J., waiting their turn for unloading at an approved port, and more may arrive to add to the fleet, the army announcement said.

The joint Army and Navy Safety Board discontinued ammunition-discharge facilities at Hampton Roads, New Orleans and Mukilaeo, near Seattle, it was explained. The board has approved the following ports for unloading: Searsport, Maine; Lenardo, N.J.; Charleston, S.C.; Mobile, Ala.; Houston, Texas, and Beaver, Ore.

The Argentine announcement said that the ships were taken over in accordance with a mobilization plan at the Inter-American Economic and Financial Consultative Committee, located here.

Wedemeyer To Move Chinese Troops

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP) — The State Department has authorized Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer to assist in moving Chinese Nationalist troops to Manchurian ports when he deems it necessary.

Michael J. McDermott, State Department press officer, disclosed at his news conference that the department had "directed" the War Department that Wedemeyer, United States Army commander in China, could make such arrangements.

McDermott emphasized, however, that the directive applied only to Manchuria.

Movement of Chinese Nationalist forces from South to North China may be carried out by American foreign forces only if Gen. George C. Marshall determines such action to be "consistent with his negotiations with the Chinese," McDermott said.

Marshall Due Thursday

ARGENTINA EXPLAINS

Says French Ships Are Still Held Because of Commitment

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Argentine Embassy today distributed an official announcement declaring that because of an international obligation with the other Americas the Government was unable to return three French ships to France.

The ships were immobilized in Argentine ports after the fall of France; subsequently they were taken over by Argentina and incorporated in the National Merchant Marine.

Recently France requested the immediate return of the vessels to help alleviate her economic distress and announced she had been

Truman Awards Honor Medals To 6 Men

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—In 30-minute White House ceremony President Truman today awarded the nation's highest military honors to six fighting men of the Army Navy and Marines.

Grasping the hand of each and calming their nervousness with a friendly smile, the President presented the Congressional Medal of Honor to:

Navy Lieut. Richard Miles McCool, Jr., of Norman, Okla.; Marine Capt. Robert Hugo Dunlap, Galesburg, Ill.; First Lieut. Frank Burke, an infantryman from Jersey City, N.J.; Mast. Sergt. Veto Bertoldo, Decatur, Ill.; Staff Sergt. Vernon McGarity, Model, Tenn.; and Pfc. Mike Colalillo, Duluth, Minn.

The Men's Feats

Citations for the infantrymen showed:

Colalilli spearheaded an attack by his company, blasting his way killing at least 25 Germans in an action near Untergriesheim, Germany, last April 7.

Bertoldo, who was inducted on a limited service basis because army doctors found his eyesight faulty, saw well enough to get his machine-gun sights on and kill at least 40 Germans, fighting off attacks for 48 hours and saving two battalion posts, last January in France.

Wounded, Fought Two Days

McGarity, although wounded, fought for two days in a vital holding action near Krinkelt, Belgium, last December. He destroyed one enemy tank, turned back three others, and gained time for the Americans to bring up reserves. He was captured, but was released a few days later.

Burke, a transportation officer, started out last April 17 to pick a forward motor pool site at Nuernberg, Germany. He wound up dueling Nazi die-hard defenders with a light machinegun killing 11, wounding three and providing leadership in the killing or wounding of 29 others.

Senate Names 9 Republicans To Committees

Hart and Smith Assigned to Military Affairs in Approving Party Choices

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP).—The Senate approved today Republican selections for new committee assignments. Two of the more important appointments put Senator Thomas C. Hart, of Connecticut, and W. Alexander Smith, of New Jersey, on the Senate Military Affairs Committee. Senator Hart is the former admiral who commanded the Asiatic fleet in 1942.

The other Republican committee assignments are Senators William F. Knowland, California, to the Agricultural and Pensions Committees; Guy Cordon, Oregon, Appropriations; Homer E. Capehart, Indiana, Banking; Leverett Saltonstall, Massachusetts, Finance; William H. Stanfill, Kentucky, Judiciary, Irrigation and Post Offices, and Milton R. Young, North Dakota, Post Offices.

In connection with the appointments five Senators were released from committee assignments as follows: Cordon, from Agriculture; Smith, from Judiciary; Capehart and Saltonstall, from Post Office, and Shipstead, Minnesota, from Pensions.

Later Senator Kenneth McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, president pro tempore of the Senate, announced assignment of two Republicans to special committees, Senator William Langer, of North Dakota, to the Silver Committee, to succeed the late Senator John Thomas, of Idaho, and Senator Capehart to the Small Business Committee.

URGES PROTECTION FOR WOOL INDUSTRY

Washington, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Senator O'Mahoney (D.-Wyo.), said after a call at the White House today that Congress should withhold its approval of the proposed loan to Great Britain until it has worked out a wool program to protect domestic growers.

O'Mahoney, chairman of the Senate's special wool committee, advocates a quota system governing importation of wool, similar to that established for sugar, plus full American understanding of plans developed by the British Government for the marketing of wool produced by its dominions.

He said he told the President it was a matter of great importance that the United States Government work out a program that will make sure that the American wool industry "does not suffer in the post-war period as it has during the war."

"There is a world surplus of four billion pounds of wool, most of which comes from Australia, New Zealand and South Africa," the Senator asserted. "They consume less than 7 per cent of what they produce. They look to the American market as the best area in which to dispose of this surplus. The British Government has organized a wool program for the United Kingdom and the three Dominions. I said to the President that the United States Government must not be less concerned about the welfare of American wool growers than the British Government is about theirs."

HOUSE BODY STALLS WAGE RISE ACTION

Washington, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—An attempt to get immediate action on Federal legislation raising minimum wage rates to 65 cents an hour failed today in the Senate Labor Committee.

Senator Ellender (D.-La.) told a reporter that the committee accepted a compromise which will continue hearings after Congress reassembles in January with a vote on the minimum wage increase agreed upon for on January 21.

"Some Senators wanted to vote out the 65-cents an hour provision at once because labor wants it," Ellender said after the closed session. "I objected because this committee refused to take prompt action on President Truman's request for fact-finding legislation and because we have not heard all witnesses on the minimum wage hearings will reopen and continue with a committee vote on January 21.

The minimum wage legislation would raise the existing hourly rate of 40 cents to 65 cents immediately, to 70 cents after one year and to 75 cents after two years. The War Labor Board fixed a 55-cents an hour base during the war.

shortage has been made more acute by a memorandum issued last month by Major-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service Director, recommending to local draft boards that they give serious consideration to exempting from military service any man who had completed thirty-two months of merchant marine service.

"In our view, that was an ill-advised move, tending to cause needed men to quit the Merchant Marine service," the N. M. U. A. spokesman said. "We pointed this out at the time, and opposed the issuance of the memorandum."

The New York Port of Embarkation said this afternoon that no ships operated by the Army were tied up in the harbor here, but that it was "aware of the delays on other ships reported by the WSA." The Port of Embarkation said it could give no estimate on the number of ships delayed here.

SENATE VOTES HIKE IN FEDERAL WAGES

Pay Increase of 11 Pct. Favored for Million Government Workers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—(AP) A sliding-scale pay increase averaging 11 per cent for an estimated 1,100,000 government workers was approved in the Senate today and sent to the House.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.), who backed the measure as a substitute for a more liberal one by Senator Downey (D-Calif.), said it would offset the increased cost of living for all workers now under classified civil service. He said, however, that it covered only about one-third of the 3,000,000-odd government workers.

Downey Protests

Downey, who tried in vain for two weeks to win a flat 20 per cent hike, bitterly protested the Byrd substitute.

"If this was offered by any large corporation or business to its employes, the workers would go off the job the following day," Downey told the Senate.

But the Senate on a 47 to 19 roll call vote accepted the plan sponsored jointly by Senators Byrd, Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and Hart (R-Conn.).

Byrd offered a table which showed that government workers formerly getting $1,440 annually would receive $1,632 or an increase of 13.3. The rate of the pay boost decreases as salaries mount until workers getting $8,500 would receive $9,067 or an increase of 6.68 per cent.

Downey contended that the graduated increase met higher living costs only for the lowest-salary bracket.

"This is grossly inequitable and unfair," he shouted.

Measure Passes, 62 to 3

Once the method of increase was agreed upon the Senate made fast work of passing the measure finally, 62 to 3, and sending it to the House. Senators opposing it were Connally (D-Tex.), Ellender (D-La.) and O'Daniel (D-Tex.).

The plan would eliminate a graduated raise of about 16 per cent that became effective in July and substitute the following: 36 per cent increase on the first $1,200 of pay; 18 per cent increase on pay from $1,200 to $4,600; and 9 per cent increase on pay above $4,600 up to a limit of $10,000.

Byrd said the increase would apply to all classified federal workers including those paid on an hourly basis; to all legislative employes; and to all judiciary employes other than judges and officials.

Not covered are large groups of postal workers, workers in agencies exempted from classified service, and a large group of employes of the War and Navy departments and other warfare agencies.

Byrd told the Senate that the present total of more than 3,000,000 government workers "could be reduced by almost one half" and the government could "still conduct business in an efficient manner."

Senate Approves Bill To Sell 50 Million Tons Surplus Ships

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Legislation providing for disposal of some 50,000,000 tons of surplus wartime ships won approval in the Senate late today on a voice vote.

Senator Radcliffe (D., Md.), floor manager for the bill covering approximately $10,000,000,000 worth of vessels, said he hoped to win House approval of Senate changes before Congress quits for the holidays.

4,750 Ships Involved

The legislation fixes standards for the Maritime Commission in disposal of 4,750 ships bought or built to help win the war.

"The government wants to get rid of these ships as quickly as it can be done," Radcliffe said. He added that sales and charters probably woul not bring more than one-third of war time costs.

Sales would be limited to American citizens for the first 90 days with sales to foreigners after that period. Buyers must pay down 25 per cent of the value fixed by the Maritime Commission. Balance could be paid over 20 years with interests at 3½ per cent.

House passage of the bill. Actually, the Senate still has to act. A member of the Senate Naval committee said today he doubted if the bill could be disposed of in the few days remaining before the holiday recess.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Naval committee said the V-12 program will have no funds with which to operate after next March unless the legislation is enacted.

Price Floors Set

Price floors of not less than 31.5 per cent of wartime costs are fixed for certain cargo ships with similar floors of 75 per cent of wartime costs on tankers.

United States citizens could charter the ships on a basis of fifteen per cent of adjusted cost per year. A State Department request to allow England, Russia, Norway and other wartime allies to charter some 660 ships they now operate under lend-lease was defeated by the Senate 36-28.

All ships not sold by December 31, 1947, would be "frozen" in a special defense maritime reserve or junked.

V-12 BILL STILL PENDING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. — (AP) Legislation authorizing the Navy to continue its V-12 training program through next June may be side-tracked until after the first of the year.

The Associated Press stated erroneously yesterday that congressional action on the proposed authority had been completed with

IF ATOM BOMB HIT NEW YORK

Dr. Urey Gives Picture of Resulting Holocaust.

Washington, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Dr. Harold C. Urey of Columbia University said today that an atomic bomb dropped midway between New York's financial district and the uptown section would wipe out both areas.

He spoke at a meeting of representatives of fifty national organizations which are seeking to set up "national liaison committees on atomic information."

Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.), chairman of the Senate Atomic Committee, told the gathering that in the abcence of international control of atomic bombs "you can't plan anything for your children—you cannot rest. It's not living."

The meeting planned to take action on setting up a committee "widely representative of lay organizations" for the purpose of providing a medium through which the atomic scientists and their colleagues can work for public understanding of the social implications of atomic energy.

Asserting that estimates have been made that other nations may succeed in producing atomic bombs within five years, McMahon said:

"We've got to get international control in five years or before that. This damn bomb won't go off in stages, so control of it should not be made in stages.

"I can't see this program of exchanging scientists and exchanging scientific ideas and then waiting a little while to see what will happen. If it's five years that we've got, we've got to settle this thing right away. I think there's an immediacy about the situation that cannot be overlooked."

McMahon said an inspection system designed for the international control of the bomb would be difficult but would provide the best means of control.

Plane Transport Also Likely

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Reports from authoritative American sources in Peiping said yesterday that the United States Army's Air Transport Command would fly Chinese Central Government troops to Mukden and Harbin, both of which are inland Manchurian cities and not ports.

The State Department later said that although today's directive to General Wedemeyer specifically stated "Manchurian ports," it was the Department's view that General Wedemeyer could use air transport to get Nationalist troops anywhere in Manchuria he deemed necessary.

TEMPORARY HOUSING FOR VETERANS SPEEDED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—(AP) The House today approved a $160,000,000 temporary housing program for distressed war veterans and their families.

It passed and returned to the Senate for action on an amendment legislation authorizing the expenditure of that amount by the National Housing administrator to acquire temporary Federal-owned housing no longer needed and send it into housing shortage areas.

Approximately 100,000 units are expected to be made available to municipalities without cost—except for land sites—and to educational institutions needing housing for G.I. students.

Rail Jam May Hold GI's on Coast Until After Christmas Holiday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 — (AP) The Army said tonight that 82,000 GIs from the Pacific would have to spend Christmas in west coast ports awaiting transportation home unless the rail jam cleared up.

The Navy announced that many of its men scheduled for discharge or furlough will be in the same fix, too, but gave no figures.

Hoping to relieve the situation some, the Office of Defense Transportation ordered all railroads west of the Mississippi to move troop trains "just as fast as they do their regular passenger trains" from now until March 1.

The order directs western railroads moving troop trains or empty cars for troop shipments to "establish and maintain schedules for movement of such trains over its lines equal in respect of speed of operation to that of the railroad's normal passenger train schedules."

The Army's statement reported that more than 35,000 soldiers had been waiting more than 48 hours for trains to the east as of last midnight. It added that with 110,700 more troops expected to reach west coast ports between now and Dec. 24 "the backlog will continue to mount rapidly."

From San Francisco came word that nearly 100,000 soldiers and sailors in all were in west coast staging areas and ports awaiting transportation. Of these heaviest concentration, 45,000, was in the San Francisco area. Los Angeles reported 17,000 men in two camps ashore and 10,000 aboard ships in the harbor, with the jam expected to last through the holidays.

The Army Transportation corps said that the recent directive by the Association of American Railroads ordering 1,000 more coaches diverted to the west had not had noticeable effect as yet.

The situation has become so serious that troops had to remain aboard troop ships at San Francisco last night because there was no room for them in the staging areas ashore. It was expected that five ships would be used for this purpose tonight.

The Navy announced that the return of troops from Europe was being slowed by bad weather.

The cruiser Augusta and the Aircraft carrier Wasp have both suffered some damage in a 70-mile gale that has swept the Atlantic off the British coast.

The Augusta had left Le Havre on Dec. 14 with troops—the exact number unknown here but on her last trip home she carried 1,096. The storm damaged her starboard side. Resulting in several small leaks and she turned back toward England. She tentatively plans to disembark the troops at Southampton and undergo repairs.

The Wasp enroute from New York to Southampton suffered some damage to her flight deck. She was due in the British port Dec. 18 and has messaged she will be about 24 hours late.

LEXINGTON SIGHTED BY JAP SUBMARINE

Washington, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—One of the Japanese submarines, stealing toward Pearl Harbor for the attack on December 7, 1941, sighted the aircraft carrier Lexington on December 6 but did not attack, congressional investigators learned today.

This was brought out in one of the documents supplied to the Pearl Harbor Committee by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo. It was the story of Japanese submarine operations, as told by two naval officers to a former Japanese war correspondent, M. Hanakata.

The subs which participated in the attack left Yokosuka naval base on November 11, Japanese time, Hantkata said in an article published on October 30, 1945. The submarines were ordered to attack any American vessels escaping from Plear Harbor and to rescue downed Japanese flyers.

On December 6, Hawaiian and United States time, the story said one submarine sighted the Lexington, "but no trouble ensued." The story told of the launching of the two-man midget submarines from the decks of five larger submarines just before the attack began.

The submarines followed the upheaval in the harbor only through occasional land explosions that came through deep water, but at night Hanakata said that one of the commanders "detected from the periscope a huge firy column which marked the end of the U. S. S. Arizona."

The commander sent out messages about this, with the result that American destroyers pursued him and "dropped depth charges madly." The submarine got away, the story said, after remaining submerged thirty-nine hours, but "all hopes of rescuing fellow-fighters who had been shot down had been abandoned."

Merger Message Due Tomorrow

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—The White House said today that President Truman's message on the proposed Army-Navy unification definitely will be sent to Congress tomorrow.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told his news conference that the lengthy message was virtually complete. He declined to say what position the President will take. The Army has advocated establishment of a single defense agency and the Navy has opposed it.

30.24-32483

Universal Training Urged By Legion

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—John Stelle, national commander of the American Legion, declared at a congressional hearing today that the United States must "keep a gun cocked" by adopting universal military training.

Submitting to the House Military Committee the Legion's plan for four months of intensive training, Stelle said:

"That gun can be in the form of a large, standing armed force or it can be in the form of a small highly trained regular force and trained citizen army and reserve components."

"Large Army Repugnant"

"The first is repugnant to our way of life, but the second conforms to it," he added.

S. Perry Brown, of Beaumont, Texas, chairman of the Legion's national defense program, then outlined to the committee the training program that the Legion adopted at its Chicago convention last month. This calls for up to four months of intensive basic training for all youths between 18 and 20, and those of 17 who have parental consent. Trainees would then be given optional ways of completing their year of training—in the armed forces, the National Guard, the ROTC, college or industry.

What "Co-Operation" Was

Douglas Whitlock, former president of the Producers' Council, Inc., said he had understood the conference was to be a co-operative industry-labor-Government undertaking.

"The co-operation," Whitlock said, "amounted to this. we were told: 'Here's a priority program and you are going to take it.'"

Both Northup and Whitlock contended that the primary construction bottleneck is OPA's "unrealistic price policy."

Whitlock also asserted that a new Government regulation to channel 50 per cent of building materials to home construction would actually be used to fix prices on houses.

Outlines Purposes

In asserting purposes of the conference had been attained, John B. Blandford, Jr., national housing administrator, said these were twofold:

1. To share Government information about the housing shortage with industry and labor representatives of the construction industry.

2. To review Government plans to stimulate home construction.

Whitlock said that while the construction industry found the new program objectionable, "we will co-operate as best we can."

He told the conference that the Government program should have been discusse dwith an industry advisory committee before it was announced by President Truman.

While he pledged industry co-operation, Whitlock said in effect that since the Government had initiated the program, it would have to take responsibility for the outcome.

Consultations Planned

Answering Whitlock's criticism, John D. Small, civilian production administrator, said various segments of the construction industry would be consulted on details of the program. Only the general outline has been announced, Small said, and one of the purposes of the current conference is to get industry's views on how the plan can best be put into effect.

A spokesman for the National Housing Agency, reporting developments at today's closed session of the conference, said also that labor and management delegates had agreed to appoint a committee to work with the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion on homebuilding.

Management delegates emphasized, the NHA spokesman said, that price increases for building materials are needed to get home construction rolling.

525,000 New Housing Units

Chicago, Dec. 18 (AP)—Boris Shishkin, American Federation of Labor economist, estimated today construction of 600,000 new housing units would be begun in 1946 and "525,000 or more" would be completed next year.

"The labor supply required for this volume of housing, restricted as it must be because of material shortages, will be generally adequate with only scattered, extremely limited shortages," Shishkin declared in a talk to a reconversion conference sponsored by the Public Administration Clearing House.

"No difficulty is expected in the unskilled labor supply," he said, but added that "a limited" shortage of masons might develop because of "a reluctance to build all-frame housing."

The reluctance, he forecast, will result from the acute lumber shortage and the probability that the green lumber available will crack, buckle and warp, contributing to postconstruction problems and difficulty of maintenance.

Industry's Heads Call U.S. Housing Plans 'Unrealistic'

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Construction industry leaders today assailed the Government's new housing program as "unworkable" and "unrealistic."

They made these assertions after adjournment of a two-day Government-sponsored housing conference and following statements by Federal officials that the session had accomplished its purpose.

H. R. Northup, secretary-manager of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association, told a news conference that management delegates "didn't come here to get shoved around for two days."

"We would like the idea of a conference," Northup added, "if the Government people had not made up their minds before it was called on just what was going to be done."

PRICE WARNS OF CENSORSHIP

Says Opinions Should Not Be Under Restraint

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Byron Price, former censorship director, left a parting warning tonight that opinions and criticisms cannot and should not be brought "under Government restraint."

His final report, released by the White House, asserted that censorship "should come into being solely as an instrument of war."

Even in war, Price declared, its work must be confined to (1) depriving the enemy of information and (2) collecting intelligence which can be used against the enemy.

Should Not Be Restrained

"Editorial opinions and criticisms never can be brought under Government restraint, and ought not to be, so long as our present form of government endures," Price wrote, "and any censorial excursion into that realm would most certainly destroy the respect and confidence of the censored and lead to collapse of the entire structure."

In this country, Price asserted, "no one who does not dislike censorship should ever be permitted to exercise censorship."

"All planning for censorship should rest firmly on a determination to apply restraints in such a way as to preserve, rather than destroy, free institutions and individual liberties."

Wartime Censorship

Even wartime censorship, in a free country, he said, "ought to be voluntary, as a matter of principle."

He said American voluntary censorship demonstrated during the war could be fully as effective "as such compulsory systems as those of Britain and Canada, where many flagrant violations have gone unpunished because public sentiment would not support punishment."

"Censorship of the dissemination of public information must hold unceasingly, day in and day out, to the single purpose of keeping dangerous information from the enemy," Price said.

Done Voluntarily

In his report, he pointed out that thousands of items of information endangering the nation's security were kept out of the press and off the radio "by editors and broadcasters under the voluntary censorship program."

"In its offensive operations, censorship provided Government agencies with interceptive information which would aid in the prosecution of the war," he said. "It helped weave a bright pattern of accomplishments in such fields as counterespionage and economic warfare."

He pointed out that censorship helped keep the enemy guessing about the North African invasion, the Casablanca conference, and the preparation which preceded D-day.

Secret Of Atomic Bomb

Equally successful, he said, were censorship's many months of watchfulness to preserve the secret of the atomic bomb.

"Thousands of intercepts," he said, "were produced by censorship to strengthen Allied war production and to weaken the enemies."

He said a single intercept enabled the War Production Board to obtain $25,000,000 worth of much-needed textiles, and another communication saved the Government $11,000,000 by disclosing the possibility of a more favorable price on Mexican alcohol.

SAYS MANKIND MUST ORGANIZE

Lindbergh Asserts Science Leaves No Alternative.

Washington, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Charles A. Lindbergh says man's science has brought him to a choice of whether he will live in an organized world or in constant insecurity.

Aircraft and the atomic bomb, the one-time non-interventionist declared at an Aero Club dinner, have made it "no longer a question of whether or not we should have world organization, but of what form it should take."

Lindbergh chose a celebration of the forty-second anniversary of the Wright brothers' flight for his first public address since 1941. At that time he resigned his colonel's commission in the Air Force Reserve during a dispute with the late President Roosevelt over foreign policy.

"I have advocated tonight a world organization backed by military power, organization led by Western peoples who developed modern science with its aviation and its atomic bomb," Lindbergh said last night. "But I must confess to you that I am fearful of the use of power. I plead for strong military forces only because I believe the alternative is worse."

Successful organization to prevent misuse of aircraft and atomic energy, he declared, would "mark a greater epoch in human relationships than their invention marked in science. Yet if we fail, the penalty is staggering. We can succeed only by organizing all nations toward this end."

The world organization, he suggested, will be a compromise between "the nations which have control on the basis of ability" and "the nations which would control on the basis of counting heads." Whatever its form, he concluded, it must hew to a Christian code of "integrity, humility and compassion that are lacking all over this post-war world."

PAPER CURB NEAR END

Washington, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—A high Government official said today that an order revoking newsprint controls at year's end has cleared all but one hurdle.

Announcement of the order awaits only a go-ahead from Reconversion Director John W. Snyder, said this official. The order was drafted and scheduled for announcement yesterday by the Civilian Production Administration, it was learned.

This plan was canceled when Snyder's office, in clearing the press release, suggested that some of the language be changed. There was no disagreement, it was said, on whether the order should be revoked.

The CPA moved to revoke Federal restrictions on use of newsprint after receiving the two recommendations to that effect from the Newspaper Publishers Industry Advisory Committee.

The committee, which said that revocation should be effective December 31, also recommended at a meeting early this month that a voluntary newsprint distribution plan be put into use when Government controls are abandoned.

SHIPBOARD CHRISTMAS FOR 1,500 IN YD DIVISION

BOSTON, Dec. 18—(AP) Christmas will come on Dec. 26 for 1,500 soldiers of the famed Yankee division. That's the day they will arrive at Boston aboard the Lewistown Victory, the War department said.

Although Governor Maurice J. Tobin's suggested victory parade was rejected as "impossible" by the War department, the YD men, all of the 101st regiment, will come ashore to an official reception in charge of Brig.-Gen. William J. Blake, chief of staff of the Massachusetts State militia and former president of the YD Veterans association.

WORLD STANDARDS NEEDED FOR PEACE,

BRADEN DECLARES

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 18—(AP) Establishment of standards of law to regulate the conduct of nations was advocated today by Spruille Braden, Assistant Secretary of State, as a means of combatting unauthorized control of governments.

Braden, former United States ambassador to Argentina, said in a prepared lecture at Yale that there was "no better way to prevent a man from seizing unauthorized power than to set standards of law which regulate his conduct equally with that of his fellows."

"It is the same with governments," he contended in his lecture, entitled "Peace, Freedom and Law Are Inseparable," as he asserted that the recent war demonstrated that "nothing so threatens the peace and the freedom of mankind as the exercise of absolute, unlimited, and consequently irresponsible power."

Braden, who is in charge of inter-American affairs, said that the "weight of the law with all its consequence" should fall on any man who "embarks on rebellion." Such enforcement of the law by "the international community," he said, "is not intervention, any more than indifference to the law is neutrality."

The State department official said that among the causes for the world's "present plight," was the "backwardness of our political thinking" when contrasted with scientific and technological advances.

As a result, he said, "Man has won an extraordinary freedom from the tyranny of nature," but "remains in many cases politically shackled."

He said:

"Small wealth and insignificant power are subject to the impartial rule of established law and under it, enjoy an orderly and peaceful existence. But the great concentration of power too often escape the arm of the law; they may be employed irresponsibly with impunity. x x x

"In the field of science, human liberty knows no other limitations than those imposed by the laws of nature; in the political area, man's liberty may be subjected to the caprice of his lowest fellow."

With the few exceptions, said Braden, the theory of "inviolable popular sovereignty" still remains an unrealized ideal, an aspiration, a distant goal of human endeavor."

"I need hardly dwell here," he said, "on the degree to which this ideal was defeated in Germany and Italy, and is today being frustrated in the countries that smother under the several national varieties of international Fascism."

104 Warship Armada Coming to N.Y. Harbor

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—(AP) The Third Naval district today announced that 104 warships—an armada more than twice as large as the 47-ship fleet anchored in the Hudson river on Navy day, Oct. 27—would be berthed in New York harbor Christmas day.

They will be here in keeping with an order by Navy Secretary James Forrestal that all personnel possible be permitted Christmas leave or liberty.

Twenty-one classes of fighting ships will be at docks in Manhattan, Brooklyn, Staten Island and New Jersey, including battleships, cruisers, destroyers, submarines and their tenders, minelayers and ammunition ships, freighters and transports, landing craft and submarine chasers.

Queen Mary Sails With 500 Passengers

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Cunard White Star liner Queen Mary sailed for England early today with more than 500 passengers. Line officials said the passenger list was the largest since the start of the war.

Among the passengers were Juan Negrin, last Premier of republican Spain, and Lord Riverdale, English steel manufacturer.

Rise In Newsprint Costs 20 Millions

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—American newspaper publishers will pay approximately $20,000,000 more to put out their papers next year on the basis of an increase of $6 a ton just granted on the price of newsprint.

The action was taken, Government quarters said, to "check further decrease in United States newsprint production, which has been gradually declining for some years."

As production has gone down, the price of newsprint has risen. The price of newsprint delivered in New York was $50 a ton just prior to Pearl Harbor. With the latest increase, the new ceiling will be $67 a ton on the same basis.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association, which has made no public comment on the price increase, figures that 140,000 full-sized newspaper pages can be produced from a ton of newsprint. This would figure down to 4,666 copies of a 30-page newspaper per ton.

Government sources estimated that approximately 3,250,000 tons of newsprint are consumed in this country annually.

Service Men Housed on Ships

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18 (AP).—More than 45,000 Pacific veterans were here today, awaiting rail transportation east. Fourteen ships scheduled to arrive today will add another 14,000 men to the backlog.

Because housing could not immediately be found for them, more than 5,000 troops remained overnight aboard three ships that arrived yesterday. It was not the first time this had been done here.

One of the arrivals yesterday—the American Legion, a twin-screw transport—was delayed by the loss of a propellor off the California coast.

Returning Vessels Crowd Port

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18 (AP).—Harried port officials worked around the clock today to handle an ever-increasing swarm of returning service men.

More than 7,209 veterans came ashore yesterday, but officials faced the task of handling nearly 15,000 more on twenty newly arriving vessels.

Railroad, airline and bus officials reported they are moving 20,000 service personnel in and out of this area each day, exclusive of government-ordered equipment. Military authorities refuse figures on departing service men.

While 7,209 were debarked yesterday, 5,600 more remain aboard ships already docked. There is no place for them to go—at least for the immediate present.

"Is it true that Christmas has been postponed until Jan. 25?" asked a disgruntled G. I., as reporters came over the hail of his ship.

The last of the famed 37th (Buckeye Division), mostly from Ohio, and 3,200 strong, surged ashore yesterday and boarded trains for separation centers. They had waited aboard ships for forty-eight hours.

Visa-Less Pilgrims In Sailboat Barred

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 18 (AP).—Entrance to the United States was denied today by immigration officials to sixteen Estonians who landed her Saturday after sailing their thirty-seven-foot sailboat for 129 days across the seas from Stockholm, Sweden, in the hope that they could begin anew lives that had been upset by European wars and oppressions.

None of the group, composed of seven men, five women and four small girls possessed visas nor had any of them consulted an American consul before starting their hazardous voyage to America.

The group has appealed the action of the immigration authorities in denying them the right of entry, and it is expected that it will be at least several weeks before the United States Attorney General, the final authority, will reach a decision.

In the mean time, immigration officials said, all of the Estonians will be paroled.

ERNEST BEVIN AND U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES IN MOSCOW.

THE BROADCAST SAID THE CORRESPONDENTS DECLARED THIS WAS "NOT IN HARMONY WITH THE PRINCIPLES OF DEMOCRACY WHICH WERE THE REASON FOR THE MEETING " OF THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE BIG THREE POWERS

THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE IN LONDON SAID IT HAD NO KNOWLEDGE OF THE INCIDENT.

LONDON, DEC. 18 -- (AP) -- INCREASED PENSIONS FOR BRITISH ENLISTED MEN WERE ANNOUNCED TONIGHT IN A GOVERNMENT WHITE PAPER WHICH ESTIMATED THE RAISES WOULD COST AN ADDITIONAL 9,000,000 POUNDS, (xxxx ($36,000,000), AND WOULD RISE TO DOUBLE THAT BEFORE THE NUMBER OF

UNO

LONDON, DEC 18-(AP)-CHOICE OF A SPECIFIC AMERICAN CITY AS THE SITE FOR THE PERMANENT UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION HEADQUARTERS PROBABLY WILL BE LEFT UP TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY WHICH CONVENES JAN. 10, DELEGATES TO THE PREPARATORY COMMISSION SAID TODAY.

A SUB-COMMITTEE, WHICH FOR THE PAST THREE WEEKS HAS BEEN HEARING CLAIMS OF 40 OR MORE CITIES BIDDING FOR THE UNO HEADQUARTERS, WILL PRESENT ITS DATA TO THE GENERAL SITES COMMITTEE FRIDAY. THE GENERAL BELIEF WAS THAT THE COMMITTEE WOULD SELECT FIVE OR SIX OF THE BIDDING CITIES AND PASS THE FINAL CHOICE ON TO THE ASSEMBLY.

SOME DELEGATES WERE OF THE OPINION THAT EVEN THE ASSEMBLY MIGHT NOT BE ABLE TO SELECT A SITE AT ITS FIRST SESSION. BRITISH DELEGATE PHILIP J. NOEL-BAKER SUGGESTED INFORMALLY THAT IT MIGHT BE ADVISABLE TO SELECT A TEMPORARY SITE IN THE UNITED STATES BEFORE THE FINAL DECISION IS MADE.

M502AES

LONDON, DEC. 18--(AP)---- THE BELGRADE RADIO TODAY BROADCAST A REPORT FROM MOSCOW THAT YUGOSLAV, FRENCH, POLISH AND SOME OTHER CORRESPONDENTS HAD COMPLAINED THEY WERE EXCLUDED IRN FROM PRESS CONFERENCES HELD UPON THE ARRIVAL OF BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY

DEC 19 1945

30.24-32485

PENSIONERS STARTS FALLING OFF.

APPROXIMATELY 900,000 PERSONS ARE EXPTECTED TO BENEFIT UNDER THE PLAN, WHICH PROVIDES WEEKLY PENSIONS OF 45 SHILLINGS ~~XXXX~~ ($9) INSTEAD OF THE FORMER 40 SHILLINGS ($8) FOR A 100 PERCENT DISABLED PRIVATE.

BENEFITS FOR LESSER DEGREES OF DISABILITY WILL BE RAISED PROPORTIONATELY.

LONDON, DEC. 18 (AP)--BRITAIN'S ROYAL FAMILY ENTERTAINED MORE THAN 180 MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS STAFF FOR NEARLY TWO HOURS TOD AT A CHRISTMAS TEA IN BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

THE GUESTS, MOSTLY AMERICANS WITH A FEW BRITONS, WERE SELECTED FOR THEIR LONG SERVICE OVERSEAS.

KING GEORGE, V11 IN A NAVAL UNIFORM, QUEEN ELIZABETH AND THE PRINCESSES ELIZABETH AND MARGARET GREETED THE GUESTS.

"THEY WERE VERY HUMAN, VERY SIMPLE AND VERY REAL," COMMENTEI MRS. REBECCA S. HAMILTON OF 415 EAST 51ST ST., NEW YORK CITY, ON THE ROYAI FAMILY. MRS. HAMILTON IS DIRECTOR OF THE RED CROSS RAINBOW CORNER CLUB.

CHARLES B. ROGERS OF 1914 LA SALLE AVE., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., A RED CROSS OFFICIAL, SAID IT WAS "THE MOST GRACIOUS AND CHARMING RECOGNITION SINCE WE'VE BEEN OVER HERE."

PETER S. RIDLEY OF 745 GIRARD ST., N.W., WASHINGTON, D.C., DIRECTOR OF THE DUCHESS CLUB, A NEGRO CLUB IN LONDON, SAID THE KING WAS A "VERY CORDIAL HOST."

"HE ASKED ME MY IMPRESSION OF ENGLAND," RIDLEY SAID, "AND I TOLD HIM I WAS IMPRESSED WITH THE FORTITUDE OF THE PEOPLE."

APL MACKLINS 2304S AM635P

PARIS, DEC 18-(AP)-NORMAN ARMOUR, ACCOMPANIED BY HIS WIFE, LEFT PARIS LAST NIGHT BY PLANE FOR WASHINGTON TO REPORT ON HIS RECENTLY COMPLETED MISSION AS UNITED STATES AMBASSADOR TO SPAIN. HIS RETIREMENT FROM FOREIGN SERVICE AFTER 35 YEARS WAS ANNOUNCED LAST MONTH.

-DASH-

PARIS, DEC. 18 - (AP) - THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY'S CONSTITUTIONAL COMMISSION DECIDED TODAY THAT PRESIDENTS OF THE FOURTH REPUBLIC SHOULD BE ELECTED BY THE ASSEMBLY FOR A SIX-YEAR TERM AND COULD BE ELIGIBLE FOR ONLY ONE REELECTION.

THE COMMISSION ALSO VOYTED TO MAINTAIN THE OFFICE OF

1945

PREMIER BY DECIDING AGAINST ALLOWING THE SAME PERSON TO HOLD BOTH

BE PRESIDENT AND PREMIER AT THE SAME TIME.

UNDER THE THIRD REPUBLIC THE PRESIDENT SERVED A SEVEN-YEAR

TERM AND WAS NOT ELIGIBLE FOR REELECTION.

BY LOUIS P.LOCHNER

NUERNBERG,DEC.18-(AP)-ADOLF HITLER'S TOP SECRET WAR ORDERS SHOWED TODAY THAT THE FUEHRER ONCE PLANNED TO INVADE THE MIDDLE EAST, TO WAGE WAR ON TURKEY IF NECESSARY AND MADE READY IN 1940 TO OCCUPY THE WHOLE OF FRANCE.

WHEN COL.-GEN.GUSTAV JODL, GERMAN ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF, WAS CAPTURED LAST MAY HE RELUCTANTLY SURRENDERED A LEATHER BRIEF-CASE WHICH HE SEEMED TO CHERISH MORE THAN ANY OTHER POSSESSION. THE CASE CONTAINED MORE THAN 50 OF HITLER'S ORIGINAL WAR ORDERS.

"I WANT THEM PRESERVED FOR POSTERITY," JODL SUGGESTED.

SOME OF THE ORDERS HAVE BEEN SUBMITTED IN EVIDENCE IN THE WAR CRIMI TRIAL, IN WHICH JODL IS A DEFENDANT. THE REMAINDER, KEPT IN A BOMB-PROOF SAFE, WERE MADE AVAILABLE TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WAR ORDER NO. 9, DATED NOV. 29, 1939, INDICATED THAT HITLER CONSIDERED GREAT BRITAIN HIS MOST FORMIDABLE ENEMY AND THAT THE "PRE-REQUISITE FOR FINAL VICTORY IS TO BEAT ENGLAND." TO DO THIS, ONCE THE GERMANS HAD DISPOSED OF THE "BRITISH-FRENCH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE," HITLER PLANNED THAT HIS NAVY AND AIR FORCE SHOULD BOMB AND BLOCKADE BRITAIN INTO SUBMISSION.

APPARENTLY REALIZING THAT HE HAD UNDERESTIMATED BRITISH TENACITY, HITLER ISSUED ORDER NO. 30 ON MAY 23, 1941, ANNOUNCING HIS INTENTION OF SUPPORTING IRAQ AGAINST BRITAIN AS THE FIRST STEP OF A MIDDLE EAST OFFENSIVE DESIGNED TO WEAKEN THE BRITISH.

"I HAVE THEREFORE DECIDED," A SUBSEQUENT ORDER SAID, "TO DRIVE DEVELOPMENTS IN THE MIDDLE EAST FORWARD BY SUPPORTING IRAQ. WHETHER AND HOW THE ENGLISH POSITION--IN CONNECTION WITH THE OFFENSIVE AGAINS. THE SUEZ CANAL--CAN BE BROUGHT TO COLLAPSE WILL BE DECIDED ONLY AFTER BARBAROSA (AN ARMY CODE NAME FOR THE INVASION OF RUSSIA)."

THE MIDDLE EAST PLAN COLLAPSED, OBVIOUSLY BECAUSE THE RED ARMY NEVER DID.

NOT PUTTING ALL HIS EGGS IN THE IRAQIAN BASKET, HOWEVER, HITLER ALSO ORDERED A "COORDINATION OF THE FIGHT AGAINST THE BRITISH POSITION IN THE MEDITERRANEAN AND THE NEAR AND MIDDLE EAST BY A CONCENTRIC ATTACK WHICH IS PLANNED FROM LIBYA THROUGH EGYPT, FROM BULGARIA THROUGH TURKEY AND POSSIBLY ALSO FROM TRANSCAUCASIA THROUGH IRAN."

A117

THE BULGARIAN-TURKISH DRIVE WAS NECESSARY, ACCORDING TO HITLER GENERALSHIP, "IN CONSIDERATION THAT ENGLISH REINFORCEMENTS ARE TO BE EXPECTED IN THE NEAR AND MIDDLE EAST AND ESPECIALLY FOR RENDERING THE SUEZ CANAL SECURE" AND WITH THE AIM "OF ATTACKING THE BRITISH POSITION AT THE SUEZ CANAL FROM THE EAST."

"FOR THIS PURPOSE," ONE ORDER READ, "PREPARATIONS MUST BE MADE AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE TO ASSEMBLE SUCH STRONG FORCES IN BULGARIA AS ARE NECESSARY TO MAKE TURKEY TRACTABLE OR TO BREAK ITS RESISTANCE BY FORCE OF ARMS."

SIX MONTHS AFTER FRANCE SURRENDERED TO GERMANY IN THE EARLY STAGES OF THE WAR, HITLER BECAME RESTIVE OVER POSSIBLE "SUBVERSIVE RESISTANCE MOVEMENTS X X X IN THOSE PARTS OF THE FRENCH COLONIAL EMPIRE (NORTH AFRICA) WHICH ARE NOW COMMANDED BY GEN (MAXIME) WEYGAND."

ORDER NO. 19, DATED DEC. 10, 1940, STATED THAT IF SUCH RESISTANCE APPEARED, "THE QUICK OCCUPATION OF SECTIONS OF THE FRENCH MOTHERLAND NOW STILL UNOCCUPIED IS TO BE PREPARED."

"AT THE SAME TIME THE FRENCH HOME FLEET AND SECTIONS OF THE FRENCH AIR FORCE STATIONED AT HOME PORTS MUST BE SEIZED ON OR AT LEAST PREVENTED FROM GOING OVER TO THE ENEMY. PREPARATIONS OF THIS UNDERTAKING ARE TO BE CAMOUFLAGED IN ORDER TO AVOID ALARMING THE FRENCH."

THE FUEHRER CONSIDERED THIS PLAN OF SUCH IMPORTANCE THAT THE ORDER SPECIFIED THAT NOT EVEN HIS CLOSE ALLY BENITO MUSSOLINI BE APPRISED OF IT. HOWEVER, A SUBSEQUENT ORDER CANCELED THE PLAN AND SUBSTITUTED "GUIDING LINES FOR OPERATIONS AGAINST REMAINING FRANCE AND THE IBERIAN PENINSULA" WHICH PROVIDED FOR ITALIAN PARTICIPATION.

MJ1017AES

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, DEC. 18-(AP)-VICE ADM. WILLIAM GLASSFORD HAS BEEN APPOINTED COMMANDER OF U.S. NAVAL FORCES IN GERMANY, UNITED STATES HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED TODAY. GLASSFORD FORMERLY WAS COMMANDER IN NORTH AFRICAN WATERS. HE SUCCEEDS VICE ADM. ROBERT L. GHORMLEY, WHO WAS RETURNING TO THE UNITED STATES.

DEC 19 1945

A104

ROME, DEC 17-(AP)-A DISPATCH FROM THE ITALIAN NEWS AGENCY ANSA SAID A MUNITIONS DUMP NEAR TRENTO BLEW UP TONIGHT, INJURING A NUMBER OF BRITISH SOLDIERS PASSING IN A TRUCK AND SHATTERING ALL WINDOWS IN THE ADJACENT VILLAGES OF LAVIS AND GANDOLO.

JJ1047PES

ROME, DEC. 18-(AP)-POPE PIUS XII TODAY RECEIVED CHAPLAINS JAMES E.DURAN OF CINCINNATI, O., AND SWANSTON (FIRST NAME UNAVAILABLE) OF RUSSELVE, N.Y., BOTH ATTACHED TO THE WAR RELIEF SERVICES OF THE NATIONAL CATHOLIC WELFARE CONFERENCE. BOTH ARE RETURNING TO THE UNITED STATES SOON.

B43

VX

VATICAN CITY, DEC.18-(AP)-HAROLD H.TITTMAN, JR., COUNSELOR OF THE AMERICAN REPRESENTATION AT THE HOLY SEE, LEFT BY PLANE TODAY FOR THE UNITED STATES. MYRON C.TAYLOR, PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S SPECIAL ENVOY, WILL HANDLE THOSE DUTIES AS WELL AS HIS OWN DURING TITTMAN'S ABSENCE.

JPD 47AES

30.24-32487

WARSAW, DEC. 18 -- (AP) -- U. S. AIR ATTACHE, LT. COL. EDWARD J. YORK TODAY TELEGRAPHED THE WAR DEPARTMENT THAT INVESTIGATION HAD ESTABLISHED THAT LIEUT. DAVID ~~HERR~~ MILLICE OF ST. LOUIS, MO., DIED IN A RUSSIAN FIELD HOSPITAL AT WAGRONEIC, POLAND, AFTER HIS LIBERATION FROM THE NAZI CONCENTRATION CAMP ~~XXXXX~~ OFLAG NO. 64 LAST JANUARY.

DEC 19 1945

MILLICE, SON OF C. T. MILLICE OF 815 OLIVE STREET, ST. LOUIS, WAS RECOVERING FROM PNEUMONIA AT THE TIME THE RED ARMY TROOPS CAPTURED THE CAMP, AND ~~XXXXXXX~~ SUBSEQUENTLY WAS REMOVED WESTWARD.

INVESTIGATION BY OFFICIALS ~~HE~~ AT THE NEARBY TOWN OF SKOKI REVEALED THAT MILLICE WAS BURIED AT THE WAGRONEIC CEMETERY, WHERE THEY FOUND A HEADSTONE BEARING HIS NAME IN RUSSIAN -- "DAVID MILLICE AMERICAN LIEUTENANT, FLIER, DIED IN DEFENSE OF FATHERLAND."

MILLICE WAS AN ARTILLERYMAN, BUT IT IS BELIEVED THE RUSSIANS ~~HERE~~ CONFUSED THE BRANCHES OF SERVICE.

A139

SECOND NIGHT LEAD CONFERENCE

BY EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, DEC 18-(AP)-THE "BIG THREE" FOREIGN MINISTERS WERE SAID BY INFORMED QUARTERS AT THE CONCLUSION OF THEIR THIRD FORMAL SESSION TONIGHT TO BE WELL ALONG ON THEIR DISCUSSIONS OF THE MAIN ISSUES WHICH BROUGHT THEM TOGETHER.

TODAY'S MEETING, LIKE THE TWO PREVIOUS SESSIONS, WAS CLOAKED IN SECRECY, BUT PERSONS PRESENT IN THE CONFERENCE ROOM EMPHASIZED AGAIN THAT THE CORDIAL ATMOSPHERE WHICH PREVAILED WAS INDICATIVE THAT ALL WAS GOING WELL.

THE SESSION, LASTING THREE HOURS AND 15 MINUTES, WAS THE LONGEST SINCE THE FOREIGN MINISTERS

SM-1537-THE FOREIGN MIN

THE SESSION, LASTING THREE HOURS AND 15 MINUTES, WAS THE LONGEST SINCE THE FOREIGN MINISTERS STARTED THEIR EXPLORATORY TALKS SUNDAY. AS THEY MET THE MOSCOW NEWSPAPER "NEW TIMES" INDICATED THAT RUSSIA WOULD FAVOR CONTINUED MEETINGS OF THE "BIG THREE" POWERS IN THE INTEREST OF WORLD COLLABORATION.

REFERRING TO RECENT ETC., SECOND GRAF

(275)

TEHRAN-FIRST ADD IRANIAN ~~XXX~~ GOVERNMENT."

THE GOVERNMENT STATEMENT CHARGED THAT THE FOUNDER OF THE INSURGENT DEMOCRATIC PARTY WHICH SET UP THE AUTONOMOUS REGIME IN AZERBAIJAN "IS A MEMBER OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY AT BAKU (RUSSIA) NAMED IDALAT." THE STATEMENT DECLARED THAT MEMBERS OF THE PARTY WERE NOT INHABITANTS OF THE IRANIAN PROVINCE.

THE COMMANDER OF THE TABRIZ GARRISON, WHICH SURRENDERED SATURDAY TO THE INSURGENTS, "REPEATEDLY APPLIED TO THE SOVIET COMMANDER FOR PERMISSION TO SEND TROOPS TO OTHER CITIES AND OUTSIDE TABRIZ AND RECEIVED A NEGATIVE ANSWER," THE STATEMENT DECLARED.

THE RUSSIAN REPLY TO THE UNITED STATES NOTE CONCERNING THE AZERBAIJAN CRISIS WAS "BY NO MEANS CONSISTENT WITH THE ACTUAL FACTS," THE STATEMENT DECLARED.

DEC 19 1945

THE LIST OF SPECIFIC CHARGES OF VIOLENCE ATTRIBUTED TO THE INSURGENTS INCLUDED:

"THE MURDER OF YAHYAPUR, GOVERNOR OF MARAGHEH, ONE OF THE OLD AND NOTABLE MEMBERS OF THE STAFF OF THE MINISTRY OF THE INTERIOR AND MEMBER OF ONE OF THE OLD FAMILIES OF AZERBAIJAN.

"THE TERRORIZATION OF COLONEL MU IN AZAB X X X.

"ARMED ATTACK ON THE TOWN OF SARAB AND THE MURDER OF CAPTAIN ZIA, HEAD OF THE LOCAL GARRISON, THE HACKING TO PIECES OF CAPTAIN FATIMI, AN OFFICER, AND THE MURDER OF GENDARMES.

"ARMED ATTACK ON THE TOWN OF MIANCH AND THE MURDER OF FINANCE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS AND A NUMBER OF INHABITANTS.

"ATTACK ON THE TOWN OF MARAND AND MURDER OF THE ABDULLAH MUHIT, HEAD OF THE JUSTICE BUREAU, (AND) ABDUL HASSAN ETIRZA DAYRIMI

CHIEF OF THE POST AND TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT, AS WELL AS THE MURDERS OF ALL MEMBERS OF THE HAUCHEQANI FAMILY AND A NUMBER OF OTHERS.

"THE MURDER OF POLICE DETECTIVE CHIEF AT TABRIZ AND OF AMIN MALIK, HEAD OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT'S CIPHER OFFICE.

"ATTACK ON THE TRANSPORT SECTION OF THE TABRIZ GARRISON WITH A VIEW TO SEIZING AND PILLAGING ARMY TRUCKS.

"ATTACK ON THE TOWN OF ASTARA AND THE MURDER OF THE FRONTIER COMMISSIONER AND ANOTHER OFFICER."

MJ1036AES

A52
-35-

TEHRAN, DEC 18-(AP)-THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT CHARGED IN A STATEMENT TODAY THAT "PEOPLE OF DOUBTFUL CHARACTER" WERE TERRORIZING THE RESIDENTS OF AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE AND IMPRISONING AND TORMENTING GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS IN THE AREA.

(AN AZERBAIJAN NATIONAL GOVERNMENT WAS REPORTED BY THE SOVIET NEWS AGENCY TASS IN A DISPATCH DATELINED TEHRAN YESTERDAY TO HAVE BEEN FORMED IN AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE, PART OF THE RUSSIAN-OCCUPIED ZONE OF NORTHERN IRAN.)

THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT STATEMENT LISTED SPECIFIC ACTS OF VIOLENCE WHICH IT SAID "VERY CLEARLY ESTABLISHED THE FACT THAT A NUMBER OF ARMED ADVENTURERS IN AZERBAIJAN HAVE TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF THE PRESENCE OF FOREIGN FORCES AND ENGAGED, UNDER THE TREACHEROUS TITLE OF DEMOCRACY, IN AN ARMED UPRISING AGAINST THE MONARCH AND THE DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT OF PERSIA (IRAN)."

THE STATEMENT WAS SUBMITTED TO FOREIGN EMBASSIES UNDER THE TITLE: "OBSERVATIONS OF THE PERSIAN GOVERNMENT ON THE CONTENTS OF A MEMORANDUM ADDRESSED BY THE SOVIET COMMISSAR FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS (V.M.MOLOTOV) TO THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT."

MK2035AES

A125
WITH TEHRAN

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 19-(AP)-THE MOSCOW RADIO SAID TODAY THAT "COMPLETE ORDER IS REIGNING" IN TABRIZ, HEADQUARTERS OF A GROUP WHICH HAS ESTABLISHED THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT OF IRANIAN AZERBAIJAN.

"SHOPS AND MARKETS ARE CARRYING ON AS USUAL," THE BROADCAST SAID. "THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT OF IRANIAN AZERBAIJAN STARTED TO WORK OF FULFILLING ITS PROGRAM."

"ALL GOVERNMENT INSTITUTIONS WERE TAKEN OVER BY THE NEW ADMINISTRATION. A NUMBER OF REACTIONARY OFFICIALS WHO DID NOT WANT TO COLLABORATE WITH THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT LEFT FOR TEHRAN."

EJ1153PES

DEC 19 1945

A66FX
KONOYE MEMOIRS (1000)

(EDITORS' NOTE: THIS IS ANOTHER STORY IN A SERIES BASED ON THE MEMOIRS OF PRINCE FUMIMARO KONOYE, PREMIER WHEN JAPAN AND THE UNITED STATES WERE SEEKING TO AVERT WAR IN 1941. KONOYE COMMITTED BUST THIS BUST THIS

A66FX (WAR CRIMES)
WAR CRIMES (3rd)

BY DUANE HENNESSY

YOKOHAMA, DEC. 19-(AP)-JAPANESE GUARDS INVADED THE SANCTUARY OF A PRISON CAMP HOSPITAL TO ADMINISTER A FATAL BEATING TO AN AMERICAN PRISONER OF WAR, A U.S. MILITARY COMMISSION TRYING THE FIRST WAR CRIMINAL CASE IN JAPAN-THAT OF GUARD TATSUO TSUCHIYA--

WAS TOLD TODAY. GORDON TEAS OF STRATFORD, ILL., HAD BEEN ACCUSED
PFC. ROBERT GORDON RED CROSS SUPPLIES WHICH THE JAPANESE
BY HIS CAPTORS OF TAKING AMERICAN
HAD KIDDED IN THE SAID A DEPOSITION FROM PFC.
CHARLES P. GAVORD OF DENING CAMP.
GAVORD'S TESTIMONY WAS READ AT THE
WITH IMPLICATION IN THE MURDER OF 1942. SERGEANT MUSKMOUTH (ANOTHER OF THE UNDERLINGS WHO WILL STAND TRIAL) AND KNOWN) TOOK TEAS INTO THE OPEN HIM WITH HARDWOOD SAPS LIKE THE GUARDS
"THEN THEY PUT HIM SOME MORE."
HIM OUT AND BEAT AND PERSONALLY
HIM IN THE HOSPITAL BEFORE HE DIED."
GAVORD TIMED THE BEATINGS OF THE COLDEST MONTHS
A DEPOSITION BY CITY, KAS., SAID
GUARD "WOULD THE PRISONERS
"THEY TOOK A ABOUT TIME AND BEAT THEM
FELL DOWN THEY MADE
TEAS WAS TOO WEAK TO STAND UP."
THE BEATING FOR 30 MINUTES
LT. COL. JOHN CHICKERING OF ST.
COUNSEL, EARLIER HAD PROTESTED AGAINST PUT. HE WAS OVERRULED BY "AN EMERGENCY EXISTED
TWO PHOTOGRAPHS OF TSUCHIYA, WHO SAT BLANK-
DO NOT PORTRAY TO A COMMISSION SUCCESSION OF TSUCHIYA AND ANOTHER
FACED THROUGH THE PROCEEDINGS.
WM/WASCAPS

DEC 19 1945

CHUJI MACHIDA, 62-YEAR-OLD PARTY
PRESIDENT OF THE DOMINANT PROGRESS
THESES DEBATE. VOICED
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES EXPRESSED
JAPANESE PEOPLE. IF HIS PARTY
MEANWHILE, THE FOREIGN
GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S

30.24-32489

ASSFX
BY RUSSELL BRINES (190)
TOKYO, DEC.19-(AP)-ALLIED OFFICIALS WILL SET THE DATE OF JAPAN'S NAXT ELECTION AFTER THEY HAVE TAKEN ALL POSSIBLE PRECAUTIONS TO INSURE ITS FAIRNESS--POSSIBLY EVEN DECLARING THE MORE NOTORIOUS OF OLD-LINE JAPANESE POLITICIANS INELIGIBLE FOR OFFICE--AUTHORITATIVE AMERICAN SOURCES DECLARED TODAY.
JAPANESE SOURCES SAID THE CABINET OF PREMIER KIJUPO SHIDEHARA DECIDED TODAY UPON JAN. 22 AS THE ELECTION DATE, BUT ALLIED HEAD-QUARTERS ORDERED THE ANNOUNCEMENT WITHHELD PENDING ITS FINAL APPROVAL. IT MUST BE APPROVED NOT ONLY BY HEADQUARTERS HERE BUT BY WASHINGTON, THE AMERICAN OFFICIALS EXPLAINED.
HEADQUARTERS ALSO IS CONSIDERING STRONG METHODS TO PREVENT WAR-BRED POLITICAL MACHINES FROM DOMINATING THE ELECTION--A CERTAINTY WITHOUT ALLIED ACTION TO FORESTALL IT---THE SAME AMERICAN SOURCES ASSERTED.
THE DIET DEMONSTRATED CLEARLY IN ITS RECENT SESSION THAT WHATEVER STEPS IT TAKES TOWARD DEMOCRATIZATION WILL COME ONLY AS THE RESULT OF ALLIED PRESSURE.
JAPANESE THEMSELVES HAVE COMPLAINED STRONGLY RECENTLY OF INCREASING POLITICAL POWER SHOWN BY OLD-LINE VETERANS WHO OFFICIALLY SUPPORTED THE NATION'S WARTIME MILITARISTS IN ORDER TO MAINTAIN THEIR OWN POSITIONS.
YOUNG JAPANESE ANXIOUS TO PLUNGE INTO POLITICAL CAREERS SAY THAT DESPITE GOVERNMENT REGULATIONS, ANY EFFECTIVE CAMPAIGN WOULD COST 50,000 YEN $3,333)---A LONG HEAD-START FOR THE FINANCIAL STRONG OLD-TIMERS IN OFFICE.
WW627APS

IN THE PEOPLE'S WELFARE OR AN ABILITY TO UTILIZE THEIR NEWLY-GRANTED FREEDOM OF SPEECH.
THEY STALLED ON TWO OF THE GOVERNMENT'S THREE MAJOR REFORM BILLS UNTIL PRESSURE FROM GENERAL MACARTHUR FORCED ACTION. MOSTLY CONCERNED WITH THE SUBJECT OF WAR GUILT, THEY SOUGHT UNSUCCESSFULLY TO AVOID BLAME THEMSELVES AND APPREHENSIVELY SAW MANY OF THEIR COLLEAGUES PACKED OFF TO JAIL AS WAR CRIMINAL SUSPECTS.
THE SESSION PRODUCED AN UNPRECEDENTED DISCUSSION ON WHETHER EMPEROR HIROHITO SHARED IN WAR GUILT. THE DIET VOICED SUPPORT FOR CONTINUATION OF THE EMPEROR SYSTEM AND AGREED WITH PREMIER KIJUPO SHIDEHARA THAT HIROHITO WAS NOT A WAR CRIMINAL.
B420PCS

A101FX
TOKYO, DEC.18-(AP)-GENERAL MACARTHUR GRANTED THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT PERMISSION TODAY TO BORROW MONEY TO BUY RICE, CHARCOAL AND FIREWOOD TO MEET THE NATION'S DIRE NEEDS FOR WINTER.
THE GOVERNMENT WAS ALLOWED TO BORROW THROUGH JAPANESE BANKING INSTITUTIONS A TOTAL OF 1,500,000,000 YEN FOR RICE.
AN ADDITIONAL 75,000,000 YEN WILL BE BORROWED TO MAKE PURCHASES OF CHARCOAL AND FIREWOOD. (THE FIXED EXCHANGE RATE IS 15 YEN TO THE DOLLAR.)
THE GOVERNMENT THEN WILL MAKE THE COMMODITIES AVAILABLE TO CITY DWELLERS THROUGH A SYSTEM OF RATIONED RESALE.
WW633APS

A87FX
TOKYO, DEC.19-(AP)-ALLIED HEADQUARTERS TODAY ORDERED THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT TO PROVIDE STIFF FINES AND JAIL SENTENCES FOR SELLING, TRADING OR MANUFACTURING ANY BEVERAGE OR FOOD CONTAIN ADDOHOL OR OTHER POISONS.

JAPANESE GOVERNMENT TO PROVIDE STIFF FINES AND JAIL SENTENCES FOR SELLING, TRADING OR MANUFACTURING ANY BEVERAGE OR FOOD CONTAINING METHYL ALCOHOL OR OTHER POISONS.
THE DIRECTIVE, SPOKESMEN EXPLAINED, WAS PROMPTED BY NUMEROUS RECENT DEATHS, BLINDNESS AND ILLNESS AMONG AMERICAN SOLDIERS WHO DRANK POISON LIQUOR. IT PROVIDES PENALTIES OF A 2,000 TO 10,000 YEN FINE ($133 TO $666) OR THREE TO 15 YEARS IMPRISONMENT.
WW621APS

DEC 19 1945

A103KX
WEST OUT
TOKYO, DEC.18-(AP)-A SPOKESMAN FOR THE FIRST DEMOBILIZATION MINISTRY TOLD A HOUSE OF PEERS' COMMITTEE TODAY 8,922 AIRPLANES AMD OTHER WAR EQUIPMENT HAD BEEN DELIVERED TO THE ALLIES WITHIN JAPAN PROPER AND THAT MORE WAR MATERIAL IS TO BE RELINQUISHED.
OTHER ITEMS HANDED OVER INCLUDE 3,113 TANKS; 2,300 TRACTORS, ABOUT 10,000 ARTILLERY PIECES, 40,000 AUTOMATIC FIREARMS OVER 1,000,000 RIFLES AND 30,000,000 ROUNDS OF AMMUNITION, AND 140,000 ARTILLERY SHELLS.
JW636ACS

DEC 19 1945

A20KX
NITE LEAD (200)
BY RUSSELL BRINES
TOKYO, DEC.18-(AP)-THE JAPANESE DIET ITS MEMBERS DISPLAYING LACK OF FAMILIARITY WITH DEMOCRATIC PROCESSES, TODAY ENDED AN EXTRAORDINARY 22-DAY SESSION WHICH SHOULD BRING SOME IMPROVEMENT IN THE LIVES OF MILLIONS OF CITIZENS.
CHIEF PRODUCTS OF THE SESSION WERE AN ELECTION REFORM BILL ENFRANCHISING APPROXIMATELY 22,000,000 YOUNG WOMEN AND 3,000,000 YOUNG MEN, A LABOR UNION LAW, A FARM REFORM MEASUREAND THE REPEAL OF SEVERAL WARTIME LAWS.
DIET MEMBERS HANDPICKED BY HIDEKI TOJO IN 1942 FOR HIS RUBBER STAMP PARLIAMENT FAILED TO DEMONSTRATE EITHER A MARKED INTEREST

TOKYO, DEC.19-(AP)-BECAUSE OF THE CRITICAL JAPANESE FOOD SHORTAGE ALLIED HEADQUARTERS TODAY MADE ALL CIVILIAN EATING PLACES OUT OF BOUNDS TO MEMBERS OF THE OCCUPATION FORCES, AND PROHIBITED SERVING JAPANESE FOOD AT ANY MESS OR CLUB OPERATED FOR ALLIED PERSONNEL.
WW630APS

A63KX
NIGHT LEAD TRIAL (160)
YOKOHAMA, WEDNESDAY, DEC 19-(AP)-A UNITED STATES-JAPANESE AGREEMENT TO ABIDE BY THE 1929 GENEVA CONVENTION IN HANDLING WAR PRISONERS WAS EMBODIED BY THE PROSECUTION TODAY IN ITS CASE AGAINST THE FIRST WAR CRIMES DEFENDANT TO GO ON TRIAL IN JAPAN.
THE PROSECUTION ANNOUNCED AT THE OUTSET YESTERDAY IT WOULD SEEK

THE DEATH PENALTY FOR TATSUO TSUCHIYA, THE "LITTLE GLASS EYE" CHARGED WITH THE MURDER OF PFC ROBERT GORDON TEAS AND WITH OTHER VIOLATIONS OF THE LAWS OF WAR WHILE A GUARD AT MITSUSHIMA CAMP. TSCUCHIYA PLEADED INNOCENT.

THE PROSECUTION INTRODUCED COPIES OF AN EXCHANGE OF LETTERS BETWEEN FORMER SECRETARY HULL AND THE JAPANESE, IN WHICH BOTH SIDES AGREED TO ABDE BY THE TERMS FOR TREATMENT OF WAR PRISONERS.

SUSTAINING DEFENSE OBJECTIONS, THE TRIAL COMMISSION EXCUSED COL. JOHN H.BALL OF WILLIAMSTOWN, PA., A SURVIVOR OF THE BATAAN DEATH MARCH, FROM SERVING ON THE COMMISSION.

MAJ.LOUIS GEFFEN OF ATLANTA, GA., THE PROSECUTOR, TOLD THE COMMISSION TSUCHIYA TOOK "AN INHUMAN DELIGHT IN ATROCITIES."

EW732PCS

BY JAMES HALSEMA

MANILA,DEC.19-(AP)-GEN.JONATHAN M.WAINWRIGHT, BY DEPOSITION, WILL BE ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL WITNESSES AT THE WAR CRIMES TRIAL OF LT. GEN.MASA HARU HOMMA, TO WHOM HE WAS FORCED TO SURRENDER, BUT TO WHOM HE NEVER BOWED EVEN AS A CAPTIVE.

WAINWRIGHT'S DEPOSITION WILL BE ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL DOCUMENTS SUBMITTED TO THE MILITARY COMMISSION WHICH ON JAN. 3 WILL TRY HOMMA ON CHARGES INCLUDING RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE CRUEL BATAAN DEATH MARCH, LT.COL.FRANK E.MEEK, THE CHIEF PROSECUTOR, SAID TODAY.

A FIDGETY HOMMA WAS RETURNED IN DISGRACE TODAY TO THE PALATIAL RESIDENCE FROM WHICH IN 1942 HE HAD WATCHED CORREGIDOR CAPTIVES FORCED TO MARCH IN HUMILIATION. THERE, WHERE HE ONCE LIVED AS A CONQUEROR, HE PLEADED INNOCENT AT HIS ARRAIGNMENT ON CHARGES OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE DEATH MARCH AND FOR 67,000 DEATHS AMONG AMERICAN AND FILIPINO PRISONERS OF WAR, INTERNEES AND CIVILIANS.

MAJ.GEN.LEO B.DONOVAN, PRESIDENT OF THE MILITARY TRIAL COMMISSION, ORDERED HOMMA TO REPORT FOR TRIAL JAN. 3 DESPITE HIS COUNSEL'S PROTESTS THAT IT NEEDED AT LEAST A MONTH TO PREPARE HIS DEFENSE.

MEEK SAID HE HOPED TO COMPLETE PROSECUTION TESTIMONY IN 10 DAYS ALTHOUGH HE PLANS "TO INTRODUCE ALL THE LIVE WITNESSES WE CAN GET." ONE DEFENSE CONTENTION FOR DELAY, SUPPORTED BY MEEK, WAS THAT MANY WITNESSES ARE IN JAPAN, KOREA AND CHINA.

DONOVAN, WHO WILL PRESIDE, WAS A MEMBER OF THE FIVE-GENERAL COMMISSION WHICH TWO WEEKS AGO CONVICTED LT.GEN.TOMOYUKI YAMASHITA OF CONDONING WHOLESALE ATROCITIES BY HIS TROOPS IN THE PHILIPPINES AN SENTENCED HIM TO BE HANGED. YAMASHITA HAS TWO APPEALS PENDING, ONE BEFORE THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT AND THE OTHER BEFORE GENERAL MACARTHUR.

HANDSOME MAJ.GEN.BASILIO J.VALDES, CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE PHILIPPINES ARMY DURING THE WAR AND WHO TESTIFIED AT THE YAMASHITA TRIAL THAT JAPANESE MURDERED HIS BROTHER AND NEPHEW AND TRIED TO RAPE HIS NIECE, ALSO IS A MEMBER OF THE TRIAL COMMISSION.

THERE WERE MANY FAMILIAR FACES IN THE COURTROOM AT HOMMA'S ARRAIGNMENT, INCLUDING ALL MEMBERS OF THE YAMASHITA PROSECUTION AND DEFENSE STAFFS STILL IN MANILA.

AFTER THE ARRAIGNMENT, MEEK SAID THAT HOMMA LEFT THE PHILIPPINES ON AUG. 15, 1942, IN DISGRACE BECAUSE WAINWRIGHT'S STRONG DEFENSE OF BATAAN AND CORREGIDOR CONSUMED SO MUCH TIME AND SO MANY OF HOMMA'S MEN THAT JAPAN'S SOUTHWARD RUSH WAS THROWN OUT OF GEAR.

HE SAID HOMMA'S KNOWLEDGE THAT HE HAD WON A HOLLOW VICTORY DOUBTLESS INFLUENCED HIS ATTITUDE TOWARD HIS CAPTIVES. THE GENERAL NEVER AGAIN HELD AN IMPORTANT COMMAND. RELIEVED HERE HE BECAME HEAD OF THE PHILIPPINES' JAPAN SOCIETY BRIEFLY AND IN 1944 WAS THE OSAKA GARRISON COMMANDER.

HW129APS NM

DEC 19 1945

A33FX

WITH CHIANG

MANILA, DEC.19-(AP)-GENERAL MARSHALL, VISITING MANILA EN ROUTE TO CHINA, PAID A COURTESY CALL ON PRESIDENT SERGIO OSMENA TODAY AT MACLACANAN PALACE BUT RETURNED EARLY TO HIS OWN QUARTERS. HE WILL LEAVE FOR SHANGHAI ABOARD A C-54 TRANSPORT PLANE TOMORROW MORNING. HE MADE NO STATEMENT TO THE PRESS.

WW610APS

FIRST LEAD MARSHALL

MANILA,WEDNESDAY,DEC.19-(AP)-GEN.GEORGE C.MARSHALL ARRIVED EARLY THIS AFTERNOON, TWO AND A HALF HOURS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE, ENROUTE TO CHINA IN HIS NEW ROLE OF U.S. AMBASSADOR.

HE IMMEDIATELY LEFT WITH LT.GEN.W.D.STYER, COMMANDER OF ARMY FORCES IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC, AND MAJ.GEN.L.J.WHITLOCK, ON A TOUR OF THE RUINED CITY.

MARSHALL PLANS TO LEAVE FOR CHINA TOMORROW MORNING.

(NO PICKUP)

P&MN1049PPST NM

MANILA, DEC.19-(AP)-PRESIDENT SERGIO OSMENA TODAY APPOINTED BRIG. GEN. RAFAEL JALANDONI CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE PHILIPPINE ARMY, SUCCEEDING MAJ. GEN. BASILIO J. VALDES, NOW SERVING ON THE MILITARY COMMISSION TRYING JAPANESE LT. GEN. MASAHARU HOMMA ON WAR-CRIMES CHARGES.

---

(110)

MANILA, DEC.18-(AP)-PRESIDENT SERGIO OSMENA MOVED TODAY TO ROUND UP THE MALCONTENTS IN THE NACIONALISTA PARTY AND PUT SENATE PRESIDENT MANUEL ROXAS ON THE SPOT WITH A PARTY CAUCUS CALL FOR WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

THE CAUCUS WILL CONSIDER THE PARTY CONVENTION PRECEDING THE PHILIPPIN ELECTIONS APRIL 4.

ROXAS HAS FAILED TO ANNOUNCE EITHER THAT HE WOULD RUN FOR PRESIDENT AGAINST OSMENA, OR LEAD A BOLT FROM THE PARTY, THOUGH FREQUENTLY HINTING HE WOULD DO BOTH.

OSMENA'S MOVE PUTS THE ROXAS' FACTION ON A "FISH OR CUT BAIT" BASIS.

WW213APS

A101KX (BX MI FOLO)

PEARL HARBOR, DEC.18-(AP)-FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MORE THAN 100 YEARS THE STARS AND STRIPES WAVES OVER CHICHI JIMA, A FORMER JAPANESE FORTRESS AND SEAPLANE BASE IN THE BONIN ISLANDS.

MARINES WENT ASHORE FIVE DAYS AGO TO OCCUPY THE ISLAND AND ACCEPT THE SURRENDER OF LT.GEN.HOSHIO TACHIBANA AND HIS GARRISON, FLEET HEADQUARTERS REPORTED TODAY.

THE AMERICAN FLAG FRIST FLEW OVER CHICHI JIMA IN 1823 WHEN NATHANIEL SAVORY OF MASSACHUSETTS RAISED THE STARS AND STRIPES AS WARNING TO PIRATES.

DEC 19 1945

30.24-32491

A39FX

CANBERRA, DEC. 18-(AP)-THE AUSTRALIAN CABINET APPROVED IN PRINCIPLE TODAY NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES LOOKING TOWARD A RECIPROCAL AIR TRANSPORT AGREEMENT.

PRIME MINISTER JOSEPH B. CHIFLEY ANNOUNCED THAT ANY SUCH NEGOTIATIONS SHOULD BE CONCERNED WITH LINES WHICH SAFEGUARD AUSTRALIAN INTERESTS AND THOSE OF OTHER EMPIRE GOVERNMENTS.

THE CABINET APPROVED STEPS TO ESTABLISH BRITISH AIR TRANSPORT SERVICE IN THE PACIFIC AND PROPOSED THAT THE UNITED KINGDOM AND THE NEW ZEALAND GOVERNMENTS BE INVITED TO JOIN IN THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A PACIFIC AIR COMMISSION.

WW225APS NM

MEXICO CITY, DEC 18-(AP)-U.S. AMBASSADOR GEORGE S. MESSERSMITH TODAY AWAITED THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT'S COMMENT ON CHARGES BY LABOR LEADER CINVENTE LOMBARDO TOLEDANO THAT "IMPERIALISTIC" INTERESTS IN THE UNITED STATES WERE SMUGGLING ARMS INTO MEXICO TO FOMENT A REVOLUTION.

MESSERSMITH VISITED FOREIGN SECRETARY CASTILLO NAJERA LAST NIGHT AND ASKED HIM TO HELP DETERMINE IF THERE WERE ANY "DEFINITIVE EVIDENCE" TO SUPPORT LOMBARDO TOLEDANO'S CHARGES. HE SAID HIS CONVERSATION WITH THE FOREIGN SECRETARY WAS NOT IN THE NATURE OF A PROTEST.

THE LABOR LEADER, HEAD OF THE LATIN-AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR, ASSERTED IN A SPEECH SUNDAY THAT MEMBERS OF THE REVOLUTIONARY SINARQUISTA MOVEMENT WERE "PASSING ARMS INTO MEXICO ACROSS THE UNITED STATES BORDER" WITH THE AID OF "CERTAIN YANKEE IMPERIALISTIC COMPANIES," WHICH HE DID NOT IDENTIFY BY NAME.

DEC 19 1945

IN WASHINGTON THE STATE DEPARTMENT SAID THAT MESSERSMITH HAD BEEN DIRECTED TO INVESTIGATE CHARGES THAT "PRIVATE AMERICAN FIRMS" ARE SUPPLYING ARMS AND AMMUNITION TO MEXICAN POLITICAL FACTIONS.

A STATEMENT SAID THAT THE CHARGES HAD BEEN MADE BY MEXICAN LABOR LEADER, VICENTE LOMBARDO TOLEDANO IN A SPEECH, AND ADDED:

"IN VIEW OF THE SERIOUSNESS OF THESE CHARGES, AMBASSADOR MESSERSMITH WAS ORDERED TO INQUIRE OF THE MEXICAN MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS, FRANCISCO CASTILLO NAJERA ABOUT THE FACTS OF THE SITUATION."

FR159PES

SAO PAULO, BRAZIL, DEC. 18 -- (AP) -- SECOND MILITARY REGION AUTHORITIES TODAY TOOK INTO CUSTODY A NUMBER OF SAILORS FROM THE VISITING U. S. CRUISER LITTLEROCK AT THE REQUEST OF THE SHIP'S OFFICERS AFTER SEVERAL INCIDENTS WERE SAID TO HAVE ESTABLISHED BAD FEELINGS IN THIS CITY BETWEEN SAILORS AND THE TOWNSPEOPLE.

THE TROUBLE APPARENTLY WAS BASED ON THE OBJECTIONABLE CONDUCT OF ONE SAILOR; BUT VERIFICATION WAS NOT YET ESTABLISHED.

THE LITTLEROCK [illegible] SANTOS, [illegible] ON A GOOD WILL TOUR OF SOUTH AMERICA.

NEARBY IS NOW IN THE PORT CITY OF SANTOS.

A35FX

SYDNEY, DEC. 19-(AP)-WHILE MOST OF THE UNITED [illegible]TES WAS SHIVERING, BARELEGGED AUSTRALIAN WOMEN TODAY WERE WEARING SLEEVELESS "MIDRIFF" DRESSES AND MEN DISCARDED COATS TO GAIN RELIEF FROM T... FIERCE HEAT WAVE WHICH BESET THE CONTINENT.

TEN OF THOUSANDS STREAMED DAILY TO BEACHES ALONG AUSTRALIA'S EAST COAST. CHILDREN SQUEALED UNDER FOUNTAINS IN PUBLIC GARDENS.

ONE SYDNEY GIRL SOUGHT RELIEF BY DELIVERING ICE--WHILE CL... IN A BATHING SUIT.

TEMPERATURES ROSE TO 120 DEGREES IN THE SHADE AT SOME INLAND POINTS AND IN NEW SOUTH WALES THE MERCURY HAS TOPPED THE 100 MARK DAILY FOR NINE DAYS. IT WAS 101 HERE MONDAY, BUT SOUTHERLY WINDS TODAY REDUCED TEMPERATURES TO THE SEVENTIES.

DEC 19 1945

ELEVEN DEATHS HAVE BEEN ATTRIBUTED TO THE HEAT WAVE.

AUSTRALIANS ARE GIVING GREEN SALADS AND ICE COLD GLASSES OF MILK AND PINEAPPLE JUICE -- ACQUIRED FROM AMERICAN TROOPS -- A PROMINENT PLA... IN THEIR DIET.

WW615APS

OTTAWA, DEC 18-(AP)-WITH THE QUESTION OF AN AMERICAN LOAN TO BRITAIN AWAITING CONGRESSIONAL APPROVAL, CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES ARE PLUNGING INTO TRADE NEGOTIATIONS WITH BOTH APPARENTLY INTENT ON TEARING DOWN TARIFF BARRIERS.

MINOR OFFICIALS IN BOTH WASHINGTON AND OTTAWA ALREADY ARE WORKING ON TWO-WAY NEGOTIATIONS WHICH WILL BEGIN SOON ON A HIGHER LEVEL. MEANWHILE CANADA HAS BECOME THE FIRST NATION TO ACCEPT AN AMERICAN INVITATION TO A 15-POWER TRADE CONFERENCE IN THE SPRING, PRIME MINISTER KING DISCLOSED IN PARLIAMENT YESTERDAY.

THE CONFERENCE "WILL PREPARE CONCRETE CONCERTED MEASURES FOR REDUCTION OF TARIFFS AND OTHER TRADE BARRIERS, AND GENERALLY PREPARE THE WAY FOR SUCCESSFUL ACCOMPLISHMENT OF GENERAL OBJECTIVES WHICH WE HOPE THE UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE ON TRADE EMPLOYMENT WILL BE ABLE TO REALIZE" KING SAID.

DEC 19 1945

"I NEED NOT EMPHASIZE AGAIN," THE PRIME MINISTER CONTINUED, "THE IMPORTANCE TO CANADA OF RESTORING WORLD TRADING ECONOMY ON THE FULLEST, FREEST BASIS POSSIBLE. NO COUNTRY HAS A GREATER STAKE IN THE ATTAINMENT AND CONSOLIDATION OF THESE OBJECTIVES, AND WE MUST BE PREPARED TO TAKE OUR FULL PART IN COOPERATION WITH OTHER LIKE-MINDED NATIONS IN THIS GREAT TASK."

BY MARVIN L.ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON,DEC 18-(AP)-AN AIDE OF JOHN W.SNYDER SAID TODAY THE RECONVERSION DIRECTOR IS PLANNING CONTROLS AIMED AT ASSURING NEW HOME BUYERS VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

THIS OFFICIAL, WHO IS REPRESENTING SNYDER AT THE GOVERNMENT-SPONSORED HOUSING CONFERENCE HERE, SAID IT HAS BEEN DECIDED "THERE WILL HAVE TO BE SOME SORT OF QUALITY CONTROLS" TO MAKE SURE HOME PURCHASERS GET THEIR MONEY'S WORTH.

THE OFFICIAL, WHO ASKED THAT HIS NAME NOT BE USED, TOLD A REPORTER THIS SUBJECT WILL BE DISCUSSED WITH LABOR AND MANAGEMENT REPRESENTATIVES OF THE CONSTRUCTIOO"-5

REPORTER THIS SUBJECT WILL BE DISCUSSED WITH LABOR AND MANAGEMENT REPRESENTATIVES OF THE CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY AT CONCLUDING SESSIONS OF THE HOUSING CONFERENCE TODAY.

WHILE DETAILS HAVE NOT BEEN WORKED OUT, IT IS UNDERSTOOD THE GENERAL PLAN IS TO HAVE THE NATIONAL HOUSING AGENCY CHECK BUILDERS' SPECIFICATIONS WHEN THEY APPLY FOR GOVERNMENT AID IN OBTAINING MATERIALS.

UNDER A PROGRAM RECOMMENDED TO SNYDER BY OTHER GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, NHA WOULD TURN DOWN APPLICATIONS FOR SUCH AID IF IT FELT THE PROPOSED PRICE FOR A HOME WAS OUT OF LINE WITH COST.

THIS PROVISION WOULD BE INCORPORATED IN A NEW REGULATION TO EARMARK 50 PER CENT OF ALL BUILDING MATERIALS FOR HOMES COSTING $10,000 OR LESS. THE PURPOSE OF THE PROVISION WOULD BE TO SEE THAT A $6,000 HOME SOLD AT THAT PRICE AND NOT, SAY, AT $8,500.

THE QUALITY CONTROL MEASURE WENT ON THE CONFERENCE AGENDA ALONG WITH FURTHER DISCUSSION OF ADMINISTRATION-ENDORSED LEGISLATION FOR PRICE CEILINGS ON NEW AND OLD HOUSES, A PROPOSAL WHICH SPLIT LABOR AND INDUSTRY DELEGATES INTO TWO CAMPS AT YESTERDAY'S OPENING SESSION.

THE CIO THREW ITS SUPPORT TO THE CEILING PROGRAM, BUT THE CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY REITERATED ITS OPPOSITION.

JOSEPH E.MERRION, PRESIDENT OF THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF HOME BUILDERS, ASSERTED THE PATMAN BILL PROVIDING FOR SUCH CEILINGS WOULD "EMASCULATE" THE INDUSTRY.

ALTHOUGH THEY DIVIDED SHARPLY ON THIS ISSUE, INDUSTRY AND LABOR WERE IN AGREEMENT THAT THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD TELL THE PUBLIC IN BLUNT LANGUAGE THAT THERE IS NO SPEEDY CURE-ALL FOR THE HOUSING SHORTAGE.

DEC 19 1945

A5WX

HARRY C.BATES, CHAIRMAN OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR'S HOUSING COMMITTEE, SAID THE PUBLIC SHOULD BE TOLD THAT ONLY ABOUT 400,000 HOMES CAN BE BUILT NEXT YEAR. THE NEED IN 1946 HAS BEEN ESTIMATED AT MORE THAN 3,000,000 NEW DWELLINGS.

THE SAME VIEW THAT IT WILL TAKE YEARS TO PROVIDE ENOUGH HOUSING WAS EXPRESSED BY L.C.HART, VICE PRESIDENT OF THE PRODUCERS' COUNCIL, INC. HE SAID THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD MAKE THIS CLEAR.

HART ALSO CAUTIONED THAT IF THE STEEL STRIKE SCHEDULED FOR NEXT MONTH DEVELOPS, IT WOULD MEAN A "VIRTUAL STOPPAGE OF HOME CONSTRUCTION."

IN DISCUSSIONS OF WHY HOME CONSTRUCTION IS LAGGING, BOTH THE CIO AND AFL SAID AN IMPORTANT REASON IS THAT CONSTRUCTION WORKERS ARE UNDERPAID.

AN INDUSTRY DELEGATE, H.R.NORTHUP (CQ) OF THE NATIONAL LUMBER DEALERS ASSOCIATION, SAID ANOTHER REASON IS A "TERRIFIC BLACK MARKET" IN SOME KINDS OF LUMBER.

NORTHUP BLAMED WHAT HE TERMED OPA'S "UNREALISTIC PRICE POLICIES" AND SAID THE ONLY REMEDY IS A LUMBER PRICE INCREASE.

GG237AES

UNRRA (300)

BY EDWIN B.HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON,DEC 13-(AP)-UNRRA HELD AUTHORITY FROM CONGRESS TODAY TO DRAW ANOTHER $1,350,000,000 FROM THE UNITED STATES TREASURY, TOGETHER WITH A REMINDER THAT THIS IS THE END.

A CAUSTIC SENATE COMPLETED CONGRESSIONAL ACTION LATE YESTERDAY ON AN AUTHORIZATION MEASURE RAISING THIS COUNTRY'S TOTAL CONTRIBUTION TO THE UNITED NATIONS RELIEF AND REHABILITATION ADMINISTRATION TO $2,700,000,000.

EVEN SENATORS CONNALLY (D-TEX) AND VANDENBERG (R-MICH), WHO TEAMED TO WIN UNITED STATES PARTICIPATION IN THIS AND OTHER UNITED NATIONS PROGRAMS, CONCEDED THEY WOULD DO DIFFERENTLY WITH UNRRA IF THEY COULD START ALL OVER AGAIN.

SENATOR KNOWLAND (R-CALIF) SUGGESTED THAT THE UNITED STATES START ITS OWN WAR RELIEF ORGANIZATION IN CHINA AND THE FAR EAST INSTEAD OF ALLOWING UNRRA TO DO IT.

BUT CONNALLY, CHAIRMAN OF THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE, AND VANDENBERG, RANKING REPUBLICAN ON THAT GROUP, SAID IT WAS TOO LATE TO START ANEW.

THE NEW AUTHORIZATION MEASURE, WHICH NOW GOES TO THE WHITE HOUSE FOR PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S APPROVAL, SPECIFIES THAT UNRRA SHIPMENTS TO EUROPE WILL END IN 1946 AND TO THE FAR EAST BY MARCH, 1947. IN ADDITION, BOTH CONNALLY AND VANDENBERG ASSURED THEIR COLLEAGUES THERE WOULD BE NO FURTHER REQUESTS FOR FUNDS FOR THE AGENCY.

DURING YESTERDAY'S DEBATE SENATOR BYRD (D-VA) CALLED FOR A COMPLETE REORGANIZATION OF UNRRA. HE SUGGESTED THAT HERBERT H. LEHMAN, CHIEF OF UNRRA AND FORMER GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK, IMMEDIATELY PLACE THE "ALBEST BUSINESS MEN THAT HE CAN SECURE AT THE HEAD OF THE DISTRIBUTION OF FOOD, CLOTHING AND FUEL, AND THOSE NECESSITIES FOR EXISTENCE, AND TO ELIMINATE THE INEFFICIENCY AND THE LACK OF COORDINATED LEADERSHIP NOW EXISTING."

OF THE SECOND $1,350,000,000 AUTHORIZATION, THE SENATE ALREADY HAS APPROVED A FORMAL APPROPRIATION OF $750,000,000. THE HOUSE STILL MUST ACT ON THIS. A LATER BILL WILL BE REQUIRED TO APPROPRIATE THE REMAINING $600,000,000.

GG-QS654AES

YAMASHITA

BY PAUL M. YOST

WASHINGTON, DEC. 18-(AP)-THE FIRST JAPANESE CONVICTED AS A WAR CRIMINAL HAS HIS TOE INSIDE THE DOOR OF THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT. BUT WHETHER HE WILL GET ANY FARTHER IS ANYBODY'S LONG GUESS.

GEN. TOMOYUKI YANASHITA YESTERDAY WON A SUPREME COURT ORDER STAYING THE EXECUTION ORDERED FOR HIM BY AN AMERICAN MILITARY COMMISSION IN MANILA. THE COMMISSION DECREED DEATH FOR THE ONCE-BOLD "TIGER OF MALAYA" ON THE GROUND THAT HE CONDONED BRUTAL ATROCITIES BY JAPANESE TROOPS IN THE PHILIPPINES.

THE HIGH COURT'S STAY WAS UNIQUE IN THAT IT WAS GRANTED TO AN ENEMY ALIEN. OTHERWISE IT WAS ROUTINE, BECAUSE PERSONS ARE EXCLUDED FROM TRIALS IN WHICH THEY WERE CONDEMNED TO DEATH USUALLY GET AUTOMATIC STAYS OF EXECUTION. THE WAR DEPARTMENT EARLIER HAD ORDERED THE HAMASHITA EXECUTION HELD UP PENDING ACTION BY THE SUPREME COURT.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT STEP IN YAMASHITA'S CASE WILL BE THE COURT'S NEXT DECISION---WHETHER IT WILL GRANT HIM A REVIEW OF WHAT HAPPENED IN THE PHILIPPINE SUPREME COURT. THAT TRIBUNAL THREW OUT THE GENERAL'S CONTENTION THAT THE MILITARY COMMISSION WAS ILLEGAL AND THAT CIVIL COURTS SHOULD TAKE OVER HIS CASE.

EXPERTS ON MILITARY LAW WATCHED CLOSELY FOR THIS DECISION BECAUSE OF ITS POSSIBLE EFFECTS ON OTHER WAR CRIMINAL TRIALS, INCLUDING THOSE IN EUROPE. THE SUPREME COURT'S JUSTICE JACKSON IS CHIEF

DEC 19 1945

30.24-32493

U. S. PROSECUTOR IN THE NAZI TRIALS AT NUERNBERG.

INTERVENING IN THE YAMASHITA CASE ON BEHALF OF THE AMERICAN CONQUERORS, THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT CONTENDED THAT BY LONG-RECOGNIZED PROCEDURE UNDER THE LAWS OF WAR A MILITARY COMMISSION HAS THE RIGHT TO TRY ENEMY BELLIEGERENTS ACCUSED OF VIOLATIONS OF THOSE LAWS---EVEN AFTER HOSTILITIES HAVE ENDED AND WHEN CIVIL COURTS ARE OPEN.

THE SUPREME COURT, THE DEPARTMENT SAID IN A BRIEF, MAY NOT INQUIRE INTO THE EVIDENE OR ASSERTED PROCEDURAL DEFECTS IN SUCH A MILITARY TRIAL.

ARMY LAWYERS APPOINTED TO DEFEND YAMASHITA EARLIER AIRMAILED ANOTHER PETITION FROM MANILA IN WHICH THEY ASSERTED THE COMMISSION HAD NO AUTHORITY TO TRY THE GENERAL. THEY ASKED THAT YAMASHITA BE BROUGHT TO WASHINGTON FOR A HEARING BEFORE THE HIGH COURT OR ONE OF ITS JUSTICES. ALSO, THEY SAID THE GENERAL SHOULD BE GIVEN THE STATUS OF A PRISONER OF WAR, INSTEAD OF THAT OF A WAR CRIMINAL.

THE COURT HAS NOT ANNOUNCED ANY ACTION ON THESE REQUESTS. ITS NEXT FORMAL SESSION IS SET FOR JANAURY 2.

OS643AES

A73CX (STRIKES)

STRIKES AT A GLANCE (100)

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(CX) CONTINUING LABOR DISPUTES THROUGHOUT COUNTRY KEEP ABOUT 400,000 IDLE.

MAJOR LABOR DEVELOPMENTS:

AUTOMOBILES--FORD MOTOR COMPANY-CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS UNION RESUME WAGE NEGOTIATIONS AMID UNCONFIRMED REPORTS COMPANY READY TO MAKE PAY CONCESSIONS IN RETURN FOR A GUARANTEE AGAINST WILDCAT STRIKES; GENERAL MOTORS MAKES NEW DEMANDS IN NEW COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT, INCLUDING APPROPRIATE PENALTIES AGAINST UNAUTHORIZED WORK STOPPAGES.

OIL--GOVERNMENT'S FIRST FACT FINDING BOARD TAKES UP STUDY OF CIO OIL WORKERS DEMAND FOR 30 PER CENT SALARY INCREASES; QUESTION OF WHETHER PROFITS AND PRICES TO FIGURE IN WAGE STUDIES REFERRED BY OIL BOARD TO LABOR SECRETARY SCHWELLENBACH AND ECONOMIC STABILIZER COLLET.

A69CX (STRIKES)

STRIKES AT A GLANCE

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(CX) 400,000 WORKERS REMAIN IDLE IN NATION'S CONTINUING LABOR DISPUTES.

MAJOR LABOR DEVELOPMENTS:

COMMUNICATIONS--NATIONWIDE WALKOUT OF 48,000 AFL EMPLOYES OF WESTERN UNION CALLED FOR JAN.7 IN DISPUTE OVER WAGES AND OTHER ISSUES; CIO-AFFILIATED WORKERS IN NEW YORK NOT AFFECTED BY STRIKE CALL.

AUTOMOBILES--CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS UNION, AFTER REJECTING FORD MOTOR COMPANY'S OFFER TO RAISE WAGES 12.4 PER CENT, STANDS FIRM IN DEMANDS FOR 30 PER CENT INCREASE FROM STRIKE-BOUND GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION; GOVERNMENT FACT-FINDING BOARD CALLS FIRST HEARING ON MONTH-OLD GM WALKOUT.

A44CX (WEA&STRIKE)

NIGHT LEAD STRIKES AT A GLANCE (140)

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(CX) LABOR DISPUTES MAKE 400,000 IDLE

MAJOR DEVELOPMENTS:

AUTOMOTIVE--CIO UNITED AUTO WORKERS REJECTS FORD MOTOR COMPANY OFFER OF 12.4 PER CENT WAGE BOOST; COMPANY OFFER ALSO INCLUDED DEMAND FOR COMPANY SECURITY PLAN BARRING WILDCAT STRIKES, PROTECTING "COMPANY PREROGATIVES" AND REDUCING NUMBER OF UNION COMMITTEEMEN. REINFORCED PICKET LINE PREVENTS NON-STRIKERS FROM ENTERING GENERAL MOTORS AC SPARK PLUG DIVISION PLANT AT FLINT, MICH. PACKARD MOTOR COMPANY SAYS STRIKES IN SUPPLIER PLANTS WILL FORCE TEMPORARY LAYOFF OF 10,000.

OIL--FACT-FINDING BOARD CONSIDERING CIO WORKERS 30 PER CENT WAGE INCREASE DEMAND RECESSES HEARINGS PENDING DECISION FROM ADMINISTRATION ON WHETHER PRICE INCREASES WILL BE CONSIDERED AS FACTOR IN RECOMMENDING WAGES.

FY612PCS

A6WX

PMS BUDGET (400)

NAVY-CHINA

BY WILLIAM F.ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON,DEC 13-(AP)-SHAPERS OF CONGRESSIONAL NAVAL POLICY CAST A DUBIOUS EYE TODAY AT A NAVY PROPOSAL TO TURN OVER EXCESS AMERICAN FIGHTING SHIPS TO THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA.

THE PROPOSAL, ADVANCED YESTERDAY BY SECRETARY OF THE NAVY FORRESTAL IN A LETTER TO SPEAKER RAYBURN (D-TEX), CAUGHT CAPITOL HILL OFF GUARD.

"THIS IS THE FIRST I HAVE HEARD OF IT," CHAIRMAN CARL VINSON (D-GA) OF THE HOUSE NAVAL COMMITTEE TOLD REPORTERS. "I'M NOT SAYING ANYTHING UNTIL I KNOW MORE ABOUT WHAT THEY HAVE IN MIND."

VINSON INDICATED HE WOULD BE IN NO HURRY TO CALL THE NAVY'S SUGGESTION TO THE ATTENTION OF HIS COMMITTEE.

"THIS IS A COMPLETE SURPRISE TO ME," SAID REP.SHEPPARD (D-CALIF), CHAIRMAN OF THE APPROPRIATIONS SUBCOMMITTEE HANDLING NAVAL FUNDS. "I DON'T KNOW A THING ABOUT IT AND THERE ARE LOTS OF THINGS I WANT TO KNOW."

SEVERAL MEMBERS OF VINSON'S COMMITTEE EXPRESSED OUTRIGHT OPPOSITION.

"THIS LOOKS LIKE A MOVE IN THE DIRECTION OF USING THE NAVY TO PLAY WORLD POLITICS," ONE SAID PRIVATELY. "APPARENTLY WE ARE TO GIVE AWAY OUR SURPLUS SHIPS TO STRENGTHEN THE HAND OF CHIANG KAI-SHEK IN HIS FIGHT WITH THE COMMUNISTS."

THIS MEMBER POINTED OUT THAT FORRESTAL EMPHASIZED THAT THE "EXCESS NAVAL VESSELS OF ANY TYPE" WHICH HE PROPOSED THAT THE PRESIDENT BE AUTHORIZED TO GIVE, LEND OR SELL WOULD BE EARMARKED FOR "THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA."

A FEW MONTHS AGO THE NAVAL COMMITTEE REPORTED THAT THERE WOULD BE A SURPLUS OF 222 MAJOR COMBAT SHIPS AFTER THE NAVY'S POSTWAR NEEDS ARE MET.

"AMONG THESE ARE SIX BATTLESHIPS, FOUR CARRIERS AND ELEVEN CRUISERS," A COMMITTEE MEMBER SAID, "AND BEFORE WE GIVE THEM AWAY OR SELL THEM WE SHOULD BE CERTAIN THAT WE DON'T NEED THEM OURSELVES, AND THAT THERE IS NO CHANCE THEY WILL EVER BE USED AGAINST US.

THERE IS NO WAY OF KNOWING WHETHER CHINA IS CAPABLE OF USING SUCH SHIPS EFFECTIVELY. CERTAINLY SHE CAN'T OPERATE THEM NOW."

HE SUGGESTED THAT FRIENDLY SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLICS BE GIVEN FIRST CHOICE OF ANY SURPLUS SHIPS.

A7WX

IN ADDITION TO HELPING CHINA WITH SHIPS, FORRESTAL PROPOSED THAT THE PRESIDENT BE AUTHORIZED TO DETAIL OFFICERS AND ENLISTED NAVAL PERSONNEL "TO ASSIST THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA IN NAVAL AND MARITIME MATTERS."

THE LEGISLATION, THE SECRETARY WROTE, CONFORMS TO RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF AND ITS SUBMISSION TO CONGRESS WAS CLEARED BY THE WHITE HOUSE.

CHINA'S SMALL PREWAR NAVY, FORRESTAL SAID, WAS DESTROYED BY JAPAN AND SHE IS "NOW FACED WITH THE PROBLEM OF CREATING A NAVY WITH NOTHING TO BUILD UPON" AND WITHOUT THE INDUSTRIAL FACILITIES OR TECHNICAL EXPERIENCE NECESSARY FOR A START.

"IT APPEARS THAT THE NATIONAL INTEREST, AS WELL AS CONSIDERATIONS OF GOOD CONSCIENCE," HE ADDED, "REQUIRE THAT THE UNITED STATES GIVE AID TO THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA BY ASSISTING THAT NATION IN MAINTAINING A NAVY AT A STRENGTH WHICH WILL MAKE POSSIBLE A SUBSTANTIAL CONTRIBUTION TOWARD THE MAINTENANCE OF PEACE IN THE PACIFIC."

GG247AES

A70WX

UNO (200)

WASHINGTON, DEC. 18-(AP)-HOUSE MEMBERS TURNED THE UNITED NATIONS BILL INTO A VEHICLE TODAY FOR ADVANCING THE MERITS OF THEIR RESPECTIVE DISTRICTS AS THE SITE OF UNO'S PERMANENT HOME.

THERE WAS LITTLE OPPOSITION IN SIGHT TO THE SENATE-PASSED MEASURE SETTING UP MACHINERY FOR ACTIVE UNITED STATES PARTICIPATION IN THE INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION.

BUT ON THE SUBJECT OF THE SITE OF THE UNO CAPITAL, WHICH WILL BE SOMEWHERE IN THE UNITED STATES, THERE WERE ALMOST AS MANY OPINIONS AS THERE ARE MEMBERS.

YESTERDAY'S PRELIMINARY DEBATE FOUND SPONSORS FOR CHICAGO, THE LEXINGTON-CONCORD SECTION OF MASSACHUSETTS, NEW YORK CITY, PLYMOUTH, MASS.; PHILADELPHIA, THE DAKOTA BLACK HILLS AND SAN FRANCISCO BEATING THE DRUMS FOR THEIR HOME AREAS.

AT LEAST FOR THE PRESENT, CONGRESS HAS NOTHING TO SAY ABOUT WHERE THE CAPITAL WILL BE LOCATED. THAT IS IN THE JURISDICTION OF UNO ITSELF.

SO LITTLE OPPOSITION WAS EXPECTED TO THE LEGISLATION ITSELF THAT CHAIRMAN BLOOM (D-NY) OF THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE SAID HE WOULD NOT BE SURPRISED TO SEE IT SKIM THROUGH BY UNANIMOUS VOTE. IT PASSED THE SENATE BY A 65 TO 7 COUNT.

THE LEGISLATION AUTHORIZES THE PRESIDENT TO COOPERATE WITH OTHER NATIONS IN IMPOSING ECONOMIC SANCTIONS ON BALKY NATIONS AND TO USE AMERICAN TROOPS ASSIGNED TO THE UNO SECURITY COUNCIL AGAINST AGGRESSORS.

QS733AES

A18OWX (300)

WITH PEARL HARBOR

WASHINGTON, DEC. 18-(AP)-CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATORS RECEIVED TODAY NOTES MADE BY SUMNER WELLES WHICH DISCLOSED THAT PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT WAS RELUCTANT IN AUGUST, 1941, TO AGREE TO SUPPORT A POST-WAR INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION.

IN MEMORANDA SUBMITTED TO THE SENATE-HOUSE COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING THE PEARL HARBOR DISASTER, THE FORMER UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE TOLD OF ATLANTIC CHARTER DISCUSSIONS BETWEEN MR. ROOSEVELT AND PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL WHICH TOOK PLACE AT SEA AUG. 10 AND 11, 1941.

WELLES SAID THAT SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN HAD DRAFTED TWO DECLARATIONS, ONE A PARALLEL STATEMENT OF POLICY ON JAPAN, AND THE OTHER A JOINT, DECLARATION OF BRITISH-AMERICAN INTENTIONS.

AN AMERICAN DRAFT OF THE LATTER APPARENTLY WAS PREPARED AND WELLES SAID THAT CHURCHILL, IN READING A POINT CALLING FOR THE POSTWAR DISARMING OF AGGRESSOR NATIONS, "INQUIRED WHETHER THE PRESIDENT WOULD NOT AGREE TO SUPPORT SOME KIND OF 'EFFECTIVE INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION'."AS SUGGESTED BY THE PRIME MINISTER IN HIS ORIGINAL DRAFT

X X X.

"THE PRESIDENT REPLIED," WELLES' MEMORANDUM SAID, "THAT HE DID NOT FEEL THAT HE COULD AGREE TO THIS BECAUSE OF THE SUSPICIONS AND OPPOSITION THAT SUCH AN AGREEMENT ON HIS PART WOULD CREATE IN THE UNITED STATES."

"HE SAID THAT HE HIMSELF WOULD NOT BE IN FAVOR OF THE CREATION OF A NEW ASSEMBLY OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS AT LEAST UNTIL AFTER A PERIOD OF TIME HAD TRANSPIRED AND DURING WHICH AN INTERNATIONAL POLICE FORCE COMPOSED OF THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN HAD AN OPPORTUNITY FOR FUNCTIONING."

CW121PES

30-24-32495

HITLER RADIO AIDE HANGED

British Put Renegade Broadcaster Amery To Death

London, Dec. 19 (AP) — John Amery, 33-year-old British renegade who declared over Hitler's radios that the Wehrmacht was defending European civilization, was hanged for high treason at Wandsworth prison today.

Amery's mother, and his father, L. S. Amery, former Secretary of State for India, visited him last night in the cell where he was quartered next to William (Lord Haw Haw) Joyce, American-born Nazi broadcaster whose appeal from the death sentence was dismissed in the House of Lords yesterday.

The condemned man's brother and actress wife, Una Wing, left the prison about an hour before he went to his death.

Amery left England after his bankruptcy before the war, and was living on the Riviera when France fell. In his Axis radio broadcasts he had attempted to organize Britons into a "League of St. George" to fight against the Russians.

side the prison that "judgment of death this day was executed on John Amery."

Witnesses testified at the trial of Amery, son of L. S. Amery, former Secretary of State for India and one time First Lord of the Admiralty, that he had been selected by the Germans to be the British Quisling.

Amery's actress wife, Una Wing, and his brother left the prison about an hour before the hanging. His parents visited the prison last night.

Amery Is Hanged For Treason

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—John Amery, 33-year-old son of a former British Cabinet member, was hanged at Wandsworth Prison today for high treason to his King and country.

The one-time playboy, convicted of broadcasting Nazi propaganda from Europe during the war, went to the gallows at 9 A.M. (4 A.M., Eastern standard time).

Led from a cell next to that of William (Lord Haw Haw) Joyce, awaiting death for the same offense, Amery was executed under a clear sky after a night of drizzling rain.

The trap was sprung by Albert Pierrepoint, British hangman who last week executed Josef Kramer and ten other members of the Belsen gang in Germany. At 9.08 official notification was posted out-

U.S. Accepts Russian Stand On Trusteeship

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—United States delegates to the United Nations Preparatory Commission today accepted a Russian compromise on the trusteeship issue, and gave up claims for "equal status" of interested powers in the shift of League of Nations mandated territory to United Nations trusteeship control.

The trusteeship issue, a matter of controversy for weeks, has now been passed by subcommittee action to the General Assembly which meets January 10.

Would Be Secondary Position

It was agreed that the General Assembly will be asked to call upon "mandatory powers to act in concert with states directly concerned," in taking steps to turn their mandates over to United Nations control.

This would have the effect of placing the United States and other powers which have no league mandate territory in a secondary position in discussing trusteeship negotiations affecting such territories as Palestine, and Pacific islands mandated to Australia and New Zealand.

However, it was felt that the position of the United States in relation to Japanese island mandates would not be affected, since these territories can be considered as "detached from the enemy," and matters of prime responsibility for the major powers.

British Ask Small Town Site

Earlier, a Philippine proposal providing for general elections to be held in future trusteeship territories was adopted by a vote or 21 to 4, with Russia supporting the small powers against the United States, Britain, South Africa and China. The decision must be ratified by the General Assembly.

On the site question, Great Britain urged that a small town "in the east of the United States" be chosen as the permanent home of the United Nations, to give the organization a chance to have a world capital of "distinctive" character.

The British backed an Indian demand that there be no "Jim Crow" restrictions within the world-capital area.

Eastern-U.S. UNO Site Is Urged

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP) — A joint committee of Senators and Representatives reached agreement today on differencse in legislation setting forth this country's obligations as a member of the United Nations Organization.

London, Dec. 19 (AP) — Great Britain urged the United Nations Preparatory Commission today to consider a small town "in the East of the United States" as the permanent home of the United Nations Organization.

The British delegation presented the commission an official document listing considerations which it said should be taken into account in picking the site.

A member of the British delegation said the recommendation could be interpreted as favoring a town "not too close to Washington."

Election Plan Approved

Delegates to the preparatory commission approved a proposal for elections in trust territories which Pedro Lopez, of the Philippines, said would help give "a new deal for dependent peoples immediately."

The vote was 31 to 4, with the United States, Britain, South Africa and China making up the opposition.

The commission adopted a Ukrainian amendment to the Philippine plan empowering the trusteeship council to hold elections and referendums and take other steps to insure free representation of the people living in areas intrusted to the administration of other countries.

Many Countries Abstain

Many countries, including the Netherlands, Australia, Belgium and New Zealand, abstained from voting; they said they were not opposed to the amendment but would have liked minor changes in it. Jim Green, United States delegate, said his opposition was based on the view that the plan went beyond provisions of the United Nations charter. He said he did not disagree with the principles involved.

Bank Of England Switch Okayed By Commons

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Nationalization of the 250-year-old Bank of England won final approval in Commons tonight, 306 to 126, and the measure was sent to the House of Lords.

Described by Labor party members as "a great charter of freedom for the English people," the bill transfers the bank to public ownership, with administration by a governor, deputy governor and court of ten directors appointed by the King.

The capital of the private bank was $58,212,000. It has paid twelve per cent dividends annually since 1923. Shareholders will be compensated with Government stocks bearing three per cent interest.

Mine Bill Introduced

Legislation to put Britain's coal-mining industry under public ownership was introduced in Commons meanwhile.

Amid cheers from the Labor benches, the Minister of Fuel and Power, Emanuel Shinwell, submitted the measure to "establish public ownership and control of the coal-mining industry and certain allied activities." It was given a formal first reading.

SAYS BRITISH WILL RUN FIRMS IN RUHR

London, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The British Press Association said today that British occupation authorities probably will take over coal and other heavy industries soon in the German Ruhr. The report said the British would hold the Ruhr in trust until the Allies decide its future. The agency said the change probably would be announced on December 21 by the Allied Control Council in Berlin.

Government sources in London disclaimed knowledge and declined to comment on the reports.

The British Press Association said that all former Nazis who had been allowed to keep their positions in the Ruhr "in order to get the industries going" have now been discharged, and "the control and direction of the heavy industries of the Ruhr will pass finally and completely out of German hands. "British industrial experts then will take over all German companies which will in effect thus be nationalized," the account said.

Sixty-three members of the Hamburg police have been dismissed in line with the policy of purging the force of all known Nazis, the London radio reported today, adding that replacements are being madef rom men trained at military government schools. The CBS short wave listening station here recorded the broadcast.

King Is Expected To Approve Bretton

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Bretton Woods monetary stabilization bill, which cleared its final parliamentary hurdle last night in the House of Lords following ratification of the terms of a proposed $4,400,000,000 United States loan, is expected to receive royal approval tomorrow.

The loan terms were approved by a vote of 90 to 8, after two days of debate featured by caustic opposition from Conservative Lord Beaverbrook. Previously, the measure had been accepted by Commons by a vote of 345 to 98.

Pope to Broadcast Christmas Eve

London, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The Vatican Radio has announced that an English version of Pope Pius XII's message to the College of Cardinals on Christmas Eve will be broadcast on wave length 31.06 meters immediately following the Pontiff's talk scheduled for 5 P. M., Eastern standard time.

Lords Refuse To Reveal Records

London, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The House of Lords rebelled today at making public the minutes of secret wartime sessions and the Government withdrew its recommendation. The House of Commons will make public records of its secret sessions soon.

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The high winds that lashed western Europe for seventy-two hours subsided somewhat today, but storm warnings still were displayed off battered southern England and a gale raged with unabated fury along the coast of Portugal. English Channel shipping has been paralyzed by the storm. Many Channel shore installations were wrecked and many small boats were sunk as the wind at times reached eighty miles an hour.

Britain Doubles Pay Of Enlisted Service Men

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Government virtually doubled the pay of enlisted men in the Army, Navy and RAF today.

Trained infantry will receive $8.40 a week, compared to $4.20 before the war. Marriage allowances and pensions also were increased. Similar pay raises were announced for the Navy and Air Force.

ENGLISH GIRL AWAITS YANK

U.S. Paratrooper On Way To 'Surprise' Sweetheart

Nottingham, England, Dec. 19 (AP) — Pretty, dark-haired Rita Blankley, 17, whose father told an American paratrooper suitor to "come and see me after the war," tonight heard that Dominick Casciari, of New Canaan, Conn., was on his way.

"I am so excited I don't know what I'm doing," she said bashfully.

"We didn't think the war would be over so soon," said her mother, Florence; "but he's on awful sweet boy."

And the father, Ferdin, who refused consent to the marriage when Casciari was stationed in England, filled his pipe and grinned, "he didn't waste any time, did he?"

A Surprise Planned

"Come all that way, I can't very well send him away empty handed, can I?" he added.

Rita said her last letter from "Dom," as she calls him, was nine days ago; and he did not say anything then about coming. Newspapers reported he left Boston by American Airlines last night.

"He asked me once if I wanted him to surprise me or let me know," she smiled. "I said I didn't care as long as he came. It looks as though he's going to surprise me."

She said she last saw Casciari March 17 in an English hospital where he was recovering from wounds received in Germany. They met in Nottingham in July, 1944, when he was stationed there.

"One Sunday, it was," she said shyly. "I don't remember exactly how."

American Flag On Table

Casciari wrote from Germany in September that he was going to the United States, and then he cabled November 8 he had been discharged from the Army.

Since then Rita has been collecting a wardrobe "for when Dom came." She has three new dresses—one pink, one blue and one green one, and a tweed coat, "because Dom said they like tweed in America."

"It took my last eighteen coupons, that did," she smiled.

She added: "Dom's mother sent me three dresses, two pairs of shoes and some stockings from the States."

She pointed to a little American flag on the table beside the Christmas tree—"for Dom, because he wouldn't be there."

Front-Page News

"But now he will," she said. "He had hoped to get here from Germany last Christmas, but couldn't make it."

"It's good I got that keg of beer," laughed her father.

"And I've got a bottle of whisky waiting for him," added her mother. "American boys like whisky and they like their girls well-dressed."

She shook her head as she looked at her daughter.

"I never thought I'd have a daughter that would make front-page news," she said.

The father is a workman for the Nottingham public works and Rita is a blouse machinist.

29th Division Moving To Port

Paris, Dec. 19 (AP) — First elements of the 29th Infantry Division are moving into Bremerhaven preparatory to shipment home, headquarters of the European theater service forces announced tonight.

The 82d Airborne Division is being shuttled from Le Havre to England to be shipped to America at the end of December. The 80th Infantry Division is in Le Havre with 7,500 of its personnel scheduled to be shipped home via England and the remainder to sail directly to the United States.

Prosecution Details SS Troops' Crimes

Nazi Elite Guard Trained To Prepare Reich For Brutal Warfare—Used As Warrior-breeding Organization.

By Noland Norgaard

NUERNBERG, Dec. 19. (AP)—The notorious Nazi SS (Schutz-Staffel) was trained to prepare all Germany for brutal warfare, and at the same time was used as a vast breeding organization to beget a new generation of warriors, the American prosecution told the international military tribunal today.

Urged to Save Time

For the second straight day, as the United States pursued its attempts to convict the SS, SA and other German organizations of criminality, the American prosecution was urged by the court to save time by discarding large parts of its documentary evidence.

Meanwhile, the tribunal revealed that the 21 Nazi leaders on trial have requested almost 150 witnesses for the defense case. Thus far, the tribunal disclosed, 85 requests have been granted. The requests, made by attorneys for the defendants, were accompanied by the reasons the witnesses were sought, and indicated many of the defendants would take the line that they often had worked against their Fuehrer.

Ernst Kaltenbrunner, chief of the once-feared Security Police, again was in an army hospital, where doctors gave him only a "fair chance" for recovery from a second cranial hemmorhage. The first had prevented his appearance at the opening of the trial last month.

Farr Quotes Himmler

Presenting the case against the SS, Major Warren Farr (Dorchester, Mass.) chief U. S. prosecutor of Justice Robert H. Jackson's staff quoted Heinrich Himmler's orders for SS men to sire children— legitimate or otherwise—at every opportunity.

One of Himmler's letters introduced by the prosecution said "German women and girls of good blood can fulfill a high obligation, even out of wedlock, by becoming mothers of children of soldiers going to the front."

But when Farr began reading Himmler's proposal that every good Nordic German should produce four sons, he was interrupted by Judge Francis Biddle, who asked:

"Is that one of the crimes alleged?"

The prosecutor said he sought to show that Nazi rulers intended the SS "to be the living embodiment of the master race" which "would be in a position to dominate all Europe for centuries."

Opening his care against the SS, Farr said it was organized wtih only 280 men to serve as Hitler's personal bodyguard, the Elite Guard, but that it grew to an organiaztion of 240,000 men split up among 38 divisions.

100 Soldiers Killed

SS troops shot and killed more than 100 U. S. soldiers at Malmedy, in Belgium, during the Battle of the Bulge a year ago. Other detachments of Himmler's picked men are accused of burning whole villages and of slaughtering their inhabitants.

"Things had to be done," said Farr, "for which no agency of the government, no political party, not even the Nazi party, could openly take responsibility. A specialized type of apparatus was needed x x x the SS was that apparatus."

Earlier Assistant Prosecutor Col. Robert G. Storey presented the American case against the Nazi SA, the brown-shirted storm troopers.

He said the SA had four functions: (1) To spread Nazi fanaticism; (2) to beat down political opposition by force; (3) to lead the campaign against the church, trade unions and Jews; (4) to form an armed group in Germany in violation of the Versailles Treaty.

Military Tribunal today as "the specialized type of apparatus" that Hitler needed for deeds for which neither the Reich Government nor the Nazi party could assume responsibility.

The SS was first composed of only 280 men, serving as Hitler's bodyguard. It grew until it was a monster feared over Europe, with 240,000 men making up 38 divisions at the start of the war.

Major Warren Farr, of Dorchester, Mass., started persentation of the case against the SS after the introduction of evidence against the SA (Storm Troops), another of the indicted Nazi organizations.

Hitler Order On SS

The fighting department of the SS, known as the Waffen (armed) SS, was created by a secret order of Hitler in August, 1938, which was read into the record. The order said: "It is a standing armed unit, exclusively at my disposal."

Farr cited several remarks of Himmler, chief of the SS, to show the Nazis planned to make the SS breed "a Nazi aristocracy which would dominate Germany and the Europe to come."

Himmler's own story of his campaign to increase the Guards' birthrate disclosed that he demanded that the Blackshirts sire or adopt four children each after taking a mate and admonished them not to be squeamish about births out of wedlock.

Adoptions Urged

"The Soldier Friend," a pocket diary published for the German armed forces in 1943, contained a signed article by Himmler saying:

"The minimum amount of children for a good, sound marriage is four. Should unfortunate circumstances deny a married couple their own children, then every SS leader should adopt racially and hereditarily valuable children."

Himmler's article, which was introduced in part at the trial, said he personally directed the lying-in organization to care for pregnant women selected by SS officials as mothers.

In a letter to all SS men October 28, 1939, Himmler stated: "German women and girls of good blood can fulfill a high obligation, even out of wedlock, by becoming mothers of children of soldiers going to the front. It is a sacred duty also of those men and women whose place has been determined by the state to be on the home front to become the parents of children again, especially now."

Not Soldiers' Wives

He explained in another letter later, however, that his instructions were not meant to be "an encouragement for SS men to approach the wives of soldiers in the field."

Of the brown-shirted Storm Troopers, one brigade alone blew up or burned 35 synagogues in a two-day outbreak of anti-Jewish terrorism, prosecutors said.

Evidence of violence and terror from the Storm Troopers' own records was presented.

Col. Robert G. Storey, assistant United States prosecutor, said the Storm Troopers, also known as the SA, were organized before Hitler's rise to power "to beat up and terrorize all political opponents."

Organizations Attacked

The SA and SS were the third and fourth Nazi organizations to have their secrets laid bare before the court. The prosecution, led by Justice Robert H. Jackson of the United States Supreme Court, contends that six organizations should be convicted as criminal groups and that their members should be automatically held guilty of war crimes in varying degrees.

Evidence has already been presented against the Nazi Leadership Corps and the Reich Cabinet. Still remaining to have their day in court are the German high command and the Gestapo.

Ruling On Defense

The prosecution's contention that hundreds of thousands of minor Nazis should be automatically convicted of war crimes at the Nuernberg trial confronted the tribunal with the necessity of making a ruling on whether the proceedings will be dragged out by hearing from any member of the accused organizations who wants to speak.

Already filed with the court are more than 30,000 applications from individual Nazis belonging to the accused organizations who are asking for permission to appear to defend themselves.

When the indictments were returned, the court held that any member of the indicted organizations could testify upon the question of the criminal character of the group.

Questions By Judges

That the American prosecutors may have a hard job in trying to convict the lesser Nazis en masse was seen by critical questioning from Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding, and Justice Francis Biddle, United States representative on the court.

Both interrupted with questions yesterday that indicated doubt as to whether the Nazis in the lower strata had any hand in fourmulating the Hitlerite program of aggression.

For the third straight day, Ernst Kaltenbrunner, former chief of the German Security Police, was missing from the prisoners' box because of a second cerebral hemorrhage that placed him under a doctor's care.

Court officials announced that Kaltenbrunner had been transferred from the Palace of Justice jail to the American Army Hospital, where his condition was reported as serious.

Affidavit From Refugee

An affidavit from a former Reichstag member who fled from Nazi persecution to the United States was introduced to illustrate how the Storm Troopers operated. The affidavit, signed by William F. Soltman, of Wallingford, Pa., declared:

"From 1919 to 1933, I was a Social Democrat and a member of the Reichstag. Prior to March 11, 1933, I was editor in chief of a chain of daily newspapers, with my office in Cologne, which led a fight against the Nazi party.

"On March 9, 1933, members of the SS and SA came to my home in Cologne and destroyed the furniture and my personal records. At that time I was taken to the Brown House (Nazi headquarters) in Cologne, where I was tortured, being beaten and kicked for several hours.

Left Germany

"I was then taken to the regular Government prison in Cologne where I was treated by two medical doctors and released the next day. On March 11 I left Germany."

Several other affidavits introduced as evidence were made by American Jewish citizens in Germany who were beaten by the Storm Troopers while police refused them protection because they had instructions "not to interfere with the SA."

The SA "sports program" was used as a front to conceal military training of German youths, Colonel Storey charged.

Elite Guard Is Target Of War-Trial Evidence

Nuernberg, Dec. 19 (AP)—Heinrich Himmler's Elite Guard, the SS was described by an American prosecutor before the International

Army Lists Names Of War Reporters Honored for Work

Ten From Herald Tribune and 14 From 'The Times' Win Campaign Ribbons

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, Dec. 19 (AP).—Civilian war correspondents who recently received awards of European, African or Middle East campaign ribbons "for outstanding and conspicuous service with the armed forces under difficult and hazardous conditions" include:

"The New York Times"—David Anderson, Gene Currivan, E. C. Daniel, Frederick Graham, Richard J. H. Johnston, Tatiana Daniel, Raymond Daniel, Gladwin Hill, Sidney Gruson, John MacCormac, Drew Middleton, Cecil A. C. Phillips, Dana Adams Schmidt, and James McDonald.

New York Herald Tribune—Joseph Driscoll, Lewis Gannett, Edward Russell, Sonia Tomara, Marguerite Higgins, William J. Humphreys, Russell Hill, John O'Reilly, Geoffrey Parsons, Jr. and Tom Whitty.

"The New York Sun"—W. C. Heinz, Judy Barden and Gault MacGowan.

"The New York Daily News"—Hugh J. Schuck and Donald McKenzie.

"The New York Post"—Stanley Frank and Dixie Tighe.

PM—Victor L. Bernstein, Max Lerner and Alexander H. Uhl.

"The Newark Evening News"—Warren K. Kennett.

Austrian Political Units Asked To Co-Operate

Vienna, Dec. 19 (AP)—Chancellor Karl Renner, who will become president of the second Austrian republic tomorrow, asked political parties today to work together for "full freedom" and a place among the United Nations.

He told the nation's first freely elected Parliament that Austria claimed the South Tyrol, which Hitler ceded to the Italy of Mussolini. Gen. Mark W. Clark and Marshal Ivan S. Koney sat with the British and French representatives on the Allied Council for Austria in the damaged and unheated Parliament building.

Renner paid tribute to the "Allied armies for our freedom" and Konev nodded his bald head. Karl Seitz, former Socialist mayor of Vienna, was applauded loudly as he took his seat as president pro tem. of the Parliament.

Power for Polish Villages.

Warsaw, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The Polish Press Agency reported today that the Polish Government had approved a three-year plan for electrification of Polish villages at a cost of $84,000,000.

Last German Garrison In Denmark Gives Up

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 19 (AP).—The newspaper "Aftonbladet" said today that the last German stronghold in Denmark did not surrender until yesterday—because the British had forgotten about it.

The stronghold, near Lyngby on the west coast, was held, said the newspaper, by a young German officer who would not give up his men to the Danes and who swore he would not hoist the white flag over his garrison until the British arrived. The British did so yesterday and the belated formal surrender took place.

BYRNES, BEVIN TALK TO STALIN

Generalissimo Reported Looking 'Well And Rested'

Moscow, Dec. 19 (AP)—Generalissimo Stalin, just returned to Moscow after a lengthy vacation, received James F. Byrnes, United States Secretary of State, and Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Minister, today and the Russian leader was reported looking "well and rested."

Byrnes and Bevin are in Moscow conferring with V. M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Commissar, on the multiple problems facing the world. They met for the fourth time today in a session lasting one hour and fifteen minutes.

A fifth session will be held tomorrow, but indications were it would be short, too, for Molotov sent out invitations today for a formal diplomatic reception which will start at 6 P.M.

Harriman Attends Interview

W. Averell Harriman, United States Ambassador, who was present during the Stalin interview, said the Generalissimo "looks very well."

30.24-32.497

"Even better," Harriman said "than when I saw him at the end of October. He has a fine tan."

Harriman visited Stalin while the Generalissimo was vacationing near Sochi in the Black Sea area.

Harriman did not divulge the nature of Byrnes's talk with Stalin, but the conference lasted one hour and a half.

Following Byrnes to the Kremlin were Bevin and Sir Archibald Clark-Kerr, British Ambassador.

A long and sumptuous luncheon given by Molotov interfered with today's conference and cut it down in length. The previous sessions have lasted more than two hours.

Toast Proposed To Truman

No announcements were made as to what was discussed during the hour and fifteen minutes they talked, but an informative source said the three men continued their "explorations" on the basic questions they have on their agenda.

A friendly atmosphere was said to have prevailed during the luncheon, with host Molotov in excellent form and Byrnes and Bevin matching him. A large amount of joking was said to have gone on.

During the luncheon Molotov toasted his two guests, their ambassadors and others present in the American and British parties. In turn both visitors toasted the Soviet Foreign Commissar and Stalin.

Toasts also were proposed to President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee.

After the luncheon Byrnes returned to the United States Embassy and Bevin to the British.

During the morning, Foo Peng Sheung, the Chinese Ambassador, called on Bevin. The Chinese representative called on Byrnes Monday.

Pravda Writer Protests

It was confirmed that both Bevin and Byrnes have seen Molotov individually twice.

The British and American talks with the Chinese Ambassador developed as a writer for Pravda protested the presence of large American armed forces in China as "one of those factors of the contemporary international situation which rightfully alarms the democratic public, not only of China and the United States but the whole world."

Similarly, following reports that the Soviet expert on Japanese affairs had been summoned to the conference, Izvestia commented sharply on affairs inside Japan.

Complain Of Jap Militarists

Izvestia complained of "Japanese militarists in the toga of democrats." The newspaper said many Japanese war criminals had been arrested and will face trial, and added:

"But how many war criminals are not only free but are even continuing to take part in the state life of Japan?

"At the present moment in the halls of the Japanese Parliament, an experiment is going on, which, although little understandable at first glance, could sooner be called a farce."

Talk With Iran Advisers

Both Byrnes and Bevin talked with their Iran advisers before today's sessions, and it was evident that the question of the newly proclaimed Government in Azerbaijan province and the continued presence of occupation troops of Britain, Russia and the United States in Iran were getting close attention from the statesmen.

[Ibrahim Hakimi, Iranian Premier, said yesterday in Tehran he would take strong measures against the insurgents who set up a national government of Iranian Azerbaijan. He said he would go to Moscow to put his case before the Foreign Ministers.]

Cordiality Still Prevails

The talks were resumed in the same atmosphere of cordiality that has pervaded the conference from the start. There are said to be moments of jocularity and mild banter among the three statesmen, but it was emphasized that during the discussion of official affairs they are formal and deeply serious.

Molotov Host At Luncheon At Parley

Moscow, Dec. 19 (AP)—Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov entertained Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin at lunch today before their formal conversations, in which the atomic bomb was reported to be of uppermost importance.

The luncheon was given at the Speridonifka Palace with the full American and British delegations attending.

A spokesman at the United States Embassy said Byrnes expected to confer with Generalissimo Stalin, recently returned from an extensive vacation. Neither Byrnes nor Bevin has yet seen the Russian leader.

Conference With Catroux

Gen. Georges Catroux, French Ambassador to Russia, conferred with Byrnes for 45 minutes during the morning at Spasso House in what was described as a "courtesy call." Byrnes saw the Chinese Ambassador for a half hour Monday.

The question of control of Japan appeared to be one of the topics of the "exploratory" talks.

Although the talks were cloaked in the strictest secrecy, observers attached significance to the fact that one of the advisers of Molotov at yesterday's conference was Y. A. Malik, last Russian Ambassador to Japan, which indicated that the problem of control of Japan may be looming larger.

They also pointed out that Byrnes conferred yesterday morning with John Carter Vincent, head of the Far Eastern section of the State Department, as well as Dr. James B. Conant, atomic expert of the American delegation. Vincent later accompanied Byrnes to the meeting of the Foreign Ministers.

Iranian Problems

Another question reported to be high on the agenda was the Iranian problem. Both Byrnes and Bevin conferred with their Iranian experts shortly after publication of a new statement by Iranian Prime Minister Ibrahim Hakimi yesterday appealing to the United States, Great Britain and Russia to withdraw their troops from Iran.

There was no announcement after yesterday's meeting, which lasted three hours and fifteen minutes—the longest meeting since Molotov, Byrnes and Bevin started their discussions Sunday. Informed quarters said, however, that they were well along on the main questions that brought them together.

Persons present at the gathering emphasized again the cordial atmosphere which prevailed and said this was indicative that all was going well.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed by the American and British embassies that Byrnes and Bevin expect to pay courtesy calls on Generalissimo Stalin, who returned Monday from a 68-day vacation.

Byrnes and Bevin spent some time yesterday going over translations of the American-British-Canadian proposal on the control of atomic energy, which the United States Secretary of State had previously announced he was bringing to Moscow. It was not disclosed, however, whether the text was actually placed before the conference for discussion.

Byrnes Learns to Say 'I Agree,' 'No' in Russian

By The Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Dec. 19—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes already has mastered a number of Russian expressions, among them "Ya soglasnen," which means "I agree."

He also uses "Nyet" occasionally. It means "No." Mr. Byrnes knows that "Khorosho" means "good," and probably answers that way when Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff M. Molotoff says "Okay," an expression the Russian picked up during his stay at the San Francisco Conference.

In fact, Mr. Molotoff understands a good deal of English now and speaks a number of phrases when the need arises. It seldom arises, however. Expert translators are present at all the sessions.

COLLEAGUES ENJOY BYRNES'S RUSSIAN

London, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes has mastered the Russian expression for "I agree" and is using it frequently at the Foreign Ministers' conference in Moscow much to the delight of his colleagues.

Eddie Gilmore, Associated Press staff writer, reported this in a broadcast from Moscow today for NBC. He said Byrnes also had learned to use the Russian expression "Net," which means "No."

Byrnes Party Eats Well At Harriman House

MOSCOW, Dec. 19 (AP).—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and his conference party are getting the best fare that Hostess Kathleen Harriman, daughter of American Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, can find.

The Byrnes party already has dined on turkey, steak or roast beef, and the Embassy man in charge of digging up scarce items has turned up with 500 fresh eggs.

H. Freeman Matthews, one of Byrnes's aids, even paid a visit to the kitchen at Spasso House, the Ambasador's residence, to pay his respects to the staff, bossed by a bustling Russian woman.

Russian Paper Lists Newspaper Crimes

Moscow, Dec. 18 [AP—Delayed]. The New Times proposed today that an international tribunal judge "internationally dangerous newspaper crimes," which it suggested should include:

"1. A systematic urging toward war.

"2. Political slander of any peace-loving state—that is, the spreading of knowingly false inventions on activities of such a kind of state."

The New Times, a semi-monthly publication which deals largely with Soviet foreign policy, made these suggestions in an article by N. Baltisky, long-time critic of the American press. The article appeared on the third day of the three-power foreign ministers' conference.

PLAN FOR RED ARMY

Moscow, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—Major-Gen. V. Zolotukhin, writing in the Russian Army publication Red Star, said today that a strong Communist party nucleus must be maintained in each Russian military company.

Saying many communists were among soldiers being demobilized, Zolotukhin recommended that the remaining party members be redistributed.

"It must not be permitted that one company shall have, say, ten communists and a neighboring company not one," he said.

Reds Open Northern Shipping

MOSCOW, Dec. 19 (AP).—Russian officials have ordered the opening of regular freight shipping lines between the northern ports of Molotovsk on the White Sea and Leningrad on the Finnish Gulf.

Ardebil Reported Taken

MOSCOW, Dec. 19 (AP)—Tass dispatches from Teheran said today that the northern Azerbaijan town of Ardebil, 110 miles east of Tabriz, placed itself completely under the National Government of Iranian Azerbaijan on Dec. 15. [The last Iranian report about Ardebil was received Monday, when an officer of the Iran General Staff said he feared the Government garrison there and in two other places in Azerbaijan had "been liquidated."]

MASS PUNISHMENT REPORTED IN IRAN

Moscow, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—A Tass dispatch from Tehran said today that Iranian military and police forces were administering mass punishment in the city of Resht to those showing sympathies for the newly established autonomous government in northern Iran.

Quoting persons arriving from the northern provinces, Tass said that the leader of the punitive measures was a Colonel Zangine, commander of an Iranian brigade. In the village of Charbash, near Resht, Tass said, soldiers and gendarmes were reported to have tortured and shot sixteen persons and wounded fourteen others seriously.

London, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The Moscow radio said today that "complete order is reigning" in Tabriz, headquarters of a group which has established the national government of Iranian Azerbaijan.

"Shops and markets are carrying on as usual," the broadcast said. "The national government of Iranian Azerbaijan started the work of fulfilling its program. All government institutions were taken over by the new administration. A number of reactionary officials who did not want to collaborate with the national government left for Tehran."

Liberty Ship Hits Mines Off Italy

Rome, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Liberty ship Nathaniel Bacon struck two mines last night, burst into flames and was abandoned by her crew while en route to Civitavecchia with a cargo of UNRRA supplies, the War Shipping Administration office here said today.

The ship was beached in heavy seas about 35 miles north of the Civitavecchia.

Poor communications made it difficult to check the fate of the crewmen, said to number approximately 50, who took to boats and rafts. One raft beached with five men aboard, three of whom were badly injured.

A lifeboat said to be carrying 25 was sighted off Mont Alto di Castro during the day but there were no further reports on it.

Latest reports said fires aboard the 7,176-ton freighter—carrying 4,000 tons of flour, 4,750 cases of medical supplies and other UNRRA goods—had apparently burned out.

Java Leaders Tour Country For Unification

Armed With Pledge Of Assistance From Sumatra Governor.

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 19. (AP)—Touring leaders of the unrecognized Indonesian Republic, seeking unity in the quest for independence from the Netherlands, were armed today with a pledge from Acting Governor Amir of neighboring Sumatra that 'Sumatra's 10 million are ready to help you."

While a British communique reported sporadic Indonesian attacks at several places in western Java, a dispatch from Soerakarta said that Amir had appeared with leaders of the unrecognized republic at a mass meeting opening their tour.

"Don't think Sumatrans are selling Java out because we are not fighting right now," he told a crowd of approximately 15,000. "We are all one nation. Sumatra's 10 million are ready to help you."

From a British spokesman here came word that an Indonesian youth congress met yesterday at Palembang, Sumatra. No details were disclosed.

Fighting Breaks Out

Fighting broke out again today at Buitzenzorg, refugee concentration point 30 miles south of here. Mortar bombs fired from the botanical gardens at the edge of Buitzenzorg fell in the center of the city, and several Chinese girls were reported killed when one hit a house in the Chinese quarter.

The British communique said that two British Indian soldiers were killed and another wounded yesterday when Indonesians attacked an 18-truck reconnaissance force which advanced from Buitzenzorg to the scene of a battle Monday in which at least 100 Indonesians were killed.

The British said air reconnaissance units reported that a British army unit had reached aand apparently occupied a radio station previously held by Indonesian nationalists near Bandoeng, 75 miles southeast of here.

The Dutch News Agency Aneta quoted a nationalist broadcast from East Java as saying Indonesian nationalist auxiliary troops were "pouring in from all sides" to take up the battle for independence, and urging believers in Islam and religious leaders "to take an active part in the struggle by fighting side by side with the people."

Islands Seen 'Always Free'

Soerakarta, Java, Dec. 19 (AP)—[Delayed]—Indonesian Nationalist leaders, opening their "unity tour" of Java, told 15,000 persons at a mass meeting here today that the oil-rich island would "remain always independent."

President Soekarno of the unrecognized Indonesian Republic, Vice President Mohammedohatta and Prime Minister Sutan Sjahrir were among those who addressed the cheering throng. Prince Mongkoenegara of Soerakarta attended the meeting, thus lending his prestige to the republican movement.

Soekarno said that the Dutch were "beginning to wobble, and asserted that their promises of freedom in 1918 and 1941 had proved they were unreliable.

Anxious To Win Favor

Observers here said the Chungking government was prepared to go farther than their Communist rivals, who likewise were represented as anxious to get off on the right foot at the coming peace parley.

The same sources reported the government was impressed both by President Truman's promise of economic aid if unity is achieved and by Secretary of Navy Forrestal's plan to turn over surplus U. S. warships to China.

At the same time, the Communists were pictured as anxious to avoid demands which Marshall—bearing China's hopes for a way out of the morass of civil strife—might consider unreasonable.

Preparations were made to give Marshall a rousing welcome in Shanghai when he arrives by plane from Manila.

President Truman's special envoy is scheduled to fly on to Nanking, the old capital, Friday for his first meeting with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Marshall To Accompany Chiang

The World Daily News said Marshall would accompany Chiang back to Chungking for the opening of the momentous conferences with government and Chinese Communist leaders.

China's civil strife appeared to be lagging as interest turned toward the forthcoming talks in Chungking.

A Chinese press dispatch said the Communists had lifted the long siege of inner Mongolian Paotow and Kweisui, giving government troops control of the Peiping-Suiyuan railroad—most important east-west line in northern China.

Liu Chieh, vice-minister of foreign affairs, confirmed meanwhile that national troops had not yet entered Mukden, greatest city in Manchuria, contrary to previous reports.

Minister of Information K. C. Wu told a press conference at which Liu appeared, however, that "detailed arrangements have been made" with Russia for entry of Chinese soldiers into Mukden.

Ku agreed with a hope expressed by the head of the Communist peace delegation that all hostilities could be stopped before the proposed conference began, the date for which has not been set.

Chiang, Reds Strive To Please Marshall

Contending Leaders Reported Prepared To Make Concessions For Peace—Chungking Impressed By Forrestal Plan.

By Spencer Moosa

CHUNGKING, Dec. 19. (AP)—Contending national and Chinese Communist leaders were reported ready today to "go the limit" with peace concessions to impress General Marshall, United States envoy who arrives at Shanghai tomorrow.

ShanghaiPlans Huge Welcome For Marshall

General Will Meet Chiang in Nanking Friday to Join in Chungking Talks

CHUNGKING, Dec. 19 (AP).—Preparations were being made today to give General George L. Marshall a rousing welcome at Shanghai when he arrives by plane from Manila. President Truman's special envoy is scheduled to fly on to Nanking, the old capital, Friday for his first meeting with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

"The World Daily News" said Marshall would accompany Chiang back to Chungking for the opening of momentous conferences with government and Chinese Communist leaders.

A Chinese press dispatch said the Communists had lifted the long siege of the Inner Mongolia cities of Paotow and Kweisui, giving government troops control of the Peiping-Suiyuan railroad, the most important east-west line in north China.

Chinese Official Sentenced

Faces Eight Years in Prison for Part in Gold-Scandal Case

CHUNGKING, Dec. 19 (AP).—A Chinese government official was sentenced to eight years' imprisonment today in the gold-scandal case which developed through an alleged leak of information on China's plan to raise the price of six-month gold futures last March 28 by about 75 per cent.

Convicted was Wang Shao-chai, department chief in the Ministry of Finance. Eight other defendants were acquitted, including K. Kwok, former director of the banking department of the Central Bank of China, and Sheng Hsaio-chuen, sub-manager of the Bank of Communications.

China to Build Big Highways

CHUNGKING, Dec. 19 (AP).—China will start a five-year plan next July to construct approximately 45,000 miles of four-lane national highways, a spokesman of the Ministry of Communications said today.

Marine Flyers Returned From Communist Hands

Tientsin, China, Dec. 19 (AP)—Six Marine flyers who were held in Chinese Communist custody more than a month made their way into this United States Marine headquarters today after the Communists had escorted them much of the way.

All six were in good physical condition.

Replacements At Tientsin

Tientsin, Dec. 19 (AP)—Approximately 2,300 marine replacements arrived today to relieve a like number of men in the 3d Amphibious Corps and the 1st and 6th Divisions, who have been on north China duty.

Puppet Leaders Seized By Chinese Communists

Yenan, Dec. 19 [Delayed AP]. Chinese Communists are holding a number of officials of the Puppet Mongolian autonomous Government for trial in Kalgan as war criminal suspects.

The prisoners include Vice Chairman Yu Pin-ching; Wen Chin, chief of the Judicial Department, and Hsu Wei-pin, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

The officials were captured when the Communist 8th Route Army entered Kalgan August 25. Communists have arrested 39 persons accused of war-crimes activities. Of the 39, 31 were tried and executed between August 25 and November 19.

New Scores for India-Burma Men

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 19 (AP)—United States headquarters for the India-Burma theatre announced today that new adjusted rating scores of 50 for enlisted men and 70 for officers would be put into effect Dec. 26. Under these scores 9,300 enlisted men and eighty-four officers will become eligible for return to the United States.

Korean Policy Unchanged

Lerch, Governor General-Elect, to Work for Early Troop Removal

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 17 (Delayed) (AP).—Major General Archer L. Lerch, soon to succeed Major General A. V. Arnold as governor general of Korea, said at his first press conference today that the American occupation policy here would be unchanged.

That policy, he added, is to assist Korea to establish herself as soon as possible as an independent nation, thus permitting withdrawal of American troops.

General Arnold will return to command of the 7th Division.

MacArthur Clarifies Stand On Jap Govt.

Asserts Nipponese Must Support Allied Objectives—Says People's Free Will To Decide Form Of Rule.

TOKYO, Dec. 19. (AP)—A determination to keep a firm hold on the Japanese people and their future while affording opportunity for "a completely vanquished enemy to correct the errors of its ways" was reemphasized by General MacArthur today in instructions to his commands.

Contrary to Potsdam

Japan must support Allied objectives, MacArthur said, but to impose upon the nation "any form of government not supported by the freely expressed will of the people is contrary to the Potsdam terms."

Control will be exercised as much as possible "through the emperor and other instrumentalities of the Japanese government found suitable," the instructions stated.

Japanese will be given every opportunity to carry out his instructions voluntarily, but if they do not act, "orders will be given to appropriate commands to require compliance," the supreme commander added.

He promised Japan's civilian population that it would be freed of any interference with liberty and property rights. Historical, cultural and religious objects and installations, "including the several imperial palaces, will be carefully protected and preserved."

The Allied chief stressed Japan's sovereignty would be limited to the main islands of Honshu, Hokkaido, Kyushu and Shikoku, and 1,000 smaller adjacent islands, including the Tshushima group in the Korean Strait.

Complete Disarmament

Japan will be completely disarmed and demilitarized, he said, and "the authority of militarists and the influence of militarism will be totally eliminated from her politics, economic and social life. Institutions expressive of the spirit of militarism and aggression will be vigorously suppressed."

MacArthur noted that the Japanese people would be encouraged to develop a desire for individual liberties and respect for fundamental human rights, particularly freedom of religion, assembly, speech and press. Formation of democratic and representative organizations would be encouraged, he promised.

In addition to insuring that Japan will not again menace the peace of the world, the occupation objective is to establish a "peaceful and responsible government which must respect the rights of other states," he added—but one which will support the objectives of the supreme commander as reflected in the ideals and principles of the United Nations Charter.

JAP PREWAR MOVES SHOWN

Konoye Papers Say Emperor Refused Cousin As Premier

This is another in a series based on the memoirs of Prince Fumimaro Konoye, pre-Pearl Harbor Premier of Japan.

Tokyo, Dec. 19 (AP)—Prince Fumimaro Konoye said in his memoirs that Emperor Hirohito, knowing that war with the United States was probable in 1941, refused to let a prince of the imperial household become Premier and himself gave the nod to Hideki Tojo for the post.

The ex-Premier's memoirs, released to the Associated Press three days before Konoye's suicide Sunday, said Tojo had suggested the Emperor's cousin, Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni, for the premiership on October 16, 1941.

Tojo Broke Cabinet

That was the date when Konoye's third Cabinet was broken by Tojo with the support of army hot heads, the former Premier wrote.

Konoye gave no direct reason for the Emperor's refusal to permit Higashi-Kuni to take the office, but the memoirs quoted Hirohito as saying:

"I had thought that Higashi-Kuni was suitable as chief of the general staff. I think much thought must be lent to a member of the imperial family taking part in politics. It might be all right in time of peace, but I wonder how it would be, especially when there is danger of war."

List Of Essentials

On September 5, 1941, at a meeting attended by Hirohito, Japanese leaders drew up a list of essentials. Konoye listed them as:

1. A determination to "complete preparations for war with the latter part of October as the general date."

2. A determination to take all diplomatic steps possible to avert war.

3. An assertion that "if by the early part of October there still is no hope for success of our diplomatic negotiations immediately, there will be determination to start war against the United States."

30.24-32499

Saw War As 'Main Thing'

"There is somehow an impression that war is the main thing and diplomacy comes after it," Hirohito told his leaders.

The memoirs said the Emperor then asked the late Field Marshal General Sugiyama, at that time chief of the general staff:

"If there is war between the United States and Japan, how long will it take to bring it to a finish?"

"We intend to finish just the southern regions in about three months," Sugiyama replied.

The Emperor stared sternly at Sugiyama, the Konoye account continued, and declared that the marshal was War Minister when the China affair started and had said about the same thing "but even after four years it still has not been finished."

Pacific Still Bigger

Then, said Konoye, Sugiyama "in awe and trepidation" explained that China's interior was big.

"If you say China's interior is big," the Emperor persisted, "then the Pacific is wider, is it not? With what confidence do you say three months?"

At that, said the memoirs, Sugiyama could only hang his head.

On October 12, 1941, Konoye held what was about his last conference on peace or war.

Konoye's version was that he had just one chance. That was to get the navy to stand against the army and declare that negotiations must be carried on at all costs. But the navy backed down.

ports that the then Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka said he had been told in Berlin that Iran and India were to be Russia's "future sphere of influence" under a secret agreement accompanying the proposed entente; Japan was to receive the South Seas area; Germany would have taken Central Africa and Italy Northern Africa.

Plan Failed to Progress.

Konoye said, however, the plan failed to progress and that three months after the agreement in principle was reached, German officials openly talked about the inevitability of a Nazi-Soviet war. Japan once officially requested Berlin to avoid war with Russia, but the overture was brushed aside with the contention "it will be possible to terminate operations in two or three months."

Both he and Japan had been duped by Berlin's "traitorous" power politics, Konoye said, and added that neither Germany nor Russia seriously attempted to conclude the entente agreement.

Matsuoka knew about the prospective Nazi-Soviet hostilities when he sought and obtained a neutrality pact from Moscow, the document said. Matsuoka's purpose was to hedge on Japan's position.

Konoye repeatedly contended that Japan expected, by joining the Axis, to obtain a rapprochement with the Soviet as well as Germany and Italy. He said Germany "was advancing in the direction of Japanese-German-So-

"Firstly, the Soviet Union will declare that it agrees with the principle of the Tri-Partite Pact in the sense of preventing war and swiftly recovering peace;

"Secondly, the Soviet Union will recognize the leading position of Germany and Italy and Japan respectively in the new order in Europe and Asia and the three nations will pledge respect of Soviet territory.

"Thirdly, the three nations and the Soviet Union pledge not to assist any nation being the enemy of the other, nor to join such a group of nations."

The plan, in addition, provided for a secret agreement on "future spheres of influence."

The Japanese Government promptly approved the plan which was handed to Molotov during his Berlin visit. Then Tokyo heard nothing further until March, 1941, when Matsuoka visited Berlin. The latter was told Molotov had agreed in principle but proposed "exchange conditions of over thirty articles which Germany could in no way recognize." Both Hitler and Von Ribbentrop spoke "strongly of Soviet lack of faith and courageousness," Konoye continued.

Konoye then records two conflicting versions of the neutrality pact. He quotes Matsuoka as saying upon returning to Japan that he informed Von Ribbentrop he intended attempting to obtain a pact during his Moscow stopover because "Japan would be greatly" affected by war. He added that Von Ribbentrop said it would be fine if he could obtain a pact, but doubted the possibilities.

U. S. Negotiations.

After the neutrality agreement, Konoye said, Von Ribbentrop sarcastically told Japanese Ambassador Oshima "it is hard to understand that despite the fact I clearly told Matsuoka a German-Soviet war is inevitable, he had signed a neutrality pact with the opponent Soviet Union."

In his memoirs, which were released to the Associated Press three days after his suicide, Konoye stated that United States-Japanese negotiations, begun in April, continued and reached a climax after the second Konoye Cabinet. The ex-Premier told how he broke up the second Cabinet with Emperor Hirohito's knowledge and consent on July 16, solely to rid it of Matsuoka.

Satisfied the United States would understand his "friendly gesture" in reforming the Cabinet, Konoye turned again to negotiations and to his "dismay" learned Ambassador Nomura had failed to catch that significance himself, the memoirs state. In fact, Konoye said Nomura sent a message that the United States was more suspicious than ever.

According to the memoirs, the United States learned that Japan was planning to move into Indo-China and on July 21 Sumner Welles, then United States Undersecretary of State and acting for Cordell Hull who was ill, warned that "according to information received it seems that Japan will occupy French Indo-China soon. If so, conversations will become hopeless."

Was to Meet Roosevelt.

The late President Roosevelt on August 28, 1941, Konoye said, expressed a desire to meet personally with the Prince to settle the differences which were swinging the two nations in conflict. Konoye made the original proposal for such a meeting with the consent of the Emperor, he wrote.

Summoning Nomura, who delivered Konoye's proposal for the meeting, Roosevelt was quoted as saying "I desire a meeting of about three days with Prince Konoye." The ex-Premier added "although he did not make any commitment as to time, he showed he was very much in favor of it. It probably may be that this was the time that the United States came closest to us."

But something happened. Roosevelt's enthusiasm cooled between August 28 and September 3 when "he gave Nomura a message for me and although it was very respectful, a clear expression of agreement on the meeting was avoided." Whether the meeting could have prevented the war and assured peace in the Pacific is questionable, but Konoye told Associated Press correspondent Russell Brines recently "I feel confident that if I had been able to see Roosevelt, I could have established a basis for Imperial House intervention in the rising war tide within Japan at that time."

Konoye pointed to misunderstandings which had arisen as to a difference in customs and manners and expressed doubt that Japan's real thoughts had been conveyed to Washington. At the same time, if Japan did all in its power to avert war, he wrote, then "if war comes we can be calm and ready for anything, with full support of the people.

In addition, he said he told Cabinet members that if the talks failed, he was determined to "walk out on the conference."

At this point, Konoye said War Minister Hideki Tojo gave the Army's reluctant consent to the proposed meeting. But Tojo sternly warned that unless Roosevelt could be made to see Japan's true spirit in negotiations and make concessions which Japan considered mandatory, then he for one was ready for war.

Nazis Told Japs Russia Would Join Axis

Konoye Document Shows That After Tokyo Signed Up, Hitler Attacked Reds.

SPENCER

Tokyo, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—A document released by a son of Prince Fumimaro Konoye, former Japanese Premier, asserts that Russia in late 1940 agreed "in principle" to join members of the Tri-Partite Alliance in a four-Power entente which assigned the Eastern world among them.

Michitaka, son of Konoye, who committed suicide Sunday rather than be arrested as a war criminal, said the document was prepared by his father prior to his death.

In the document, Konoye reviewed the four-power agreement, which included:

viet collaboration until at least about the time of Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov's visit to Berlin in November, 1940."

Nazi Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop advanced the plan for

JAP RESTAURANTS BARRED TO YANKS

Tokyo, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—Because of the critical Japanese food shortage, Allied Headquarters today made all civilian eating places out of bounds to members of the occupation forces, and prohibited serving Japanese food at any mess or club operated for Allied personnel.

Poison-Drink Penalty Ordered In Japan

Tokyo, Dec. 19 (AP)—Allied headquarters today ordered the Japanese Government to provide stiff fines and jail sentences for selling, trading or manufacturing any beverage or food containing methyl alcohol or other poisons.

The directive, spokesmen explained, was prompted by numerous recent deaths, blindness and illness among American soldiers who drank poison liquor. It provides penalties of a 2,000 to 10,000 yen fine ($133 to $666) or three to fifteen years imprisonment.

New Club President

